After many months of planning and waiting, our library has purchased a computer system and we are con-nected to internet. I feel this will be a set to the service that we can provide to our patrons. The internet will not be available for the public to use until after the 15th of November. will not be available for the public to use until affer the 15th of November. We are in the process of training all the staff to be able to give assistance to those who do not know how to use the computer. Also, all the people who use the internet will be asked to sign an internet user policy. This will give all the rules and regulations for using this service. As most of you know, there are things on the internet that would not be appropriate for public use and we can't be responsible for children especially viewing these things. But the good certainly active the staff of the proposed of the propos

I am very pleased to be able to send letters by E-mail on the internet. I have been communicating with my son and grand-hildren in North Carolina, also local people. Most of the students are going to be able to access the internet without any help. They have had this system in the schools for sometime and I know they have a lot more knowledge of this than I do. Children learn new things more readily than those of us who are older.

I'm sure the students do not have all the time they need at the schools though, so being able to access the internet. Leter will help them obtain needed information.

Those of you who come to the library regularly have seen the new look on the outside of the building. The new paint job has helped our library tremendously. I want to thank Lonnie Hall and the other workers for their work. They did a good job considering the condition of the wood. We are still waiting for a new roof and hopefully there will be a few warm days soon and that too will be done.

Happy Halloween

By Preston Parrett
The nights are turning chilly
Leaves are falling down,
Fodder shocks and pumpkins
Are appearing all over town.

Some folks have made dummies That are all laid back, While others have stuffed leaves In a big old pumpkin sack.

Big bales of straw With painted pumpkins lying around, Seems to be a favorite With the folks in town.

There's a lot of skeletons Lying on the ground, With some hanging from trees And others flying upside down

There are ghosts and goblins Hanging from every tree, And there are witches and skulls Scaring the daylights out of me.

Some folks have lighted pumpkins And a lot of chasing lights, While others have skull totem poles Which look eerie in the night.

Some have motion-activated n

hem
With lots of scary groans and yells,
And when folks come near
They often having fainting spells.

The scariest on West Street Is Johnny Boone and Dr. "K," Then there's Preda and Ed Shepherd Whose tombstones frighten folks away.

Roberta Taylor on West Street Always has a great display, And we all look forward to seeing it On each and every holiday.

Melba Fletcher down on Silver Street Realistic dummies she makes, And her display each year Is one that we all appreciate.

The kids are looking forward To their trick or treat, And we'll all be waiting As they come up the street.

Rockcastle Jaycees' Haunted House will run through Thursday night at the Brodhead Fairgrounds. The Rockcastle Teen Center's Haunted House will also close out tonight (Thursday).

Some will be dressed like Clinton Others will look like Dole, Both, who are looking haggard As they campaign to win at the poll.

The kids will be dressed in every fashion Gosh! What a ghastly crew, As they scare the daylights Out of me and you.

There'll be angels, witches and gdblins
Robin, Batman and Superman too,
Then there'll be wolves, pirates and skeletons
Just to name a few.

Halloween is for the kids And it is their fun night, So let's all be extra careful To see that things go right.

If we're driving on Halloween night Let's keep speed down and our vision keen, So that the kids can have A safe and happy Halloween. ive

Nuclear Medicine: quality care

D^{ID} you know that Rock-castle Hospital has a nuclear medicine departme For some that conjures images of "Star War"-like technology or beakers and Bunsen burners

So, what exactly is nuclear medicine?

Nuclear medicine uses radioactive materials to help diagnose and treat a wide variety of health problems It is useful in detecting lung, gallbladder, brain thyroid, liver and bone disorders. It also is valuable in diagnosing problems like heart disease and cancer before they advance or

In the nuclear medicine lab, patients are given a radioactive compound that travels through the body. Gamma rays (invisible radiation) are given off by the compound. But don't fear. The physicians use only minuscule quantities of the compound, and it loses its radioactivity within hour or days. Special diagnostic equipment, like a gamma camera, is used to track the gamma ray's path throughout the body. Detailed computer analyses and still images of the compound's path helps the physician determine any health problems.

If you have any questions about nuclear medicine, call Rockcastle Hospital at 256-2195 for more information.

ADDING INSULIN TO INJURY:

A Closer Look at Diabetes and What Causes It

N OVEMBER is National Diabetes Month, and the medical professionals at Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center want to help you under stand what diabetes is, how it affects your body, the symptoms and what you can do to prevent the disease. For more information, stop by the hospital or call your physician.

Diabetes: What is it?

Diabetes is a health problem affecting more than 14 million Americans. Diabetes occurs when your body cannot properly convert sugar into energy. Normally, when food is digested, the body converts the sugars and starches into glucose and carries it through the bloodstream. Once it is in the bloodstream, the pancreas produces insulin that changes the glucose into energy. This energy, in turn, helps the body do things like nump the heart. circulate blood and stimulate brain activity.

In a diabetic body, the process of changing glucose into energy doesn't work properly. One of two things happens. With insulin-dependent diabetes, the pancreas can't make insulin properly, so you have to supple-ment it with regular insulin injections. With non-insulin dependent diabetes, the pancreas produces some insulin, but either it isn't producing enough or the body rejects it. Because insulin is not available, glucose collects in the blood, leaving the diabetic to feel nauseated, thirsty, weak or fatigued-to name just a few of the symptoms.

What causes it?

Doctors still are unsure what causes diabetes. For insulindependent (type I) diabetes patients, certain infections can trigger dormant diabetes. Another trigger may happen in the autoimmune process in which your body's own defense system attacks the insulinproducing cells in the pancreas, forcing them to shut down. For non-insulin-dependent (type II) patients, diabetes may be triggered by poor diet or obesity. Fortunately, through diet and exercise, this type of diabetes can be controlled without medication

Senior adults and juveniles are two age groups who are at higher risk for diabetes. In the United States, there are more than 123,000 kids with insulindependent diabetes. Type I diabetes tends to run in families, with brothers or sisters of juvenile diabetes patients being 20 times more likely to develop the disease. Most type II diagnoses occur in people more than 30 years old. Of the 14 million Americans suffering from diabetes, 13 million have type II.

Long-term complications

Diabetes is a serious disease that can bring even more serious side effects. Following are some of the long-term health problems associated with diabetes:

- Eye damage In 1995, more than 12,000 cases of vision loss due to diabetes were diagnosed.
- Kidney disease More than 4,000 cases of kidney failure

due to diabetes are reported every year. Often there are no tell-tale signs in the early stages. so kidney damage usually isn'tdiscovered until it has progressed too far and must be treated with dialysis or a transplant.

· Amputation of foot or leg Because the blood vessels sustain long-term damage with diabetes, people more than 40 years of age are at risk for amputation of feet or legs

Also, diabetes causes nerve damage, so if you sustain a cut or wound, you may not even know it, leaving an untreated wound to become hadly infected

To prevent these long-term complications, physicians suggest that diabetics keep their bloodsugar, blood pressure and diet in check. Stay away from sugary and fatty foods that cause the body to overreact. When you keep good control over your diabetes, your risk for serious problems is greatly diminished.

For more information, call your physician or Rockcastle Hospital at 256-2195.

Gauging Your Glucose

Are you at risk for diabetes? The best way to find out is to consult your physician. He or she can administer a blood or urine test to gauge the amount of glucose in your bloodstream. Here are a few guidelines from the American Diabetes Association to help you determine if you are at risk for diabetes.

1) I have been experiencing one or more of the following symptoms

3	on a regular basis:
=	Excessive thirst	Yes	3 points
	Frequent urination	Yes	3 points
	Extreme fatique	Yes	1 point
	Unexplained weight loss	Yes	3 points
1	Occasional blurry vision	Yes	2 points
1	2) I am more than 30 years old	Yes	3 points
	3) I am overweight	Yes	2 points
	4) I am a woman who has had more than one baby weighing
7	more than 9 pounds at birth	Yes	2 points
	5) I am of Latino descent	Yes	1 point
I am of	Native American descent	Yes	1 point

5) I am of Latino descent	Yes	1 point
6) I am of Native American descent	Yes	1 point
7) I am of African-American descent	Yes	1 point
8) I have a parent with diabetes	Yes	1 point
9) I have a brother or sister with diabetes	Yes	2 points

3-5 points: If you score 3-5 points, you probably are at low risk for diabetes. But don't just forget about it, especially if you are more than 30 years old, overweight, African American, Latino or Native American.

More than 5 points: If you scored more than five points, you may be at risk for diabetes or may already have diabetes.

WHAT TO DO: Even if you score in the low-risk range, don't get a false sense of security. Instead, keep in mind the symptoms and be aware of any changes in your body. If you are a high risk, see your doctor promptly.

Dear Editor,
This letter is to the party or parties who removed two American Flags from the flag poles in the Skaggs
Creek Cemetery sometime Monday, October 21, 1996, We, the families, October 21, 1996, we, the families, cannot understand who would be so lowdown to do such a thing. These men served their countries and were proud of their duties they served. These flags were in honor of these two wonderful men for their service they did for their fellow men. Now why can't people let them rest in peace as they should. We are very upset and disturbed over these flags being removed. To our way of think-ing, anyone who would steal an American Flag would not stop at any ength of crime. All we ask is for our steal from them. Sincerely, Lorella DeBord P.O. Box 891 Mt. Vernon, KY 40456

Dear Editor,

It appears, if political polls hold up, that we're in for another four years of Clinton rule. And several things about this concern me deeply, independent of the several things about this concern me deeply, independent of the several things about this determination to disarm law-abiding cuitzens at a time when so many are already cowering behind locked doors and barred windows, affard to venture outside their home alone.

And it can only get worse if Clinton, et al. have their way. Once the criminal element knows for a fact there are no weapons inside the home. Summer, and the able to pick and choose victims at random. The President is disarming the wrong people and bragging about it!

I'm sure that one of the few promises Bill Clinton intends to keep is the one he made to James and Sarah Brady when he signed the Brady Bill, saying, in effect, "this is only the beginning of a concerted effort toward controlling gun ownership in America." Jim just beamed and accepted the pen with which Clinton had just made another concerted effect toward abolishing our Second Aftendment Right to keep and bear arms! How can this man place his left hand on the Holy Bible, his right hand raised toward God, and swear to uphold the Constitution when he obstoods has such futle regard for it? It's seciliogists!

viously has such inthe regard for it? It is sachlegoral. It has been a priority of the liberals since. President Kennedy was killed to legislate a total ban on guns in the hands of private entirens. And they're doing it gradually, one type of weapon at a time, so we won't quite notice what is happening until they're all ashat is happening until they're all gone.

Once we've allowed a Constitutional right to be abolished, there is no hope of ever getting it restored. When one right can be altered by a stroke of the President's pen, what is to preven the entire document from being abolished? Can you imagine our courageous forebears electing a President who made it clear beforehand that he planned to confiscate their musket?

We hear childish statements, even by those who plan to vote for Clinton, such as "They'll never get my gun!" Well, they should try telling this to survivors of the Wacointerno, Come to think of it, there were no survivors, not even infants in cribs. Perhaps they should tell Randy Weaver how they plan to succeed where he failed. Cokie Roberts, an avid Clintonite reporter, was asked recently what we might expect in a second Clinton-reporter, sacasels, decently what we might expect in a second Clinton-Gore Administration. Her predictions were bone-chilling. First, she said, we should look for a huge fax increase, saffer gun and tobacco considerable, some type of government beatheart, and more relaxed haven beatheart, and more relaxed haven beatheart, and more relaxed haven increases will be paying for the uncertainty of the proposed of the paying for the increases will be the increase will be for not. Again, what would out forefathers think of this?!!!

Ms. Roberts went on to say, if Demiscrats regain control of Conferes and increasing them will be presented by the present and increases will swing research will be paying the prison gates will swing wide and all the President's partners in-grine will waltz through to free down, perhaps in time for the linaugural Bail. Who was the stupid fella who once said "rime does not pay?"

If space allowed, I should like to tell you of the spine-infigure restrictions on churches and ministers already in effect under their first Clinton Administration; restrictions that are certain to be expanded during the new four years. According to a story in The Washington Times, the Rev. Jerry Farewell and Jimmy Swaggart Ministeries have been hit with a whopping fine for getting into polition and same-sex marriage! Apparting, the properties of the state of the state

There is so much we would like to say. Perhaps one of the most important being that we're two seniors who are not frightened by opposition and depicting you as an ogre who would abolish Medicare. No way? Out extreme fright comes from the possibility that you might not be there the next time Medicare needs fixing. We know who has hung in there the past, the properties of There is so much we would like to ened to self-destruct

We recall the 1960s when Medi-We, recall the 1960s when Medi-care was being debated and Republi-can leaders had a better idea. You argued for a special fund not tied to Social. But opposing forces awecontimally but opposing forces have contimally opposing forces where against providing any type of medical assistance. In other words, if you didn't vote for their plan, you were automatically against the aged and helpless. you mean-spirited!
You were right in warning that Medicare would never work as it was Medicare would never work as it was being sold to us in the 1960s. And some of us could see that it was simply a way to control our vote at a time when we would be must vulnerable. Atthattime, revenue from Social Security could not possibly Security sould not possibly see funded a type of medical care that Democrats were promising. And it certainly was not adequate to accomplish what you wanted for senior citizens who needed help. Hence, your misstence that it be set up as a separate fund that could not be touched for any other purpose. Had this been done, the interest alone would be enough to sustain many of us today and we wouldn't be worried that it is going broke.

But, of course, the Democrat plans was adopted and immediately persident Johnson's solution for funding the system was an astronomical increase in Social Security taxes to cover the cost — a one-time boost.

we were assured. But you, and others on your side of the aisle, knew it would have to be done over and over and over again to maintain solvency. and over again to maintain solvency. And not only that, you predicted, correctly, that there would be ever-increasing co-payments, deductibles and limitations that would keep eld-erly citizens nervous and scared; perhaps unable to take full advantage erly citizens nervous and iscarce; perhaps unable to take full advantage of the program. You must have been psychic, for certainly there has never been a more prophetic scenario of things to come! My husband and I are paying far more for "gap-filler" insurance alone than we ever paid for private insurance that had no restrictions. Today, hospital patients are discharged literally at death's door because their Medicare allowance ran out! But nobody talks about that. Fraudulent billing is rampant because of the limits placed on doctors and other health providers by a system whose administrators have no idea what a medical procedure is worth. The system is constantly stretched to the breaking point paying medical expenses for wealthy people who could easily afford private insurance coverage. But they paid into Social Security, thus, under Medicare, they are eligible fortax-funded health care while they stash their millions in stocks. they stash their millions in stocks, tax-free bonds and Swiss bank ac-

None of this would have happened under a Goldwater plan supported by you and other Republicans who have since been subjected to the blatant lied that you tried to stop plans to help the elderly. Why don't they replay the entire tape so voters can see what you really said back then? Why aren't the Republicans playing it? One must wonder whether you really want to win.

But whether or not you approved of the original concept passed by a Democrat Congress, it was what you were given to work with and you accepted the challenge. As both minority and majority leader you have done your utmost to save a system that was flawed from the beginning.
Without your wise, determined efforts over the years, Medicare would not only be on the endangered list today, it would be as extinct as the doals bird! At the rate this monster is growing, we're told that in the year 2002 it will reploide. TION

In the early 1800s, Baptists in America were inspired by glowing reports from the foreign mission field.
These Baptists decided to pool their resources and, within a few years, they had doubled in numbers, due in part to a Great Awakening in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. Luther Rice and Adoniram Judson pro-foundly stirred Baptists with their appeal for finances and mission vol-

We reject all forms of proxy reli-gion, where a priest or any other person mediates between the indi-vidual and God. "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (1

Christian witnesses can point unsaved persons to Christ, but those unsaveu persons to Christ, but those persons must make their decision for or against him. "For every one of us shall give account of himself to God" (Romans 14:12).

WE ADHERE TO BELIEVER'S

BAPTISM BY IMMERSION.
Baptism does not save. If that had been the purpose of baptism, Jesus might not have submitted to the rite, ce he is perfectly righteous and sinless.

Why did Jesus insist on being baptized? To give us an example of righteous obedience, to publicly commit himself to his earthly ministry, and to give us a means of publicly committing ourselves to him. Christ's death, burial and resurrection gives us a means of demonstrating our faith in him as our risen Lord.

Neither of these ordinances are sacraments. Neither has power to transmit saving grace. Both are preceded by acceptance of Christ by a faith as Savior and Lord. Barptism precedes participation in the Lord's Supper. Neither baptism nor the Lord's Supper sie essential to salvation, but both are vital to a full meaningful Christian life. Thechurch has been charged to keep faithfully these ordinances until Jesus comes again.

for being.

We do not believe, however, that

Some historians have noted that the truest form of democracy on earth the truest form of democracy on earth is a Baptist church. That probably is true. A Baptist church, however, must be more than a democracy; it must be spiritual democracy.

Dr. James L. Sullivan, formerly of the Baptist Sunday School Board, whose little book, Your Life and Your Church, should be used regularly by every Rockeastle Association church.

every Rockeastle Associationchurch, has pointed out that:

"A Baptist church is usually con-sidered a democracy. By New Testa-ment standards, a church should be a theodemocracy. In a democracy, each person may be looking after his own welfare. He expresses his own opinions. He wores his own opinions. He wores his own best judge-ment Ademocracy can be filled and the minds helf-centeredness. A thodd-minels self-centeredness. CONCLUSION

Regardless of your view about Baptist beginnings, why not pause and thank God for leading you to become a Southern Baptist? You belong to a fellowship of missionmindad, ministering believers, around the world!

If you are not a Christian and wish to join us in this global outreach, just bow your head and ask Jesus to save you right nov you right now.

If you are a member of another church and wish to unite with a Rockeastle Association church to spread the gospel of Jesus to the ends of the earth, Jesus ask flood just now to lead you to one of twenty-two churches where you can unite with other Southern Baptists to accommoder Southern Baptists to accommoder Southern Baptists to accomplish that purpose

WE DON'T THINK ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS WHEN WE HAVE THEM

The subject of human rights is one that we seldom think about, because we are fortunate to be blessed with them in this country. However, we must remember that although there are large areas in the world where the people's rights have been restored to them, there remain other places where tryanny in one form or another still prevails. While there isn't much that we as individuals can do about it, we can at least attend our House of Worship and pray for those unfortunate souls who are not allowed to enjoy the freedoms that we simply take for granted, including free speech and the right to worship God in any manner we choose. Let us pray for the day when all nations can live together in freedom and friendship, beginning with the granting of human rights to their own people.

All men are by nature free... and have certain inherent rights. — George Mason

"Deliver them who were all their lifetime subject to bondage." — Hebrews 3:15

A thoughtful mind ...sees not the flag only, but the nation itself. - Henry Ward Beecher Old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." — Il Corinthians 5:17
