

Poet's Corner

Rocks vs. Whitesburg
By Preston Parrett
The Rocks traveled to Whitesburg To play the bastion of the hills Who had a trophy case filled With their many scalps and kills.

For there surrounded by mountains A football empire they had built, And the very name yellowjackets Had caused many a team to wilt.

But the Rocks were undaunted For they were building an empire of their own, And with their many victorious years They were becoming well known.

Their '95 match up was a classic As they went at it tooth and nail And the game was down to the last seconds Before the Jackets would prevail.

The Rocks vowed revenge And would prove to these humding-ers, That they had the power and skill To pull out the Jackets singers.

The Jackets got first possession And they went to their big gun, Who fired across the goal line On a thirty five yard run.

On the Rock's first possession A penalty set their back

But when they got the ball again Cromer on a yard run got them on track.

With the score tied at seven Long gone Brown added to his fame, For on a sixty-eight yard run He put the Rocks ahead in the game.

Then the proud yellowjackets Showed that they had class, For they tied it up again When they scored on a pass.

The score was tied once more When the Rocks went ahead to stay, On a twenty-five yarder by Brown One of his four touchdowns of the day.

In the second half of the contest The game was not in doubt For after chasing Long Gone, Brown all night The Jackets were all pooped out.

Brown scored on a forty-three yarder Then came back with a sixteen yard score, Coach Larkey played new troops And they scored two touchdowns more.

Cromer broke through on a great run Making him two touchdowns for the night,

Then Carrera scored the last touch-down Putting the game out of sight.

It was a great offensive and defensive show As all the players played well, Making their record five and 0. As they move up the victory trail.

The coaches had a great battle plan Which was really executed well, For they'd all learned their assignments And good preparation will always tell.

Congrats to the coaches, team, cheer-leaders, band and fans For you all make a great crew, And it's always great to see When our opponents you subdue.

Maggie Fletcher celebrates birthday

Mrs. Maggie Fletcher of Broadhead celebrated her 94th birthday at her home with a family dinner on Saturday night, September 21st. Those present were her four children: Clarence Fletcher of Kettering, Ohio and Lake St. Louis, Missouri; Audrey Fletcher and Charles Fletcher of Broadhead and Mrs. Judith Walker of Fairfield, Ohio. Other guests were Mrs. Charles Fletcher of Broadhead, Kevin Fletcher of Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Edd Alcorn and children, Tricia, Lindsay and Edwin of Berea, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hohler and child, and Andrew and Nicole of Dayton, Ohio and Mrs. Deron Brezce and daughter, Taylor of Lebanon, Ohio. Her nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow McPhedrick of Key, also spent the day. Everyone had a good time and hope we can celebrate again next year.

Reunion

Ms. Cora Henson Smith and daughter, Vanna Compton of Fayetteville, NC visited their family, Maggie Lucas and Nancy Burton in Mt. Vernon this past week. A family reunion was held at the home of Mary Henson Rowlett in Berea with 31 relatives including nieces, nephews, grandchildren, and a great grandchild from Ohio to Tennessee.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet?

Some things to think about.....

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I steam clean or dry foam?

- Option 1: Steam Cleaning - how does it work?
- A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150°) soapy water containing lye and bleach to help dissolve stains.
 - B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a shop vac.
 - The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet drying the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains also fades carpet color. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing causing carpet threads to rot, shortening the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
- Option 2: Dry foam - how does it work?
- A. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with a industrial strength vacuum.
 - B. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using dry-foam lather, a solution that contains 6 different cleaners and fabric softeners, color brighteners, deodorizers, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, degreaser, does not contain lye or bleach.
 - C. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 - The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns. Drying time is less than 1 hour, floor pads remain dry. Fabric softener makes the carpet soft again, promoting the life of the carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend dry foaming to clean carpets.

The only dry foam carpet cleaning in Rockcastle Co.

"Pack of dogs"
loose at Brodhead

A "pack of dogs" is running loose in Brodhead and killing sheep. So reported Mrs. Judy Owens and Mrs. Kathy Taylor to sheriff deputy Darrell Doan, Monday.
Mrs. Owens reported three sheep killed and Mrs. Taylor reported two killed.
Among the dogs was a Rottweiler, which was dead when Doan arrived. He said he did not know how the dog was killed or who did it. But it apparently was the leader of the pack.
The attack occurred Monday in back of the Dairy Mart in Brodhead. It was the first time in several years that sheep have been reported killed by dogs. At one time, Rockcastle County, had the most sheep on the hoof in Kentucky.
But farmers gradually gave up raising sheep, most likely because of dogs and other animals running loose, which is unlawful.
No one is expected to claim ownership of the dogs.

Rockcastle Deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan is shown working a wreck Monday at Brindle Ridge that involved a Pine Hill man. Eugene Parker, 20, received a broken foot in the wreck.

Adams indicted for burglary

A Mt. Vernon woman is being held under a $10,000 bond in the Lincoln County Detention Center after she was indicted by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury.
Janet Adams, 30, of Old Hwy. 25 was charged with two counts of second degree burglary and two counts of theft by unlawful taking.
Adams is accused of taking a CD player and a stereo from the home of Jackie Rogers in Mt. Vernon on August 24 and 25.
Her next court appearance is scheduled for October 25.

Barron charged

Ronnie Stevens of Brodhead reported to the sheriff someone stole barrels, wire and a trailer from him Saturday. Charged with theft, by unlawful taking, was Ricky Barron of Sand Springs.
Plants destroyed
Six marijuana plants were found and destroyed Tuesday by State Trooper Billy Madden, Deputy Sheriffs Darrell Doan and Nathaniel Price, near the Pulaski County line.

County Attorney says new law will affect DUI conviction of teens

A new law, which took effect October 1 called the Graduated Driving License Law, calls for more training for young drivers, drivers education for new drivers and stricter enforcement of the current DUI law for those under age 21.
The new law includes these provisions:
•New drivers can still obtain their learner's permits at age 16, but will not be eligible to take the driver's exam until after 180 days, rather than 30 days.
•Learners are allowed to drive only with another licensed driver who is 21 years of age or older.
•Drivers under the age of 18 can not drive between midnight and 6 a.m. unless they can prove good cause, such as emergencies, involvement in school-related activities, or work-related activities.
•New drivers between the ages of 16 and 18 must enroll in a driver's education course before they will be issued drivers' licenses.
•Drivers under age 21 cannot drink and drive. The law changes the blood-alcohol content for minors to 0.02 percent rather than the 0.10 percent for those 21 and older.
•The lowered blood-alcohol limit is one of the biggest changes," County

Attorney Jeff Burdette said. "It would take very little to raise a person's blood alcohol content to 0.02. They will have their licenses suspended for up to 180 days. They also will be fined $100 to $500 or, instead of a fine, may be sentenced to community service hours."
Burdette said, though, that if a driver under the age of 21 is convicted of driving with a blood-alcohol content of 0.10, the person will be subject to the same penalties established for those 21 and older.
"Our lawmakers designed this bill, in part, to help curb the financial cost of automobile accidents involving teenagers," said Burdette. "It is my hope, and I believe the hope of everyone, that we can see an outcome of better protection and safety of our young people."

Local library well used

By Ray McClure
Many residents of Rockcastle are using the facilities of the Rockcastle Library, a report shows.
Recently, a library board member, Allen Pensol, asked the Rockcastle Fiscal Court to help with a new roof and painting.
"He also said the parking lot doesn't drain well and ices up during the winter."
It was reported Monday that shingles have been ordered for the roof but the court needs a painter. One planned by the court to use, a jail inmate, turned out to be too much of a risk to be used.
In a recent check of figures at the library it showed, there were 31,070 books available to the public which compares favorably with larger libraries in the Central Kentucky Area.
The library disclosed it had 51,636 books out in circulation in 1995-96, plus 7,000 tapes and films, including both the library and Bookmobile.
Further, the library has 2,560 patrons. The bookmobile has 391. Patrons are persons who check out books from time to time.
A total of 26,633 patrons and others came to the library in 1995-96.
Other interesting figures include library building expenses, from $11,463 in fiscal year 1992-93 to $5498, in 1995-96.
Do other counties own the library building? No, say Madison, Pulaski, Lincoln, Clay and Jackson. It is also no to bills paid by these counties for their library.
All the above named counties, including Rockcastle, have library taxing district boards and are totally supported by taxes collected and through state grants.
In recent weeks the Rockcastle Library has completed interior remodeling. Changed around are the adult book shelves as well as the check-out desk and furniture. There is even a children's area now for preschool through teenage.

The library this year took over the space that had been occupied by the senior citizens center the seniors moved to new quarters on U.S. 25 south.
That move reduced expenses at the library.
Concern was voiced as to whether the movie production would harm the historical and natural qualities of the cave. Bill Carr, manager of the cave, is stationed permanently at the site during the production of the movie.

Reprinted from the October Renfro Valley Bugle By Anne Brosnan
Great Saltpeter cave will be earning some deserved recognition this fall, though not for its historic value.
The cave, located on Highway 1004, near Orlando, will be the site for the filming of the movie Fire Down Below. Steven Seagal, action star, will portray an EPA agent investigating toxic waste found hidden in a Kentucky cave.
Warner Brother crews have been on the site of the cave since September, building sets and staging the cave for the production. This is probably the most activity the cave has seen for years.
Producers state that the movie will provide plenty of action, as well as positive portrayal of the mountain community. Following such movies as Deliverance or Nest of Kin, which some critics termed degrading to the culture of the region, emphasis is being made on showing the reality of the Appalachian culture.
Both the Kentucky Film Commission and the Pennsylvania Film Commission had fought for location rights for the movie, with Kentucky winning out and Great Saltpeter Cave being chosen for the filming location.
Concern was voiced as to whether the movie production would harm the historical and natural qualities of the cave. Bill Carr, manager of the cave, is stationed permanently at the site during the production of the movie.
"There was concern for the site, but we discussed this with the producers before the teams arrived on site," said Carr. "I'm here to make sure everything runs smoothly. One of the stipulations was that the crew leave the site exactly as they found it."

Great Saltpeter Cave was discovered in 1798, and is now owned by the Feldburne Foundation in North Carolina. The Foundation bought the property as a natural preserve, interested in maintaining it and preserving it in its natural state. The Bluegrass Grotto (an organization of cavers based in the Commonwealth of Kentucky) maintains the cave, with the regional organization, the Greater Cincinnati Grotto, being in direct management of the site. Carr is a member of the Greater Cincinnati Grotto and spends much of his time exploring the cave and the surrounding area. Recent discoveries have been made, new portions of the cave opened, and there is still much research, mapping and documenting to be done.
Carr's love for Great Saltpeter Cave is present in the work he has done on site and in the ideas he hopes to implement. He is currently working on a lighting system that will enhance the beautiful natural formations inside the cave.
"We're looking forward to opening a museum here in the near future," said Carr. "It will be located inside the ticket office, and we're hoping it will let people know what really went on inside the cave, and dispel some of the rumors."
Legend has it that the cave was once used as a Civil War hospital and

RCHS Golf Team gets State Berth

The Rockcastle County High School Golf Team will be at Vine Grove Lincoln Trail Golf Course next week to take part in the KHSAA Golf Tournament after finishing second in regional play at Eagles Nest in Somerset Tuesday. There were 27 teams in the region and the Rocket golf team finished second to Somerset. Only the top two scoring teams go to the state. South Laurel, who finished third, and Corbin, fifth, were the favorites to win the region. The team shot 329 as a whole with Andrew Hammond leading the way with an 80. Travis Anderkin was second with an 81. Jon Pope shot 83; Jeffrey Owens recorded an 85 and Layne Nicely came in at 90. At Vine Grove, the Rockets will face 22 teams for the state title. In the photo are, front row, from left: Andrew Hammond, Chad Silvers, RCCHS asst. principal Connie Hamm, Nathan DeLeon, Layne Nicely and Travis Anderkin. Back row: Senior Jeffrey Owens, Asst. Coach Chuck Cash, Coach Barry Noble and senior Jon Pope. Congratulations, Rockets! (See story on Pg. A-10)

Meeting postponed

The regular meeting of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, scheduled for October 8th, has been postponed.
The public will be notified of the date and time of the October meeting.

PRECIOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greencines and conjectures from the bucolic Weald of Wabd, oft-visited by Silas V. Bodzlich, that late but so well-known Professor of Rhetoric at Roundhouse College in Shooborn, Idaho, who, upon being accosted by a student regarding a theory he had propounded in a lecture, replied cryptically,

"I know that you believe you understand what you think I said, but I am not sure you realize that what you heard is not what I meant."

Beloved, if you read much, you've likely come across those words elsewhere. They didn't originate with Professor Bodzlich. In so far as I can tell, they first appeared in an editorial issue of the October 22, 1882 issue of The Philadelphia Gazette, written by an Italian immigrant columnist named A. Nony Mons. (I think the "A." stood for "Alfonse.")

Now, dear hearts, I said all that so I can say this: The tragedy of our age is the awful incommunicability of souls. (And that's not original with me. I got it from a philosophy text that I used when I was a college prof. It's by a gent named W. O. Martin, about whom I know nothing else.)

What Martin was getting at is the fact, that for all the talking we do, we leave a helluva time understanding each other. Just because I say something to you, well-worded as it might seem to me, there is no guarantee that you will comprehend what I'm trying to get across to you.

If you say, "I believe in God," and I say, "I believe in God," have we said the same thing?

If you say, "I'm a Republican," and I say, "I'm a Republican," are we in agreement?

If you like "rock and roll," and I like "rock and roll," are our tastes the same insofar as that type of music is concerned? Just a few weeks ago, Union College in Barbourville installed a new president. In his inaugural address, David Joyce compared that college to a mountain bicycle, stressing the point that both need balance.

Joyce stated that one of his priorities would be to develop a "strategic plan for the school," and that the college "must adjust to take advantage of new technology, but must do so thoughtfully... a computer in the classroom with access to the Internet is a waste of money if we do not incorporate it into our pedagogical paradigm."

Pedagogical paradigm?

SAY WHAT?

Now, dear hearts, I think I understand what the Joyce said because I was an educator for several years, because I participated in a lot of educational planning efforts, and because I dealt with paradigms in language studies. But I'll bet all I owe and then some that very few people in that audience knew what the man meant! And maybe some of the faculty? (I'm not berating Joyce, man, beloved. He had to show that he could talk the language of education.)

The man on the street in Wabd might say, "Hell-o! I can't even pronounce that, let alone tell you what it means."

I reminded of an anecdote I often used when I was a minister, a fairly well-known tale about an evangelist from the city who went to the hills of eastern Kentucky to preach the Word.

The evangelist came upon a farmer guiding a mule and plow around a hillside. The evangelist walked into the field, and the farmer stopped to see what the man wanted.

The evangelist introduced himself and then promptly said to the farmer, "Sir, are you lost?"

The farmer said, "Naw, I can't say that I am. I've lived around here for nigh onto fifty years and know every cow path in these parts. No, I can't say that I'm lost. Are you?"

"Oh, you don't understand," replied the evangelist. "Let me put it this way: have you had salvation?"

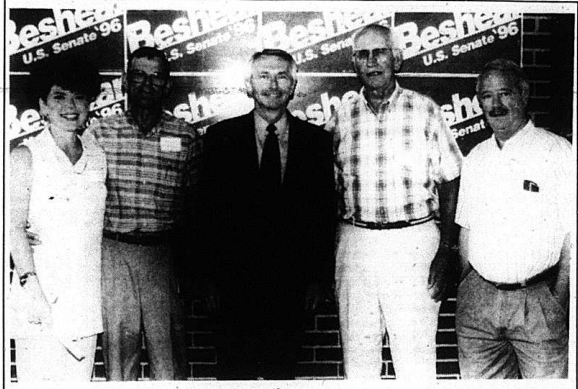

The farmer scratched his wide-brimmed hat, scowled his forehead, and then said, "Well, I've had the measles, mumps, whooping cough and tetch of diphthery, but I can't recollect coming down with anything called salvation. Is it catching?"

The evangelist, a tad flustered, said, "Listen man, do you know the Judgment is coming soon?"

"When?" the farmer asked anxiously.

The evangelist, thinking he might put some fear into the farmer, said, "Well, it could be tomorrow or the next day."

The farmer said, "Well, for Godsakes don't tell my woman. She'll want to go both ways."

"While that tale is still humorous after so many tellings, it points to a serious matter, namely, the fact everything I hear you say is filtered through my own experience. And that being so, I may not have a clue as to what you're talking about, or if I do, my experience may differ from yours that I don't get your drift at all. We understand things only in the light of our experiences."

If I say, "I have a headache," you might understand to some extent what I mean if you have ever had a headache. That experience is fairly common. But if I say to you, "I suffer from clinical depression," that experience is not so well known and, consequently, I'm apt to be misunderstood. You have to have been there to know that. That's why you'll never hear me talking about life's severest physical pain. Only a mother knows that!

So, we don't communicate well. What's to be done about it?

I'm not sure I know. But I know some folks aren't helping at all by withdrawing from everything and everyone they cannot understand. We had been keeping talking to each other, hand though it may be, to communicate. Tuning out what does fit our experience won't help the problem.

But, oh, how tempted we are to do just that. And what a temptation that is for those who are retired. Or so it is with me. Just give me my pension and leave me alone, I sometimes think.

The way of the recluse has its appeal. To hell, I'm tempted to think "with trying to help people see beyond their own noses, or seeing beyond my own nose. People are too mentally lazy to try and think through their differences. Why bother with people who insist you do it their way? Why beat your head against a brick wall? Why care? We're gonna do ourselves in anyhow. Gender strife, generation-gap strife, racial strife, greed, religious strife, hate and indifference, man's inhumanity to man. They're not to stay. Forget communication. Away with the real world, John. Live in your world of Wabd and do your thing for as long as you can before the big Ds get you - Debt, Disease, Disability, and Death.

And when I think that way - which in my soul I know is the wrong way - I read Robert Frost and get back in the ring for another round of talking and hoping to understand as well as to be understood. Here's

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month

One in every eight women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. If detected early, her chances of survival are 96 percent.

If not, her chances plummet to as low as 20 percent.

Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center is committed to helping women beat those odds by administering mammograms to help determine if they are at risk for developing breast cancer. During the month of October, women may schedule a mammogram at the hospital for a reduced fee. Rockcastle Hospital is FDA accredited to administer mammograms.

Given the odds for recovery when detected early, women should begin having regular mammograms at age 40. They should have one every two years until age 49 and every year after age 50. Regardless of age, every woman should give a self-exam every month.

Routine breast examinations and self exams are adequate for detecting a palpable mass, but mammograms can detect breast cancer at its earliest stage, before it becomes clinically apparent and potentially more deadly. Early detection has proven to be the best hope for a cure.

A mammography consists of two X-ray images for each breast. The images are examined to determine any unusual masses or lumps. In the past, some women have feared that the risk of radiation exposure during a mammography may be dangerous. But, with today's advanced technology, radiation exposure during a mammography is negligible, especially when compared to the risks of undetected breast cancer.

Keep in mind, that in four out of five cases where a lump is detected, it is deemed non-cancerous. These types of abnormalities are masses or calcifications. Careful analysis by a physician generally can differentiate between a malignant (cancerous) or benign (non-cancerous) mass. For masses not obviously benign, a biopsy may be needed in which a microscopic portion of the mass is tested for cancerous cells. Of those abnormalities recommended for biopsies, only about 50 percent prove to be malignant.

While it is not clear what factors influence the presence of breast cancer, it is well-documented that when detected early, chances of survival increase dramatically.

For more information or to schedule a mammogram at Rockcastle Hospital, please call 356-2495-5012.

September 14th was a beautiful day and thru the efforts of 40 bike riders (and their parents) and the road block, $5,720.84 was raised for Cystic Fibrosis. You are a great bunch of people. And maybe just hoping there will soon be an end to Cystic Fibrosis.

Thanks to the riders, the twelve top money collectors are: Suzanne Graves, Jillisa Lay, Tanner Allen, Heather Allen, Jerry Graves, Jr., Steve Proctor, April Gibbons, Amy Parsons, Garrett Payne, John Mark Davis, Amanda Graves, and Jamie Ellison. They are pictured elsewhere in the paper with the gifts they chose listed. Derek Adams, T-shirt; Hank Bradley, T-shirt; Bryanna Bussell, T-shirt and tote bag; Michael Cenagin rode the most with 34 miles, he will receive a T-shirt and first aid kit; Joseph Chasteen, T-shirt; Beck Lawrence, T-shirt and tote bag; Dustin Lawrence, T-shirt and tote bag; Jamie Lawrence, T-shirt and tote bag; Joshua Lovell, T-shirt; Jesse McCauley, T-shirt and first aid kit; Kate Lynn McClure, T-shirt and tote bag; Lorrie McClure, T-shirt and tote bag; Weston Riddle, T-shirt and first aid kit; Courtney Rose, T-shirt; Whitney Sexton, T-shirt; Matthew Silcox, T-shirt; Britiany Ashua, Jessica Asher, Tyler Burris, Joshua Barrison, James Judd, Jasmine Martin, Jacob Riddle, Rachelle Riddle, Jessica Riddle, Sheena Swaffney, and Alvin Bullock.

All forty riders received a cone of Ice Cream from the Dari Delite in Brodhead. Thanks to all of their parents who helped them. Thank you Doug and Linda Proctor, Elizabeth Clay, Roberta Taylor, Becky Mason for taking a collection.

Thanks to the bike-a-thon helpers: Preston and Allen Parcut, Marsha and Arlas Proctor, Roberta Taylor, Nina and Murph Cash, Genevieve Reppert, Jean and Everett Albright, Connie McClure, Charles Fletcher, Bobby Proctor, Linda, Mark and Jason Proctor, Nelson and Joy Graves, Jerry and Jackie Graves, Clo Graves, Jerry Brooks, Cheryl Brown, Derrell Proctor, Margie Brock, Onna Kaye Owens, Glenda Gentry, Carol Riddle, Patsy Fletcher, Betty Kelly, and Johnny Newland. All the ladies working the rode block: Lucy and Nina Haimaker, Becky Bussell, Sandy Payne, Teresa Sabastian, Elizabeth Clay, Paula Allen and Louise Bengel.

We also want to thank: the Lions Club, Willing Workers Homemakers, Citizens Bank, Dari Delite, Mt. Vernon Signal, Pizza Hut, Renfro Valley, Yuasa Exide Employees, Taylor Produce, N & N Contracting, Newland Construction Co., A&J Niceley Insulation, Super Saver, Sparks Flower Shop, McCauley's, Ky, Uluities, Cromer Plumbing, Mt.

Vernon Oil and Tire, Robinson Builders, David's Tire Center, Singleton and Assoc., Clontz Attorney. And any one who made a donation to Cystic Fibrosis. We really need a cure maybe this will help find it.

Thanks to the school and to merchants for sign space.

We apologize to the Brodhead residents who were inconvenienced by blocked streets that afternoon. We appreciate your patience.

To hold a benefit, it takes so many people. We do appreciate, so very much, each and everyone who helped in any way. This is a battle we really must win!

Suzanne Graves, a 7th grade student at the middle school chose the watch for her gift. Suzanne will also receive a toaster oven, sweatshirt, T-shirt and ice cream.

Jillisa Lay, a first grader at Brodhead, chose the volleyball-badminton set for her gift. Jillisa will also receive a Polaroid camera, T-shirt and ice cream.

Tanner Allen, is in the 5th grade at Brodhead. Tanner chose the sleeping bag for his gift. He will also receive a sweatshirt, grill, T-shirt and ice cream.

Heather Allen, a 7th grade student at the Middle School, chose the telephone for her gift. Heather will also receive the sweatshirt, sport bag, T-shirt and ice cream.

Jerry Graves, Jr. is in the 4th grade in Nicholasville. He chose the Shaq O'Neal basketball for his gift. Jerry will also receive a headset radio, T-shirt, and ice cream.

Steve Proctor is an E.K.U. sophomore and chose the hand held T.V. Steve will also receive a flashlight, T-shirt and ice cream.

April Gibbons, is in the 6th grade at the Middle School. April chose the large sports bag, she will also receive a flashlight, T-shirt and ice cream.

Amy Parsons, is in the 4th grade at Mt. Vernon. Amy chose a bike bottle for her gift, she will also receive a clock radio, T-shirt and ice cream.

Garrett Payne, is in pre-school at Mt. Vernon. Garrett chose a Pizza from Mt. Vernon Pizza Hut for his gift. He will also receive a radio, T-shirt and ice cream.

John Mark Davis, is in primary at Brodhead. He chose two tickets to Renfro Valley for his gift. He will also receive a clock radio, T-shirt and ice cream.

Amanda Graves, is a freshman in Nicholasville. Amanda chose a pizza from Pizza Hut, Mt. Vernon for her gift. She will also receive a sweatshirt, T-shirt and ice cream.

Jamie Ellison is in 4th grade at Mt. Vernon. Jamie received a bike bottle. She will also receive a tote bag, T-shirt and ice cream.

"SEE YOU AT THE POLE" is a nationwide effort in which thousands of students gather, surrounding their school flagpole to conduct a brief prayer meeting. This serves as a testimony to fellow students, teachers, as well as onlookers of the faith students have in God. This is a student-initiated organization that not only takes place once a year, but daily at RCHS. An organized prayer group meets at 7:50 a.m. inside RCHS near the auditorium. This is strictly a student-led program which was begun several years ago by Andy Martin. This year, over 100 local high school students attended the "See You At the Pole" effort last week. This was a record-breaking number for RCHS.

Kill tobacco plants after harvest to reduce future disease problems

By Tom Mills
Co. Ext. Agent for Agriculture

Tobacco growers who destroy plant roots and stalks after harvest are taking an important step to prevent potviruses and other diseases the remainder of this season and the potential for outbreaks in next year's crop.

Disease organisms, including those causing Blue Mold, viruses, Black Shank, and Black Root Rot as well as nematodes, continue their life cycles and build up on tobacco roots, stalks and suckers after harvest. So keeping tobacco tissue alive until frost gives these organisms another 60-90 days to build up on residues until freeze kills the tissues, increasing the likelihood of more diseases on late crops this year and the potential for problems on next year's crops.

Tobacco growers can reduce this likelihood easily. As soon as feasible, and before seeding a cover crop, disk deeply to disrupt the root system so tobacco plants die quickly. It's important to disk deeply enough to disturb and kill roots and plants. Many farmers disk too lightly -- only sufficiently to help establish cover crops rather than enough to destroy tobacco plants.

Where soil conservation plans allow, plowing is even better.

developing queens and other members of the colony," said Mike Potter, urban entomologist for the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. "Because they want a ready source of carbohydrates, workers are especially attracted to sweet foods such as soft drinks, fruits, ice cream and beer. Yellowjackets will fly down into a soft drink or beer can looking for food, so check these cans if you're eating outside in late summer or early fall."

"Workers also scavenge for popular picnic items such as ham, tuna salad and chicken."

Sometimes people mistake yellowjackets for bees but their behavior and food preferences distinguish them from bees, according to Potter.

"Yellowjackets are more annoying than honeybees and bumblebees," he said. "Yellowjackets have a persistent habit of scavenging for food at picnics and outdoor restaurants. The bees gather pollen and nectar from flowers."

Potter said the best way to reduce the annoying presence of yellowjackets is to minimize food sources that attract them.

"To reduce foraging at produce stands and outdoor restaurants, the bees gather pollen and nectar from flowers."

"When eating outdoors, keep food and beverages covered until you're ready to eat; promptly clean up spills and leftovers," he said. "Put garbage in a trash can with a tight-fitting lid. If one isn't available, put trash in double plastic bags and close securely."

"To reduce foraging at produce stands, outdoor cafes, ice cream stands, parks and recreation areas, put trash cans and dumpsters away from high-traffic areas like serving tables and doors. Use a plastic liner in trash cans and empty and clean them often."

Avoidance is another way to eliminate a yellowjacket problem, according to Potter.

"Yellowjackets foraging away from the nest are seldom aggressive and usually won't sting unless provoked," he said. "Avoid the temptation to 'swat' at them."

"Since yellowjackets are aggressive when in the nest, avoidance also is a good strategy when a nest is in an out-of-the-way location, such as near the roofline of a house. Colonies die in late autumn. The abandoned nests are not reused and soon disintegrate."

"Yellowjackets often build nests underground in old rodent burrows, behind veneer on the side of a home or building, in the attic, or in a rock wall, according to Potter. When located, nests can be destroyed. However, this is generally difficult with foraging yellowjackets because their nests can be several hundred yards away."

"Never try to destroy a nest by setting fire or using a water hose because yellowjackets are highly aggressive when the nest is disturbed," he said. "Instead, locate the opening during the day; then come back at night when yellowjackets in the nest are less active and carefully apply a wasp aerosol or dust insecticide into the nest opening. Don't shine a flashlight beam directly into the nest entrance as it might startle the yellowjackets. If access to the nest is difficult, it might be better to contact a professional pest control firm."

Some people are extremely allergic to the venom from a yellowjacket, wasp or hornet sting. Potter advised seeing a doctor immediately if the stinging causes allergic symptoms such as hives, difficulty breathing or swallowing or wheezing. Use antihistamines and an ice pack to help reduce itching, pain and localized swelling from a sting.

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

U.S. Senator, Washington, D.C. 20510

CUTS IN EDUCATION AND TECHNOLOGY NO JOKING MATTER

When comedian Jerry Seinfeld received an honorary doctorate from his alma mater, he said he wished that as a young man he could have reassured his skeptical parents.

He said, "I could have told them, 'Just let me tell jokes to strangers in nightclubs for 18 years and I'm sure after that they'll make me a doctor.'"

Unfortunately, his route to receiving a doctorate wouldn't work for most young people. What will help young people prepare for the future, whether they want to fly planes, work in an operating room, write novels, run a farm or their own business, is hands-on experience with technology.

But while students are returning to school this fall, Congressional Appropriations Committees are failing to fully fund education technology programs, renege on commitments made just months ago.

Congress approved these programs in the 1997 budget, but is now failing to provide full funding in some cases, and any funding at all in other cases. That failure includes the very successful "Star Schools" program, which uses technology to link over 6,000 schools to high-quality instruction.

Other programs whose funding is hanging in the balance include the:

- Technology Challenge Grants which provide local competition grants for exemplary programs;
- Technology Literacy Fund, a new initiative to provide students access to computers and teachers technology training; and,

- Telecommunications and Information Infrastructure Assistance Programs designed to promote community partnerships for advanced information technologies in schools, libraries and other community technology initiatives.

And education technology programs aren't the only ones under assault. Despite the public outrage last year when they went after much-needed and successful education programs to pay for tax breaks for America's wealthiest, Republicans are at it again this year.

Under House-passed legislation, Kentucky stands to lose well over $54 million in education funding, including Head Start, teacher training, vocational and special education, Goals 2000, and Title I funding for disadvantaged students.

These proposed cuts come at a time not only when technology and education are more important than ever before, but also when we're hitting record-high enrollments. This year 51.7 million children are attending our schools, and that number will rise in the future.

Education has always been the great equalizer in this country. And today, education in large part means technology. In the end, if our children are to succeed in the 21st century, we have to provide them with more than a few good one-liners.

Otherwise, the joke will be on us.

'Tis The Time For Yellowjackets

Yellowjackets with a sweet tooth become annoying pests outdoors this time of year.

Rain, rain - mosquitoes, mosquitoes

Mosquitoes—those buzzing, biting insects are abundant this year because frequent rainfall has set up habitats favorable for their reproduction.

What can Kentuckians do about the pests?

Knowing the biology of mosquitoes is important in knowing how to combat them, said Mike Potter, entomologist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Both types of mosquitoes common in Kentucky need quiet, non-flowing water for their development. The Culex group of mosquitoes lays eggs on the surface of water in rain barrels, bird baths, tin cans, old tires, cisterns, roof gutters and the like.

Mosquitoes of the Aedes group lay their eggs at the base of vegetation bordering streams on in low-lying areas subject to flooding. They also can deposit their eggs above the water line, in old tires and other containers, Potter said.

In just a week's time, the eggs can hatch into biting adults, so a neglected bird bath or boat bottom can produce hundreds of mosquitoes each day.

"Get rid of places where water accumulates, such as old tires, stagnant puddles of water, stopped up gutters on homes and barns and any place else where the insects can breed," Potter said.

Because adult mosquitoes prefer to rest in dense vegetation during the day, remove tall weeds and grass around the yard. But also be aware that adults can fly fairly long distances, so you probably can only control those close to your home.

What about when you go out at dusk and are dive bombed by the winged creatures, especially when they bite you in several spots at once?

"Repellents help. Products that truly are offensive to mosquitoes are readily available. Use them according to label directions and be sure to wear long sleeves and long pants to minimize your exposed skin," Potter said.

Use a natural sea sponge to create multi-colored watercolor effects with depth of color and painting in clear, lacalike impressions.

Materials:
• Do It Best Interlox Wall Paint
• Natural Sea Sponge
• Paint Tray
• Newsprint or paper towels for blotting
• Artist's brush

With sea sponge in hand, begin in the center of a wall, working in about a 2 ft. square area. Lightly dab your paint covered sponge to the wall, changing its position to achieve a random look. Don't use too much pressure; clear, soft prints are the goal, not mushy or heavy blotches! Fill in spaces as the sponge dries, then relax and move on. Step back now and then judge the overall effect.

Generally, three sponged colors over a basecoat gives the best results. Remember to leave more basecoat showing through the first color. The second color will fill in and blend with the first and the last color creates the "highlights." In corners where a sponge won't reach, use an artist's brush to complete the effect.

Step By Step

1. Once the basecoat is dry, moisten sponge in water and wring out. Dip surface of sponge into paint, then blot on paper.
2. Dab the wall lightly with the sponge, changing position to vary the pattern.
3. Allow entire surface to dry completely, then apply a second and third color, following the same procedure.

that soldier's bodies were buried inside the cave. Carr is doubtful that this really occurred, although the cave does have its share of history.

"1998 will be the cave's 200th anniversary of discovery, and we plan on having a celebration which we hope the whole community will attend," said Carr. Cave tours, and reenactments of historic events in cave history will all be a part of the celebration.

Historic artifacts within the cave show evidence of the saltpeter operation which reached its peak during the War of 1812. It is known that the operation at one time employed 70 men who mined and processed saltpeter for the making of gunpowder. Their tools and vats are still present in the cave, and Grotto members are working on preserving these items and building a museum around the site.

During the late '60s, John Lair held his Renfro Valley Barn Dance shows within the cave. Echo Auditorium was lighted with kerosene lanterns, and Renfro Valley entertainers performed on a natural stage area complete with "dressing rooms". No amplification was needed for the instruments or voices, as the acoustics within the Auditorium were so perfect. One hundred and sixty-five feet at its widest place, with a 50-foot ceiling forming a perfect dome, it had a seating capacity of around 1,500 people.

Although the cave is not open to the public during the filming of Fire Down Below, visitors are welcome and can contact the cave management at P.O. Box 1406, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky 40456.

IF YOU'RE READY FOR AN EARTHQUAKE, YOU'RE READY FOR ANYTHING!

(And it's not just a California problem)

You've been hearing it for years: Earthquakes really are a threat here.

But will we ever have one? If the past is any indication, we're actually overdue for a damaging quake. But it can't be predicted or forecast accurately. We ought to be ready for an earthquake--or any emergency--all the time.

An earthquake can be the worst natural disaster that ever strikes this area. So if you're ready for an earthquake, you're ready for anything.

Take earthquakes seriously. And take steps to prepare yourself, your family, your school and workplace for an earthquake. You just might save the life of someone you love.

Whitesburg. The Rockets crushed Whitesburg 48-14. They take on Somerset Friday night in their first district game of the year.

In Regional Golf Action

Rockets advance to state

"Cinderella's going to the Big Dance," exulted Coach Barry Noble as the Rockcastle County High School Golf Team advanced to next week's Kentucky High School Athletic Association's State Golf Tournament. The tournament is being held at the Lincoln Trail Golf Court in Vine Grove.

The Rockets gained their bid by placing second out of 27 teams in Tuesday's 16th Regional Golf Tournament held at Eagles Nest in Somerset.

"Many of the 'premiere' teams had written us off," Noble said. "I know we surprised them. I know that, because it sure surprised me." The Rockets made the team with no chance of making the 1996 tournament. Senior Jeff Owens was leading the pack with a three over 39. "Don't get me wrong," Noble said, "we played most of the season way below the level I had anticipated for this team. We just came on strong on the back nine. That's what won it for us. I really hate it for the other teams, a couple of which had already made their hotel reservations for the state."

Other members of the Rockcastle State Qualifying team include: Nathan DeLeon, Chad Silvers, John Bray, Joseph Lambert, Jeremiah Myers, Brian Reynolds and Blake Arnold.

Noble added that he would like to thank the administration of RCHS, the Cedar Rapids Country Club, the Bank of Mt. Vernon (for helping to sponsor the First Annual BMW/Rocket Invitational), those who helped by sponsoring the players during their fund-raising efforts, the parents and a very special thanks to Mr. Jerry Pensol, "who," stated Noble, "helped us more than he actually realized."

Leading the charge for the Rockets on the back side were Jonathan Pope (37), Travis Anderkin (38) and Andrew Cash (39). Also qualifying for the Rockets was sophomore Layne Nicely who had a rough day but, Noble added, would bounce back for the Rockets in the state. "Our most consistent golfer of the day was Andrew. I'm very thankful that he decided to play for us. When a freshman steps up and plays the way he did, that says a lot about him and his character. If we hadn't qualified as a team, Andrew would have missed the cut for the state by one stroke. That would have been tough to handle." Coach Noble added that he told his golfers he thought a team total of 320 would qualify a team for the state. "That was our goal. We didn't reach it, with shooting a 329, but I'll take it." Somerset won the Tenth Region by compiling a team score of 322, just seven strokes better than the Rockets.

Junior Pro sign-ups are October 10th

Haven't been scored on all season

Sixth graders undefeated

The Rockcastle County Rockets sixth grade team has a perfect 8-0 record in 1996 and, more impressively, they have not been scored against the entire season, pitching eight straight shut-outs. "We're pretty good, we've got a good group of kids, who have worked hard this year," said head coach Willis Coffey. "What is also impressive about the youngsters' record is the fact, they have played only two games at home, the rest have been on the road against some pretty big name football programs.

To date, the sixth graders have defeated Estill County, 28-0, Middleboro, 22-0, Bell County, 28-0, Williamsburg, 14-0, Casey County, 32-0, Red Foley Middle School, 20-0, Wayne County 32-0 and the Rockets' latest victim was Harrodsburg on Monday night 34-0.

And, the Rocket's opponents have managed only four first downs in eight games.

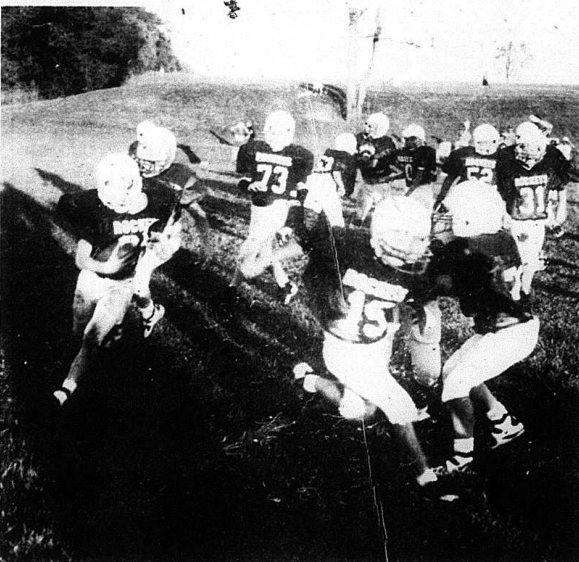

All of the sixth grade Rockets' games have come on the road except for Estill County and Red Foley. "We've got the philosophy 'Have team will play, wherever,'" Coffey said.

On Monday night the Rockets had a fourteen point lead at halftime over Harrodsburg and in the second half they totally dominated, scoring three more touchdowns and holding the Pioneers to zero first downs.

Chris Settles scored twice, Marty Reagan had two touchdowns and Aaron Anderkin threw one touchdown and ran one in.

James Michael Bussell added an extra point as did Johnathon Bullock. "I can't say enough about our entire team, they are just a well balanced unit that knows what their responsibilities are and what it takes to get the job done," he said.

Members of the team are, A.J. Hensley, Doug French, Brian Mullins, Joe Wagers, Tanner Abney, Jamie Wheat, Brandon Bullock, Austin Miller, Cletl Swinney, Adam Stallsworth, Darrin Harris, Stephen Boring, Mike Hayes, Ross McClure, Mike Reed, Jarrod Stevens, Chris Settles, Quinton Hunter, Jackie Weaver, Johnathon Bullock, Aaron Anderkin, James Michael Bussell and Marty Reagan.

The Rockcastle sixth grade team is undefeated in 1996 with a record of 8-0. Shown running the ball against Harrodsburg Monday night is tight end Marty Reagan. Also in the photo are: #73 Tanner Abney, #53 Jamie Wheat, #80 Mike Hayes, #52 Brian Mullins, #31 Chris Settles and #15 James Michael Bussell. The Rockets face Corbin Saturday at Corbin High School.

Score 41 unanswered points

Rockets run all over Whitesburg

By: Richard Anderkin
The Rockcastle County Rockets took their show on the road Friday night and what a show it was.

Senior Jason Brown set a school record for rushing with 271 yards and senior Jon Cromer added 123 yards as the Rockets racked up 497 yards of offense all on the ground.

The Rockets avenged their only regular season loss of the season from a year ago and continued their unbeaten string in 1996.

backer Brooks Ingram had six tackles and assists. Junior free safety Chris Bishop also added seven tackles and Jason Brown had six.

David Coffey had five tackles, as did defensive lineman Mike Muncy, Malcom Shepherd and Ronnie Vanzant had three tackles and Henry Bryant, Slade Calhoun, Dusty McClure and Jon LaFavers each added two tackles. Anthony King had one.

All total the Rockets allowed 283 yards on defense.

Besides Brown's, Cromer's and Carren's yardage, McClure picked up three yards, Josh Hendrickson had 6 and freshman Henry Bryan gained 13 yards on two carries. Anthony King had one yard on one carry.

The Rocket's second season starts on Friday night when they travel to Somerset to take on the Briar Jumpers.

District Play begins Friday night in Somerset

The Rockets fell behind 7-0 and 14 to 7 before the Rockets bounced back and reeled off 41 unanswered points.

"We played good, it just took a little while for our kids to get their feet under them after the long bus ride and Whitesburg was ready for us," head coach Tom Lafkey said.

Along with Brown's 271 yards he scored four touchdowns, while Cromer added two more and sophomore Andrew Carrera had undoubtedly his best game of the season gaining 86 yards on just six carries. Carrera also added a touchdown for the Rockets.

Raymond Blackburn kicked six of seven point after attempts to top off the Rockets scoring.

On defense, linebacker Dennis Miller led the Rockets with 11 tackles and assists, while sophomore line-

"Somerset's just now getting their defense on track after working all summer long on a new offense," said defensive coordinator Tony Saylor. "We have never played well over there and we expect a tough, tough game," he said.

The last time the Rockets traveled to Somerset, in 1994, they lost.

Friday night's contest begins district play for the Rockets, who will face Corbin on October 11, Wayne County, October 18, Madison South-east, October 25 and Estill County on November 1.

The Rockets are 5-0, one game better than they were a year ago at this time.

For his performance Brown was selected as WYMT-TV player of the week.

Cumberland cross-country begins new season

Dee Reams, a freshman from Mt. Vernon, is a member of the 1996 Cumberland College Cross Country team. The Lady Indians are under the direction of Head Coach Floyd Stroud.

Assistant Coach Doug Martin said about the season, "Our women's season is going great. I am excited that our girls are performing to my expectations. In the three meets we have competed in, we took second, first and fourth in team competition. The highlight so far was the first place victory at Carson-Newman College. We went up against a couple of teams in our region and we just rolled over them. We are now looking at the goal of being able to win our region and go to the national meet in Kenosha, Wisconsin in November. Our women's team has been overrun by freshmen who have come in and taken control of things from the first day. I see nothing but great things for this team, not only this season, but for many to come."

Association failed to gather water samples

The Rockcastle County Water Association is notifying their customers this week that for three months during this year they did not properly monitor their drinking water.

According to the notice which appears on page B-11 of this week's newspaper, during the months of March, July and August, Rockcastle Water Association failed to submit an adequate number of bacteriological samples for testing.

Kentucky Public and Semipublic Drinking Water Regulations require that water providers submit samples each month for testing, but the water association submitted only two of twelve samples that were required.

According to the notice any potential adverse health effects to any segment of the population could not be determined due to failure to comply with the monitoring requirements.

According to the notice, if water supplies or preventive measures are needed, the public shall be notified immediately by the Rockcastle Water Association with it currently taking steps to eliminate any future monitoring violations.

Rockcastle Water Association President Bob Fields could not be reached for comment.

The water association currently has about 118 customers throughout the county and is in the process of adding 326 more sometime in the future.

AmeriCorps student coordinator named for Rockcastle County Schools

Eastern Kentucky University's AmeriCorps Student Service Consortium has announced the student coordinator who will work with the local school system.

Robynne Parkerson, Brodhead, a 1996 EKVU graduate in child and family studies, has been assigned to the Rockcastle County school system where she will facilitate service-learning projects and foster civic values in students by linking schools and communities.

For the third year, EKVU's College of Education was awarded funds through the National and Community Trust Act to administer the Consortium which involves a collaborative, regional partnership of school districts, institutions of higher learning, community agencies and public advocacy groups.

As a part of AmeriCorps, the new national service program created by the Act, the Consortium implements a broad spectrum of service-learning experiences for thousands of area students from kindergarten through post-secondary and allow college students or graduates to earn an educational award of $4,725 and a stipend of $7,640 in exchange for 10 months of community service.

Service learning, one of the tenets of educational reform in Kentucky, is a way of learning in which young people gain and apply academic and social skills by addressing authentic community needs.

TAKING ON THE DOPE DEALERS

Marijuana use among teenagers is rising at an alarming rate. One out of every three high school seniors has smoked marijuana; and almost 50% of the class of 1995 had tried drugs by the time of their graduation.

I do not think it is possible to overstate the drug crisis facing our nation. Drugs are once again glorified in music and movies. Teens idolize rock stars who are again dying from heroin overdoses, as they did in a previous generation that came of age in the 1960's.

A decade ago, we were meeting the challenge and teaching young people about the dangers of drugs. But their fear has ebbed, and instead it has become "cool" once again to use drugs. "Just say no" has given way to "I didn't inhale" as the reigning national motto on drug abuse. Unless we tackle the drug problem anew, we risk producing a new generation of drug abusers.

It is clear that marijuana is more available to our teens than ever before. Some 3.2 million teens have used marijuana in the past year, up from 1.4 million in 1992. Those who use marijuana as teens are 79 times more likely to become drug-addicted as adults.

Our nation's drug problem is compounded by a lenient attitude on the part of this administration. President Clinton has appointed judges who coddle drug dealers, and has cut funding for drug enforcement down to the bone. This is simply unacceptable. It is evidence of an administration gone AWOL — absent without leadership.

This is why I am introducing a bill to increase the penalties for trafficking in marijuana. Currently, an individual must be caught with 100 kilograms of marijuana, with a street value of as much as $1 million, in order to get the five-year mandatory minimum sentence. Contrast that with the cocaine or heroin dealer, who must get caught with only 500 grams of cocaine or 100 grams of heroin to receive the five-year mandatory minimum sentence. My bill will bring the threshold quantity for refined marijuana into line with these other drugs, by lowering it to 100 kilograms for the ten-year mandatory minimum sentence and to ten kilograms for the five-year mandatory minimum sentence.

The time has come to put the people who sell marijuana to our children out of business and behind bars. We must protect our children; and to do that, we need to toughen the penalties and send a message to the drug dealers that we won't tolerate it anymore.

If you would like more information on The Enhanced Marijuana Penalty Act, or any other issue, please feel free to contact me at my office, 361-A Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20510, or call (202) 224-2541.

Hale, Gabbard initiated into DKG Society.

Mrs. Nancy Bruce Hale, Gifted Education Specialist for Rockcastle County Schools, and Mrs. Tamara French Gabbard, Assistant Director of Special Education and Preschool Coordinator for the Rockcastle County Schools, were recently initiated into the Pi Chapter, Alpha Gamma Sigma, of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International. They were among eleven honorees at the ceremony held at the Boone Tavern in Berea on August 17th.

They join outstanding women educators in all fifty states, Canada, Latin America and several European countries to be initiated into membership. Locally, the Pi Chapter includes seven counties: Estill, Jackson, Lee, Lincoln, Madison, Rockcastle and Powell, with over 50 current members.

Mrs. Hale was escorted by Mrs. Laura W. Durham, a charter member and retired Librarian of Rockcastle County High School.

Mrs. Gabbard was escorted by Mrs. Phyllis Bullock, Director of Upper Cumberland Special Education Cooperative.

Mrs. Betty Bruce was a special guest for the initiation ceremony and luncheon.

Mrs. Janet Wells, President of Pi Chapter for the 1996-1998 biennium, officially welcomed Nancy and Tammy into the Pi Chapter and conducted the business session. Mrs. Wells is presently the Rockcastle County High School Librarian.

Ricky Van Shelton at Renfro Valley Nov. 16

Ricky Van Shelton's debut on the country music scene in 1988 has been anything but quiet. Within months of his first recording he was walking away from award shows with a newcomer's highest honors: a Country Music Association Horizon award; the Academy of Country Music's Top New Male Vocalist trophy; TNN's Viewers' Choice Favorite Newcomer award and Music City News' Start of Tomorrow award. And the excitement he created in those earliest days remains as strong today.

On Saturday, November 16, area fans will be drawn into the magic of Ricky's rich baritone as he commands the spotlight in Renfro Valley's New Barn Theater. Ricky will perform in two concerts, 7:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. Tickets are on sale now, for $22, $24 for front center sections, plus tax and handling. Reservations are recommended and may be made by phoning the Renfro Valley box office at 800-755-7464 or 606-256-2638.

No stranger to the top of country music charts, Ricky Van Shelton has proved himself a master of both the ballad and the more rowdy tunes. His covers of standards like "Crying in the Chapel," "Statue of a Fool" and the rocking "Great Balls of Fire" have audiences alternately swallowing lumps in their throats and clapping and rocking along. Ricky's comfort with romantic ballads, country rockers and soulful gospel music has won him the admiration of critics and fans alike. This is evidenced by a trophy case which holds some of the industry's top awards: Entertainer of the Year, Male Artist of the Year, Christian Country Artist of the Year, Male Vocalist of the Year. His singles, albums and videos are consistent honors-grabbers as well.

Yet, in spite of the accolades, the honors and the acclaim, Ricky Van Shelton maintains a quiet humility that endears him to the hearts of country fans. Ricky Van Shelton fans within reach of Renfro Valley should not miss this rare event. It is a concert that will be remembered long after the last sweet note is sung.

Sheriffs' collection costs upheld

(From the Lexington Herald-Leader)

The state Supreme Court this week reaffirmed the way sheriffs bill local governments for the cost of collecting their taxes may be made by phone.

Each local taxing district should pay according to its share of the total, the court said in a 4-3 ruling.

The case began in 1993 as a dispute between the Calloway County school board and J.D. Williams, who was sheriff at the time. But it has taken many ramifications from the beginning. "Friend of the court" briefs were filed by the Kentucky Department of Education and by associations representing teachers, school administrators, school boards, judge-executives and counties.

At issue is a statute that guarantees the tax collector a fee equal to the expense of collection. But for school taxes, the fee is to be at least one-half of 1 percent and no more than 4 percent of the total collected.

The Calloway County Sheriff withheld 4 percent of the school district's share of property taxes as his fee. The school district, as one of eight taxing districts using the sheriff as its collector, said it should pay only one-eighth of the cost. The difference was nearly $78,000.

Calloway Circuit Court agreed with the school board and ordered Williams to pay back the difference. The court of Appeals reversed the ruling in January 1995 and was upheld by the Supreme Court yesterday.

Writing for the majority, Justice Donald Wintersheimer said the school board thought it unfair that it was charged more than other taxing districts merely because it received the lion's share of total taxes.

In a dissenting opinion, Justice Nick King said the constitution requires every tax to be devoted to the purpose for which it was levied.

Ky. getting grant to protect farms

Money to pay farmers who don't develop land

A Kentucky effort to protect farmland from development finally will get some money to carry out its mission.

Kentucky is one of 18 states in line for $14.5 million from the U.S. Department of Agriculture through the Farmland Protection Program in the 1996 farm bill.

The federal money will support $55 million in overall spending by local, state and federal governments. In Kentucky, the money will go to the Purchase of Agricultural Easements Corporation, or PACE.

The state must put up an equal amount. All but $25,000 of the state's $400,000 share has been pledged by Gov. Paul Patton or Agriculture Commissioner Billy Ray Smith from existing funds.

The PACE board plans to raise the remaining $25,000 within the next two weeks.

Created in 1994, PACE will pay farmers who promise to keep their land in agricultural use.

The program was proposed by Gov. Brereton Jones, who appointed his wife, Elizabeth Lloyd Jones, to the PACE board. But the legislature never put any money into the program.

"Significant parcels of land already have been identified and approved for purchase by the PACE board," according to a press release from Smith's office. Other parcels have been offered for donation.

Misrianna Barnes Smith's spokeswoman said she did not know the location of farmland whose owners are in line for payments.

Man accused of killing ranger asks to be freed

A man, charged with killing a missing Eastern Kentucky forest ranger, has asked to be released on rounds that he has been in jail more than 60 days without being indicted.

Carlton Foley, 41, of Barboursville, has been charged with murder in the July 3 disappearance of state forest ranger Timothy Sizemore. Sizemore, 36, was last seen riding his all-terrain vehicle, and the bloody vehicle was found on Foley's property. Kentucky State Police Detective K.Y. Pison said the case has been delayed while officials await DNA test results on blood and tissue recovered during the search for Sizemore. He said the tests have been given a high priority and are expected to be ready by next month.

Foley was arrested at a friend's apartment in Michigan on July 9. That means Foley has been in custody, without being indicted, for 80 days. It has been 72 days since a district judge ruled there was probable cause for the case against Foley to go to the grand jury. Knox County Commonwealth's Attorney Tom Handy said recently he would oppose the request at a hearing Oct. 11.

Kiwanis install officers and directors

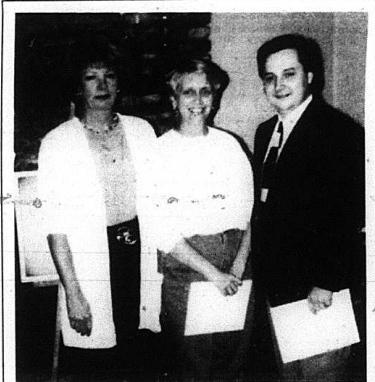

By Bev Rockwell
The Kiwanis Club of Rockcastle County installed their new officers and board members last week. In a ceremony conducted by Geraldine Mize, a past president of our club and outgoing Lt. Gov. of the Kentucky-Tennessee District Division 6 of Kiwanis International. The newly installed officers and directors were reminded of the responsibility and trust placed in them. Included in the program also, was the installation of Martha Cox, sponsored by Vicki Cox, as newest member. Special recognition of Geraldine Mize's contribution to the club and distinguished service she brought to her office as Lt. Gov. was presented by Vicki Cox.

Shown himself invaluable at organizing fund raisers. He will make a terrific vice-president. Rebecca Powell served as a director last year and gave freely of her time and many talents for several years to numerous projects; she will make an outstanding secretary. Sue Hamm was reelected as treasurer. Her energy, dedication and faithful attendance to detail kept the treasury sound. Elected as Directors for 1996-97 were Vicki Cox, Bill Dowell, Geraldine Mize, Gary Cromer, Lorin Rockwell, and Bev Rockwell. Jeff Burdette will also serve on the board, providing valuable leadership and direction as past-President.

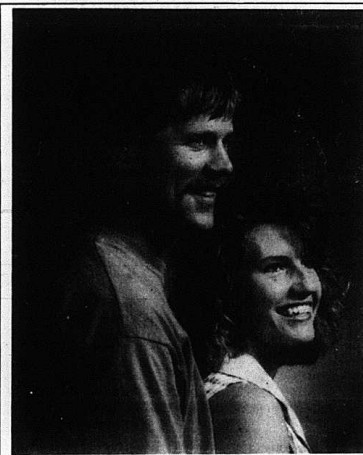

From every walk of life and every corner of the world, Kiwanis Clubs serve to improve the lives of citizens in their communities with special emphasis on young children; for with them rests our future. "Achieving Together What An Individual Cannot Accomplish Alone" is the underlying purpose of all club activities and an edict clubs strive to uphold.

Holiday Helpline volunteers needed

Hospice of the Ky. River will soon be training volunteers for this year's Holiday Helpline. Trained volunteers will answer the 800 call-in phone line for a 4-6 hour shift weekly from November 26 through January 1. Volunteers are trained to be active listeners during a training course which begins in Berea on Friday, October 25th and on Saturday, October 26. Additional training is scheduled. All training sessions will meet at the First Christian Church in Berea. If you are interested in becoming a part of this effort to lighten the burden of grieving persons during the holidays, call Betty Jo Foster at 1-800-265-9040.

New feature next week

With next week's Signal, a new feature will begin entitled "Academic Honor Roll."

Plans are for this column to be a weekly feature recognizing academic achievements by our students.

This column was suggested by Lisa Clontz who felt that enough was not being done to recognize those who excel academically in our county and we agreed. We also felt the positive in our school system needs to be emphasized rather than just the negative.

Parameters have been established for the column and include a 3.5 GPA or better plus achievement in such areas as essay writing, appointment to honor groups, such as Governor's Scholars, recognition in academic competitions, etc.

Also featured will be the Academic Team and their accomplishments.

We hope our readers' will enjoy this new feature.

the way;
Jesus is the way, oh Jesus is the way.
If you want to get to heaven, Jesus is the way.
Just keep your eyes on Jesus each and every day.
Don't let the world mislead you astray. Just keep your faith in Jesus cause He's the only way.
If you want to get to heaven, Jesus is the way.
You can read in John what Jesus had to say.
He said I am the truth, the life and the way.
So brother please believe me, there is no other way.
If you want to get to heaven, Jesus is the way.

The Story Book Parade will be held Saturday, October 5th. Children and parents should be in front of the court house no later than 10:15. We have 20 children signed up for the parade and we're hoping to see a lot of our friends there. Please stop by and say hello. I'm always anxious to see many of the patrons that I knew on the bookmobile. I miss seeing them each month. Also we like to see our patrons that come to the library regularly.

We will have some books for sale, bookbags and book marks to give away and brochures that will give information about the library and activities that will be happening soon. We are still planning on having a Grand Opening some time this fall. We would like for everyone that has not been in to see the new look at the library to come in at that time and visit with us. The hold up on the opening is, the work on the outside trim to be painted and the parking lot to be paved. We certainly cannot go through another winter with the roof in the condition it is in now. I'm afraid a lot of the renovation that was done on the inside of the building will be ruined if it starts leaking more. There has already been two small leaks.

Some activities coming up in October and November are: The Great Pumpkin Night at the Library October 29 and Children's Book Week November 18th-24th. The theme for this will be "Happy Reading Adventures With Arthur."

Two new non-fiction books now available at the library are: AMERICA ON LINE FOR DUMMIES by John Kaufeld... whether you're interested in e-mail, investments, on the Internet, America on Line (AOL) is the place to find information and conversation on your favorite topics. This easy-to-use reference is your personal tour guide to cool sites, steering you clear of the tourist traps, and saving you money along the way!

This book contains the fun and easy way to find out about America Online, version 3.0 for PC and Mac users also your guided tour for cruising the World Wide Web (WWW) and the Internet and contains solutions to common AOL problems explained in plain English.

MAKE THE CONNECTION: Ten Steps to a Better Body and a Better Life by Bob Greene and Oprah Winfrey... In Making the Connection, Oprah Winfrey and Bob Greene show you exactly what to do every day, physically and mentally, to start looking and feeling fantastic. The exercise and fitness program they give you to follow is simple and you're sure to be moved by Oprah's personal stories about her own work to get into great shape, excerpts from her personal diaries, and friendly advice on making and keeping your commitment to the program. Lushly illustrated with gorgeous color photographs of Oprah and Bob, the book will show you how to work out, every step of the way. This inspiring guide will be sure to change your life. Some fiction books available for your reading pleasure are... THIS FAR NO FURTHER By John Wessel... In this novel, love, lust, blood and betrayal all enthrall in a story that will shock and enthrall everyone who opens the book.

This sizzling tale is set deep in a Chicago winter. Wessel's hero, Harding, was once a licensed private investigator with an office, a partner, and a future, but then a simple little domestic case - find the family's missing daughter - turned on him when the daughter showed him the scars her father gave her. Harding promised to protect her, but he couldn't even after killing the man and her father sent after them.

Now Harding's an ex-con, working off the books on another simple little domestic case - take a few pictures of a straying husband and his girlfriend - but this case turns on him too. Harding's trouble comes from all directions from his terrifying past and his perilous present and dead is just about the nicest thing that could happen to him.

Two Christian fiction books by B.J. Hoff... 1. STORM AT DAWY-BREAK... When Jennifer Terry accepts a position as executive assistant at Daniel Kaime's a Christian radio station, she finds herself thrust into a web of intrigue and danger. Someone is harassing Daniel with intimidating telephone calls and threats to his life-but why?

As Daniel's and Jennifer's feelings for each other escalate, so do the threats. Surrounded by darkness, they must trust God for their protection and, ultimately, for their future together.

2. THE CAPTIVE VOICE... While honeymooning on the shores of Lake Erie, Daniel and Jennifer Kaime expected a week of relaxation and moonlit strolls on the beach. They hadn't counted on meeting Vali Tremayne.

Vali, a famous Christian singer, has been in seclusion since the loss of her fiancé, Paul Alexander, in a fiery plane crash. But her emotional struggles may not be simply the result of grief over Paul's death. Someone is tormenting her, trying to drive her insane... or kill her. And by their association with Vali, the Kaimes, too, are thrust into a vortex of deception, where little is as it appears.

Playing It Safe at Halloween

By: Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent for Home Economics

When shopping for Halloween costumes, keep in mind these tips for a happier, safer Halloween:

- Make sure the costume fits properly. Allow enough room underneath to wear outdoorwear in case the weather is cool. However, keep in mind that too-long pant legs can cause tripping.
- Use a partial mask or makeup so sight or breathing will not be hindered. Test makeup first on the inside of the child's arm to test for any allergic reaction. If a reaction were to take place, it would usually take place within an hour. Use a cold cream base under makeup for easy removal and less sensitivity. If a mask is used, make sure it fits securely and has eyeholes large enough to allow full vision.
- Make costumes light and bright enough to be clearly visible to motorists. For greater visibility, costumes can be decorated or trimmed with reflective tape that glows in the beam of a car's head lights. Bags or sacks should also be light colored and decorated with reflective tape. Reflective tape can usually be found in hardware stores, fabric shops, bicycle or

"IT IS WRITTEN"

The Lord often taught in parables as one studies the gospels. In Matthew 13:44-46 we read, "Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field; the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field. Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls: Who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it." These twin parables teach us great lessons about the kingdom of God.

The man who finds the hidden treasure, had stumbled upon this discovery of extreme wealth. Some folks, sort of stumble upon the great untold treasures and riches of Christ. No doubt many a people learned the truth of Christ not really actively searching for it, but when it was presented that they saw its value and accepted it. One does not have to be a rocket scientist to figure out that a box of gold and silver coins are valuable. Even so those who will, can see the spiritual value of the blessings of the gospel, and will gladly accept it's message joyfully.

And some people are like that man seeking the goodly pearls, and when they find that one exquisite pearl of great price, they will buy it. Even so, in the spiritual realm there are people that are searching for truth, for what is right. They will recognize the Lord as the most exquisite Saviour (in fact the only Saviour) man could ever need. They will gladly receive him and his word.

There is something also common between the two parables. Both these individuals had to sell all they had to gain their possession. Yes, we must be willing to "sell all" that we have to gain the kingdom of God. Nothing can be held back, all must laid at his feet, the Lord must come first, Mt.6:33; Gal.2:20; Lk.9:23.

Fairview News

By Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Hello everyone.

This morning - Monday, September 30th is clear, sunny and cool. So beautiful. September has passed by so quickly, but all the other months of this year have done the same. But God, as always has been good to us, we have raised some good vegetables and many of us have been canning and freezing food for this winter. God expects us to work and make a living for ourselves if we are able. I came from a working family and have worked hard all my life, and thank God that I have and still am able to work. It means a lot to me.

Our Sunday school attendance at Fairview September 29th was 103. More came in for worship service. Rev. Harvey Penso has pastored our church since 1978 and we thank God for him. Our September average attendance for Sunday School was 98.

Rev. Jack Sellards of Barbourville. A Gideon speaker visited at our church on Sunday morning September 22nd. We enjoyed having him and wish him the very best of God's blessings in his work for the Lord.

Our community was shocked and saddened by the sudden and unexpected death of Eugene Alexander, Friday, September 20. He was the son of my sister, the former Bertha Reppert and Delbert Alexander and we all loved him dearly. He was kind, considerate, loving, respectable, but most of all a good dedicated Christian, a man that one could trust and believe. He was a loving husband, father and grandfather. He was so faithful to his church and visiting the sick. He and his wife, Hallie were what we call good people. She wishes to thank Galilee Baptist and the Fairview Baptist Church and all their friends and neighbors for all their kindness and sympathy shown during his illness and death, also for the prayers, the visits, phone calls, cards, financial gifts and food. I personally wish to thank their neighbors Ray and Edna for all that they did, and have done for Eugene and Hallie, and for the members of their church, Galilee Baptist in Madison County for their love and their visits. I've never seen or heard of a church that was as supportive of a member as they were of Eugene. God bless each and everyone of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Gabbard and Gail Lee enjoyed a short vacation in Galinburg, Tenn. last week.

Citizens Bank Offers Classroom Improvement Course For Older Drivers

Citizens Bank has joined with the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) to offer the 55 Alive/Mature Driving course. AARP developed the eight-hour classroom refresher course to help drivers 55 years of age or older improve their skills and prevent traffic accidents.

The first session of the course will be held on Wednesday, October 16, 1996 from 4:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. at the Brodhead Fire Department. The second session will follow on Thursday, October 17, 1996 at the same time and place. The fee for this course will be $8.00 per person which covers the cost of the materials used. The first 25 people to register at the Main Office of Citizens Bank will attend free.

For further information or to register for the course, call Citizens Bank at 758-8212.

The 55 Alive/Mature Driving course is designed to meet the specific needs of older drivers. Volunteer instructors recruited and trained by AARP conduct the course, which is presented through a combination of slide presentation and group discussion. Refreshments will be served.

All automobile insurance companies conducting business in Kentucky are required to provide a premium discount to graduates of 55 Alive/Mature Driving, which is a state-approved driver improvement course.
