effort and time to better themselves as well as the chapter. For the month of September, Eric Helton was chosen. He worked real hard during the fund-miser, selling ice cream at the Little World's Fair. He also did a good job on our dairy judging team and competed at the State Fair. Two members were cho-sen for the month of October, Jeremy Reynolds was the Creed Speaking winner for the fall semester. Tim Slate was the Quiz contest winner for the fall semester. The contests are held at the Greenhand Ceremony for each semester class. Dustin Crawford each semester class. Dustin Crawford was the Member of the Month for November. Dustin competed in the Seed ID contest and won first place in the Kys. River Region. He has also competed in every contest that the chapter has organized for freshmen. Member of the Month for December, was Roy Adams. He was the second highest in moinsettias sales, which highest in moinsettias sales, which highest in poinsettias sales, which was another fund-raiser.

Congratulations to these members for their achievements. We look for ward to their continuing efforts in the

Rockcastle Countians can apply for EKU's Health programs

Students from Rockcastle County can get a helping hand and a head start in Eastern Kentucky Univer-sity's Health Careers Opportunity Pro-

The program, which was recently refunded for three more years by the Health Resources and Services Administration, Division of Disadvantaged Assistance, enables Eastern to recruit 30 eligible, disadvantaged Appalachian students each year into allied health disciplines and prepare hem for productive careers in a re-tion beset by severe health care shortages.

Students in the 49 participant counties have the choice of four baccalaureate degree programs: Environmental Health, Health Information, Clinical Laboratory Science and Occupational Therapy, as well as four associate degree programs, Emergency Medical Care, Medical Assisting, Clinical Laboratory Tech-nician, and Health Information Technician, and Health Information Technology.

EKU/HCOP provides: financial aid information and assistance, a summer enrichment program of learning activities, including field trips to clinical sites; supplemental instruction in "at-risk" courses, such as chemistry, mathematics and biology; and intense advising and mentoring.

One objective of the program is to increase the retention rate, and "so far, our retention of students staying in college for three years is 84 percent," according to Dr. Patsy Daugherty, HCOP director.

MEDICAL MATTERS

Ventilators: Giving respiratory patients a new lease on life

Breathing—it's second nature to most of us. But for some, every breath is a struggle. Rockastle Respiratory Care Center specializes in treating patients with respiratory problems.

problems can be treated with medication. But severe cases require a ventilator to assist in breathing. The ventilator assists the patient in moving air into and out of the lung Ventilators can give patients a new lease on life, but often steal their ability to speak. But an invention by a respiratory patient changed

In 1984, David Muir underwent surgery that left an opening in his throat, allowing him to breathe but unable to verbally communi cate. So Muir designed a speaking valve to attach to his ventilator tubing.

The Passy-Muir valve is unique because it remains closed at all times, except when a patient inhales. The air is redirected up through the vocal cords for louder uninterrupted speech, unlike other valves that remain open or move in two direc-

The valve also gives some patients the ability to swallow, allowing them to eat real food rather than rely on intravenous nourishment

SLEEP DISORDERS: THIEVES IN THE NIGHT

SLEEP-RELATED problems
may be robbing you of more than a good night's sleep. Sleenlessness can affect many aspects of your life-including your health.

According to a recent Gallop poll, nearly half of all American adults suffer from a sleep-related disorder-a 15 percent increase since 1991. Stress and careers were listed as the top two reasons why Americans are tossing and turning.

Sleep disorders add about $15.9 billion to America's health care costs. Cardio-vascular disease, work-related accidents and lost productivity are all factors that contribute to this sleeping enidemic Insomnia was named as the most common sleep complaint, with different symptoms for different people. For some, insomnia means difficulty falling asleep. For others, it causes no problems falling asleep, but makes it difficult to stay asleep Typically, a person needs seven to 10 hours of sleep each night to feel well-rested.

There are three basic types of insomnia—transient, shortterm and chronic Transient insomnia lasts only a few nights: short-term insomnia lasts two to three weeks: and chronic insomnia last three weeks or longer.

"When you suffer from a lack of sleep, your body is running on empty," said Dr. Kim Cornelius, a physician at Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center. "And, factors causing sleeplessness, such as stress, can affect other things like your heart. Sleeplessness is not a mere annoyance; it is a medical disor Sleep apnea is another common sleep disorder.

"Sleep apnea is a very serious respiratory problem," said Kim McGowen, director of respiratory care at Rockcastle Respiratory Care Center. "There are two types of sleep apnea. central and obstructive.

"With central sleep apnea, your body is deprived of the oxygen it needs to function because your brain isn't telling your body to breathe. So as a reflex, your body stirs you awake to force you to breathe, resulting is restless sleep," said McGowen. "With obstructive sleep apnea, an obstruction to the throat forces you to wake up, again resulting in restless sleep.

McGowen said obstructive eep apnea, the more common form, is usually caused by enlarged tonsils or a deviated nasal septum. Symptoms can include loud snoring and morning headache.

"In severe cases, though, sleep apnea can lead to heart failure. heart attack and even stroke, so anyone suffering from sleep apnea should be diagnosed immediately." said McGowen.

Dr. Cornelius points out that sleep disorders usually worsen with age, "As we get older, we tend to have more sleep-related problems. So for an area, such as Rockcastle County where the population as a whole is growing older, people should be aware of the health risk related to sleep dis orders and seek medical advice if necessary."

"Apple-shaped" bodies, those whose extra weight settles around the middle, are more likely to suffer from cardiovascular disease than their "pear-shaped" counterparts, whose weight settles around the hips. WHY WOMEN SHOULD TAKE HEART

EBRUARY. The lunar cycle of love. The month of star crossed Cupids. So, it only makes sense that the American Heart Association has declared February "American Heart Month. After all, a happy heart is a healthy heart

Unfortunately, for American women, an unhealthy heart is all too common.

Generally, cardiovascular disease has been a medical diagnosis reserved for the male population because women usually didn't exhibit the symptoms. But, about four years ago, researchers found that women indeed suffer from heart disease as often as men. The difference: women usually don't develop heart problems until after the age of 65. In fact, only one in nine American women exhibit heart disease symptoms between the ages of 45 and 65. But, after a woman turns 65, her chances of developing heart disease jumps to one in three-the same as Preliminary research indicates that menopause may factor into this deadly equation. It appears that the occurrence of ovulation wards off heart disease; scientists are still searching for why this is the case.

According to statistics from the American Heart Association, in 1992 all forms of cancer combined killed more than 250,000 women. In comparison, in that same year, all cardiovascular dis eases combined claimed the lives of more than 479,000 women, making cardiovascular disease the leading killer of America's women. In fact, more than 67 percent of all women die from their first heart attack.

According to Dr. Karen Saylor, a physician with Rockcastle Hospital, there may be other reasons why so many women are dying of heart disease. "Generally, women benefit from treatment of heart > disease the same as men," said Dr. Saylor. But, the diagnosis in women usually occurs at later stages than in men, so the disease has advanced further. making it more difficult to treat. Dr. Saylor says that while women are often the family's care taker, they tend to not take care of themselves. She points that studies have proven that when it comes to an actual heart attack, the average time elapsed before a man calls for help is one hour; in women, four to eight hours. That's impor drugs need to be administered within two hours of the attack. So, if a patient waits too long, heart tissue may be damaged beyond repair. Dr. Saylor also points out that women have smaller arteries and veins, making surgery more difficult.

"Women and physicians must begin taking heart disease more seriously," said Dr. Saylor. "It does not discriminate hetween men and women. Heart disease is a potential killer for both sexes.

Girls trounce Mountaineers, lose to Lady Cards

Senior Amy Robinson goes strong to the goal during action Monday night against Wayne Co. Robinson led the scoring for the Rockets with 17 points.

The RCHS girls extended their record to 14-2 with a 31 point win over the Oneida Mountaineers last Friday night but it wasn't enough to keep their #1 ranking in the Dave Cantrell ratings. 'I don't believe in beating a team by 40 points when I canlet everyone play, 'Coach Chrysi Noble said. The starting five played less than two quarters and Coach Noble got to clear her bench. However, Monday night, a shooting percentage of 22%, only 20 re-bounds (offense and defense) and many unforced turnovers, combined to help Wayne Co. (15-4) hand the Lady Rockets only their third loss of the season, 66-56.

'In the Litkenhaus ratings, Wayne Co. is ranked just ahead of us and Farmers'

The first meeting for the Farmers' Market will be held Monday, February 3rd at 7:00 p.m. at the LEAP building. If you are interested in selling home grown produce at the Farmers' Market this year please try to

We need you input and ideas to make this a successful venture. Is-sues to be discussed and decided on sues to be discussed and decided on by those attending include: profit-able vegetables and requests for this year's produce, coupons, LEAP's responsibilities and the farmers' re-sponsibilities. The more people that become involved the more variety of fresh fruits and vegetables we can offer our community. We need your Market meeting planning for that extra space and ex-tra seeds you need. This will be the second year for the Farmers' Market.

A lot was accomplished last year. The location of the Farmers' Market The location of the Farmers Market was graveled and made accessible for the farmers and customers. A sign was painted and is still up on USZ5 at the Market. Last year coupons were made available for senior citizens and low-income families through a generous donaion received by LEAP. These coupons allowed families to select up to $10 of fresh vegetables from any of the farmers booths. Over $00 period to $00 period to $00 period to $00 period $00 pe certified by a representative from Frankfort to allow them to take food stamps. We hope to continue these projects and add more. We also hope to add more farmers and see more customers this year. Thanks to every-one that supported the Market last

All profit made at the Farmers' Market is the farmers. A small membership to LEAP must be paid, however this covers the booth charge for the entire season, plus all the benefits of being a LEAP member. Please feet free to contact Ina at 453-800 or Tammy at 758-8388 for more information.

down the same path that he has walked never finding his way because he could not find no one to lead him. Is this what Christ told us to do? Drive the lost further into the pits of hell? Can the Church stand if it is divided? God's word is his and his alone. He God's word is his and his alone. He knows what he said because he said it, He doesn't need us to interpret it. The word interpretation is our way of saying this is what we think it means. There are many true Christians out there who are doing God's work. But if the group is divided then only half of the job is getting done. So if this letter angers anyone it must be your conscience because those that are guilty will be the ones that try to defend themselves. No one likes their toes stepped on when they get out of line. I do not claim to be something that I am not. But only a person trying to understand what no one seems to understand

Dear Editor,
Just wanted to write a quick letter in reference to Liz Paulon's letter in last week's Signal (1-23-97).
First, we would like to thank Liz for reading our writings in the Signal.
It's always nice to know that at least one person has read the newspaper.
Second, we would like to comcond, we would like to commend Liz for speaking up for what she believes, and for taking the time to write. You know Paul was ready to to write. You know Paul was ready to defend the gospel he preached, Phil 1:17. Jude said to "earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints" verse 3. Though I disagree with her teachings, I cartainly appreciate her having conviction to speak.

There was one point that was made I was afraid maybe some of the Sig-nal readers, who may have missed past articles and letters we have wrote would be misled. Liz wrote, "(e.g. He has said social and recreational activities with church members are forbidden). I'm sure we can all see the ridiculousness of statements like Yes Liz, I respect your insight or this, that would be a "ridiculous" statement to make. I would have to say "Amen," that any who would say, "social and recreational activisay, "social and rocreational activities with church members are forbidden" is ridiculous, a mere human opinion. A man exalting himself as God to decide right and wrong. But dear readers, we challenge Lis to cite the place where such was ever written by me in the Signal!

Finally, concerning Miss Theress.
There is certainly no doubt about it,
that Miss Theress is a very devout, consecrated, and dedicated Roman,
Catholic church member.
Your friend,

Last year we were forced to cancel the show because of renovation. But Last year we were forced to cancel the show because of renovation. But we want to once again give our local artists the opportunity to display their work. We really do have some great latent locally and we like to help these people display their work so that others may see what they have to ofter. Some of the work might even be for sale. We are hoping that all of you who have participated before will make plans to do so again this year. I am also making plans to have a special ART SHOW for the younger artists, those that are enrolled in any of the schools in the county. The theme of the 1997 Summer Reading Program is BOOK A TRIP OT THE STARS and programming for it can encompass anything related to astronomy, space travel, constellations, celebrities (get it, "star"?) etc. This year our program will be in partnership with the public libraries of Arizona. It may seem a little early to be thinking about the summer reading program but it seems that time is going by so fast we need to make preparations early in order to have a successful program.

National Library week will be April 13-19. We hope to be able to have the Local Art Show at this time but plans have not been finalized. This is the week that is set aside for special promotions at the library. We continually want to make more people aware of the many resources available at the library.

"Kids Connect @ the Library" will be the theme for all our young patrons during National Library Week in April. We are inviting parents and children to join in "Log On @ the Library Day" on Wednesday, April 16th.

COMING SOON

I will be giving more information soon on other special events and happenings that are planned for our library in the future.

We have received a lot of new fiction books recently and more are ordered. I was pleased when I checked the Best-seller list to see that we had, all but two of the fifteen on the list. Those two have been ordered. I have just finished DEATH IN LOVER'S just finished DEATH IN LOVER'S LANE by Carolyn Hart. This was a great book that many of you will enjoy... Henrictia "Herric O'Collins is uniquely qualified to teach journal-ism at Thomdyke University in Derry Hills, Missouri, She demands of her students the same steadfast dedica-tion to the truth that has been the corner stone of her own career. So when beautiful Maggie Winslow approaches her with the idea for an investigative series on three unsolved murders, Henrie O urges her to pursue the story with uncommon vigor. But Maggie's zeal may have cost her her life. The next day her corpse is discovered—at the site of one of the unsolved murders. Henrie O looks on this as her personal responsibility to find the murderer since she had encouraged Maggie to, pursue the story. The police and the Thorndyke authorities are against Henrie O's involvement in the case but Henrie O's conscience tells her she owes a O's conscience tells her she owes a alient effort to the unfortunate Maggie SACRIFICE is a novel by a new author toour library, Mitchell Smith, that promises to be an engrossing and chilling thriller... Tyler Pierce has justabout everything an ex-bank robber could want. He has served his time for the one job he ever muffed-seven years in the Kannas pen. He has a new career as a small-hown Mis-souri roofing contractor - and a new woman, the town librarian. Best of all, he has succeeded in pulling off his finest and final score, a Michigan heist pear. Then he receives a mes-sage from his ex-wife in Florida: His daughter's coppes has been found in a Florida state park, and Tyler heads south to do what the police have fallen painfully short of doing; find the mad murderer. Winter Tetany in Beef Cattle

What is Winter Tetany?
Winter Tetany is basically grass tetany. Since this disorder occurs during winter months when cattle are not receiving pasture, the term winter is used to denote the are not receiving pasture, the term winter is used to denote the difference.

Winter tetany or grass tetany is a cow disorder caused by an abnormally low amount of magnesium in the animals blood. The state of the common state more susceptible during their third and fourth lactations. The animals exhibit milk fever symptoms and may begin to walk stiffly or stagger. Their appetites may decrease, and they usually become very dull in appearance. In many cases they will isolate themselves from the herd. As the disorder progresses, the animal sometime becomes very netwous and suill exhibit rapid breathing. In advanced cases the animal will collapse, go into convolisions and die. The disorder can run its course rapidly, and unless corrective measures are taken, death sometimes can occur less than an hour after the onset of visible symptoms.

If the magnesium level in the blood is low, it is mainly due to a low level of magnesium in the animal's feed. Some reasons why magnesium may be low in a construction of the stage of the symptoms.

Grasses afe lower in magnesium than legumes. The early lush growth is likely to be all grass (since legumes start growth later in the spring) and may be deficient in the spring) and may be deficient in magnesium. Pastures, even grass pastures, should have adequate magnesium content in late spring or summer. Cereal crops such as wheat, rye, barley and oats are poor accumulators of magnesium. Forages of this type are apt to be low in magnesium in the spring or fall.

fall. The plant must get its magnesium from the soil, and soils low in magnesium can cause a low plant content. However, at the present time, it appears that magnesium fertilization on most Kentucky soils would not be feasible. If the soil has a high potassium soil test, the application will do little to increase the magnesium content within the plant. Only coarse (sandy) soils as to would above an increase in plant magnesium when fertilized. However, massive applications, such as with dolomotic limestone, would probably have a beneficial effect.

The potassium content in the end

such as with dolomotic limestone, would probably have a beneficial effect.

The potassium content in the soil is probably the dominant factor affecting the uptake of magnesium by the plant. Potassium competes with the uptake of magnesium in the plant, and, as the potassium available to the plant increases, there is a sharp drop in the uptake of magnesium. A similar type of relationship appears within that a similar to the plant increases, there is a sharp drop in the uptake of magnesium. A similar type of relationship appears within that a similar tipe of magnesium found in the blood. If the intake of magnesium is constant, the amount in the blood is lowered by higher potassium constant of the soil to the plant in the potassium content of the soil should not be allowed to get into the high soil test range. A medium or high medium soil test should be sufficient for good pasture production and prevent significant reduction of magnesium in the production and prevent significant reduction of magnesium in the plant, and any to-qual passis. The only way to prevent grass tetany is to supplement the diet with additional magnesium. Supplementation should start in mid-December and run through mid-May. This can be done with commercial mineral mixes containing magnesium or with homemade mixtures. Mixing 1 part magnesium will of fine list is the cattle's only source of salmay farmers feed magnesium wear round to avoid the problem in this is the cattle's only source of sall may farmers feed magnesium year round to avoid the problem in getting cattle back on feed. Not only is this an extra expense farmers do not need, the extra magnesium may interfere with the absorption of certain minerals. When mineral intake becomes a problem, many health problems occur which are hard to explain. For this reason, farmers are encouraged to stop magnesium feeding in mid-May. To help get animals back on minerals containing magnesium, distillers only grain may be mixed in to take away from the bitter taste.

As more and more activities occupy, our lives, they tend to leave family members with very little "quality time" to spend together, recounting the day's events and discussing their problems. This is particularly true of the children, who when they are younger tell Mom and Dad everything that happened in school and elsewhere. However, it has little effect on the teenagers when they reach those double digits and begin living in a world of their own anyway, and Mom and Dad learn to accept it. This generation gap is hard to bridge, but it does help if the family can get together on the Sabbath day and attend the House of Worship. The home should be the center of love, happiness and security, and the lessons of faith can be the best reminder of it.

The Family Room

By: Dr. Don Whitehead

She is five feet five inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. Therefore, she is overweight and unhealthy right? Not necessarily. She is a certified aerobics who leads several classes each week. Watching her on "20/20" I was fairly certain that she could run circles around me.

We Americans are obsessed with We Americans are obsessed with being thin. Weight loss is a multi-million dollar industry. Looking at the models in magazines and on tele-vision, I can only conclude that one has to be nearly anorexic in order to fit today's mold of the beautiful woman Some of the models are so woman. Some of the models are so thin that they look unhealthy!

Do you realize that in other cultures and in other times being 'helty' was a sign of beauty and health? I remember some of those paintings of beautiful women that I have seen in museums. These women would be overweight by our standards but were considered beauties in their time. The body size that looks beautiful depends on the time in which one lives. Unfortunately, people who are overweight are often looked down on. Jokes about the 'fat lady' still abound. Or 'she's having dessert, someone will whisper, 'even though she weighs too much!"

Being overweight does not mean tures and in other times being "hefty sne weighs too much!"

Being overweight does not mean that a person has no will power. There are multiple reasons why one might weigh too much. Some medications lead to weight gain. Steroids are particularly bod for the ticularly bad for this.

Another reason some people Can You Believe It?

weigh more than others is genetic. Some are simply born to be heavier than others. For some people it literally impossible to achieve the thin look, because they are not genetically wired that way. Looking back at your ancestors may give you a clue about your own weight tendencies.

If your family tends to be heavy, you may be trying to do the impossible to get down to a 3-4 dress size. Criticizing yourself because you cannot be that thin only wastes time and energy. Your body size was at least partly determined before you were

can do to be healthier.

I regularly teach classes in weight loss using hypnosis and other methods. I tell my class that "the best way to lose weight is don't try to lose weight is don't try to lose weight is don't try to lose stiell," if you cat well and exercise, your body will adjust itself to a healthy weight. Ircommend to the people in my classes that they throw away the bathroom scales. Don't let your life be determined by the numbers on a
