Blacktopping on Hammond Fork Road

Oh! Happy Day!
What makes it happy in the Hammond Fork Road area is that their road has been completed and residents along the way are celebrating.

One resident reported the road "as smooth as silk."

It was no doubt a "happy day" for the fiscal court since this particular project has been on their agenda since they took office. Shortly thereafter, residents presented a petition to the court containing 300 signatures of property owners asking that the road be repaired. It took a while but the job was finally accomplished. There's 3.7 miles of the road and it's all blacktop. It's from KY 421 to Disputanta.

"We asked for help from the Governor and got," said County Judge/Executive Buzz Carlotis.

The county got $85,000 from the state to use on the road and had to pay a mere $428.

In other business, the judge also reported he had given permission to Western Waterline to lay waterlines in several county roads right-of-way.

The roads are Bryant Ridge Road, side road on Bryant Ridge Road, Jopp Cash Road at the intersection of KY 618 and Wabed-Jones Road at the end of existing waterline.

Permission was granted by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court in a resolution in the court's last session.

A Rockcastle County High School student was slightly injured Friday morning when he lost control of his vehicle on US 25 at Roundstone. Andy Woods was on his way to school when his car left the roadway and turned up on its side. Although he was only slightly injured, the car caught fire and was completely destroyed before Mt. Vernon firefighters could extinguish the blaze. Shown above are Vester Maples and Ronnie Roark.

Burley market opens Monday

Prices for burley tobacco were lower during opening day sales Monday, but farmers may net more because of lower government assessments.

According to the Federal Tobacco Market News Service, farmers fetched an average of $184.13 per 100 pounds Monday, down from $185 last year.

But federal assessments to fund the tobacco program were lowered from 4.5 cents to 1 cent per pound this year which allows the grower to keep more of the selling price.

So a farmer selling his tobacco at $184 per 100 pounds would have only 1 cent per pound deducted this year and net $183. Last year, the grower who sold his tobacco for $185 per 100 pounds would have 4.5 cents per pound deducted, leaving $180.50.

But farmers say the lower assessment will only make up for the increased costs, such as chemicals and labor, used in growing tobacco.

Sales were brisk opening day as buyers were eager to buy the surplus crop from last year. The old crop has less moisture in it, giving buyers more tobacco for their money.

But prices are expected to stay at the same levels when the old crop is sold.

Livingston man shot to death by his ex-girlfriend

A Rockcastle woman is being held at a Corbin Mental Hospital after she was arrested for allegedly shooting a Livingston man to death.

Gail Montgomery, 34, of Livingston was arrested Saturday morning at the home of William Carpenter, 69, of Livingston, after Carpenter was shot to death.

According to police, Carpenter died from a single gunshot wound to the face around 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

According to court records, Carpenter and Montgomery each held restraining orders from the court against the other.

Their domestic problems dated back to 1992 when Carpenter was indicted by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury for assaulting Montgomery.

The November, 1992 incident caused Montgomery to have surgery on her eye.

The indictment against Carpenter was later dismissed at the request of Montgomery, however Carpenter and Montgomery have found themselves in court several times since 1992.

In December of 1993, Carpenter was arrested by then Rockcastle Deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan, after Doan was called to Carpenter's residence by the state highway department, according to court records.

Records indicate Carpenter was trying to hinder highway department employees from blacktopping near his home.

When Doan arrived Carpenter threatened to kill him.

The restraining order against Montgomery came in Rockcastle District Court after Carpenter accused Montgomery of beating him while he slept.

Montgomery was charged with manslaughter. Police said alcohol was probably a factor in the altercation.

Governor to visit
The completion of work on Hammond Ford Road may or may not be what is bringing Governor Branner Jones to Rockcastle on Tuesday, December 5, along with his wife, Libby.
They'll be here, at the courthouse. It will be the governor's fourth visit to the county during his term.

Kuhar fund exceeds $3,300

Local residents have donated over $3,300 to the Stephanie Kuhar fund set up by two local businessmen. Trying to help ease the pain of Kuhar's tragic death in Rockcastle County in October, Dr. John Parsons, left and local funeral director Roy Martin headed a letter writing campaign as well as the fund raiser for the Kuhar family. The Kuhars will receive the money this week. No arrests have been made in the death.

Group trying to buy Anglin Falls

A group of Friends of Anglin Falls is continuing an effort to raise $150,000 to purchase the falls to preserve it for posterity.

If successful, it will be known as the John B. Stephenson Memorial Forest after the late Berea College president who died in 1994 at age 57.

The effort to buy Anglin Falls is being coordinated by Mountain Association for Community Economic Development.

Its director, Don Harker, said that $100,000 must be raised to buy the property before a purchase option expires March 1. About $55,000 has come in so far.

The group wants to raise $150,000 so there will be a small endowment, perhaps to hire someone to keep an eye on the woods. It hasn't been determined who will ultimately hold the deed to the property; possibilities include the state Nature Preserves Commission and Berea College.

Maria Cobb Venable owns the land now. Another waterfall on the property -- twice as high as Anglin Falls but active only in wet weather -- has been named in honor of her and her late husband, Richard Venable.

Jane Stephenson, the widow, said her husband was concerned about the logging that was moving ever closer to the woods and water he loved so much. He could see the destruction on the way to a cabin the couple owned nearby.

"He used our cabin to reflect and write and would often walk to the falls then come back and write," she said. "And he used it often as a place to think and enjoy nature."

He was not the first from Berea College to find his way to Anglin Falls.

The Cobbs and Venable families, who have owned the property for half a century, have always been willing to share it with others. No one is sure how far beyond that the public use reaches.

Patty Wallace of Louisa was a student at Berea 44 years ago when some boys borrowed bicycles and took her and other girls there for a romantic Sunday afternoon. The boys apparently had been there for botany classes, she said.

And she knows of a 90-year-old man in Perry County who used to visit there when he was a Berea student.

For the last 15 years, botany professor Ralph Thompson has led classes there, to the place he calls "a miniature Red River Gorge."

Christmas in the Valley

All too often, the holidays find people too stressed, too hurried to fully enjoy the spirit of the season. Fortunately, there is a remedy: a visit to Renfro Valley during its month-long "Christmas in the Valley" celebration. The holiday begins on November 24, when Santa arrives to open Santa's Workshop and assist in the tree-lighting ceremony. The celebration closes on December 16, with Renfro Valley's final show of the season. The interim is filled with Christmas festivities that recall holidays of simpler, less stressful times.

Thousands and thousands of bright twinkling lights provide a backdrop for Renfro Valley's Christmas time. They sparkle on tree limbs, span foot bridges, decorate roof tops and fence rows. Brightly painted Santas, elves, candy canes and reindeer add to the festive mood. Costumed carolers stroll the streets of Renfro Village; impromptu songfests occur among shoppers and show guests.

Shopping takes on a leisurely pace in Renfro Village. A dozen shops line the broad walks, each bearing its own specialty items. Homemade fudge and peanut brittle, old-fashioned jellies and preserves, western boots and hats, distinctive jewelry, handcrafted treasures, original paintings, t-shirts and sweat-shirts, tapes and CD's and one-of-a-kind Christmas ornaments are found within the shops of Renfro Village. Astute shoppers have claimed to fulfill their gift lists within the shops of Renfro Village.

Across the street, the historic Lodge Restaurant joins in the holiday spirit. Aromatic pine branches decorate the mantles above the massive stone fireplaces and along the wooden beams. From the kitchen comes the scents of southern home cooking, including a secret-recipe fried chicken claimed by some to be the best in the world. A dinner the log-constructed Lodge is a perfect prelude to shopping and shows.

Guests preferring a quicker meal have discovered Old Joe Clark's Eatery, serving fast food with an Italian flair, just steps from the show barn theaters and shops.

The mood which begins being set by the nostalgic charm of Renfro Valley is enhanced by the centerpiece of Christmas in the Valley, a live production of the original "Christmas in the Valley" show. The 90-minute show, which celebrates the music and memories of an old-fashioned Christmas, is presented Friday

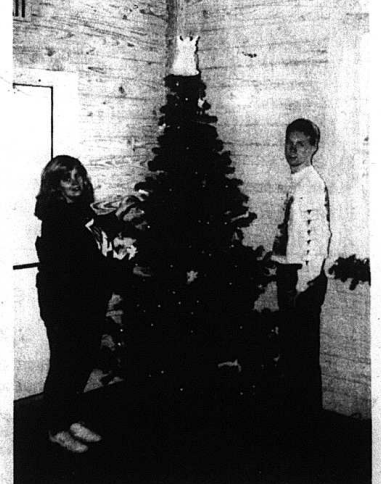

Benefit show for R.E.A.P.

Renfro Valley will host a Special Benefit Show for our community Food Bank (R.E.A.P) on Thursday night, November 30, beginning at 7 p.m., vice president of entertainment Connie Hunt announced Tuesday.

Admission to the 90-minute event will be non-perishable food items for a show which normally costs $9 plus tax.

All of the Renfro entertainers and staff are donating their time and talent to this worthy effort and Renfro Valley is providing their facilities free of charge.

and Saturday nights at 7:00 p.m. Christmas in the Valley is salve to sagging spirits and a great way to renew the joy of season. For tickets, information, contact the Renfro Valley box office at 800-765-7464 or 606-256-2638. Renfro Valley is located just off Interstate 75 (exit 62), 45 minutes south of Lexington.

Renfro Valley employees have been busy decorating for the past three weeks for Christmas in the Valley which begins November 24.

I haven't written a column with a Thanksgiving slant in at least half a dozen years. Nor have I written about The Fourth of July, Labor Day, Christmas, Veteran's Day or even Valentine's Day. I'm simply not much of a celebrating kind of guy.

And besides that, we buy big turkeys, when they are on sale at the Richmond Winn-Dixie Store, pretty much around the calendar. We used to buy them at Kroger's but Jennifer went to work her way through college as a check-out clerk at Winn-Dixie so we've switched allegiance. The Beef People are paying my daughter a fair wage and they seem to be treating her right so I figure the least we can do is buy our groceries at her store.

The point, however, is that we eat turkey about once a month on average here on the pinnacle of Fairview Ridge. And we normally do it up right. Giblet gravy, cranberry sauce. Heck, we've even been known to fix pumpkin pie in April and August. Turkey is about the cheapest meat you can buy these days and if you're going to fix it anyway, why leave off the fixings?

Loretta did, however, buy a 23 pound turkey for the holiday. I've killed and dressed-out hogs with less meat on them than this carcass seems to have. But what I'd really like to have seen is this bird before he met the butcher. I'd bet any amount of money that this old gobbler, when he was living, could have strutted out in front of your dump truck as you toiled along the main road and you'd have plowed into the ditch-line to keep from hitting him.

You'd get out of your truck and look at the right fender all stove up. A wheel has broken off and it's lying way up on the bank. Your radiator is busted so that steam is boiling all over the place. Your nose is broken and bleeding and you're picking shards of glass out of what little skin remains on your forehead. And you'd be saying to yourself, "It could have been worse. Thank God I didn't hit that turkey!"

Have any of you all ever seen a live turkey that dressed out 23 pounds? I'm just asking. Because the dressed-out carcass is bigger than most car engines and I have no idea how my wife plans to get it into the oven. But Loretta has asked me to make the stuffing and you may be pleased to know that I have that effort well-planned and absolutely under control. If there's one thing I can do well, it has to be my stuffing recipe.

My cousin and good friend, Tim Caudill, has an old Maytag wringer-washer out on his back porch at Hosport, Ky that he uses to wash out his mining clothes when he comes home from work. Tim's washing machine has the stoutest dasher in it that I've ever seen. So what I aim to do is dump two dozen eggs into it along with a few boxes of crackers, and five pounds of pork sausage, and the giblets out of Loretta's turkey. I intend to throw in a hand-full of sage, a few diced onions and assorted other seasonings. Then I plan on plugging the machine into the juice and letting nature take its course for about 45 minutes.

I intend to haul nature's course in five gallon buckets back to Paint Lick and dump it into the turkey carcass. Hopefully we'll have enough to get about the rib-cage.

Depression Days and Today's Values of the Work Ethic

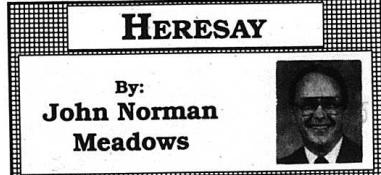

The other day I ran into one of our leading business men and while talking about my writings of "the good old days" the subject of the youth of today not knowing about the hardships of the past came up. This caused me to do a little thinking about the depression days and how many of us had to make do with so little. It also made me wonder about what poverty really is. That word is used too often and loosely. Poverty is not always just the lack of money but is the attitude we have about the lack of it. And the word "poor" is not a word to be proud of nor ashamed of. I hate the expression, "come to my house and I will show you how poor people live," when those speaking the words probably never knew what really being poor was about. Nor do I like to see those who have risen above the poverty line look back in disdain at those who have not been so fortunate.

The days of the great depression, back in the late twenties and early thirties, is proof that money is not always the answer to family unity and happiness nor does it always make one rich or poor. But it sure is nice to have enough around to make life comfortable.

During the Great Depression my family, especially my father, would have been humiliated and hanged his head in shame had he been called poverty stricken or poor, although we had very little money for anything but the necessities of living from day to day. There was no such thing as welfare or subsidies for food, rent, heat and all the other comforts of life and had there been we would not have accepted it. We considered ourselves middle class people who worked for our bread by the sweat of our brow and when work was not available we lightened our belts and made do with what we had.

I was from a large family of nine children and by the time the depression was in full force some of my older siblings had married and started their own families and, due to lack of work they, with their offspring, moved in with us. We absorbed them into our life and made do with more vegetable meals and crowded sleeping space. This was no sacrifice on our part for we once again had little ones in our home that added spice to living. Odd jobs were accepted by anyone who had the ability to work

HERESAY

By: John Norman Meadows

PRECIOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and alterations from the bustling burg of Wald, one-time winter home of the late state senator, Arligus T. Depperson, who more than once was heard to say, "Be thankful you have a door from which to keep the wolf away."

Speaking of thankfulness, I'm reminded of an embarrassing moment back in the early sixties, in the Blue Boar Cafe on Fourth Street in Louisville. A group of us seminarians decided that we wanted better food than what was offered in the seminary cafeteria. Bill Weller, who roomed with me for a semester at Cumberland College, had come to the seminary for a day's visit, thinking he might enroll the next semester. I invited him to have lunch with us. (Do you remember when the noon meal was "dinner" and the evening meal was "supper"?)

Five of us rode downtown in my car. Once inside the Blue Boar, we found a table, made our orders, and chit-chatted until our plates arrived. I asked Bill to offer thanks.

Now, beloved, my way of saying thanks in a public place is to simply bow my head and silently "think" my prayer to the Almighty. And when in a group, someone will be asked to lift a word of gratitude, and that will be done in a voice that is barely more than a whisper. The intent is to reverence the Almighty and thank him that we are able to have the meal before us - without being "showy."

Nor so with Bill! Before I tell you what he did, let me say that after two years of college, Bill felt led to go into full-time evangelism. And he was effective! After a year or so he accepted a pastorate in an eastern Kentucky county-seat town. Under his leadership, that church grew. Bill had folks "walking the aisle" at every service. He truly was a "soul winner" and taught others to do the same. If I had to describe Bill with one word that word would be "enthusiasm."

Bill's fervor was up front when we came upon each other that morning in the seminary book

Lifelines

Life truly begins at fertilization. At fertilization, when the sperm and the ovum meet to form a single cell, a new human life is created.

All characteristics of each person—sex, eye, shoe size, intelligence, etc.—are determined at fertilization by the baby's genetic code in the 46 human chromosomes.

Every person begins as a separate single cell; nothing new is added but oxygen and nutrition. If the process is not interrupted, a human being will live about nine months in the mother's uterus and decades outside it. That person has never existed before and will never exist again.

After three weeks from conception, the baby's heart has begun to beat and pump blood. The baby's blood type is often different from the mother's blood type. At six weeks the baby has brain waves that can be measured with an electroencephalogram. At seven weeks the baby swims freely in the amniotic sac with a natural swimmer's stroke. Even while the baby is moving around in the uterus, the mother does not begin to feel the baby until about four-and-half months into pregnancy. At nine weeks the baby is very active. This activity can be seen by the parents through the means of the ultrasound scanning technique. This wasn't a common procedure when I was having my children, and I wish it had been, because I didn't know these wonderful stages of prenatal life. It is common now for the parents to view the child's activity and receive a photo of the baby. At ten-eleven weeks old the baby can "breathe" amniotic fluid and urinate. At this stage he or she will seize an object placed in the hand. At eleven weeks the baby has all organ systems; skeletal structure, nerves, and circulation. The eyelids, nails, and fingerprints have been developed at this stage also. At fourteen weeks the baby's heart is pumping several quarts of blood through the body every day. The baby can experience pain, for all body parts are developed including the nerves, spinal cord, and thumbs. At eighteen weeks (4 1/2 months) the unborn baby is perfectly formed. Inside the mother, this baby could have been legally killed.

Viability is the time when a baby is able to survive outside the mother. Not long ago viability was at thirty weeks; then it was at twenty-five weeks. Now viability is even earlier. What will it be in the following years as man is constantly making progress and technology is advancing at such a fast rate?

and all money earned was put into the household kitty, but my dad, whose job had not been affected, shouldered the main load without a whimper. He was the only one in the household of twelve people with a full-time job.

My mother and sister-in-law, being excellent light bread and doughnuts makers, would sit up all night baking and deep frying them and when morning came my brother would put warm loaves of bread and hot yeast doughnuts in a big basket and go from door to door selling them to those who still had jobs and could afford to buy them. He built up quite a trade and his hot bread and doughnuts were quite popular in our neighborhood. Those that didn't sell were contributed to and eaten by the family (my mouth waters when I think of it).

Walking back then was not for those who wanted exercise, it was necessity of life to get to and from work and church and the grocery store. If a family had one car they were lucky and it was used for family outings and big item shopping. Most of the grocery shopping was done locally and carried home in one's arms. Precious gas was not wasted on a trip to the store when there were kids around that could carry the groceries. And the kids in our family dared not refuse to do so. This was the era before kids ruled the family roost and told the parents what they would and would not do. We shared and shared alike in all things including work.

This was also the era when we did our mending and making over clothes that were hand-me-downs from the older ones. I even remember mending my silk hose. A piece from the top to the stocking could be cut and carefully sewed to the worn out heels so one could not even detect where they were hand-me-downs. It could be mended by very carefully using a fine thread of the same color in a very fine needle and pick up the stitch then weave it back in all the way to where it had begun to unravel. We were not called poor, poverty stricken or disadvantaged, we were average people making do with what we had. My dad put half soles on shoes as they were worn out and mom lengthened dresses and coats to fit the next in line for them.

Most of our entertainment was playing games with one another. Rook, flinch, old maid, jacks and pick-up-sticks were common games we all were expert at and not only the children played them the adults in our household played right along with the youngest ones. That was how the young ones learned, not only play games but how to be a part of the family. One use of our car was to take us, usually the whole family, on picnics and to the country where we could go swimming in a cool clear stream of water. This was our favorite pastime.

Church was an important part of our life and I seldom missed a service even though I had to walk a couple of miles each way to get there. Neither rain, snow nor sleet stood in my way when there was a revival going on. When we, my younger brothers and sisters, would get home there was usually hot cocoa and toast waiting for us. My mom could make the best cocoa and that, with toast made with butter and sugar melted into it, was the best snack one could wish for. Then, after church on Sunday, the young folks to church and a nice treat at our house and we would usually end up hiking in the hills that surrounded us.

Back then boredom was a strange word for us for who could dream of being bored when there was so much to do? The boys and sometimes us girls would play marbles for hours on end, and jumping rope and playing hop-scotch was always fun and didn't cost a penny. There were always books around that had a world of knowledge tucked away inside them and many dreams were about the characters in them. These were character-building books that encouraged us to reach for the better things in life.

Poor? Poverty Stricken? For those in today's world of too much money and handouts maybe we were, but for those of us who weathered the storm of depression and low income problems, too many in a house built for a small family, and a dad and mom who abhorred welfare and honored hard work and getting by with what we had instead of what we wanted, we were rich, rich indeed.

My own three children went through many of these same problems of poverty as they grew up. We were in a depressed area of the county so they didn't have many of the conveniences of today's more affluent society. They learned that work came before pleasure and their pleasure was much the same as mine had been. We played numerous games and had the blessing of owning good books that both their dad and I honored and encouraged them to read. Their lack of modern entertainment did not hurt their character neither did the work they had to perform for each one of them are professionals in the field of their choice and they also are "rich indeed", not by money standards perhaps but in the satisfaction of being who and what they are. They may not have the spit and polish of concerts and fine dining in their past but they have the knowledge of how to do an honest day's work, read and understand the classics or the modern fiction of today's culture and can now go to any of these places of refinement if they so desire.

Do the young folks of today understand these things we thought in years gone by and would they appreciate them if they did? I hope so, for they are our future and I trust them to have the ability and stability to face it with the same hopes of a better life ahead that I faced it with.

Merrill and Melinda Brown would like to announce the birth of their son, Austin Kain Brown, born August 24, 1995 at Lake Cumberland Regional Hospital in Somerset. He weighed 9lbs., 11/2 ozs and was 20 1/2 inches long. He was welcomed home by his brother, Aaron Keith Brown. His proud grandparents are Kenny and Debbie Higgins of Orlando and Merville and Rita Brown of Orlando.

Assuming we get all the Clorox rinsed out of Tim's washing machine, I ought to have the best stuffing anyone will sink a tooth into come Thursday. If it does wind up tasting like bleach, I'm going to ask all our dinner guests to join a class-action suit against the Water District for getting carried away with the purification process. I won't be confessing anything about the wringer washer turned stuffing maker.

Actually we're having a Thanksgiving supper because daughters Jennifer and Carol as well as son-in-law Dana have to work all day. Which means that I get to rabbit hunt till dark. I figure we'll have to put the bird in the stove sometime Wednesday night to get it done by meal-time anyway. And if you are good at heavy lifting, please give me a call late in the day. We may need some help getting it out of the oven. I'll even give you a mess of stuffing to take home with you. If things go as planned there ought to be plenty to go around.

National Literacy Week observed

National Literacy Week was observed recently in Rockcastle County. In the photo above, the Rockcastle County Family Resource Center, GED students and their teachers for migrant program gather with County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis as he signs the proclamation proclaiming National Literacy Week in Rockcastle County. From left: Tina Cruise, Anita Bradley, Helen Seagraves, Judge Carloftis, Betty Lewis, Peggy Kirby, Lisa Bosley, Dawn Quigley, and Bentley Martin.

Broadhead Elementary Family Resource Center provides the opportunity for community members to earn their GED close to home. On Thursday mornings from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. the center provides a location for the class to be held. Christian Appalachian Project provides a teacher to come to the center to work with the adult students. At the present time we have nine students enrolled in our class. If you are interested in attending you may get more information or register by calling Ms. Satica at 758-8512 or Dawn at 256-5307. Pictured above are Dawn Quigley, Joyce Soglor, Anna Gibson, Marvin Poynter and Helen Harrison.

RCMS 7th grade places 3rd in tourney

The 7th grade RCMS boys basketball team captured third place last week end in the Laurel County Hall of Fame Tournament. The Rockets opened the six team tournament in exciting fashion as they came back from 10 points down to defeat a very good Lincoln County team 30-29. Greg Harper led the Rockets with 10 points.

Rockcastle then advanced to the semifinals to face North Laurel. The Rockets jumped out to a five-point lead but the physical play of North Laurel helped them to take a 6 point halftime lead at 25-19. Rockcastle got within three in the fourth quarter but could not get any closer, losing 46-34. Josh Singleton was high point man with 18, eleven of which came in the second half.

The Rockets then played Jackson County for third place and came away with a 49-26 win. The Rockets came out blazing as Christopher Parsons hit four three-pointers to propel Rockcastle to a 30-19 lead at the break. Jackson County could not get any closer as it was a total team effort for Rockcastle with nine players in the scoring column.

The Rockets, now 2-1, will travel to Richmond to face a good Madison Middle team on November 27th at 6 p.m.

Eighth grader Brandi Linville, #33, goes for two of her 11 points in the RCMS girl's tournament game at Meece Monday night. The girls ended their season with a 51-50 loss to South Laurel in the semi-finals of their tournament. The girls had a 10 point lead in the third quarter but couldn't manage to hold on for the win.

A Tribute to Two Brothers

Charlie and Loyd Ball (son of Major and Jenny Ball) They were brothers, only one and one half years apart in age, and from childhood thru adulthood showed a closeness of two brothers that would be hard to be beaten by any others. As children they played, argued and agreed, as teenagers they worked with a team of horses and as they went into adulthood they went to work for the railroad, as their Pap did. They had a relationship no one could destroy. They were always there for each other thru the good and bad times of their lives.

They married - one had thirteen children, the other had one child. In 1974 when Daddy had a heart attack Uncle was there, giving his love and support to a heartstrick family. How Daddy's eyes would light up when Uncle walked thru his hospital room door. Two months later Daddy died and Uncle was there giving us love and support. In 1987 when Mom died Uncle was there with us, doing the same as he did for our Daddy.

During the years following Daddy's death, we would camp the old home place in Brush Creek with Uncle, Aunt Hazel, Mom and our Aunt Ellen Does. What fun, fellowship and love was shared by all of us at these campouts. Uncle extended his love to our children and probably has given us as many memories as he has us. Most of all - LOVE.

Last week on November 10, 1995, God called Uncle home to be reunited with his brother and loved ones who had gone before him. And we're sure this close brotherly love is continuing in heaven.

Rest in peace Uncle - thank you for the love you gave us on earth. We will miss you.

Absolute Estate Auction

of the late Mr. Clarence Bryant's
45 Acre Farm, in tracts
House, Personal Property & Tobacco Base
Saturday, December 2nd at 1:30 p.m.
Bowling Ridge Section of Rockcastle County

Location: From Brodhead, take West Street (Bowling Ridge Road) 2 8/10 miles to the auction. Auction signs are posted.

The heirs of the late Mr. Bryant have authorized our firm to sell his farm and personal property at absolute auction.

This farm consists of 45 acres, more or less, and will be offered in tracts. The tracts will vary in size and most will include both pasture land and woodland. A copy of the new survey was not available at press time; however, next week's ad will give description of the individual tracts. The property has city water available and fronts on blacktop. The farm will be offered in tracts, then combined, selling in whatever manner reflects the best returns for the sellers.

The basic tobacco allotment for the farm is 594 lbs. which will be offered separately and with the farm in its entirety. The effective allotment for 1996, based on the present quota, would be 1171 lbs.

The property is improved with a frame house, which has living room, kitchen and dining area combination, 3 bedrooms, family room and bath. It has a fuel oil furnace, partial aluminum siding, is partially carpeted and has some linoleum. There is a partial unfinished basement and more.

In addition to the house, there is a stock and tobacco barn measuring approximately 24x45.

Personal Property to be sold includes: couch, twin bedroom suite, full size wood bed, metal wardrobe, metal kitchen cabinet, automatic washer, dryer (needs repairs), kerosene heater, electric heater, grinder and more.

Terms: 20% down day of sale for the real estate with the balance due in 30 days with delivery of deed. Cash or good check day of auction for the personal property.

Announcements day of sale take precedence over printed matter.

Love Lights a Tree project will be dedicated December 2

'Tis the Season of Giving ... and you can give something very special this Christmas season.

Love Lights A Tree is a fundraising project which brings the Honor Gift Memorial Program to the community in a meaningful and dignified manner, resulting in increased public awareness and donations to the American Cancer Society.

The program provides individuals and businesses throughout the community with an opportunity to recognize or memorialize someone special by sponsoring a "gift of love" in the person's name. The gift is represented by an angel, symbolizing hope, on the Christmas tree, which will be located in Young's Pharmacy. Each $5 or more contribution is acknowledged by placing a unique handmade angel on the tree. All donors receive acknowledgement cards and can pick up their angel after the first of the year at the Rockcastle Co. Health Dept. Remember, the angel you purchase will be displayed on the tree through Christmas. The name of the person you choose to honor will be written on the angel's wings as a permanent memorial.

A donation box and information will be located at Young's Pharmacy. Additional information can be obtained by contacting any member of the Rockcastle Co. Chapter of the American Cancer Society -- call the health dept. at 256-2242 and ask for Beverly, Ruth, Kim, Susan, Roxanne, Cindy or Vickie. Implemented to its fullest advantage, Love Lights A Tree can be a prime source of funds in supporting the American Cancer Society programs of research, education and patient services. All money raised will go to the ACS. The ACS provides agencies such as the health dept. with pamphlets, models and other needed materials used in cancer education for the public.

The tree will be dedicated December 2 during the Christmas parade. All sponsors who contributed toward purchase of the tree will be recognized at that time.

Two years ago today, When you were called away, You were talking on the phone, When the angels called you home.

The chilly wind will blow, Over our beautiful rose, In the winter you sleep beneath a blanket of snow, In the summer green grass and wild flowers will grow.

As you walk slowly down the lane, Someday, you'll hear me call your name. We've shared our cup of joy. But, love is one gift death cannot destroy.

In Loving Memory of Wayne Hysinger 1936 - 1993

Two years ago today, When you were called away, You were talking on the phone, When the angels called you home.

The chilly wind will blow, Over our beautiful rose, In the winter you sleep beneath a blanket of snow, In the summer green grass and wild flowers will grow.

As you walk slowly down the lane, Someday, you'll hear me call your name. We've shared our cup of joy. But, love is one gift death cannot destroy.

Little Richard asks where you are, I tell him, you are a Heavenly Star. There is no one can take your place, Someday again, I'll see your smiling face.

We were married over 37 years. Now, I'm left alone with my tears. One day, we'll meet at that land And will sing with the Angel Band.

Sadly missed, Wife Bonnie, Ricki, Little Richard and family

A Simple Thank You

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my friends and relatives who were so kind and thoughtful during my illness. There were many churches that had prayer for me during my illness and I received many phone calls, cards and messages from well wishers.

I had many visitors at the hospital and at home and I would like to thank them. If I have left anyone off this list, I want to thank you for me. Those visiting me from Mt. Vernon were: Mr. and Mrs. Edd Croucher, Sylvester Cope, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Gregory, Jerry Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Stacy McCracken, Wayne Sparks, Bro. Harvey Penso, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chastan, Mrs. Eva Blair, Cleus Peters, Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander, Bodie Barnett, Boyd Wren, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isaacs and sons and Clarence Hall.

Visitors from Berea were Mike Gay, Bro. John Dodson and Jenny, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Allen Alexander, Larry Phillips, Mrs. Sharon Lakes, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ingram and daughter, Penny, David McFarland and daughter, Jimmy Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Abney, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Gabbard, Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Gadd, Lloyd Lamb and daughter, Donna.

Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cope of Big Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pleasant of Richmond, Mrs. Thretha Alexander of London, Ms. Lorene Napier of Everts, Ms. Lena Begley of LeFunion, Ky, Mrs. Anna Carey, daughter Kim Whatterberger and granddaughter, Kennetha of Crossville, Tn. and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Whitehouse of Louisville.

Most of all, and above all, I want to thank God for being with me. God Bless you all Eugene Alexander

4-H Talk meet will be November 28th at MVES

The Rockcastle County 4-H Council will hold their Annual 4-H Talk Meet on Tuesday, November 28th at 6:00 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

The deadline for schools to call in their representatives to the Extension Office is WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 22nd. To help the Extension Office Staff prepare the program for the Talk Meet, please have the following information: Participant's Name, Date of Birth, Address, Grade, Teacher, School and Title of Speech.

- 7) The participant and those who may work with him should be familiar with:
- Objectives of the 4-H Talk Meet Program.
 - Judge's Score Sheet.
 - Selecting and preparing the speech.
 - Pointers for giving a speech.
- 8) Each contestant will be introduced along with the title of their speech by the Room Chairman.
- 9) After being introduced, the speaker will present his speech and should not repeat the title of his speech.
- 10) Each representative for the County Talk Meet must register by calling the Extension Office at 256-2403 by Wednesday, November 22nd. We need the participant's name, date of birth, full address, grade, teacher, school and title of speech.
- 11) Each representative for the County Talk Meet should be aware that if they win first or second place in their age category, they will have the opportunity to go to the Area Contest which will be in April of 1996 in conjunction with the Area Demonstration Contest and Variety Show.

Talk Meet Rules:
 1) Any boy or girl, age 9-19, may participate in the 4-H Talk Meet Program. (The participant does not presently have to be enrolled in 4-H.)
 2) The top speeches from each grade will compete against other youth of their own age category and not necessarily against their grade. The age category is determined by their age on January 1, 1996.
 3) 4-H'ers CANNOT use the same speech this year in the county speech contest if he or she won with that speech at the county, area or state level last year.
 4) Junior age categories are 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13. Senior age categories are 14, 15, and 16-19.
 5) Junior age category talks are to be 5 to 7 minutes long. Senior age category talks are to be 5 to 7 minutes long.
 6) A participant may secure assistance from anyone he chooses in writing or preparing his talk. There is no specific topic; any suitable topic can be used.

PTA meeting held at Brodhead

The P.T.A. meeting was held on Thursday, Nov. 9. The Cubs had the program and Miss Rita's and Miss Jennifer's class square danced. Then Mrs. Harrison's class and Mrs. Thompson's class sang "Thanksgiving Rock" and "No More Kings". Mrs. Jennifer Addison won the door prize which was donated by Food Land, a $15 gift certificate.

The Class That Reads Together ...

Students at Brodhead Elementary School in Mrs. Harrison's and Mrs. Thompson's class are shown as they enjoy a reading session in the afternoon. The classes join together for these sessions and an article below by Brandon Cole and Heather Hopkins tells about the learning experience.

Samantha Erin Payne celebrated her first birthday November 13, 1995. Samantha is the daughter of Sandra Graves-Payne and Scott Payne. Her maternal grandparents are Roy and Chlorine Graves of Brodhead and paternal grandparents are Clyde and Faye Payne of Mt. Vernon.

Happy 19th Jason Alcorn "On Turkey Day" P.S. Guess Who wishes you a Happy Birthday!

Mrs. Harrison's class and Mrs. Thompson's class read almost every afternoon before we go home. Sometimes we buddy read and sometimes we read independently. We get to pick any book we want to read. Sometimes Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Thompson lets somebody get up in the front of the room and read a story to the class. Mrs. Harrison or Mrs. Thompson reads to the whole class. Sometimes we have to act it out and sometimes we have to dress up when we act it out. Sometimes we get to read anywhere we want to. We get chapter books and we get easy and some hard books. When we buddy read we get to read with a partner and when we read independently we read ourselves. Mrs. Harrison has two bookshelves full of books. Mrs. Thompson has one bookshelf full of books. Sometimes we read a book and do a book report on the book that we had read. We do reading reports on lots of the books that we read. We just write about the books and we do many, many, many, many things.

WE LIKE TO READ!

Nook "Bill," I said, "It's great to see you!" "Johnny, he replied, "And I'm glad to see you. How many souls have you woft to the Lord this week? That moment was a tad embarrassing because my soul tally for the week was zilch. On to the Blue Boar. Bill pushed back from the table, stood up, moved his chair out of the way and knelt on one knee to offer thanks. I saw heads turn in our direction. Bill commenced his prayer in a voice that was heard all over the restaurant. "Almighty God, we pause here today to give you thanks for the food that we are about to partake." I was glad my head was bowed.

I don't remember how long that prayer lasted, but it seemed like it would never end. And just before it did end, Bill prayed for everyone in the restaurant. I wanted to sneak away when he said, "Lord, if there be a lost soul under the sound of my voice, let him be reminded that a burning hell awaits those who do not know your son in the free pardon and forgiveness of sin."

When Bill finally finished preaching a sermon by way of prayer, we raised our heads. The others guys were red-faced, and the heat of my cheeks told me I was of that hue too.

Dear hearts, to this day I'm ambivalent about that experience. I really think Bill overdid it, but on the other hand I cannot say he was totally in the wrong. His manner would appeal to some religious folks; to other devout folk it would be a turn-off.

I also recall another prayer occasion when my response was more bewilderment than it was embarrassment. It was the preacher for a revival meeting in a church in Ohio, just a few miles across the river from Maysville. After singing a hymn or two, the pastor said, "It's prayer time. Come to the altar." And they did just that, at least half of the congregation, with the men on one side of the pulpit and the women on the other. The pastor uttered a couple of words of his prayer and the whole host of "prayer warriors" set in to doing the same.

Now I was up there in the pulpit, kneeling beside my chair. But I wasn't praying. I was listening in amazement to a congregational cacophony, the very opposite of symphony.

And talk about loud! I could only pick out one voice among the fifty plus people on their knees. He entreated a decibel or so above all others. The ado was so loud that I began talking to myself, not praying. Eventually, I did address the Almighty: "Lord, how long will this take? How do they know when to quit?"

I soon got an answer. The man who prayed above all others turn his volume up another notch, and immediately I could tell folks were winding down. And one by one they said "Amen" until the only one praying was the exceptionally loud man, and he shut down the season of prayer.

Now, beloved, that kind of praying I never was and never will care for as we Wabonians are wont to say. But I cannot tell you it is wrong. It is just not right for me.

Oops! I must go feed the chickens and feed the hogs. But before I depart, let me share a conclusion I've come to after years of observation: Congregations differ as much by how they worship as by what they believe. Maybe more so.

Until next week, dearly beloved — the Almighty willing — consider the wisdom of the late Mary Beezelhaus, long-time teacher of music at the Mt. Vernon High and part-time provider of Zillidilly's Really Good War Remover for Pensioners, who said to her Sunday School class at Harmony Chapel Church out on Big Split Road: "Let's not speak disparagingly of those who pray only when in trouble. At least they know who to turn to."

50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wyatt (Polly Lengfeller) will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Thanksgiving Day. They were married November 23, 1945 at Danforth Chapel on the Berea College Campus with Dr. Gordon Ross officiating. The Wyatts have lived in Berea all their married life and have three sons, George, Larry and Terry, and four grandchildren. Charlie and Polly are best known for their love of roller skating and built Club Arena Skating Rink in 1960 and continue to own the center. Their sons will host an open house and reception, in honor of their parents, at Club Arena on north Broadway in Berea on Sunday, November 26, 1995 from 2:30 to 5 p.m. The public is invited. The Wyatts request no gifts.

ited Dorothy's family members here a few days last week.

Mrs. Janet Ridgill and daughter Sherry and I attended revival services at the Copper Creek Baptist Church one night recently. Wayne Miller was the Evangelist and he delivered such a spiritual message. He pastored the Red Lick Baptist Church in Madison County. Featured that night were the Red Lick choir. And Oh! What singing they did. I haven't heard singing like that in years. The music too was great. We really enjoyed it. May God bless that church and all others is my prayer.

Hubert and I visited Eugene and Hallie Alexander Friday and enjoyed our visit. They miss not being able as yet to go to church. They are dedicated church attendants and like to visit the sick.

Another person that just loves and enjoys visiting the sick is my brother, Tip Reppert. He visits so many people and I thank God for his dedication to those folks who are lonely and some who are sad and neglected.

Well, Thanksgiving time is here again and I just wish everyone a happy time. Just remember to give God thanks for your life, family, friends and the good all U.S.A.

By Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Hello to everyone. I'm writing this on Saturday morning as the Signal will be printed early next week on account of Thanksgiving.

On November 12, we had 97 for Sunday School and a good number for worship services both morning and evening.

To all those who have lost loved ones recently we extend our heartfelt sympathy to them. Included is Mrs. Margaret Linville, Mrs. Hazel Mullins, Recie Wren, Harold Todd, Mrs. Joyce Brown and Mrs. Jean Nunnehy. There are many families at this Thanksgiving time whose hearts are broken, so sad and lonely. We all need to give them our love, prayers and support. And not only for today, but for the future too. Grief lasts a long time when we lose a loved one. So I pray that God will comfort each one.

I am thankful to be able to report the improvement in health of Eugene Alexander and Bill Patrick. They both underwent surgery recently and we thank the good Lord that they are doing better.

Delores Abright visited with Hubert and me one day last week. It was so good to see her. Everyone is so busy in this world of ours today. They don't have time to do the things that they want to do. But we can always love others even if we don't see them very often. Love can extend over the miles and around the world. Dorothy Lambert and Mary Lou Reynolds of Augusta, Georgia vis-

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

A. B. CHANDLER III
144 CAPITOL ANNEX
FRANKFORT 40601

To the People of Kentucky
Honorable Brereton C. Jones, Governor
Ms. Crit Luellen, Secretary
Finance and Administration Cabinet
Ms. Kim Burse, Secretary
Revenue Cabinet
Honorable George C. Carlotofis, County Judge/Executive
Members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

We have audited the statement of receipts, disbursements, and excess fees of the County Clerk of Rockcastle County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 1994. This financial statement is the responsibility of the County Clerk. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the AUDIT GUIDE for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. These standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The County Clerk is required to prepare her financial statement on a prescribed basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the cash basis and laws of Kentucky, which is the basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and excess fees of the County Clerk for the year ended December 31, 1994, in conformity with the basis of accounting described above.

Respectfully submitted,

A. B. Chandler III
Auditor of Public Accounts

Audit fieldwork completed - August 14, 1995
The above transmittal letter accompanied the audit report presented to the fiscal court. KRS 43.090(2) requires that this letter be published in this newspaper. Copies of the complete audit report, including the accompanying financial statements and additional information are available upon request by contacting the State Auditor of Public Accounts, 144 Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Arts Council presents "AMA"

The Rockcastle Council for the Arts will present "AMA and the White Crane" on Saturday, December 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Rockcastle County High School auditorium.

Through the use of Japanese Kabuki theatre conventions, puppetry and story-theatre this original plot unfolds the adventures of Ama and her hand puppet/companion, White Crane, as they journey to the tip of Mount Sumeru, legendary Center of the Universe. The comic samurai, Sukeroku and Jiro, befriend the young girl and help her as she overcomes the evil power of the dreaded Demon-With-The-Changeable-Face. Each disguise of the Demon (the Demon of Thunder and Lightning, the Evil Water Sprite, the Ferry-Boat Drive, the Mistress of the Mists of Forgetfulness, and Snow Woman - whose icy embrace brings death) creates both suspense and humor with the Demon inevitably overcome by the ingenuity of AMA.

"Increasing enforcement of drunk driving, safety belt and speeding violations is the main goal of this campaign," Peter explained. "Local law enforcement agencies and the State Police are working together in an equal partnership to reduce fatalities in this state."

Of the 14 fatal crashes last Labor Day weekend, six were alcohol-related. Abstaining from alcohol if you're driving or designating a sober driver is the safest bet. But Commissioner Peter suggests motorists watch for drunk drivers, as well, and encourages travelers who spot someone driving erratically to call the toll-free KSP hotline 1-800-222-5555. Callers, who can remain anonymous, should give a description of the vehicle, its location and the direction headed, and a license number if possible.

Using your safety belt and placing children 40 inches and under in federally-approved child safety seats is one of the smartest defensive measures a driver can take. Peter reminds Kentuckians that not using safety restraints is a violation of state law as well as a grave risk. "Of the 20 people who died in traffic crashes last Thanksgiving, 12 weren't wearing safety belts and eight were ejected from their vehicles. Being thrown from your car or truck increases the odds of death."

Speeding is one of the top factors in traffic crashes and, during Thanksgiving, people are often racing to get from one holiday gathering to another. Giving yourself plenty of travel time will help offset delays due to inclement driving conditions or heavy traffic; getting your vehicle checked and "winterized" will help prevent any breakdowns on the road.

Thanksgiving is a National C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) holiday, which means state and highway patrol agencies across the nation are joining in a concerted effort to reduce motor vehicle crashes through traffic safety enforcement.

This year's official Thanksgiving enforcement period will run from six p.m., Wednesday, November 22, until midnight, Sunday, November 26.

You don't have to travel for the latest in medical technology. At Rockcastle Hospital we are proud to offer such services as nuclear medicine to our patients. Since 1993 this high-tech service has been available right here in your community. Think about it, why travel when you can get the care from people who are concerned about your family and our community.

Rockcastle Hospital

Newcomb Ave. • Mt. Vernon • 256-2195

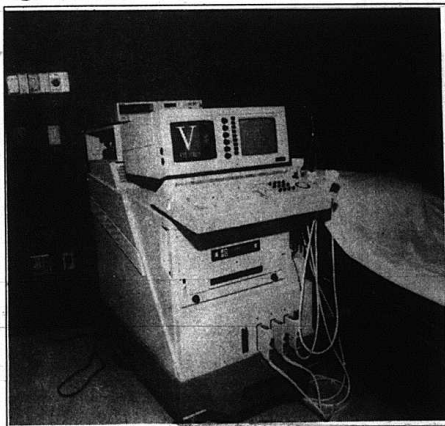

Nuclear Medicine Installed in 1993

Exams performed in nuclear medicine include:

- Bone scans which help detect bone cancer, arthritis, osteomyelitis and stress fractures.
- Lung scans show blood clots in the lung.
- HIDA or gallbladder test will evaluate the function of the gallbladder.
- Thyroid scan detects most thyroid diseases.

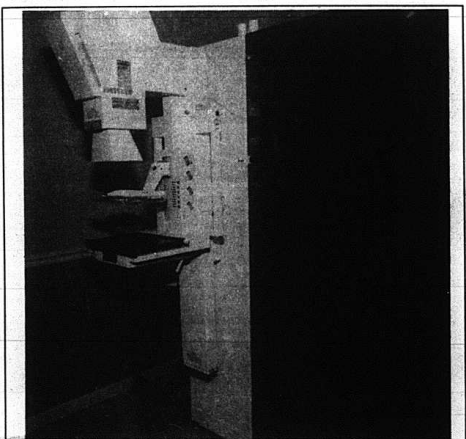

The new Disonic color-flow machine installed August, 1995

Color-flow is an added feature to our new ultrasound machine. Below is a list of diseases that color-flow enhances:

- stenosis caused by plaque
- leaky valves within the heart
- absent blood flow in arteries
- blood clots in the legs

G.E. Mammography machine installed in 1993. Accredited by American College of Radiology.

Current Statistics say that one of nine American women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. Mammography screening has become an important tool in the fight against breast cancer. The American Cancer Society recommends a baseline mammogram at age 35 and screening mammograms every one or two years for women, age 40 to 50. After 50 years of age, they recommend routine annual screening.

Turkey Season

By: Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

The months of November and December are prime turkey season...turkey eating season, that is. If your family is having turkey for the holidays, chances are you will have leftover turkey in the days following. Leftover turkey should be refrigerated or frozen as soon as it is cool. If the leftovers will be eaten within 2 days, they turkey can be stored in the refrigerator; otherwise, it should be frozen. Here are some recipes to add some zest to those turkey dishes:

TURKEY BROCCOLI QUICHE

- 1 1/2 cups diced turkey
- 1 10-ounce package frozen broccoli cuts, thawed and drained
- 1 cup mild cheese, grated
- 2 TBSP diced green onion
- 9 to 10-inch deep pastry shell, unbaked
- 3 eggs
- 1 1/2 cups lowfat milk
- 1/4 tsp. poultry seasoning, or herb or savory or marjoram dash of pepper and paprika

Pre-bake a pastry shell for 8 minutes in a 375 degree oven and cool for 15 minutes. Carefully combine turkey, broccoli, cheese and green onions. Turn into pastry shell, spreading evenly. Beat eggs, milk, and seasonings until mixed but not frothy and pour evenly over turkey mixture. Bake in pre-heated 375 degree oven 55 to 65 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cut into small wedges and serve warm or at room temperature.

TURKEY WITH A TWIST

- 1/2 cup minced onion
- 2 TBSP butter or margarine
- 1 TBSP flour
- 1 1/2 cups prepared ranch salad dressing
- 1 1/2 cups cubed, cooked turkey
- 3 ounces twisted noodles
- 1/2 package (10-ounce size) frozen peas, thawed
- 1/8 to 1/4 tsp pepper, optional
- 1 tsp oregano
- 3 TBSP bread crumbs or croutons
- 1 TBSP melted butter or margarine
- tomato wedges, optional

Sauté onion in butter until tender. Stir in flour and cook until smooth and bubbly; remove from heat. Combine salad dressing, turkey, noodles, peas, pepper and oregano. Stir in onion mixture. Pour into shallow 1 1/2 quart casserole, mix bread crumbs (or croutons) and butter and sprinkle over casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Garnish top with tomato wedges, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

The Heart of Hospice - Volunteers

Each year, more than five million hours are spent by volunteers in the United States practicing selflessness -- giving back rubs and foot massages, cooking special meals, playing favorite games, taking care of household chores and just listening. Hospice volunteers provide these and many other services when caring for terminally ill patients.

Without these volunteers many of the personal services provided through Hospice would not be possible. In fact, nearly 80% of Hospice workers in the United States are volunteers who give their time to make life easier and more enjoyable for patients and families facing death.

Why Hospice?
Many of the volunteers are compelled to give of themselves after a personal or familial experience with hospice. Others may want to share the kindness they received when dealing with the death of someone close, who may not have been under Hospice care.

Volunteers are counseled first.
Hospice volunteers are trained rigorously to care for patients, and to assist and comfort those close to a terminally ill patient.

Going the extra step.
In addition to helping terminally ill patients live their last days to the fullest, Hospice volunteers may assist with financial and other personal matters that arise during and after the final stages of illness. For more information about becoming a Hospice of Kentucky River Volunteer, call Myrtle Griffin, secretary phone 256-3577.

1995 "M" Night Discipleship Rally

The Rockcastle Association of Missionary Baptist Churches will celebrate at their annual "M" Night Discipleship Rally on November 27, (Monday night) at 7:00 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon. The celebration will include rejoicing for the 100 years of Discipleship Training and 50 years of "M" Night Rallies by Southern Baptist Churches. Rev. Leon Greer, Associate in the KBC Discipleship Department, will present Discipleship Training Materials available for the coming year and the Rev. Jeffrey Eaton, pastor of First Baptist Church, Lawrenceburg, will bring an inspirational message from God's Word. Awards will be presented to the Church with the highest attendance, and the one with the largest percentage of DT enrollment present. The public is cordially invited to celebrate with us and enjoy the fellowship of your Baptist neighbors and friends.

GOD GAVE MAN THE ABILITY TO EXPLORE THE UNIVERSE

We are about to observe the anniversary of an event which no one could have imagined possible, except the producers of movies and comic books—the Apollo 11 voyage to the moon 21 years ago. The incredible journey through space, the perfect landing, the walk on the lunar surface in an alien environment, the sharp, clear pictures, and the safe return to earth all resulted from the mind-boggling advances in man's technology. However, let us remember that God created man and endowed him with the intelligence to accomplish these feats. The wonders of His universe are even now being brought ever closer to our eyes and our understanding. Thank Him at your House of Worship for His magnificent creation, and for giving us the ability to explore and comprehend it.

God obligeth no man to more than He hath given him ability to perform.
