The Caring Connection

An Early Childhood Information Team

A speech and language evaluation is the measurement of a person's communication skills. It is done to find out if a person has communication problems. The evaluation is done by a speech and language clinician. An evaluation may be at a school, hospital, clinic, private office, or your home.

doing certain activities like sitting, walking, making speech sounds, etc.
 •Family—including names and ages of brothers and sisters, discussion of family members who may have speech or hearing problems, etc.
 •Speech and language behaviors—including your comments about your child's speech and language skills

The speech and language clinician gathers information by asking questions about your child and testing the child. Depending on the age and attention span of the child, the valuation may be completed in one day. Or, it may be spread over several sessions. The length of the evaluation will vary with the amount of testing that needs to be done.

Before your child is seen for an evaluation, you may be asked to answer questions or complete written forms about your child's:
 •Health history—including any serious illnesses, operations, accidents or recurring health problems.
 •Developmental history—including the ages at which your child started

Delilah Brewer, P.3. The past two weeks our class has been studying Native Americans. We learned about Indians from four different regions of the United States, the Southwest, Northwest, Plains and Eastern Woodlands. We learned where and how these Indians lived years ago and now. We did many art projects, but our favorite was probably the chalk drawing of Pueblo Homes. They are on display outside our classroom. Come by to see them if you can. We invite parents, grandparents and guardians to come anytime for a visit or to help out.

•School history—what schools your child has attended.

During your child's evaluation, the clinician observes the child doing different tasks. Judgments are made about how your child performs compared with other children the same age. The clinician will evaluate your child's:

- Understanding and use of different words
- Correct use of words in correctly formed sentences
- Use of language for different purposes
- Pronunciation of speech sounds
- Physical ability to produce speech

•Voice quality

•Fluency or smooth flow of speech
 The clinician also briefly checks the child's motor skills, which involve coordinating muscle movements. Large motor abilities like walking and running are checked. Fine motor activities like writing or drawing are also checked. A hearing test is part of any speech and language evaluation. There may be a hearing problem that may affect speech and language development. The clinician also checks the child's mouth, looking for any structural problems with the tongue, lips, teeth or roof of the mouth. The clinician uses formal tests and informal obser-•Observations of the child's communication abilities. The clinician also notes such things as the child's attention span, activity level, play skills or any unusual behavior.

Formal tests are a way of comparing your child with other children of the same age. There are many tests available. The clinician tries to choose those that will give the information needed about a child's problem. In a formal test, the child is asked to cooperate on certain tasks. The child's ability to perform these tasks is compared to the ability of other children. The clinician is looking for an overall age level at which your child performs. The clinician also notes the kinds of tasks that give the child trouble. Later, if the child is enrolled in therapy, the clinician will do more tests to determine which specific skills to teach.

More next week.

A letter from a woman who has experienced an abortion

There is no way to make killing babies appear pleasant. This week I would like to share a letter written by Karen Sullivan Ables after she experienced an abortion. She lives in Taylor, Arizona, where she now counsels other women who suffer from post-abortion trauma.

Dear Editor, I have read letters to the editor from persons who feel abortion is morally wrong and others who feel abortion is a matter of choice. I would like to present a side of the abortion debate that few people consider. That is the position of one who has had an abortion.

This is what the "right to choose" has meant to me: In 1980, I aborted my first child. I was told at Planned Parenthood that this little "blob of tissue" would be as easily removed as a wart. Terminating a pregnancy, I was told, was no more significant than removing a tiny blood clot in my uterus. "Sounds harmless," I reasoned. Exercising the right to choose, I opted for abortion. At the time no other options, such as adoption or single parenting, were explained. At the abortion clinic, I was not administered pain killers. When the suction aspirator was turned on I felt like my entire insides were being torn away from me. Three-quarters of the way through the procedure I looked down to my right and there I saw the bits and pieces of my baby floating in a pool of blood. After I screamed, "I killed my baby," the counselor in attendance told me to shut up. Suddenly I felt very sad and alone.

But the worst was yet to come. I was not forewarned about the deep psychological problems I would encounter in the months and year to follow. I was never told I would have nightmares about babies crying in the night. Neither was it explained previous to the abortion, that I would experience severe depressions in which I would contemplate suicide. I didn't mourn the loss of my appendix, so why would I grieve the passing of an enigmatic uterine blob? The answer was that it wasn't a mere "blob of tissue." It was a living baby. I realized it the moment I saw his dismembered limbs. I realized too late on abortion.

By now the reader may be asking him/herself, "Isn't this an extreme example of an abortion experience?" Actually, no. Mine was a routine suction abortion. Millions have been done. Why do women who've had an abortion have a higher incidence of suicide than other women? And why do the chance of losing a subsequent wanted baby double or even quadruple following a "safe, legal abortion?" Since when has death become good for us? Karen Sullivan Ables; Taylor Arizona 85939.

Karen's letter was read on the floor of the U.S. Senate by Senator Gordon Humphrey, on August 7, 1986. It appears on the Congressional Record on pg. S. 10651.

Three of four FFA classes place in top ten in Kentucky State Fair contests

The Rockcastle FFA Chapter had several teams and individuals participated in state contests at the State Fair in Louisville. Out of the four teams participating in the state contests' three placed in the top ten.

The welding team consisting of Billy VanWinkle, Robbie Carpenter, Scott Anglin and Jamie Carter placed seventh in the state contest. Special thanks to welding team coach Ben Ponder.

The dairy judging teams consisting of Melissa Hayes, Matt Chaliff, Jon Adams and Darren Cook also placed seventh in the state contest. Melissa Hayes placed in the top ten individually. Special thanks to Henry Hayes, Randall Adams, Barren County FFA Chapter, and team captain and coach Melissa Hayes.

The small engine team, which placed fifth in the state contest, was an alternate team from our region and did not know that we were going to be able to compete until we arrived at the state fair. Team members were Ronnie Reppert, Robbie Carpenter and Ben Ponder. Ronnie Reppert placed in the top ten individually.

The tobacco grading team, consisting of Heather Hayes, Ben Ponder, Robbie Carpenter and Ronnie Reppert, received a ribbon for second premium at the state contest.

In the individual competitions, Jamie Carter received a plaque for placing in the top ten in the state in the Dairy Holders Contest and Scott Anglin received a blue ribbon for his efforts in the State Tobacco Auctioning Contest.

more involved in community projects. The "Caring and Sharing" FFA co-curricular project is designed to give students the opportunity to visit the Respiratory Care Center at the Rockcastle County Hospital. The participants visit with the patients and keep them company by playing games, talking, reading, etc. The students and patients both benefit from this community project. The patients make a new friend and a chance to stay tuned into the teen world. The students gain a better understanding what it means to befriend a special person.

Rockcastle 4-H Speech Contest

The Rockcastle County 4-H Council will hold their annual speech contest on Tuesday, November 28th, at 6 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School (in the gymnasium area). Just as last year, the contest will be held as a joint project with the schools. Through 4-H, winning speakers will have the opportunity to advance to area and state competition.

The number of participants eligible for the county contest per class has been determined.

The maximum number of representatives that can be sent to the county talk meet per age group at each school is as follows:

- Mt. Vernon Elementary: Grade 4 (age 9) 8; Grade 5 (age 10) 8.
- Broadhead Elementary: Intermediate (ages 9 & 10) 12.
- Roundstone Elementary: Grade 4 (age 9) 5 and Grade 5 (age 10) 5.
- Middle School: Grade 6-A, 6-B, 7-A, 7-B, 8-A, 8-B, 8 each.

Streamlining at NRCS helps maintain strong field delivery system

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's "new" Natural Resources Conservation Service estimates savings of $50 million annually by streamlining and reinventing itself. At the same time, the agency plans to maintain its strong field delivery system to provide conservation technical assistance to farmers, ranchers, units of government, and other landowners and users.

"The NRCS has spent a year working toward its goal to reorganize and become more efficient," said Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman. As a result, NRCS has initiated major changes that make it more responsive."

In its reorganization, NRCS is: —reducing the staff level at its national headquarters by 50 percent —closing its four national technical centers and reassigning their technical support functions to states to be closer to the customers the agency serves — increasing the proportion of its staff at the field level from 70 percent to 80 percent to provide more customer support — working with partner agencies at USDA to provide seamless and efficient public service at one-stop service centers around the country.

NRCS Chief Paul W. Johnson estimates that projected savings from the reorganization will exceed $50 million annually. "Many of these changes have already taken place," he said. Anticipate that this reorganization will be completed by January 1996.

Locally the Natural Resources Conservation Service is headed by Randall Templaman.

COMPLETES BASIC
Pvt. Anthony "Heath" Saylor, son of Brenda Saylor of Rt. 1, Mt. Vernon and Tony Saylor of Jonesboro, TN, recently completed basic training at Fort Knox. During the eight-week program, Saylor completed a variety of training which included classroom study, practical hands-on instruction and an emphasis on physical fitness. Saylor's platoon was honored as the Outstanding platoon during graduation ceremonies. On completion of basic, Saylor begins 15 weeks of advanced instruction at Aberdeen, Maryland. Saylor is a 1995 graduate of Rockcastle County High School.

- Talk Meet Rules
1. Any boy or girl, age 9-19, may participate in the 4-H Talk Meet Program. (The participant does not presently have to be enrolled in 4-H).
 2. The top speeches from each grade will compete against other youth of their own age category and not necessarily against their grades. The age category is determined as the age of January 1, 1996.
 3. 4-H'ers cannot use the same speech this year in the county speech contest if he or she won with that speech at the county, area, or state level last year.
 4. Junior age categories are 9 through 13 and senior age categories are 14, 15 & 16-19.
 5. Junior age category talks are to be 3 to 5 minutes long. Senior age category talks are to be 5 to 7 minutes long.
 6. A participant may secure assistance from anyone he chooses in writing or preparing his talk. There is no specific topic; any suitable topic can be used.
 7. The participant and those who may work with him should be familiar with the enclosed.
 8. Objective of the 4-H Talk Meet Program
 - a. Judge's Score Sheet
 - b. Selecting and preparing the speech
 - c. Pointers for giving a speech
 - d. Each contest will be introduced along with the title of talk by the room chairman.
 - e. After being introduced, the speaker will present the talk. Talks should not repeat the title of his talk.
 9. Each representative for the County Talk Meet should be aware that if they win first or second place in their age category, they will have the opportunity to go to the area contest which will be in April of 1996 in conjunction with the Area Demonstration Contest and Variety Show.

Blanton injured in fatal wreck on Hwy. 150

A Brodhead woman was injured and a former Clay County man was killed in a three-car accident Saturday on U.S. 150 near the Rockcastle/Lincoln counties line.

Goldie h. Blanton, 42, of Brodhead, an instructional assistant at Brodhead Elementary School, suffered head injuries. She was released from the University of Kentucky Medical Center Sunday and is now at home.

Roy Randall Smallwood, formerly of Clay County, was killed. He was a passenger in a car driven by Patricia H. Jones, 58, of Corbin. Mrs. Jones was apparently not injured.

Police said Mrs. Jones was traveling west when she apparently lost control of her 1984 Mercury, in what is known as the Hawkins curve on 150, because of what police termed excessive speed on a wet road. The vehicle slid sideways and collided with an eastbound 1985 Pontiac driven by Mrs. Blanton.

Seat belts were in use by both drivers.

Counterfeit $20 located at area banks

Officials are warning local merchants to watch out for phony $20 bills which are being passed in the area.

The work on the bills is described as quite good, but "fairly easy to detect so merchants will need to keep a sharp eye out."

Two of the counterfeit bills have shown up in deposits at Citizens Bank and at least six bills have shown up at Berea National Bank in Berea. No counterfeit bills have been detected in deposits at the Bank of Mt. Vernon.

The counterfeit bills are smaller than a regular $20 bill and have only two different serial numbers.

The Secret Service, a branch of the U.S. Treasury Department, is investigating.

Winter weather project starts November 6th

The Winter Weatherization Program is scheduled to start Nov. 6 and continue through Dec. 8, according to Betty Carter, who is in charge of the Daniel Boone Development Council in Rockcastle.

The program is the same as last year, Mrs. Carter said. It is funded through June 1996, so that takes care of winter weatherization.

As usual, the signees will be in alphabetical order and there will be three programs as in other years, she reported.

Donations for the Stephanie Kuhar family are being accepted at all three local banks, or you can mail in your donation.

Michigan girl killed after footstone hits van on I-75

By: Richard Anderkin
A 17-year-old Michigan girl was buried in her hometown of New Hudson on Tuesday after she was killed last Thursday in a tragic incident in Rockcastle County.

Stephanie Kuhar was traveling with her family through Rockcastle County on Interstate 75 last Thursday morning around 2 a.m. when someone dropped a gravemarker footstone from the Sand Hill bridge near the 54 mile marker.

The footstone, which weighed about ten pounds, hit Miss Kuhar in the chest after it traveled through the windshield of the family's conversion van, according to Kentucky State Police Detective Gary Lane.

Miss Kuhar died from massive chest trauma around 3:57 a.m. at the University of Kentucky Hospital in Lexington.

Detective Lane said Tuesday that the gravemarker went through the windshield and between the front two seats and struck the 17-year-old who was lying in the middle seat asleep.

Miss Kuhar's mother, Julia, who was riding in the front passenger seat was slightly injured in the incident when the footstone struck her before it hit her daughter, according to police. Stephanie's father, Leonard, who was driving, had apparently avoided some rocks in the roadway seconds before the accident by steering the van to the right, into part of the emergency lane, when the footstone was thrown.

The Kuhar's other three children, Michelle, 15, John David, 13, and Christine 9, were riding in the seat behind Stephanie.

According to police, Stephanie had switched seats with one of her younger siblings only a short time before the incident.

Detective Lane said Tuesday that a truck driver from Corbin, Cont. to A-12

Local residents collecting money, writing letters

Local residents are terribly ashamed and saddened by Thursday's incident. A letter-writing campaign has been organized by local dentist Dr. John Parsons and local funeral director Roy Marin has organized a campaign to raise money for the Kuhar family.

Both men said this week that the number one objective of their efforts is to help the Kuhar family, but their second goal is to show other people outside of Rockcastle County that residents here are "very saddened and angry that this type of tragedy could happen in Rockcastle County."

"We want everyone to know that there are still mostly decent and caring people in our county that are very upset about this incident," Martin said.

Dr. Parsons is asking as many Rockcastle churches to write letters and make donations to the family.

Dr. Parsons has also asked local schools to have students write letters of condolences.

Two accounts have been set up at the Bank of Mt. Vernon and at Citizens Bank of Brodhead and Mt. Vernon to accept donations on behalf of Stephanie Kuhar.

Donations can be sent directly to the banks: Bank of Mt. Vernon, P.O. Box 157, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456 or Citizens Bank P.O. Box 127, Brodhead, Ky. 40409 or to Roy Martin at P.O. Box 810, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456.

Man ignites self on first floor of courthouse

A pending appointment with a parole officer, for possible parole violations, may have been the catalyst Wednesday for an Orlando man to set himself on fire in the Rockcastle County Courthouse.

Simon Byrd, 23, of Rt. 2, Orlando is in stable condition at the University of Kentucky Burn Center after setting fire to himself outside Circuit Clerk Denver Miller's office about 9 a.m.

Miller told the Signal that Byrd hung his coat on a wall outside the courthouse, doused it with gasoline and then lit it. Miller's son, James, who is maintenance supervisor for the courthouse, smelled the gasoline from upstairs and came down to find out the source. When he realized what had happened, he told Byrd that if someone lit a match near him, he would go up in flames. Miller then left to get a sheriff's deputy and Byrd set fire to his clothes.

Denver Miller urged the man to run outside where he and his son, James, rolled the man on the ground and James removed his shirt and coat to help smother the flames.

Byrd, who reportedly yelled that it was a good day to die as he ran from the courthouse in flames, was transported by ambulance to Lexington with about 55% burns to his body. While being examined at the local hospital, a knife was found concealed in his boot, according to a press release by the Mt. Vernon city police.

Byrd had recently been dismissed from a mental hospital.

HERESAY

PRECIOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and solemnities from the calm and collected commune called Wabd, once the residence of that beloved Jayrman and down-home philosopher, Seamus McFarkleson, who was most adept at sizing-up situations-and people, as he was the day he concluded that "the fictionary is wrong when it says the dumb can't talk."

Speaking of "dumb," I apologize forthwith to the readers of Heresay for letting myself get into a rancorous rigmarole with a certain rural reverend with whom I have nothing in common. The squabble quickly moved to "name-calling," the oldest trick in the book for evading the facts.

And you know, after all was said and done, our tiff-fall had about an much import and impact as a tooth in a tornado--and most likely brought out the worst in both of us.

"Uh-mercy!" as my late mother-in-law, Hazel, was given to say. Why, I was on the verge of calling my antagonist a "fool," but I did not do so because my precious wife reminded me that the Master admonished us to not do that lest we be in danger of hell fire (Mt. 5.2).

(That verse applies to "once in grace, always in grace" Baptists as well as to those who are often in and out of grace, depending on how fiercely the winds of temptation blow.)

So, beloved, I will strive earnestly -- yea, assiduously -- to avoid such in the future.
Item -- Dear hearts, pray for my wife. Last Saturday night she went to bed about 10:30. I stayed up to watch the delayed telecast of Wildcat football. When I got in bed, Nancy was sound asleep. I rolled to my left and gave a big hug and a kiss, then rolled right and soon was in Slumberville too. Well, the next evening at the table, enjoying a bowl of savory, Nancy-made, vegetable soup, she said, "I had the weirdest dream last night. I dreamed that you hugged me, and then we kissed each other."

"And you call that weird?" I said.

"Oh, no, not that. I dreamed that after we kissed, I said to you, "We shouldn't be doing this. People will think we're homosexuals."
Like I said, pray for her.

Item -- Mr. and Mrs. Julius Osprey, Route 4, Wabd, attended the wedding of her cousin, Ishmull Bancsun, also of Route 4, Wabd, in Cincinnati last Saturday. (Actually, Ish lives with the Ospreys.) He married Noranella Zuprezy, who is a devout Roman Catholic. So, the ceremony was held in his big church on Chase Avenue, and a priest tied the knot.

I talked with Julius yesterday and asked him if he or Suetta (his wife) felt ill-at-ease, being the staunch Baptists that they are.

"Not me," he said, "but my woman was downright skeered the whole time we was in there. She thought the Lord would strike us dead. And she didn't get over it 'til we come through Boone's Gap on the way home."

Julius went on to say that "one thing them 'Cathiks' does is right, having the choir loft in the back of the church.

"Some fellar back up there yodeled some songs I couldn't make out -- in Roman. I reckon. I wouldn't stand fer it in our church, but I could get used to having the singers up there. You know, heard but not seen."

I asked Julius what he thought about putting the preacher up there, too.

"Aw, John, you're a-puttin' me on," he said.

"No, I'm not, Julius. Think about it. That way you could yawn without feeling embarrassed, and doze off . . . and chew gum . . . and scratch . . . all without upsetting the preacher. Why, you could even make a really big face when he says something you dislike. And the preacher wouldn't have to worry about "looking pleasant" all the time. And I suspect he might want to make some really big faces, too."

Item -- Young Aspy Chuggins, age 16, preached his first sermon over at the Blue Moon Baptist Church last Sunday evening. (Aspey "surrendered to help" last spring.) His pastor, Bro. Ike Edwards thought he was "ready" and even advised him as he prepared his message.

Aspey, however, was very anxious about the sermon and told his family so at the dinner table on the Sunday morning before he preach-ed that night.

"What if I get up there and get the shakes?"

"What if that bunch on the back pew makes faces at me? I wouldn't put it past Wiley Ward or 'Dawg' Whiteker."

"What if I just go blank, and can't even make sense of my notes?"

Well, it so happened that his maternal grandfather, Zebulon Sinkstone, was there when he poured out his soul to the family. After the family had re-assured Aspey, Grandpa Zeb, who had put in fortyyears years behind the sacred desk, took him out on the back porch.

"Boy," he said, "there ain't nothing wrong with being afraid. It's natural, but you're a-makin' it worse by your wanting to do well."

Zeb reached inside his coat and withdrew a half empty pint of moonshine. "Take this," he said, "and get to the church ahead of time tonight. Pour this 'becher' into the pitcher of water on the pulpit. It's so clear no one will suspect it's been 'doctored.' So then, when you feel the shakes a-comin' on, just pause and take a sip or two of 'water.' That little won't harm you -- and it'll fer sure steady your nerves."

Aspey did as Grandpa Zeb had said and made use of the water throughout his forty minute sermon that never took more than twenty when he practiced up in Jones' woods.

For some reason, however, as he waxed eloquent that night, a boldness of spirit came over him, and for the last half of the sermon things came to him that he had not planned when he wrote his sermon. Later, back home, he sat on the back porch again with Zeb.

Well, Boy, you did real good, yes-sir-ee, real good. Preached from cover to cover.

"Did I make any mistakes, especially serious ones?"

"A couple, but not all that serious," replied Zeb.

"Well tell me, so I won't make them again."

"Well, Boy, thinking on it, there were three."

"First, I think you took a few too many sips of that shine-water. Then, you need to be careful how you quote Scripture. Paul wrote,

"Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands."

But, Boy, he did not say, "Let him that stole steal. No more let him labour, working with his hands."

"Lord-a-mercy, Grandpa, that was awful! What was my other mistake?"

"Now don't you go a-takin' it to heart. Every preacher knows what it is to goof-up."

"But what was my other goof?"

"Well, Boy, you took your story a little too far. You were right in saying that "Paul withstood Peter to his face," but I don't believe the Scripture says "Then he beat the . . . out of him with a two-by-four."

Oops! I must go, beloved, and attach the mulching blade to our mower so Nancy can shred leaves when she gets home from work.

Until then, the Almighty willing, I leave you with a question: "Did you hear about the hypochondriac who wanted to be buried next to a doctor?"

Rockcastle is rapidly turning from green to yellow with spots of red and some brown in the hills.

We have three Maple trees in our yard changing slowly. The Maple I can see best is when I look out my kitchen window to see the side facing the sun. It becomes beautiful in red, yellow and some brown with a few green leaves hanging bravely on.

As we drove to Stephen Bullens' home, coming first to the shed where he keeps products to sell, we soon found that Steve and Joyce were not at home.

Several other customers joined us but soon left when they found out the owner was gone. But not me. I had come after some garden stuff. I wanted a pumpkin and some novelty gourds so I clambered around in the dripping rain and got a pumpkin and some ornamental gourds which were about to lose their "ornamental look" but anyway I got a few. I planned to pay Steve later. I don't know how much later but since I've put it in this column, I'll have to pay him.

We drove on down toward Roundstone where the creek moved along slightly low and sluggish with many things floating in it. We com-

WASHDAY

Back in 1937, wash day on the farm was quite different from the way laundry is taken care of in today's modern world of automation. Let's go back and see how it has changed from toil and sweat to one of slipping a load of clothing in a machine tucked out of sight while the laundress watches her favorite program on T.V.

Monday was accepted by most women as wash day. Tuesday was ironing and mending, Wednesday tidying up, doing windows and such things that kept a house liveable. Thursday and Friday gardening, sewing and a multitude of chores needed to keep a family fed, clothed and happy. Saturday was usually shopping day and getting ready for "The Sabbath Day." All these days were varied as to when and what was to be done such as baking and mending, sewing new clothes and going to town weekly to do the shopping. This was the ideal schedule women talked about and wished they could live up to which most of us never did. We did what had to be done when the opportunity was right. Yet, most of us tried to do the washing on Monday, I guess, so the rest of the week would be better and we could take our time doing the ironing and scrubbing floors and washing windows. That, to many of us, had to be done every time the floors were scrubbed. What good were freshly scrubbed floors, if the windows weren't sparkling clean so the sunshine coming through would show the soft glow of unpainted wood floors or the shine on linoleum covered ones.

Now for washday. First, the water had to be obtained from somewhere and the way it was obtained determined when I would do the washing. If it had rained recently and the rain barrels were full on a Monday morning, it wasn't much of a chore to get going. But, if water had to be carried from the spring, it was an arduous matter. Either way, and regardless of the day I chose to wash, a fire had to be built in a special little furnace made by piling rocks or bricks together to make a place to set the wash kettle on so water could be heated in it and the white clothes that needed extra care were later boiled in it. Oh yes, white clothes were boiled to make and keep them white. Then wood had to be cut or gathered in the nearby woods to feed this furnace. Two or sometimes three were then placed on a bench close by the fire so the hot water could be transferred to them easily. All tubs were now filled and readied for the clothes that had been brought from the house and piled close by so they could be sorted into special categories. White clothes were always washed first and even they had to be separated into different piles for no one dared to wash dish towels and table linens in the same water bath towels, bed linens and underwear had been washed in. White shirts, baby clothes and table linens had a priority over these.

Remember, water was scarce so multiple loads had to be washed in the same water so we had to be careful and sort the clothes so the water wouldn't be dirtied too soon.

The washboard, I'll bet most of you have never seen one, so I will describe it for it was an important part of the washing process. It was a little frame of wood enclosing a sturdy bit of corrugated metal, or sometimes glass, with two legs protruding beneath it that when set into the tub held the scrubbing board in the right position to scrub the clothes on. The top of the frame was a smooth wider section that rested against one's stomach as she bent over the tub and scrubbed the clothes up and down the board, dipping the piece into the water frequently to release the soil that had just been loosened. The dirtiest spots and heaviest soiled clothing got extra concentrated scrubbing till there wasn't a sign of dirt left. A space between the scrubbing board and top frame contained a niche to hold a board of soap, often it was homemade lye soap. My preference was Fels Napha. This soap would be repeatedly rubbed over the soiled clothes as they were scrubbed up and down the board and aided greatly in removing the soil.

I always washed my clothes through two tubs of water before they were rinsed at least two times and, for the baby clothes, they had to be rinsed three times to be sure there was no residue left that might irritate the delicate skin. (Baby clothes, how long it has been since I have even thought about them. I gloried in hanging lines full of diapers that were as white as boiling water and scrubbing would get them and another full of dainty white dresses, bibs, tiny white stockings and baby blankets. There is nothing prettier in my sight than a line full of sparkling white baby clothes. But that is another chapter in my life).

Back to the wash day I am describing. As the clothes went from tub to tub, some were set aside for special care like starching. Selected linens, dollies, tablecloths, men's shirts, especially the collars, dresses and pillow cases simply had to be starched so the finish after they were ironed was crisp and had body to keep them fresh-looking longer. Finally, the rinsing was over and the clothes were wrung by hand for the last time and they were ready for hanging on the clothesline. All tubs were refilled with the net batch to be washed so they would be soaking while these were hung to dry.

Hanging clothes on the line was the one pleasant chore on wash day. First the line had to be wiped off with a damp cloth so there would be no dirt spots left on the clothes where the clothespins held them to the line. As each piece was taken from the basket, it was given a brisk shaking to remove the heavy wrinkles caused by hand wringing, then clipped onto the clothesline with wooden clothespins. Table linens and dish towels first. There was usually a line full of these for I have always loved to use pretty tablecloths and dish towels were used like paper towels are today. It was not unusual to see two dozen or more of these flapping in the wind. I guess I was a crank but I wanted everything hung according to size and color in its own category till the lines were filled. This way, they were not only easier to keep in order as they were gathered but made a much better appearance on the line. The first basket load hung to dry and I was ready for the next tub that had been soaking. These were the light colored ones. Clean water would be needed for these and that had to be carried from the spring and more wood gathered for the fire. Colored clothes were treated the same way while ones had been, the lightest ones first and so forth till the worst of the lot, heavy overalls and jackets had been hung on the line.

Now this wasn't all there was to wash day, there were other chores connected to it such as emptying the tubs, putting them and the washboard away, being sure the fire was out under the kettle and, if one wasn't too tired before the last tub was emptied, the water could be used to scrub the porch or outside toilet. After all that, and before it got dark, the clothes had to be gathered and readied for ironing the next day.

There were a few women who were able to get all this done in one morning then iron in the afternoon but I was not one of them. It took me two full days to get it done. I was lucky if I had time and energy to dampen the clothes that had been starched the same evening of wash day.

Ironing was another part of doing the laundry so the next day, a fire was built in the kitchen stove and the "sad irons" put on to heat, there were several kinds of irons one could choose from, some with iron handles attached, others with wood handles that latched on the flat iron, these were my favorite for I didn't have to wrap the handle with a big piece of cloth before I could grasp it. But either one had to be kept hot on the stove before I would get the wrinkles out of the clothes. Even in summer, the fire had to be kept going all day long if one was to get the ironing done. Since the stove was already lit, this was usually the day we cooked beans and did some of the baking. With a big laundry basket filled to the brim with tightly rolled clothes that had been dampened the night before, they were rolled to distribute the dampness evenly, I sat up the ironing board as close to a window as possible and began doing my favorite part of the laundry. I loved to iron even though it was tiring hot work. The finished product was worth all the sweat and hurting feet from standing all day long over a hot stove. White shirts with their collars stiff as a board hanging on necks, alongside a row of dresses with skirt tails flaring or smooth pleats as slick as if they had just come from the store, stacks of tablecloths, dollies and pillow cases glistening and smelling of the fresh outdoors and the warmth of the iron was all I needed to make the job worthwhile. After the starched things were taken care of, then came the rest of the laundry such as boys pants, sheets, dish towels and cotton hand towels, petticoats, underwear, handkerchiefs—stacks of these for those were the days before paper tissues became popular, then, of things, "men's socks" had to be ironed or at least pressed enough to get the worst wrinkles out. Foolish? By today's standards, yes, by the standards of women taking care of her home and family in the early part of the century, no. That was the way it was done and she took pride in doing it well. The other day, after running a small load of clothes through the automatic washer, a few minutes later removing it from an automatic dryer, and pressing a shirt with an automatically controlled iron, the whole process taking less than an hour, I became aware of nostalgia of other days when doing the family laundry and ironing was work that made one tired enough to get an honest and good night's sleep. This is not so with today's modern automation.

plain about the rains and floods but God gives us this kind of weather and conditions to clean up the trash in the land.

Roundstone Creek will move slowly until it floods Clear Creek waters and the meeting picks up for Clear Creek has many hills and streams pouring their water into it.

Here we stop and see some good people at Roundstone, Elmer and Edith Hale. Elmer has a truck but no longer drives it, in fact I believe he sold the truck. Now they go when kind friends and neighbors come and get them.

Not long ago, they went to a revival meeting one night at the Light-house Baptist Church. Rev. Jimmy Williams who preaches from a wheelchair preached one night, he is such a good preacher, you want to go and hear him every time.

Then Russel Himes leads the singing and makes one want to go up and unite with the church.

Cathy Morris from Christmas Ridge and Virginia Johnson of Cilmax called on the Hales to visit one day.

Edith has health problems, too. Hip problems and heart bother her but she is on medication which helps her keep going.

Elmer said he visited my Dad, O.M. Payne's store on Clear Creek many years ago.

Edith made John's mouth water when she said she had 14 quarts of pear preserves. They are his favorite in the "sweet line."

Edith said she and brother Gilbert McCracken were the last of the Ike McCracken line of the family.

I have heard since that Gilbert passed away in a nursing home in Indiana which now leaves Edith the only one of the family living.

Elmer showed us some long ago pictures. One was of Elmer in 1944 in the Philippines during the war.

But, the best picture was made the day Elmer and Edith married and both were sitting on a mule. I would love to put that one in here. Maybe she'll loan it to me.

Irene hale visits Betty Richardson who are kinfolks.

Elmer says he and Edith have been married 58 years since last May when they had their picture made on the mule. We'll go back to hear Elmer tell us tales of life as they have known it.

We landed in Wildie next at Ballard Parsons' store where Glen Coffey, Dale Parsons and Donnie were playing pool. There was a cut girl in there playing with them. One of their wives offered to make a bet on any of the men if they would try to beat her but not a man would take my bet.

"Not me, no I won," were some of the answers I got while they hung back so I walked back to where Ballard sat in his new vehicle.

Gary Miracle, who is in the recycling business, waited on himself at this store. He lies at Hummel, moving there from Berea in 1963.

Ballard gave no girls rides in his new electric car for it's too cold he said. Hummel has no berries, good people live there, also in Wildie. Ballard's best sales were on generic cigarettes and the next low brand Basic.

Everybody was talking about the frog, a killing one on the 17th or on the 22nd.

I met Shirley Smith's brother, William Smith, which makes him my kinfolk too. Like Shirley, William favored old Uncle Rube Abney, who lived to be 93 years old. He chewed tobacco and smoked a pipe about all his life. I'll bet the cigarette companies would like to advertise that!

For about eight years or longer, I have wanted to visit a house near Wildie and talk to the people who lived there. Then, I heard the man, Doc Wolfe, had died.

One day, I met his wife, Ruby, in Mt. Vernon and asked if I might visit her.

"Don't write of me nor that I am living alone," she said sadly to me and I didn't. But, when we drove out of Wildie on this trip, I asked John to take me over to see Ruby Wolfe. I would see if she would talk to me.

When we drove up to a chain link fence, a fellow who said he was Ruby's son and Doc's son, Billy, urged me to go on in and I did to meet a lovely-looking woman who said she was Ruby, a wife to Doc Wolfe, who was named Ransome but had been named after the doctor, Brannaman, who was there to birth the child. Ruby said they had three sons and one daughter, Billy, one of them, lives with his mother.

Paul Rowe raised the tobacco on the place and Trish and Gary Kirby run the Dix Point Restaurant at Brodhead.

I have been in it, I told Ruby. To pass the time, Ruby crochets a lot and shod me a pattern that looks like a flower. I could hardly turn loose of the beautiful centerpiece I was looking at.

Ruby is such an attractive woman and so kind and friendly, I was glad to have met her again after I had talked to her at Mt. Vernon eight years ago. Then I met Elsie Kirby, the other woman who was there with Ruby who lives on Chestnut Ridge near her.

I enjoyed talking to these women and both said they read the signal. I thanked them for being readers and promised to come back and see them sometimes. Just before I turned to go, Ruby left the room and when she returned, she gave me a beautiful centerpiece just like the one she was working on. I guess she must have seen how she held on to it for she smiled at me over my surprise at getting the lovely gift. We'll have to return the favor of something that she doesn't have. I can't tell it here - yet.

Our next stop was at William Croucher's home near the Pennington graveyard. He said the last person brought up the hill and buried there was Earl Ramsey.

William said Alene Mize, a friend of his, was in the hospital at Mt. Vernon and she was pretty sick.

I talked to Kaye Abney, Loc's pretty wife, on the phone at home when we returned home. She said there would be a revival at Galilee Church on October 27 to 29. And, some of the church choir members would be on the 4th floor of the hospital here, singing Tuesday night.

Jeremy Abney, the Abney's son is taking Karate lessons at Madison Southern School. I bet everybody, including me, will be awfully nice to him now — no back talk.

Cleve and Blanche Payne had visitors from Lexington Sunday. Bob and Helen Abney, who were looking things over on Clear Creek, visited a while.

Also, Raymond and Virginia Nunn visited the Paynes awhile one day.

My son, Chessley Payne Cornett, took a vacation from his job in reorganizing the business where he became top man.

He called us from Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, saying he was in a room on the seventh floor and rain was pouring down off a large motel he had come to.

Some place to be on a vacation when I have two weeks of and I can't go outside," he said.

We are on our last month of the three month fall cycle and then we come in to the three winter ones,

November, December and January.

Till next week: God can't be everywhere so he created Grandmothers."

OF ALL THE STATES, KENTUCKY RANKS:

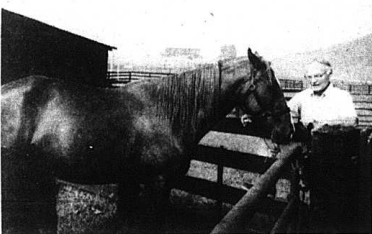

- 43rd in crime protection.
- 45th in education.
- 47th in median household income.
- And we have the highest tax burden of any state.

It's all in the numbers, and Kentucky isn't scoring with the team that's on the field. When one party has controlled the Governor's office for 24 years and the State Legislature for 100, the numbers are bound to be wrong. We can make Kentucky number one again, but not without a change.

Rockets tighten hold on district title with 56-14 blowout of Wayne Co.

The Rockcastle County Rockets continued their drive toward a third district title in five seasons last Friday night when they defeated Wayne County in Middlesboro 56-14.

Riding a 41 one point half-time lead the Rockets easily won their seventh game of the season to up their record to 7 and 1.

The Rockets are also 3 and 0 in district play. No doubt the Rockets' biggest obstacle to a district title is Estill County, a team that also is 3 and 0 in district play after they defeated Corbin 14-7 Friday night.

Estill comes to Rockcastle for the last regular season game on October 27.

Scoring for Rockcastle Friday night were Neil Sparks on a 10 yard blocked punt return, Jarrod Singleton, on a 12 yard pass from Jamie Linville, Jon Cromer on runs of 37 and 19 yards, Chris Bullock on a 47 yard pass from Linville, Malcolm Shepherd on a 20 yard run, Jason Brown on a 15 yard run and Dusty McClure on a 58 yard run. Brooks Ingram and Linville added two point conversions and Raymond Blackburn kicked three extra points.

Cromer gained 114 yards on nine carries. Sparks had ten yards on two carries, Singleton had 40 yards on six carries, McClure had 68 yards on three carries, Jason Brown gained 34 yards on 9 carries, Malcolm Shepherd had 11 yards on two carries and Brooks Ingram had three yards on one carry.

Cromer caught one pass for nine yards, Singleton caught one for 12 yards, Jason Childress had three yards on one catch, Brown had fifteen yards on one catch and Bullock had 17 yards on two catches. All total Linville was 5 for 6 for 63 yards and two touchdowns. Shepherd was one for one for 15 yards.

Co-captain Dallas Rigby led the defense with 13 tackles and assists. The game was so out of hand that most Rocket starters exited in the second quarter making room for junior varsity and freshman players.

Other Rockets getting tackles and assists Friday night were: Eddie Todd, four and one and half sacks, Steve Callum, six and one sack, Jason Weaver two and a fumble recovery, Steve Owens two and a fumble recovery, Adam Browning had seven, Neil Sparks had five and a fumble recovery, David Coffey had five, J.B. King, three, Jarrod Singleton, two, Ronnie Vanzant, four, Jason Childress, seven, Jason Brown, one and one punt block, Chris Bishop, two, Jimmy Kidwell, two, Dennis Miller, one, John LaFavers, two and Andy Hale, one.

The Rockets play their final two regular season games at home beginning with Madison Southern Friday night, a team that beat Somerset last week and is two and one in district play. However the Eagles have never beaten the Rock and it is not likely they will accomplish that task Friday night.

The regular season finale is on Oct. 27 when the Estill County Engineers come to town for what will probably be the district title game.

Jayvees play catch-up to beat Somerset and to remain unbeaten

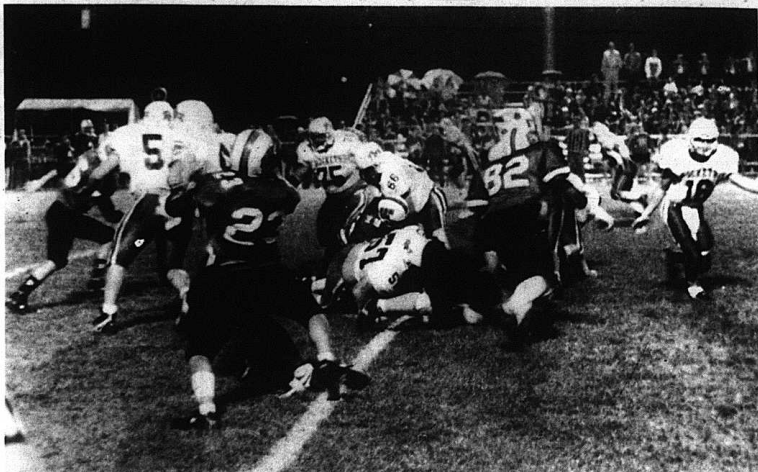

The Rocket junior varsity kept their perfect record intact Monday night when they defeated the Somerset Brarjumpers 41-15 in Somerset.

During the game the Somerset coach and several players were ejected from the game and because of Somerset's actions the game was called with two minutes to play.

The junior varsity had fallen behind 15 to nothing before running off 41 straight points.

Scoring for the junior varsity were: Jason Brown, who had five touchdowns and 133 yards rushing, Dusty McClure added the other touchdown and had 95 yards rushing.

Recovering fumbles for the Rockets were Chris Bishop, Jason Dillingham, Dennis Miller and Anthony King. The junior varsity finishes their season next Monday night at home against Lexington Catholic at 7:30 p.m.

The Rockets' offensive line proved dominant once again Friday night at Wayne County. In the above photo, Eddie Todd, Steve Owens, Jason Weaver, Adam Browning and Jason Brock open a hole for Rocket running back Jon Cromer at Wayne. The Rockets went on to win 56-14.

Shay Mullins of the Bengals scored last Saturday in their game against a Wayne County team. Rockcastle County played six games against Wayne Saturday and won all six. The Bengals, 4-1 in league play, and the Wildcats, 5-0, square off Thursday night in the title game. The Wildcats have only been scored on twice all year, that being by the Bengals. Last week the Bengals shut out the Bucs and the Wildcats beat the Redskins 22-0.

Last day for Jr. Pro sign-ups!

This Saturday, October 21st, will be sign-up day for Rockcastle Jr. Pro Basketball across the county.

Rockcastle Junior Pro operates as a member of the National Junior Pro Association, and follows all rules issued by the national organization. Players are eligible if their birthdays are on or after Sept. 1, 1983 up to on or before Sept. 1, 1989. As per Jr. Pro rules, players with birthdays before Sept. 1, 1983 are age-ineligible and players with birthdays after Sept. 1, 1989 are age-ineligible. Players are divided into three leagues based on age:
The Junior Varsity League: Players with birthdays on or after September 1, 1983 up to August 31, 1985.

The Training League:

For players born on or after September 1, 1985 up to August 31, 1987.

The Instructional League:

For players born on or after September 1, 1987 up to September 1, 1989.

National Jr. Pro dues, insurance and uniforms in the Junior Varsity & Training Leagues cost $25 per player. Insurance and tee-shirts in the instructional leagues cost $15 per player. The Instructional League will practice and play less than the other two leagues and will be designed to be far less competitive. Parents must bring a birth certificate for all players who did not compete in Jr. Pro last year. There is a $5 discount in fee for each extra player per family in Junior Pro. Sign-ups Saturday will be at the following locations between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.:
 Brodhead Elementary School
 Mt. Vernon Elementary School
 Roundstone Elementary School
 Rockcastle Junior Pro is not school sponsored. For information, do not contact the schools, instead contact Derrick Singleton at 256-2129, Willis Coffey at 256-4405 or Claytin Cash at 758-8994.

Report to Kentucky

Improved Highways Mean Good Jobs

As you know, I have reported over the last year on my efforts to help create jobs for southern and eastern Kentucky. Among them, the road improvement projects will make moving people and products easier for our families, businesses, and for tourists.

For too long, our part of the state has gone without adequate roads, making it hard to create and keep good-paying jobs.

I have worked to pave new avenues into southern and eastern Kentucky that already have helped many of our businesses and our local economies become strong.

In fact, in the last two years, I have been able to get Kentucky more than $35 million in Appalachian Regional Commission funds for roads. With those funds, we are designing and building better roads for our region.

But our work is not done. We must continue to push forward. This week, I made sure many of our southern and eastern Kentucky highways were included in the new National Highway System. This system of roads will be given priority status for funding and improvements. The highways in the system include: I-75, U.S. 27, 25E, 23, 119, and 460; the Daniel Boone and Mountain Parkway; and Kentucky Highways 80, 114 and 15. These roads are key transportation links for our region and the nation.

Also, this highway bill includes my amendment to lock in the Kentucky route for I-66. The route will travel from Williamson, W.V. to Paducah through Pikeville, Jenkins, Hazard, Hyden, Manchester, London, Somerset, Bowling Green, and Hopkinsville. Last year, I was able to earmark almost $900,000 in federal funds to start the planning work in Kentucky. A new I-66 will put communities throughout southern and eastern Kentucky on a major transportation corridor, bringing in jobs, business, and tourists.

And with next year's opening of the Cumberland Gap Tunnel and completion of the modernization of 25E to Corbin, another gateway will be opened for our business and tourist trade.

We've made great strides, improving our communities by building better roads, and that is good news. But there is still plenty of work to do this year, and this new National Highway System is the next step.

Improved roads mean better jobs, more opportunity and a better future. I will keep fighting to help build the avenues that take us there.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
To those who are aware of our genealogy work and have expressed an interest in purchasing a book, we are happy to announce that the manuscript is now in the hands of the printer and should be ready to distribute within two weeks. We believe our readers will like what we have done, though there is so much more to the McKinney history that could never be put into one book. At least, not one that we could afford to have published or expect anyone to buy!

We have traced our kin from John Collin and Mary Elizabeth McKinney, Isle of Skye, Scotland in the 1640s to northern Ireland, then to America and the present time. We have joined historical societies all over the country and followed up the leads that came to us as a result of queries in their newsletters. People have been most cooperative and generous with their own research data, for which we are grateful. Our book has a total of 290 pages, size 8 1/2 x 11, complete with pictures.

Our Kentucky friends might like to have dinner with us on November 4 at Reed's Depot Restaurant on Busy Bee St., McKinney, Lincoln County, Ky., at which time the book will be in our possession. Some might rather wait and see what we have before paying and we understand that. If all goes as planned, we will be at the restaurant around 5:30 p.m., Saturday evening, those joining us for dinner should call ahead and tell the manager how many will be in your party. The phone number is (606) 346-2414.

Again, we thank our many friends for their interest and especially for their patience. Five years is a long time to wait for a book. If only we could repay each one with a free copy but, of course, this is not possible, expenses being what they are with such a project.

Hope to see everyone November 4. If not, please make plans to join us there next summer for McKinney Station Days in the last week in July.

Thanks again.
Sincerely,
Christine McKinney

Dear Editor,

Holiday time is approaching very quickly and it is time to begin thinking about having Christmas Food Baskets and gifts for those who may not be able to happily look forward to the holiday season.

REAP has had some miracles in the past two weeks and it appears that we will be able to have our annual food baskets and gift program. With the economy and government changes, we have not been able to make any plans for the Christmas season but now it looks very promising and we look forward to a very busy time during the next few weeks.

We appreciate any monetary, food or toy donations that you or your church congregations or groups may be able to contribute.

The important thing to remember is — we need to know if you are going to help some specific families or children so we do not duplicate. REAP serves as the clearing house for all the local agencies in going through names to try and keep families from getting things from several sources. Each year we have been eliminating these duplications, but we have no way of knowing who you are going to help unless we are told.

Many, many hours are involved in this project, and we love doing it, but please give us any assistance you can.

If you are aware of families who you think will not be able to have a Merry Christmas due to illness, loss of a job, disability or other reasons, please let us know.

PLEASE HELP US PUT SOME SMILES ON OUR CHILDREN'S FACES.

Due to the lack of space and volunteers, we are not able to accept clothing.

With blessings,
LuEd Nielsen
Program Manager

Applications may be picked up at the REAP office Monday-Friday. Deadline will be November 10, 1995.

Dear Editor,

I know my sister forgot to mention our brother, James Reppert, when she wrote up the news about the death of our sister, Mary Jane Sorah.

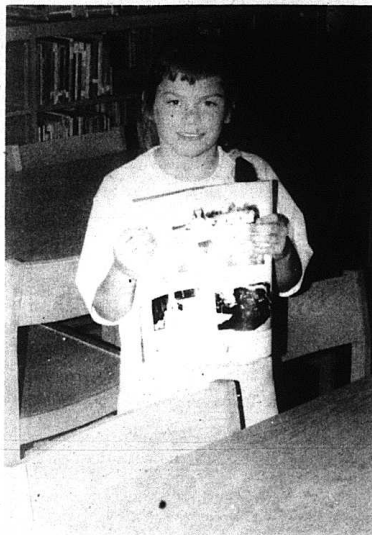

James was the only one that was unable to attend the funeral but he had been to Ohio twice to see her.

Due to just being dismissed from the Lake Cumberland Hospital in Somerset, he was not able to make the trip.

We missed him and know he regretted not being able to attend. James is a kind, caring brother.

His sister,
Ruth Gatliff

Agriculture News

by Warden Alexander
County Executive Director

Because of a change in the formula for calculating Wheat and Feed Grain program deficiency 1994 and 1995 payments, an additional payment is expected in October. The payment rate at the 5-month point was 57¢, but only 42 3/4¢ was paid. This rate was subject to a factor of 75%. The 75% adjustment was made to keep producers from having to refund deficiency payments due to rising prices.

Assuming prices remain constant or rise, the 12-month deficiency payment would be based on the 5-month price plus 7¢ ($2.18). This means the producer will essentially earn the 25% reduction, making the total 1994 deficiency payment 57¢.

Producers have already received a total of 42 3/4¢ meaning the 12-month payment in October will be 14 3/4¢.

The additional payments from the Rockcastle office were issued October 16.

This is not a Findley payment, so it counts against the $50,000 payment limit. Corn prices would have to crash violently to generate a Findley payment.

Producers are reminded that nominating petitions will not be mailed this year, they must be requested from the county office. Any eligible person interested in competing in the County Committee election may request a petition now until October 30. Eligible persons include tenants, landowners, and farm operators. Lists of eligible voters are available for viewing at the FSA office.

Flu vaccine recommended before season

Now is the time to get that flu shot and they can be obtained at your doctor's office or at the local health department. For either, you need to call ahead and ask about an appointment. The telephone number for the Health Department is 256-2242.

Medicare insurance now covers the cost of flu shots which should help older Kentuckians. Most health departments give the shot on a sliding-fee scale.

Grade My Homework -- Earn $20.00

In a written discussion with Dan McKibben, I have put forth the following definitions of the figure of speech "METONYMY," and shown the conclusions that can be drawn from the proper understanding of this figure of speech. However, Mr. McKibben will not accept my "homework" as correct so I need your help to break the impasse. If you will grade my "homework" below and give me permission to print the grade and any comments you make, I will send you $20 for your time. I will publish the grades, A+ or F-, along with the comments so that Signal readers can then judge my "homework" in light of your assessment. I am not a wealthy man and can only pay the first five qualified teachers responding, so send in the completed form at the end as soon as possible.

MY "HOMEWORK"

Definitions of "metonymy" as found in various references:

BULLINGER: Metonymy, A figure of speech by which one name or noun is used instead of another, to which it stands in a certain relation.

WEBSTER: Metonymy, A figure of speech consisting of the use of the name of one thing for that of another of which it is an attribute or which it is associated.

WILLIAMS: Metonymy, A figure of speech in which an object is presented to the mind not by naming it, but naming something else that readily suggests it.

Now by looking at all these definitions, we can see that there are THREE distinct elements involved in the use of METONYMY:

1. The thing named.
2. The thing brought to mind.
3. A relationship between the two things.

Now, apply what we have learned to I Cor. 11:26, "For as often as you eat this bread and DRINK THIS CUP, you proclaim the Lord's death till He comes" (NKJV). The Apostle Paul used metonymy when he wrote "DRINK THIS CUP" and here are the THREE distinct elements of the figure of speech as they are found in this phrase:

1. The thing named -- a cup.
2. The thing brought to mind -- a liquid to drink.
3. The relationship between the two things -- the cup is the container for the liquid.

Now, by combining our knowledge gained from definitions, application and example, we can clearly see FIVE FACTS about the use of metonymy by Paul in I Cor. 11:26.

1. The object named IS NOT the thing suggested.
2. A LITERAL object is named, not an imaginary one.
3. BOTH the thing named and the thing brought to mind must exist in order for the figure of speech to make sense. ONE is named, the OTHER is suggested but BOTH are real, literal objects.
4. In the metonymy of the "container for the contained" the container MUST contain the thing suggested.
5. Paul can suggest the contents of ONLY as many containers as he names.

Now, using these FACTS, we can draw certain conclusions relative to the communion cup:

1. Paul said "DRINK THIS CUP" to command us to partake of the contents of that cup. In no way did he command that we drink both the literal cup and the literal contents! That is foolishness, and you know it, because you see the "container for the contained" figure of speech yourself in every day life. How many times have you served one of your children some vegetable and told that child "EAT THE WHOLE BOWL?" YOU know, and the child knows, that you are not saying eat the solid bowl or eat both the solid bowl and the vegetable. You served the real vegetable in a real bowl and you informed the child to eat all the contents of that bowl.

2. Since the object named is not identical to the object suggested, "CUP" is not synonymous with "FRUIT OF THE VINE." We, in fact, must turn to other scriptures to learn that the contents of the communion cup is fruit of the vine.

3. There is an actual drinking vessel named.

4. Both the CUP which is named and the CONTENTS must literally exist in order for us to drink one from the other.

5. The cup, which is named MUST actually contain the thing suggested, in fact of the vine.

6. Since a single cup is named, the contents of ONLY ONE cup is suggested.

Consolation prizes will be given to all participants. Trophies will be awarded to all winners of each division.

For I thought I had everything to do my Master's will. As I went up the aisle, I saw prayer; and I just had to put that in, For I knew when I stepped outside, I would run right into sin.

Peace and joy were all plentiful, they were on the last shelf. Songs and praise were hanging near, so I just helped myself. Then I said to the angel, "How much do I owe?" He just smiled and said, "Take them everywhere you go."

Again, I smiled at him and said, "How much do I really owe?" He said, "My child, Jesus paid your bill a long, long time ago." Author Unknown Submitted by Mae Taylor

Thirst Quencher

By Lavone Dyer I was parked beside the church house On a glorious Lord's Day morning While two friends and I sat in the car chatting. We abruptly stopped and gaped in wonder As a tiny creature with dazzling plumage Hovered boldly over a single flower. It danced and then dipped And greedily tried to quench its thirst With a sip of summer's sweet nectar. Then, as if it was disappointed and embarrassed, It quickly arose and flitted away Unable to drink to its fill For the rose on the car's antenna contained no nectar Unknown to the hummingbird, The rose wasn't real.

Coming Autumn

By Lavone Dyer I can feel you presence with cooler, shorter days As you creep over the land, making your timely visit The birds seem to have put their singing hand on hold And the trees are dropping their rainbow colored leaves Onto the withered, brownish-green grass. Coming Autumn, I sincerely love your lovely attire of earthy hues. Even though your nights have a nip in the air and Cause me to feel lonely, I'll try to be more appreciative of your beauty And be more joyful during your short stay.

Time and Clocks

By Floyd W. Stokes You can change your clocks From slow to fast. Then you change them again from fast To slow. It keeps you so messed up You don't know which way to go. So, you can change your shirt, You can change your socks, You can change your shorts, You can change your clocks, But, Old Sol, He makes his circle Once everyday, He doesn't change His time night or day. He circles the earth once every year Time is something we should all hold dear. For some of us don't have much time left. So, when you change your clocks, You are only fooling yourself. So, let's be thankful for each day. For it is the one the Lord has made. And change your socks, But, for goodness sake, don't Change our clocks.

Heaven's Grocery Store I was walking down life's highway, a long time ago. One day I saw a sign that read "Heaven's Grocery Store." As I got a little closer, the door came open wide. And when I came to myself, I was standing inside.

I saw a host of angels, they were standing everywhere. One handed me a basket and said, "My child shop with care." Everything a christian needed was in that grocery store, And all you could carry; you could come the next day for more.

First, I got some patience, love was in the same row. Farther down was understanding, you need that wherever you go. I got a box or two of wisdom, and a bag or two of faith, I couldn't miss the Holy Ghost, for it was all over the place.

I stopped to get some strength and courage to help me run the race. By then my basket was getting full, but I remembered I needed some grace. I didn't forget salvation for salvation that was free. So I tried to get enough of that to save both you and me.

Then I started to the counter to pay my grocery bill,

THE PROBLEM:

- Individuals are not held accountable for their actions.
- One political party rules a state for over a quarter century.
- Taxpayers foot the bill for wasteful government spending.
- Fraud and corruption in government costs us jobs.

THE SOLUTION:

Electing new leadership for Kentucky. They're fighting to take back our state from those who short change taxpayers and sell out our future.

We can change Kentucky for the better by electing a new Republican team for a new day in Kentucky.

Personal Responsibility

Larry Perry is running for Governor to restore personal responsibility to individuals and hold accountable for their actions. Larry Perry is leading the charge to bring back absolute integrity in government to Kentucky.

Electing a New Team of Candidates

Tom Hendry, running for Lt. Governor and Will T. Scott, candidate for Attorney General, are experienced professionals and dedicated public servants. They'll step up the fight against juvenile crime and work to end the senseless loss of innocent children before their first jail term.

Uncovering Wasteful

Steve Crabtree, candidate for Secretary of State, has been a hardworking member of the legislature. If there's waste in government, Steve Crabtree will track it down to restore integrity to our government and save taxpayers money.

Fighting Fraud & Corruption

Don Bell, candidate for State Auditor, is an experienced investigator who has a record of fighting fraud and corruption on a regional, state, and local level. Don Bell is the only professional investigator running for State Auditor.

Electing New Legislators

Woody Allen, candidate for Agriculture Commissioner and James Lambert, candidate for State Treasurer, will protect Kentucky's taxpayers. They want to create and keep more jobs in Kentucky through better management and sound programs.

Vote Republican for a new day in Kentucky.

For by electing a new team of candidates, we can change Kentucky for the better. For more information, contact us at 1-800-368-7273.

The Week at Livingston

By Frances Dickerson

Cecil Mullins of Louisville spent last week with his father, C.F. Mullins. Ova Durham of Dayton, (Harold Durham's brother), spent two weeks in Berea Hospital recently. He was released and has returned home much improved.

Mrs. Lena McClure reports Charles isn't any better. Two delayed important items. On Oct. 3, Mr. and Mrs. Everette Mahaffey were married 63 years. Sept. 21, Mrs. Sarah Holt celebrated her 79th birthday, just a little family get-together with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jones, their daughter and Mrs. Loraine Woodall. We wish Mrs. Holt many more birthdays.

Matthew Bond of Mt. Vernon spent the week end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Bond. Everette Holt of Campton spent last week with his mother, Mrs. Sarah Holt.

Mr. and Mrs. Denver Mullins have returned from a month's visit with their three sons and families in Spokane, Washington and Blackfoot, Idaho. They both reported a wonderful trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Janet Argenbright and daughter, Janet Robinson, were in London last Friday for Arthur's visit with his doctor. Mrs. Minnie Ponder isn't any better at this writing.

Flu Shots

For maximum protection from the flu, you are advised to get the shot within the next six weeks.

People with certain conditions definitely should have a flu shot, those conditions include anyone with chronic heart, lung or kidney disease as well as nursing home residents.

In addition, anyone age 65 or older, regardless of their health, should have a flu shot.

The shots can be given to most people, except those with a severe allergy to eggs. Those people who

Bosnian "Boxes of Blessings"

The seventy-nine year old Ninth & O Baptist Church, under the leadership of Pastor Rodney Burnette, is spearheading a growing effort to minister to the needs of Bosnian children with shoe boxes. The church is in the process of collecting some 8,000 shoe boxes filled with toys, stuffed animals, balls, cars, flashlights, school supplies, hard candy and more which will be shipped to Bosnian refugee children for Christmas.

The project, which is being called "Boxes of Blessings," is a cooperative effort between the church, Southern Baptist Missionary to Boston Rev. Bill Steele and the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. All in all, it is hoped that some 28,000 "Boxes of Blessings" will be collected for the mission effort.

In addition to filling the boxes with a variety of gifts for children age birth to 13, church members are including $5.00 to cover shipping costs. The boxes are being wrapped so that the lid can be removed for inspection by custom authorities and secured with rubber bands to prevent losing the Christmas items. A mailing label attached to the outside of each box describes whether it is intended for a boy or girl and the age of the intended child; 0-3 years, 4-6 years, 7-10 years and 11-13 years.

English printed books and Bibles are not being included in the boxes since the Bosnians have few if any family members that speak English. However, photographs with one's mailing address are welcomed. A separate fund is available if one desires to purchase religious literature written in the country's native language.

Ninth & O Baptist is accepting donations from interested parties wishing to sponsor a box at a cost of $20.00 each. The church is encouraging other churches, civic groups or individuals wishing to participate in bringing their boxes to the church by Sunday, October 29. The "Boxes of Blessings" will be shipped for the church by Monday, October 30. For more information, call the Ninth & O Baptist Church at 502-636-5576.

will be shipped to Bosnian refugee children for Christmas.

The project, which is being called "Boxes of Blessings," is a cooperative effort between the church, Southern Baptist Missionary to Boston Rev. Bill Steele and the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. All in all, it is hoped that some 28,000 "Boxes of Blessings" will be collected for the mission effort.

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510

KEEPING BIG BROTHER OUT

Personal freedom is a notion so deeply imbedded in how Americans define themselves that we've fought wars to defend it, marched down every Main street in America to guard it, and turned politicians out at the polls to protect it.

That dedication to personal freedom was at the very core of how our founding fathers defined a nation, and it has endured the test of time. Thomas Jefferson said that the ultimate powers of society belong to the people themselves. And, when government is concerned that people might not be knowledgeable enough to exercise their control in a healthy direction, he wrote "the remedy is not to take it from them, but to inform....."

He understood that government has a mission to inform, but not to dictate. Because, when government passes over that line of guidance to coercion, every American's guarantee of personal freedom is irreversibly damaged.

I recently introduced legislation directed at reducing the number of teenage smokers in this country. But make no mistake, my legislation is equally driven by the need to prevent government from regulating the legal choices of adults in this country, and it does so by keeping the FDA out of the business of regulating tobacco.

It's no secret that the FDA would like to ban tobacco under the guise of regulating teen tobacco use. And that's why, when many Kentuckians hear the phrase "big brother," they see the face of the FDA's David Kessler.

But, as I said on the day those regulations were announced, no one is here to protect peddling tobacco to minors. No one. And my legislation follows up with serious, enforceable measures on advertising, access, retail and marketing.

Under my legislation, we:

- ✓ Ban outdoor advertising of cigarettes and smokeless tobacco products within 500 feet of schools;
- ✓ Ban advertising of cigarette and smokeless tobacco products in publications with any significant youth subscribership;
- ✓ Ban paid tobacco advertisements or props in movies;
- ✓ Ban cigarette or smokeless tobacco advertising in videos, video game machines, or family amusement centers.
- ✓ Require states to restrict vending machine sales of cigarettes or smokeless tobacco products to supervised locations, bars, private clubs or places of employment like factories and warehouses; and
- ✓ Require states to limit free sampling of cigarettes and smokeless tobacco products and use of coupons to locations where youth access is denied or where proof of age requirements have been met.

Instead of creating a whole new bureaucracy, and turning jurisdiction over to the FDA, this legislation maintains the enforcement scheme of current SAMHSA law, extending it to tobacco sale and marketing restrictions, and doubling applicable penalties.

These are serious, enforceable measures to combat teenage smoking. But they do not interfere with the legal, private decisions of adults, nor do they trample on freedom of speech that the First Amendment protects. The same cannot be said for the FDA regulations, which have already sent advertising and tobacco industry lawyers scrambling to the courts, setting up for lengthy legal challenges, where the fight will go on for years and years.

While the President is committed to curbing teen smoking, he has stated his support of the tobacco program and of an adult's right to make their own decisions with regard to smoking.

Unfortunately, overzealous regulators under the direction of David Kessler have done the President and this country a disservice by going way beyond protecting our young people. Instead, their regulations infringe on numerous Constitutional rights, invade the privacy of average adult Americans, and take the first step on a short road to total Prohibition.

There's no doubt that this legislation is about compromise. But, make no mistake, it does not dodge the responsibility of ending teen tobacco use. I think this legislation represents a serious effort at meeting the President's goals on teen smoking sooner, rather than later. But, equally important, by leaving the FDA out of this process, my legislation will not set a course for tobacco that leads to Prohibition.

FAITH DECRES THAT FOOLS MUST PAY FOR THEIR FOLLY

The truest thing that Shakespeare said Was that with which we all agree; He wrote, as most of us have read, The words, "What fools these mortals be!"

We go about our merry way, Content as long as things go well, Then find ourselves, one dismal day, Imprisoned in some earthly hell; Because of foolish deeds we've done. The "fast lane" was the place to be And life was just for having fun, But one thing is a certainty: That in the end we pay the price. For when we disobey the rules And just ignore our faith's advice, It turns us mortals into fools.

- Gloria Nowak

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge, but fools despise wisdom and instruction."
— Proverbs 1:7

Experience keeps a dear school, but fools learn in no other.

"Michigan girl killed after footstone is thrown through van window"

David Benge, whose vehicle was also struck by a footstone saw three subjects on the bridge when the footstone hit the Kuhar vehicle. "He pulled off into the emergency lane after his truck was hit and he saw the subjects on the bridge," Lane said. Benge called for help on his C.B. radio.

Lane said that he was in the process of developing suspects in the case and that more than likely the three subjects on the bridge Thursday morning were juveniles. "One of them may have been an adult, but it is too early in our investigation to determine that," he said.

Lane also said that police had questioned several juveniles in connection with case and that most of them were not considered suspects. "We've talked to a lot of kids about this case and it wouldn't be right to consider them suspects, it simply would not be fair to classify them as such," he said.

The detective said that the footstones thrown from the bridge were taken from the Kirby Family Cemetery off Calloway Hollow Road, eight miles south of Mt. Vernon.

The Kuhar family, which has been described as devout Catholics were enroute to Conyers, Georgia hoping to receive a message from the Virgin Mary. Thousands of people travel to Georgia on the 13th of each month hoping to see the Virgin Mary.

It is the largest of dozens of Marian visitations around the country. A Conyers woman says she communicates with the Virgin Mary when she appears on a ceiling in the woman's farmhouse.

Kentucky State Police say there have been other cases of people throwing things or shooting at motorists from interstate overpasses in Kentucky. In July, a van driven by Barry Gallif of Mt. Vernon and hauling workers to the Trane Company in Lexington was struck by a large rock that was thrown from the Brindle Ridge bridge around 5 o'clock in the morning. Gallif had to return to Mt. Vernon after the incident because his van was undrivable because of the large hole in the windshield. Luckily no one was injured and no arrests have been made.

Police believe that Thursday's incident is the first in which someone was killed.

Space Project to Protect Earth from Outer Space Invaders

Right in the path of several asteroids, the planet Earth is more fragile than we may consider, says Gary Ferland, an internationally known astronomer at the University of Kentucky.

After the spectacular comet show last July in which several comets plunged into Jupiter, causing a raging fireball that could be seen over the far edges of the planet, there has been renewed concern for our planet's future. If Jupiter can be hit, surely planet Earth is a possible target too.

"The concern is a reasonable one," says Ferland, "and all you have to do if you want to worry a little is look at the moon. You can see all those craters on the moon. The hope has been that whatever made those craters won't happen to us."

Ferland points out that there are lots of asteroids whose orbits cross the Earth's path. "It's not so much that they are going to hit us as that we'll just hit each other as we're orbiting around the sun."

Project Space Warn might be the solution to this potential calamity. The purpose of the project, which Congress last year gave a tenfold budget increase, is to cause whatever is hurtling at Earth to veer off, if only slightly, from target.

"It's like a rifle bullet shot from 10 miles away," Ferland says. "If it's coming straight at us, all we have to do is get it to miss a little bit."

The scenario Ferland imagines involves a combination of American and Russian spacecraft, armed with nuclear weapons, which would be launched toward the intruding comet or asteroid. When the spacecraft are close enough to the object to affect its trajectory, they would self-detonate, causing the object to be thrown off its earthward course. "You wouldn't actually destroy it—you'd just kind of elbow it to one side so it misses us."

To calm the nerves of anyone thinking that such drama in the cosmos is soon to occur, Ferland points out the fact that the odds of a good-sized asteroid hitting us anytime soon are heavily in our favor. "The Earth only gets hit about every 50 to 100 million years."

Cindy Gregory weds Mark Crider

The marriage of Cynthia Frances Gregory and Mark Samuel Crider was solemnized in an afternoon ceremony July 15 in historic Lee Chapel at Washington & Lee University in Lexington, Virginia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Gregory of Mt. Vernon and Mr. Crider is the son of Pat Mahaffee Crider of Russell and Dr. Bob M. Crider of Ashland.

Revs. Ed Parrish III and Glenna Parrish officiated the double-ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m., following a program of nuptial selections by Bill McCorkle of Lexington, Va., organist and Eric Christ of Philadelphia, soloist.

Dawn Lewis of Mt. Vernon was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Paige Crider of Richmond, Va., the groom's sister, Shelli Gregory of Lexington, the bride's sister-in-law; Lila Massoumi of Palm Beach, Fla. and Julie Goodman of Fleetwood, Pa. Yukari Kusachi of Lexington kept the guest register.

Brian McClung of St. Paul, Minn., was best man. Serving as groomsmen were Joe Gregory and Bill David Gregory, both of Lexington, brothers of the bride; Patrick Hahn of Philadelphia, Jim Durbin of St. Louis and Aki Nichols of Lynchburg, Va.

The bride wore a chocolate floor-length dress of white silk with pearl accents. The pearl accents were carried through in the elbow-length blusher and chapel length train. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the groom. The bridesmaids were attired in vivid red crepe dresses with organza train.

Wedding guests traveled by chartered buses to The Homestead in Hot Springs, Va., for the buffet reception.

The wedding cake replicated the balustrade of Lee Chapel with the groom's cake being a chocolate tennis racket, both creations of executive pastry chef Michael Finel of The Homestead. Entertainment was provided by a Richmond, Va. band.

Mt. Vernon friends attending the wedding included Jerry and Shirley Mullins, Judy and Winfred Daerson, Phyllis and Lawrence Bullock and their children, Nathaniel and Mindy. Special guests included Dr. and Mrs. Elrod, president of Washington & Lee University and Mrs. Kimiko Kusachi of Shizuoka-ken, Japan, who came for her first visit to the United States to attend the wedding.

Mrs. Crider is a graduate of Rockcastle County High School and Duke University in Durham, N.C., where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority. She is attending the University of Kentucky College of Law in Lexington.

Mr. Crider graduated from Russell High School and Washington & Lee University. He is attending the University of Kentucky College of Medicine and is a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity and Omicron Delta Kappa honor society.

Pre-nuptial events honoring the couple were an engagement party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ewing of Ashland; a luncheon and shower at the Bellefonte Country Club in Ashland; a cook-out and party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Stinnett III of Ashland and a shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Mullins of Mt. Vernon. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Bob and Linda Crider at the Wilson-Walker House in Lexington, Va.

Following a wedding trip to Nassau, the Bahamas, the couple is residing in Lexington.

Dr. Becky Hammonds, daughter of Roger and Demie Hammonds of Maretburg, who is serving her internship in Savannah, Georgia, was visiting recently and she and her mother gathered for this family photo at the home of her grandmother, Gertrude Cole of Mt. Vernon. In the photo are, front row are, from left: Dr. Hammonds and her mother, Demie Hammonds. Standing at rear are, from left: Mrs. Cole and her sisters, May Carter of Lamerco and Alma Allen of Livingston.

Busy Bee Homemakers

Busy Bees held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening, October 10th, at the Extension Office. We had 10 in attendance. Special guest was Hazel Jackson, county extension homemaker agent. We would like to welcome a new member, Ms. Faith Spires.

Meeting was called to order and devotion was given by Cecilia Renner who chose a poem titled: Praise for Creation and Providence, written by Isaac Watts, a famous poet and writer of many hymns we sing in church.

Roll call was answered by those present telling of a scary event that happened at some time in their life.

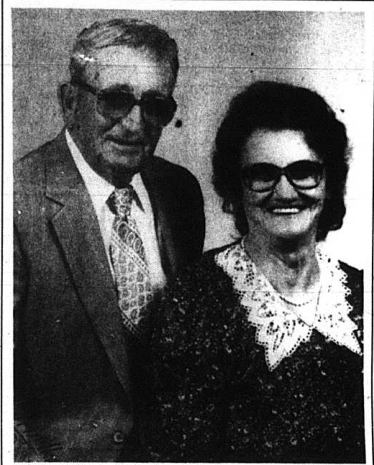

Minutes were read by Carolyn Gilbert and treasurer's report was given by Barbara Prater.

Old business and new business discussed were: annual Christmas dinner at the Columbia Steak House in Berea on Dec. 1st and remember to save tabs from soft drink cans.

Lesson for the month was on table setting and centerpieces. We learned different ways to fold napkins and the correct way to place silverware and plates.

The night was a lot of fun for the ladies because it was Wynona's 77th birthday. I won't say how old she is but there was a balloon that read, "Old as Dirt." Barbara Prater really outdid herself making such a lovely cake and beautiful decorations. Next meeting is Nov. 14.

Busy Bees would like to congratulate Lydia and Janeta McClenore for their success at the recent area annual extension homemakers meeting held Sept. 30 in London. Lydia and Janeta entered some items in the Culture Arts Exhibits. Lydia received first place in painting-acrylic and wallhangings, seconds in painting-folk art and soft sculpture and third in Christmas decoration. Janeta received a first place in drawing.

Albert and Thelma Owens of Mt. Vernon celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary October 13, 1995.

Hello to everyone who reads my column.

Hope everything is well with you. This Monday morning Oct. 16 is cool but sunny. You know when the sunshines it makes us feel better and happier. Light is so much better than darkness. But as winter approaches, we will see many dark days. But it is a time when we can get that much needed rest from all our summer's work, a time when we can meditate and do more Bible reading. As we all know our county and the whole world is in bad shape. But in second Chronicles 7:14 we find the answer to our problems. "If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from Heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." God always keeps His promise, but we need to do our part. Are you will to do it? Think about it. The second session of the Fall Associational Annual meeting was held at the Fairview Baptist Church on Saturday, Oct. 14. The attendance was small compared to the meetings of years gone by. But the program was very interesting. Everyone did such a good job. The special music (Flute Duet) by Teresa Parrett of Pine Hill and Melanie Lyons of Fairview was great and the Doctrinal message by Bro. Shawn Madden was wonderful. We all enjoyed seeing old friends and all who attended. We had a good meal and just enjoyed a great day - We welcome back everyone anytime and pray God's richest blessings upon them.

Our heart felt sympathy goes out to the families of Mrs. Hazel Mullins of Conway and Mrs. Mattie Pigg of Madison County. May God comfort the loved ones at this time. They have our love and prayers.

Attention: All Women 35 Years of Age and Older.

Current statistics indicate that one of nine American women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. Mammography screening has become an important tool in the fight against breast cancer. The American Cancer Society recommends a baseline mammogram at age 35 and screening mammograms every one or two years for women age 40 to 50. After 50 years of age they recommend routine annual screenings. The American Cancer Society has declared October "Breast Cancer Awareness Month." For the month of October, the Rockcastle Hospital is offering screening mammograms for the low price of $65.00. This includes the Radiologist fee for interpretation. We have an accredited G.E. Senographe machine and our technologist Janice Mullins, is certified in mammography. For an appointment call 256-2195, Extension 5012. This offer will not be extended into the month of November.

In Memory of E.J. Taylor
"We'll Think of You"

When we see the first violet of the spring,
When we walk the trails and see everything
We planted, we cared for, and grew,
Then we'll think of you.

When the Dogwood blooms in the spring in white array,
And the Redbuds burst forth at the dawn of day,
And all the flowers sparkle with dew,
Then we'll think of you.

When the autumn leaves begin to fall, and I hear
The wild geese give their call
As they fly against the sky so blue,
Then we'll think of you.

When the first snowflakes come floating down
Covering the earth with their soft white gown
Making the tracks of the animals so true,
Then we'll think of you.

Each night when I see the evening star
Shining in the west, so very far,
I'll say a prayer, one we hope will come true,
Someday, we'll be there with you.

This poem is dedicated In Memory of our husband,
father and brother,
E.J. Taylor who passed away on September 5, 1994.
E.J. would have been 65 years old October 18, 1995
HAPPY BIRTHDAY
Sadly missed by Wife,
Children and Family

Usually when you start a business you begin by doing everything yourself. As the business grows you begin replacing yourself by hiring people to share some of the workload. This process continues until one day you're able to take vacations or time off with the knowledge that the business will function in your absence.

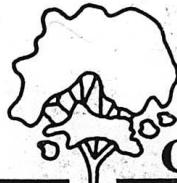

This same procedure of replacing your efforts can be accomplished by making your money work for you. You work an eight-hour day and you see to it that your money works a 24-hour day. The more money you put to work, the more you replace yourself in the job of securing your financial future.

Come in and see us and we'll help you replace yourself with some hard-working money.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In Job. 18:14 we read "His confidence shall be rooted out of his tabernacle, and it shall bring him to the king of terrors." The subject of dying and death is not a subject most folks do much serious thinking about. But today we want to consider the subject of death, "the kind of terrors."

Let's begin by defining, by the Bible, death (physical death). "For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also." Jn. 2:26. Death is the separation of body and spirit. When one's spirit leaves the body, the body dies.

"And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgement" Hebs. 9:27. Again in I Cor. 15:22, "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." Dear friends, we must accept the fact of death, we are going to die! Life is such an uncertain thing. "For what is your life? It is even vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away." Jn. 4:14. David said one time, "there is but a step between me and death." How true that can be for any of us today.

There is only one solution that I know to do, about the "enemy" of death, and that is found in Christ Jesus. "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." Ac. 4:12. Yes, only Jesus can give us hope, in the face of death, and some day will finally destroy death. "The last enemy, that shall be destroyed is death." I Cor. 15:26, which happens at the Resurrection of all mankind. To any and all of the Lord's true people, he can deliver. "Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through "fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage." Hebs. 2:14-15. Would you consider coming to Jesus Christ?

County road workers aid in litter control

All American Club members got some help Tuesday with trash pick-up in the county.
 Too few workers, was one of the complaints made by the club at a meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court Oct. 10.
 Available club workers continued to pick up trash along county roads but had to leave the bags along the roads because there were no haulers to take them away.

Dogs and other animals were scavaging the bags and scattering the contents.
 Tuesday, county road employees oversaw pick up of the bags aided by work-release prisoners from the Rockcastle County Jail and jobs people from the Rockcastle Department of Social Services.
 How many bags will the group pick up? At least, 200 since 181 bags were picked up at the club in September.

Local women do well in competition

On September 18, 1995 students from S.B.C. competed in the Kentucky Hairdressers & Cosmetologist Association, Fall Expo at the Galt House East in Louisville.

Considered the toughest competition in KHCA history with a total of 27 competitors from across the state, SBC students placed three out of the top five in the Fantasy Mannequin category.

The winners were Sheila Hayes, gold medal and $50 for "Touch of Pride," Patty Parmely, silver medal and $25.00 for "Perfect Timing," and Charlotte Smith, bronze medal for "Touch of Heaven." Also competing were Daisy Glover, Nancy Decker standing in for Rachel Hicks and Machell Mece.

The competitors for "Toen Evening Makeover", Melisa Stephens, Lisa Jenks, Marsha Johnson and Dawn Pennington as the model. Awards were presented by President of KHCA.

Announced at RCHS SBDM council meeting Local board will no longer fund individual class trips

The September meeting of the Rockcastle County High School SBDM Council was held on September 25, 1995, at 4:00 p.m. in the conference room of the high school.

Mr. Konniq Cash called the meeting to order and welcomed those present. The delay in starting was due to lack of a quorum. Council members present were: Ruth Allen, Bill Lynch, Joyce Machal and Charles Norris.

Policy Review-New Policy:

Mr. Cash brought copies of the 1995-96 School Transformation Plan (STP) for the present members. Joyce Machal volunteered to take a copy to parent member Debbie Brown. This was a condensed version of the STP listing the components being addressed in activities designed to meet the goals. Copies of the STP had been previously distributed to the high school and vocational school facilities.

Mr. Cash informed the council that the local board was no longer to finance individual classroom field trips cost above that already provided by the board appropriated budget. The local board encourages the trips; however the individual teacher will need to provide the finances (transportation, substitutes, etc.).

Mr. Cash asked for input as to what should be done to address this matter. He directed Ms. Allen to contact the component leads about how many field trips were planned by the faculty and what means were suggested for payment of these trips.

Curriculum Update:

Mr. Cash presented the council with the "Vital Signs" reports prepared monthly by the component leads. The reports for science, math, reading, writing and public engagement were then presented to Jane Harris.

Budget:

Mr. Cash presented the council a tough draft of the proposed budget from board appropriations for the 1995-96 school year. He explained that this represented material presented to them in April and he now wanted to provide them the opportunity to make modifications if they desired. Once the draft budget is finalized and approved he would have it typed and bound as in previous years. Mr. Cash further explained that any additional finances received from contributions was also governed under the aspects of the council.

Discussions followed on various items presented. Mr. Cash gave explanation to questions and comments.

He stated that any teacher needing additional finances should contact him and he would attempt to utilize revenue from concession if the need deemed appropriate.

The council was made that math had not been budgeted any funds. Mr. Cash stated that $1,000.00 would be provided from concessions. Mr. Cash suggested that each department meet and distribute the money appropriated.

Another suggestion was made that the academic team submit a budget. This would be consistent with budgets provided by the various athletic teams.

Following the discussion, Charles Norris made the motion to accept the proposed budget as modified and Mr. Cash have this typed and bound for the October 1995 meeting. Ruth Allen gave the second and by consensus the motion passed.

Other:

Joy Cooke, math component lead.

Mt. Vernon Message

Cable is new primary teacher at Mt. Vernon

We want to welcome Mrs. Marion Cable as our new P2 teacher at Mt. Vernon Elementary. Mrs. Cable is married to Mike Cable and they have three children. Chaz, Jamison and Logan. Mrs. Cable is very excited about this school year. She has lots of wonderful learning activities planned for her students. Good luck Mrs. Cable.

We would like to thank the following businesses for their contribution to make the Bean collection by fourth grade a success. Mor for Less, E.C. Porter, Foodland, Super Saver and Superior. Over one million beans were collected!

Congratulations to Vanessa Chestress and Wendy West - winners of our attendance prizes. Two Boom Boxes.

We have 530 students with perfect attendance for the first six weeks of school.

CLASS ACTIVITIES:

Mrs. Webb's Get Along Gang, P-1. As a culminating activity in reading, our class made lady bugs and rugs. They are really neat. We have just finished a unit on magnets and the four seasons. We are planning a trip to the Kentucky Horse Center to watch the play "Thumbelina," on Nov. 9.

It has been an exciting year! We have been involved in many interesting units of study. Some of them are: I Am Unique, Magnets, Seasons and Nutrition. Now we are working on an Apple Unit. Some activities for our Apple Unit are making apple flap books, making caramel apples, graphing apples by color, and many forms of measurement. Also, we will write concrete poems about apples.

Alexander, Bullock, Davidson, entry level primary classes. We finished our unit on Fall. We are starting our unit on Fire Safety. We are studying letter F and number 6. Thanks for all the pumpkins, acorns, Indian corn, leaves, etc. for our Fall unit. The fire truck was here on Oct. 2. Students of the week - Whitney Fry, Dustin Poynter, Holden Renner, Stephanie Barnett, Jeremy Bullock, Bethany French, Jordan Cash, Brandon Carpenter, Tonya Lunsford and Alyssa Hasty.

Michael Roark, grade 5. Recently Mr. Thomas Freese worked with our classroom to teach students about geometry and tessellations. We would like to thank Mr. Freese for teaching us so much. We are planning a field trip to Louisville Zoo with all of the Mt. Vernon 5th grade on Oct. 20.

Paula Cowan and Rebecca Fain, P-2-3. Ms. Becky and Ms. Paula's class has just finished a unit on fables. Some of the activities they enjoyed were; read many, many, fables, making maps of "The Tortoise and the Hare," and writing their very own fables. We would like to congratulate Ashley Mize for reading 52 fables.

Also, we would like to invite the parents of our students to share some family stories with our class. Just write us a note or call the school (256-2953) to schedule a time.

Mrs. Vanzant's Class, P-1. Our class is presently reading Hattie and The Fox. Students are illustrating their favorite character and writing their own dialogue for the animal. We're working on an Apple Unit. Some foods we've enjoyed tasting are apple juice, apple butter, apples and apple cider. Our final activity will be Apple Pies from McDonalds. In math, we're graphing, counting and writing odd and even numbers, and learning to
