Three injured

Three persons were injured Monday afternoon in a two car accident on U.S. 25 at Burr.

According to a state police report, Tom Welch, 84, of Mt. Vernon was heading south on US 25 when he attempted to turn left on Hwy. 1034.

Welch apparently drove his 1986 Chrysler into the path of a northbound car driven by Eric Burke, 21, of Rt. 3, Brodhead.

Welch was uninjured, but Burke and his two passengers, Joanna Skinner and Tammy Johnson were all transported to the Rockcastle Hospital with injuries.

Reward offered

A $1,000 reward is being offered for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for setting fire to a home in the Blue Springs area on February 22.

Several items, including three guns, were stolen from the home of Billy and Marcella Lovell before it was torched.

State police have ruled the origin of the fire, that completely destroyed the home as arson.

Anyone with information can call (606) 256-9108 or (606) 256-5477.

Brodhead Alumni Banquet April 6

The annual Brodhead High School Alumni Banquet is Saturday April 6 at 7 p.m. in the school's gymnasium.

All graduates, husbands, wives and guests are invited. Admission is $10 per person.

The classes of 1921, '26, '31, '36, '41, '46, '51, '56, '61, '66, '71 will be honored.

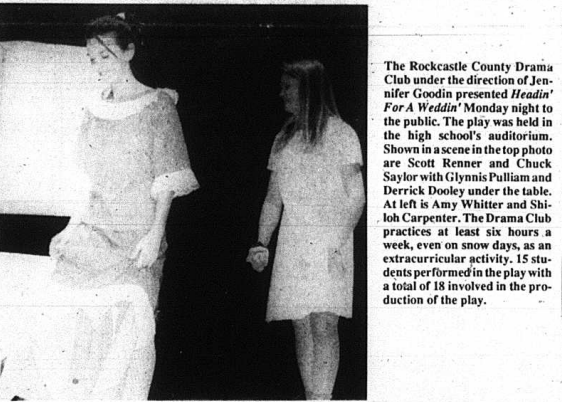

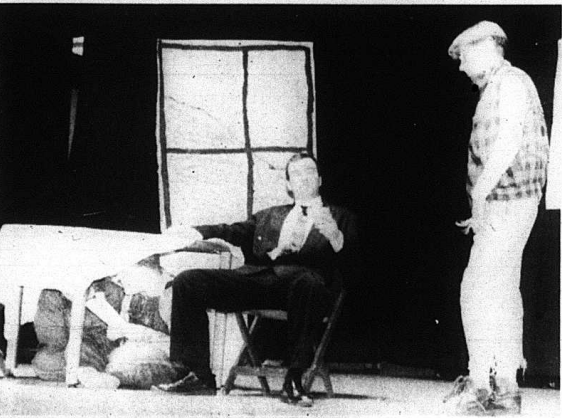

For reservations call Brodhead School at (606) 758-8512 or Blanche Johnson at Citizens Bank Brodhead, (606) 758-8212.

Headin' For A Weddin'

The Rockcastle County Drama Club under the direction of Jennifer Goodin presented Headin' For A Weddin' Monday night to the public. The play was held in the high school's auditorium. Shown in a scene in the top photo are Scott Renner and Chuck Saylor with Glynis Pulliam and Derrick Dooley under the table. At left is Amy Whitter and Shiloh Carpenter. The Drama Club practices at least six hours a week, even on snow days, as an extracurricular activity. 15 students performed in the play with a total of 18 involved in the production of the play.

Rape, sexual abuse trials set for Monday

Two Rockcastle County cases involving men charged with sexual abuse of two minor girls are set for trial in Rockcastle Circuit Court next Monday.

Robert McGinnis Warren, Jr., 28, of Floyd Street in Mt. Vernon was indicted last January in connection with an October 1994 incident in which he was accused of raping an eleven-year-old girl at his Floyd Street home.

According to a police report filed by Mt. Vernon city police officer Barry Adams, the 11-year-old girl and her sister had run away from home and police were looking for them, when they found them at Warren's residence.

According to Adams' report the eleven-year-old girl, who was clad only in a flannel shirt, told police she had had sexual intercourse with McGinnis, after he (McGinnis) gave her beer to drink.

McGinnis has been lodged in the Rockcastle County jail ever since his arrest.

A case involving Carl Mitchell Mason, 60, of Mt. Vernon is also set for trial on Monday.

Mason was indicted in April of 1994 for allegedly having sexual contact with a girl less than twelve-years-old in March of 1994.

Mason is free on bond. At least one of the cases will be continued and possibly both.

Two injured in dune buggy accident

Two Livingston residents were injured Tuesday night when the dune buggy they were driving flipped over in the Sand Hill area of the county.

Harlin "Benji" Lawson, 21, and Jacqueline Curry, 16, were flown by helicopter to the University of Kentucky Medical Center, after the 8 p.m. accident.

According to a Rockcastle Hospital employee, the two were suffering from multiple injuries including head trauma.

"Snow" laughing matter

It was "snow" laughing matter for John Alexander.

The Fountain City, Ind. man and his wife, Margaret, got into the Winnebago last Wednesday morning when there was snow on the ground at the KOA Campground at Renfro Valley.

They proceeded to drive down the Red Foley Road when Alexander discovered he couldn't stop on the steep incline.

The Winnebago slid down the road, across U.S. 25 and ended up over an embankment next to Mt. Vernon Plumbing.

There were no injuries but the vehicle had to be towed to a garage. City Policeman Matthew Bryant investigated the accident.

Sheriff presents annual report to fiscal court

Rockcastle Sheriff Shirley Smith made his annual financial report to the Rockcastle Fiscal Court last week.

The report shows tax collections of $1,668,778, with districts (state, county, schools, library etc.) being paid $1,660,580.

Sheriff's expenditures totaled $111,784 with excess receipts over expenditures of $889.

The state will audit the report before the figures become official.

McKameys at Renfro April 6

One of southern gospel's most beloved groups, The McKameys, will perform in concert at Renfro Valley on April 6. The McKameys will be on stage for a single performance, beginning at 7 p.m. Tickets are $9 or $11 for preferred seats (front, center sections) plus tax. Given the group's popularity in this area, reservations are recommended. Phone the Renfro Valley ticket office at 606-256-2638.

Since their first number one release, "Who Put The Tears In The Eyes of the Lamb" in 1984, the McKameys have continued to win fans and collect awards. Lead singer Peg McKamey Bean has been honored as gospel's Favorite Female Vocalist for six consecutive years. Two of their releases, "God On The Mountain" and "Arise" have been acclaimed gospel's Song of the Year.

While the gospel music industry awards the McKamey's musical talents, their fans reward the group's sincere spirit of worship with continuing enthusiasm. This will be evident on April 6 at Renfro Valley.

All I need now is a fast car and a sponsor and I'm ready to hit the NASCAR Circuit. Move over Jeff Gordon because I have developed nerves of steel over the last eight days and I'm ready to play hard ball.

Actually Loretta and I have been in California for the last eight days. Loretta, bless her heart, had never had a cab ride from the Los Angeles Airport to downtown, a distance of some 15 miles on the freeways.

As best I can determine, the freeways are so named because once you get on them you are free to do anything you darn well please. Most folks interpret that to mean that they should push the gas pedal as far down as it will go and hold the car horn down so that it emits a steady blast and then curse at anyone who dares to get in front of them. Cab drivers have mastered this art at a far higher level than most motorists.

You also need to know that most L.A. cabs are getting up in years and to save money the companies that operate them ask the factory to leave off the shocks. Imagine driving over two-by-fours placed three feet apart at 100 miles per hour and you have a reasonably accurate description of what it feels to ride in one. Imagine it being driven by a Pakistani who got off the boat and got a job three hours before you got to the airport and you have a reasonable feel for the trust level you place in the driver.

We did manage to get a driver who spoke some halting English. "Where from you," he wanted to know as he grinned as big as Texas and fired up the cab which, besides no shocks, apparently left Detroit without a muffler.

"Kentucky," I yelled hoping that would be the end of it. "No no no. I mean, how you say—you live where?" "Kentucky!" I screamed. "We just came in from Kentucky!!"

"Kentucky? Ummmmmmmm—Kentucky? Oh yes. I know Kentucky. Chicken from Kentucky. Uncle Sanders. No???" And he's doing this interrogation with his head poked back through a little square hole in the glass panel that separates the front and back seats while his car is picking up speed on the freeway entrance where twelve lanes of traffic are barreling along in the same direction at roughly the speed of sound.

"Close enough," I tell him, while silently praying that he'll look back at the road. Loretta, meanwhile actually has her hands clasped so tightly that her knuckles are blue, her eyes squeezed tightly shut and by reading her lips I know that she is reciting the 23rd Psalm.

"Yeath though I walk through the valley of death, I will fear no evil," but I can tell that she's never been more scared in her life. So we got out in traffic and I notice that the needle is no longer visible on the speedometer and back through the little hole comes the driver's head again.

"Horses too! You got horses in Kentucky. No???" And I sense that this guy has taken a class in world geography when he was a child. Or maybe he had run into a stack of old National Geographic's.

"Yeah we got horses too." I reply. "Say, what kind of car is that you're getting ready to rear end?"

He glances around half a second before he would have made impact, sits down on the horn and curses in whatever language they speak in Pakistan. Loretta, meanwhile, has switched off to The Lord's Prayer and you no longer have to read her lips.

Five minutes later, even though it felt like five hours, we come to a screeching halt in front of the Holiday came to the Parsons Gas Company and seeing the Sheriff of Rockcastle County's car there, decided to get a picture of him. Someone had told us it was there in the parking lot and I wanted to show the car.

When we went in, we found the sheriff's wife, Libby Burdette Smith, holding down the fort. It seems he had to be away from home so when time came for Libby to go to work, she's had nothing to drive but the sheriff's car.

The sheriff had told his wife, Libby, he would be back soon and to go on in his car which she did as he would be along soon.

Well, word got out that the Sheriff was spending more time at the Parsons Gas Company in Roundstone than on his job and the more he tried to explain the less people believed. And that is like the public. They believe what they wanted to.

We got a good picture of Libby the day as she stood on the Gas Company steps. As we went to the truck I said, "What can we call this for a title?"

It was a good pose of her with the sun shining on her.

"Well, it's 'The Sheriff's Boss,'" I said and she laughed but I don't believe it. Libby Smith has a solid head set on good shoulder.

Besides I hear I may be kin to her! "John," I said, "Let's stop at Elmer and Edith Hale's home at Round-stone and get their picture. They were nice to send us Edith Allen's address with his daughter Lora's picture."

"We'll be returning one to them. Elmer Hale couldn't get us to come in as we were in a hurry."

"Well, wait for us to give you something for the picture. Hurry, Edith, get something out of the closet for John!"

And she did! A nice quart jar of canned pears we both were so glad to get them.

Elmer said, David Hale, who was a nephew of his came over to visit about once or twice a week."

"He is good company," John said. "Well, he would be if he had any good sense!" and Elmer and John both laughed.

You know the visitors I had last week from here and Pulaski County that I wrote you about, Ruth Gatliff and her brother, James Reppert. Well it seems James got hit and needed some repairs as Ruth put it.

So they took him to the St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington for a few days. He is home now in Eubank in Pulaski County.

Ruth said they had gone to see him almost everyday.

I wish James and wife, Evelyn, the best of luck in their new home and a word of medical advice from the mountain. A teaspoon of vinegar a day keeps the doctor away.

Can I tell you it's only five days until April 1st? The sun is out in all its glory and I sat here in my kitchen trying to write the last column in the month, before April gets here with all its showers bringing May flowers or some such rhymes. I can't keep up with the weather using the old time rhymes. Nobody can keep up with what's going on weatherwise. Even the old timers miss out and turn about saying, only God knows what's going to be on the morrow so let's just leave it to him.

John sowed grass seed up at the church cemetery, Abney Memorial Cemetery. Now John wanted to go back up there to see if it's come up for we have had some right pretty sunny days to get the grass seed started.

I've been trying to get Conley Saylor to let me know when he goes on another trip to rest up again. His son, Tommy, said Conley was in Florida after three days of working in the store and declared he had to go to Florida to rest up.

We went to the big sale at Berea Farm Store. They advertised lot of good eats and naturally I went for that. There were games of chance to get excited and I did and want a pencil to John's disgust. He said they ought to give away more than that. I thought it was fun and took away a plate to get some eats in it.

I met a cute girl serving food behind the pans of hot dogs, other pans held hamburgers, and next to the food was a table of chili, pickles and chips.

She told me her name was Beverly Burge and she had a husband who worked there so the store asked her to help.

Now my arms and hands were full so when I started to get a drink it was hard to do so, someone said, "Need some help?"

"Well, I could use some with the sugar for my coffee," and I looked into the face of a cousin of mine.

"I'll pour you some," said Kenny Hall. "Eit don't you tell John that I gave you some sugar."

I carried my food back to a new stove and ate.

A fellow who told me he lived in Berea, Kyle Sower, was an announcer for the radio station W.K.X.O. for the store's radio of the sale.

Another woman, Janet Cole Brooke came over and spoke to me. She said she worked at Houston Barger's place of business in construction work.

They had a large wheel for people to spin and if you got a lucky number you could spin. The prizes were large iron gates and other farm equipment. I thought of calling back the next day and asking when I should come back for my lucky prize, a big iron gate. I don't know what I could have done with it but I could have sold it to someone who wanted to keep their husband in at night.

Mrs. Ann Sears, our pastor at Macedonia Baptist Church's wife, has fallen down the icy weather recently and broke the same leg in three places.

I heard that the church had given Mrs. Sears's $500 to help with the expenses and knowing something of what they'd be, I'm sure the Sears were glad to get the gift.

A cow belonging to Preston Seals, our neighbor and landlord, had a three legged calf, he told John, but the calf died the next day.

We stopped at the home of Gertrude and L. L. McDaniel to get a picture of the couple as we had stopped there before and told them we would stop later, when the weather was pretty so we'll be putting the new home owners in here before long. She has decorated the inside of it very pretty.

Driving on through Wildie, we

Lee Abney and family, wife Kaye, son Jeremy and daughter Michelle.

Lincoln Federal merges with First Southern

Lincoln Financial Bancorp, Inc. ("Lincoln"), holding company for Lincoln Federal Savings Bank, Stan- ford, Kentucky and First Southern Bancorp, Inc. ("First Southern"), the holding company for five banks in Central Kentucky, announced today that they had signed an agreement providing for the merger of Lincoln into First Southern.

In the merger, Lincoln shareholders would receive $22.01 in cash for each of the 436,757 shares of Lincoln stock currently outstanding. Directors and officers of Lincoln would receive $9.51 per share in cash for the currently outstanding options to purchase 38,509 Lincoln shares. The total value of the transaction is approximately $9,980,000. Lincoln also granted First Southern an option to acquire up to 19.9% of the outstanding shares of Lincoln in certain circumstances. The merger is subject to regulatory approvals, approved by Lincoln shareholders, and certain other conditions. The parties expect the merger to be completed during the third quarter of 1996.

Bruce Edgington, Lincoln's President and Chief Executive Officer, said "In the face of increasing consolidation among Kentucky banks and in the banking industry in general, we are pleased that Lincoln is affiliating with the First Southern organization, which operates five community-oriented banks and is familiar with the needs of our markets and customers."

Jess Correll, president of First Southern, said "We look forward to working with the Lincoln Federal organization as part of our commitment to serving the banking needs of the Lincoln, Casey and Rockcastle County communities."

Lincoln Federal Savings Bank operates three full service banking offices in Stanford and Liberty, Kentucky and a loan production office in Mt. Vernon. At June 30, 1995 the bank had total assets of $47.0 million, deposits of $40.8 million, and no loans receivable of $36.9 million.

First Southern Bancorp, Inc. owns and operates five banks with 13 offices in Stanford, Crab Orchard, Hustonville, Lancaster, Paint Lick, Monticello, Nicholasville and Lexington in Central Kentucky. At December 31, 1995, First Southern had total assets of $214 million, deposits of $188 million, and net loans receivable of $141 million.

City of Brodhead promotes Fair Housing practices

The City of Brodhead has taken steps to insure Fair Housing practices within their jurisdiction. Brodhead is a small rural city of about one thousand population which has no industry and has shown little growth over the last 50 years. This partially accounts for the fact that there has been no complaints of unfair housing practices to date, and we want to keep it that way according to Mayor Billy B. Bussell.

Mayor Bussell stated that discrimination in housing can show up in many different forms such as in showing houses for sale, the financing of homes and covert discrimination against families and individuals after they have purchased housing. Discrimination usually results against persons as a result of their race, creed, color, sex, place of birth, age and other similar factors. In whatever form it occurs, it is wrong and against the policies of our city. It affects the overall economic and social fiber of communities where it occurs and results in actions and counteractions that are contrary to the best interest of any community.

Over the years, Brodhead has obtained several federal grants for various improvements such as water and sewer improvements and improvements at the City's Sewage Treatment Plant. These improvements have been necessary in order to keep in compliance with sewer discharge requirements of the Environmental Protection Agency. In addition, the city has two housing projects that pay taxes to the city and purchase water and sewer service from the city.

In order to qualify for federal grants and more importantly to assure fairness for all citizens, the city has adopted a Fair Housing Ordinance and Affirmative Action Plan, a Section 3 Plan to require contractors to employ local citizens where possible and other ordinances of this type. In addition, the city has periodically contacted local banks, and real estate agencies to solicit their help in assuring Fair Housing Practices.

"We are a small rural community, but we believe in fairness for all of our citizens whether it be in housing or in any other area declared, Mayor Bussell stated.

Inn where we'll be staying a few days and Loretta bursts into song.

"How great Thou art. How Great Thou Art," she yodels. But the story isn't over yet.

On Wednesday we are scheduled to go to San Diego. I have rented a car and we intend to take the scenic route down along the coast on Highway 1. We pick up the car at Avis and they ask if I know how to get to the freeway. When I tell them I'm taking the old road they laugh and tell me it's closed. Loretta aged five years right on the spot. I've never seen anyone look more despondent.

"You know you can't do this," she pleads as we head for the entrance ramp. "We don't even have a will."

"Honey, you pray and try not to look up," I insist. "But I have an appointment in San Diego that I've been trying to get for three years and we have no choice."

Minutes later we are out in the sea of traffic traveling as fast as the little Chevy Caprice will go and I finally understand why you sometimes hear

"Are you okay Baby," I finally asked.
"I had no idea you could drive like this," she admitted with obvious disbelief and admiration.
"Believe me, I didn't either," I admitted with some relief, "but to be on the safe side, you probably ought to go back to praying."

Meanwhile Loretta has not spoken a word.

Saving Time and Money With The Microwave

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

In many homes the microwave oven is a tool just for reheating and thawing foods. With some experimentation, your microwave can become a cooking tool that is as useful as the conventional range.

However, not all foods can be cooked in the microwave. Your microwave will not deep-fry or brown foods and you cannot do baked eggs, angel food cakes or sponge cakes in the microwave. Meats and casseroles can easily be prepared in the microwave. Use of the microwave for vegetables will result in natural color and a garden-fresh flavor. Sauces and candies may also be prepared in the microwave with good results. Cakes, hot cookies and breads that do not require browning can be cooked in the microwave also.

There are some common mistakes that are made in microwave cookery. Overcooking is the mistake most commonly made. Overcooking can result in a dried-out, tough product. Many foods require a "standing time" in which the food continues to cook after it is removed from the oven.

Sometimes foods are cooked unevenly, resulting in overcooked areas in some areas and undercooked areas in other parts. This problem can be alleviated by using a turntable in the oven or rotating the dish 1/4 turn every 1-2 minutes of cooking. The use of round-shaped containers will also keep corners of the food from overcooking. For some foods, such as meats and breads, it may also be helpful to place a glass in the center of the round dish.

If a recipe requires salt, especially on the surface of the food, it is best to add the salt toward the end of the cooking time. Salt tends to move moisture from the food and can result in a tough product. Other seasonings will be enhanced by the microwave cooking process, so they should be added at the beginning of cooking. If the microwave is used for defrosting, the food should be cooked immediately. The chances for food-borne illness are increased when foods defrosted in the refrigerator or left at room temperature.

Sauces prepared in the microwave can save you both time and money. Ready-made sauces are expensive, but comparable versions can be made quickly in the microwave. Here is one expensive ingredient used in many recipes that you can prepare in the microwave.

Make-Your-Own Sweetened Condensed Milk

- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup water
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 cup dry milk crystals

In a 2-cup glass measure add sugar, water and butter. Microwave 1 1/2 to 2 minutes until mixture boils, stirring every 30 seconds. Combine in blender with dry milk. Process until smooth. Refrigerate until needed. Makes 1 cup.

 Double recipe to substitute for 14 oz. can = 1 2/3 cup.

Some changes have taken place with the conservation program for 1996. We can no longer cost share on SL1 practices (general seeding) nor SL6 practices (ponds, dugouts, pipelines, tanks). We do have other practices available for cost share. They include: Diversions, Critical Areas, Sediment Retention, Water and Erosion Control, Stream Protection, Animal Waste System, Permanent Wildlife Habitat, Shallow Water Areas for Wildlife. Special practices are being developed for unique problems. These practices are Waste Utilization, Filler Strips, and Heavy Use Areas. Approval for practices will be available 1E we receive any money for them.

We have received some information concerning the Wheat and Feed Grain program. We do not have full details as of yet, but we do know there WILL be a program this year. As soon as details are available we will publicize them.

Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) participants have the option to extend their contracts, or apply for an early release. For more details contact the office. Producers who wish to cancel their Burley CAT insurance policy need to come in and do so no later than April 15, or they will be billed for the administrative fee of $50.

Stewardship Incentive Program (SIP) changes include cost-share level which has dropped from 75% to 65%. Practices that have been discontinued are SIP-Agro Forestry Establishment and Maintenance, SIP7-Fishery Habitat, and SIP9-Forestry Recreation and Enhancement. SIP applications are currently NOT being taken due to no funds being allotted for this program.

Cotton gets win

RCHS beats Tigers 7-5

The RockcastleRockets baseball, behind strong pitching by senior Scotie Cotton, took their first win of the season Tuesday over the Garrard County Tigers, behind a strong pitching performance by senior Scotie Cotton.

The team's four errors showed their inability to get on the practice field but once this spring because of inclement weather.

In spite of the four errors, RCHS pulled the win out in the top of the 7th when they scored four runs and then held the Tigers scoreless in their half of the final inning.

Besides pitching a six-hitter, Cotton also got a solo homerun in the first for the score to the Rockets.

The team is scheduled to play at Bryan Station Thursday (today), beginning at 5 p.m. Friday they will be home to McCreary Central in JV and Varsity game and Saturday will travel to Corbin for two games, the first with Louisville Male and the second with Corbin.

The Lady Rockets will begin their season Monday with an away game against Whitley Co. and will host Clay Co. Tuesday.

Sheep promotion and research approved in referendum

Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman today announced that a proposed national promotion, research and information program for sheep and wool has passed in an industry wide referendum.

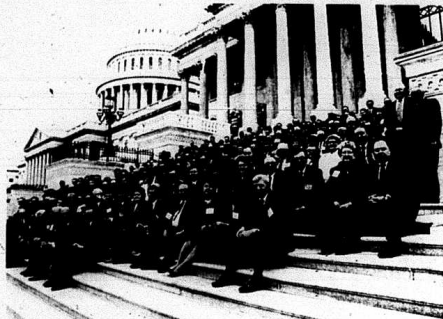

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, an agency in the marketing and regulatory program mission area, has oversight responsibility for federal research and promotion programs. AMS administrator Lon Hatamya said, "Of the 19,801 valid ballots cast in February 6 referendum, 10,707 (54.1%) favored and 9,094 (45.9%) opposed implementation of the Sheep and Wool Promotion, Research, Education, and Information Order."

Of those persons voting in the referendum who cast valid ballots, those favoring the order accounted for 40% of the total production voted and those opposing the order accounted for 60% of the production voted.

The Sheep Promotion, Research, and Information Act of 1994, which authorized the program, provides that the order may be approved by either a simple majority of the producers, feeders and importers voting in the referendum or by those persons voting in the referendum who account for at least two-thirds of the production represented. The final order and the effective date for the program to begin will be published in a future

Reseeding clover

Co. Ext. Agent for Agriculture

Is It Cost Effective To Seed Better Varieties Of Red Clover?

Research from the Agronomy Department of the University of Kentucky has compared the performance of common or unimproved red clovers to certified varieties at research farms throughout Kentucky. Their results found that the certified improved varieties yielded an average of 1,000 pounds more forage per acre in the first year of production for a spring seeding.

In the second year, seeding a better variety was worth 2,500 pounds more forage per acre. Even if the improved seed cost $0.75 more per pound and you seeded 10 pounds of seed per acre, that extra $7.50 was worth over 3,500 pounds of forage over the first two years.

Stands of the improved varieties were thick and vigorous going into their second winter, while the commons were clearly thinning. A comparison of the lowest yielding common clover vs. the best certified clover over a 3-year period showed a 11,000 pound advantage to the certified clover. Getting an extra 220 square bales of red clover can easily pay the additional $7.50.

Don't settle for anything less than an improved, certified variety of red clover. You can tell if the variety is certified by the presence of a blue tag on the bag. The blue tag is the only guarantee that the genetics in the bag match the name on the tag. Contact your farm supply dealer 6 to 10 days before you need the seed so they can be sure to have a certified variety on hand.

The bottom line is that seeding an improved, certified variety of red clover pays, period. Complete data on these trials are available at the County Extension Office.

For information on the Soil Conservation District's No-Till Drill for seeding clover, call 256-2541.

Changes in our Schools

A Commentary

Talking about better schools

by Robert F. Sexton

Public discussion about education, and the principles behind that discussion, have changed dramatically since the passage of school reform. This new conversation, between educators and citizens, in civic and community groups and legislative committees, focuses on solutions, in a climate of positive forward motion that did not exist prior to 1990.

It is not unusual, for example, to hear thoughtful professionals and citizens talk about the proper balance between school level and district level authority, the interpretation of test data so schools can improve instruction, or the reshaping of central educational bureaucracies. For outside observers, the level of Kentuckians' discourse about complex topics is remarkable.

Looking at the changes since 1990 we also see several principles about schools that have by and large been absorbed into our everyday lives:

- The Supreme Court's view that a child's right to an adequate education is fundamental under our Constitution and the court's seven capacities of quality education for "each and every child" have been incorporated into the thinking and accepted in principle by those with influence over education.

- The principle that schools and teachers should be accountable for the quality of their teaching and other educational practices has generally been accepted.

- The concept that the entire education system, not just one piece or program, must be changed in a systemic and comprehensive way has been accepted. Likewise, there seems to be general concurrence that serious change will take several years.

- The largest portion of the educational community has accepted reform as inevitable and desirable. Educators favor most elements of reform even though they may object to some parts, such as new accountability for student learning.

- The importance of financial equity among schools, and equity in educational opportunity for every child, no matter where the child lives, has been generally agreed upon by Kentuckians.

- The idea that decision making and accountability should be pushed from the state to the local school level and that the size and regulatory authority of the state's educational bureaucracy should be reduced has been accepted.

- There is general acceptance of changes in state education governance, such as the employment of a professional commissioner of education. Efforts to eliminate nepotism and inappropriate political practices have been accepted.
- There has been general acceptance of additional spending for schools and for the increased taxes and improvement in property assessments to provide that funding.

While progress under school reform is impressive, there is much work to be done. At the very start, public agreement is lacking on some fundamental concepts surrounding Kentucky public schools.

- There is, among teachers and the public, limited acceptance of the goal "that all children can learn at most at high levels."
- Not enough educators have accepted responsibility for engaging parents more in education; parents have not yet fully assumed their responsibilities for the education of their child.

- A new definition of teacher work and responsibility, including more time for teachers, has not yet emerged. Also more effective ways to help teachers improve their teaching and shape instruction so each child learns have not been implemented as widely or effectively as needed.

- A method of adjusting reform without disrupting the work already underway has not been invented.

- The full meaning of decentralizing decision making, from state to district to school, has not been understood nor accepted up and down the line.

- School councils have not realized the amount of independence available to them or the expectation that they can redesign curriculum and teaching to increase student learning.

- The value of providing incentives, based on school performance, to bring about change across the entire system has not been agreed upon. There is also disagreement about the effectiveness and feasibility of performance-based testing as the way of measuring school performance for accountability.

- The concept that education is an infinitely expandable, unlimited resource, and the view that one child's gains in learning do not have to come at the expense of another child, have not yet been widely accepted.

- Kentucky educators and parents are in the middle of a very complex task where technical issues and political issues overlap, and are hotly debated. The contentiousness of this public discussion is a sign, in our view, that serious changes are working through the educational system.

Wildcat Mountain Battlefield goes on auction block

(Reprinted from the Sunday, March 24, 1996 issue of the Lexington Herald Leader)

By Gail Gibson
Southeastern Kentucky Bureau
If you always wanted to own a piece of history, this might be your chance.

Forget bricks from the Berlin Wall, buttons from the 1960 presidential race or moon rocks. On Saturday, London auctioneer Ray Reams is putting an entire Civil War battlefield on the block -- battle trenches, historic markers and cemetery included. "I sold a funeral home once, but I never sold a battlefield," Reams joked. "In 10,000 sales I've done, I've never sold a battlefield."

Reams will auction off about 300 acres of land, possibly in two or three parcels, at Wildcat Mountain in northern Laurel County, where the two Battles of Wildcat were fought in 1861 and 1862.

The site is unique, historians say, because you still can see the mounds of earth that once formed deep trenches for Union soldiers. For two years, a preservation group has been trying to buy the privately owned land to protect it. "But landowner Fairlie Smith, who paid about $100,000 for the property in December 1993, wanted $125,000 to $150,000 -- too much for this small group of legal history buffs."

"We don't have the money. We don't expect to have the money," said Jim Cass, president of the Camp Wildcat Preservation Foundation, which has unsuccessfully applied for two grants that could have helped the group buy the property.

"There may be a wealthy history buff out there who will help us," Cass said. "But right now, we don't know of any."

News of the auction caught the group by surprise. They say there isn't enough time to beat the bushes again before the sale.

"It's such a short time," said Bobby Ray, who lives at Hazel Patch, near the battle site. "All we can do is keep trying."

The group began trying in 1994, when Smith started logging the property and preservationists became concerned that bulldozers and log trucks might destroy the land's unique characteristics.

Ray said much of the timber is gone from the site. And he said the logging work has spoiled the location of the war general's headquarters.

Just getting to the site isn't easy. Although part of Wilderness Trail -- a former wagon trail -- was improved for a memorial dedication in 1992, it remains a steep, gravelly climb.

But Reams, the auctioneer, said the site holds promise, possibly as a tourist attraction that could include campsites and gift shops, he said.

"This thing has a lot of history about it," Reams said. "If a group wanted to come together, they could really do a lot with it." As far as people like Cass and Ray are concerned, not doing much with the site would be preferable.

"We're hoping, if we can't get it, that it will go to someone who's at least sensitive to the area, so the fact that history was there."

Battles of Wildcat

The two Battles of Wildcat were fought in 1861 and 1862. The first battle, Oct. 21, 1861, is considered one of the first Union victories in the Civil War. But it is little known because there were few casualties. Fifteen men, out of 12,000 troops, died in the four-day battle that ended with Confederate troops retreating.

The second battle, in October, 1862, also was short and low-key. But, it did receive some national press. A New York Times reporter filed a story about the skirmish. It took 11 days for the story to make it from the Kentucky hills into the paper.

Mary Lynn Amyx
Mary Lynn McCraw
weds Donald Amys

The marriage of Mary Lynn McCraw to Donald Wesley Amys took place at 2 p.m. Saturday, March 16, 1996, in a double wedding ceremony at Riverton Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Raymond Wayne McCraw Sr., father of the bride and pastor of Old Forest Road Baptist Church, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Wayne McCraw Sr., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ballard "Tex" Amys of Brodhead.

The bride was escorted by her brother, Matthew Lee McCraw of Lynchburg.

Miss Ann Marie McCraw of Lynchburg was her sister's maid of honor and attendant. Mrs. Stacy Wilson of Lynchburg, cousin of the bride; Miss Susan James of Forest, Virginia; Mrs. Tamara Trent of Madison Heights and Mrs. Christina Amys of Brodhead, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid.

Phillip Loesch of Lynchburg, friend of the bridegroom, was best man and groomsmen were Robert Dvorak of Elkton, Md., Joel Sargeant of Lynchburg, Darren Allen and Scott Stayton of Mt. Vernon, friends of the bridegroom. Ushers were Jarrod Amys, Jason Amys and James Amys of Brodhead, brothers of the bridegroom, and Jon Bobby of Lynchburg, friend of the bridegroom.

Miss Andrea Latham of Forest and Master Benjamin Patterson of Lynchburg, friends of the bride and bridegroom, were flower girl and ring bearer. Miss Jennifer King of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, friend of the bride, was guest book attendant.

Rev. William C. Coen, Minister of Music at North Peachtree Baptist Church, Atlanta, Georgia, was guest soloist, David Charles Campbell, Minister of Music at Riverton Presbyterian Church, was organist for the service.

The bride wore a pure silk satin laced organza gown that was a Susan Brent Original. A fitted bodice to the waistline was embellished with bands of silk braid and hand-beaded Venice lace. The long slender sleeves were edged in matching detail. Tiny hand-rolled silk buds adorned the shoulders. A full skirt, loops of silk fabric and hand-milled flowers were draped from the cathedral train. Her headpiece was a band of matching silk buds and flowers that supported a circular tulle illusion veil. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and statice accented with ivy.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. A selection of classical and sacred music was provided by harpist, Mrs. Angela Noel Yeatts.

The couple was honored with an after rehearsal dinner by the bridegroom's parents at Oakwood Country Club.

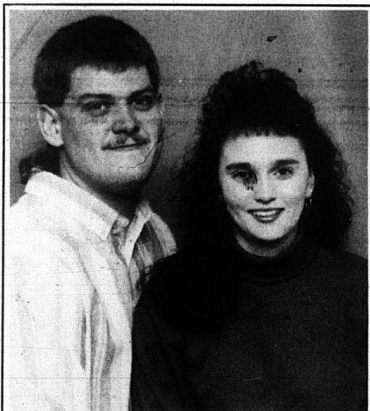

The bride is a graduate of Heritage High School and is currently pursuing a B.S. degree in Psychology at Liberty University. She is employed by PIP Printing of Lynchburg.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Rockcastle County High School, Mt. Vernon, and of Liberty University, where he received a B.S. degree in English Education. He is currently pursuing a M.A. degree in Religious Studies at Liberty University and is project manager for Liberty University's Building Services.

After a wedding trip to Tennessee, the couple will live in Lynchburg.

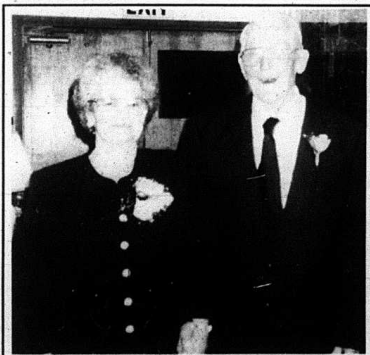

Engagement Announced

Brenda and Steve Louallen of Berea and Larry and Deanna Mullins of Conway would like to announce the engagement of their daughter, Donisha N. Mullins to Casey L. Blaney (Freeman). Casey is the son of Kathy Blaney of Murrell's Inlet, S.C. and Jim Blaney of Barboursville. Donisha will be graduating from Eastern Kentucky University in the spring of 1997 with an associate of Science degree in Medical Assisting Technology. Casey is enlisted in the United States Army where he is receiving advanced training as a military policeman. Donisha is the granddaughter of the late Casper and Macie McCracken of Boone and Herbert and Christine Mullins of Berea.

To Be Wed

Shelia Gale Taylor and Shannon Dee Hood will be united in marriage May 11, 1996 at 3 p.m. at Sunnyside Baptist Church in Somerset. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Kate Louise Taylor of Mt. Vernon and the late Bobby Gene Taylor of Mt. Vernon. Shelia is employed by Lake Cumberland Regional Hospital. The groom-to-be is the son of Jackie Lewis and Bobby Hood, both of Somerset and is employed by Modern Distributors. The couple plan to reside in Somerset.

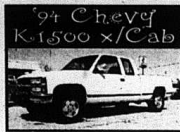

50th Anniversary

J. Paul Russell and Emogene Dance Russell of Independence, and formerly of Rockcastle County, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary February 6 with their children and lots of relatives and friends. They were married February 6, 1946 in Covington.

Dear Editor,

I was very interested to hear of the upcoming national teleconference on sudden and traumatic death being co-hosted by Hospice of the Ky. River and Eastern Kentucky University to be held April 17th at the ECU Perkins Building in Richmond, Kentucky.

A family, a school, a neighborhood, a town suffers when a child is run over, a policeman or fireman is killed, a parent dies of a heart attack or stroke, a friend is the victim of violent crime, a teenager commits suicide, a drunken driver causes senseless death. We have seen vividly, particularly following the Oklahoma City disaster, that grief can be both individual and collective for the community.

There are sudden deaths and traumatic events that affect us no matter where we live, and cause us very real loss and grief. It is important, therefore, that educational teleconferences such as this are made possible by thoughtful organizations such as the Hospice Foundation of America.

They deserve our attention and support.

I encourage all community individuals and professionals to contact Hospice of the Ky. River 256-3577 to register for the teleconference.

Sincerely,
Lester Caldwell
Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Dear Editor,

We, the Project Graduation Committee of 1996, would like to thank the following contributors for their generosity in helping the 9th year of Project Graduation. Without the support of our community and surrounding areas, the past years would not have been such a success. The purpose of Project Graduation is to keep our seniors safe in a drug/alcohol free environment, in a bonding with their senior classmates they will not forget. If you would like to donate money, food, gift, etc., you may call 256-4816 or 256-9781.

On April 4th, Friday at 7 p.m., the Jubilee Echoes and Son Shine Boys will be holding a gospel singing at Rockcastle Co. Auditorium with love offering at the door to help support our Seniors '96. There will also be a yard sale and golf tournament in May at Cedar Rapids and on May 3rd and 4th at Harry Sparks Vocational School.

Donations are D&V Jewelry-gold chain bracelet; Saylor Pharmacy-Polaroid Camera; Jackson Co. RECC-$40.00; Falcon Cable-$50.00; Dresser Industries-$25.00; Quality Claims-$100.00; Gerri's Silver Sheers-$10.00; Cox Hardware-$25.00; Watson Funeral Home-$100.00; Hiatt's $&10-$25.00; Mt. Some "Straight Talk" On Banking Today... That Can Make Banking Better For You...

IRA — You Can Start Small

Usually when Individual Retirement Accounts are advertised, the main point of the ad is the fact that you can invest $2,000 annually ($2,250 if your spouse doesn't work). This is the maximum contribution allowed each year.

Because of the fact that the ads on IRA's always emphasize the maximum contribution, many people have been left with the feeling that you have to contribute $2,000 annually. This is not true. You can contribute whatever amount you want as long as it doesn't exceed the maximum.

The important thing is that you get started with an IRA even if you can only contribute $200 a year initially. Come in and see us about an IRA. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal.

Dear Editor,
A recent fund raising event, spearheaded by Tom Welch, a Country and Bluegrass evening, was quite a success for the Rockcastle Co. Senior Citizens.

Curt Roberts' Bluegrass Band entertained on Friday evening at the Mt. Vernon Senior Citizens Center. More than 100 people turned out to hear the local group and enjoy hotdogs and chili. Over $400 was raised during the event to be used as local match for program grants. Our appreciation is extended to all who participated, with special thanks to the band who did a great job and to Tom Welch, Chairman of our fundraising committee, who was a super contributor of time as well as money. Volunteers helped in ticket sales, working in the kitchen, preparation of desserts and cleaning up afterwards. We appreciate the door prizes that were contributed and the items for raffle, which included a beautiful alghan given by Dorothy Baker.

The community is responding to Senior program cuts in Federal/State and local funds. As individuals and as a group, people are offering methods to overcome these cuts. Mr. Welch's statement "help us to help ourselves" best describes the manner in which the seniors regard the fund raising events.

With the committee's guidance and the combined effort of many individuals, future events are being planned. All fund raising events will be solely operated for non-profit and tax exempt purposes of the senior citizens program.

We are very appreciative of all the efforts everyone made toward this endeavor, and look forward to our next event!

Sincerely,
Shirley L. Cummins

Dear Editor,
The thunder of silence!
This letter was written to save lives. All sarcasm directed toward big government and hypothetical legislative processes is intentional. Since 1948 an important medical study has been conducted in Framingham, MA which has identified a correlation between high cholesterol and heart disease. The most important discovery about the group of subjects examined was that no person who consistently had a total cholesterol reading below 150 has ever suffered a heart attack.

For all adult Americans, the range of total cholesterol is represented by density function called a bell curve. This means that more people have cholesterol readings clustered near the peak of the bell than you have. Knowing that total cholesterol below 150 is a safe level, it is possible to use yearly coronary death rate and average cholesterol statistics along with a mortality function represented by a ramp to predict the death rate for any national average. The death rate in cholesterol level to 190 from the current 205 will save 200,000 lives yearly. A more dramatic savings of 500,000 lives per year will require a reduction of average cholesterol to 167.

The yearly death rate of 923,000 due to heart disease is not preventable. What will happen if the same number of people were killed by firearms last year? Congress would attempt to pass legislation to confiscate every registered firearm owned by private citizens. What would happen if 923,000 people died on our highways in 1995? Congress would not dare to confiscate our automobiles but certainly would attempt to lower the speed limit on the interstate to 35 mph. Finally, what will Congress do when the laeas of a national released regarding heart disease deaths? All we hear is the thunder of silence.

This amazing disregard for the sanctity of human life by our government indicates a serious leadership vacuum in this country. The leadership attribute we must expect from all our elected representatives is to improve our quality of life at the lowest possible cost while maintaining our national sovereignty. Heart disease is a quality of life issue because it is a life or death decision we can make with life extended by prevention of the disease.

The first action by Congress to mitigate this disaster is to establish truthful guidelines regarding safe total cholesterol levels. The current guideline recommending diet improvement or treatment only when cholesterol readings are above 240 is not laughable, but a very sad commentary about the arrogant disregard of prevention of disease as a cure.

Congress must surmount pressures from special interests and take the offensive against foods containing saturated or hydrogenated fat which are so dangerous to our health. A tax based upon total content of either type of fat in processed foods or beverages must be enacted. A tax causing a voluntary improvements in diet creates less social option than an outright ban on dangerous foods. Citizens would rightfully object to formation of a federal food police. Imagine the outburst of resentment if an FE A margarine bust as a result of a false tip by an informer is attempted against a family enjoying a Sunday breakfast together.

Taxes collected on hard fats should be used to supplement the Medicare portion of FICA. The explosive growth of Medicare will decrease as wellness among the elderly increases resulting in a stabilizing cap on Medicare FICA taxes collected from wage earners.

Sincerely,
Robert A. Dahlquist

Dear Editor,

Recently my grandmother, Evelyn Norton, passed away. A very good friend of the family, Zi Graves, a former columnist in your paper, gave a beautiful eulogy at my grandmother's funeral. She really captured the essence of my grandmother, a former resident of Rockcastle County. (She and my grandfather, Roscoe Norton, lived there many years)

So, in a tribute to my grandmother, I hope you can find a space in your paper to print the enclosed eulogy.

Sincerely,
Tonya Oxendine
In Memory of, Evelyn Norton
Given by Zi Graves

Today I have the honor of taking part in the eulogy of one of my oldest and dearest friends in Kentucky. Thank you Inez, Junior, Don and Tonya for giving me the privilege to do so and allowing me to share in the loss and grief of your mother, grandmother and my dearly beloved friend, Evelyn.

Evelyn Price Norton, widow of Roscoe Norton, entered my life in 1936 shortly after Mat and I were married and from that day on we were friends. I immediately recognized a quality of gentility in Evelyn that was a part of her heritage. Her immaculate attire and soft spoken words left the impression of good schools and a caring family used to the better things in life. At that same time I also took note of her quick mind and ability to handle business matters which was unusual in those days; before women were recognized as equal partners to men. It was she who did much of the intricate paper work, usually done by attorneys, on the division of the "Campbell Land" which till then was jointly owned by Mat and Roscoe.

After Mat and I moved to Rockcastle County from Ohio and Roscoe and Evelyn moved to the same area from Tennessee, we became neighbors and even closer friends as we shared many of our disappointments and successes while we adjusted to a new way of life in the country. We also shared many of our children, Inez and "Junior", young teenagers, filled a vacancy in my isolated life on the farm and Roscoe and Evelyn became the "adopted grandparents" to my little one. My children still think of them in that role. Evelyn often spoke of our close relationship as that of sisters.

Besides being a caring wife and loving mother, Evelyn was a homemaker and hostess, the kind that made anyone and everyone feel at ease when they visited her. Her graciousness and warmth came forth from the time the door was opened to even the most casual visitor and soon there would be hot coffee and a tasty sweet to accompany it. When I was the guest, which I often was, the silver tray service was brought forth and a dainty napkin tucked beside a thin china cup and saucer, she had once heard a comment that I liked to drink from thin cups and never forgot it. This was always accompanied by a slice of cake or cookies. In her later years this was "store bought cookies" yet nonetheless they were there. Her talk was not of gossip but was always light and refreshing for one who hungered for such things. It was always a mystery to me that no matter how often I went I received the same royal treatment and never felt worthy of it.

Spending a part of each Christmas day at the Nortons became a tradition for the Mat Graves family. After the gift exchange the fine linen was brought forth and the table set with beautiful china and silver service and cut glass dishes decorated the table as we ate leftovers from the noon meal. This was when the boiled custard, a tradition handed down to Evelyn through generations of fine cooks and gracious living was served in delicate dessert dishes and accompanied by her fruit cake to complete the feast left from the scarcely touched noon meal and end the festivities of Christmas Day. These are times neither I nor my children will ever forget. Today Judy, Rodney, Polly and I bow our heads as we honor the memory of our Friend, Evelyn Price Norton.

Evelyn's children, Inez and "Junior", her grandchildren, Don and Tonya and great grandchildren were a very important part of her life and if she had a fault in rearing and helping rear them it was in smothering them with her love and concern for their welfare.

ROCKCASTLE HOSPITAL

We try to put our patients at ease . . .

Radiology has a unique function in the hospital. At Rockcastle Hospital, technology is key to helping diagnose a disease or injury. But, it takes specially trained personnel to utilize this technology.

In the eight years I've been here, Radiology has changed dramatically. It's a much larger department now and we've added new diagnostic services, including mammography and our own CAT scanner.

When patients come in, they're often scared, so we try to explain the procedure and answer their questions. We're like family here, we want our patients to be comfortable.

I think taking time to talk to each patient and being polite is important. "We really care about people at Rockcastle Hospital."

Stephen Hopkins of Mt. Vernon served as a legislative page for the House of Representatives during the regular session of the 1996 Kentucky General Assembly. As a page, he worked with State Representative Danny Ford (left) and other members of the legislature in the House Chambers. "Stephen is an outstanding young man and it was a privilege to have him with us on that day," said Rep. Ford. Stephen, a seventh grader at Rockcastle County Middle School, is the son of Tony and Donna Hopkins of Mt. Vernon. His grandparents are Ken and Reita Hopkins of Mt. Vernon and Martha and Johnnie Bernard of Russell Springs. Stephen's great grandmothers are Nancy Helton of Mt. Vernon and Mary Iva Laswell of Brodhead.

Laswell to compete in state spelling bee

Cody Laswell of Mt. Vernon, has been declared eligible to compete in the Kentucky State Spelling Bee, scheduled Saturday, March 30, at the Downtown Holiday Inn in Louisville.

Laswell, is one of more than 40 Kentucky and southern Indiana youngsters who will compete for a trip to the Scripps Howard National Spelling Bee later this year in Washington, D.C., as well as other prizes. This is the third year that the bee is being held as part of the Kentucky Derby Festival. Kentucky Farm Bureau Insurance Companies are sponsoring the bee in conjunction with 84WHAS Radio and Business First.

Kentucky Farm Bureau President William R. Sprague said he is proud that the Farm Bureau organizations are able to support the students who participate in the spelling bee.

"Academic competitions such as the spelling bee help bring excitement into classroom subjects, and send a message to students that learning language skills is important and can be fun as well," Sprague said.

"We want to congratulate all those students who have entered spelling bees in their schools, and wish each contestant at the state level the best of luck for winning that coveted trip to Washington."

Kentucky students who have qualified for the state bee represent grades four through eight in public and private school systems across the state.

Hello everyone. Hope you are well and happy. But of course I know there is much suffering and heartache in the world today, but we all go along and do the best we can. God is good to us after all and we should always give Him praise for all His blessings.

Thank the good Lord, the snow is all gone for the time being. On Sunday, March 24th the temperature reached the 70 degree mark.

The attendance was good at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend, and 107 attended Sunday School. Thank the Lord.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Edd Allen of Berea who passed away Saturday, March 23rd. May God bless and comfort the family that is left behind. Mr. Allen was Elmer Hale's nephew.

Mrs. Margaret Marie Turpin of Akron, Ohio, daughter of the late Collette Belle Scott of Berea, was a house guest of her aunt Florence Reppert and husband, Tip for two weeks. She returned home on Sunday afternoon. They are all enjoying being together.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and daughter, Sherry were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell of Corbin, March 17th.

Tim Reppert of Scaffold Cane and Danny Mullins of Madison County visited Mrs. Edith Mullins of Snider recently.

Visiting friends recently in Madison County, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander have enjoyed the following families, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Gabbard, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Mrs. Georgia Blair and Mrs. Frances Wyatt.

Cody Alexander (10 yrs old), son of Gerald and Irene Alexander of Mareburg, celebrated his birthday

Saturday night at his home. Attending were his parents and sister, Courtney, his grandparents, Eugene and Hallie Alexander of Fairview; his aunt and uncle, Rex and Jewell Davidson and children, Jenia and Jeremy of Brodhead and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isaacs and family of Fairview. Cody is a nice and loving boy and we all love him and wish for him many happy returns of the day. Our daughter Joyce Seals of Berea visited with us Saturday afternoon.

The Burdine Family celebrated Sarah's birthday Saturday. She is one-year-old.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Loudermilk of Evansville visited his mother, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mink visited

Hubert and I visited Elmer and Edith Hale of Roundstone Tuesday morning. Such a nice visit; they are so friendly and such good Christian people. We talked so much about the Bible and its teachings. They are people that one can trust and believe. I don't know when I have enjoyed a visit more. We just wish for them better health and God's blessings.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander recently have been Danny Mullins, Green Griffin and Tip Reppert.

William Cope of Eubank visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Cope, Sunday.

Easter is coming up shortly and spring is here, so maybe more of you can get back in Sunday School and church. Children need to be brought up in The House of the Lord. God gives parents these precious little beings and it's their responsibility to bring them up in the way they should go (The Christian way). Take care and God bless.

Paula Cutter selected for "Top Women in Business"

Paula Cummins Cutter, daughter of Paul and Corinne Cummins of Mt. Vernon and owner of Apres Vous! in Lexington, was selected recently for inclusion in The Lane Report as one of the "Top Women in Business" in Central Kentucky.

The February, 1996 issue named 15 women who had succeeded in their field and included a story on each one.

The article on Ms. Cutter was as follows:

"With a name suggesting 'I will wear it after you,' Paula Cutter's business Apres Vous! Gently Worn Clothing is much more than a copy-signment shop, boasting clientele including various dignitaries and TV personalities who fly to Lexington just to shop for consigned evening wear, furs, suits, accessories, footwear and designer faux jewelry at prices below retail. 'When I began, everyone wondered who would buy used clothes. Times have changed," Cutter said. "It is now cool to be a savvy shopper."

Having made a name for herself as a regionally and nationally known kitchen and bath designer, Cutter decided to venture into entrepreneurship in 1992 with the opening of Apres Vous! in the community as well, she contributes time and money to the Lexington humane Society, Lexington Philharmonic Guild, Children's Miracle Network, the Greater Lexington Chamber of Commerce and the School for Creative and Performing Arts. In June, she will give a seminar in San Diego at the National Association of Resale and Thrift Stores annual conference on store design and sales techniques.

According to Cutter, the secret to her success is that she loves what she does. "Believe success involves more than the money but satisfaction that I am providing what my customers want, displaying it in a way that is convenient and exciting and caring about their needs through great service. They can feel that I love being here."

The Lane Report received in excess of 50 nominations for this award. Sponsors of The Lane Report's 1996 Top Women in Business are McAlpin's, Bank One, Midway College and the University of Kentucky College of Business and Economics.

Pearlle Neal Lunce celebrated her 85th birthday recently at the home of Vinnie (Lunce) and Harry Lee Holland. Also present were: Blanche and Ed Foster, George and Shawn Lunce, Luther and Jerry Lunce, Martha and Gilford Hellard Rosella, Tony and Becky Davis and Jim Lunce.

Nathan and Doris Carter would like to announce the birth of their first child, a son, Taylor Warren, born March 4, 1996 at Lake Cumberland Hospital. He weighed 7 lbs., 6 ozs. and 20 1/2 inches long at birth. Maternal grandparents are Flora and E.J. Hinds and Fred and Colleen Moore. Paternal grandparents are Jerry and Betty Carter. Nathan and Doris Ann want to thank everyone for all the nice cards and gifts.

This guy's a good looking son-of-a-gun, he had a birthday and turned 51!!

Golly Gee & Sakes Alive, Ruby Elizabeth turned 75!!
Happy Birthday, Mom From All Your Kids.

This couch potato had a birthday March 26th. Your wife and family just wanted to say a very special Birthday Wish to you.

We Love You Cheat.

Volunteers needed for Foster Care Review Board

Volunteers are being recruited to serve on the Rockcastle County Foster Care Review Board. Review boards are comprised of volunteers throughout the community who review cases of children placed in care of their homes due to abuse and/or neglect.

In Kentucky, more than 7,500 children are committed to the Cabinet for Human Resources through district court. Reviews of case files are necessary to ensure the care and treatment of these children while away from home. Anyone interested in foster care or child welfare is encouraged to volunteer. For additional information, contact the Foster Care Review Board Program, 100 Millcreek Park, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or call 1-800-928-2350.

It's a "We Goofed" SALE

Yes, we goofed and you can take advantage of our mishap. We purchased, by error, too many artificial bush and long hanging flowers, from California Floral Import. These aren't your ordinary bush and hanging plants. Each of the hanging (draping) and bush flowers can be a complete arrangement for Memorial decoration.

THE AZALEA long-hanging flower drapes beautifully in a hanging basket attached to a shepherd's rod. The Azaleas come in pink, blue, cream, fushia, mauve and peach.

THE LILAC BUSH comes in blue, fushia, mauve, peach, pink, violet and white.

THE WISTERIA BUSH comes in blue, fushia, mauve, peach, pink, purple, violet and white.

Missionary Baptist Churches meeting

Bro. Mark Whicker, pastor of Broadhead Baptist Church and Moderator of the Rockcastle Baptist Association, has announced that the Scaffold Cane Baptist Church will host the semi-annual meeting of the Rockcastle Association of Missionary Baptist Churches on Friday evening, April 5, 1996 at 7 o'clock. The Messengers will hear the nominating committee report, elect officers and committee members for the 1996-97 church year, receive contributions toward paying for property recently purchased for an association building and handle other business and reports. The keynote speaker for the evening will be Bro. Doug Morrow, representing Kentucky Baptist Homes for Children in the South Central Region of Kentucky.

"All messengers and other members of the association's 23 churches are urged to be present at Scaffold Cane on Friday, April 5 and keep informed about and help with the Lord's work that is being done as the churches of Rockcastle Baptist Association cooperate together," said Jack Bruce, director of Missions for the Rockcastle Association of Baptists.

Easter Drama in Science Hill

Pastor Phil Edwards, the staff, the cast, and the congregation of the Science Hill Church of the Nazarene invite you to attend this exciting and family to "BEHOLD THE LAMB," under the direction of Pat Morris and Glenice Harness. This Easter drama and musical will change your life through the power of the gospel of Jesus Christ!

This drama and musical, being presented for the third consecutive year with the help of some 60 cast members, will depict many scenes of the life of Jesus Christ. His entry into Jerusalem, the crowds, healings, Passover week, the Last Supper, Calvary, the Garden, the Tomb, and the Resurrection. Several songs will accompany these scenes such as "In The Name of the Lord", "Shalom", "Watch The Lamb", "Behold The Lamb", and others, being sung by various cast members.

Our goal is to take you back to this time and setting and allow you to feel and sense these awesome happenings so you too can "BEHOLD THE LAMB."

God's gift to us is His Son, Jesus Christ, the spotless Lamb, given to us so that we may have eternal life. The good news is that God's plan of salvation is still intact.

You are encouraged to come and bring family and friends and experience the sights and sounds of the real meaning of Easter through drama, music, costumes, lighting, and special effects. We have reason to celebrate as we "BEHOLD THE LAMB" will be presented on April 5, 6, and 7, beginning at 7 o'clock each evening. Doors
