RCHS FHA addresses organ donation issue

The Future Homemakers of America are taking on a big project this year. We are sponsoring a project which will promote organ donation. The club's making signs to be placed throughout the school encouraging the students and staff to sign their driver's license or carry a donor card.

For our March club meeting, we have invited special guest speakers who will tell the club about the importance of donating. Another special guest will be a young boy who has had two organ transplants. The FHA would like to invite any of the public who would like to attend. The meeting will be held at the Rockcastle County High School on March 14, 1996 at 8:45 a.m.

My Journey to Washington, D.C.
Hi, I'm Adam and I live in Mt. Vernon, Kentucky. I once visited Washington D.C. and I feel very lucky.

I saw the place where President Kennedy was buried. I also saw the guard and the gun that he carried. We visited the White House and the bed where Lincoln slept. The house and the grounds were very well kept.

I saw the Smithsonian and the Museum of Natural History. There were pretty things and ugly things there, and things of real mystery. We stayed for several days in this capital city. Then we had to head back home, it was such a pity.

Journey to the Water Park
Hi, I'm Dustin. Let's go to the water park. We've got a lot to do before it gets dark. First, let's go to the fastest slide. It's best because it's the most fun to ride. We climb up high all the way to the top. We slide back down to the water and BO! Next, we run to the tomatado slide. My mom is going down so let's hide. The tomatado slide is so round and curvy. That mom goes down in the inner tube swery. Next is the river ride. It's so slow, I'm beginning to think that it will be slow. Now let's go to the big wave pool. The waves get huge. It's so cool. Now it's time to leave the park. We must get home before it gets dark.

Journey to Cumberland Lake
Hi, I'm Jaelyn. I'm at Cumberland Falls. If you want to come, just give me a call. Here is my friend the snake. But he is really a great big fake. I have another friend, the bear. He's really a frightful scare. There's a honey in the trees. That attracts the bumblebees. There's lots of tourists all around. Every one hears the cheerful bird sounds.

There's a rainbow up above the trees and it's looking straight down at me. I think Cumberland Falls is really cool. But I know I need to stay in school. By: Jaelyn Consiglio Hi, I'm Melinda. I am at Lake Kecheeboe. Today I made a friend with the name of Coby. He's not your average pal but he would probably make a better friend than a wise old owl.

Journey to Cumberland Lake
Hi, I'm Trenton. I am at Cumberland Lake. A big fish I will take. I will throw out my bait on my hook hoping a big fish will hook. Then I can reel it in and take it home to cook in a pan. I know my fish will taste as good as can be. But when I eat it, it doesn't agree with me. I guess I can catch a big bass that is number 1 in class. I can take it home to put on my wall. It will look like it is 6 feet tall. When they see the fish, they will say, "I'm going fishing in Cumberland Lake someday." But my secret I won't tell. I know how to fish and I do it well.

Deep beneath the surface with a current moving fast many different fish swim past. When we got to the bottom of the lake right in front of us lay a snake. I saw a crapple and a bass. They both swim quite fast. As we were going back to the surface I suddenly got nervous for no good purpose. I guess it was because I saw a big Alligator!

So I said bye and see you later!

Journey to Canada!
Hi, I am Derrick and I want to tell a story. The story is about a boy but it is not a story. You may have guessed the boy is me. I want to tell you what I did see. The wait for the trip was long but after a while we were gone. When we got to Canada we got on a boat.

I was so glad it would float. I wanted a fish so bad when I got one I was glad. In all that water I saw a beaver. I thought at first I had a fever. I never got a chance to see a moose but I did get to see a Canadian goose. The leaves were rustling in my ears when I looked up and I saw a deer. What I call ducks they call loons. I knew we would have to leave soon. I don't want this trip to end I like having fun with my friends.

Journey to the Waters
Let me take you to the water. Compared to Kentucky it's a lot hotter. I forgot to mention my name is Justin. While you're there, you won't doing any dustin'. Let's go through this portal. In there there's never been a mazon.

We will be touring here. But please do not fear. We are going to Cumberland Falls. There are rocks the only walls: There are caves you can climb in. To go there you are destined. The falls rush down and make a roaring sound. I hope you enjoyed today. Next time we'll explore on a hot summer day.

Journey to West Virginia
Hi, my name is Robby-to West Virginia let's go. We'll have lots of fun, that I really know. Here are the mountains, they are very tall. Here are redbirds, they are colorful and small. Here is Camden Park. It has lots of cool rides. The "Wildcat" roller coaster is fast, and so are the slides. Here is the campground, it has a lake. We fished on a boat and my mom got baked.

That's all for our journey to West Virginia today. We'll go back this summer if dad says we may.

Laurel man killed in I-75 wreck

An early morning traffic accident last Thursday in Rockcastle County claimed the life of a London man and left two Laurel County women seriously injured.

Joey W. Bowling, 25, of 300 Reams Lane was killed when the car he was riding in was struck by a tractor trailer around 1:40 a.m. Thursday morning, less than five miles north of Mt. Vernon.

According to a State Police report, a 1996 Freightliner truck driven by William Lindsey, 46, of Newman, Georgia, was traveling south on I-75 in the right hand lane, directly behind two other cars.

The car immediately in front of the truck suddenly switched into the left lane to pass a slower moving car driven by Juanita Miller, 46, of London. The truck was unable to stop and rear-ended the Miller car, in which Bowling was a passenger in the back seat. Ms. Miller is thought to be the mother of Mrs. Bowling.

Bowling, who was self-employed in the lawn care business in London, was pronounced dead at the scene by Rockcastle County Coroner Billy Dowell.

His wife, 22-year-old Tonya Bowling, who is seven months pregnant, and Miller, were both flown to the University of Kentucky Medical Center with multiple injuries.

Members of the Mt. Vernon Fire Department had to use the jaws-of-life apparatus to take off the top of the car so the victims could be removed.

Mr. Bowling was the first person to die on Rockcastle roadways in 1996.

Two escape injury

Two persons were treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital, Saturday, when their car collided at US 150 and Freedom School Road.

Hulen J. Simpson, 72, of Crab Orchard, was forced to stop. When he applied his brakes, the car hydroplaned on the wet road.

He struck a car driven by Ralph K. Tipton, 37, who, police said, suffered multi-injuries along with Simpson.

Deputy Sheriff Nathaniel Price investigated the accident.

Fence damaged

Tex Seals, of Rt. 3, Brothead reported to Sheriff Deputies Sunday that someone ran a vehicle into his chain-link fence.

Seals told police someone came around a curve at his property and "took-out" about 100 feet of the fence. The person will face criminal charges, according to Deputy Nathaniel Price, who investigated.

"Shoveling" in Spring. . .

Jason Roberts was kept busy Wednesday morning clearing the parking lot at Carter's Market on the official first day of Spring. A late winter storm came in Tuesday night and by early Wednesday, there was several inches of snow on the ground and it was still falling. School children lost another day of school, moving their let-out date to June 11.

Older voters have best election turn-out

The highest percentage of Rockcastle Countians who voted in the last general election were in the 62 year-old and over age group, according to a report released by Secretary of State John Y. Brown III.

Of the 9,603 persons then registered in the county, 3,793 or 39.4 percent voted in the general election last November. A total of 47.7 percent of the county's 1,780 registered Democrats voted and 38.1 percent of the 7,638 Republicans in the county went to the polls. Of the 185 registered voters with no party preference or with a different political affiliation, 30 voted last November.

The statewide voter turnout for the last general election was 44.4 percent. Only 21 percent of the state's voters went to the polls for last year's May primary election.

The figures were compiled by the State Board of Elections which Brown chairs.

"The records from the last election show that voting increases as citizens age, a trend which has been consistent for the past 20 years," Brown said.

The lowest percent of votes cast were by those in the age range of 17 to 24-year-old, the figures show. Only one in five—20.5 percent—of Kentuckians in that age range voted in the last general election.

In the age category of 25 to 34 the percentage of votes cast increase to 29.7 percent and rose to 47.7 percent in the 35-49 year-old group.

Statewide figures show that 56.9 percent of the voters age 62 and over went to the polls last November.

Statewide figures show that 57.6 percent of the voters in the 50 to 62 age group voted and that 56.9 percent of the voters aged 62 and over went to the polls last November.

The percentage of women who voted compared to that of men who voted was about equal in the age groups of 17 to 24 and 25-34. Two percent more men than women voted in the 35-49 age group.

In the age category of 50 to 62 four percent more men than women voted. The largest difference between men and women voters was in the 62 and over category where 10 percent more men than women voted.

The percentage of difference between Democrat and Republican voting was no more than two percent in any age category, according to the statewide figures.

The percent of votes cast by voters registered as Independents of with party affiliations other than Democrat or Republican ranged from 9.6 percent in the youngest age group to 45.9 percent in the over 62-year-old category.

Reckless homicide verdict

Senters guilty of shaking his son to death

A Rockcastle County Circuit Court jury convicted a Livingston man on Tuesday night of reckless homicide for the shaking death of his 5-month-old son in 1993.

A jury recommended the maximum sentence of five years in prison for Paul Senters, 30, for the death of his infant son, Buster Wayne. Buster Wayne died on April 16 of 1993 at the University of Kentucky Medical Center after he was injured on February 9.

The reckless homicide conviction was the least serious verdict the jury could have reached and the five years in prison is the most the jury could have recommended to Circuit Judge William Cain.

Senters, who will remain under house arrest until his April 12 sentencing still faces three counts of first degree assault, stemming from incidents with another child.

When the trial began on Monday, local physical Dr. Karen Saylor testified that she became concerned about Buster Wayne in January of 1993 and alerted social services. She said that Buster Wayne had red spots on the baby's arm, head and neck "which indicated he might have been grabbed harshly or squeezed."

On Feb. 9, Buster Wayne was taken to the Rockcastle Hospital emergency room barely breathing. Dr. Saylor said that Buster Wayne eventually died because the soft spot on his head was swollen and hard.

State police detective Eddie Fierence played a tape on Tuesday in which Senters said that he shook his child because he was crying and wouldn't take a bottle.

But, when Senters took the stand in his own defense, he said that he lied to Det. Pierce about shaking the baby because he was crying and he (Senters) told a much different story about why he shook his child.

Senters testified that he shook the child because he was trying to get him to breathe. "I was starting to get pretty scared," Senters said. "I panicked. I just wanted to get him to start breathing again. I panicked and I shook him," he said.

Senters testified that he was home alone with his young twin sons Buster and Lester, when he noticed yellow mucus at Buster's nose and mouth and heard the baby gasp for air.

Senters testified that he didn't know that shaking Buster would hurt him.

Buster and Lester were born in 1992, four weeks prematurely.

Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Buzz Carlifos, who was on the jury said Wednesday that the trial was very difficult and that jurors weighed every piece of evidence presented them, before making their decision. The jury deliberated five hours.

Commonwealth Attorney Ray Carmichael said after the trial, that he was pleased with the verdict.

Portions of this story are reprinted from the Lexington Herald-Leader.

Rockcastle will receive $473,178

By: Ray McClure

A check for $473,178 will be forthcoming to Rockcastle County from the state in road funds under the County Road Aid Cooperative Agreement, approved by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court, at a meeting Wednesday.

It represents 80 percent of the total amount the county will receive, less 3 percent set aside for an emergency fund.

Last year's check was for $450,419. It increases slightly every year.

Other checks the county will receive will total about $112,000. The total amount for 1996-97, is about $562,419.

Family loses everything in house fire

A Mt. Vernon family escaped serious injury last Thursday morning, about 2 a.m., when their home was completely gutted by fire.

The home of Swannie and Eliza Cummins caught fire after a cigarette apparently ignited the couch in the living room of their Crawford Street home.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummins reportedly tried to carry the burning couch out on the front porch after they were awakened by the fire, according to Mt. Vernon department officials.

The Cummins were unable to get the couch out of the front door and had to exit the smoke-filled home in the rear.

Mrs. Cummins was hospitalized for smoke inhalation and has since been released from the hospital.

Some Mt. Vernon fire fighters were working on the interstate at the time of the wreck to free three Laurel County residents involved in a fatal crash. However several firefighters were on duty in the city and responded to the call. Some firefighters (Cont. to A10)

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Swannie Cummins on Crawford Street in Mt. Vernon was completely destroyed by fire early last Thursday morning. A trailer, sitting alongside the house, was damaged but city firemen managed to save it. The family lost everything in the fire.

Every once in awhile big city newspapers or regional periodicals will ask me to write up a book review for their particular publications. The so-called "rural" and "Appalachian" perspectives are coming back in vogue and I'm an easy mark because I fit both molds—and because it doesn't bother me to let folks know in fairly certain terms how I feel about stuff.

Normally they want exclusive rights (which means I can't publish it anywhere else) to the review and they want a review of something I've read already or if they suggest a title/author that sounds interesting and they're willing to send me a copy of the book for free. Normally it doesn't take much more than an hour for me to whip out a considered opinion of the book it's less complicated than The Holy Bible or Webster's Dictionary.

Better yet, some editors don't bat an eye at paying a hundred dollars or so for a book review. And, as I'm sure most of you folks who don't practice law or medicine already know, it's sometimes hard to find work that pays a hundred dollars an hour.

I recently submitted a review to the DetroitFreePress that they agreed to let me simultaneously publish in the Kentucky papers who so graciously and patiently carry my column. I thought you'd enjoy it and that it might also sell a book or two for one of my favorite writers. To save space, here's the review:

High atop one of the steepest mountains in eastern Kentucky, in 1923, a mountain man made his dream come true. H.D. Caudill dreamed that his children and his neighbor's children might be able to achieve high school educations without having to move to boarding schools away from home.

CARCASSONNE (say "kar-kä-sonne") High School was the realization of that dream and for 25 years the institution was regarded as one of the most remarkable and academically excellent educational endeavors in our country. It was supported by wealthy donors from all over the eastern United States and managed to recruit some of the best teachers and administrators in the land.

In short order, it also became a boarding school located in one of the most beautiful, however most unlikely places an outsider might imagine.

The author is a son of the school's founder. He graduated from Carcassonne School in 1933 and still lives near the premises. He is in his early eighties but his mind is sharper than most folks half his age. His observations and recollections of Carcassonne's founding and the story of his life there for most of this century compile one of the most heartfelt letters you will ever be privileged to read.

Clifton Caudill loves Carcassonne with deep, deep passion and his extended essay (that's what his book really is) becomes a lesson that should be read and remembered by every single person who professes love for eastern Kentucky. And if you want a real description of what it means to have real "community pride," I defy you to find a better example than the relationship Clifton Caudill has with Carcassonne.

The book is 91 pages of text printed on 8 1/2 x 11 with an additional 14 pages of photo-copied black and white photographs which work much better than my mighty imagine...

It is very plainly and fragorily, hand-bound in paper-back and, given its obvious need for a work that is generating much profit for the author.

It is so fragile, in fact, that I'm not loaning you my copy. You will feel the same way after you order yours.

over it about John having to buy a new stove because my head cracked up the one that we have now. Flossie said she didn't get out at all as she wasn't able to get out much. She said, "If I don't get better, I told Bill I would just as soon go on and be put out here in our new memorial ground that Bill gave the land for. It is where my sister, Cordy is buried."

Alva, Bill and Flossie's son-in-law, who lives by the place, put a cross to mark the dead and there were flowers that had withstood the weather.

I was talking on the phone to Marie Cobb Venable, Richard (deceased) my cousin's wife, about the deal that is being made for the Anglin Falls tract of land, which she owns. I have been following this as it is written in the papers so I asked Marie for news of it. She says it has been sold and the business finished.

I am so glad, as a lot of people are I'm sure, to see it all settled and the land will stay as is and named a John Stephens Park for he took a great interest in it.

It is now afternoon and the dark lowering clouds with a change in the weather tells me something is going to happen in nature.

I just heard the county names where the heavy 14 inches snow will fall but they didn't name Rockcastle nor Madison either one so unless the heavy snow changes its mind we will be safe.

My son, Russell, and his cute wife, Wilma, who works at the St. Elizabeth South Hospital near Covington, where Russell works, does nursing there too and it helps to be able to ride or eat together in the cafeteria.

They came down to visit us Sunday and took us out for dinner. I greatly enjoy not having to cook dinner nor wash dishes, just spending an afternoon of family visiting.

Another car pulled up in our driveway and I went out on the porch with Russell.

To my surprise, it was Ruth Reppert Gatliff who has recently moved to Berea from Indiana with her husband, Phillip.

Now I knew Ruth didn't come to borrow some coffee nor come to look next to the tall, handsome man with her and saw that it wasn't Phillip, so I knew it was someone pretty important. I knew this was my bad luck in not putting on my new lipstick that morning. You know how it is, girls.

Ruth started talking, "This is my brother from Pulaski County who came to visit us in our new location, James Reppert. He reads you all the time in the Signal and wanted to meet you.

They say first impressions are lasting but I sure hope the man didn't take his life. If he expected a great literacy from someone who writes a column for 5000 or more people, he was bound to have been disappointed saying to himself, "And this is the great retired teacher, who taught the fourth grade for 28 years then turned to writing of the people in Rockcastle and wherever she meets them."

I could almost read her mind. But he spoke differently. "I'd like to talk more with you," he said for we all were standing on our front porch, my son, and his wife who were leaving to go home.

I have lots of folks who want to talk to me, some on how life used to be or old timers who lived in Rockcastle before my time and I had heard of their life which was pretty rugged in early days in Kentucky.

I haven't gotten to spend anytime with Ruth yet for we have been friends since I started writing almost.

I told her one reason I kindly hated that she moved back to Kentucky was that I won't get those beautiful cards she would send me from Indiana.

She tells me she and Phillip have gotten well settled in their new place where they live, even to hanging the dish pan on a nail on the back porch.

Till next week, I will write some news I have had to hold back but will tell you of the gossip (if I find any) and any other kind. My head is still sore from my fall against the stove. Easter will be around soon and so will I to borrow some eggs.

I am in my office (kitchen) on Tuesday writing at my desk (table) when I heard John in the living room say, "Well tomorrow will be the first day of spring and I for one will be glad to see it. Sunny days, clear sky, flowers about to burst out on trees and bushes, and will I be glad."

About that time the T.V. changed channels and the announcer said "Tomorrow's weather will bring snow, heavy snow breaking down tree limbs, power lines and causing much trouble to the people."

Oh, what will it do to the flowers that have bloomed like the early March flowers and the sarvis trees with their white blossoms showing up in the gray of the woods. Violets with their purple flowers nestled on the creek banks that nature had given us to brighten our lives in these cloudy days.

Better bring in more firewood and stack it in the porch for we've got to get ready for the change in the outdoors as well as indoors.

Joe Abney called on his wife, Ruth, to bring out his long Johns since all this pretty weather had caused him to take his off.

"You had better get down Grandma's comforter from that old trunk I washed and put the comforter in. The weather turned so pretty I thought they could be put away," Ruth answered him.

Up the road from Joe's house Cleve Payne's television had gone out. He called a T.V. repair man to get it fixed before the bad weather got here. He would have nothing to do but sit and turn the pages of a Sears Roebuck catalogue to entertain himself.

"Cleve, go to the old store building across the road and bring me some kraut from the big jar sitting in the corner," Blanche told him. "There's nothing like cold kraut to eat when the weather turns bad."

You will have to do as I am going to, wait until Wednesday or Thursday to see if this all happens.

We heard yesterday that Edmund Todd had illness with his heart and had been operated on at the hospital.

He lives on the Berea Scaffold Cane Road. I could not reach his wife, Marie and I'm sure she is with him but I can't find out which hospital he is in. It must be a Lexington one. I pray that he recovers and God gives him strength again to live.

Flossie Stephens is ill and can't get out to stir about.

We went up there to see her and Bill, my cousin, Sunday afternoon. She had lost some weight and I understand why. If it Bill's cooking, I probably would too.

When I asked her what the most pressing part of her illness was now, she showed me a list of her ailments and it seemed like everything was on there except a pregnancy. So she wasn't having another kid! Sinus bothered her a lot, she said, and thyroid troubles in the glands around her neck. I was talking to Flossie and saying I had my troubles too since I fell inside my kitchen and it didn't hurt me at all. But I'm bound to feel it some more.

I know I've taken a lot of kidding

Dear Editor,
Due to budget cut-backs, our senior citizens program has suffered. In an effort to help with necessary expenses to keep the program operating, we are trying some fund-raising projects.

The Rockcastle County Senior Citizens will host a "Country & Bluegrass Music Evening" with Curt Roberts' Bluegrass Band this Friday, March 22, at 5 p.m. at the former skating rink on Hwy. 25 South.

Everyone is welcome! Come out and enjoy the evening. Tickets will be available at $3 each at the door or $2 in advance. Contact one of the senior centers, Juanita Davis or myself.

Enjoy a good supper of hot dogs, chili, desserts, and soft drinks which will be sold at reasonable prices. A door prize will be given and we have some very nice items to be raffled.

All proceeds will go to the senior citizens program. Have fun while helping us to help ourselves.

Thank you,
Tom Welch

Dear Editor,
January 20th was very cold day with leftover snow from Blizzard of '96 all around the county, but the clearness of a dark, cold, winter day quickly vanished and quickly turned into a bright and beautiful day with the arrival of a Ryder truck with two former Christian Appalachian Program volunteers from Butler, Ohio, who heard that we were in need of a number of necessities for the Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program and Ashlee's House Homeless Shelter.

Cathie Baier Kinley and her husband, Ken Kinley and a friend John Mack pulled into Camp H Storage on Hwy. 150, and began unloading mattresses, blankets, quilting materials, household items and clothing from a store that sold out and sent the items that were left. There were many nice and warm coats that were really needed, and also a sewing machine for the Quilting Bee. We were given a love offering of $800 from several individuals and the Presbyterian Women's Association and North Liberty UMC.

The donation will keep our doors open awhile longer while we try to get funding from other sources since we do not have FEMA help this year. This is a true example of "brotherly love." We are not represented by the Presbyterian or Methodist denominations in Rockcastle, but they have given us hope in helping our people in need. Hunger doesn't care what you believe in. It can affect anyone. No one is exempt from hunger, cold, homelessness, or joblessness. Our temperatures this year have been very cold. What would you do if your family didn't have heat and it was -20 outside? In the blink of an eye your life can change for good or for bad. We don't know what the future has in store, but we need to help those who have had some bad breaks or tragedy in their life thru no fault of theirs. Cathie was one of the first people I was involved in with CAP as a tutor and board member. Ken served in Berea as a volunteer recruiter. Their compassion still shines for others in need. God Bless everyone.

Big Tent Revival in concert March 25 at high school

The Rockcastle County Jaycees are sponsoring a Contemporary Christian-Rock concert at the RCHS auditorium on Monday, March 25. The group Big Tent Revival will live in concert at 7:30 p.m.

Big Tent Revival is a group with diverse musical influences. The songs range from having a blue's influence, or a 60's rock sound, to acoustic story songs. "The Big Tent Revival is the world," says the songwriter for the group, who is also lead singer, Steve Wiggins. "We're all under the same roof. We all have that same God-shaped vacuum. Even though the world is made up of lots of different people, we still need the same Savior. Under this Big Tent... we all need revival."

Big tent revival's appearances range from the high-tech world of CD-ROM to the more traditional live concert and ministry settings. They say they have set forth into the world to proclaim the eternal message to modern-day people.

"God knows our needs and provides for them," says Wiggins. "You read about the Israelites in the desert, and the Bible says the shoes waxed not old upon their feet. They wandered for 40 years and their shoes didn't wear out. I drive a Chevy Suburban with 180,000 miles on it. Everyday I get in it and pray, 'Please Lord, one more day.' And I keep on running. The evidence of God's faithfulness is all around us, and has been forever."

Lee Cain, co-chair for this Jaycees fundraiser, says this is the third time the club has sponsored this Contemporary Christian-Rock music. "We just wanted to make this type music available to the young people in our county." While these concerts have not been money makers for the club, Cain says the main purpose of them is a service to the young people.

Other Jaycees fundraisers include their annual Halloween Haunted House at the Brodhead Fairgrounds. Proceeds from the haunted house are used to buy Christmas gifts for needy children in the county. The club also has, in past years, sponsored a program to buy Jesse Stuart books for all Rockcastle County sixth graders.

If you would like to attend the Big Tent Revival concert, call the Rockcastle County Jaycees at 256-3937 or 256-4637. Tickets are $7.50 in advance, or $9.50 at the door at the RCHS Auditorium. Tickets are $6.50 each for groups of 15 or more.

Arrangements are incomplete at Dowell & Martin Funeral Home.

Death bulletin Bornemier

Mary Bornemier, 55, of Gray, Ky., and formerly of Rockcastle County, died March 19 at St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington.

She was the daughter of Lela Cummins and the late Johnnie Cummins.

Arrangements are incomplete at Dowell & Martin Funeral Home.

Grief and Mourning in Our Community

We don't often think of grief as a community problem, but it really is. Over two and a quarter million people die each year in the United States, leaving family and friends to mourn. While many survivors endure their mourning in silence, often alone, and do not ask for or need help, others get depressed and do need assistance from counselors, social service agencies, or their churches. We all grieve differently, but we do grieve and when people need help it is a local problem, not a question of national statistics.

That is why we are delighted to have the Hospice Foundation of America sponsoring their third annual national teleconference, Living With Grief-After Sudden Loss, bringing together on April 17 a panel of nationally-respected experts to share their experience and research, live-via-satellite, with people across the country, including in our community. Cokie Roberts, ABC News correspondent, volunteers as moderator each year. The Foundation expects 120,000 people to view the teleconference at 2,000 sites from Kotzebue, Alaska, 26 miles north of the Arctic Circle to St. Thomas in the American-Virgin Islands.

This is a rare opportunity for those who deal with grief, either in our own lives or professionally—nurses, doctors, teachers, police, emergency medical services, social workers, clergy and funeral directors—to gain valuable insights. For information call Hospice of the Ky. River at (606) 256-3577

"IT IS WRITTEN"

In I Tim. 6:8-10, we read "And having food and raiment let us be therewith content. But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition. For the love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows." May we consider some of the warnings and exhortations about money and our attitude toward it.

Money in itself is not evil, but is evil for us if our attitude about it is wrong. To those who have a "love of money" attitude, which he also calls covetousness, the "they that will be rich" frame of mind, money spells destruction and perdition. We pierce our souls with many sorrows, possessing these attitudes. We bring needless worry to our lives, an unsatisfied lust (in fact, an unsatisfiable desire), an evil conscience; all these because of the wrong attitude toward money.

Paul said, that if we have food and raiment, the true necessities. Let us therewith be content. Those who have money, Paul warns and exhorts them, not to be "they that will be rich," but to be content in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy." I Tim 6:17. He continues by telling them to do good, be rich in good works, to be generous and to be ready to share, vs. 18. Money is a good servant but it is a poor master. I like the words of the wise man in Proverbs 30:8-9. "Remove far from me vanity and lies: give me neither poverty nor riches: feed me with food convenient for me: Lest I be full, and deny thee, and say, who is the Lord? Or lest I be poor, and steal, and take the name of my God in vain?"

Yes, what a wonderful happy medium that he desired. Money at best is only temporal in its nature, for here and now. That's why it make sense to be busy about laying treasures in heaven not treasures here on earth, Mt. 6:19-21. May we ever see clearly the teachings of the word of God about money and not be blinded by $$$!!!

Jr. Pro All-Star Teams . . .

The Rockcastle Co. Jr. Pro All-Stars, coached by Debbie Cash, Dwight Griffin and Steve Phelps came in fourth in the state tournament at Middlesboro over the week end. The team lost to the eventual winner of the tournament, Lexington Eastland, and Trigg Co. in overtime. In the Trigg Co. game, two of the All-Stars protests, during their 20-0 run to begin the second half, failed to make it to the scoreboard and, despite voracious protests from Rockcastle fans, the points were not added. Aaron Anderkin hit two free throws, with less than a second on the clock, to put the game into overtime, but the All-Stars fell just short, 73-71. Members of the team are, front row, from left: Stephen Coffey, Michael Hayes, Matthew Renner, Aaron Anderkin, Devin Taylor, Clay Smith. Back row: Aaron Cash, Chris Settles, Courtney Alexander, Amber Denney, Jason Reynolds and Stephen Boring.

The Training League All-Stars were also at Middlesboro over the week end, winning one of three games. The team, coached by Glen Roberts and Jimmy Sandusky was made up of, front row, from left: Brandon Reams, Derreck Hurst, Ricky Sandusky, Matthew Sileo and Jarred Burdette. Back row: Coach Roberts, Andrew Nelson, Jacob Taylor, Colby Brown, Blake Roberts, Jessie Hamm, Max Taylor and Coach Sandusky. At Middlesboro, in the first game, the all-stars won 28-19 with Jarred Burdette leading the scoring with 9 points. In the second game, against Corbin #1, the All-Stars lost 39-19 with Colby Brown, Matthew Sileo and Jacob Taylor leading the scoring with 4 points each. In the third game, the All-Stars came back from a 21 point deficit to lose 34-27 to Middlesboro #1 with Jacob Taylor leading the scoring with 7 points. The All-Stars have an invitational this week end at Georgetown, beginning Friday night.

Eating Better When Eating Out

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Americans are on the move. Busy lifestyles and tight work and travel schedules make eating out routine for many of us. According to recent surveys:

- Americans, excluding those who live in institutions, eat more than one of every five meals at away-from-home establishments.
- Fast-food places serve 4 out of 10 meals eaten at away-from-home eating establishments.
- 4 out of 10 consumers say they have changed their eating out habits to reflect nutritional concerns.
- Adults eat roughly 30% of their calories away from home.
- Americans spend more than 40 cents of every food dollar on food eaten away from home.

The principles for eating in the Dietary Guidelines style are basically the same, regardless of where food is eaten. It's true you may have less control over how foods are prepared and what ingredients are used when you eat out, but you can control which foods you choose and the amount. Keep in mind that it's your total diet that counts and that the principles of variety, moderation, and balance—work—best—when practiced regularly over a period of time. Occasional splurges can be worked into a long-range eating plan. Here's what we mean by variety, moderation and balance.

Variety. No one food supplies all of the protein, vitamins and minerals you need for good health. That's why it's important to choose from a wide variety of foods. You also need to choose foods that provide adequate starch and fiber and supply enough (but not too many) calories to maintain desirable weight. To help ensure such variety, choose foods daily from each of the food groups. You can easily balance lack of variety in one meal with the food selections you make the rest of that day. For example, if your lunch is short on vegetables, add an extra vegetable or salad to your evening meal.

Moderation. The Dietary Guidelines suggest moderation, or "avoiding too much" fat, saturated fat, cholesterol, sugars, sodium and alcohol. They also emphasize the importance of maintaining desirable weight by not eating too many calories. Moderation does not mean cutting out all foods that are high in calories, fat, saturated fat, cholesterol, sugars, sodium and alcohol. Moderation does mean choosing these foods less often and in smaller amounts. Some experts suggest that we limit the amount of fat we eat to one-third of our calories or less. (In a 2,000 calorie diet, that's about 74 grams of fat a day.) For sodium, some experts consider 1,100 to 3,300 milligrams a day to be safe and adequate level for adults. (This is the amount of sodium—in about 1/2 to 1 1/2 teaspoons of salt. It includes the sodium present in foods as well as what's added during cooking and at the table.) Most of us have diets that contain more fat and sodium than these recommendations, and many overdo on sugars and calories, too.

Balance. Balance means putting it all together so that you can get the variety of foods you need for essential nutrients and the calories you need to maintain desirable weight, without getting too much fat, saturated fat, cholesterol, sugars, sodium and alcohol.

For more information on healthier choices when eating out, contact the Extension Office at 256-2403 for the free publication entitled "Eating Better When Eating Out".

Re seeding clover

By Tom Mills
Co. Ext. Agent for Agriculture

Is It Cost Effective To Seed Better Varieties Of Red Clover? Research from the Agronomy Department of the University of Kentucky has compared the performance of common or unimproved red clovers to certified varieties at research farms throughout Kentucky. Their results found that the certified improved varieties yielded an average of 1,000 pounds more forage per acre in the first year of production for a spring seeding.

In the second year, seeding a better variety was worth 2,500 pounds more forage per acre. Even if the improved seed cost $0.75 more per pound and you seeded 10 pounds of seed per acre, that extra $7.50 was worth over 3,500 pounds of forage over the first two years.

Stands of the improved varieties were thick and vigorous going into their second winter, while the commons were clearly thinning. A comparison of the lowest yielding common clover vs. the best certified clover over a 3-year period showed a 11,000 pound advantage to the certified clover. Getting an extra 220 square bales over three years can easily pay the additional $7.50.

Don't settle for anything less than an improved, certified variety red clover. You can tell if the variety is certified by the presence of a blue tag on the bag. The blue tag is the only guarantee that the genetics in the bag match the name on the tag. Contact your farm supply dealer 6 to 10 days before you need the seed so they can be sure to have a certified variety on hand.

The bottom line is that seeding an improved, certified variety of red clover pays, period.

Complete data on these trials are available at your local County Extension Office.

Agricultural News

By: Warden Alexander, County Executive Director

As a result of the blizzard of '96, the entire State of Kentucky was declared eligible for Federal disaster assistance, including Farm Service Agency Emergency (EM) loans for eligible family farmers. EM applications will be received through September 13, 1996 for physical and production losses, and applications pending on that date may be processed and completed.

Some changes have taken place with the conservation program for 1996. We can no longer cost share on SL1 practices (General Seeding) nor SL6 practices (Ponds, dugouts, pipelines, tanks). We do have other practices available for cost share. They include: Diversions, Critical Areas, Sediment Retention, Water and Erosion Control, Stream Protection, Animal Waste System, Permanent Wildlife Habitat, Shallow Water Areas for Wildlife. Special practices are being developed for unique problems. These practices are Waste Utilization, Filter, Strips, and Heavy Use Areas. Approval for practices will be available if we receive any money for them.

Producers who have purchased or sold farmland should report it to the FSA Office. The purchaser needs to bring in the deed for the property so that we can make necessary farm record changes. We DO NOT receive any changes from the court-house concerning land transactions.

ceive any changes from the court-house concerning land transactions.

A new requirement for 1996 concerning tobacco is that all producers on a farm basis may be covered under one FCIC policy provided that: All parties agree in writing, and producers involved cannot have an interest in another farm as sharing in the tobacco crop. We still have no specifications concerning the Wheat and Food Grain program. As soon as this is made available, it will be publicized by newspaper and radio.

County FSA Committee Orientation was held for newly elected COC on February 15, in London, for KY District 7. Congratulations to Ainsley Bussell and Nikki Vance winners of the student drawing held by the PTA during the Spring March Madness Festival. Jean Albright and Deborah Lovell were the winners of the baskets given for the adult drawing.

A special thanks to the Brodhead PTA and all the volunteers that helped with the festival and the supper. A lot of hard work is required before, during and after to have an event of this size.

Wekiva Presbyterian Church home repair group returns

A group of young people will be returning to Rockcastle County, on June 1st, to hammer, saw and paint, as volunteers supporting the Livingston Economic Alternatives in Progress (LEAP's) Home Repair Program.

Each year, for the past six years, young men and women and their adult supervisors from Wekiva Presbyterian Church in Longwood, Florida take a week out of their vacation to visit and work with families here in our county. Each person is responsible for earning $200 before they come to cover the cost of transportation, food and building supplies. They stay at the LEAP building and each morning go out on assigned jobs. Their tasks can range from building porches, hanging sheet-rock and painting to replacing windows and doors.

LEAP's Home Repair Project helps low income families, the elderly and others in need. An applicant must live in Rockcastle County and factors such as income and overall condition of the house must be considered. Jobs that are too time consuming or too expensive cannot be handled. Applications will be taken at the LEAP building. Filling out an application does not guarantee acceptance. The most needy will receive first consideration, according to LEAP Director, Ina Taylor.

In addition to the work that is completed, the interaction between the workers and the people in the community, allows them to become aware of the differences in each other's lifestyle. During the week, time is put aside for a dinner or barbecue hosted by LEAP members and the families that received help. "Music, dancing and the covered dishes from all the good cooks in our area, brings everyone together with fun and laughter and a good time," Mrs. Taylor said. Before the group leaves, a trip to explore in the caves is always a special treat.

"In spite of all the negative press involving the youth of our land, there is still a large portion of young people who reach out to help in whatever way they can and we'd like everyone to recognize that this is one such group and we're proud and thankful for their presence," she said.

Setting It Straight

U.S. 25 north from the I-75 interchange at Kenfo Valley is still to be three-laned and U.S. 50 widened between Stanford and Mt. Vernon, according to State Rep. Danny Ford, who felt that an article in the Signal last week didn't make it clear that these two projects are still in the state's six-year plan.

Some additional projects were added to the plan and 58 were advanced, however the two mentioned above were not in those advanced, Ford said.

when they came home from baby sitting for their daughter early Friday morning after the storm had subsided. When they went to the house Jim tried a light switch. It didn't work in the breakfast room.

Upon investigation, they discovered a lightning bolt had struck their flaggpole, traveled downward and destroyed the receptacle. "It just blew it apart," Jim recalled. "There were pieces of it all around."

The lightning bolt then went into the house taking with it a "chank off the porch," Jim related.

It progressed on into the breakfast room, where it destroyed two television sets, a microwave, a garbage disposal and various other items. The bolt blackened the walls in places.

In all, it did about $2,000 in damage to the house and appliances. During the storm, lightning cut off a telephone and a television at the home of John Cox. Henry Cox lost the picture on his television and VCR and Junior Bullock's TV was off the air.

There was considerable damage to the Jim Cox property, but Jim took the optimistic view that "The Lord was good to us."

The lightning bolt didn't set the house on fire.

Jacob Anthony Blayne Lawson celebrated his first birthday March 13, 1996. He is the son of Mark and Jessica Lawson of Brodhead and the grandson of Wayne and Gledia Todd of Crab Orchard and Cleda Ways of Brodhead. Jacob wants to thank all of those who helped him celebrate and for all the gifts he received.

In 1994-95 the grand total came to $563,061.

County road aid comes into the county annually, for use on county roads.

The money from the state comes from gas tax money received by the state and returned to the counties under a formula.

The county will put the money to good use this year because of the severe winter weather that took its toll on county roads.

The county is expected to bill the state for more aid money. In December 1995, the county billed the state for $56,300 and may again this year because of weather related problems.

McCollum honored' by Rogers

Former Rockcastle County Republican chairman Alonzo McCollum has taken his place among other Republicans in Kentucky's Fifth District GOP Hall of Fame.

His longtime friend and staple of Republican politics in the fifth district, Harold Rogers made the presentation in Corbin last week.

Rogers, Kentucky's 5th district Congressman called McCollum a loyal friend, who has always been a supporter of Republican politics.

McCollum, 73, with his wife Mary alongside, received the prestigious award at the annual Lincoln Day Banquet on March 9.

Rogers served as Rockcastle County Republican Chairman for twelve years and Rockcastle County Judge Pro-tem from 1992-94.

The Rockcastle County native is a veteran of World War II where he served in Europe and Japan. McCollum fought in the historic "Battle of the Bulge."

McCollum began working in politics when he was 16 and he served as senior intern in Washington on Social Security issues in 1988.

During his political career, McCollum has been campaign chairman for Rogers in his races for Rockcastle-Pulaski Commonwealth Attorney, his bid for Kentucky Lt. Governor in 1979 and his successful Congressional campaign in 1980.

McCollum and his wife Mary Abney McCollum have two daughters, Dinah and Gail.

John Anderson in concert on April 13

Two awards—in a trophy case which holds dozens—tell John Anderson's story: "Best New Artist" and "Comeback Artist of the Year." A third, "Career Achievement Award" fills the gap between the former and latter.

The talent these awards recognize will be evident when the legendary John Anderson performs live at Renfro Valley on April 13. Performances are at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

John Anderson hit the country music scene with an explosion and soon 1980's "Best New Artist" was collecting trophies for "Best Male Vocalist," "Single of the Year" and "Album of the Year." Among his earlier successes, two songs stand out: "I'm Just An Old Chunk of Coal," which won John a Grammy nomination for "Best Country Vocal Performance" in 1981 and "Swingin," which captured "Single of the Year" from both the Country Music Association and Music City News.

Although his songs consistently reached Top 10 positions, it was not until "Straight Tequila Night" in 1992 that John Anderson found himself back at the awards circuit. Then came "Seminole Wind" and the doors once more opened wide for John Anderson. That song won both "Song of the Year" and "Video of the Year." The album "Seminole Wind" achieved double platinum status—two million copies sold—and helped John win a second "Male Vocalist of the Year" nomination.

As fans will witness on April 13 at Renfro Valley, John Anderson is definitely back and better than ever.

For tickets and reservations, phone the Renfro Valley box office at 800-765-7464 or 606-256-2638. The popular entertainment complex offers a full schedule of live shows, special events, festivals and concerts, March through December. The Renfro Valley complex includes two restaurants, lodging, a full-service RV Park, two state-of-the-art show barn theaters and a charming crafts village.

Local school board members discuss education solutions

Rockcastle school leaders recently spend a working weekend examining such issues as measuring school achievement, providing appropriate discipline for disruptive students, reviewing Kentucky experiences with year-round school and eliminating learning barriers in the classroom.

These were some of the subjects on the table for members of the Rockcastle Board of Education during the 60th annual conference of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA) February 23-25 in Louisville.

Terry F. Burton, Dwight Griffin, Dr. George W. Griffith, were among an estimated 1,200 school boards members, district administrators, state education officials and others who took part in information and training sessions during the conference. Gov. Paul Patton and Education Commissioner Wilmer Cody outlined their goals for Kentucky's schools as part of the conference, which also featured a panel of high school students reporting on learning barriers.

Participants also chose from among more than three dozen seminars covering subjects including the KIRIS school assessment test, child assault prevention, block class scheduling, equity in the learning environment, alternative schools for trouble students, Kentucky's new school money management system, teacher certification revocation, industry-education community partnerships, innovative curriculum and school management and reducing losses in workman's compensation.

"This is truly a working weekend and our members took an abundance of new ideas home from this experience," said KSBA President Anna Dean Hammond, who chairs the Caldwell County board of education. Annual training is required for local boards of education members under the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA).

HOSA Practical Nursing students showed their appreciation to the employees and staff of the Sowder's Nursing Home. In the picture is Linda Whitt, administrator, Jennifer Rucker, Pam Harding Ann Taylor, RN, Ma-tasha Walter, Jennifer Ponder, Director of Nursing, Becky Osborne, Virginia Sowder, and Edith Barnett.

Completes special training

Three members of the Rockcastle County Board of Education are being recognized by the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA) for completing a new level of continuing education specially designed for community school leaders.

Terry F. Burton has achieved Level Two for completing more than 60 hours of training for school board members. Dr. George W. Griffith, and Mrs. Deborah R. Whitehead received certificates recognizing their completion of Level Three with more than 90 hours of studies to date.

Since 1986, Kentucky law has required school board members to complete a minimum number of in-service training hours annually. In 1995, for example, three out of every four of Kentucky's board education members actually exceeded those requirements in order to maintain an up-to-date knowledge of the changing needs of students, education professionals and communities.

KSBA President Anna Dean Hammond, a member of the Caldwell County school board, said, "Serving on a school board means more than just attending one or two meetings a

Charles Mink honored by UK

Mink, a Senior majoring in Chemical Engineering, was named to the dean's list in the College of Engineering.

Students named to the dean's list at UK were honored for their hard work during the fall semester, 1995, and are among the top five percent of all undergraduate students enrolled at UK.

"We are proud of the ever-increasing academic quality of our students," said UK President Charles T. Wehington Jr. "Students who are being honored for achievement in month and acting on the recommendations of the district administration. School board members must stay up-to-date on new rules as well as new opportunities to improve the learning process for our students. These women and men have earned this recognition for their personal dedication to this community's children, parents and taxpayers."

Most of the training is completed through KSBA's Academy of Studies. This program was created specifically to afford local school board members with development and training opportunities to strengthen their abilities to provide general school district management and to ensure student achievement.

Today In Banking

Some "Straight Talk" On Banking Today... That Can Make Banking Better For You...

IRA — You Can Start Small

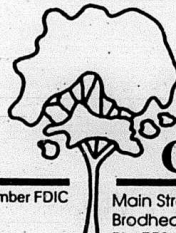

Usually when Individual Retirement Accounts are advertised, the main point of the ad is the fact that you can invest $2,000 annually ($2,250 if your spouse doesn't work). This is the maximum contribution allowed each year.

Because of the fact that the ads on IRA's always emphasize the maximum contribution, many people have been left with the feeling that you have to contribute $2,000 annually. This is not true. You can contribute whatever amount you want as long as it doesn't exceed the maximum.

The important thing is that you get started with an IRA even if you can only contribute $200 a year initially. Come in and see us about an IRA. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal.
