Serve as advisory group to cancer program Rockcastle County people sought for district council

The Kentucky Cancer Program is being sought by the Kentucky Cancer Program to represent the area on their Cumberland Valley District Cancer Council. The council serves as an advisory group to the Kentucky Cancer Program, and also advocates for cancer services in their respective communities. County representatives serve as vital contact persons in their respective counties. The District Cancer Council meets twice annually, once in the spring (usually in Corbin as a central location) and once in the fall for an education program (usually at Cumberland Falls State Park).

"We are seeking anyone who might have an interest in, or a concern about cancer—not just professional people!" emphasized KCP Regional Coordinator, Gloria Sams. "Though professionals have great tools with which to help cancer patients and their families, we must never take for granted the power that we as lay persons have to educate and even to prevent or detect early many types of cancer. We need the voices of such people on this group."

Anyone interested in serving on the District Cancer Council can telephone the Somerset Regional Office collect at (606) 679-7204 or write: Gloria V. Sams, Kentucky Cancer Program, 501 College Street, Suite C, Somerset, Ky. 42501-1315.

Quail Homemakers meet

By Reporter Bobbie Durham
The Quail Homemakers had their regular monthly meeting Feb. 20, 1995 at the home of Debbie Brown. Attendance was checked by letting each person tell about something special an adult had done for them when they were a child.

There were fourteen members and two visitors present. Our visitors were Kathleen Stevens and Martha Hamm. We welcome both of them as new members to our club.

We voted to make a donation to E.S. Goodbarn and to Project Graduation.

Our lesson for February was "Take Charge of Your Finances - Develop a Spending Plan." The lesson was taught by Bobbie Durham. The devotionals was read by Debbie Brown.

"We again want to say "Thank You" to Debbie for inviting us into her lovely home and for serving the most appealing food. Both her home and food carried the theme of Valentine's Day. Debbie is also the winner of the Bingo game.

Don't forget the Farm Auction at Broadhead Fair Grounds! Quail Homemakers will be serving food and drinks.

Our next meeting will be March 20th at the residence of Bonnie Brown.

Forest Fire Hazard Season begins March 1

March 1 was the beginning of the official "Spring Forest Fire Hazard Season" in Kentucky.

Kentucky law designates March 1 through May 15 as "Forest Fire Hazard Season." During this time, the law prohibits burning within 150 feet of the woods or burning anything capable of spreading fire into the woods between the hours of midnight and 4:30 p.m. local time.

This is called the "4:30 Burning Law." It is intended to prevent fires by allowing burning only during the time when typically the wind is calm and humidity is increased.

"Last year, 1,800 forest fires blackened 60,263 acres of Kentucky's forests," said Mark Matuzewski, director of the Kentucky Division of Forestry. "Forest fires cause destruction of our forest resources such as timber supplies, wildlife habitat, scenic beauty and water quality. These are things that affect all Kentuckians."

Kentuckians are encouraged to report forest fires to their local Division of Forestry office. Arrests can be reported in confidence by calling the Target Arson "Hot Line" at 1-800-27-ARSON.

Brodhead Elementary School raises $995.76 for Easter Seals

Brodhead Elementary School recently participated in the 15th Annual Wildcat Basketball Shootout for Easter Seals. Chaired by Coach

Rick Pitino, the event raises funds for Easter Seal programs throughout Kentucky.

Twenty-five (25) students at Brodhead Elementary School raised $995.76 for Easter Seals by soliciting sponsors for each basket made during a three minute period. These students were awarded prizes based on the amount of money raised. The top boy and girl fundraisers at Brodhead Elementary School were Derek Adams raising $106.00 and Rachel Childress raising $322.00 for Easter Seals. Schools such as Brodhead Elementary School have raised over one million dollars in fourteen Shootouts.

Of those funds, 99% stayed in Kentucky, and 80% was spent on direct handson services to thousands of children and adults with disabilities. Last year, over 25,000 Kentuckians received Easter Seal services.

Local EKU student teachers

Two Eastern Kentucky University students from Rockcastle County are among 222 teacher-education students doing their student teaching in their spring semester.

They are: Keith Leigh Graham, Mt. Vernon, at Berea Elementary and Richard J. Cope of Brodhead at Model High School, Richmond.

EKU's College of Education places its student teachers in classrooms to gain practical classroom experience, said Dr. David Rush, director of EKU's professional laboratory experiences office. The student-teaching experience, which is required before a college graduate can be certified, follows on-campus instruction in teaching fundamentals, methods and subject-matter areas.

"The student-teaching experience is periodically supervised and evaluated by University supervisors who are all former teachers and who are knowledgeable about recent school reform," Rush said. "We believe our students are well prepared to be outstanding teachers."

EKU students preparing for teaching careers also have the unique advantage of gaining practical classroom experience at Model Laboratory, the only laboratory school in Kentucky. It is designed to provide educational experiences for future teachers that might otherwise be unavailable.

The student teachers are working at the secondary, elementary and middle school levels, and in special education settings.

Sweet is in Who's Who edition

Rockcastle County resident, Jenny Deboard Sweet, wife of Tim Sweet and daughter of John and Carol Deboard of Mt. Vernon, is one of seven Cumberland College graduate students selected as outstanding leaders and will be listed in the 1995 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,800 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

The Tie That Binds

By Lavone Dyer

Love is like the fragrance of flowers in May

It binds us together, whether we work or play.

It keeps us strong until the final end

Let's us share our joys and sorrows

With our family and friends.

Love is like the soft gentle rain

It puts hope in our hearts and makes us want to sing

It keeps us happy and eases pain.

Purpose

By Lavone Dyer

I believe all of us have a purpose in life.

A purpose to do good.

A purpose to be useful.

To be responsible

To be heard

To help others

And be the person God intended us to be.

Southern Potpourri

By Lavone Dyer

Friends are a collection of special people

Like the fragrance of potpourri, each personality is unique.

Friends are there when you need them

The potpourri reminds me of green hillsides, that are painted by God, into a glowing display of many shades of red, orange, yellow and green.

Friends share our joys and sorrows

And remind me of flowers.

They grow when they are loved and cared for,

Like the flowers, if we nourish our relationships

They will never wither.

Beneficiaries can earn more in 1995

The amount of money that Social Security beneficiaries can earn in 1995 and still receive their full benefit has increased. Beneficiaries between the ages of 65 and 69 can earn up to $11,280 without having any benefits withheld. For every $3 that a beneficiary earns over this limit, $1 is withheld from his or her benefit. In 1994, the limit was $11,160.

For people under age 65, the limit will be $8,160. For every $2 a person under 65 earns over this amount, $1 is withheld from benefits. In 1994, the earnings limit was $8,040.

People age 70 or older who continue to work do not have benefits withheld no matter how much they earn.

KU electric rates rank sixth lowest in U.S.

Kentucky Utilities Company (KU) rates for electricity continue to remain among the ten least expensive utilities companies in the country, according to a nationwide survey released recently by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC).

KU's average residential cost of electricity during the 1993-94 winter was 5.0 cents per kilowatt hour (kWh) compared to the nationwide average tween the winters of 1993 and 1994 to 8.9 cents/kWh. The Consumer Price Index increased 2.5 percent over the same period.

Only three states, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, have lower electric costs than KU. These three states comprise the Northwest region, which has the lowest average cost of 3.67 cents per kWh. Many utilities in the Northwest rely on inexpensive hydro-power to generate their electricity rather than the use of fossil fuels.

The customers of the Northeast region (average 12.87 cents per kWh) and of the New England region (average 11.92 cents per kWh) paid the most for their electricity last winter.

cost of 189 investor-owned utilities which was 9.1 cents per kWh. The nationwide average assumes that residential customers use 500kWh of electricity each month.

KU's average cost of electricity remained steady (5 cents/kWh) from winter 1992-93 to winter 1993-94. That cost actually represents a 13 percent reduction in costs from the same period in 1984. In sharp contrast, the average cost of electricity nationwide jumped 2.25 percent be-

Kentucky Utilities, based in Lexington, Provides the region's lowest cost electricity to more than 446,000 customers in 77 Kentucky counties and five counties in Virginia. KU is the principal subsidiary of KU Energy Corporation.

Notice of Public Meeting: Rockcastle County Water Association, Inc. 10 am March 9, 1995 at Rockcastle County Courthouse. A public meeting will take place at 10 am, March 9, 1995 at Rockcastle County Courthouse

The Forest Service is inviting public comments on the following projects. The Jackson County RECC and the Rockcastle County Water Association applied for Special Use Permits for the construction of power and water transmission lines across National Forest lands. The projects are located along State Highways 1004 and FS Road 3051 (Egypt) in Rockcastle County on the Berea Ranger District of the Daniel Boone National Forest.

These projects will provide electricity and potable water to county residents. The power and water transmission lines meet the Forest Land and Resource Management Plan for right-of-way across National Forest lands. Approximately 5 miles (of which 2.0 miles lies on National Forest lands) will be constructed.

The projects are scheduled by the Jackson County RECC and Rockcastle County Water Association to begin in the spring of 1995. An Environmental Analysis will be prepared for areas on the National Forest lands.

For more information or to provide comments on these projects, contact Jeff T. Stoggin, District Ranger, USDA Forest Service, 1835 Big Hill Road, Berea, Ky, 40403. (606) 986-8431.

Any corporation, association or person with a substantial interest in the matter may, by written request, within thirty (30) days after publication of mailing of this Notice of the proposed rate changes request to intervene; intervention may be granted beyond the thirty (30) days, for good cause shown. Any person who has been granted intervention by the Commission may obtain copies of the rate application and any other filings made by the utility by contacting the utility through the Northern Rockcastle Water District, Route 2, Box 76, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky 40456, telephone, (606) 256-4833.

Any person may examine the Rate Application and any other filings made by Northern Rockcastle County Water District at the main office of the District located on U.S. 25 in the Renfro Valley Commercial Complex, Route 2, Box 76, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky 40456, telephons, (606) 256-4833.

Attention Taxpayers

January - March is the time period designated for property owners to list all their real estate properties with the Property Valuation Administrator in the county wherein it is located. If you have built a new house, garage, barn, etc., purchased a mobile home or made any changes in your existing property since last year, it is especially important that you notify us.

Attention Senior Citizens

The Homestead Exemption for 1995 will be $23,100. If you own and occupy your home and will be 65 years of age any time during the year, you must file an application with the PVA in order to be eligible for this exemption. If you are already receiving the Homestead Exemption, $23,100 will automatically be deducted from your 1995 assessment, and it will not be necessary for you to fill out an additional application.

Attention Disabled Persons

The Homestead Exemption also applies to anyone who is totally disabled. In order to qualify for this, you must receive disability payments for the entire calendar year and must reapply each year. The PVA office is located on the third floor of the Courthouse and is open from 8:30 - 4:30 Monday - Friday. Tangible and Intangible Property Forms are available in the PVA Office. If you need assistance with these forms or have any questions regarding the listing of your property, please call 256-4194 or come by the PVA office, and someone will gladly assist you.

14-year-old boys reported missing in Michigan

Juveniles injured after high speed chase, wreck

Police chased a Michigan car, which reached speeds of 100 miles on I-75 Sunday night, before it crashed, sending two juveniles to Rockcastle Hospital.

Officer Life Owens spotted the car as it pulled out of Renfro Valley Shell according to Mt. Vernon Police Chief Bill Mink. Mink said Owens followed the car after it ran off the edge of the road twice as it entered I-75 in the southbound lane.

"When officer Owens attempted to stop the car the kids must have panicked," Mink said.

Mink said that officer Owens backed off pursuit after the car accelerated to 100 miles an hour.

Mink said the car took to the exit ramp at Burr, failed to stop at a stop sign on U.S. 25, struck the sign, the curb and flipped over two times, coming to rest in the median.

The juveniles, who were thrown from the car, were transported to Rockcastle Hospital and transferred to Lexington by helicopter. Both were 14 years old.

Mink said that both kids have been released from the hospital.

The chief said that the car the two juveniles were driving was apparently stolen from a garage in Michigan.

Mink said a missing persons report was filed by the parent of the passenger with the Auburn (Michigan) Police Department. The driver will be charged in Rockcastle court with no operators license and attempt to elude police. Mink said that he thought charges against the two would also be filed in Michigan.

Local board of education expels high school student for remainder of year

A Rockcastle County High School sophomore was expelled Tuesday by the Rockcastle County Board of Education for the remainder of the school year.

The expulsion came after a three hour closed expulsion hearing at the County Board of Education building.

The board followed the recommendation of RCHS principal Ronnie Cash, who said that the girl student was involved in a fight on school grounds and even struck a teacher in the process. The student also cursed faculty members at RCHS.

The other student was suspended for ten days.

The student was the second one at RCHS expelled by the board this year.

"I appreciate the time the board took to hear all of the evidence and the pains they took to make their decision," Cash said.

"It is a difficult decision to expel a student from school, but I felt in this case there was no other choice, she had to go," Cash said.

Principals can suspend students for ten days, but an expulsion must come from the board of education.

Storms preparedness week

The week of March 5-11 has been designated as 1995 Severe Storms Preparedness Week in Kentucky.

The eight full sponsors are the National Weather Service Offices serving Kentucky, the state Division of Disaster and Emergency Services, the state Department of Education, KET - the Kentucky Network, the Kentucky State Police, the Kentucky Broadcasters Association, Kentucky chapters of the American Red Cross, and this year, for the first time, the Kentucky Cable Telecommunications Association.

This year's severe storms preparedness week also coincides with the start of an extensive statewide campaign to promote purchase and use of battery-powered the portable radio. It also is the first time that each day of the week is set aside to emphasize preparedness for specific aspects of severe weather.

This time of year marks the period normally considered as the beginning of the season for severe storms over the state, and provides the major reason to conduct these programs of emphasis in March. Twenty-one years ago the state experienced the worst outbreak of tornadoes in memory, April 3, 1974. Kentucky should never again find itself unprepared to warn and protect our people and take measures to reduce property losses.

Preparedness week also marks the time for a statewide test of emergency communications and warning systems, and drills for not only state and local emergency response agencies, but also for businesses, industries and schools.

During the week, March 5-11, on Wednesday, March 8, at 10:15 a.m., during normal school hours, offices of the National Weather Service in Kentucky will issue a test severe weather warning. The Weather Service will send the message by teletype wire and over NOAA Weather Radio to many points over the state, including news media, schools, hospitals and emergency groups.

Simultaneously, the Emergency Broadcast System (EBS), a network of broadcast facilities across the state, also will be activated statewide. The Kentucky State Police will trigger the same test warning on the National Warning System (NAWAS) that will go to all State Police posts, and from there to the 24-hour warning points in every county of the state.

Recent decades have recorded significant progress in preventing deaths and casualties from tornadoes and other severe weather. The introduction of exciting new equipment and associated techniques of warning have been inaugurated by the offices of the National Weather Service in Kentucky. These capabilities, including the increased capacities of the Paducah Weather Service Office hold great promise for future advances in preparedness throughout the state.

The Severe Storms Program is seeking to broaden its impact and have a more demonstrable effect on the daily lives of Kentuckians. Warning preparedness is a worthwhile goal.

Local emergency agencies will be conducting drills during Storms Preparedness Week.

Boyfriend charged with murder

Gunshot to face claims life of Tracy Caudill, 22

By: Richard Anderkin

The second Rockcastle County resident in less than a week has died as the result of a gunshot wound.

Tracy Caudill, 22, of Orlando died Saturday at the University of Kentucky Medical Center after she was shot in the face by her boyfriend.

Wally Julie Kirby, 37, of Chestnut Ridge is being held in the Rockcastle County Jail without bond.

Kirby appeared in Rockcastle District Court Monday, where he pled not guilty and was appointed a public defender.

District Judge Walter McGuire denied bond for Kirby because of the severity of the crime.

According to state police the shooting occurred at an abandoned house on Chestnut Ridge Friday afternoon.

Miss Caudill had obtained a restraining order against Kirby in November after she said that he (Kirby) slapped and threatened her. Kirby had been ordered to stay at least 500 feet from Caudill.

Ironically Kirby was scheduled to appear in district court Monday where it was to be decided whether or not to keep the domestic violence order in effect, but instead he was arraigned on a murder charge.

Miss Caudill was pregnant with the couple's second child when she was shot, according to family members who said that they have no idea what caused Kirby to shoot Miss Caudill.

Healthy baby delivered at Rockcastle Hospital after shooting

Emergency room personnel at the Rockcastle Hospital delivered Miss Caudill's eight and a half month old fetus by cesarean section before she was flown to U.K.

Samantha Tracy was listed in stable condition yesterday at U.K. Hospital, where she was taken after she was delivered at the local hospital.

Fred Abney, Miss Caudill's Uncle, who along with his wife Freda, actively raised her, said Wednesday that Miss Caudill's family members would file for custody of the couple's two children.

At the present time, Kirby's family has custody of Laura Christine, the couple's oldest daughter, who is 20 months old.

Abney said that Kirby's family and she apparently go to trial and gain custody of the children.

Kirby is certainly no stranger to Rockcastle criminal court. In 1984 he was found guilty of attempting to shoot then Rockcastle Sheriff Will liam Taylor after Taylor arrested him at Rockcastle Hospital after Kirby shot a Brodhead woman.

Tracy Caudill died at the University of Kentucky Medical Center Saturday, after she was shot in the face.

Kirby was sentenced to twelve months in prison.

Kirby's next court appearance is March 8.

Judge revokes McClure bond after plea changed to not guilty

Rockcastle Circuit Judge Dan Venters sent Charlotte McClure back to jail Monday for changing a plea agreement she had worked out with the Commonwealth Attorney's office.

And Rockcastle and Pulaski Commonwealth Attorney Ray Carmichael said that McClure will be tried and her counselor, a Richmond man that talked Miss McClure out of taking the plea agreement will be charged with practicing law without a license.

Carmichael said that McClure's court appointed attorney, McClure and himself had worked out agreement for McClure to plead guilty, but that her counselor influenced her to change her plea.

McClure and Allen Charles, both of Brodhead were indicted last year for making home x-rated movies with minor children in McClure's apartment.

The two were charged with several counts of sexual exploitation of a minor as well as the use of a minor in a sexually performance.

Charles was also set to plead guilty, but his court appointed attorney did not show up for the proceedings, so his case was continued and he was returned to the Rockcastle County jail.

Carmichael said that it was his understanding that Judge Venters was considering holding Charles' attorney in contempt of court for not showing up, but that Charles would still plead guilty at his next court appearance.

McClure was taken to the Lincoln County jail where she will await her next court appearance.

Carmichael said he hoped to go to trial against McClure sometime this year.

Run-off election in June for Governor's seat likely

By Ray McClure

Unless things change or someone withdraws, we'll have a run-off election in Rockcastle in June, following the first primary on May 23.

The run-off election will be the first in Kentucky and only affects the governor's race. There's no effect on local races.

It will cost local taxpayers in the county about $8,000 for a run-off election, according to county clerk Norma Houk.

If no one in each party gets 40 vote.

In the May primary in Rockcastle County, at present, five democrats are candidates, virtually assuring a run off even if some withdraw prior percent of the vote, then the two highest in the party have a run-off.

The two winners in a run-off primary, Republican and Democrat, will face each other in the November General Election.

The Secretary of State would set the date if there is a run off. Several states have had a run off for years in all offices.

Incidentally, the second place winner could be the winner in the run off depending, of course, on how the constituents of the other candidates vote to the election.

The Democrats are: John A. "Eck" Rose, Paul Patton, Bob Babbege, Gatewood Galbraith and Steven "Butch" Maynard.

The Republicans are: Larry Forgy,

Run off election would cost Rockcastle taxpayers additional $8,000 to hold

Tommy Klien and Robert E. "Bob" Gable.

Also on the Rockcastle ballot is the Property Valuation Administrator, including the incumbent Margaret Offutt, Cleidith Ray Thacker and Douglas Glyn Bullock. The democrat, William D. Reynolds, won't be on the primary ballot, only in November, since he has no opposition.

Also, voters will choose a third Railroad District Commissioner. The candidates are: Albert "Cotton" Rosenbalm, Jimmy "Babe" Turner, J.E. Cooks and Keith H. Wendel.

Back to the state, the secretary of state candidates are: Frances J. Mills, Don Blevins, Carol Palmore, John Y. Brown III, Ed Logsdon and George W. Wilson. (Babbage is presently secretary of state and Mills is treasury).

The Republicans for state are Steve Crabtree and Charles M. Hellenbusch.

The Republican candidates for auditor are William Scott and Ernie H. Smith III. The democrat candidate is Ben Chandler who will not be on the primary ballot since he has no opposition until November.

The candidates for Auditor of Public Accounts are: Ed Hatchett, Jim Wayne and Jesse S. Hall. Republicans are Ron Bell and Tom Buford. The treasurer candidates are: Democrats, Larry J. O'Bryan, Pamela Farmer, John Hamilton, James Marcum, Barbara Nash, Republicans, John Glascock and James H. Lambert of Mt. Vernon.

Candidates for commissioner of agriculture are: Glen Holtbrook and Billy R. Smith.

By: Ike Adams

I'm out and about in the woods, hunting squirrels or deer or rabbits or turkeys from late Summer through early Spring at least two weekends every month. In warmer weather, I spend a lot of time hoofing it across pastures and alongside big corn and hay fields on my way to one of the several isolated bluegill ponds owned by farmers with whom I have cultivated friendships.

Normally, in February and early March, the weather is too cold for me to receive much satisfaction with a fishing pole and, of course, hunting season is closed. As a result, I don't spend very much time afield. And, that's probably a pretty good thing because this is the time of year in the flatlands that the skunks come out to do their courting.

Eleven months out of the year you see few signs that even a single skunk lives in our neck of the woods. A few years back one did try to take up residence in our basement, but that's another story and it was an isolated incident. I honestly can't remember ever seeing a polecat on a hunting or fishing excursion and I rarely see them killed on the road any other time of year.

I know what you're thinking. Adams has written a stunk story every year in February and we've heard this at least a dozen times before. But, I can't help it because I am literally fascinated by the number of skunks in central Kentucky and I'm not talking about the hot-top crowd. I'm talking about your average four-legged black, fearless polecat with the white stripe down its back.

Actually, for whatever it's worth, most skunks aren't as well marked as Pepe LePeu. Most have a white spot, either on their shoulders or in the general vicinity of their tails and some are almost totally black. However, coloration doesn't matter much when it comes to putting out an odor. But I'm off the point.

And the point is that several dozen skunks are lying dead on or beside the road between Richmond and Lancaster right now. If you folks up in the mountains are wondering where that peculiar stink is coming from when the wind blows out of the west, please be informed that you need look no further than Garrard and Madison Counties. And it's more than a stink down here. It's also a feeling. Skunk spray is so heavy on the air along Fairview Ridge that it will literally make your eyes burn.

Some of us who live here on the ridge have been known to get out bare-headed and in shirt sleeves in these cold rains we've been having - getting drenched and chilled on purpose so that we can deliberately catch a cold that will stop our nose up. It's not a total solution but it helps some. I had a meeting Monday morning in Berea with some folks from New York and I was sniffing and clearing my throat fairly frequently. Finally, one of my guests asked what I was taking for my cold.

"Not a darn thing," I told him. "In fact, I'm getting worried because I feel a whole lot better than I did yesterday."

After a bit, we decided to take a drive down Highway 25 to visit some friends in Mt. Vernon. No more than 100 yards after we crossed the city limits, I saw two skunk carcasses coming up - one right in the middle of the road and the other just off to the right. I slowed down to about 20 mph as I drove across and by them. You never heard such a retching and gasping and hacking-on in your life as my guests started grabbing their noses and rolling down windows. And, rolling down windows just makes it worse.

I was driving their big Chrysler New Yorker rental car and everybody was struggling to keep from losing their breakfast and messing it up. When they finally got their breath, they began wondering what kind of explanation they were getting to make to the folks at AVIS when they turned the car back in. I told them to drive real fast going back up 75 and most it would probably blow off, but to keep hoping that the check-in people had colds.

And, for the rest of the morning, everytime I'd see a carcass coming up, I'd yell "grab your nose." I've never seen New Yorkers become anywhere near that obedient and agreeable before.

We are now into the windy month of March when the weather is not what Does anybody have a long handle broom? I want to borrow it to use on John. Last night I asked him to help me put some more leaves in the back of my office. I use it for referring back to news that I want to check on. Let's say, I want to look back and find when Joe Abbey ran naked off the hills to his house to get away from yellow jackets when he had trapped on their home or nest while he was picking blackberries.

Now you know you are not going to stand still while someone leans up your home. That's right, they didn't cipher and the whole kit and caboodle of them chased Joe out of his bib overalls.

I have messaged up my notebook until I've been working all morning to put it in order and take up writing on last week's column. I finally found the page I wanted and we'll go back to Ballard Parsons and the day we visited him in Wildie.

Ballard wanted to send Henry Volmer in Indiana messages to her folks. "Tell him I want to come down to Rockcastle on September 1, 2, or 3 and we will go up to Renfro Valley to see Renfro's heaven of Bluegrass music when Susan Tomes sings with the New Coon Creek Girls at the Bluegrass Festival which will be going on those dates. We will go in my new electric car," said Ballard, "and see Susan. Boy, they tell me she is sure pretty!"

Ballard hadn't been taking the girls out for it would freeze them to death in his electric car.

"Well, how's business?" I asked him. "All I've got is a bargain," he said to me. "Stuff is so high but people pay for it."

"Any under the counter business?" I said. "No, that's slow too."

"Tell me about yourself and how come you use a wheelchair," I asked.

"I had polio when I was about 12 years of age. I went to regular school until I got sick. Then the folks nursing the school put me in what is called the Homebound Program. They send a burglar to your home to teach you what the other kids are learning and I graduated like the other kids did."

"Well, are you getting married anyway soon?" I asked.

"No, unless I could get to Tennessee. They say it's easier getting married there than it is up here," he laughed.

"Let me know if you talk some of Wildie's pretty girls into it."

When we left Wildie, we stopped at Jerry Payne's who lives at the old Berry place. He drives to Okonite factory between Berea and Richmond to work.

"What did you get for Valentine's Day?" I was trying to get some romantic talk from him.

"I got a hot dog. I ate it but didn't like it," he told me. Jerry's house has been burglarized several times. Now he has installed some burglar alarms and has no trouble since.

Jerry is a bachelor and keeps one of the cleanest houses I've been in lately. That includes me, too. He belongs to a band and they practice there sometimes.

Next we went to John Buster Gadd's and Bessie his wife's house. Do you remember our stopping there on Christmas Day and Bessie fixing up a box of food for John and me to take home with us. I've never had anyone be so nice to me.

On this day, Bessie rushed out of the house and hugged me and hugged me again when I started to leave, she seemed so glad to see me, not like the fellow in Scaffold Cane who told me not to put his name in the Signal anyway. He said folks were laughing over what he'd said.

Now, I tell him they were jealous because they did nothing to get their names in the paper. If it hurts you then tell me and I'll say nothing more about you.

So, I told Buster and John I got the hugs first. I tried to borrow some of Buster's coal and wood. He has the best looking pile all covered up.

Wanda Laswell, and children Starr and Cody, who is Bessie and Buster's daughter, lives in a trailer in the corner of their yard (near the coal pile I noticed).

David is a brother to Buster and they are the children of John Armpp and Laura Gadd. They were related to the Abneys. Bessie has a yard sale going on all the time in the house where Sarah Gadd lived in front of their house. She displays clothing and has some nice things.

John and I went on to Raymond and Lorene Hurley's home. The road forks there. One branch goes down Clear Creek and the other branch over Loman Hill into Climax.

It is on that road that you'll find Rockcastle's large sinkhole and the Clark Cave which goes through a mountain, coming out on the opposite side.

Lorene was cooking soup beans for supper and it was such a good smell, I thought about staying all night except they didn't ask us to stay all night.

Lorene had something that I wish I did. She had a tall hat tree where one can hang their hat or coat. In pot sitting at the top was a vine that hung almost to the floor. I'll declare it was so pretty I wanted to come home and fix one for myself.

Precious Souls, Children of an Even Age, greetings and extrapolations from the novel of the earth - namely, the pristine and picturesque Shangri-la of Wald, where growing old is only a state of mind brought on by gray hairs, false teeth, wrinkles, a big belly, shoring of breath and an over-all feeling of forever being totally pooped. And where, as one's state of mind ages, one becomes more apt to contract a "virus," which is a Latin word used by doctors to mean "Your guess is as good as mine."

Speaking of viruses, I've had two or three already this year. The last one was in my computer. I don't go into detail, but I'm here to tell you that it was a dilly. My anti-virus warning system buzzed and told me something "serious" was going on, that a virus (a malevolent file) was writing to my hard disk. And, the upshot of the whole matter, is that I had to start from scratch, reformat my hard drive, and re-install everything! But, dear hearts, the good news is that my dear ole 486 is now humming along amiably and responding instantly to every command (like "Copy can autoclave. bat," "Edit config. sys.," "Tote that barge!") "Lift that bale!") It's nothing short of amazing what these binary wonders can do. Mine actually talks to me - in the voice of Igor! My son has a system that responds in the voice of Arnold Schwarzenegger. "I'll be back!" Well, all that compelling put me to thinking. (OH, NO!) Like computers, human brains, and those of "higher" animals, are also "programmable." I also wrote "human minds," but then I struck me, right above my left eye, that although we talk much about the "mind," no one has ever seen one, which makes life really tough on those of us who are absent-minded. The most notable difference, to me, between computers and human brains is that it's generally not too difficult to get viruses out of computers. Oh that it were so with the human brain! We can access anything stored on a disk. But it's virtually (Cont. to A6)

Rockets, boys and girls, fall to Clay County teams in district play

It was a tale of two teams -- two chances gone away -- of too many turnovers, too many missed shots under the baskets, too many unnecessary fouls -- and, when the dust had settled, the Clay County Tigers and Tigerettes had again taken the measure of both Rocket teams in district tournament play.

It was a year when it was felt by many fans that the boys team especially might have a shot at perennial powerhouse Clay County, who suffered their first losing season in 45 years. But, when the Rockets missed their first shot of the game, a wide open lay-up, it was a good indication of what the outcome was going to be.

And then, there were the fouls -- lots of fouls, in fact, 32 of Clay County's points came from the free throw line (out of 47 attempts). Conversely, the Rockets only garnered 9 of 18 from the same source. Rocket players were fouling who haven't been in serious foul trouble the entire season -- Ken Shay Hopkins, Eric McGuire, Matt Baker, to name a few -- Eddie Todd wound up with four fouls but, at least he was mostly in the second half. It was bad enough that Clay County was in the bonus with 7:53 left in the second quarter and they capitalized on the fact -- scoring 16 of their first half 36 points from the charity stripe. The game also saw three technicals called -- two on the Rockets.

Despite all the setbacks, the Rockets were still in the game at the end of the first quarter, down only by six at 15-9 and, it wasn't too lopsided at the half, 36-23.

In the third quarter, the Rockets were down by as much as 22 points (53-31) but fought back in the final minute to cut the lead to 18 at the end of the period, 53-35.

A mini-run by the Rockets in the fourth quarter brought the Rockets to within 11 points at 73-62 but they were unable to sustain the run and the final 78-64 ended the Rockets 94-95 season.

Leading scorer for the Rockets was Eddie Todd with 14; senior Ken Hopkins got 12; the only other senior on the team Matt Baker and Gary Burns each scored 10; Dusty McClure got 6; Eric McGuire and Travis Andezkin had 5 each and Mark Carpenter scored 2.

The girls game was actually lost in the third quarter when the Clay County Tigerettes put the game out of reach by outscoring the Lady Rockets 24-12. To that point, the girls had managed to avoid the blow-out despite a tenacious aggressive full-court press that cost the Lady Rockets numerous turnovers and the edge in scoring. But even then, the girls were only down by 6 at the end of the first period (12-6) and by 12 at half time 30-18. However, it was the third quarter that spelled doom for the Lady Rockets as the Tigerettes put 24 points through the net while the local team could only manage 12 making the third period bulge 54-30.

The girls were also plagued by foul trouble, with Ginger Mink having to sit out much of the game and guard Jessica Albright having to leave the game with 2:28 left.

Susie Carpenter came off the bench to lead the scoring for the Rockets with 10 points; Kristi Moore and Melinda Smith had 9 each; Amy Robinson got 7; Jessica Albright 4; Ginger Mink 2 and Dee Reams and Melinda Akorn, 1 each.

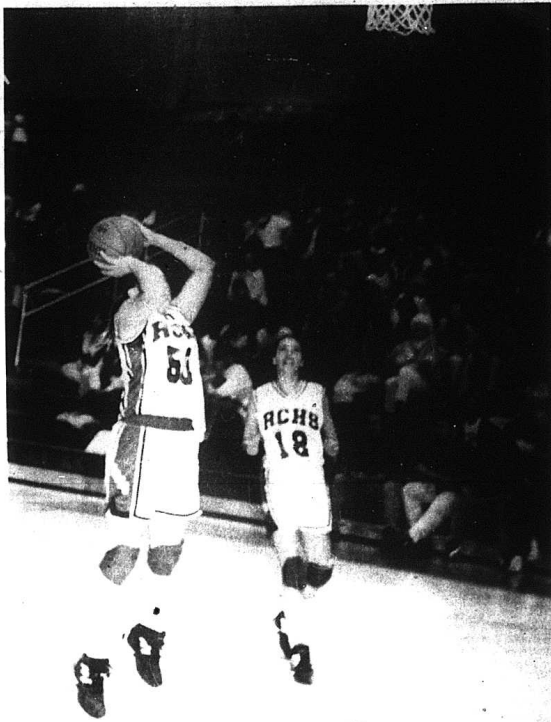

The Tigerettes were also hot from the three point mark, hitting five in the first half. Melinda Smith had the only trey for the Rockets.

Finals of the tournament will be Friday night between Jackson Co. and Clay County, boys and girls.

FCIC crop insurance meeting is Mar. 6th

The Rockcastle County Farm Service Agency will hold a meeting on FCIC crop insurance March 6 at 6 p.m. at the Agricultural Center in Mt. Vernon.

For further information contact the CFSA office at 256-3135.

Susie Carpenter came off the bench to lead the scoring for the Lady Rockets in their game against the Clay County Tigerettes. The girls inability to cope with the Tigerettes tough full-court press was the main reason for the final 69-43 margin. Melinda Akorn, No. 18, trails the play in the above photo.

Junior Eric McGuire tried unsuccessfully to deny the baseline to Clay's Hoskins during action in the 49th District Tournament which saw the Rockets eliminated 73-62. Hoskins was the leading scorer for the Tigers with 26 points, eight of them from the free throw line. Garrison had 20 points, 10 at the charity stripe. Because of very early foul trouble for a few key Rockcastle players, the Rockets had to back off on a very aggressive defensive game. Also in photo is point guard Corey Scott, No. 22.

Junior Pro Round-Up

Mary Todd Lincoln Jr. Pro team wins all-star tournament

The Rockcastle County Jr. Pro Basketball League played host this past week end to an invitational Junior Varsity All-Star Tournament featuring some of the top Jr. Pro JV teams from around this area of the state. All-Star squads from Richmond, Berea, Garrard Co., and two teams each from Corbin and Lexington were on the schedule to compete.

A powerhouse team from the Mary Todd Jr. Pro League in North Lexington swept to the championship of the tourney by simply outmarching all teams in their path. The "Red" All-Star squad from Corbin finished as runners-up. The Rockcastle Co. All-Stars, while not placing in the tourney, definitely put forth a great performance that has many fans optimistic about their future.

Summaries of the games played by the Rockcastle All-Stars in this tourney are as follows:

Rockcastle Co. 33 - Berea 30
Rockcastle came out of the locker room nervous and tight in the 8:30 a.m. tourney opener. Rockcastle and Berea were in a dogfight in this one from the opening buzzer. Despite playing tentatively and having some turnovers early, Rockcastle held on by playing good, hustling defense. The game was tied at the half, but Berea had squeaked out to a four point lead at the end of the third quarter.

The well-coached Berea team played very intelligently, but Rockcastle forced several mistakes with great individual defensive performances and managed to edge out the win down the stretch.

Fiercy Josh Hale aggressively led Rockcastle with 2 steals, several assists and 11 points. PJ Rowe hustled for 3 clutch steals and caused several turnovers with his aggressive defense and added 2 points and good rebounding, while Kris Linville added 4 rebounds of his own. John Bray, Shane Kirby and Jason Reynolds also played and added good hustling defensive spark.

Game 2

Corbin (White) 60 - Rockcastle Co. 41
Rockcastle faced the "White" team from Corbin in this match-up. This was a very exciting game that was fought "tooth and nail" by both teams. The winner would advance to the Sunday afternoon Winners Bracket in the 4th quarter. PJ also added 2 points. Aaron Cash fired in 9 points for Rockcastle and added 4 steals and as many assists in a good floor game. Leo Deatherage hit for 5 points, while he and Aaron Anderkin also added 3 and 2 steals respectively by playing good interior defense. Mickey Howard hit for 4 points and added a pair of clutch rebounds and 7 points and final, while the loser faced the unenviable task of having to advance to Sunday afternoon competition through the Losers Bracket by playing a third game in one day.

At the end of the first quarter, the score was knotted at 10 apiece. However, Corbin managed to edge out to a 4 point half-time lead. Corbin stretched out that lead to 34-24 by the end of the third quarter, and then staved off a late rally to secure the win. The reason for this was not superior hustle; the Rockcastle All-Stars had far too much heart to allow any team to outwork them. The difference came, as many games do, at the charity stripe. Rockcastle shot an atrocious 13 of 39 at the free throw line. John Bray led Rockcastle in this game with a very good performance highlighted by 12 points and 2 rebounds. Josh Hale added 8 points, 3 assists and several steals and deflections. Aaron Cash hit for 7 points and added 4 rebounds and 1 assist. Kris Linville connected for 6 points and pulled down 7 rebounds. Andrew Hammond also jerked down 7 boards, while adding 3 points. Mickey Howard scored 5 points and had a blocked shot. Leo Deatherage added 2 points and 3 rebounds in a gritty performance. Aaron Anderkin, PJ Rowe, Shane Kirby and Jason Reynolds all added nice hustling defense.

Game 3

Corbin "Red" 60 - Rockcastle Co. 59

This was a very intense game. At one point, it looked as though Rockcastle had taken a knockout punch from Corbin from which they could not recover. However, the enormous pride this Rockcastle All-Star team had wouldn't allow them to lay down against any team, much less a Corbin group.

The rivalry Rockcastle and Corbin (Cont. to A5)

Special Thanks from Rockcastle Co. Jr. Pro.

The JV tournament held this past weekend at MVES not only provided a great opportunity for our young JV All-Star team to get valuable experience in a tournament setting before heading off to the State Jr. Pro Tournament at the end of March, but it also provided a great opportunity for Rockcastle Jr. Pro to raise funds for next season. This tournament was a great success in both regards, due in large part to some great volunteer work from some wonderful people that Rockcastle Jr. Pro would like to publicly thank.

"Thank you to Jerry Reynolds, Billy "Red" Bryant, Eddie Hammond, Ronnie Brown, Rick Anderkin, Bruce Blanton, David Sargent and Richie Bray for volunteering their time free-of-charge to officiate in our tournament. Refereeing basketball games is extremely difficult, perhaps one of the toughest jobs around, and these fine men stepped up to help without asking for a penny. Jr. Pro thanks you all very much!

"Thank you to Ann Amy, Debbie Cash, Debbie Brown, Kathy Coffey and Judy Robinson, members of the Rockcastle County Girls Softball Team for their help in selling concessions. These wonderful women all volunteered their time free-of-charge to sell candy, pop and food to the crowd on a beautiful day when there was a lot of other things they could have been doing. Jr. Pro thanks you all very much!

"Thank you to John Hale, Jason Cogger, Shannon Burton, Clayton Cash, Jeff & Tula Burdette, Coy Taylor and Randy Dillingham for working the door and doing a great job collecting admissions from the large crowds that came and went throughout the tournament. Special extra thanks to John Hale for helping to supervise the crowd throughout the day and Clayton and Randy for trouble-shooting wherever there was a need.

"Thank you to Everett Harper, Mark Brummett and members of the Rockcastle Co. High School and Middle School basketball teams who did a great job manning the scorelock and scorebooks during the tournament.

"Thank you to Dwight Griffin for a great job manning the PA system during the games on Sunday. This added a "big-time" atmosphere to the tourney for all the young participants.

"Thank you to Pizze Hut, Carter's Market and McDonald's for your support during the tournament.

"Thank you to Loretta Powell and Charles Carter at MVES for allowing the use of MVES to host the tournament. Also thank you to Judy Bullock and Kay Singleton for their assistance.

RCMS 6th Graders win Lions Invitational

Christopher Parsons hit a last second shot to give the Rockcastle County Middle School 6th graders the victory in the championship game last Thursday night at the middle school in the Livingstone Lions Club's Invitational Tournament. The 6th graders defeated North Laurel in the championship game and beat Red Foley in Bera to advance to the finals. Members of the squad are, front row, from left: Derrick Bussell, Jarrod Burdette, A.J. Reams, J.J. Bowles, Dackery Larkey, Jeremy Neesley, Shea Davidson. Back row: Chaz Cable, manager, Warren Whitaker, Josh Lyons, Chris Parsons, Josh Singleton, Greg Harper, Thomas Coffey, John McClure, Joe Clark and Mark Brummett, coach.

have developed in football and on the Middle School hoop level certainly carried through in this tourney. Corbin "Red," the eventual tourney runner-up, came out fired up and got after Rockcastle with a vicious defense that rattled the Rockcastle All-Stars and had them trailing Corbin by an 18-2 margin early. The Rockcastle pride began to kick in the second quarter though, and the margin was soon out to 28-17 by the half. However, Corbin again put together a strong run and managed to edge out the lead to 14 by the start of the final period. At this time, the Rockcastle powder keg exploded, and the Rockets of the future finally took off. Josh Hale and Aaron Cash, small in size but giant in heart, took over; they repeatedly penetrated into the heart of Corbin's defense to either score or draw fouls. Andrew Hammond provided the inside strength down the stretch for Rockcastle as he put together fine clutch performance that featured 4 of 4 free throw shooting in the final minute and a half and added good inside defense.

Rockcastle was eliminated from the tourney in this one, as Corbin barely edged out the 1 point win, but the Rockcastle fans in attendance had to be impressed with the courageous comeback effort.

Josh Hale finished with 28 points on 10 of 12 free throw shooting and had two steals and two assists in a great game. Aaron Cash likewise played a splendid game as he finished with 10 points, 6 rebounds, 3 assists and 2 steals. Andrew Hammond finished with 6 points, 5 rebounds and 1 block. Kris Linville scored 7 points and added 6 rebounds in his best game of the day. Lee Deatherage scrapped and hustled his way to a good game highlighted by 4 points and several steals. Aaron Anderkin and John Bray each played the role of "zone-buster" by nailing a pair of long jumpshots. Mikey Howard pulled down 3 rebounds. Jason Reynolds had 2 rebounds and PJ Rowe and Shane Kirby each gave strong defensive help and hustle of the bench.

We Goofed!

In last week's Signal, Becky Osborne was identified as the daughter of Gail and Jim Osborne when it should have read Gail and Terry Osborne (Jim and Terry are brothers). The Signal apologizes for this error. We should have also mentioned that Becky had to miss her last year of basketball because of jaw surgery just before school began and she was greatly missed by the team.

Special added Jr. Pro announcement

This weekend the Rockcastle County Jr. Pro Basketball League will be sponsoring another invitational Tournament. The tournament is for Training Division (7-8 year olds) All-Star Teams. Some of the teams competing in the tournament include the Clark Co. All-Stars, Lexington All-Stars and the Rockcastle All-Stars as well as others.

The tournament will be a double-elimination format. Exact details of the tournament had not been finalized by press time. The games will be held Saturday and will feature the Rockcastle All-Stars in action. If you would like to see some outstanding hoop action, please come out and support the youngest of the Rockcastle Jr. Pro All-Stars! Please contact Derrick Singleton, Willis Coffey or Ronnie Brown for more information as it becomes available, or listen to WRVK near the end of the week for details. Rockcastle Jr. Pro would definitely like to extend an invitation for you to come out and see the youngest "Rockets of the Future" in action.

Also this weekend, the Rockcastle County Jr. Pro JV All-Stars (9-11 year olds) will be traveling to Georgetown to compete in the prestigious Scott County Youth Basketball Invitational Tournament. This tournament features 16 teams from all over the Girls didn't beat Hazelwood, it was Madison Southern

In last week's Signal, we reported that the Lady Rockets defeated Hazelwood - and, in a manner of speaking they did - Hazelwood is the coach of the Madison Southern Lady Eagles. I don't think, as best I remember, that the school's name was on the stat sheet - just the coach's name but, it was still a stupid error my part. Especially since Rick, Paige and I discussed for sometime just where Hazelwood was and I finally located it "probably in Pulaski Co."

Anyway, our apologies to the Lady Rockets.

Little League Sign-Ups

Little League Try-outs will be held Saturday, March 4th and Saturday, March 11th. Age groups and times will be at the same time on both days (see schedule below). It is mandatory that each candidate attend one of these tryouts. It is preferable that you attend both dates, because of possible adverse weather conditions.

Applications will be accepted on both these days. Anyone wishing to coach or manage a tee-ball, possible coach's pitch and minor league team needs to also attend tryouts.

For new applicants, a birth certificate is necessary. Fees are $20 for the first child; $15 second child and $10 each additional child. No Applications will be accepted after March 12th for anyone living in the Rockcastle Little League District. No Exceptions!

RCMS MathCounts team advances to state

The Rockcastle County Middle School MathCounts team participated in the regional competition for the Cumberland Falls Chapter on February 11 at Somerset Community College. Only the top two teams and top two individuals from each region go on to compete at the state level to be held this year on March 4th at Lexington's Campbell House Hotel.

The Cumberland Falls Chapter is comprised of middle school teams from the 27 counties in the Fifth District. The RCMS team, along with the MathCounts team from Southern Palaski Middle will compete at state. RCMS mathlete, Andy Hale, will also compete, having earned a position as one of the top two individual scorers. The other mathletes which make up the RCMS team are Beth Blanton, April Thompson, Shaun Jones and Michael Parsons and are coached by Troy Taylor. MathCounts is a national competition which promotes math and science skills among seventh- and eighth-grade students. In Kentucky, the Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers sponsors the MathCounts program.

Friday, February 17, was declared Random Acts of Kindness Day at Brodhead Elementary. Mrs. Jean Gentry, our counselor, displayed many posters with ideas for students and teachers alike to practice. Every faculty and staff member was presented with a carnation.

The BFRC Advisory Council met on February 14 and new officers were elected for the FY 95-96 grant year. Chairperson, Mrs. Worth Anne Harris; vice-chair Mrs. Marilyn McKinney and secretary Mrs. Joy Reynolds. Thanks to everyone for their help with a successful first year!

The STATIC Primary Groups of LaJoy Graves, Margie Bishop, Kathy Dychouse, Jeletta Bradshaw, Doris Wright and Goldie Blanton celebrated the 100th day of school with several activities. The groups estimated and added to make groups of 100, did counting activities with popcorn and wrote a letter to two residents of Sower Nursing Home, who will reach 100 in June. The students drew pictures of what they would look like when they are 100. Everyone had an enjoyable day with 100 activities. SDBM Council will meet Tues.,

lar on another day. Let me explain.

I eventually learned in late middle life that I am impulsive, a trait that can cause a world of woe. As a pastor, I had to be careful how I verbalized my thought, especially in sermons. Preparing a message, I would think through a point in my upcoming message. I went over it, making sure I would get my point across without offending or hurting those to whom I was a shepherd. Then came Sunday, and, in the heat of delivery, it came the very opposite of what I intended, usually with resultant damage being done to my flock and to my psyche. How would you respond if your preacher, taking a text on the subject of gossip, said, "Some of you women don't need vacuum cleaners to get up dirt. You pick up far more on the phone"? That's one of a multitude of improprieties I've voiced.

Well, bless Bess, just recently, when I thought I had that proclivity reined in, I discovered I didn't! I've kicked my glove maximil for "losing it." But, I still don't know why I do such. I've done a lot of soul-searching but have come up empty. Now, if I could access the files in my brain, I would delete the batch-bitch file that triggers my naughtiness. Alas and alack! I cannot. I think I understand what Saul of Tarsus meant: "I do not understand... for I do what I don't want to do, but instead I do what I hate."

Now, dear hearts, I'm sure most of you reading this column do not have my affliction. That being the case, rejoice! On the other hand, if you've had it and overcome it, let me know how you did it. But please do not pass along to me some of the simplistic drivel you might have acquired listening to the Tower of Babel Network. Pardon my slang, but life ain't that simple. (No, that's not an impulsive statement.)

Say! My sweetie had a birthday last week. Yes, I gave her a gift -- some software for our computer. And Wednesday a week ago was the natal anniversary of my dearest earthly friend, Albert Eugene Griffin. He's all of sixty-one -- and looks it! Oops! I must go see a man about a dog. So, until next week, cogitate on the insight of Brother T. Milo Swigglesworth, that beloved pastor of the tiny Wabban congregation at Buck's Generally Baptist Chapel and part-time recycler of scoopable cat litter, who looked up from his breakfast and said to his wife, Areella, "My dear, most of us jump into trouble -- mouth first." Whereupon, she replied, "My dear, confession is good for the soul -- but it may not be good for the reputation."

Raymond was talking to John about making a tonic to drink when he gets up. His recipe was lemon, honey, yellow root.

John said to use wild cherry bark, lemon juice, whiskey and boneset tea together. I say it'll kill or cure you one, but John did get well of his cold. They were talking of their daughter Sharon Raye Anglin's baby, Deanna Raye's Anglin and showed us a picture of her. She was the cutest, fat baby. Lorene and Raymond go over on Fridays and babysit with her. I don't believe they like that job! And you know I'm lying! I think she's about six weeks old.

While I'm writing about the Hurley family, Lorene was making an afghan which I wanted to steal!

I told you I had heard from Manuel and Ollie McGuire Byrd, living in Dayton, Ohio and glad to hear of Clear Creek and Scaffold Cane when they lived there at age eight. Their grandpa and grandma were Jim Childress and wife Nancy.

Manuel says in the early 1920's they would come back for a visit and leave their car in Scaffold Cane and walk down to Clear Creek. There were no bridges any place at the crossings so they walked the swinging bridges.

He met Hazel Wolfe -- they were about 13 years old. These are the names of some of the people on the creek. Smith, Gadd, Todd, Mullins, Van, Cummins, Croucher, Ramsey, Hurley, Chasteen, Cope, Hammonds.

He attended the Eli Chasteen and Pearlie Gadd wedding. His sister, Deanna, and her husband, Gus Thacker lived near the Neothers and their son, Stanley.

Manuel met in Scaffold Cane: Neoh Gabbard, Brooks, Linnville, Anglins. He was born in Mt. Vernon in 1916 with Dr. Pennington helping.

Manuel and Ollie have been married 57 years the second of June. He closes his letter by saying he looks forward to my column. Well, I sure look forward to more readers like Manuel and Ollie.

I've just gotten a letter this evening from a Laura Owens at Orlando, Ky, who wants a few of my plum granny seeds and I'll sure send them in the morning.

I'll tell you more about Laura in my next week's column.

Till next week: In life someone's gotta win and someone's gotta lose. If you think you're going to lose, try to meet with the opposite side and get them to settle for a tie.

It's possible to access most information stored in our brains, i.e., everything we experience from the womb to the tomb. (Yes, dear grammarians, I know "access" is a noun rather than a verb, but I have a writer's license to bend the rules. No J6N8M37, issued by the Kaintuck Department of Journalists and Other Oddfellows.)

If only we could access our pasts, especially our early childhood when most programming was done. Doing so might help us understand ourselves and why we do and say what we do. BRODHEAD SCHOOL COLLECTS TABS FOR EXTENSION SERVICE

Brodhead Elementary School youth have been collecting tabs for the Cooperative Extension Service. This project started over a year ago with the County Homemakers club collecting tabs to raise money for youth with leukemia and cancer so they can attend a summer camp in Irvine, Kentucky. The Family Resource Center and the 4-H Program started this project with Brodhead Elementary School in October of 1994. Each student was asked to bring tabs to the Family Resource Center at the Brodhead Elementary School. Over the past several months, the school has collected 173 pounds. These tabs will be taken to Lexington in March, along with the others that have been collected in our county by many different individuals and businesses. The Rockcastle County Homemakers and the 4-H Council would like to express our thanks to ALL the students at the Brodhead Elementary School, and a big thanks to Saticia Morgan, director of the family Resource Center at Brodhead, for all her hard work, time, and cooperation.

REMEMINDER!!

The 4-H Variety Show has been rescheduled for Thursday evening, March 23, at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School. Variety Show acts must register by calling the Extension Office at 256-2403 by Tuesday, March 21.

4-H Clothing Projects will begin in March. The schedule for the projects is as follows:
 March 13-16: Brodhead
 March 20-23: Mt. Vernon
 April 3-6: Roundstone
 April 10-13: RCMS

Educational programs of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability, or national origin.

Changes in tax laws

You may qualify for SSI
Here's a fact that may surprise you. As many as 1/2 million people may be eligible for help through Social Security's Supplemental Security Income Program... but they just don't apply. Some may not be aware that you can own a home, a car, and have a small amount of money in the bank and still receive Supplemental Security Income payments. To find out more about SSI contact your local Social Security office.

Marriage Licenses

Kristinall Jones, 24, Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon, to Bennie Lee Stephens, 27, Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon, Feb. 24, 1995.
Angela Mae Cromer, 19, Mt. Vernon, unemployed to Michael Travis Bullock, 24, Central Body Service, Feb. 24, 1995.

Widows may switch to larger benefit

Ordinarily if you take a reduced Social Security benefit to retire early, you're making a decision that will last the rest of your life. But if you're a widow, that may not always be the case. If you've been employed and you're entitled to benefits based on your own work, you may be eligible for a reduced widow's benefit as early as age 60 and to your own full retirement benefit when you reach 65.

children, there's a change in the tax laws you should know about. Beginning in 1994, in most cases, you no longer have to pay "nanny taxes" for high school students under 18 who babysit for you. Under the new law, the threshold on Social Security taxes for babysitters and other household help is $1,000 a year, instead of $50 per calendar quarter as in the past.

Helping Our Small Businesses

Small businesses are the backbone of our economy and the engine of economic growth. Entrepreneurs employing fewer than 50 people have created 85 percent of all the new jobs in America over the last 12 years. From your town hardware store to the corner gas station to the local grocery, small businesses fuel America.

If our nation and our region is going to sustain any steady economic growth and prosperity, we must encourage - not inhibit - the job-generating capabilities of small businesses.

Just last week, the House took solid steps to strengthen our small businesses' hand. These improvements will make it easier for small businesses to expand and grow in our communities, providing millions of jobs well into the future.

Our first proposal permanently approves a 25 percent health care tax deduction for the self-employed. Used as a political bargaining chip in the past, the deduction will permanently give our farmers and small business owners the ability to deduct a portion of their health insurance costs. It also provides a strong incentive for the self-employed to buy insurance coverage in the first place.

Our second proposal will reduce the burdens of paperwork our small businesses face every day.

Businesses and their employees spend thousands of hours filling out paperwork for the federal government, often paying for expensive legal experts to make sure it is done right. This costs them precious time and money each year.

The Small Business Administration estimated that in 1991, small business owners spent at least a billion hours compiling records and filling out forms for the government, costing them more than $100 billion dollars.

The bill we passed will help reduce that paperwork burden by easing filing requirements and eliminating duplicative forms.

Reducing the paperwork will not only streamline our government, it will give our small businesses, who do not have a team of lawyers on their payroll, a chance to use that money to create jobs for our communities.

We are also passing legislation that puts a freeze on certain new regulations. The goal is to take a fresh look at all regulations to make sure they are 1) needed and, 2) cost effective. Bureaucratic red tape is burying our small businesses and reducing these burdens will allow the necessary expansion to create new jobs.

The bureaucrats in Washington need to stop and recognize what they are doing to our small businesses - choking the growth that has made our nation strong. Now we are moving in the right direction, providing new opportunities to allow the job creation engine of small business to roar.

The Great Fiasco

From the ordinary peoples viewpoint, by ordinary I mean those of us who are uneducated in the law and court proceedings, we are awestricken bystanders to the modern way of treating a criminal. And especially of that big one in California where one of the nations idols of football fame is being tried for murder. This trial is turning out to be one of the biggest fiascos the world has ever seen.

Oh, for the "Good Ol Days" of unadulterated and quick justice. Or at least that was what we were led to believe when a criminal was caught, convicted and punished for his wrong doing within days or at the most a few weeks from the time the crime had been committed. But that was before the days of twisted word meanings and technicalities that only attorneys specializing in how to find and use the tiniest loop holes that may have appeared as a result of one of these words being used out of context, could spot, then use as a means of prolonging the trial. Quick justice meant the accused did not have to stay in jail or live under a cloud of doubt for months or years and perhaps be impoverished by his bail while he awaited the pleasure of the court. The suspect was tried by the local people living in the area where the crime was committed, then set free if innocent, or if guilty, was sentenced and sent to jail, prison or the gallows, according to which punishment fitted his/her crime and life went on. Of course there have been many innocent victims who were framed by their enemies and served unjust sentences, and many guilty ones escaped their just dues. That has been the way of life since the beginning of time and no one has ever found a way to legislate the honesty that will stop it. This faster way of handling crime not only saved money for the county, it kept the community feeling safe from the criminal and the criminal in fear of committing more crimes for to know he would be caught and justice would be meted out swiftly.

The oath I have recently seen and heard witnesses repeat on the witness stand. "I swear to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth", is a fiasco in itself. It is seldom anyone is allowed to tell the whole truth. We all know that a simple yes or no does not cover a whole incident. In the famous, or infamous, trial that is taking place in California and has become one of the biggest dramas on TV, unless the lawyer for the witness being questioned has exceptional skill and word power to form questions the witness can answer that will expose the whole story, and overcome the objections by the attorneys on the other side, the whole truth is never allowed to be heard by the jury or the public.

Oh yes, I am one of those captivated by this drama that has swept the world. I anxiously await the next chapter to see if other strange circumstances of fate will appear before the Judge that may cause him to again postpone the continuance of one important witness' testimony for the prosecution and allow a witness, who demands to speak in her mother tongue, which is a foreign language, testify for the defense. I feel strongly that no foreign language should be allowed to take precedent over the English language in court if the witness can and does speak English on other occasions. This is our national language and it should be respected. And I have never heard prior to this notorious trial of a witness being able to tell the court when she will testify and upset the schedule of other witnesses and get away with it. And for one who has lived in the country for night on to thirty years, educated her children here, used the job opportunities to make a living and still not able to speak the language of her adopted country and stay there. Since her lack of understanding the English language sufficiently to speak it, can she be trusted to understand the language enough to testify and her testimony be believed?

Then there is the jury. Where does justice lie when the legal system punishes innocent people who are called to serve on the jury by incarcerating them and forbidding them free speech? The jurors doing their civic duty on the Simpson case are admonished by the judge every time the court takes a break to do what most of us would find impossible to do, "Do discuss this among yourselves, do not allow anyone to talk to you about it, and so on." Now are there truly any human being that could obey such orders and not speak to those they were incarcerated with about the atrocious things they had all just heard and seen? Not I, so I guess I will never be called to do jury duty again. When this fiasco and waste of the taxpayers money comes to an end, if it ever does, justice will be buried under the rubble of a legal system that has gone awry in its enthusiasm for court theatrics and no one qualified to listen objectively to evidence will be willing to put herself in jeopardy by serving on a jury. It is almost to that place now.

Harassment by the press is another complaint that needs attention. The press covers many phases of publicity such as the newspaper, radio, TV, and most of all the tabloids. Some of the media have respected the tragedy to the family and only publish the facts as they are brought forth day to day, others seem to be gloating like a hungry wolf pack over every gory detail. Nothing is too drastic to put on their front pages as long as it will attract buyers that in turn fill their coffers and stuff their bank accounts. My term for this is, "filthy lure." And it takes harassment to obtain some of these details.

Even the theatrics of the show have become important. Clothes worn by the legal advisors, short skirts, trim jackets, colors that may influence the jurors, matching ties and cut of suit have been discussed so the whole world is aware of the importance of being just right in attire and the way one sits or stands to show it off to the best advantage to the wearer. This perfection in good grooming just may influence the jury who, incidentally, are the only people who are not aware of what is going on. Even the jury is not amiss at the fashion bar of the O.J. trial. Judge Ito has remarked several times about their excellent grooming and well dressed appearance.

Motions and sound are also important in this theater. I was amazed when I noticed a nervous foot twitching under the witness chair, evidently caught by the camera when the person owning the foot wasn't aware it could be seen, for all motions are well controlled and every act emphasizes that control. Once in awhile I hear voices raised and become out of tune with the scene but even then I wonder if that wasn't also planned. I heard, or read the other day O.J. is taking more voice lessons, the following presumption being the possibility of him having to take the witness stand.

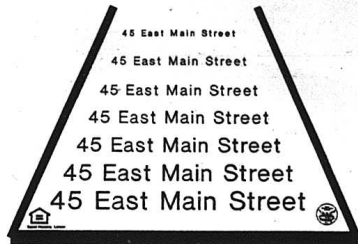

I must have read too many western novels where justice was meted out quickly and the suspect was either declared innocent and went on with his life or convicted of the crime and paid for it with his life or a suitable term in prison. And so the

One Day At A Time

Achieving financial freedom is a tall order for anyone. It takes hard work, patience, and a whole lot of doing without.

Saving is one of those things that takes time before you really begin to see the progress that's being made. When you think of long term goals, such as attaining freedom financially, there is a tendency to lose sight of the fact that you reach the goal by doing the right thing on a day to day basis.

If you save every week, a geometric progression occurs by which you earn interest, and then you earn interest on the interest. With time this accelerates and before you know it, you've reached your goal — one day at a time.

Kombucha "Manchurian" Mushroom Tea

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

The latest fad sweeping parts of our state is a fermented beverage known as Kombucha or Manchurian or Mushroom Tea. It is made by "fermenting" a Manchurian mushroom for seven days in a cool place in three quarters of regular tea made with usual tea bags and one cup of light brown sugar. The mushroom is placed in the cooled tea with bags removed and the container is covered with cheesecloth. After making the mushroom tea, individuals are encouraged to share the mushroom that propagates from the original mushroom. Proposed benefits include the prevention of cancer, reduction of menopause discomforts, helps asthma, cataracts, and digestion, burns fat, prevents hair loss, cures diabetes, etc., etc.

Daniel Walsh, a former fraud specialist with the California Department of Health Services says the hype of kombucha perfectly matches the Food and Drug Administration's (FDA) "no indicators." It is backed by studies from foreign countries, appeals to vanity, has origins that are ancient and is claimed to cure numerous ailments.

The "mushroom" is NOT REALLY A MUSHROOM at all, but a collection of MOLD, YEAST, and BACTERIA. It resembles a jelly fish in form and acts as a living culture (which means it grows other yeast and bacteria). Although the beverage is native to Asia, kombucha came popular in Russia, and then spread to Western Europe and the United States. In addition to a small amount of alcohol, the beverage usually contains about three percent acetic acid (vinegar) contains usually 1.5 percent) and additional quantities of gluconic, lactic, tartaric and other plant acids. Compounds such as inulin, amylose and proteolytic enzymes may also be present.

Unfortunately, reliable scientific and clinical studies of kombucha have not been done in the United States. Testimonials from patients who have found kombucha useful in treating various diseases or syndromes are the only "evidence" to date. Remember that recent studies have shown that placebo work approximately 35 percent of the time with up to 70 percent of patients claiming relief from treatments known to be ineffective, so little confidence should be placed on testimonials.

The microbiological safety implications are wide-spread. The "mushroom," being a mixture of yeasts and bacteria itself, could become contaminated with harmful molds or bacteria which could possibly produce dangerous toxins. Under anaerobic conditions (where no air is available), Clostridium botulinum spores, which are commonly found in nature, may germinate and produce the toxin which causes botulism, a syndrome of paralysis. The "tea" could also support the growth of Aspergillus, a mold also commonly found in nature. Some Aspergillus produce mycotoxins such as aflatoxin, which is an active carcinogen, usually attacking the liver. There may be others, but until scientific, unbiased information can be presented in this country, we cannot recommend the use of this product.

Grass Tetany in Beef Cattle

What is grass tetany? True grass tetany is a cow disorder caused by an abnormally low amount of magnesium in the animal's blood. This is caused primarily by the cow's feed being low in magnesium. When grasses are used for feed, this condition will mainly occur in the spring.

Grass tetany is usually confined to females and is more likely to occur in older animals. Cows are more susceptible during their third and fourth lactations. The animals exhibit milk fever symptoms and may begin to walk stiffly or stagger. Their appetites may decrease, and they usually become very dull in appearance. In many cases they will isolate themselves from the herd. As the disorder progresses, the animal sometimes becomes very nervous and occasionally has muscle tremors and will exhibit rapid breathing. In advanced cases the animal will collapse, go into convulsions and die. The disorder can run its course rapidly, and unless corrective measures are taken, death sometimes can occur less than an hour after the onset of visible symptoms.

If the magnesium level in the blood is low, it is mainly due to a low level of magnesium in the animal's feed. Three reasons why magnesium may be low in the animal's feed are species of grass, soil nutrient status, potassium levels and weather.

Grasses are lower in magnesium than legumes. The early lush growth is likely to be all grass (since legumes start growth later in the spring) and may be deficient in magnesium. Pastures, even grass pastures, should have adequate magnesium content in late spring or summer. Cereal crops such as wheat, rye, barley and oats are poor accumulators of magnesium. Forages of this type are apt to be low in magnesium in the spring or fall.

The plant must get its magnesium from the soil, and soils low in magnesium can cause a low plant content. However, at the present time, it appears that magnesium fertilization on most Kentucky soils would not be feasible. If the soil has a high potassium soil test, the application will do little to increase the magnesium content within the plant. Only coarse (sandy) soils and soils with a low potassium soil test would show an increase in plant magnesium when fertilized. However, massive applications, such as with dolomitic limestone, would probably have a beneficial effect.

The potassium content in the soil is probably the dominant factor affecting the uptake of magnesium by the plant. Potassium competes with the uptake of magnesium in the plant, and as the potassium available to the plant increases, there is a sharp drop in the uptake of magnesium. A similar type of relationship appears within the animal itself. The higher the amount of potassium entering the animal, the lower the amount of magnesium found in the blood. If the intake of magnesium is constant, the amount in the blood is lowered by higher potassium intake. Because of this, the potassium content of the soil should not be allowed to get into the high soil test range. A medium or high medium soil test should be sufficient for good pasture production and prevent significant reduction of magnesium in the plant, and subsequently, in the animal.

Tetany has been associated with spring weather for quite some time. Also, it is worse some years than others, and this is mainly because it is closely associated with weather conditions.

Grass tetany occurs mainly when the temperature is rather low and other conditions are favorable for grass growth. The frequency of tetany is much higher in years with a sudden quick growth of grass in spring than in years with poor, slow growth.

Grass tetany is a threat anytime the average daily temperature is between 40 degrees and 60 degrees. Once the average daily temperature remains above 60 degrees for six consecutive days, the chance of grass tetany occurring is very low. Many times, the number of grass tetany occurrence is high five days after a sudden rise in temperature in the spring.

The feeding of magnesium to the animal is the fastest and most certain method of preventing the occurrence of grass tetany, though problems may still exist. Therefore, the prevention of tetany must be through a combination of correcting fertility imbalances in the soil, as well as orally supplementing the animal.

We try to put our patients at ease . . .

Radiology has a unique function in the hospital. At Rockcastle Hospital, technology is the key to helping diagnose a disease or injury. But, it takes specially trained personnel to utilize this technology.

In the eight years I've been here, Radiology has changed dramatically. It's a much larger department now and we've added new diagnostic services, including mammography and our own CAT scanner.

When patients come in, they're often scared, so we try to explain the procedure and answer their questions. We're like family here, we want our patients to be comfortable.

I think taking time to talk to each patient and being polite is important. "We really care about people at Rockcastle Hospital."

Forthcoming Marriage...

Martin Jones of Marietta, Ga. and Mrs. Linda Bell of Williamstown are proud to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Kristalina to Bennie Lee Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stephens of Mt. Vernon. Miss Jones is a 1988 graduate of Williamstown High School and a 1993 graduate of Berea College. She is employed as a critical care nurse at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington. Mr. Stephens is a 1986 graduate of Rockcastle Co. High School and is employed at Sherwin Williams in Richmond. The wedding ceremony will be held March 18 at 5 p.m. at Danforth Chapel, Berea College campus. A reception will immediately follow. All family and friends are invited to attend.

Mrs. Vida Richmond honored on her 90th birthday with reception

Mrs. Vida Richmond was honored on her ninetieth birthday with a reception held in the Fairview Baptist Church Educational Building on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 19, 1995. Friends and neighbors were present to help her celebrate and to sing "Happy Birthday" to her.

Mrs. Richmond has been a member of the Fairview Baptist Church since 1924. She has lived a good Christian life and raised a good family. Her husband, Anderson Richmond, died in April of 1979.

Six of her children were with her on this occasion. They were: Lillie Johnson, Ellen Freeman, Lola Roberts, Herbert Richmond, Gordon Richmond and Ben (Orvie) Richmond. Another daughter, Lena Cope, lives in Texas and was unable to attend.

Mrs. Nancy Williams had some kind words to say about Mrs. Richmond and her pastor read from Proverbs about the virtuous woman. This truly describes Mrs. Richmond and she is a truly moral and righteous lady and her children each spoke of their love and appreciation for her. Pictures were also made at this time and refreshments were served.

Attending were Rev. Harvey Penso; Janet and John Wells Jr.; Lillie and Harry Johnson; Steve and Doris, Chris and Kim Richmond; Buddy, Doris and Gail Lee Gabbard; Ben and Elvie Richmond and Kathy; Phyllis Richmond; Robin Richmond; Ellen Freeman; Diane Freeman; Walter Malone; Hubert and Mattie Richmond; Jeff and Amy Richmond; Joyce and Carol Cain; Lola and Lee

Roberts; Beth Eaton and infant daughter, Hannah; Angie Ponder and son, Aaron; Roy Lee and Velma Croucher; Doris Gish and daughter, Terri Centers; Fran Gabbard and daughters; Edith Mullins; Paulette Ponder; Anthony and Sabrina Roberts; Judy Cummins; Nancy Williams; Gordon Richmond; Shirley, Rodney and Jan Ward and Lucille Ponder and Cletus Peters.

Mrs. Richmond is still able to attend Sunday School and church but not as much as she used to.

She and her family enjoyed her birthday celebration and appreciate all the cards, gifts and love that was shown her on her day.

We, her friends and loved ones, wish for her a good year of health and happiness in 1995. May God bless you, Mrs. Richmond, is our prayer.

Mrs. Vida Richmond on the occasion of her 90th birthday celebration.

Fairview News

By Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Rev. Harvey Penso filled his regular appointment at Fairview over the week end with good attendance. Sunday School attendance was 91 for which we are very thankful.

The average Sunday School attendance for the month of February was 93.

Rev. Jack Bruce filled in for our pastor both morning and evening services Sunday Feb. 2th. We missed Bro. Harvey, but enjoyed having Bro. Bruce and his wife with us. Bro. Bruce delivered such good messages. We welcome them back to our church any time. May God bless them.

Sympathy is extended to all those who have lost loved ones recently. So many of our friends, relatives and loved ones have departed this life in the past few months. May God bless and comfort the families that are left behind.

My precious little brother Ira Reppert died March 5, 1986. He and his family had lived in Crossville, Tennessee for many years and he was laid to rest in Crossville. He was such a good person, so jolly, so kind and friendly, he and I were so close and I will always miss him. But, one day we can be together forever in a better place. May God bless and take care of his loving family.

My sister Dorothy's husband submitted to major surgery Feb. 9th in Ohio and I'm thankful to be able to report that he is home now and improving nicely.

Glen Penso underwent surgery in Lexington a few weeks ago and, thank the good Lord, he is now up and around and back in Sunday School and church.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander attended a cottage prayer meeting at the home of Melissa Gabbard a few nights ago in Madison County.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and daughter, Sherry, were Sunday guests of his parents, Feb. 12th, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell of Corbin.

Jena Davidson, daughter of Rex and Jewell Davidson of Broadhead celebrated her 14th birthday Feb. 17th at her home. Attending the event besides her parents were her grand-parents, Eugene and Hallie Alexander; her uncle, Gerald Alexander and wife Irene and children, Courtney and Cody and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isaacs and children and, of course, last but not least, her little brother, Jerry Davidson. Jena, you have many friends and relatives who love you so much and wish for you many more years of good health, joy and happiness. (You are such a sweet young lady).

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Croucher of Berea were able to attend worship services at Fairview Sunday. They have been absent for some time due to illness. They are a sweet, loving couple and I love them dearly.

Hubert and I attended church at Scaffold Cane on Sunday night Feb. 19th and we both enjoyed it so very much.

On Thursday of last week, Mrs. Mary Cope had four of her children visit her, Helen Powell of Berea, Jean Hayes of Winchester, William Cope and wife, Joyce, of Eubank and Buddy Cope who lives close and visits every day.

On Saturday, Mrs. Cope visited and had dinner with another daughter, Christine Barnett of Berea. They also did some shopping later. Mrs. Cope has children who love and care for her and she loves her children too and thanks God for them. (I wish all parents felt that way).

Some of our recent visitors have been Wayne and Carolyn Chasteen, Joyce and James Seal and daughter, Kim and Darrin and Monica Chasteen and two sweet little girls.

Hubert and I received a beautiful card and Valentine from a secret pal. So, whenever it is or wherever you are, we want to say "Thank You."

I have recently had the opportunity to see and talk with Edd and Juanita Croucher, Nora Wade Lamb and J.T. Lambert. They are all old friends and I enjoyed seeing them. And, I want to say hello to J.S. Peters and daughter Patie of Madison County. They enjoy so much my Fairview News -- more good friends.

Please remember church and Sunday School and love one another and remember too that "Life is better if kept simple." God bless you.
