Poultry waste management program set for March 15-16

People interested in contract poultry production can learn about the nuts and bolts of getting into this business at a two-day conference on March 15-16 at the Executive Inn in Owensboro.

"Our objective is to provide information needed by people considering growing broilers," said Bill Thomas, Extension soils specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. "Representatives of poultry companies, contract growers, regulatory agencies and land-grant universities will take part in panel discussions, individual presentations and exhibits on the many factors and management decisions a contract grower must consider."

Panel discussions will address environmental regulations and water quality planning requirements and site selection for broiler houses.

Other conference sessions and topics will be:
Litter management - selling and labeling manure as fertilizer, litter storage and handling, land application and nutrient management, and a grower's perspective.

Farm mortality management - alternatives and economics of on-farm mortality disposal and composting on-farm mortality.

Allied technology - opportunities for rendering, feeding litter to ruminants, and composting poultry litter

"Calf Losses"

"Calving difficulties account for the greatest number of calf deaths a year after year," Burris said. "National statistics show that the greatest loss in this area is with first-calf heifers."

"That is not an inevitable loss, Burris said. "There are things a veterinarian can do to minimize the risk. For example, first-calf heifers should be separated from other cows where they can be observed easily. They should be placed in a small, accessible pasture near facilities where assistance can be given easily if required."

"Some 30 percent of first-calf heifers may experience difficulties," Burris said, "so they should be observed frequently."

One of the problems frequently found in first-calf heifers results from their having small pelvic areas "that make giving birth to heavier calves difficult," he said. "One long-term approach to this problem would be to use bulls with low birthweight EPD's (expected progeny differences) on first-calf heifers and also to try to cull out heifers with too-small pelvic areas."

"We watch our young heifers carefully and at about a year try to cull out those that we believe may not be developed enough to have a big calf," Burris said.

"There are other bad things that can happen to the newborn calf even if it is born alive, he added.

"Extremely cold weather can cause many calves to freeze to death," he said. "We can't control the weather, but we can manage around it."

Newborn calves should stand and nurse quickly, he said. If they seem too weak or chilled to nurse, calves should be rubbed briskly with a dry cloth and helped to stand and nurse. Calves that don't respond can be warmed by a hair dryer.

Calves that still don't stand and nurse should be given colostrum or colostrum substitute, Burris said. Newborn calves get antibodies for disease protection from colostrum (first milk) and if they can't get it from the mother, it can be supplied by a bottle with a nipple or with an esophageal feeder. Scours, or diarrhea problems, is another potentially fatal condition for new calves, Burris said.

Wet, muddy conditions in most Kentucky spring seasons can aggravate this problem. Frequently, it results when the mother cow feeds in areas where the teats and udders come into contact with the mud. Germs contacted there are quickly passed to the calf.

"The best way to deal with this is to prevent it from happening," Burris said. "Hay should be fed on concrete or well-drained areas. Dry areas for cows and calves to bed down are also helpful. In general, maintaining good sanitation and improve immunity through good nutrition and a good vaccine program."

Cows also should not be allowed to calve near ditches and creeks where the calves might fall and drown, he said.

OUR GREATEST LEADERS PRAYED TO GOD FOR GUIDANCE

From the beginning, we have assigned our leaders the awesome task of guiding our nation through the storms of war, economic crisis and social conflict. Some of them were undoubtedly better at it than others, and all of them were a mixture of virtues and weaknesses. Nonetheless, they had one thing in common. They all prayed for God's guidance whenever they had to make a major decision that would affect our destiny. That was the secret of their greatness, they had the humility to rely on a higher source of wisdom. Those of us who don't bear that much responsibility would still do well to follow their example and go to our House of Worship, to seek the best advice to for the well-being of ourselves and our families.

God is above all earthly rulers, and his law above all human laws.

Notice of application for exemption from KY R 63.005. In accordance with KRS 224.10-270, CSX Transportation, Inc. will request an exemption from the requirements of 401 KAR 63.005, to the extent such regulation applies to the use of rail heating ropes for maintenance of welded or jointed rail. Rail heating ropes are used for certain track repairs, particularly in the cold weather months when rail pulls apart upon contraction. These repairs are essential to avoid derailments which might be caused by broken rail. Only modest emissions occur from the use of these rail heating ropes and it does not have a measurable impact on the quality of ambient air. Literal compliance with 401 KAR 63.005 would prohibit the use of this railroad maintenance device and thus produce serious benefit without equal or greater benefit to the public. Alternatives are not practicable or efficient. These ropes are an integral part of railroad maintenance and have never, to CSXT's knowledge, presented a fire or environmental hazard of the nature contemplated by the regulation. Sex abuse trial is Monday

A Brodhead couple who gained statewide attention last year after they were charged with sexually exploiting under age children are scheduled to go to trial in Rockcastle Circuit Court on Monday.

Allen Charles, 36, and Charlotte McClure, 30, are facing several felony charges of sexually exploiting minor children.

Charles has been in jail since his arrest last March, while McClure has been free on bond.

Some of the charges against the two include promoting a sexual performance by a minor and sexual abuse of a minor. Some of the children allegedly involved were under the age of ten.

Over 300 video tapes will be entered into evidence by the prosecution.

Most of the sexual exploitation of the minor children apparently took place at a Charlotte McClure's apartment in Kastle Village in Brodhead.

Water bids approved

Bids on renovation work for the Northern Rockcastle Water District have been approved.

Akins Excavating Co., was low bidder on a water line replacement line to the district's tank at $153,172. Second low bidder was Garrison Construction at $184,302.

Laurel Construction of London was the low bidder on a water storage tank at $108,500. Next low bidder was Kentucky Glass Lined Tanks of Lexington for $118,750.

Kessinger painting company was low bidder on bids on painting of existing water storage tank for $9,997. Next low bidder was Currens Company at $17,255.

Kemper charged with burglary, trespassing

Sheriff Shirley Smith and deputies have had a busy time in the past few days.

John Kemper of Conway was charged with burglary in first degree, receiving stolen property, criminal mischief, and criminal trespassing.

He is accused along with a juvenile of breaking into the home of Dexter Chandler and stealing eight rifles and shotguns and six pistols, sheriff deputies reported. Kemper posted 10 percent of a $15,000 bond.

Making the arrest were deputies Bryan Anderkin, Leonard Miller and Constable Dale Miller.

The Gerald Miller family were arrested and released from the hospital following an accident on Burr Hill on Feb. 10.

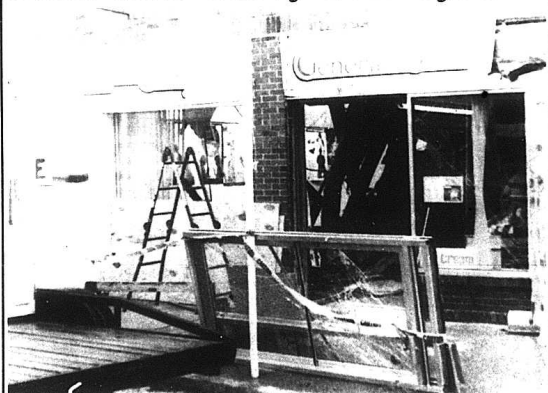

He told police a car came up the hill on the wrong side of the highway, ran cars off the road and then hit his car. The other car ran into an embankment and the driver fled on foot. He was still at large Feb. 21.

Scott Renner of Mt. Vernon told Sheriff Deputy Doug Thomas he was driving south on Chestnut Ridge Road when a car came up behind him and fired shots through the back window. He was not injured.

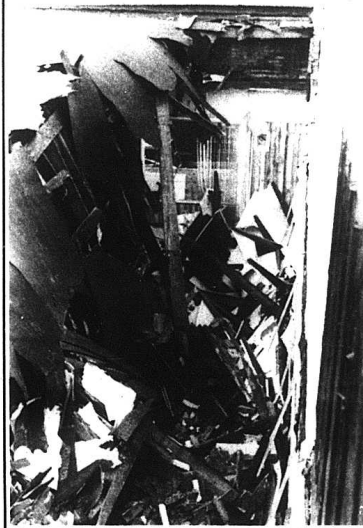

Ronnie Mink of Mt. Vernon, driving an R-12c vehicle was going south on U.S. 25 when a truck driven by Robert Bustle of Livingston pulled out of Peg's Market and struck his vehicle.

Cash and Carry destroyed

Cromer's Cash and Carry General Store in Livingston was virtually destroyed Tuesday morning when a portion of a brick wall fell through the roof.

Livingston grocery demolished

A Livingston grocery store is out of business this week after a brick wall fell, collapsing a roof and virtually destroying the building that housed the grocery store.

Workers were still busy cleaning up the mess at Cromer's Cash and Carry General Store, which is located on Main Street in Livingston on Wednesday, following the Tuesday morning incident.

Jim Cromer, who owns the store with his wife Shirley, said that a large portion of a common brick wall fell into his store building around 1:30 a.m. Tuesday.

"We got a lot of stuff out, but we lost a lot too," he said. The Cromers did not have any insurance on their store.

Cromer said that he would leave it up to his wife and children, whether or not to re-open.

The Cromers opened Cash and Carry in 1992.

Charges filed over chemical spill

Rockcastle County Attorney Jeffrey T. Burdette has filed sixteen charges of various violations against a truck driver, involved in a chemical spill on interstate 75 last October.

Burdette said this week that Kenneth Listenberger, who resides in Missouri, is being charged because he did not properly inspect his vehicle, which was carrying hazardous materials.

Listenberger was the driver of a transfer truck that wrecked on I-75 between Mt. Vernon and Berea, spilling hazardous chemicals, which in turn caused the interstate to be closed, residents to be evacuated and schools to close.

Listenberger violated section 396 of the federal motor carrier safety regulations code by not inspecting his load for possible leaks and making the proper rest stops during his trip.

Burdette said that Listenberger, will be picked up by police and brought back to the county to face the charges.

Rogers' Staff Member

A member of Hal Rogers' staff will visit in Rockcastle County, Feb. 27 at 10 a.m. in the Courthouse Annex, Circuit Court Room to assist any individual who has a problem with the Federal Government. If you know of anyone who may have a problem with Social Security, Black Lung, the Veterans Administration or any other agency of the Federal Government, please advise them that there will be a representative available to talk to them about the matter.

Local man jailed after gunshot kills another

A Rockcastle County man is still behind bars this week charged with the murder of a Copper Creek man.

Clayton Frith, 33, of Copper Creek died after being shot in the chest with a .38 caliber pistol at close range. Rockcastle County Coroner Billy Dowell said that Frith died around 10:30 p.m. Saturday at the Rockcastle Hospital. Preliminary autopsy results indicate that Frith died from massive internal bleeding after the bullet pierced one of his lungs.

Complete Obit - Page A-7

Charged with Frith's murder is Paul V. Gayheart, 35, of Brodhead. Gayheart was arrested Saturday night at the Rockcastle Hospital by Kentucky State Trooper Gary Lane.

Lane said that Gayheart was treated at the hospital for a small abrasion caused by the same gun that killed Frith.

Gayheart, who is employed at Sowder Nursing Home is being held in The Rockcastle jail under a $250,000 cash bond.

During a preliminary hearing Wednesday, Gayheart claimed he was acting in self-defense and pled not guilty. He was appointed legal counsel.

Trooper Lane said the two men had been drinking together Saturday afternoon and evening and had stopped at the residence of David Hiatt in Copper Creek when they got into an argument.

Lane said that two shots were fired from the same gun, the first grazed Gayheart and the second one killed Frith.

Lane said that there was an apparent struggle for the weapon, but that from all indications Frith was not armed.

Farmers must have insurance by April 28

By Bob Geiger Herald-Leader

Unless Kentucky tobacco farmers mend their ways, they won't be able to participate in the federal price-support program this year.

The deadline is April 28.

As a result of a little-noticed law Congress enacted last year, farmers who grow tobacco or other crops must buy crop insurance to qualify

Roamin' Rockcastle

By: Hilda Payne Gabbard

I tell you I'm not doing much roamin' these last few days of February. The weather people are saying "March is coming in like a lion" and says we are going to have snow showers and high winds, cold weather then "March will go out meek as a lamb." That's okay by me - I'd rather have winter now and get it over with and it is said in the almanac that we get some bad snowstorms in April. Well, we have finished a month of love and Valentines and go on to whatever is coming next. I'd say wild greens will take folks mind after a winter of canned turnip greens, fried owl and dried apple pies and fried mushrooms. Cecil Abney a bachelor living on Lower Clear Creek goes for food in the hills for he roams the woods and finds food. Sassafras tea is made everyday and gets folks going. In fact I'm drinking a cup of ginseng tea now and trying to get spring fever so I cannot do some work. I missed out on Greg Lake's birthday last week on February 14. Somebody thought enough of him to bake a nice cake and send it down to him. When I went to Lakes Funeral Home last Tuesday to have my column faxed over to Mt. Vernon and the Signal office, Greg was gone to school, they said but the lady who left the birthday cake did a dangerous thing. She left it with Myrtle Gabbard and Grant Bolt. They kept lifting the foil that covered the pretty cake and pecking under it. I'll bet Greg didn't get all of his cake after I left those two along with the cake. I know what Linda Swinford got for a Valentine, in fact I knew before she came home from work, and the house smelled of roses.

I called Paris to see what time she would be there. He talked a few minutes then said, "Who am I talking to anyway?"

When I asked what he was getting Linda for a Valentine, he said, "Why roses could be good." My, my, some women have all the luck.

We have had some hard rains that cleaned the earth and it all seems like spring.

I have a large map of the U.S. and I've been trying to find Scotia, New York. I find that the town where a reader wrote to me for plumbrangy seeds may be too small to list. Write me again and tell me what larger town you live near to and maybe I'll locate.

I've just had a letter from a good reader, maybe I should say readers, since Ollie and Manuel Byrd of Dayton, Ohio wrote me telling how well they liked reading the Signal. I will talk of their letter in next week's news.

Stopping in at Piggly Wiggly Grocery, I ran into Marie Venable and her son, Ray from a western state. He comes back to visit her and Marie looked so happy. Sometimes Marie goes out west to visit him.

It was a cold day and Ray was in his shirt sleeves. I asked if he wouldn't take a cold.

"No, we think this is like spring, you should know some of our winter weather."

Nannie Chasteen Shearer will have a birthday Friday, February 24th and reaches 106 years of age. She lives at the Berea Health Care Center and they are having a birthday party for her. There will be pictures of her and the party in this paper next week.

I am late about this but I want to wish Marie Holt Williams a Happy Birthday which was on February 12th. Marie is such a loveable person and is such a good mother and grandmother to all her family as well as a lot of other people.

I went to a birthday dinner for myself Sunday even though my birthday was on the 26th of January.

My son, Russell Cornett, and his finance came down from Florence to take me out to eat a dinner they had planned ever since January but the weekends had such bad weather they couldn't get here. I said I'd take a dinner no matter when it was.

Yesterday, which was on Monday, John said I'll need news we had better go out and see what we could scare up. We stopped at Bill and Flossie Stephen's home on Scaffold Cane.

Bill was telling us about their pastor having an accident and falling off a roof which he was trying to cover. The doctor was telling that Brother Sears had had a light stroke.

So the Macedonia Church has been without a pastor.

Woody Gabbard, a member from Berea, led the services and did real well, Bill and Flossie said. He became a deacon before he united with Macedonia Church.

Flossie said they needed exercise by walking but weather had been too cold.

Bill said he listened for weather reports from Willard Scott on T.V. and the man hits the weather about every 4 times out of 5 of being right.

Flossie had a new permanent she had gotten from Teresa Singleton at Hair Plus Beauty Shoppe.

Their son-in-law Alvie Reynolds has been in Berea Hospital for treatment. Alvie's daughter, Heather Adams, has been going over to take care of him. He is back home now.

Willie Thacker, a neighbor of Bill's had a stroke and is in the hospital at Somerset.

Billy D. Reynolds who is running for a political office in Rockcastle had a nice thing done for him by his grandmother, Flossie, who has taken the Signal for him to keep up on happenings in Rockcastle. That was a very nice thing for his grandmother to do for him.

Bill showed us a very good picture of his father Will Stephens and wife, Parrie Lee Abney Stephens.

Her middle name was Lee and she was born March 3rd and died on 19th of February, 1960. Lora Lee Stephens Mink was born on her grandma's birthday.

Grandpa Abney had a brother, old uncle Ruben Abney whose birthday was on March 3rd so March is a busy time for Bill's family.

Bodie Barnett has been helping at Reppert's Funeral Home when they need someone who has experience in the business.

Yesterday while in Scaffold Cane we went on over to Hardie's Restaurant and ate lunch then we came back to Wildie and Ballard Parsons' Store.

Ballard seemed glad to see us even though there were several persons there and he wasn't alone. I asked how business was and he said because of bad weather there wasn't much and prices were high.

Two high school boys were playing pool and Ballard said they were out of school since it was close due to a President's Birthday. The boys were David Burdette and L.D. Parsons who were Ballard's nephews.

Then they went out and played some basketball on an outdoor court.

Ballard Parsons has a unique store. His customers wait on themselves and make their own change.

I asked him if anyone ever cheated on him. Ballard said, "I don't do that to everyone. I know whom to trust." "Well, don't trust that one," I said as John came over to make change and he laughed.

I asked Ballard how long he had been in a wheel chair. He said he took polio at age 12 and had to quit school but had a homebased teacher. I think that is one of the greatest things the State Education Department could have done for children who couldn't go to the school where they lived.

Ballard gave me a message to send to Henry Volter in Indiana but my space is running out so I'll start next week with his message to Henry. Both fellows are good readers of mine but I don't know who has it best. Henry flirring with those pretty helpers where he is or Ballard taking the pretty girls in Wildie on a ride in his electric car.

Cordley Taylor may be going dry-land fishing so I'll try to see about that for next week.

'Till then: Live the best way you can positively!

Schools eligible for cash rewards will be informed on Feb. 28 about the amount of money they will receive, and they can expect their checks by the end of March.

State Department of Education officials told legislators that schools are now being notified if they are among those to receive a slice of $26 million. The announcement was made at the General Assembly's Interim Joint Committee on education's monthly meeting held last week in Frankfort.

The $26 million will be distributed among some 500 schools across Kentucky. The money was set aside as outlined under the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA) of 1990, and cash rewards were based on the average of two years' performance scores of students. The incentive money is to be shared among schools whose students show marked improvement in their test scores. Of Kentucky's 43,000 teachers, 13,500 will qualify for cash rewards. According to Department of Education officials, the process for disseminating the funds will be decided by each school's certified staff.

At the Education Committee meeting, legislators were also told state school officials will release this week test correlations as well as high school drop-out rate for 1994.

It's anticipated we will address aspects of KERA when we meet in January for the regular session of the 1996 Kentucky General Assembly. We are now reviewing the annual report from the Office of Education Accountability which was distributed to legislators and school superintendents. In the report, state school officials drafted 30 recommendations which they hope we will discuss during the session. Issues range from funding for schools to training for administrators.

At next month's Education Committee meeting, legislators will take a look at the funding formula for higher education and college tuition rates.

From now until the regular session in January, we will continue to meet in Frankfort to address important legislative issues. This period of time, known as the interim, gives us a chance to do in-depth research and draft legislation. Members serve on several of the 13 interim committees which include Agriculture and Natural Resources; Appropriations and Revenue; Banking and Finance; Economic Development and Tourism; Education; Special Subcommittee on Energy; Health and Welfare; Judiciary; Labor and Industry; Licensing and Occupations; Local Government; State Government; and Transportation. The meetings are open to the public. A schedule of committee meetings is available by telephoning toll-free 1-800-633-9650.

Rogers continues to fight to protect communities right to stop interstate dumping

U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers today continued his efforts to give local communities the right to decide whether or not they will accept trash from other states, by sponsoring legislation to stop interstate dumping without local permission.

The legislation will force trash and landfill operators from other states to get approval from local communities before building waste facilities in those communities.

It also gives local communities the opportunity to deny a permit for new waste disposal facilities if there is not a local or regional need for the facility.

"We in southern and eastern Kentucky should not be forced to accept New York's or any other states' trash if we don't want it," Rogers said. "Our bill is a step in the right direction. It will give our local communities the choice, not federal bureaucrats."

The House passed the bill overwhelmingly last year, but the session ended before the Senate and President Clinton could approve the legislation.

Heart-A-Fair hosted by Pattie A. Clay

In conjunction with American Heart Month, Pattie A. Clay Hospital will hold Heart-A-Fair on Sunday, February 26 from 12:30 p.m. to 6 p.m., at the Richmond Mall across from the Deb Shop.

The event, organized to assess the heart health of adults and children, will teach the risk factors for heart disease and keys for healthier living in an informative and fun atmosphere.

State Representative Danny R. Ford of the 80th District examines the packet of information distributed to committee members at the Interim State Government Committee meeting held earlier this month in Frankfort. Rep. Ford's district covers McCreary, Putnam, Rockcastle and Wayne counties. State Government Committee members investigate and research issues that relate to the general operation of agencies, employees, and programs of Kentucky's state government in order to draft legislation to improve services through better management practices. The next committee meeting is tentatively set for March 22.

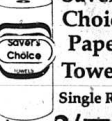

State Representative Danny Ford, top photo, center, welcomed participants of the Rainbow Respite Care Center during their recent visit to the Capitol. "It was a privilege to have some of my hometown friends spend time with me and the legislature during the special session," said Representative Ford. They toured the chambers of the House of Representatives and Senate, the Governor's Mansion and several historical sites during their visit to Frankfort. Rainbow Respite Care Center, a program of the Christian Appalachian Project, reopened in 1988 in Rockcastle County. The residential facility provides short-term care for children, teenagers and adults with developmental and physical disabilities. Field trips, such as the one to Frankfort, are among the many services and programs made available through the center.

Forward In The Fifth receives grant for parental involvement

The Kentucky Department of Education has awarded Forward in the Fifth a $15,000 grant to encourage increased parental involvement in schools and establish model programs. Forward in the Fifth will use this grant to sponsor a parental involvement workshop for school teams. The workshop will be followed with technical assistance and a financial opportunity to carry out the parental involvement activities the schools plan.

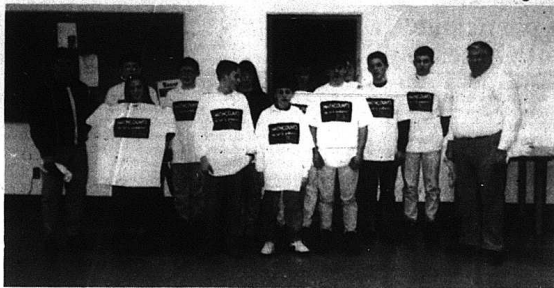

"Asking parents to bring in cupcakes or put up bulletin boards is a way to start getting parents involved, but we want to see schools move beyond that to really engaging parents and other community members in what they do," said Ginny Eager, Forward in the Fifth executive director. "We will work with schools to create model programs that educate parents and others about KERA and reach out to parents who are typically the hardest to reach -- the parents of middle and high school students and those from low-income families."

Forward in the Fifth has awarded parental involvement grants for four years. These new funds will allow this program to expand by providing planning assistance to grant applicants and by providing a larger award of $1,000, rather than the typical $500 awarded in the past.

The skills-intensive workshop designed to educate participants about meaningful parental involvement will be held April 24. Schools should send teams of teachers and other leaders to the all day workshop at the Perkins Conference Center at Eastern Kentucky University. Interested participants can call Lisa Moore at 986-3696 for more information.

The funding from this grant will be used to enhance our Accelerated Reader program at Mt. Vernon Elementary by providing additional Accelerated Reading test disks, motivational incentives, and additional library books. These materials will be used to enhance and further develop existing programs and services already offered to our faculty and students at MVES. They will be used to further develop collaboration between the Library Media specialist and the faculty.

Team from Rockcastle Middle places in regional competition

A team from the Rockcastle County Middle School will represent the region in a statewide mathematics competition following a contest hosted by Somerset Community College over the weekend. Saturday's event marked nearly 10 years of participation in the MathCounts program by SCC.

The four-member team from Rockcastle County placed second behind Pulaski County's Southern Middle School in the contest Saturday, Feb. 11. Team members included Andy Hale, Beth Blanton, April Thompson and Shawn Jones. Josh Brooks, from Corbin Middle School, will represent the area with Meace Middle School's Allan Butler as regional winners of the individual competition.

Schools from Whitley, Pulaski and Rockcastle counties participated in the annual event which is sponsored in part by the American Society of Professional Engineers.

Corbin Engineer David Hibbs said the event is important because it not only emphasized math skills but helps students to develop a practical appreciation for mathematics.

Members of SCC's math and sciences department participated in the competition by protoring and grading tests.

Division Chairman Arthur Dawson

said SCC's role in the contest fulfills one of the college's missions.

"Somerset Community College is a community institution and we want to do everything we can to serve our community and this is one way we do that," Dawson said.

SCC President Rollin Watson stressed the importance of the college playing a role in helping to prepare young adults for college.

"The MathCounts competition is just one way SCC can invest in the future of our area," Watson said. Participants in the competition (listed in contest placement from first to last) included: Andrew Sexton, Southern Middle; Andy Hale, Rockcastle Middle; Allan Butler, Meace Middle; Julie Rogers, Southern Middle; Amanda Dawson, Southern Middle; Josh Brooks, Corbin Middle; Beth Blanton, Rockcastle Middle; Melissa Smith, St. Camillus Academy; Francis Cleberg, Southern Middle; April Thompson, Rockcastle Middle; Caroline Henderson, Meace Middle;

Mt. Vernon Elementary raises $8,066.74 in shootout

MVES recently participated in the 15th Annual Wildcat Basketball Shootout for Easter Seals. Chaired by Coach Rick Pitino, the event raises funds for Easter Seal programs throughout Kentucky.

One-hundred and eighty-nine (189) students at MVES raised $8,066.74 for Easter Seals by soliciting sponsors for each basket made during a three minute period. These students were awarded prizes based on the amount of money raised. The top boy and girl fundraisers at MVES were Josh Hale raising $231 and Bridgette Lear raising $1,325 for Easter Seals.

The boy and girl who raise the most money statewide will sit on the player's bench at a late-season Wildcat home game. The Shootout is sponsored by Dairy Queen and SuperAmerica. Kentucky Easter Seal's state office in Louisville conducts the Shootout.

Schools such as Mt. Vernon Elementary School have raised over one million dollars in fourteen Shootouts. Of those funds, 99 percent stayed in Kentucky, and 90 percent was spent on direct hands-on services to thousands of children and adults with disabilities. Last year, over 25,000 Kentuckians received Easter Seal services.

RCMS students participate in Kentucky Youth Assembly

During the recent Junior Kentucky Youth Assembly, 50 students got a closer look at how state government works. At the YMCA-sponsored event, students presented legislation they had written in committees, saw the bills through the House and Senate chambers, and finally to the youth governor's desk for approval or veto.

More than 700 students convened for the 35th annual East Regional Kentucky Youth Assembly at the Hursbourne Hotel and Conference Center in Louisville.

The Youth Assembly has committees, lobbyists, a Supreme Court, and an elected governor and cabinet. Students assume the roles of legislators, justices, lobbyists, and news reporters. Each participating school submits bills which are discussed and voted on by the student legislature. Of the 60 bills that were submitted this year, only 15 passed. Rockcastle County Middle received the prestigious "Best Bill" award for HB348. Authors were Jeremy Saylor and Jaci Durham. Their bill was written to grant authority to family service workers to place a child who is in imminent danger of injury, abuse, or death into a 24-hour protective castody of the Cabinet for Human Resources/Department of Social Services. Jeremy Saylor was also one of only ten delegates elected from the entire assembly as "Outstanding Delegates." This award is based on participation in the House or Senate, defense of bills, and speeches given before the House or Senate.

The assembly also lets students argue cases before a mock Supreme Court. Each school is represented by two youth advocates. RCMS advocates, John Dyehouse and Matthew Hayes, were among only 9 who won their cases during the mock court.

Youth Senators from Rockcastle Middle were Stewart Abney, Jeremy Reynolds, Tara Cox, Amber Falin, Angela Mullins, Lindsey Parsons, Cathy Midkiff, Brad Spears, Crystal Smith, Josh Lyons, and Michael Parsons. Serving in the House of Representatives were Josh Chaliff, Tiffany McClure, Cody Cox, Mary French, Jamie Settles, Jaci Durham, Adam Holt, Josh Martin, Angela Owens, Cassandra Falin, Emily Coffey, Chelsea Stratton, Katy Powell, Brad McNew, Ashlee Holt, Jennifer Carmack, Cheyenne Carmack, Minda

Bullock, Amanda Smith, Stephen Hopkins, Ashley Alcorn, Thomas Coffey, Tom Mills, Jr., April Martin, Ashley Lawson, Suzanne Brown, Matthew Brown, Stephanie Dobbs, and Jeremy Saylor. Members of the Governor's Cabinet were Andy Hale, Deputy Lieutenant Governor, Jon Burdette, Speaker of the House; Mark Parsons, Chief Clerk of the Senate; Christian Parsons, Committee #4 Chairperson; Kristy Lovell, Chief Page of the House. Nathaniel Bullock and Alex Tyler assumed the roles of lobbyists.

Prior to the assembly, RCMS students met with Representative Danny

R. Ford in Frankfort for a personal tour of the Capitol and his offices. Because of the renovation at the Capitol, KYA was forced to meet in Louisville but will return to Frankfort for next year's meetings.

Accompanying the students to Louisville were Y-Club sponsors Rose Brown, Tracy Gabbard, Nancy Hale and Onna K. Owens, and parent chaperones, Debra Brown, Tammy Cox and John Tyler.

Hosier attends symposium

Dan Hosier of Mt. Vernon recently attended the Fall Sales Symposium sponsored by Sales Promotion Associates, Inc., the nation's leader in the calendar advertising and promotional products industry.

Conducted in Phoenix, the two-day meeting brought together sales representatives and company planners in an instructional classroom setting.

"The conference was very interactive, and it was an excellent opportunity to learn useful techniques to implement into a successful 1995 sales year," said Hosier.

A 12-year veteran of the company's Thos D. Murphy sales division, Hosier was one of 250 sales representatives invited to the conference from among the company's 1,100 sales representatives nationwide.

The nation's leader in the manufacture and sale of advertising calendars and other promotional products, Sales Promotion Associates and its divisions have been innovators in the promotional products industry since the 1880s.

for price supports. So far, only 10 percent of Kentucky farmers have bought the necessary insurance, said Stanley Todd, a Department of Agriculture official who is responsible for the crop-insurance program in Kentucky.

U.S. Rep. Scotty Baesler, a Fayette County tobacco farmer, said farmers' lack of awareness of the new rules presents a significant problem. His office plans next week to send notices of the requirement to 40,000 people in Central Kentucky who own tobacco allotments — the rights to grow certain amounts of tobacco. The tobacco program controls production by limiting those allotments.

Farmers must buy the insurance before the growing season, Todd said. They can't wait until later this year.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has set March 15 as the deadline for Kentucky farmers. Late filers can still qualify until April 28, under an extension established this week by federal agriculture officials.

Farmers without insurance can still sell their tobacco, but there is no guarantee that they will receive the federally established price-support level — which averaged $1.71 a pound for burley tobacco during the marketing season that just ended. The guaranteed price has made tobacco a consistently profitable crop.

Farmers without crop insurance will have to sell to the tobacco companies for however much or little the companies want to pay, Todd said.

"They can give 50 cents if they want," Baesler said of the companies.

Todd said farmers who don't buy insurance before the deadline also will be prohibited from participating in the disaster leasing program. Under this program, farmers who have their tobacco crops ruined by weather have been able to lease their tobacco allotments to other farmers.

Farmers need by only the lowest level of coverage — catastrophic insurance — and it is not expensive. Farmers will have to pay $30 for each crop from which they get more than 10 percent of their total crop income. But they won't have to pay more than $200 for all crops they grow in a county or more than $600 if they farm in several counties.

The money covers administrative costs. The federal government finances the insurance payouts.

If natural disaster strikes, the government would pay farmers with catastrophic insurance about 30 percent of the value of a normal crop.

Rockets drop two to Raiders and Barbourville Tigers

Last Friday night, the Rockets managed to avenge an earlier 20-point loss to the McCreary Central Raiders by winning the second encounter 65-59.

The Rockets managed to hang on the second quarter when they were outscored 12-6 to lead at all the quarter stops: 16-9; 22-21; 48-41 and the final 65-59.

Senior Matt Baker decided to end his career on the home court at RCHS in style and was the leading scorer for the Rockets with 25 points - 15 of them in the second half.

Gary Burns was next with 3; Ken Hopkins got 11; Eddie Todd 8; Corey Scott 5 and Eric McGuire 3.

The Rockets tied the score in the first quarter 7 all, on a three by guard Corey Scott but it was the last time the Rockets would score until the 5:45 mark in the second quarter when center Gary Burns finally put one through to make it 24-9.

Numerous turn-overs and poor rebounding hurt the Rockets and they were outscored heavily at the free throw line also with the Tigers putting 22 of 27 chances in and the Rockets were only 7 for 12.

Burns led the scoring with 13 points; Matt Baker got 12; Eddie Todd (all three pointers) scored 12; Corey Scott 7; Eric McGuire and Ken Hopkins 4 each and Mark Carpenter 3.

The Rockets will close out their regular season Friday night when they travel to Danville.

Jayvees lose to McCreary and Tigers

Despite a valiant fourth-quarter effort, the Rocket Jayvees just couldn't catch-up enough to overcome a 45-32 third quarter lead by the McCreary Central Raiders last Friday night, going on to lose 57-46.

Mark Carpenter led the scoring for the Jayvees with 20 points; Matt Ford got 7; Jon Adams and Blake Childress 4 each; Dusty McClure and Travis Anderkin 3 each; Billy Kirby and Jimmy Kidwell 2 each and Ronnie Yanzant 1.

Tuesday night, the Jayvees erased a 13-2 first quarter deficit at Barbourville to take the lead at 20-18 and go to the locker room at halftime down by only one at 21-20.

However, in the third quarter, the Tigers once again got the upper hand, outscoring the Rockets 13-7 and going on for the 52-46 win.

The Rockets had their chances in the fourth, missing a wide open lay up that would have brought them to within two at 50-48 and then missing the put-back on the rebound.

Leading the scoring for the Jayvees was Dusty McClure with 12; Travis Anderkin got 9; Blake Childress and Mark Childress scored 8 each; Jon Adams got 3; Matt Ford, Jimmy Kidwell and Jon Pope, 2 each.

RCHS Lady Rockets defeat Hazelwood; lose to Lady Lions

The Lady Rockets, now 6-17 on the season, got their 6th win with a victory over Hazelwood last Thursday night.

The girls were only ahead by two at the end of the first quarter, by four at half-time and six at the third quarter stop (38-32) but in the fourth quarter, Melinda Alcorn and put in six of her 11 points and subs Kristi Moore and Ginger Mink combined for 9 points to help the Lady Rockets outscore Hazelwood 22-12 and take the 60-44 win.

Scoring for the Rockets were: Melinda Smith with 12; Alcorn's 11; Kristi Moore 9; Susie Carpenter and Ginger Mink, 6 each; Heather Deckard and Amy Robinson, 5 each; Jessica Albright 4 and LaCosta Mason 2.

Monday night, the Lady Rockets ran into a buzz saw at Garrard County as the Lady Lions put the hurt on the Rockets in the second half, erasing a 36-33 half-time deficit to outscore the RCHS girls 40-28 for the 73-64 final.

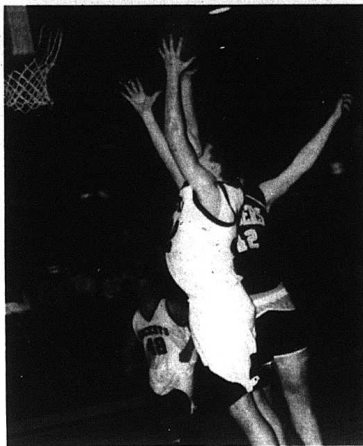

Jessica Albright had the hot-hand for the Lady Rockets in the second quarter, swishing the net with four three pointers and added one in the fourth for her 15-point total which led the Lady Rockets. Heather Deckard got 13 points, 5 from the free throw line; Amy Robinson was next with 12; Susie Carpenter scored 11; Melinda Smith 8 and Ginger Mink 5.

Lady Jayvees drop close one to Lions; defeat Lady Eagles by 47-27

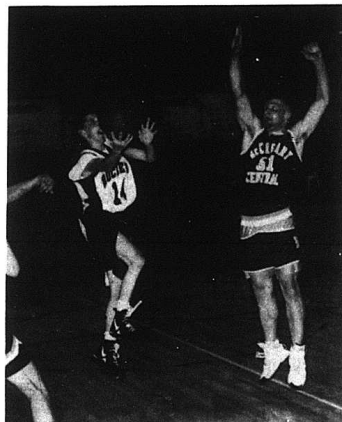

Just one basket and six free throws in the fourth quarter spelled doom for the Lady Rocket Jayvees last Thursday night as they lost a heartbreaker to the Lady Lions Jayvees 34-31.

The Rockets led at all the quarter stops - but couldn't put any distance between themselves and the Lady Lions as the score at the end of three periods was 23-22 and the Lady Lions were more equal to the task in the fourth quarter.

Senior Matt Baker takes the ball to the goal in action last Friday night against McCreary Central. Baker, playing in his last home game for the Rockets, scored 25 points in the 65-59 win.

Junior Eddie Todd puts up a short jumper in action against the McCreary Central Raiders. Todd scored 8 points in the win. The Rockets will face Clay Co. in the district tournament in the second round Tuesday night at 8:00 p.m.

Freshman John Brown tries to put the defense to a McCreary Central Raider in action last Friday night. Also in the photo is Billy Kirby.

Junior Ginger Mink aims for the basket during action recently. The girls will have to face the Clay County girls in district tournament action beginning next Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m.

Freshmen lose out in tournament in double OT

Despite a career-high 23 points by guard Travis Anderkin and a miracle shot by Dusty McClure at the end of the first overtime, the Rockets were eliminated in first-round action of the freshman tournament held at Corbin Middle School last week.

The Williamsburg Yellow Jackets star point guard Mark Vernon took control of the game in the two OTs, scoring 18 of his 30 points and the freshmen just couldn't counter with enough offensive power, losing by a score of 52-49.

The Rockets started very slow, missing numerous shots under the goal but the Yellow Jackets also had a hard time getting started offensively as witnessed by a first quarter score of 5-2 in the Yellow Jackets favor.

The second quarter saw a little more action with the Rockets taking a 13-11 lead into the locker room at half time.

In the third quarter, Anderkin got six of his 23 points and Chris Miller added two for the 23-21 score at the end of the third quarter but this time in the Yellow Jackets favor.

The freshmen fell behind by as much as five in the fourth quarter but the Rocket freshmen rallied to tie the score at 32-all with 23 ticks left in the game. The Rockets took the lead on a short jumper by Anderkin but, with 3 seconds left on the clock, Vernon was fouled and calmly put two foul shots in for the final 34-34 in regulation.

In the first overtime, Vernon went to war, scoring all 11 of the Jackets points and it looked like it was all over but, with one-second on the clock in the first overtime, Dusty McClure took a half-court pass from Anderkin and, one step from the center line let sail with a Hail Mary and the ball swished through for the 45-45 first OT score.

Again, in the second overtime, Vernon scored 7 points and, even though center Blake Childress countered with all 4 of the Rockets points, it just wasn't enough.

Scoring besides Anderkin were McClure and Childress with 11 each and John Brown and Chris Miller with 2 each.

Also noteworthy in the game -- Williamsburg was whistled for three fouls in regulation play.

Junior Pro team comes in third in Mercer Co. Invitational

The Rockcastle County Junior Pro Basketball League dispatched a pair of special select teams to compete in the Mercer County Invitational Youth Basketball Tournament this past weekend in Harrodsburg. A select team of 9 year olds string together a series of very impressive performances and marched away with third place in this very competitive tournament. A select team of sixth graders while not placing in their tourney, nevertheless turned heads with their exciting fast-paced style of play. Both the 9 year olds and sixth graders hustled and scrapped from the time they walked onto the gym floor until they left. All of Rockcastle can be very proud of the way these youngsters represented the county and Rockcastle Junior Pro would like to say publicly how proud it is of the players and coaches of each of these groups. Summaries of the games played in each tourney are as follows:

Junior Varsity 9 year olds Game 1

Lexington Southeast (White 48) Rockcastle Co. 34
 The Rockcastle 9 year olds drew a tall order in their first game - literally. Lexington Southeast (one of the largest Junior Pro leagues in the state) placed three separate teams in the 9-year-old tourney. The "White" team, eventual champions of the tourney, towered over the Rockcastle group in this opening round match-up. Despite the height disadvantage, Rockcastle put together a hustling performance in a game that was closer than the deceptive final score. Aaron Cash, who had a great tourney, led Rockcastle with 18 points and had

This weekend the Rockcastle County Jr Pro Basketball League will be sponsoring an invitational "Tournament." The tournament is for Junior Varsity (9-11 year olds) All-Star teams. Some of the teams competing in the tournament include the Russell Co. All-Stars, Garrard Co. All-Stars, Richmond All-Stars, Berea All-Stars, Corbin All-Stars, Lexington All-Stars, and the Rockcastle All-Stars as well as others. The tournament will be a double-elimination format and will be held at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School. The first game of the tournament will be held Saturday morning at 8:30 a.m. and will feature the Rockcastle All-Stars in action. The games will continue all day Saturday until approximately 9 p.m. and will conclude on Sunday afternoon. If you would like to see some outstanding hoop action, please come out and support the Rockcastle Jr. Pro All-Stars as they take on some of the best competition around!!!

several steals. Aaron Anderkin, who likewise put together a great tourney performance, had 7 points and numerous rebounds against this big team. Devin Taylor, despite being in foul trouble, hustled for 6 points and several steals. Austin Miller fired in 2 points, and Stephen Boring added 1 point and good interior defense. Chris Settles, Clay Smith and Cole Hammond also played and contributed good hustling defensive performances.

Second Game

Rockcastle Co. 41 Lexington Southeast (Gold) 38
 Rockcastle took on the "Gold" team from Lexington Southeast in this match-up. This was a very exciting wire-to-wire battle. Rockcastle's fast-paced tempo and hustle provided the difference in this contest, allowing an upset that sent one of the strong Lexington teams home early. Rockcastle was led by Aaron Cash who penetrated the Lexington defense for 16 points and several nice assists. Aaron Anderkin scored 10 points, added numerous rebounds, and provided a strong defensive presence in the paint. Cat-quick Devin Taylor hustled and scrapped his way to 7 points and many steals. Austin Miller and Chris Settles each fired in 4 points apiece with good perimeter performances. Stephen Boring and Clay Smith did not score but each played great defense and rebounded well.

Third Game

Rockcastle Co. 49 Lexington Southeast (Blue) 43

Rockcastle finished the unenviable task of naming the game's MVP in all three Lexington teams in the tournament and proved to all the Rockcastle fans in attendance that no other group of nine years assembled could ever have more heart. Despite having two players out of action in the contest, the under-manned and under-sized Rockcastle squad stood toe to toe with the "Blue" team from Lexington Southeast and knocked them out of the tournament with a thrilling upset win. Rockcastle managed to send home a second Lexington squad as they were led by Aaron Anderkin, who finished with 22 points, numerous rebounds, and great defense. Stephen Boring and Devin Taylor, had some nice assists, and Devin Taylor and Austin Miller, both lightning quick, added 4 points each and great hustling defense. Stephen Boring and Clay Smith hit for 2 apiece, but more importantly crashed the boards hard and played good defense.

Fourth Game

Mercer Co. 58 Rockcastle Co. 50

Rockcastle squared off with the host team of the tourney in this match-up. The winner would advance to face the rugged Lexington SE "White" team in the finals, while the loser would take third place for the tourney. Rockcastle got off to a jumpy start, and fell down by three quarters ended points in the second quarter, as Mercer was buoyed by their own good shooting and also some questionable calls. However, this gutsy team refused to quit and stormed back to tie the game at the half. In the second half Rockcastle again fell into a double digit deficit at one point, but again refused to die and soon sliced the lead back down. In the end however, the talented Mercer team managed to convert their free throws in the closing minutes and stretch out the margin to collar the win. Aaron Cash led Rockcastle with 23 points and added several rebounds, assists, and steals in a strong all-around performance. Aaron Anderkin, despite being targeted for 4 fouls, managed 14 points and several rebounds in a very gutsy performance. Devin Taylor and Chris Settles each fired in 5 points and added several steals apiece. Austin Miller scored 2 points and provided good defense on the perimeter. Stephen Boring hit for 1 point and pulled down several rebounds. Clay Smith and Cole Hammond each added spark and provided good hustling defense off the bench.

Lexington Southeast 55 Rockcastle Co. 42

Just like their younger Rockcastle counterparts, the sixth graders were stuck with unenviable task of facing one of the powerful Lexington Southeast teams in the opener. Also, much like the 9 year olds in their opening game, the Rockcastle group was towered over by a large Lexington SE squad. The Rockcastle fans on hand for this one had to be content with the sixth graders' performance though. This gutsy group hustled, scrapped, and fought the entire way against a very strong Lexington team. Their pressing, three point shooting attack kept them in this one until late, but Lexington SE managed to hang on for the win. Jeremy Neeley led Rockcastle with 19 points and had several steals. Greg Harper finished with 10 points and several rebounds from the small forward position. Shea Davidson hit for 5 points and added several steals and assists. Eric Denny and Paul Hayes each had 4 points and several boards. Derrick Bussell scored 3 points and had some nice assists. Josh Lyons hit for 3 points and added several boards and good hustle, as did Chaz Cable.

Game 2

Rockcastle Co. 41 Mercer Co. 32

Rockcastle knocked off the host team in this contest by again smartly using the game's MVP and led by an up-tempo, fast breaking attack. Jeremy Neeley and Greg Harper led the way for Rockcastle with 11 points apiece and good heady play. Derrick Bussell hustled his way to 7 points and several nice assists and steals.

RCMS 6th graders advance in Lions Club Tournament

Chris Parsons' 27 points in the first quarter helped the Rockcastle Co. Middle School 6th graders advance to the finals of the Lions Club tournament with their 57-39 win over Foley Middle School Tuesday night.

The Rockets jumped on Foley

Eric Denny and Shea Davidson each hit for 4 points apiece and provided good interior and perimeter defense respectively. Josh Lyons and Paul Hayes scored 2 apiece and bagged the boards hard for several rebounds. Jarrod Burdette and Chaz Cable each provided hustling defense to spark the team.

Game 3

Washington Co. 47 Rockcastle Co. 42

In this game the Rockcastle sixth graders put together one of the greatest comeback seen in a long time. Rockcastle fell behind a very talented Washington Co. team by over 20 points in the first quarter. Although Washington Co. possessed it was easy to see how Washington took a big lead, and with the heat, desire, and scrap Rockcastle displayed, it was easy to see how they ripped that lead back down to just four points. Although Washington converted their free throws and managed to hang on for the win, the fans on hand were understandably very proud of this fine young group. Greg Harper led the way in this contest for Rockcastle as he pumped in 11 points and added great hustle. Jeremy Neeley provided 9 points and strong leadership at the point. Eric Denny came up with 5 points and several rebounds in strong performance. Derrick Bussell, a defensive gem, added 3 points to go along with several steals. Josh Lyons and Paul Hayes battled well in the post against a tall, athletic Washington team. Although Washington led 2 points respectively to some good rebounding. Shea Davidson hit for 3 points and provided fiery leadership and defense to spark the team. Jarrod Burdette played very well, as he hit for 3 points, while Chaz Cable did the same and hustled for 2 points.

RCMS 7th graders finish fourth

The RCMS 7th graders wound up fourth in the conference tournament at South Laurel.

After an opening win over Wayne County, the 7th graders faced #1 seed North Laurel and, despite leading 9 points at half-time, lost 45-38.

In the second game, their job didn't get any easier as they had to contend with the #2 seed Corbin and it was a barn-burner with the final 39-37 indicative of the entire game.

Andrew Cash led the scoring in the North Laurel game with 16 points, half of them from the free throw line and was five for six in the fourth quarter from the charity stripe. John Renner was next with 8 points; Chris Parsons got 7, Jacob Burdette 5 and Daniel Morgan 2.

In the Corbin game, Morgan led the 7th graders with 13 points. Cash got 10, Chris Parsons 7, Jacob Burdette 4, John Renner 2 and Brad McNew 1.

The 7th graders led at the end of the first period by 3, 11-8; were behind at half-time 22-21 and also by one at the end of three periods 30-29.

In the fourth quarter, neither team could do much offensively but Corbin hung on for the final two point victory.

Last official registration sign up date for participating in Little League baseball this summer is Sat., Feb. 25 at Thacker Field - Brodhead!

There has been a misconception about Project Graduation. Although it is supported by Rockcastle County High School, the number of fatalities can be greatly reduced because people who care about students want to provide an all night, school-free graduation party.

Each year many seniors throughout the nation are killed or critically injured because of accidents following after-graduation parties that were not chaperoned. Because of efforts such as Project Graduation, the number of fatalities can be greatly reduced because people who care about students want to provide an all night, school-free graduation party.

Where old friends meet

Family reunions, class reunions, community reunions and what we term old fashioned homecomings, are the places we usually associate with meeting friends and relatives seldom seen and most of us make a special effort to attend these events.

At class reunions we will see the kids we went to school with and said goodbyes to on graduation day. Now we can find out how well or how poorly, for some, they have done since those carefree and happy days of youth.

Family reunions, "family" meaning anyone claiming blood kinship or even ties by marriage or friendship are made welcome and are greeted with open arms. Soon pictures of ancestors long gone are brought forth to refresh the memories of anyone who cares to look at them. This triggers the desire of others to show off their own pictures of their families and soon we have seen every new born and latest graduated member of the clan. Memories abound at these reunions of successful members of the clan but somehow the unsuccessful ones and the scallaws are never brought to mind. And you know, it is often these less successful people who are most trying to reach the top rung of the ladder of success that are the most fun to be around. Their lack of drive to climb that ladder to success has allowed time to relax and smell the roses as they pass by.

Homecomings are attended by odds and ends of folks who come hoping to run into an old friend or family member they perhaps haven't seen for years or maybe just to get caught up on the latest gossip or eat at the feast spread by the best cooks in the county.

There is one more place where friends and family meet that isn't called a reunion. This is the funeral parlor. Does this seem strange to you? You may think the place where grief and heartbreak at the loss of a loved one is the wrong place for the light hearted greetings of friends and the reminiscing that follows. But what better place to honor the deceased one and show the grieving family that many other people share in their grief. It is there at the viewing of the deceased one, amid the floral offerings that brighten the gloom and act as a backdrop for the one lying silent that friends and relatives pause for a moment and whisper, "so long good friend, or buddy, you have answered your last call but mine is still to come."

Then perhaps wiping a stray tear away and doing the heart part of offering condolences to the family step away and disappear into the lounging area where other friends await. For awhile voices are subdued as these special friends share the memories of one who had been an important part of their life. It is in this area that the reuniting of friends from every walk in life take place and it is only here that many of them would ever have the chance to renew acquaintances for their paths in life go in many directions and never cross except at a funeral or wake. Here the common denominator is death and brings to reality just how short life is and how important friends are.

The measure of one's life can be taken by the number of people attending a funeral but a good idea of how he or she lived that life can be summed up by the quality of people attending it. The three most recent ones I have attended are good examples of why I chose the title "Where Old Friends Meet." I sat quietly in the background and watched the rich and the poor, the educated and uneducated file past the bier then meet on common ground in the other room and gladly renew old acquaintances. The wealth and prestige or poverty or illiteracy was lost in the shuffle of friendship as hands were warmly shaken or arms clasped tightly around another.

This was proof enough of how these deceased ones had lived their lives.

They are probably already checked out but we do keep a waiting list and we will write your name down for the book of your choice and call you when it is available.

The library has a list of the best-sellers on the bulletin board. This list is compiled by the New York Times from computer-processed sales figures from more than 3,000 bookstores throughout the United States.

We have just received several new non-fiction books that should be of interest to a lot of our patrons. 1. Birdwatching Your Garden: A practical guide to backyard birds and the plants that attract them by George Martin Adams. 2. Last Moon: The perilous voyage of Apollo 13. By Jim Lovell and Jeffrey Kluger. 3. The American West by Dee Brown. He is the most renowned for authoring the all-time bestselling book on the West, Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee. Here now is The American West, a brilliant account of America's most famous drama. By centering solely on three subjects, Native Americans, settlers and ranchers, Brown effortlessly recreates these groups struggles for their place in their new landscape and illuminates the history of the old west. 5. The Coming Plague: Newly emerging diseases in a world out of balance by Laurie Garrou. Contains articles on epidemiology and many communicable diseases. 6. Decorative Painting For the Home: Creating exciting effect with water-based paint by Dee Andre and David Lipe.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In 1 Pet. 3:10-12 Peter (quoting Ps. 34:12-16) gives us a "formula" or "recipe" or "ingredients" for a good life. Let's begin by reading the text. "For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile; let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it. For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers; but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil." Let's look at the things Peter says we must do to love life and see good days.

First we must refrain our tongues from evil. James said we must bridle the tongue in Jms. 1:26. Things like cursing, swearing, dirty jokes, bitter-sharp words, slander or gossip, blasphemy are things that should not come forth from our tongues. They only make for pain and misery to come our way.

Our lips should speak no guile; i.e. deceit, dishonesty, lying. Paul tells us to put away lying and to speak the truth, Col. 3:9, Eph. 4:25. One of the quickest ways to lose respect from others, and bring woe into our lives, is to be a liar.

Peter gives us another ingredient for a good life, to eschew evil, which means to "bend aside" or turn from evil. Paul gives us some catalogs of evil things, that should be avoided in Rm. 1:26-32; Gal. 5:19-21; Col. 3:5-9; Eph. 4:22-31. These things only bring hurt, pain, sorrow and woe into one's life. So far we have only talked about the negative, notice next.

Peter says that doing good is an essential part of a good life. Paul said as we have opportunity, we are to do good unto all men, Gal. 6:10. Jesus said our good works will bring glory to God Mr. 5:16. Good works are those things that are according to the will of Christ, Heb. 13:20-21.

Finally Peter says that we must seek peace and ensue it, in our text. Paul said as much as lieth in you, we should seek to live peaceably with all men, Rm. 12:18. We should seek to get along with others in the various relationships of life. Now this does not mean "peace at any price" that principle and truth should be compromised.

Then Peter promises, that the eyes of the Lord will be watching over in protective care and loving approval; and that the Lord will hear the prayers of the righteous. But he warns that face; the anger of the Lord; his severity will be against those that do evil. Indeed these verses serve as a simple "formula" for a good life in Christ.

Beware of Mushroom Tea

By: Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

There is a type of tea that has recently been claimed to assist stomach ailments and digestion. This "mushroom tea" is made by placing a certain type of mushroom in water for a matter of weeks. The water is left at room temperature and the mushroom grows other starters as the water discolors. The mushroom is taken out of the water and the tea is then consumed as tea.

This is not a recommended practice. University of Kentucky Foods & Nutrition Specialist Sandra Bastin says the process of making this tea will allow bacteria and other pathogens to also grow in the water. The original mushrooms are usually purchased from mail-order companies. The mushrooms are grown on composted horse and/or chicken manure and harvested by hand. This type of production for mushrooms is also questionable in its safety.

READ PRECAUTIONARY STATEMENTS ON HOUSEHOLD CLEANING PRODUCTS

Information on the labels of household cleaning products guides consumers to the best and safest use of these products.

Consumers should pay careful attention to the precautionary statement, which provide safety information about product use, first aid instructions and sometimes handling, storage and disposal guidelines. It is dangerous to use a product incorrectly or follow the wrong emergency treatment guidelines.

The Federal Hazardous Substances Act (FHSA) governs use of precautionary statements on household cleaning product labels. A product is not required to give any precautionary statements if exposure in small amounts or swallowing small amounts would not cause major harm. Many window cleaners, fabric softeners and some hand dishwashing detergents are in this category. The "signal word" is the first and largest word in a precautionary statement. "Caution" and "warning" is the mildest caution and means the product is not likely to cause permanent damage as a result of exposure if appropriate first aid is given. Many laundry detergents, automatic dishwashing detergents, disinfectants and all-purpose cleaners fall into this category.

"Danger" indicates greater precaution and often appears on specialty products for tough cleaning tasks, such as cleaning ovens or unclogging drains. "Danger" also indicates greater precaution and often appears on specialty products for tough cleaning tasks, such as cleaning ovens or unclogging drains.

Precautionary statements also contain specific phrases explaining possible consequences if the product is misused. These include eye or skin irritant, "harmful if swallowed" or "flammable".

They also include precautionary measures describing actions to take or avoid. For example, the label might instruct consumers to wear rubber gloves for protection, avoid product vapors or use the product in a well-ventilated area. Consumers might be advised not to mix a product with anything that might cause a dangerous reaction. If this precaution appears, the label specifically list combinations to avoid.

Statements also might include first aid instructions when necessary or appropriate. The label might state, "If swallowed, drink a glass of water" or "in case of eye contact, flush eyes with water for 15 minutes".

The precautionary statement also will include handling, storage or disposal instructions when relevant to the hazard. Examples are "do not reuse container" or "store away from heat or out of direct light".

As an added precaution, keep products in original containers with labels intact.

bacco Growers Co-operative Association," he explained. "They must insure all of their eligible crops in order to receive price supports on any single crop."

Farmers must also buy crop insurance in order to participate in other federal programs such as FmHA loans, Henton said.

"While these changes did not come from the Burley Co-op," said Danny McKinney, CEO of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, "we have concern that all of our farmers know the rules and that they take the action they need to by March 15, because a burley grower must have CAT insurance if his 1995 tobacco is to have price-support protection. It's that simple."

Farmers seeking more details about these changes may phone their local CFSAs office.

Crop insurance mistakes will threaten burley price

Burley growers are being asked to endorse the tobacco price-support program in two crucial ways during the next few weeks, according to Hampton "Hoppy" Henton.

And failure to do so will threaten burley price supports.

Henton, executive director of the Kentucky Consolidated Farm Service Agency (formerly ASCS), said the pair of upcoming deadlines for burley growers are:

The regular three-year referendum during which farmers decide whether or not to continue the 60-plus-year-old U.S. Tobacco Program.

Burley growers should receive these ballots by mail during late February or early March, Henton said.

The second, under new federal law, requires farmers to buy crop insurance in order to receive any federal ag benefits, including tobacco price supports.

March 15 is the deadline for buying this insurance, either from private companies or from county CFSAs offices, Henton said.

Burley farmers are familiar with the long-standing three-year referenda, but they may not understand the new insurance regulations.

The basic insurance requirements are "one fee, one application, per crop, per county," Henton said. Specifically:

Farmers must buy minimum coverage for every insurable crop they plan to raise in every county where they plan to farm during 1995.

"This basic catastrophic-risk (CAT) insurance is low-level coverage designed to protect only a farmer's costs of operation," Henton said.

Farmers must purchase CAT coverage either from private companies or from the county CFSAs office by March 15.

"If farmers buy private insurance, they don't need to pay CFSAs anything and don't need to come to a CFSAs office now," Henton said.

But "everybody who may receive price-support income — including quota holders, landowners, tenants, and sharecroppers — must have CAT coverage by March 15," Henton said.

Henton described the new regulations as "an all-or-nothing" program.

"Farmers can't just buy tobacco

Minimize those calf losses

This year's just-beginning calving season poses one of two big threats to profits for the Kentucky catleman.

Profit losses due to low pregnancy rates are considered the number one problem for cattlemen, but losses of newborn calves which are either stillborn or die shortly after birth rank a very high number two.

And of those, a large percentage of losses comes from young heifers having their first calf, said Roy Burris, Extension beef specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

We try to put our patients at ease . . .

Radiology has a unique function in the hospital. At Rockcastle Hospital, technology is the key to helping diagnose a disease or injury. But, it takes specially trained personnel to utilize this technology.

In the eight years I've been here, Radiology has changed dramatically. It's a much larger department now and we've added new diagnostic services, including mammography and our own CAT scanner.

When patients come in, they're often scared, so we try to explain the procedure and answer their questions. We're like family here, we want our patients to be comfortable.

I think taking time to talk to each patient and being polite is important. "We really care about people at Rockcastle Hospital."
