BE TREE SMART

FROM THE START

PLANT A FREE TREE AND SAVE ENERGY.

Like to lower your energy costs? Plant a tree. Trees not only beautify the landscape and help the environment, they save energy by shielding your home from the sun and wind.

That's why, for the fourth consecutive year, Kentucky Utilities Company is celebrating Earth Day on Friday, April 21, by giving away 100,000 tree seedlings across our service area. You'll have your choice of pagoda dogwood, gray dogwood or Russian olive - while supplies last.

The only thing we ask is that you be "Tree Smart" when you plant. Plant away from electric power lines, and check the location of underground utility lines before digging. For more information, please contact your local KU office.

Briefly

Burke out on bond

Shane Burke, 24, of Negro Creek, who has been charged with reckless homicide in connection with two drowning deaths last week at Lake Linville is free this week after family members posted bond.

Burke is due back in court on April 24. He is not employed at Taylor's Produce as was reported in last week's Signal.

Theft

Zachary Taylor, 20, of Brodhead was arrested this week by Trooper Gary Lane for possession of a forged instrument and theft by unlawful taking.

Trooper Lane said Taylor had $525 in stolen checks and other items. Taylor was taken to the Rockcastle County Jail under $10,000 cash or property bond.

Kidnap

A Louisiana man is in Rockcastle County Jail charged with kidnaping his wife and 4-month old baby in Louisiana.

Clark Brady is being held on $50,000 cash bond. He was arrested Tuesday night.

Deputy Sheriff Randall Reynolds said he saw a parked car on I-75 near Conway and investigated. Inside he heard Elisa Brady calling "help me," "help me."

She told Reynolds she had been kidnaped in Louisiana by Brady.

She was taken to the Spouse Abuse Center at Renfro and he to the county jail. The baby is with her.

When Reynolds stopped Brady told him his car quit.

Pot

A total of 22 marijuana plants growing in a wooded area were confiscated last week by Sheriff's Deputies Randall Reynolds and Darrell Doan.

Stolen

Cumberland Valley Home Health reported a S-10 Chevrolet was broken in Thursday night. Someone threw a rock through a window.

Gas was also siphoned from the vehicle.

Clean up

Jail inmate, community service workers, along with County Judge/Executive Buzz Carlotta, spent the last three Saturdays cleaning up trash in areas in the county.

Included were Hammond Fork, Piney Branch and Cove Branch.

Forgy to speak Friday

Republican gubernatorial candidate Larry Forgy will be in Rockcastle County again.

Forgy is the speaker at the annual Lincoln Day banquet scheduled for Friday night at the Rockcastle County Middle School.

Tickets for the Republican gathering are $15 for a single and $25 for a couple.

Tickets can be purchased from Republican County Chairman Juanita Davis or at the door.

Blood Drive at EKU

The Red Cross is sponsoring a blood drive at Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond for victims of the Oklahoma City bombing that injured thousands of people on April 19.

The drive is scheduled for 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

D.U.I arrest leads to murder charges

By: Richard Anderkin
A D.U.I. arrest by a Rockcastle County Sheriff's deputy apparently led to a triple murder charge against a Rockcastle county man last Thursday.

Gary McKinney, 28, of Level Green is accused of killing his wife and her two small children on April 2. The three were shot to death before their bodies were burned in a house fire in Pulaski County.

Shirley Faye Bowles McKinney, 29, and Brian Lee Bowles, 11 were shot multiple times, Amy Michelle Bowles, 3, was shot only once, according to Pulaski County Coroner Alan Stringer.

Rockcastle Sheriff deputy Randall Reynolds said that he arrested McKinney Thursday afternoon after the sheriff's office received a complaint that a man had stopped his car on U.S. 25 at Conway and was urinating in the road.

Reynolds said that he proceeded to the scene, but met McKinney at the top of Green Fish Hill. The deputy said that when he turned to follow McKinney, he (McKinney) tried to elude him.

Reynolds said that he finally got McKinney to stop after he (McKinney) turned his Dodge Daytona on Negro Creek Road at Brodhead.

The deputy said that McKinney was apparently highly intoxicated and that he resisted arrest. Reynolds said that he and deputy Darrell Doan, who arrived on the scene a short time later managed to subdue McKinney and get him in the car.

Reynolds said that a statement by a passenger in McKinney's car led to his arrest for murder.

Reynolds said the passenger gave a sworn statement to Kentucky State Police Detective Gary Lane, that implicated McKinney in the shooting deaths of his wife and her two children.

"Once we received the information we notified the Pulaski County's sheriff's office and they took a sworn statement as well from the passenger and then arrested McKinney," Reynolds said.

The deputy said that the passenger also told police that as soon as McKinney realized that he was going to be pursued by police he threw a gun out of his car.

Reynolds said that police had searched the area where the gun was supposedly tossed, but police have not been able to locate the gun as of Wednesday.

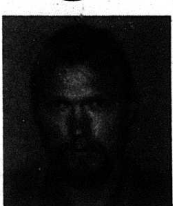

Reynolds said that police think that someone saw the pistol lying in or near the road and picked it up.

The deputy said that anyone responsible for picking the gun up should turn it in to authorities immediately.

McKinney is being held in the Pulaski County Detention Center without bond.

He appeared before District Judge Mike Henry Monday morning.

McKinney pleaded innocent to three counts of murder in connection with the deaths of his wife and two stepchildren.

McKinney's wife of one month, Shirley Faye Bowles McKinney, 29, and her two children, Brian Lee Bowles, 11 and Amy Michelle Bowles, 3, all had been shot prior to a fire April 2 in a four-room house in the Plato community in northeastern Pulaski County.

Pulaski Sheriff Sam Catron said two guns had been used in the shootings.

District Judge Michael Henry denied several motions during McKinney's arraignment yesterday, including a motion from his attorneys to set a bond.

Towery gets four-year deal Board gives school chief new contract

The Rockcastle County Board of Education voted last week to renew the contract of school superintendent Bige Towery, Jr., for four more years.

Towery's current contract expires June 30, and, after a fifteen minute executive session during the board's regular monthly meeting, Towery was given the new four year contract.

Towery will receive his same salary of around $70,000 a year, plus the same percentage of raise received by all certified school staff during these four years.

Towery's salary was established in 1991 as the average of all superintendent's salaries from 28 county school districts that serve 2,200 to 2,999 students.

The board also found out that Rockcastle County students will not be getting out for summer vacation as early as they had hoped.

Larry B. Hammond, Director of Student Services told the board that the final day for students will be June 7, when students will attend only a half day.

Hammond said that he had hoped the state would not force the school system to make up the two days missed when a truck spilled chemicals on I-75 in October, but a school system must miss at least 20 days before such days can be granted by the state department.

The board also approved starting date of August 7 for the beginning of the 1995-96 school year. Students won't actually begin school until August 21.

The board also approved a Junior Reserve Training Corps program for Rockcastle County High School. The JRCTC program will be available to students at the beginning of next school year.

Finance officer Richard Bray told the board that the final payment of Arsonist arrested at Livingston

Michael Elvis Tankersley, 21, of Livingston was arrested and has been charged with deliberately setting a wildland fire on the land owned by another, near the Jackson-Rockcastle County line on April 16.

While assisting the Kentucky Division of Forestry, Officer Steve Addison of the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Office of Special Investigation, and U.S. Forest Service Enforcement Officer Mike Gay, who witnessed the felony, made the arrest and obtained a written confession from Tankersley.

Tankersley was scheduled for arraignment.

Three hurt in Sunday wreck

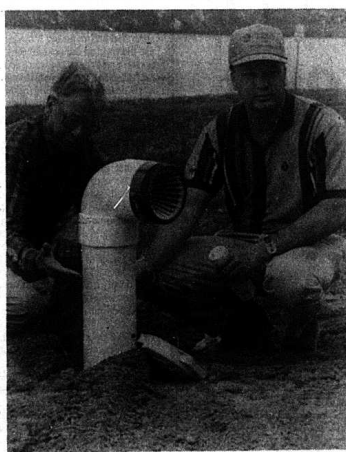

Three persons were hospitalized after a three car accident Sunday morning at the intersection of U.S. 150 and Ky. 461.

Involved in the accident was Thomas Blackburn, 70, of Mt. Vernon, who was hospitalized, but later released. Also involved were Clidan Spears and Tony Mills, both about 30, both from New Zealand.

The third car was driven by David Robinson, 31, of Lebanon. With him were his wife Susan, 30, and two children Ashley Wilkinson, 6, and Angel Lunsford, 5.

Everyone except Blackburn was wearing seat belts. Persons in the Robinson car were not injured.

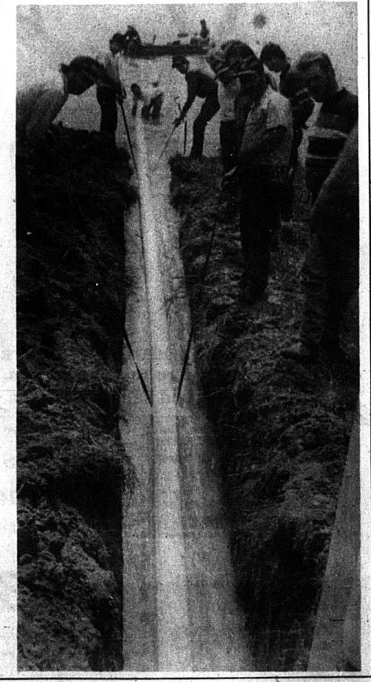

According to a police report, Blackburn was coming from Brodhead and failed to stop on a red light. He struck the Spears car northbound on Ky. 461. The Spears car then struck the Robinson car which was coming from Mt. Vernon and stopped on the red light.

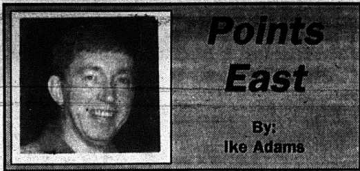

The first of nine dry fire hydrants was installed at Lake Linville Tuesday morning. The project, which was coordinated by the local Soil Conservation District through the Cumberland Valley RC&D, is part of a ten county program that will see 50 dry fire hydrants installed to help fire protection.

The money to Cumberland Valley came from a $40,000 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission. The other eight hydrants in Rockcastle County will be installed in farm ponds throughout the county. Above Rockcastle Soil Conservation District Chairman Roy Brown, left and District Conservationalist Randall Templeman check the finished project.

About ten counties were represented at Tuesday's installation. After the hydrants are installed the local county fire departments will maintain the hydrants. Rockcastle County road workers, right, helped install the hydrant at the lake.

Points East

By: Iko Adams

I've just returned from a week of vacation wherein I pursued the wick and belly crapple that purportedly inhabit Kentucky Lake by the millions. And they may well do just that because the lake is 184 miles long and as much as 20 miles wide in places. Lots of room for them to hide and space enough for billions. But I came home with scant proof in regards to the population.

I made the trip with a fishing pal, Mike Mitchell, two of his brothers, (Bib and Mark) and three Hoosiers (Dykes, Al and Tom). Actually all six of them made the trip from Indianapolis and I drove alone, to and from Paint Lick in the Lemon. From our house in Paint Lick to Moor's Resort where we shared a nice four bedroom cottage right on the lake the Lemon cranked out 293 miles on the odometer. And it occurs to me that the odometer is probably the only thing on my lemon Jeep that hasn't been replaced at least twice.

Anyway it's a six hour drive for me because the Lemon starts shaking so bad when you get above 55 mph that you can look in the rear view mirror and see at least a dozen images of whatever is behind you so I have to take her nice and easy. And driving the Western Kentucky Parkway at 55 is hardly different from sitting still. People passed me going so fast that I couldn't tell what kind of vehicle they were driving.

Big 18 wheelers would go by in the left lane and then pull right back in and they'd literally suck me up to 80 miles an hour so fast that I would glance out the rear window to see if somebody was pushing me. Several times I had to ride my brakes going uphill.

Loretta was worried about me going to sleep behind the wheel and I had to promise I'd stop and call every two hours but she doesn't realize that when you get out on the interstate in my Lemon, sleep is the last thing on your mind. I spent a lot of time in danger of getting run over and I could use a lot of adjectives to describe my state of mind that are not fit to put in your family newspaper, but bored and sleepy are not among them. In fact, I've never been more wide awake in my life.

So we all managed to meet at the dock around the crack of dawn last Saturday morning. Bib and Mark as well as the other Hoosiers had towed large v-bottomed boats with all sorts of electronic equipment, plush seats, big motors and the stuff like you normally associate with ocean going vessels. Mike and I had made arrangements to rent a "fishing boat" - a 14 foot steel John boat with a nine horse power motor and two of those little plastic square cushions that you can buy at Wal-Mart for $3.99 apiece. And two plastic paddles and an anchor.

On Saturday and again on Sunday morning we managed to catch a few fish - big old crappie 16 and 18 inches long in the two and a half pond class. The lake had a mild chop and there was just enough of a breeze blowing to make the air comfortable. Then on Sunday evening the wind whipped up to a steady blast of 25 mph gusting to 40.

There were times when we were going from one spot to another that I felt like a guy in a wash tub getting ready to go over Niagara Falls. The backs of my legs are bruised like somebody took a mop-handle to me because I kept getting thrown up in the air and falling back into the boat without hitting my cushion. And we went through that for five consecutive days.

In all fairness, we did catch a few fish but most of my catch happened when I was standing on the bank.

I had intended to write a column last week and fax it to your paper from crapple headquarters on Kentucky Lake but to be perfectly honest, Mike and I got several miles away from our dock and I became horribly sea sick on the return trip. I'm very happy-in fact I'm tickled to death-to report that the Lemon and I made it to the house over the weekend under nearly the same circumstances we experienced going down.

The truck is still running and suffered no apparent damage. I however, am in dire need of a week of bed rest. I might cooperate from my vacation. Next year, I think I'll go to a farm pond somewhere here in Paint Lick.

Tales From The Hills

Hanging at Hackney's Corner

A collection of short stories by John Lair

One of the most shocking local tragedies of the War Between the States occurred in our home county and only a very few miles from Reno Valley. It was later described in the official report as a couple of Union soldiers who witnessed it but were powerless to prevent it.

What set in motion was the hanging of a group of Union soldiers by Confederate guerrillas near Pineville, Kentucky. In retaliation Union sympathizers in our home county strung up a group of Confederate soldiers, many of whom had been invalided and were being sent home to recover from injuries.

The two Union soldiers who happened upon this latter execution were doing mounted patrol duty. The non-commissioned officer in charge wrote home to his parents that while he and his companion were scouting the roads in southern Rockcastle county, near the Rockcastle River, they rode up to a group of men collected near a large tree with expressions of alarm.

Noticing that a party of men in civilian clothes were surrounding another and smaller party similarly armed and tied hand and foot, they asked what was going on. The larger mob had no hesitation in telling them that they were hanging a bunch of Rebs in revenge for the earlier hanging at Pineville. When the non-commissioned officer with the men of this mob some of them became rather belligerent and hard-talking. When it was suggested by the men in uniform that the prisoners be turned over to them to be taken to army headquarters for examination and trial, they were told in no uncertain terms that the party was gathered there for the express purpose of having a hanging, and that if the two soldiers did not ride on and attend to their own business, they might also be included in those to be strung up.

The avenging group seemed to be intent on spending the entire afternoon in their gruesome business and the men were not all hanged at once. They would sit around and berate the prisoners and converse among themselves on various subjects, and at regular intervals some of them would pounce on a prisoner, drag him to the foot of the huge oak serving as a gibbet and string him up, then return to the group and go on with a party until time to hang another victim.

One of the local men I know whose grandfather was involved in this terrible work explained the delay by saying that his grandfather had told him, on the one instance when he had been willing to talk about it, that they had only the rope and lead wanted to be sure a man was thoroughly strangled before taking him down to use the rope on the next victim. Others have said that there was a rope for each man and they were all hanged in a row on an extra long limb of the oak tree. All stories agree, however, that it was a slow and prolonged operation.

One of the prisoners was a boy of fifteen or sixteen who hoped to the last that his life would be spared, since he was the last one to be approached. When it became evident that he was to meet the same fate as his companions he wept and begged for his life, reminding them that he was known to most of them and they were aware of the fact that he had never been a Confederate soldier but was simply in company with some of the men when they had been rounded up and captured. He was reminded that, like Old Dog Tray in the Blueback Speller story, he had been found in bed company and would be treated like the rest of his friends. It was told that two or three of the men refused to take part in his execution and left the group before he was hanged. A violent quarrel is said to have broken out among other members of the party but the majority favored going ahead and hanging him.

The bodies of the six men remained hanging for some time, as the friends were afraid to attempt to take them down. Some of the victims were unknown in the community, having been captured as they were passing through the county on their antipathetic return to the Confederate Army, so there was no one with any particular interest in cutting them down.

It was soon after this that the Governor of Kentucky issued a scathing report on these two hangings and other evidences of brutality among the guerrilla element of Home and State Guards, and others who were of civilian status but engaged in wholesale murder under the guise of military necessity.

At the time this latter incident took place the community in which it occurred was then known as Hackney's Corner, a small community at the crossroads of two infrequently-traveled highways. As anybody you meet in this end of the state, look on any map you can find, and you will not be able to locate a Hackney's Corner. Only a few of the old-timers are left who ever knew its location. They will tell you - if they will talk about it all - that since the day of this tragedy nobody has ever called the place by that name. Its name was changed immediately and not one person in five hundred in this county knows that there ever was such a place. A local historian believes it is now known as Calloway.

Babbage explains primary laws

Rockcastle Countians who decline to choose a major political party when they register to vote will be limited to voting in nonpartisan races in the May 23 primary election, according to Secretary of State Bob Babbage.

The nonpartisan races in this year's primary are for Circuit Judge and 1st District Judge in the 19th, 20th and 31st Judicial Districts.

All the other races on the ballot this May are for members of the major political parties to choose their respective nominees to face the opposing party's nominee in the November election.

Residents of the community at that end of the county felt so keenly the disgrace of the proceedings that they never allowed the story much circulation. Had not the two boys in Blue happened upon the scene, there would have been no publicity given it outside the immediate bounds of the area, and very little in the neighborhood itself. Those were the days when no one knew whom they could trust, and with the Kentucky mountaineers ingrained reticence and desire for privacy heightened by the perilous times when brother was arrayed against brother, it was a good idea to know little and tell less.

To order by mail, send $16 plus $2.75 P&H to Polly House Publications P.O. Box 127 Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456

Because of Kentucky's "closed primary" election laws only the persons who register with a major political party can vote in that party's primary election. Political party registrants can also vote in the nonpartisan races, Babbage explained.

The laws allow persons to vote for the candidates of their choice in the general election in November regardless of their party affiliation.

However, almost one-third of the persons who have registered to vote this year have indicated no political party preference or have chosen to register as members of a political party not involved in the primary election.

In loving memory of Mildred Ann Bullock who passed away three years ago on April 20, 1992

My memory of you builds a little pathway that goes winding through my heart

It's a lovely, wonderful trail from all other things apart

For down this trail I think of all the things we would say and do

And how it blesses me to have these wonderful memories of you

Although the years are swiftly passing by I still have a many a cry

I know that someday God in His love Will wipe away all the tears from my eyes when He brings us together again, in heaven above.

Sadly missed, always loved and never forgotten

Rockcastle Co. Library needs your support

The Rockcastle County Public Library recently received notice from the American Library Association that the President has just recommended a 26 percent cut in funding for libraries in FY96 and some current funding is threatened with rescission. Therefore, the Rockcastle County Public Library needs advocacy and the library needs it now.

This spring the ALA will send a special message to Congress urging members to increase federal spending on libraries from only .57 cents to $1 dollar per every American. Public support is critical. Many good programs could be swept away in the next round of congressional budget-cutting. Even with ALA's proposed increase, spending on libraries would come to only about 1/100 of 1 percent of the entire federal budget or $258 million.

The budget discussion in Washington is heating up. Our nation's leaders need to invest in the most basic part of our nation's information infrastructure -- it's libraries!

To help get this message to Congress, the Rockcastle County Public Library has copies of the "Pass a Buck" postcards already addressed to Senator Wendall Ford and Representative Hal Rogers for use by the public and library users.

For more information on how you can help get this message to Congress or to get your "Pass a Buck" postcard, call the Rockcastle County Public Library 256-2388.

By Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Our Sunday School attendance April 16th was ninety four (94).

Our spring revival closed Friday night April 14. We had one by profession of faith and a number of rededications. We thank God for our visitors and welcome them back any time. And too, we all need to pray for our ministers who are out there preaching the Word of God.

The Easter Sunrise Service was held April 16th. Following the service a large number enjoyed breakfast at a Berea restaurant.

The morning service was taken up in a special Easter musical entitled "Footsteps of Jesus" presented by the choir. A large crowd attended the morning service and the Sunrise Service attendance was seventy six (76). So thank God many people here and elsewhere enjoyed Easter Sunday in 1995.

We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the families who have lost loved ones recently. It seems there is so much sickness, death, heartache and sorrow. But we just thank God for His loving care, and for friends who still stand by those who are distressed and in sorrow. So to each of you who are grieving, I just want to say, keep trusting in God. He will see you through it all.

I have a burden on my heart as I sit here writing this article, so I know what it means to be troubled. I have a sister in Ohio, the former Mary Jane Reppert, who is at this time very, very sick. She has always been such a sweet person, so meek, humble, friendly and kind and a devoted Christian. But good people have to suffer too. Some times we can't understand why. But, I know that there are some good people praying for her on my heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Owens and sister Rilda of Winchester, Ind. visited Mrs. Edith Mullins of Snider recently.

Mrs. Christine Barnett and Mrs. Helen Powell both of Berea recently visited their mother Mrs. Mary Cope. They visited different days and both took her out to eat. Her children are so good to her.

Mrs. Cope has been sick most of the winter but was able to attend church and Sunday School this past Sunday. We were all glad to see her. I'm so glad to be able to report Elmer Hale feeling some better. He has been unable to be out much for several months. Mr. and Mrs. Hale have many friends that love them.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Thomas of Paducah visited relatives and friends here over the Easter Holiday. They attended church at Fairview along with his brother Everett Thomas.

Eugene and Hallie Alexander visited his brother William Alexander and wife Ruby of Willalla on Monday, April 17th.

Mrs. Irene Alexander and children Eugene and Cindy visited relatives in Evans over the weekend. Visitors in our home recently have been Wayne and Carolyn Chasteen, Joyce Seals and Rodney Chasteen. Our children that live close are in and out all the time.

Little Lucas Isaac, infant son of Ray and Sherry Isaac celebrated his first birthday Friday, April 7th. Present for the occasion were his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Billy Whitehouse and his great grandmother Mrs. Bula Whitehouse all of Louisville. Others were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Alexander and children and Mrs. Jewell Davidson, Jenia and Jeremy.

We wish for this little one many years of happiness ahead and God's blessings on the family. Also, Jeremy Davidson, son of Rex and Jewell Davidson of Brodhead celebrated his 11th birthday April 12th at his home. Attending the celebration were his grandparents Eugene and Hallie Alexander and his uncle and aunt Gerald and Irene Alexander and family of Sand Springs, Jersey is such a sweet boy and we all love him, and wish for him and his family many good things in the years to come.

I have recently enjoyed my telephone conversations with my sisters-in-law Berdine Reppert of Paxton, Ill. and Cora Reppert of Crossville, Tenn. Both of their husbands Everett and Ira are deceased, but we try to keep in touch.

I enjoy so much seeing Bob and Pearl Mullins of Climax in Berea once in a while. She always comments on my article in the Signal. If we had a world of people made up of such folks as these two are, what a wonderful world this would be.

Now, in my closing remarks, I'd love to say try to be good to all people, especially to your own family. I wonder if some people ever realize what they are putting others through by bad treatment. But the Bible tells us to love one another. Please don't do things to hurt others. Love and pray for one another, and attend church and Sunday School every time you can. Don't let other things come between you and the Lord. God bless you all.

Happy forty-third (43) wedding anniversary to Eugene and Hallie Alexander on Tuesday, April 18th I love you both.

Ronald Owens of Ohio spent Wednesday night and Thursday with his mother, Mrs. Matti Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Nicely spent from Friday till Sunday with Mrs.

Nicely's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smiley at Virginia. Mr. Smiley is in poor health.

Mrs. Patsy Schunicher of Ohio visited Mrs. Edna Caldwell.

Mrs. Sella Scoggins and Gurvis visited Mr. and Mrs. Speed Larwell recently. Mr. Larwell is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Bullock and Dustin and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bullock and daughters visited their parents Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Bullock and Kristy Sunday evening.

Mrs. Vivian Owens was Sunday evening supper guest of Mrs. Edna Poo and Ann Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Bullock and Kristy visited Mr. and Mrs. Benton Bullock Sunday evening.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hayes Easter Sunday were Mrs. Grace Whitaker, Gus Whitaker, Roy and Patsy, Mrs. Betty Bullens, Ed and Mary Gibbs, Jim and Florence Hayes, Jeremy, Brandon and Stephanie, Butch and Darlene Carl and Missy, Greg and Sherry Carl, Bobby and Jean Brock and Leslie, Donna and Liz Whitaker and Kevin, Steve and Sue, Tracy and Angie, Lowell and Rose Mink and Kendall and Karen Ann, Roland and Lois Gabbard and Tommy and Nicole and her baby Sean and friend, Donnie and Connie Hayes and Josh and Kayla, Ronnie and Lisa Hayes, Jerry and Jennifer Jackson and Jarred and Jason, Charles Bullens, Kelly and Tammy Whitaker and Nathan, Kim Whitaker and kids, Michael, Whitney and Amber.

Mrs. Ruby Taylor visited Mrs. Maggie Pilmy at Crab Orchard Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Stephens of Louisville spent this Monday night with Mrs. Ruby Taylor.

The family of Lillian Adams has our sympathy and prayers in the loss of their loved one.

Carl Miller visited Mrs. Oma Mullins Monday.

Arts council begins with fund raiser

The Rockcastle Council for the Arts will kick off its 95-96 season with Young Cherokee, a play by the Cincinnati based ArtReach Teaching Theatre. Young Cherokee presents America in its unspoiled state - clear rivers, blue skies and majestic mountains - the homeland of a young Cherokee child. In this play we see through his eyes the great myths, legends and customs of Cherokee life. The play is woven with tribal drums, authentic costumes and meaningful audience participation.

According to Jack D. Lewis, Arts Council secretary, Young Cherokee will be presented as a fund-raising project for the Arts Council. The Arts Council has the opportunity to receive a fifteen hundred dollar matching grant, but must first raise fifteen hundred dollars locally by May 31. The Arts Council has had strong community support over the past twelve years, so raising this amount should not be a problem. However, I think it's important for the public to realize that programming is becoming more expensive, even programming on a local level.

The Rockcastle Council for the Arts, which begins its 12th season, has successfully staged more than 40 musicals, dinner theatre productions, children's touring theatre productions and programming for various civic and church groups. In addition to producing local projects, the Arts Council has made funds available for Rockcastle County children to attend the Lexington Children's Theatre, has funded storytellers and dance companies, and co-produced with the Kentucky Humanities Council Speaker's Bureau and Chautauque Societies. Recently, the Arts Council became the Local Affiliate for "Forward in The Fifth," a non-profit organization dedicated to bringing communities and schools close together.

"As one of the most active Arts Councils in Kentucky, the Rockcastle Council for the Arts, has become a model for other small, rural communities. The Arts in Rockcastle County are alive because of the continued support and participation of the entire Rockcastle community," states Jean Perry, director Kentucky Assemblies of local arts agencies.

Anyone wishing to make a donation or find out more about the Arts Council's activities may do so by writing the Rockcastle Council for the Arts, P.O. Box 445, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky 40456.

Burdette attends Child Sexual Abuse Conference

Rockcastle County Attorney, Jeffrey T. Burdette, attended the 1995 Child Sexual Abuse Conference April 17 - April 19, 1995 in Louisville.

The Conference, mandated by law, was designed to provide an intensive, in-depth, education for professionals dealing with victims of child sexual abuse. A faculty of nationally recognized experts provided information about the mechanics of dealing with all aspects of child maltreatment.

The program, considered mandatory for each County Attorney and Assistant County Attorney, was not attended by all County Attorneys statewide, with preliminary figures pointing to only about 1/2 of those required attending. Led by Clay Bishop, Clay County Attorney, many in the County Attorneys Association refused to attend, arguing that Government was mandating programs and then failing to provide funding for those programs. Burdette agrees with those who refused to attend and has argued that arrangements for scheduling and funding should have been handled better. He states that without the proper funding available, many County Attorneys would have to "foot the bills themselves" to comply with the law.

"I suppose I have attended under protest because I believe prosecutors need information given by experts at this type of conference. Child sexual abuse occurs every day, and it's sad to say it's here in our community and surrounding areas. I want to be as prepared as possible as County Attorney," Burdette explained.

Contacted by telephone, Burdette reiterated that he understood why many had refused to pay for the conference out of their own pockets. "Even though county attorneys across the state are lending their own monies to programs in order to keep them alive, including myself, it is also very important to keep up to date on issues, especially for the new county attorneys. The district court judges were very accommodating, as was Denver Miller, in re-scheduling cases this week."

The programs was to be instrumental in aiding counties in setting up child abuse interdisciplinary teams that can respond to alleged abuses and determine course of action. Burdette, in cooperation with the Department of Social Services, developed a child fatality team about one year ago and has already organized a local child sexual abuse interdisciplinary team.

Poet's Corner

Brother Bill
By Lewis Bowling

A year is gone, a voice is still,
Death has come for Brother Bill.
He has paid the debt we all must pay,
To leave his world, it's the only way.

We see him everywhere we look,
In his chair or with his book.
We can hear his voice as of old
When he sang songs of old.
To the babies he loved to hold.

He leaves behind a loving wife,
The pride and joy of his life.

Only someone that has gone through this,
Can understand how he will be missed.

He leaves behind six sons,
A daughter, only one.
Two daughters have gone on before,
To wait for him on that shore
There to part never more.

Let us all do the best we can,
To meet him in the Promised Land
To sing God praises on Zion Hill
With our dad and Brother Willie
Who we all called Bill.

Lady Rockets are 8-0 in fast-pitch; split slow-pitch doubleheader with Tigers

The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets softball team continued their winning ways last Thursday night as they traveled to Jackson County last Thursday and came away with a 13-2 win to up their fast-pitch record to 8 wins and no losses.

Sophomore Amy Robinson picked up her fifth win for the Rockets as she pitched five innings striking out eight batters.

The Rockets found themselves down 6-1 after two innings but came back to tie the lead to 6-6 after scoring three runs in the third inning. The runs came off a Becky Osborne walk, Angie Moore triple, Susie Carpenter single and Ginger Mink single.

The Rockets took the lead in the fourth inning off by Melinda Smith, Becky Osborne, Susie Carpenter and Amber Coffey for a 10-6 lead. Jackson County would not be denied as they took the lead in the bottom of the fourth inning at 11-10. Robinson gave up five runs to Jackson County in the inning before striking out the side.

The Rockets came through with three runs in the fifth to take the lead 13-11. Because of time limits, Jackson County scored two runs in the bottom of the fifth to send the game to extra innings.

Robinson retired the first batter, gave up a walk to the second batter when catcher Susie Carpenter claimed the second out by throwing the runner out attempting to steal second. After another walk, Jackson's number two hitter sent one to center field knocking in the first run needed and trying to claim an inside the park home run. Kristy Moore, Amanda Osborne and Susie Carpenter connected with a relay to throw the tying run out at home to end the game.

Statistically for the Rockets: Melinda Smith was 1 for 4 with one run scored; Becky Osborne was 2 for 3 with three runs scored; Amy Robinson was 0 for 4; Angie Moore was 2 for 4 with three runs scored; Susie Carpenter was 3 for 3 with two runs scored; Amanda Osborne was 0 for 3; Ginger Mink was 12 for 3 with one run scored; Kristi Moore was 0 for 3; Amber Coffey was 1 for 1 with one run scored; Heather Deardark was 1 for 4; Heather Deardark was 0 for 3; Amber Coffey was 2 for 3.

The Lady Rockets found the groove in the second game coming away with a 15-7 victory off 19 hits.

Clay County scored all seven of their runs in the second inning off six hits and five error by the Rockets.

Pitcher Melinda Smith retired the batters in order six of the seven innings.

Statistically for the Rockets: Melinda Smith was 3 for 5; Becky Osborne was 1 for 5 with two runs scored; Amy Robinson was 1 for 5 with one run scored; Angie Moore was 1 for 4 with three runs scored; Susie Carpenter was 3 for 5 with four runs scored; Donna Cash was 4 for 5 with two runs scored; Kristi Moore was 2 for 5 with one run scored; Amber Mink was 1 for 4; Heather Deardark was 1 for 4 with one run scored and Amber Coffey was 2 for 4 with one run scored.

Rockets are 1-1 in district play; win double-header at Richmond Model

The Rockets behind the strong pitching of Scottie Cotton played their first district game last Thursday afternoon, hosting the Jackson County Generals, and came away with their first district win 3-2.

There was no scoring action in the game until the fourth inning when Jackson County drew first blood. With one on and two out, an error on the infield allowed the Generals to score first.

The Rockets retaliated in the bottom of the fourth when Jared Singleton came through with a one-out double and scored when the Jackson Co. centerfielder misplayed a hit by Derrick Tompkins.

The Generals threatened in the 5th when the first two men got on base through a walk and an error. The next flew out and the fourth batter was a strike-out victim but the next batter walked and the bases were loaded. Third baseman David King took the hit and tagged third for the force out and the Rockets were out of the inning.

The Rockets next score came in the bottom of the fifth when Jason Childress singled, stole second and scored after the Generals' shortstop misplayed Scottie Cotton's ball and the Rockets were ahead 2-1.

The first two Generals got on base in the top of the 6th and one scored on a throwing error on the infield to tie the score at 2-2.

In the bottom of the sixth, the Rockets again took the lead on a Derrick Tompkins single which scored Jared Singleton. The Generals went down in the 7th without scoring and it was a 3-2 win for the Rockets.

The Jayvees extended their win season's perfect record with a victory over the Jackson County Jayvees.

The Rockets traveled to Barboursville last Friday afternoon to take on a strong Knox Central team and, with Jon Pope on the mound, acquitted themselves well in the 5-1 loss. The Rockets took an early lead in the second inning on a Jason Childress single which scored Donnie Eversole. However, in the bottom of the second, Knox Central came back with the first batter taking Pope out of the park for a solo home run; the next batter got a single; the next fielded to left and the fourth batter in the inning laid down a bunt that was misplayed and there were runners at second and third. One out later, a single scored the runners and it was 3-1.

The Rockets left three runners on base in the third, and, in their half of the inning, Knox Central pushed two runs across on a double, single and double finishing the scoring for the game.

The Rockets again took the win in a game which saw George Durham get a solo home run.

It was a different story at Richmond Model Saturday as the Rockets came out strong in the first game, feasting on Model pitching to score a total of 19 runs.

The game featured two eight run innings for the Rockets and George Durham got the win.

The second game of the double-header was a little more interesting. Starting pitcher John Hammond had control problems and gave up three runs in the first inning and, it was 4-0 before the Rockets got on the board in the top of the third.

First baseman Jimmy Houk began the inning with a single; shortstop Chris Bishop took a walk and Travis Anderkn was safe on an error on the first baseman. Houk meanwhile had stolen second on a wild pitch and came home on the throw to first. With runners on the corners, Cotton came through with a sac fly to score Bishop and it was 4-2.

Chad Severance, who had come in on relief of Hammond in the second, pitched an excellent game but was touched up in the third for two more runs and the Rockets were down 6-2.

The margin was narrowed in the Rockets' part of the fourth. Donnie Eversole opened the inning with a single and promptly stole second. He later came home on a Houk single and Houk scored after stealing second and third and then coming home on a wild pitch.

The next scoring for either side came in the sixth when, with two outs, Jimmy Houk walked, stole second and scored on two singles by Bishop and Anderkn but the Rockets were still down 6-5 and time was running out.

Model couldn't add to their lead in the 6th as Severance set them down in order with two strikeouts and a great catch by centerfielder Derrick Tompkins.

It was do or die time for the Rockets in the top of the 7th and it looked pretty bleak as the first two men were retired. However, Donnie Eversole came up with a single and, as he took off to steal second, the Model catcher threw the ball into centerfield and it got by the centerfielder and Eversole wound up at home to tie the score 6-6.

Model was unable to come up with any runs in the bottom of the 7th and in the first extra inning game for the Rockets.

No runs crossed the plate for either team in the 8th, but, in the ninth, Travis Anderkn led the inning off with a single, stole second and later scored on a passed ball to give the Rockets a 7-6 lead. Scottie Cotton walked and Dusty McClure was inserted as a speed runner. McClure took third on the throw which scored Anderkn and later came home on a Jared Singleton single. Donnie Eversole scored Singleton and, after Model was held scoreless in the bottom of the 9th, it was another win for the Rockets.

Tuesday night, the Rockets traveled to Clay County and it was a pitcher's duel all the way.

Scottie Cotton was on the mound for the Rockets and gave up only four hits in the game. However, Cotton and Dee Thomas collected the only hits for the Rockets in the game - Cotton's toppling with the bases loaded in the top of the third, scoring Derrick Tompkins and Chris Bishop and giving the Rockets a 2-0 lead.

In Clay's 5th, the Rockets appeared to have smooth sailing as the first two men were retired in order. However, the third batter doubled on an attempted pick-off at third gave Clay the tying run. A diving catch by Derek Tompkins got the Rockets out of the inning.

The winning run for Clay came in the bottom of the 6th. The first batter doubled but it still looked good for the Rockets with the next two Tigers being retired in order. However, the next batter doubled on a 2-1 pitch and it was 3-2 for Clay County and another single put the Tigers at second and third with two out. The man at third tried to come home on a wild pitch but catcher Jared Singleton got

Kentucky State Fair announces entry deadlines, adds new contests

The deadline for entering 1995 Kentucky State Fair contests is July 5, except for livestock (July 10) and rabbits (July 20).

The 1995 Kentucky State Fair will be held August 17 through 27 at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville.

The fair has added a new special cooking contest and new categories to several entry departments. New to the Culinary department is the Pillsbury Refrigerated Pie Crust Championship which requires contestants to make a two-crust fruit pie using Pillsbury Refrigerated Pie Crust. The Kentucky State Fair is one of only twenty fairs across the country selected by Pillsbury for this contest. The first place winner will be awarded $1,000.

Other special cooking contests scheduled for the 1995 State Fair are Evan Williams' Bourbon Cooking Competition, Archway's Sweetpeas Cookie Contest, Spam & Luncheon Meat Recipe Contest, Nestle's Choco-Bake Challenge, The Cookbook Cottage Presents One Hot Herb and Spice Competition, John Conitt's Coffee Cakes Contest and Sure-Jell and the Holidays.

In the Fine Arts department, the Louisville Photographic Society will sponsor six new categories for junior exhibitors. Also, in cooperation with the Kenuckiana Herb Society, additional classes have been added to the Plant & Flower department's Herb Show, including five junior classes. The Sheep department has added a White Wool Show for animals bred specifically for wool.

The entry fee for most of the State Fair's 28 competitive entry departments is $4 with the exception of the livestock departments. No fee is charged in the Dairy product, Ham, Home Brew and Wine Departments. Most departments have open competition which anyone can enter.

Complete rules, instructions and entry forms for all entry departments and the special cooking contests are available in the Kentucky State Fair catalog. Entry catalogs are free to anyone requesting one and will be available in late May. To request an entry catalog to: Kentucky State Fair Entry Department, P.O. Box 37130, Louisville, KY 40233 or call the Entry Department at (502) 367-5190.

Juniors Cummins and Taylor chosen Governor's Scholars

by Darrell Richardson and Wendy Himes

Over the years RCHS has had many of its best and brightest juniors to be accepted to the Governor's Scholar's Program, a program that a select few highly intelligent and highly dependable students to experience the college life and meet other teens who share some of their interests.

This year, Melissa Cummins and Jeremiah Taylor are the two Governor's Scholars.

How does one get to be a Governor's Scholar, you ask? For one thing, during the three years at RCHS Melissa and Jeremiah have made exceptionally good grades and did very well on the PSAT last fall.

These two applicants and others who were chosen by Mr. Dale Whitaker as candidates filled out an application, wrote an essay and got teacher recommendations. Governor's Scholars candidates at RCHS were students with the highest scores on the PSAT, a test taken in fall of the junior year.

The extra effort paid off for these two who will spend five weeks this summer either Centre College or Northern Kentucky University taking part in special educational enrichment activities and classes such as astronomy, drama, French, etc.

In addition to the summer of making new friends, the GSP offers many scholarship opportunities for participants.

Melissa says, "I'm just really happy that I got chosen; it's a real honor."

Jeremiah Taylor says, "I truly thought I had no chance."

However upon completing the questionnaire about himself, the essay, and having two teacher recommendations, Jeremiah found himself an acceptance letter in the mail on April 1.

"It'll be a great experience, but I feel bad about having to forfeit half of my summer vacation." One of the course offerings Jeremiah says he is looking forward to studying is cultural anthropology.

Jeremiah is the son of Joe and Rita Taylor of Ottawa and Melissa is the daughter of Joe and Joyce Cummins of Mt. Vernon.

Three juniors win ad contest

by Amy Wilson and Wendy Himes

Three juniors at RCHS are recent winners of the Lexington Herald-Leader student advertisement competition during its annual promotion called Newspapers in Education.

The students, Catherine Lamb, Eleacia Jones and Kelly Sears, created ads for The Bank of Mt. Vernon which sponsors the Herald Leader in the classroom at RCHS.

Their winning designs were published in a supplement to the March 20 edition of the Herald-Leader.

The three girls participated in the contest as an assignment in Ms. Iris Young's junior English class. Their ads were chosen from 1,400 total entries (in all grades) from across the state.

"I was thrilled about the win because not only is this something fun for our students, but it also falls within the performance events guidelines," says Ms. Young. "For instance, it fits in with our curriculum, specifically persuasive writing in advertising, plus it is a great extension of our previous lessons."

Drive nets seventy-two pints of RCHS blood

The recent blood drive, coordinated by FHA, was a huge success. With over 70 students and staff willing to donate, the Central Kentucky Blood Center was unable to fill everyone in by the deadline of 2:00.

The following people were signed up to give: Dallas Rigby, Deana Mink, Greg Mink, Brandy Chasteen, Angie Moore, Joey Chaney, Cliff Mullins, Lindsay Dowell, Donnie Eversole, Melissa Edwards, Tonya Callahan, Melissa Engle, Stevie Lamb, Scott Renner, Mark Eaton, Casey Blaney, Lester Bullens, Sherry Griffin, Saben Blair.

RCHS journalism students win in contest

by Erica Anderson
Two students in Ms. Nancy Mullins' journalism class were recently congratulated for their award winning work by the Kentucky Professional Communications 1994-95 High School Journalism Contest.

Talona King, a sophomore, won first place in graphics for a single page layout. If readers remember Talona's layout of the double page feature titled "Spirit at the Rock" in the December issue of The Rocker, then they are familiar with her award-winning layout.

"I was shocked, but I am very happy about winning," says

Talona. Talona's layout will be forwarded to the National Federation of Press Women's Contest where she will be eligible for prizes up to $250.

The second award winning journalist was Elaine Leger who won second place in news writing with an article featured in the September issue of the school paper. The article was titled "Senior Girl Spent Summer Mathematically Engaged." Says Elaine, "It was a total shock. I thought the article was interesting for our school, but I didn't think it would win in the competition."

The girls and their advisor are invited to an awards luncheon May 13 in Louisville.

and may vote to elect parent representatives at this meeting. Election of parent members to the council shall be by a majority of the voting qualified parents who are present at the meeting on May 9. Nominations shall be made in writing and submitted to the principal five (5) school days prior to the scheduled election date. This makes the deadline for nominations Tuesday, May 2, at 3 p.m.

A parent council member shall be a parent or legal guardian of a student to be enrolled in the school during the parent's term of council service. A parent council member shall not be a district employee, a local board member or spouse of a local board member. Relative shall mean father, mother, brother, sister, husband, wife, son, daughter, aunt, uncle, son-in-law or daughter-in-law.

Council members shall not have a conflict of interest pursuant to KRS Chapter 45A, except the salary paid to district employees.

Our "Citizen of the Week" representatives for April 17-21 are Shay Mullins from Primary and Resa Hess from the 4th & 5th grade classes. Shay is a student in Mrs. Harrison's primary class. Ronnie a 4th grade student of Mrs. Alcom. Both of these students have demonstrated perfect attendance from the beginning of this award, good behavior and both have outstanding student status. Congratulations Shay and Ronnie!

Your child will bring a letter home concerning Summer School on May 2. If your child has not been selected but you feel that he/she should attend you may make a referral to Mr. McKinney, principal, or Mrs. Century, counselor, by calling 758-8512. Please remind your child to check the lost and found located in the Family Resource Center for any item that he or she is missing. All clothing items will be donated to the FRC clothing closet if not claimed.

A Stress Management Workshop will be held at BRFC on Thursday, May 4, at 11 a.m. Everyone is invited to attend. Presented by Stover Creek Center.

News from MVES Preschool

Submitted by Stacy Henderson

On Thursday, April 13, Ms. Henderson's and Mrs. Connelly's preschool classes had a special Easter celebration with the RCMS 8th grade. We traveled by bus (thanks to Ms. Linda) to the middle school and met our big brothers and big sisters. Next, we had an Easter egg hunt outside. Each of us got to keep at least two real eggs! Later, we went inside for refreshments and the 8th graders presented each of us with a wonderful Easter basket. Thanks 8th grade! You are fantastic. Also, a thank you goes to some 8th grade teachers for making this possible: Mrs. Betty Henderson, Mrs. Judy Brock, Ms. Debbie Abney and Mrs. Pam Martin.

Rockcastle Co. Make a Change! Let Me Make a Difference!!

Hi, I'm Douglas Glynn Bullock, I am seeking the office of P.V.A. in the May Primary. A difference can be made in our community by electing me to serve you and to conduct the office with fairness when evaluating the property of our county.

Meeting the requirements set by the state to qualify for this position gives me the ability to perform any task this office requires. I can make the difference if you'll make the change by electing me. All your support and votes are greatly appreciated.

Thank you,
Douglas Glynn Bullock

Seniors will have to wait and see County finances may halt move to new senior location

By Ray McClure

It's wait and see for Rockcastle's senior citizens before they move to a new home in the former skating rink on U.S. 26 south.

The group must wait for a final lease agreement from the state before making any moves, but it could come as any time.

If and when it comes signed by the state the Rockcastle Senior Citizens will take a closer look at their prospects which do not look too good at this point.

The Rockcastle Fiscal Court and County Judge/Executive Buzz Carlotta says the county has no money to spend on various county programs such as senior citizens, fire departments, Red Cross and Cumberland Valley Area Development District which is owed a lot of money by the county.

The county budgeted $7,000 for senior citizens which is to match federal funds. If the County does not meet the matching funds no money will come from the federal government.

Cumberland Valley ADD is owed over $8,000 in dues from Rockcastle over a period of years.

"No money from the federal government would have a bad impact on the program," Mrs. Cummins said Monday, "We'll (the board) be meeting at the end of the month to see what we can do."

The seniors use the Library Community Room for their lunches and other programs. But the library is cramped for space and would like to have the area for books.

Some decision will be made possibly by the end of the month and when the lease agreement comes from the state.

"Everything is on-hold now," Mrs. Cummins said. "We just don't know what will take place."

News deadline is NOON Tuesday

Henry scheduled a preliminary hearing in the case for 2 p.m. Monday. The purpose of a preliminary hearing is to determine if there is probable cause to present a case to a grand jury for a felony indictment.

A defendant accused of a felony offense has the right to request a preliminary hearing within 10 days of being charged. During the hearing, the commonwealth must present enough evidence to show probable cause, which sometimes is the first glimpse the defense has of the case against the accused.

The defense has the right to question any witnesses that the commonwealth presents.

A grand jury meets Tuesday and Wednesday, and the case may be presented then. However, the commonwealth has 60 days from the day of felony arrest to present the case to a grand jury.

During Monday's hearing the commonwealth may argue that the proceedings would waste the court's time since the grand jury meets the next day.

Roy Martin, co-owner of Dowell and Martin Funeral Home in Mt. Vernon said Wednesday that he had been notified that the bodies of Shirley Faye Bowles McKinney and her children would be released from the state forensic lab in Frankfort on Thursday morning. Martin said that he expected family members to make arrangements on Thursday.

McKinney charged with murder

representing McKinney, also filed motions to close the proceedings to the public and issue a gag order to prevent court officials from commenting on the case.

In his motion, Cox argued that extensive media coverage, both past and future, "would deprive (McKinney) of a fair trial."

"More publicity alone, if highly prejudicial and pervasive, can be a sufficient basis for a change of venue," Cox's motion, which Henry denied, stated.

Henry also denied a motion requesting an independent examination of the evidence in the case.

Cox argued in his motion that McKinney is entitled "to consult with an independent arson examiner concerning the various aspects of the scientific procedures used in the examinations of the materials tested in this case."

Dear Editor,
This is a request for donations to help take care of the Logsdon Family Cemetery. We have fenced in good and need some financial help in the up keep in moving and taking care of the grass. This is the least we can do for our loved ones that have passed on before us.

Please send donations to Sadie Ramsey Pittman, P.O. Box 274, Mt. Vernon, KY. 40456. She is having it taken care of for our families.

Thanks we need your support.

Dear Editor,
April 23-29, 1995 is National Hospice Week, and I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the people I believe are the most dedicated volunteers in our community, the volunteers of Hospice of the Kentucky River.

Most people know that hospice provides a very special kind of care for terminally ill persons and their families, but it's less known that if it were not for volunteers, our hospice could not function. Even the federal government recognizes the importance of volunteers in the delivery of hospice care by requiring that Medicare-approved hospices utilize volunteers from their community.

Hospice care is provided through interdisciplinary, medically directed team. This team approach to care for dying persons typically includes a physician, a nurse, a counselor, a member of the clergy, and a volunteer. While our hospice employs paid professionals, we also rely on volunteers to provide assistance at all levels of skill.

Nationally, about 100,000 people serve as hospice volunteers, and last year, they gave well over 5 million hours of their precious time to serve terminally ill patients and families!

Locally, 107 persons persons donated 4,014 hours in Estill, Jackson, Lee/Owsley, Madison and Rockcastle Counties to our hospice during the past year.

In a number of ways, volunteering for hospice differs from other community work. For instance, hospice patient-care volunteers are required to undergo standardized training before being allowed to work directly with a patient or family.

No task is too big or too small for our volunteers, but often the most important thing they can do is just "be there" for patients - to reassure them they are not alone, to hold a hand, to offer a smile, or just listen. It is not easy work, but the personal rewards are enormous. The strength and courage of patients prove a constant source of inspiration, and volunteers usually feel they gain more than they have been able to give.

Our hospice is growing as more and more persons seek our help. For this reason, hospice volunteering, I invite you to call 606-256-3777 or visit our office.

In the meantime, we should be grateful to the volunteers of Hospice of the Kentucky River for the wealth of time and compassion they give for the betterment of our community.

Volunteer Coordinator
Hospice of the Kentucky River

Dear Editor,
The Kentucky Sheriff, the chief law enforcement officer in the county, has long been overlooked by state government by their failure to enact legislation that is so vitally needed by every sheriff in the Commonwealth. Sheriffs in Kentucky have multiple duties: law enforcement, provide bailiffs for the courts, collecting taxes, process service, transporting prisoners, and election officer duties. Additionally, they provide other services to the community for which the office is not compensated. Many are involved in the D.A.R.E. Program, the TRIAD Program, the Neighborhood Block Watch Programs, and they provide for traffic control and security at school and other civic functions.

Kentucky is mostly a state of small rural counties where the sheriff's office provides the law enforcement. Many do this with only one deputy and in some cases, only one part time deputy. Lack of funds prevent many of them from hiring the deputies they need.

The sheriffs in Kentucky are hopeful to gain much needed legislation in the 1996 legislature which will increase the revenue vitally needed to operate their office and bring the Kentucky Sheriff's Office up to the professional standards other states have attained.

Today In Banking

Some "Straight Talk" On Banking Today... That Can Make Banking Better For You...

It's Your Business

The stability of your business could very well be determined by the kind of relationship you have with a bank. That's quite an ambitious statement for a bank to make, but it happens to be the truth.

With today's economic conditions it is essential for a business to take advantage of every opportunity to put its cash flow to work. Set-asides must be developed for those times when sales slump. A good banking relationship is as important to the success of a business as it is to have customers walking in the front door.

It's your business where you bank, but we'll promise you this: If you bank with us, we'll treat your business with the same degree of care as we would if it were our own.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In Mk. 3:1-7 we read about Jesus healing the man with the withered hand, in the synagogue, on the sabbath day. Let's notice vs. 4-5, "And he saith unto them, is it lawful to do good on the sabbath days, or to do evil? to save life, or to kill? but they held their peace. And when he had looked round about on them with anger, being grieved for the hardness of their hearts, he saith unto the man, stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out; and his hand was restored whole as the other."

The Jews had some erroneous ideas about the sabbath, and Jesus was seeking to teach them better. When he asked them those simple questions in vs. 4, it was not, to try to make them look stupid, or put them down, or throw off on them no, he was trying to teach and help them see what was right. Jesus only wanted men to do what is right, and only out of love and goodwill did he speak and act.

The problem with these people, (as with too many today) was that they refused to answer, for they held their peace, because of the "hardness of their hearts." Their hearts were hard, calloused, "petrified" as it were; by dishonesty and having no love of the truth, and by pride. Yes, pride, dishonesty, and sin, makes men's hearts hard. You see humble souls who want to do what is right and are honest, would have thanked the Lord for his helping them and pointing out the error of their ways. Correction would have been forthcoming, as they honestly pondered the Lord's penetrating questions. Indeed how sad it is when men and women dishonestly and hard heartedly reject the simple truth of Jesus.

Notice also it says that Jesus look at them with "anger being grieved for the hardness of their hearts." Yes this was a righteous indignation for sin and wrong doing. Yes, we may at times, be grieved and angry for the dishonest, prideful, hardness of heart in folks today. May we ever speak the truth in love, Eph. 4:15, as Jesus did.

Kentucky Springtime and Fertilizing Laws

It is Kentucky's April awakening, and everyone is ready to fertilize their lawns. But, hold that nitrogen, springtime may not be the best time to fertilize a Kentucky lawn. The bulk of fertilizers on lawns of cool-season grasses should be applied during autumn months, not during springtime.

Leaves of cool-season grasses grow fast enough in the spring on their own. Any excess nitrogen fertilization during the springtime causes abundant leaf growth on grass as well as summer weeds. Fertilizing in the spring can mean more mowing in the summer as well.

In addition, excess nitrogen can aggravate certain diseases, such as brown patch on tall fescue and leaf spot and melting out of Kentucky Bluegrass. An acceptable amount is a light springtime application of not more than one-half pound of nitrogen per one-thousand square feet. This is 1 1/2 pounds ammonia nitrate per 1,000 sq. ft., also too small an amount to spread. Most nitrogen fertilizer should be applied after Labor Day. The best time is late October up to Thanksgiving. Nitrogen applied in the fall strengthens focus on systems without fertilizing weeds. Excess nitrogen leaches out over winter and doesn't cause excessive mowing.

gram eligibility. Producers who are eligible for a waiver of the administrative fee will receive approval of insurance applications and insurance coverage for the 1995 crop year.

Crop insurance reports are presently being taken for farms which have only hay and/or pasture to report. This crop report can be made, for instance, when you come in to sign a tobacco lease. Avoid the rush of crop certification, come in now and do your crop report if you have only hay and pasture to certify. The reporting deadline for planted crops (corn and tobacco) is July 15th.

For the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) practices available include: new seeding, ponds, critical areas, sod waterways, diversion, forestry practices less than ten acres. For a seeding practice, a current soil test is required. The test must be less than 1 year old and completed through UK. Test results must be submitted upon filing.

Sign up for Wheat and Food Grain program is currently going on. Deadline for filing an application is April 28th. Come in and check out your options on this year's program.

Teenage Parents: You Are Not Alone

About a half million teenagers become parents each year. As a younger parent, you may have some special concerns—living with your parents, being accepted by your friends or finishing school. If you feel you need extra guidance counseling, here are some places to get information.

Keeping Your Baby's Record
One way of checking on your baby's health is to keep a record. You can keep a small family health notebook in which you write down items such as height, weight, immunization schedule, how many teeth baby has and when she got them, and your baby's blood type.

Write down dates of illnesses and briefly describe the symptoms. The school will need a record of immunizations completed by your child's doctor or the health department. It also will be fun to look back through the book to see how your baby grew. An Accident Can Happen in Any Home

It's a good idea to keep the toll-free phone number of the Poison Center handy. (The number is 1-800-722-5725.) Your health care provider can tell you what ligands are useful to have handy in case of small accidents or mild illness and what you should do if something more serious happens.

Feeding Your Baby
All your baby's food and nutrition needs for the next four months can be met with breast milk or iron-fortified formula.

By now, your baby probably has a fairly regular feeding pattern. She may get hungry anywhere from every two to four hours.

Don't worry if your baby is a slow drinker, or drinks less than you think she needs. If she doesn't want that last ounce of milk, don't force her. Overfeeding your baby can make her fat. An overweight baby is not necessarily a healthy baby. Overeating will only cause problems for your baby in later life.

Hold your baby close in the bend of your elbow while feeding. Remember that food and loving are both important. This is a time for getting to know each other—time for snuggling, cuddling and talking.

Hiccups are not unusual, especially if your baby is bottle fed. They may be caused by air bubbles your baby gets from sucking hard on the bottle. Air bubbles can be painful. A small bottle of warm water may help. Burping your baby at least once during a feeding and then again when the feeding is finished also helps.

If you breastfeed, you now need about 500 extra calories a day. For example, two additional glasses of milk and a peanut butter sandwich give you more than enough extra calories. Remember to drink plenty of liquids and to choose foods that are good sources of nutrients.

Your baby - 1 month old

You and your baby are learning about each other. During this first month, both you and your baby will spend time getting to know one another. Most of your baby's time will be spent sleeping, crying or eating. Most of your time will be spent figuring out the best way to meet your baby's needs.

Sometimes, you may feel tired and nervous and may lose your temper. Most parents feel like this at one time or another. Don't worry; these feelings will pass with time. What's It Like To Be 1 Month Old?

How I grow
I wobble my head if you don't support my neck.

I turn my head sideways when I'm on my stomach.

I roll part-way from my back to my side.

I keep my hands in a fist or slightly open most of the time.

I root around and try to suck, even when I'm not feeding.

How I Talk
I'm beginning to make some throaty sounds.

I cry when I'm hungry, wet or tired, or when I want to be held.

How I Respond
I make eye contact with you.

I stare at things, but I don't grab for them yet.

I don't show much expression on my face, but I'm smiling!

I may smile when I see or hear you.

I get scared by loud noises, bright lights or rough handling.

How I Understand
I prefer looking at patterns instead of solid colors.

I know that I'm going to be fed at a certain time.

We try to put our patients at ease . . .

Radiology has a unique function in the hospital. At Rockcastle Hospital, technology is the key to helping diagnose a disease or injury. But, it takes specially trained personnel to utilize this technology.

In the eight years I've been here, Radiology has changed dramatically. It's a much larger department now and we've added new diagnostic services, including mammography and our own CAT scanner.

When patients come in, they're often scared, so we try to explain the procedure and answer their questions. We're like family here, we want our patients to be comfortable.

I think taking time to talk to each patient and being polite is important. "We really care about people at Rockcastle Hospital."

The extension for producers to apply for crop insurance under late filing provisions ends April 28. The extension allows producers to purchase catastrophic risk insurance which is sufficient for establishing eligibility for USDA program participation after the normal sales closing date of March 15.

The Crop Insurance Reform Act requires all producers who share in insurable crops to obtain crop insurance coverage in order to qualify for participation in USDA price support, production adjustment and loan programs. Each landowner or tenant is required to insure their individual share of the crop. During this first year under new requirements, producers can greatly assist local CFSAs in informing tenants and landowners about the need to purchase insurance by reminding them of the April 28 deadline.

Limited resource farmers, those who qualify for a waiver of the $50 administrative fee due to the requirements pertaining to annual gross income, are reminded that an application for insurance must be filed by April 28 in order to establish pro-

The Art Show will still be an exhibition until Saturday, April 22nd. Those of you who haven't come to see the paintings, drawings, sculptures, and etc. still have three days left to do so.

Artists may pick up their work anytime after Saturday. Again I want to thank the artists for allowing us to display their fine art work and we hope to see them again next year.

This spring the American Library Association intends to send a special message to Congress urging members to increase federal spending on libraries from only 57 cents to $1 per every American. The support of all our patrons is critical.

The President has just recommended a 26 percent cut in funding for libraries in FY 96 and many good programs could be lost in the next round of Congressional budget-cutting. Get additional information on how you may help prevent the budget cuts for libraries in a special article in this week's paper.

Cards entitled, "Pass the Buck," is available here at the library and from board members to send to our senators and representatives. Please help us get the message across!

Two new non-fiction books recently purchased are: Love Must Be Tough by Dr. James Dobson . . . Dr. Dobson examines the most devastating conflicts occurring between husbands and wives- infidelity, alcohol, spousal abuse, emotional infidelity, etc. - and offers practical advice for the partner who wants desperately to help the marriage together. What emerges is a principle of loving toughness that is applicable not only to families in crisis but to healthy marriages as well.

Prisoners Of Hope by Susan Katz Keating . . . For twenty-five years people like Martin Shelton have believed that their loved ones, in this case her husband, Charles, were still alive in Vietnam. Shelton never once removed the Missing in Action bracelet that bore the name of her husband. Then, in October 1990, she finally took off the bracelet from her wrist and killed herself with a pistol.

Marion Shelton represents just one of many MIA families ripped apart in the aftermath of Vietnam. The hopes of these people have been kept alive by activists who would have all of us believe that there are many prisoners "discovered," "sightings" are reported to families.

Prisoners of Hope, for the first time, shows what happened to most of the prisoners captured in Vietnam. Fake pictures are "discovered," "sightings" are reported to families.

children by the age of two. Through awareness of the problem, and the involvement of all sectors of society, the present status of immunization rates in this country can be improved.

Immunizations at the Health Department are only $1 each and $1 for the visit. Children starting pre-school or kindergarten this fall and any child not properly immunized will have to receive their immunizations prior to entering school. To insure your child is ready for school this fall you should schedule an appointment as soon as possible with the Health Department or family doctor. The Health Department number is 256-2242.

was hurt financially when the collection of the automobile and boat taxes were taken away. Sheriffs in Kentucky will be seeking legislation for a set percentage rate on the collection of school taxes, which the county court clerks now have, increase the fees for process serving, and to increase the pay for court bailiffs who are now making minimum wage.

They would also like to be included in the KLEFP funding for training as the city, police, county police, and fire department employees now receive. Your chief law enforcement officer in your county is now denied this funding.

I would like to encourage the citizens of Kentucky as well as our state legislators, to support the sheriffs in Kentucky in their efforts to obtain this much needed legislation. Laws must be enacted to bring the compensation for duties performed up to date. We are quickly moving towards the twenty-first century; we do not want to leave our sheriff's office operating on mid-twentieth century compensation levels.

Kentucky has a fine, dedicated, group of sheriffs and deputies, serving and protecting you. Show your support by contacting your state legislator and encouraging him or her to take action in 1996 to help Kentucky sheriffs.

Dear Editor,

The letter to the editor last week from the family who had the terrible ordeal with social services left me very saddened; but the more I thought about it, my sadness went to frustration and frustration to furrow.

The Roman Catholic Church had their Jesuits; the Nazis had their go-stapo; we have social services. In many ways they are like the go-stapo. They have their tentacles into every facet of our society. It seems everyone reports to them; the police, doctors, hospitals and schools. Many people are afraid to send their child to school with a bruise or scratch, or take their children to the health office or emergency room, or call the police in an emergency. Everyone reports to these people about anything remotely suspicious and seem to feel obligated to do so, even glad to do so.

The Attorney General's office will investigate about any public office, the police, sheriff or even a judge; but not social services. They seem to be accountable to no one. They investigate themselves.

According to our Constitution; everyone has the right to face their accusers, but not according to social services. They don't have to reveal who called them or even prove they had a phone call. If they had to reveal their callers; they would have to down size their operations drastically.

Any fool can pick up the phone and make a phone call and much of the time it is. If the truth be known, about 90 percent of the calls they get are false alarms or gross exaggerations. They've been bawling some big numbers lately about getting 59,000 reports last year in the state of Kentucky. Probably less than 10 percent were legitimate cases of abuse according to standards 30 or 40 years ago. That's still about 5,000 too many.

Of course they like to boast these big number to justify their being, but much of this mental and emotional abuse are things they have invented the last few years to further advance their intrusion into people's private lives; using and manipulating their children to insure and secure their livelihood.

Not long ago in one of our more liberal western states, a couple of parent who had become Christians, told their children they had to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and be born again or they would go to hell. Evidently the children went to school and spread the Word. Guess what? The parents were charged with mental and emotional abuse and almost lost their children. Maybe the parents could have been a little more careful. I wasn't there. But the point is that Americans have a Constitutional right to raise their children to be a Mormon, Mennonite or Methodist. The Government has no right to interfere with the free exercise of their religion.

These people will be a real asset to the anti-Christ when he sets up his reign of terror. One sure-fire way of getting to people and controlling it through the manipulation and persecution of their children.

It's ironic that a government agency controlled and dominated by liberals and lesbians are the ones that are setting the standards and defining the socially acceptable and politically correct way for America to raise its children.

Yes, child abuse is a terrible thing. These people like to present themselves as compassionate, caring, protectors of the innocent; but when it comes to protecting the most innocent of all, the unborn at the abortion clinic; these are the same people shaking their fist into the T.V. cameras and yelling and screaming the loudest for a woman's right to choose.

My sympathy goes out to this family who have had their lives disrupted and wrecked by their encounter with social services. I pray that God will grant them some justice, and bless them abundantly, pressed down, shaken together and overflowing.

Health Line News

By Beverly Carter Sexton

Immunization rates in our country are too low, posing a threat to the health of our children every day. For the health of our children and our communities we work together to increase the number of children who are properly immunized.

The good news is that National Infant Immunization Week is coming up once again, April 22 to April 29, providing a full week of activities and educational efforts highlighting the fact that everyone has a role to play in raising infant immunization rates across the country. With all of this in mind, NIWW has adopted the slogan: "At least 11 shots by 2: How sure are you?" for the week's outreach efforts.

As of 1994, only about 60 percent of our children nationwide were properly immunized by age two, and although many children are immunized when they enter schools, getting shots later than age two exposes tens of thousands of children to deadly diseases every year. And every year many of our nation's children are stricken with diseases commonly considered wiped out, such as polio, diphtheria and whooping cough.

Presently, the greatest challenges facing infant immunization revolve around the public perception that don't have a childhood immunization problem in this country. Other issues such as violence, drug abuse, education, and other health problems tend to garner the most media attention and public interest, and as a result immunization holds limited importance in the public eye.

It is hoped that through combined local, regional, and national efforts, NIWW will increase knowledge about infant immunization rates and bring in more partners from all segments of the population to help in the effort to properly immunize all of our nations

Hospice of Ky. River honors volunteers

Hospice of the Kentucky River, Inc. recognized the dedicated services provided by volunteers on April 4th in the Oak Room at Boone Tavern. Sponsored by Tokico, Berea National Bank, McDonald's of Berea, Alcan, and TMC, this annual Volunteer Appreciation Dinner highlighted the very special kind of care volunteers offer to terminally ill persons and their families. The Reel Word String Band added a special touch to the evening of celebration.

Since 1981, Hospice of the Kentucky River has brought dignity and quality to the lives of hospice patients in large part to our hard working volunteers," said David Grandgeorge, HKR Board President. "We applaud and thank each one of our volunteers for the wealth of time and compassion they give to the entire community."

A special salute was given to volunteer Helen Williamson who died last year. "No task was too big or too small for her," said Gail McGillis, HKR CEO. "Often the most important thing Helen did was just to be there for patients -- to reassure them they were not alone, to hold a hand, to offer a smile, or to share a memory."

Work of this nature is not easy but Helen felt that the strength and courage of the patients provided a constant source of inspiration, and that she gained more than she was able to give.

Hospice enables patients to carry on an alert, pain-free life so that their last days may be spent with dignity. Hospice care is provided through an interdisciplinary team which typically includes a physician, a nurse, a social worker, a spiritual caregiver/elderly, and a volunteer. While Hospice of the Kentucky River employs paid professionals it relies on volunteers to provide assistance at all levels of skill.

Nationally, about 100,000 hospice workers are volunteers. Last year these volunteers gave over 5 million hours of their time to serve terminally ill persons and their families. In 1994 107 volunteers donated 4,014 hours of service to patients and families served by Hospice of the Kentucky River.

Hospice of the Kentucky River provides care to people in Estill, Jackson, Lee, Madison, Owsley and Rockcastle Counties. For information about hospice please call (606) 256-3577.

4-H camps to highlight summer for Ky. youth

Plenty of good times await about 11,000 Kentucky youth who are expected to attend one of the Cooperative Extension Service's 4-H Camps this summer.

Those young 4-Hers will swim. Or boat. Work on crafts. Participate in athletics. Learn about wildlife. And forestry.

"Many of them will meet old friends from last summer," said Dwight Crum, Extension state 4-H specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. "And all of them will meet new friends from this year's camp experience."

The youngsters will attend one of five 4-H camps scattered across the state, Crum said. The one-week camps begin right after school ends in May and continue through July or August depending on the camp.

"All camps have modern facilities, which include cabins, dining halls, swimming pools, lakes for canoeing and fishing, athletic fields and ranges for archery and shooting sports," Crum said.

George Jones concert this Friday at 8 p.m.

George Jones comes to town April 21 at 8 p.m. to the O. Wayne Rollins center on the Cumberland College campus in Williamsburg.

Tickets are still available at all outlets such as Movie Warehouse in Williamsburg, Corbin, London, Somerset and Middleboro, Vendo Etc in Barbourville, all Ticketmaster outlets, and charge by phone at 606-281-6644.

The opening act scheduled to appear is Mt. Vernon's very own Wild River Band. They have been recognized regionally as the winners of the K-93 radio band competition held in Lexington out of hundreds of entrants.

Local physician earns diplomate status

James A. Cunningham, M.D., of Mt. Vernon, who practices medicine at Mt. Vernon Clinic, successfully completed the requirements to earn the status of Diplomate of the American Board of Bariatric Medicine.

Dr. Cunningham, who has a special interest in bariatric medicine, (weight control), recently completed an extensive written and oral examination, and in addition, passed a voluntary on-site peer review office inspection to earn the certification as a Diplomate.

Dr. Cunningham becomes the 144th physician who has earned this unique honor and designation.
