Arrests for drugs, DUI's in Brodhead

Brodhead City Police Officer Joe Bussell was a very busy man in March, answering complaints, making arrests and working accidents.

But, the majority of Bussell's work was concentrated in the Castle Village Apartments adjacent to the Brodhead Fairgrounds.

Bussell responded to seventeen calls at Castle Village and made arrest for several crimes that included possession of drugs, trafficking in drugs, drunk driving and violation of court order emergency protection orders.

"There is a lot that goes on at those apartments, but the management is trying to clean it up by evicting people," Bussell said.

In the past few months, at least five people have been evicted from the apartments and Bussell said management has told him that at least five more evictions are pending.

"I think they are on the right track. I just hope they stick to their guns," he said.

There were other highlights on the police officer's log for March, which included the arrest of Charles Brock. Brock was charged with driving under the influence, no insurance, expired tags and possession of a handgun by a convicted felon. Bussell arrested Brock after he received a complaint on March 22 that Brock was "burning rubber" on Sigmon Street in Brodhead at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Most of those arrested by Bussell are now appearing in Rockcastle district court on a regular basis.

Christopher Riddle released from hospital

There is good news this week for the family of a Brodhead primary student critically injured in a February accident at his Bowling Ridge home.

Christopher David Riddle, 7, had been hospitalized for 50 days at the University of Tennessee Burn Unit, after some type of firework exploded in his mouth on February 19.

"Christopher has made remarkable progress," said his teacher Rita Shafer. "He was able to speak to me on the phone last week and when he was first injured they didn't know if he would be able to talk again or not," she said.

Mrs. Shafer said other surgeries for Christopher are planned once he becomes stronger.

Christopher David Riddle's condition has greatly improved since his freak accident nearly two months ago. He was released from the hospital on Tuesday.

Deputy jailer charged with selling drugs

By: Richard Anderkin

A Rockcastle County deputy jailer finds himself an inmate in the Laurel County lock-up this week after he was arrested last Thursday for selling drugs to inmates.

Deputy jailer Lawrence Allen, 33, and inmates Raymond Miracle, 27, and Anthony Turner, 22, were arrested and charged with drug related crimes.

The investigation that led to the arrests was initiated by Rockcastle Jailer Joe Howard.

Howard said Monday that he became aware there might be a problem at the jail and notified authorities immediately.

"I run a clean jail and I'm not going to put up with stuff like this," Howard said.

According to the jailer, Miracle, who has a Mt. Vernon address, had left the jail to go to the dentist office and when he returned, deputy jailers and Howard searched him, finding drugs in his possession.

"We locked the prisoners down and had a complete search of the jail and prisoners," Howard said.

The only thing found during the shake-down were two marijuana cigarettes on a prisoner from Jackson County. "Anthony Turner had the 'pot' in his pockets, but we don't think his crime was related to the crimes committed by Miracle and Allen, but he was charged as well," Howard said.

Howard declined to comment on Allen's arrest, but said that Miracle's arrest and Allen's were definitely related. He said that other evidence led to Allen's arrest.

Allen, of Mt. Vernon, had worked at the jail for about six months and is being held in the Laurel County Detention Center under a $15,000 cash bond.

Miracle had been serving a sentence at the jail for about five months for a parole violation.

No calamity here

Longer days, school on Saturday approved by board of education

Rockcastle County students and teachers will find themselves in school until June 8, following a recommendation by the local calendar committee last Thursday.

Loretta Powell, chairperson of the local committee said the committee voted to take the two days already scheduled off for a Kentucky Education Association meeting on April 11 and 12, which makes the school district ineligible for any calamity days from the state.

In order to get out of school before June 10 when summer school begins at Eastern Kentucky University, the committee voted to make up four days of school missed to due inclement winter weather.

The four days will be made up by going to school on Memorial May 27 and election day May 28. Those days had originally been scheduled as vacation days. The committee also voted to go one hour and twelve minutes longer each Wednesday in May. That would make up one missed day.

The fourth day will be made up on

Howard said that he would follow the prosecution of the three men very closely to see that something is done.

Allen was charged with official misconduct, a Class A misdemeanor, trafficking in a controlled substance, a Class C felony and promoting contraband, a Class D felony.

Miracle was charged with promoting contraband first degree, a Class C felony, and possession of a controlled substance a Class D felony.

Turner was charged with promoting contraband in the 2nd degree a Class A misdemeanor.

Rockcastle County Judge Executive, George "Buz" Carlotis, commended the agencies involved in the ongoing investigation. "These arrests were the result of the authorities continuing efforts to maintain a legal and safe jail," Carlotis said.

Kentucky State Police Detective Gary Lane, the Rockcastle County Sheriff's office and the Rockcastle County Attorney's office are involved in the investigation.

The three men are scheduled to appear in Rockcastle District Court on Monday April 15.

Sometime back in March, even though it feels like it must have been a year ago, the weather warmed up to seventy degrees for a day or two and the five day forecast called for more of the same. So on the momentous occasion, I decided to shed the long johns that I've been wearing since back in November.

I haven't been wearing the same pair. Actually I have four. But they're all the same brand and the same size and they keep me warm through the winter. Animals put on extra fur to get through the cold weather and I put on long johns and the only time I come out of them is to take a shower. When Spring finally arrives, I fold them up and stick them way back in my chest of drawers which, incidentally is the most appropriately named piece of furniture in my house.

Invariably I catch the sniffles for a couple of days after I shed because my body has to adjust to keeping itself warmer. That happened back in March. Then it turned cold again and to make a long story short, I've been back in my long johns for at least a month. At this writing, I have no idea when I'll shed them again.

Loretta maintains that the relationship I have with my underwear is a religious experience. She took a couple of sets out of the dryer over the weekend, glanced at the spots where my knees and elbows used to be and noted they were there. When you have to wear them eight months out of the year they get that way. If it ever warms up enough to shed them again, I'm thinking that instead of storing the ones I've worn all winter, I may use them to tie tomato vines to the stakes and see if I can't find some new ones on a clearance sale at the dollar store.

Speaking of tomatoes, Dave Maggard and I have planted 15 varieties in our seed bed and estimate that we should have upwards of 800 plants if they don't freeze out. They probably won't be big enough to set before the first of June but we have great ambitions for a crop of some of the most unusual tomatoes ever seen in Central Kentucky. We are determined to grow a five pounder this year and we've searched high and low for varieties that produce colossal fruits. We'll keep you posted.

And speaking of gardening, last year, on April 1, my snow peas were nearly knee high. I had cabbage and broccoli leafing out and green onions and radishes big enough to pull. This year on April 1, I had 'em planted in the garden. At this writing, I've sown a little lettuce and radishes and stuck some onions down into the tundra.

Ralph King called to say that his peas were up several inches tall already. So far all I've done is buy some seed and even if it stays dry the rest of the week, I won't be able to plant them until sometime next week. Peas simply won't sprout in a mud hole and that's basically what my garden currently looks like.

In the meantime, call if you find long johns on sale.

was visiting a university in Chicago and was discussing the book with classes of field writers.

We stopped at Ballard Parsons store in Wildie and since we hadn't been there for some time due to the bad weather, Ballard seemed glad to see us.

Only one other customer, Junior Ballard, was in there and he soon left.

Ballard seemed disgusted with the weather, said the same crowd hung out there: John Brannaman, Glenn Coffey and some other who had nothing to do so drifted down and played pool.

Other news, Ballard said, was the church had an Easter Egg Hunt on Saturday for the younger members.

The pastor, Kenton Parkey, stopped the young fellows, including Ballard from joining in and trying to find the eggs.

Henry Volmer from Indiana, should have come down and joined in the hunt as all young fellows did.

Ballard says his business was just moderate and there is nothing cheap anymore.

He said he stayed in the store six days a week and then, like the Lord, rests on the 7th day.

I don't know what Ballard does on the 7th day, except look for the weather to change on the 12th day until he can get his electric car to run.

Ballard has had no sales, everything has been high. He just waits for the 12th day to change everything!

John was down on US 25 when he came to Leonard Miller's home. He decided to stop and talk awhile.

Leonard is a Deputy Sheriff in Rockcastle who lives at Conway. He also is a good cook telling John that he had just made of banana pudding that he had just made and urged John to have a bowl of it.

Leonard is the son of John Miller who was the grandson of John Armpp Gadd.

He says he likes this column and reads it every week. Thanks, Leonard.

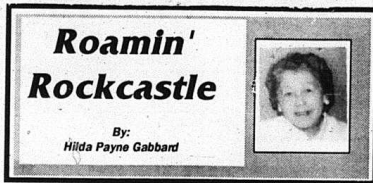

Cleve, my brother, came by Saturday morning wanting to know if he could join in an Easter Egg Hunt over as nobody had told him anything about one on the creek.

I saw Sara and Jason Coguer names as being in charge of a religious group at the Mt. Vernon Christian Church.

I miss seeing Sara in the Signal Office where she worked.

Going to plant flowers next week hoping winter weather will be gone.

Till then: I will be digging for sassafras roots in the woods. Will take some to Laura Clarke so she can make tea from the roots.

We attended church Easter Sunday at Macedonia. The day was beautiful and so were the large, colored eggs presented by the pastor, Brother Denton Sears, to each church member. Each egg contained candy which looked like bird eggs that we had seen in bird nests.

The pastor said his wife was no better in her illness, which was a series of small strokes. I missed Mrs. Sears for she always stood at the door by Brother Sears and greeted the church members.

There is no way of telling when one may be struck down and not be able to fulfill their life pattern.

We were mixed up in the new time for worship.

I apologized to Brother Denton for being late and he said, "Come when you all can. Wall be glad to see you and John."

Quite a few members were missing from service due to illness and other reasons.

I entered the Berea National Bank recently and saw a pretty face behind the tellers window and found it belonged to Phyllis Harding from Clear Creek who does a good job of counting money, but not mine because there isn't much to count after I pay bills.

I finally got to return to Ruby Wolfe's home in Wildie after promising her I would be back to see her and I wanted to return with a gift for her such as she had given me when John and I visited her sometime before.

She gave me a lovely crocheted table scarf so I took Ruby a long neck gourd and she said she hadn't seen one decorated as I told her.

I only grew a few gourds last year. They hung on a vine until they seemed to dry up. So I decided to give her one of my longneck gourds and told her to have someone cut a hole in the bottom.

Ruby said, "I'll just take a knife and make the opening."

"Oh, no you will have to get someone to saw the hole, you can't cut the gourd, they are so tough. John sawed the hole open once."

Ruby's son, Billy Wolfe, stays with his mother some of the time.

We also met another lady who lives at Otawara and was visiting Ruby. She was Marie Alcom and a very nice looking woman.

I had a newspaper clipping which told of a book called "Fly Away Little Sparrow" written by my niece Betty Payne James, who lives in Texas, but Chelsey Cornett telling his momma, Hilda, she can have a drive in his new car if he gets his favorite foods at dinner, onions, pinto beans and cornbread.

Rayburn arrested

Billy Jack Rayburn of Pine Hill was arrested by state and local police Saturday for receiving stolen property.

Stolen was a four wheeler from Gary Miracle's Scrap Yard.

Rayburn was also charged with the theft of a four wheeler Wednesday from Bill Parkers residence.

Rayburn is being held on a $10,000 cash bond.

Cleaning with Ingredients from the Kitchen

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

What Will Vinegar Clean? Fill your coffee pot with half white vinegar and half water. Run through a brew cycle. Empty the pot and run through another cycle with plain water.

Add a few drops of vinegar to the dish water. It will help cut grease.

For pet stains, sponge the spot with a solution of 1/2 cup white vinegar in 1 quart warm water. Let stand a few minutes. Wipe clean. NOTE: Always test the solution in a hidden area first to be sure it doesn't cause the color of the carpet to change.

What Will Baking Soda Clean? Mix 2 tablespoons baking soda in 1 quart of warm water. Use it to clean the inside and outside of the refrigerator, small appliances, countertops and the microwave, and plastic food containers, lunch boxes, thermos bottles and baby bottles. Swish. Rinse with clear water.

Sprinkle baking soda on a damp cloth or sponge. Use to scour the sink.

For a Carpet Freshener: Mix 3/4 cup baking soda, 2 tablespoons corn starch and 1/4 cup perfumed talcum powder (optional). Sprinkle on dry carpet. Let stand for 5 to 15 minutes. Vacuum.

Remember: Measuring utensils used for cleaners should not be used for food.

Store your homemade cleaners in tightly closed containers. Label them. Keep them out of reach of children.

Never mix chlorine bleach and ammonia, or cleaning products that contain bleach and ammonia. The fumes that result are toxic.

Vinegar does not kill germs. Use one cup of chlorine-bleach in a gallon of water to kill germs.

Fertilizing and pruning Home Apple Trees

By Tom Mills, County Extension Agent for Agriculture

Well-managed, home-grown apple trees will yield larger crops and higher quality fruit when they get off to a good start. Fruit trees can be fertilized in February and late March. When fertilizer is applied now, tree roots are able to pick up the nitrogen in preparation for spring growth. If nitrogen is applied mid- to late-summer, this may promote winter injury because hardiness development may be delayed.

In most cases, nitrogen in the form of ammonium nitrate is the only fertilizer needed for apple trees. The amount of nitrogen that should be applied depends on a tree's age and the amount of growth it made the previous season.

Evaluate tree vigor by examining the terminal shoots of the apple tree to determine how much growth was made the previous season. The point from which the shoot grew the previous season is marked by bud scale scars that form a small ring in the bark around the shoot. These bud scale scars are left by the bud scales that covered the terminal bud during the previous winter.

On apples, it is best to have an average of 12 to 15 inches of terminal growth. If a tree has more than this, use a little less fertilizer and if there is less than this, use a little more.

For apples, apply a quarter pound of nitrogen per year of age of the tree. For example, a 4-year-old tree would get about 3 pounds of ammonium nitrate. The fertilizer should be sprinkled on the ground beneath the drip line of the tree, not at the base of the trunk, so rainfall will push the fertilizer down into the root zone.

But remember, if a lawn is fertilized, this may supply all the nitrogen fertilizer needed for an apple tree.

Fruit trees should be pruned every year to promote annual fruiting. The goal is to open up the interior. Pruning is best done between mid-February and the tree's full bloom when the worst of winter is over because pruning dehardens trees and makes them more susceptible to winter injury.

Young trees should be pruned last because they are most susceptible to winter injury. On older trees, first remove any dead or diseased branches and then start at the top of the tree and cut branches to the desired height. Be sure to make these cuts to an outwardly-growing limb and don't leave branch stubs because it is difficult for the tree to seal off or grow over stubs.

If more than two very large limbs need to be removed, plan to remove them over a two- or three-year period. Next, remove any limbs that cross over each other and eliminate limbs that have narrow or weak crotch angles. Try to avoid having more than one branch arising from the same area of the trunk and remove or cut back limbs that crowd other limbs. Also remove spring sprouts and try to divert side branches to grow and fill vacant areas of trees.

Since apples grow more on horizontal than vertical branches, pruners should encourage the development of branches that grow at 45 to 60 degree angles from the trunk, which also promotes development of strong branches. Try to remove branches that arise at sharp angles from the trunk. These are often weaker because bark accumulates between the branch and the trunk and they often break off under heavy fruit load.

The only spray required for apple trees at this time of year is dormant oil treatment. Full coverage with a dormant oil spray will smother scale and mites. Be sure treatment is made when temperatures will not drop below 32 degrees for 24 hours. If freezing occurs, the layer of oil will be broken, allowing air beneath the layer and preventing scale and mites from being smothered.

More information on apple tree pruning and a video tape can be obtained from the County Extension Office.

A new Farm Bill is in the works. As soon as details are received concerning changes, producers will be notified. The Wheat and Feed Grain program is in for some major changes.

County officials will be trained for new program details the week of May 13th. Sign up will begin shortly thereafter.

Grain producers need to keep good farm records to establish Actual Production History (APH). This raises your production yield and allows you to get more of your crop insured for the same fee. Copies of sale bills and weigh bills may be used for this. Bins measurements and grain storage records may also be used. These records should be turned in no later than April 30.

Persons who wish to cancel their FCIC Tobacco insurance need to come in and sign a cancellation NO LATER THAN APRIL 15. If this cancellation is not signed, producers will be billed for this insurance, as this is a continuation of coverage. Once a policy is bought by a producer, it stays in effect until it is cancelled. Feed Grain participants who received advance payments for 1995 should be aware that these payments may have to be refunded due to high market prices. Producers who have been overpaid will be notified at a later date.

Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) participants have the option to extend their contracts, or apply for an early release. To apply for an extension application must be filed by May 31. To apply for early release application must be filed by April 26. For more details contact the office.

Names of General Election voters sent to local library

The State Board of Elections has sent a list of names of the Rockcastle Counties who voted in the November 7, 1995 election to the local library for public inspection.

The board approved the project last year as a way to recognize and to show appreciation to persons who made the effort to vote, board chairman Secretary of State, John Y. Brown III explained.

The state board is again making a concerted effort to increase voter registration and turnout for the coming primary election. Posting the names of those who voted in the last election is one of several projects.

Secretary Brown explained that the names of persons who voted in public record and has always been available for public inspection at the county clerk's office.

"This project is also an attempt to reduce vote fraud," Brown said, adding that the state board usually receives complaints that "illegal aliens, convicted felons, deceased persons and persons who have moved out of Kentucky continue to show up on voter records."

"Posting the voting list for public inspection gives citizens an opportunity to report this type of vote fraud to the state board and involves the public in our efforts to ensure fair elections throughout Kentucky," Brown commented.

State is giving increased opportunities for young voters

Rockcastle County's youth have been given increased opportunities to participate in this year's presidential and state elections, according to

Secretary of State John Y. Brown III, Chairman of the State Board of Elections.

The State Board now has the ability to identify teenagers who obtain drivers' licenses and to notify them of their voter registration opportunity when they reach the appropriate age, Brown said. Using this information, the State Board recently contacted by mail 43,350 17-year-olds who are eligible to register and to vote in the May primary election this year. As of April 8, a total of 10,110 had completed and returned their voter registration cards to the State Board of Elections.

The State Board also furnished voter registration cards directly to each high school in Kentucky. School personnel assist eligible students with registration and forward the completed applications to the local county clerk for processing. In all of 1995, a total of 10,736 persons registered to vote at Kentucky's high schools.

"These numbers represent tremendous improvements over prior years," Brown said. "Prior to 1995, the annual average for registrations of 17 and 18-year olds was only 2,500." According to the University of Louisville Urban Studies Center, an average of 54,000 Kentuckians reach voting age each year.

Eligible voters interested in voting in this year's primary must register before the books close on April

Young group votes less

In spite of rising registration numbers, the turnout for young voters—those between the ages of 17 and 24—is historically lower than any other age group. In the most recent general election last November, there were 235,664 17-to-24-year-olds registered, but only 20.5 percent—48,324—actually voted.

"Young people can make a huge difference once they decide to vote," Brown pointed out. "When you consider that the last governor's race was decided by about 22,000 votes, you can see what a huge impact the quarter of a million registered young people can have."

Generally, voter turnout increases as voters age. In the last general election, turnout was highest for the 50 to 62 age group (57.6 percent), followed closely by voters over the age of 62 (56.9 percent). Voters aged 35 to 49 voted at 47.7 percent, and those aged 25 to 34 were still lower at 29.7 percent.

To encourage better participation by young voters, the State Board is implementing independent programs and coordinating efforts with national organizations such as the "Rock The Vote" project and Third Millennium. Rock The Vote conducts mailings to remind young people to vote and works with popular rock bands to produce informational pieces that air on MTV and other media. Third Millennium conducts programs such as Adopt-A-Voter through which grandparents make commitments to encourage their voting age grandchildren to vote.

17-year-olds can vote in primary election

A good number of Kentucky's 17-year olds will have the opportunity to vote in the May primary election. Kentucky law permits 17-year olds who will turn 18 on or before the November general election to register and to vote in that year's preceding primary election. Thus, Kentuckians who reach their 18th birthday by November 5, 1996 will be able to vote in this year's May 28 primary election while they are still 17. They must, however, register to vote before April 29, 1996.

VOTE FOR VERLA SCOTT

Candidate for Democrat County Chairperson for Rockcastle County

The people who support Verla Scott will vote on April 13 at 10 a.m. at their designated voting precinct to elect three committee members.

As your County Chairperson, I'd like to be able to finish projects that have not been completed since my term ended four years ago. My goals are to see that Highway 150 is completed from Stanford to 461. The Clay Colson Road needs to be blacktopped. The road from Renfro Valley to Hummel needs to be blacktopped and a new bridge installed.

During my four years as County Chairperson, I helped to secure forty-nine jobs for Rockcastle County residents and see that fifty roads were blacktopped and chisealed. Seven of those roads lead to cemeteries. Eight new bridges were constructed and guardrails were installed at 1505 and in Livingston. Lights at 461 and Hwy. 25 were completed and caution lights at Renfro Valley were installed. The water grant at Livingston and the sewer grant at Brodhead were approved.

Your priorities as voting Democrats and citizens of Rockcastle County were my priorities during my term as your County Chairperson. If you want active participation in your state government again, then you need to vote on April 13th at 10 a.m. The Executive Committee holds the key for opening the door for a brighter future for Rockcastle County. They can vote me in as your County Chairperson so I urge you to use your vote to support my candidacy.

Precinct Democratic Elections will be held Saturday, April 13 at 10 a.m. for all fourteen precincts. All registered democrats can vote in this election. A temporary chairperson has been appointed to each precinct by our current Chairman, Larry Doyle.

Th first order of business is for the temporary chairperson, who must be a registered democrat and live in the voting precinct, to call for nominations for a permanent chairperson. This election is by popular vote. The permanent chairperson will then chair the meeting with election of three members to the committee from each precinct consisting of one committee man, one committee woman and one committee youth (30 years or younger) who will serve a four-year term. Each one is to be nominated and elected separately by popular vote. These three people who have been elected will then go to the Mt. Vernon Courthouse on Saturday, April 20th at 10 a.m. They will elect the Executive Committee and County Chairperson to serve for the next four years. There cannot be a slate, proxies or a secret ballot.

Remember, for progress in Rockcastle County, elect Verla Scott - County Chairperson

Forward in the Fifth sponsors Library Power Institute

Forward in the Fifth will sponsor the second annual Library Power Summer Institute, July 10 and 11, at the Marriott Griffin Gate Resort in Lexington. The conference is open to library media specialists, teachers and administrators from throughout Kentucky who would like to make the school library media the center of learning in schools.

Jim Trelease, best-selling author of New Read Aloud Handbook, will present a one day pre-conference workshop Tuesday, July 9 on motivating children to read. He will offer a program for adults on children's literature and demonstrate techniques for reading aloud.

The conference itself will offer some sessions that were popular at last year's conference, as well as several new ones. Presenters will share their practical experiences about what works in their schools, libraries and classrooms.

Another unique opportunity is an expanded arts and multiculturalism training—Arts Alive. Presenter Alton Penso, Basic Arts Coordinator for the Rockcastle County Schools, will work with participants on constructing lesson plans that incorporate arts across the curriculum.

Registration fees for the conference vary. For registration materials, contact Paula Isaacs at (606) 986-3696. The Forward in the Fifth Library Power Summer Institute is part of the Library Power Program, which is funded by the DeWitt Wallace-Reader's Digest Foundation.

Local student will receive Presidential Scholarship

Jeremiah R. Taylor, son of Aubrey and Rita Taylor, Mt. Vernon, has been selected to receive a Presidential Scholarship at Cumberland College.

A Presidential Scholarship is the highest honor an incoming freshman can receive at Cumberland College. In order to be considered for a Presidential Scholarship at Cumberland, students must be approved for admission, have a high school grade point average of 3.76 or above and an ACT composite of 28 (or above) or an SAT of 1230 (or above). In addition, to these requirements applicants must participate in an interview with members of the Admissions and Scholarship Committee.

Cumberland College, located in Williamsburg, is a private four-year liberal arts college in its 106th year of operation. Cumberland offers 4 undergraduate degrees in 26 major fields of study, 30 minors and 9 pre-professional programs.

Students eligible for prizes in poster contest

Rockcastle County high school students are eligible to compete in slogan and essay contests for prizes up to $1,000.

The contests are mandated by law passed by the 1988 General Assembly as an effort to encourage young people to be informed about the democratic process.

Secretary of State John Y. Brown III, whose office is required by the law to sponsor the annual competition, announced that information for participants has been sent to the principal of all the appropriate schools in Kentucky.

The theme of each contest is "Voting and Registering the Vote." The top prize for the slogan contest is $1,000. The second place prize is $500 and the third place winner receives $250, Brown said.

Winners of the essay contest in each grade will win a $100 savings bond, Brown added.

Students interested in participating in either of the two contests should contact their principal for detailed information.

All entries must be postmarked by April 24, 1996 to be eligible.

"Increasing voter education and motivation are two of the major challenges facing election officials today," Brown said. He noted that Kentucky has continued to set records for increased voter registration. "Now our challenge is to get those registered to go to the polls," he added.

EKU Spotlight Day offers information for students, parents

Attention all prospective college students and their parents in Rockcastle County.

You have a special invitation to visit Eastern Kentucky University, Saturday, April 20 for EKU's annual Spotlight Day.

The event, from 10 a.m. to noon at Alumni Coliseum, will include campus tours, academic exhibits and information, open classroom tours and residence hall visits.

"Visitors will be able to talk with our students, faculty members and residence hall directors," said Les Grigsby, director of EKU's Division of Admissions. "They can attend a football game, and just generally see what campus life at EKU is all about."

Currently, about 225 Rockcastle Countians attend EKU.

Every academic major will be represented at the event. The academic exhibits will be set up like an information fair, where students can browse and get as much information as they want. No formal presentations are scheduled.

Eastern's residence halls will be open, and a number of classrooms and departments across campus will be open so students can see first-hand EKU's learning environment.

"Choosing the right place to continue an education is an important decision," Grigsby said. "We believe Spotlight Day gives students a feel for the special atmosphere of our University."

Ample parking will be available in the Alumni Coliseum lot.

must wait six months before applying for a driver's license. Currently, it's 30 days.

Permit holders must be accompanied by licensed drivers age 21 or older, currently any licensed driver can supervise permit holders.

Permit holders under age 18 cannot drive between midnight and 6 a.m., except for "good cause," such as emergencies.

Before turning 18, drivers must complete a private or school-based driver's education course or attend a four hour traffic safety class that will be offered in all 120 counties.

Drivers under 21, with a blood-alcohol content of 0.02 to 0.099 percent, lose their driver's license for 30 days to six months and face a $100 to $500 fine. Judges could sentence violators to 20 hours of community service instead of a fine. Currently teenagers are governed under the same drunken driving laws as all other Kentucky drivers. The law for teenagers will be much more stringent.

Drivers under 18 could lose their driver's license for traffic violations

Solving Conflicts and Struggle at RCHS

The goal of students in some Rockcastle County High School English classes last week was to teach sixth graders at Rockcastle Middle School some effective ways to resolve conflicts they may experience in real life. Topics ranged from "How to deal with a Bully" to "Peer Pressure." The day long presentation was the culmination of a unit taught at RCHS by English teachers. Methods of teaching included: game shows, skits, pamphlets, videos, puppet shows and personal testimonials. RCHS english teachers involved with the Conflict and Struggle unit were Jennifer Mattingly and Julie Cruse. Shown above are RCHS students Nathan DeLeon, Shiloh, Wendy Himes and Angie McFerron. At right, sixth grader Matthew Renner gets instructions from teacher Regina Little.

The Golden Easter Egg
One day there was a golden Easter egg in the grass. And it was a lucky egg too. And I was the only one to touch it. And then I went home. And I went to bed. Then my mother came home. And she touched the egg. And she got stuck. Then the next day I saw my mother stick to it. And then my father came home and touched the egg. And he got stuck too. Then I had an idea I had an hammer and I crashed the egg open there was a baby bird in it.

Suffering from back problems?
WE CAN HELP!

As many people know, back pain is one of the most common health problems in the United States today. The most common causes of back pain are poor posture, poor body mechanics and lifting techniques, stressful working and living habits, loss of flexibility and a general decline in physical fitness. Back pain can also be caused by arthritis, osteoporosis or congenital deformities.

Back pain occurs most frequently in the lower back and low neck regions where a spinal segment of high mobility joins a spinal segment of limited mobility. 8 out of 10 people will suffer a significant episode of back pain in their lifetime. 90% will recover spontaneously within several weeks although future recurrence is common.

"What concerns those of us that treat back injuries is that people don't realize their injury is probably a result of postural problems, deconditioning, or chronic improper lifting and not the result of one single episode," according to Steve Coy, P.T., Director of Physical Therapy. "If I could recommend one lifestyle change to most people, it would be to participate in some form of regular exercise."

"On average, most patients with an episode of back pain will come to us for 12 one hour-visits. We see problems brought on by anything from arthritic changes to an employee lifting boxes they have lifted for 25 years. One of our recent patients continually leaned over her desk at work. She severely strained her lower back through the accumulation of chronically slouched posture in a poorly-fitted chair. Even reading in bed with a pillow under your head can lead to a future episode of back pain," Coy says.

Pain control, therapy, exercise and patient education are all a part of Rockcastle Hospital's Physical Therapy Department's treatment for back injuries. "When people first come to us with their back injuries, we generally begin with the use of pain control modalities. We may use heat or ice, ultrasound, electrical stimulation or a combination of these to promote healing and reduce or block the pain. These are all short term treatment strategies. Long term, we teach strengthening exercises, proper lifting techniques and proper posture. We have an exercise gym that includes aerobic equipment which we like to progress our patients to."

"What makes our program special is that we try to do a lot of patient education. We have great equipment and we are very pro-active in believing the patient should learn everything about their diagnosis, treatment, exercise program and basic back care so they can prevent future recurrence. We are very high on back injury prevention and do a significant amount of patient and community teaching on back injury issues. The answer lies in prevention: posture, exercise and proper lifting. We want everyone to have a healthy back."

friend and admirer of Betty James, says, "There are many things I could say about Betty Payne James' beautiful book, Fly Away, Little Sparrow, but a book-loving friend with whom I shared the book says it better: 'A special THANK YOU for sending Ms. James' book. That woman can write! It is absolutely one of the best things I've ever read. It has the kind of feeling John Steinbeck and Davis Gubb used to have. You've done me a BIG favor turning me on to her book. She is PHENOMENAL!'"

"Basically," James says, "Fly Away is a novel about friendship, and how friendship can grow and develop between the most unlikely people in the most unlikely circumstances. Several people have commented about the sense of joy the book gave them. An old friend wrote to say that her favorite line was 'Can't anybody tell us we're having hard time, because we're just having life,

Berean's novel reveals her Appalachian roots

Fly Away, Little Sparrow, a new novel by former Berea resident, Betty Payne James, has been attracting considerable attention of late. "I'm surprised and pleased," says James, when asked about her recent visit with fiction-writing classes at Northwestern University in Chicago, to discuss the novel. "It's just a small book about homelessness and displacement, but the students there reacted very positively to it," James continued.

Presently living in Texas where the novel is set, James considers herself first and foremost an Appalachian writer. She is the daughter of the late John and Mayme Payne of Disputanta, is a graduate of Berea College, and holds an M.A. in fiction writing from the University of Arizona. Much of James' writing has appeared in journals such as Carolina Quarterly, Southern Humanities Review, Chicago, and Appalachian Heritage, and focuses upon Appalachian settings and experiences. Her first published novel, The Children of Blood, was set in Appalachia during the Civil War.

"I feel a strong sense of place," James says, "lies with the remarkable landscape and the people of my early years are too deep and strong ever to be relinquished. And there's something in the special kind of wry humor often expressed by Appalachians in the face of adversity that will always influence my vision of life." It is this special humor that finds distinctive voice in Fly Away, Little Sparrow. A major character in the novel is a 75-year-old Appalachian woman attempting with great good spirits to survive in trying circumstances. Noted Appalachian scholar and author, Loyal Jones, comments on the comedic aspects of James' novel: "Fly Away, Little Sparrow is a romping comic adventure with an old woman, an old man, a wife, a pregnant teenager, and a passel of dogs. They are outrageous, but underneath decent, and they improve one another along the way."

Another Kentucky writer, Johnny Payne, author of Yucca & Style, notes "Betty James is to the Texas-Kentucky novel what Willie Nelson is to lounge music, what Lyle Lovett is to hair pomade, what Renfro Valley is to architecture. Like Reba McEntire, she is part of the literal 'fringe' element of our contemporary sensibility." Billy Edd Wheeler, a long-time and that's all... 'Which is essentially the biggest lesson most of us can learn, I guess."

James' novel was nominated recently for the 1996 Robert F. Kennedy Book Awards. Maureen Faulkner, a local book critic and former English professor at Berea College, says that "Betty James was one of our finest English majors. I'm proud of her! Fly Away, Little Sparrow was very, very good. I recommend it highly!"

Fly Away, Little Sparrow is available in Berea at the Church Hill Weaver gift shop on Lorraine Court. Or, it can be secured by calling (606)986-3127. Each copy is autographed by the author.

On Saturday, April 20th, the 10th annual "Wheels For Life" Bike-a-thon is going to be held at the Rockcastle County Middle School from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. This community-wide event benefits St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee. This year's bike-a-thon is being coordinated by Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) volunteers. In order to make this event a success, we need community members to obtain sponsors and then participate with bikes, roller blades, strollers, etc. on Saturday, April 20. Our theme this year is

"Children helping Children" but the event is open to people of all ages. Certificates, prizes and refreshments will be provided.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
I wanted to write in regard to an entry in last week's Signal under District Court News listing Evelyn Poynter, as a criminal defendant. That entry was in error, as Ms. Poynter was the Commonwealth's complaining witness in that case, and without her assistance it would be my opinion that we would not have been able to secure a conviction.

Personally, I want to thank Ms. Poynter and her family for their assistance and patience. As I understand, a correction will be printed.

With kindest regards,
Jeffrey T. Burdette
Rockcastle County Attorney

Dear Editor,
To whom it may concern,
I Goldie Evelyn Poynter, wife of Noah Poynter am not the Evelyn Poynter that was mentioned in the Mt. Vernon Signal on April 4th, for harassment communication I am not now and I have never been indicted for any crime. If a party involved in court could have their address printed along with their name it would save a lot of mistaken identity of an innocent party.

Yours truly,
Goldie Evelyn Poynter

Dear Editor,
On March 31, 1996, my business was vandalized. I would like to express my sincere thanks to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department Personnel and the Kentucky State Police and City Police for their prompt response to my crisis.

As a result of their efficiency my loss was recovered.

Dear Editor:
April is Child Abuse Prevention Month. Child abuse may be in the form of physical abuse or the intentional injury of a child by hitting, shaking, kicking, biting and even burning. Sexual abuse is exposing a child to sexual contact, intercourse, or sexually explicit material. Emotional abuse is the maltreatment of a child by derogatory comments, threats, or ignoring them. Neglect occurs when children do not receive the proper care to keep them safe and healthy. All abuse is illegal.

Child abuse complaints have been increasing. The number of arrests in child abuse cases, investigated by the Kentucky State Police, increased by 27.6% during the 1994/95 fiscal year over the previous fiscal year. The Kentucky Department of Social Services received over 40,000 reports of child abuse during that same time. Many counties in Kentucky have established multi-disciplinary teams to investigate child abuse. These teams are comprised of a minimum of law enforcement and the Department of Social Services, but may also include representatives from education, medical and mental health, prosecutors, victims advocates, and adult survivors of child abuse. Contact your County Attorney, if you wish to become involved.

Parents can protect their children against future and continued abuse by teaching them a few simple rules.

*If someone makes you feel uncomfortable, it is "OK" to tell them to stop.

*If you do not understand something...ask questions.

*If someone is hurting you...tell an adult.

*If someone touches you where your swimsuit covers or makes you feel uncomfortable...tell an adult.

*If someone makes you promise not to tell, or keep a secret, about them abusing you...tell an adult.

*If you tell someone, about the abuse, and they do not make the abuse stop, keep telling other adults until the abuse is stopped.

If you would like more information, or to schedule an educational program, contact the Public Affairs Officer at your local Kentucky State Police Post or 1-800-KIDS-SAFE. Sincerely,
Detective Brenda Caudill-Barnes

THE MAMA THAT I HAD
 Care Lee Graves Renner April 10, 1926 - April 28, 1994
 By: Clarice Kirby
 My memories of Mama will always stay, Until the day they lay me away. Her sense of humor was always strong. It made things easier when things went wrong. She was the strongest willed person. I've never seen - when she set her mind. You could stamp it green. That is to say, You could bet it would happen, almost always she was there a rap-pin'. She was a hand quilter, one of the best. When it came to work, she did not just. She was always thinking of others before herself. Helpful when needed, for those who were left. We need her now, but we'll have to rely. Upon her memories and not wonder why. She's in a better place and all pain free. That I'm glad for and all the memories. At times I'm sad when I miss her so bad, But I'm thankful to God for the Mama that I had!

Happy Birthday Dad

RCMS participates in Kentucky Youth Assembly

(This article was written by 8th grader, Brad Spears, who served as a member of the Press Corps during KYA.)

The day had finally arrived! The Rockcastle County Middle School delegation to the Kentucky Youth Assembly, came eagerly pouring through the lobby doors of the Hurstbourne Convention Center in Louisville. Sixty-nine delegates and seven advisors/chaperones were nervous yet excited about this year's assembly. Among the 69 delegates were four serious-minded young men: John Dyehouse and Jeremy Reynolds, advocates to the Supreme Court, and Stewart Abney and Daniel Morgan, authors of Senate Bill 49.

The Rockcastle County delegation also had prepared six other bills. The authors of these bills were: Josh Hale and John Bray, Joseph Lambert and Dallas Powell, Courtney Alexander and Daphne Adams, Brooke Roberts and Andrew Cash, Angela Owens and Matthew Brown; Rachelle Hammond and Ashley Lawson. RCMS also had two lobbyists (Kacee Taulbee and Alex Tyler), one page (Mindy Bullock), one member of the Governor's Cabinet (Mark Parsons), and one member of the press corps (Brad Spears). The remaining delegates served as Senators and Representatives.

John Dyehouse and Jeremy Reynolds were our two Supreme Court advocates. Their case was Puckett vs. Miller. John and Jeremy were the Appellant, while Michael Wientjes and Shaun Chadwell from Rowan Co. Middle School were the Appellees. I was in the court chambers while this case was being presented and the Rockcastle advocates were impressive. They were well-prepared as petitioners. I talked to Jeremy afterwards and he said, "I read through the case and our argument so many times that my throat was sore." That's how dedicated he was. John and Jeremy also expressed their appreciation to attorney William D. Gregory for his help in preparing their case. Although RCMS had seven bills at KYA, one in particular had a great deal of emotion tied to it. The bill was written by Stewart Abney and Daniel Morgan. Senate Bill 49 had special significance for the entire Rockcastle County delegation. It was an act to require all interstate overpasses in the Commonwealth of Kentucky to have security lighting. On October 12 of this year, a 17-year old Michigan girl, named Stephanie Kuhar, was killed in Rockcastle County, when a gravemaker was thrown from an overpass. It went through the automobile's windshield and struck the girl. The Rockcastle County Middle School Y-Club helped initiate a school-wide letter writing campaign to the Kuhar family, expressing sympathy and outrage at such a barbaric incident. Every student and teacher at RCMS wrote letters which our Y-Club mailed. Senate Bill 49 was written as a way of trying to prevent another tragedy like this. According to Stewart Abney, "Throwing objects from overpasses is a common problem, occurring more often. Lighting of the overpasses will help eliminate it." This bill was dedicated to the memory of Stephanie Kuhar. Each RCMS student and advisor also wore black arm bands in her memory.

This was my second year as a delegate to KYA. In my personal opinion, I think that KYA is an outstanding experience for young people. Not only does it give youth a chance to feel they have a voice and that their opinions are of value, but it also gives them a first-hand opportunity to learn how our government works. It is vital that today's students be properly trained to be tomorrow's leaders. KYA is one of the most beneficial programs in which I have participated as a student. I appreciate the many hours our sponsors, Mrs. Nancy Hale, Mrs. Melissa Singleton, Mr. Tracy Gabbard and Mrs. Darlene Larkey, have given to our RCMS Y-Club and for making opportunities like KYA possible for our school.

RCMS Student Senators, 7th and 8th grader. Front-Cathie Midkiff, Angela Owens, Courtney Hansel, Cassandra Falin, Amber Falin. 2nd-John Hankins, Angela Owens, Angie Ford, Stewart Abney, Brian Bell. 3rd-Sabrina Bowles, Daniel Morgan, Jacob Burdette, Matthew Brown.

RCMS Delegates greet KYA student cabinet. All the RCMS students wore black armbands in memory of Stephanie Kuhar who was killed when an object was thrown from an overpass. Senate Bill 49, an act to require lighting on all interstate overpasses, was presented in her memory by Daniel Morgan and Stewart Abney. SB 49 was the only bill at KYA to not be opposed.

RCMS students who presented bills at KYA were Joseph Lambert, John Bray, Josh Hale, Daphne Adams, Dallas Powell, Rachelle Hammond, Ashley Lawson, Courtney Alexander, Angela Owens, Daniel Morgan, Stewart Abney, Brooke Roberts, Andrew Cash and Matthew Brown.

Lobbyists, Alex Tyler and Kacee Taulbee worked to ensure passage of the seven bills presented by the RCMS delegation. They also lobbied against bills. Their efforts saw the successful passage of 5 bills from RCMS.

Sixty-nine students from the Rockcastle County Middle School Y-Club recently participated in the Kentucky Youth Assembly, a 3-day mock legislative event. They were accompanied by sponsors Tracy Gabbard, Nancy Hale and Melissa Singleton.

The fingerprinting for 5 and 6 year olds has been changed to April 25th and 26th. If you wish for your child to be included please send the permission slip back to school. We will not fingerprint any child that does not have a permission form. There has also been a change in the original plan. Only one copy of each child's fingerprints will be made and that copy will be sent home with the child. The school will not keep a copy. This service is possible through the efforts of the Kentucky State Police, our local Police Officers, Kiwanis and the Brodhead Family Resource Center.

An Adult CPR class will be held on Thursday, April 18, at 8:30 a.m. If you are interested please call the Brodhead Family Resource Center at 758-8512 to register. The cost is $2.50.

They would like to thank Lisa and Leslie Rose for the discount on the pizza and let them know the pizzas were great! Mrs. Harrison's group will be rewarded with their field trip party which we hope to do later in the week. They hope to walk to town weather permitting.

Our Girl Scouts and their parents are meeting after school Wednesday, April 10 to make plans for after school
