My youngest sister, Dorothy of New London, Ohio called me Friday night, and we had an hour's conversation. She is the only one now living out of state and we don't get to see her very often.

Others visiting Mrs. Hallie Alexander have been her children, Gerald Alexander and Jewell Davidson and families and Lorene Napier.

Helen Powell visited her mother, Mrs. Mary Cope one day last week.

Our son, Wayne and wife, Carolyn near Berea visited us on Saturday evening.

Let's all try to attend church and Sunday School every time we can. Also try to be loving and forgiving to each other. It's very easy to love and treat each other good if we try. God bless you.

It's polecat breeding time again here in the flatlands and if the number lying dead in the middle of the roads is any indication of the population that maintain a bit more privacy, then central Kentucky is going to the skunks.

The amazing thing to me is that months and months can go by when you never see a skunk on the road or anywhere else, but anytime the weather warms up for a day or two in January and February they come out in droves. It's about 24 miles from Lancaster to Richmond on Highway 52 and I'd bet even money that there's more than fifty dead skunks on the pavement between those two towns alone. That's one every half mile or so.

If a rabbit or squirrel or even a domestic pet gets killed on the road it's carcass will seldom remain overnight because the coyotes and buzzards take care of cleaning up the mess. But there's not a scavenger in nature that will try to eat a roadkill skunk.

Last year a polecat bought the farm right in front of our house. I kept hoping the neighbors would do something about it until about dark the next day, but the wind was blowing in my direction and apparently the odor wasn't bothering them. The scent was so strong that I was afraid it would take the point off the side of the house.

So I finally stuffed some cotton up my nostrils, put on a gas mask and a pair of rubber gloves, grabbed a garbage bag, and set out to do the removal. We couldn't sleep and eating was out of the question. Don't let anyone tell you that the smell is something you can get used to either.

Using a shovel and hoe, I managed to get the skunk into the garbage bag without touching it. I hauled it out in the field and buried it and figured my trouble was over. But let me tell you that you don't have to actually touch a polecat to get that scent on you. I can also testify that it will penetrate rubber gloves. I couldn't even smoke a cigarette for several hours because I couldn't stand to get my hand that close to my mouth. I used straight chlorox, baking soda and even tomato juice, which incidentally, worked better than anything else. I wound up hanging my clothes out in the garage for a few days and the smell finally went away.

But I no longer gripe about the fact that the highway department doesn't remove dead skunks from the road. I don't care how much road workers get paid, they don't make enough to pull that kind of duty.

HERESAY

PRECIOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and appallities from Nod's Little Acre, nestled serenely in the bosom of the maddled hills of Wabed, home of the late Elias G. Gougermann, long-time Wabedian banker and part-time scribe for the Greater Spronian chapter of The United, Fraternal & Federal Order of Muskrats, who said, "The way to handle wives, as my old man often remarked, is to catch 'em early, treat 'em rough, and tell 'em nothing."

A-merrry! Sounds like something out of the mouth of a Sinclair Lewis character. That particular opinion, however, is cons older than Elias or Lewis. And still very much alive. Beloved, the saints over at Wabd's Only Door Assembly of the Sanctified out on Jawbone Pike are presently contending with something akin to Elias' bias. I refer specifically, dear hearts, to the "women" issue.

The bickering began a couple of weeks ago, right after the church observed Men's Day. The house was packed. The only thing, however, that differed from a regular Sunday service was that the sermon was delivered by a layman rather than the pastor, Rev. C. Cedric Hirtwilly. Actually, there were three laymen delivered sermons. Short ones, of course. (The parishioners at ODAS always get out early so they can beat the Baptists and Campbellites to the best tables at the restaurants.)

Dear hearts, word has it that right after the service concluded, Lula Mae DeStopp, the church organist and president of WUFAS (the Woman's United Foreign Aid Society) huddled for a few minutes with a handful of women down by the organ. Then they broke out and marched straight out to the vestibule where Rev. Hirtwilly was shaking hands with departing attendees.

Whereupon Lula Mae said vociferously, "Preacher, if'n you're gonna set aside a Sunday to recognize the members of the church, it's only fair and stands to reason that you oughta do the same for the women. We work just as hard for the Lord as they do. Probably more if truth were known."

Now, beloved, as best as I can discern, the women's request is tied up in the Deacon and Elder Council. They're not against having a Woman's Day Service. But they're not sure about how to handle certain aspects of such a service.

"Why it'd be nice to have them do the ushering and take up the offering instead of the men," said Deacon Billy Betts.

"Well, I suppose so," said Elder Owen Eightbeet. "but I don't think it'd be biblical for them to count the offering. Long as they know that, I'll go along."

Things warmed up a bit in the meeting when Rev. Hirtwilly suggested Alameda Moonmore as a song leader. She seemed the most likely one, he reasoned, since she teaches music at the high school and always directs the mixed chorus at the annual Wabd-Wide Labor Day Picnic and the Greater Wabedian Christmas Songfest.

"I just don't think it's right for a woman to be in charge of men in anything that goes on in the Lord's house," said Elder Zapho Ison. "A woman is supposed to be subservient to a man, and women can't be subservient if she's in charge of the singing with men in the congregation. Seems to me she'd be lording it over the men."

Deacon Wiley Barefoot reckoned it would be all right for Alameda to lead the singing as long as she didn't stand behind the pulpit, where only God and godly men are permitted to stand.

And at that the fat was thrown in the fire. Elder Hamhal Struthermore stood up, slowly turned, pointing his long index finger at every man in the room, then saying, "Gentlemen, singing is only part of the problem. The real question is if we going to stand by and let a woman preach in the pulpit?" "Hear! Hear!" said several of the elders and deacons. But not all of them.

Deacon Joe Sipple, newly ordained just last summer, asked, "What's so wrong about that? I was reading the Book of Acts just last night that four unmarried daughters of Phillip the evangelist prophesied. And when Peter preached at Pentecost, he said, "Your daughters shall prophesy." So, men, on the basis of

Vegetative Stabilization Seminars March 3 and 5

Protecting natural resources from sediment contamination by controlling soil erosion is a priority concern to the public. The control of soil erosion is a very complex issue on lands that are disturbed by construction, road building, landfills, logging and mining, etc. One of the primary methods of controlling erosion is by the restoration of adequate vegetative cover as soon as possible following the disturbance. An informative seminar will be held at two locations in Kentucky to provide information to contractors, builders, developers, land managers, loggers, reclamation specialists, landscapers, government officials and others involved with controlling erosion through vegetative treatment.

The seminars are being offered free of charge and are being coordinated by the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), the University of Kentucky - College of Agriculture, and the Kentucky Department of Highways, along with other agencies and organizations. The seminars will be held during 1997 according to the following schedule:

March 3 - Lexington, Kentucky
Fayette County Cooperative Extension Service
9:00 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.
Reservations (606)233-2761

March 5, London, Kentucky
Levi Jackson State Park
9:00 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.
Reservations (606)864-2180

Due to limited seating, all attendees should place their reservations in advance for the location in which they will be attending.

We are talking about a woman preaching in a church house in a pulpit, which is what we've got here. And I don't read anywhere in the Good Book that a woman ever did that."

"Did they have church houses in those days?" asked Deacon Joe. "Or pulpits?"

Senior guard Jessica Albright pulls a rebound in at South Laurel Monday night. The girls had an off game and South Laurel was up for the contest, handing the girls only their fourth loss of the season against 15 wins.

Girls slaughter Model; lose to South Laurel

After a 29 point blow-out of Richmond Model, the girls basketball team fell on hard times Monday night, losing to South Laurel 60-34.

"We probably couldn't have beaten them if we had been playing good," Coach Chrysi Noble said afterwards, "they must have shot 75% and we were 20% or less."

The Lady Rockets got down in the first quarter 25-8 and were never able to get back into the game. "It didn't help that we were 18-38 from the free throw line," Noble said, "but, it was just one of those nights for us."

A couple of the Lady Rockets, Amy Robinson and Jessica Albright, were reportedly under the weather and this no doubt contributed to the team's problems.

Only one Lady Rocket was in double figures, Suzie Carpenter with 11. Kristi Moore and Nikki Bullock got 5 each. Amanda Osborne scored 4, Tiffany McClure 3 and Amy Robinson, Jessica Albright and Jennifer Cromer, 2 each.

Friday night, the girls will play Jackson Co. at Jackson with the boys in the final district game of the season. On Tuesday, they will host North Laurel and on Thursday Madison Southern will come to town.

Last Friday night, the freshman Lady Rockets defeated Estill Co. by 42 points.

Lady Jayvees win, lose
The Lady Jayvees coasted to an easy 43-11 win over Richmond Model last Thursday night but weren't able to keep up with South Laurel Monday night, losing 38-29.

In the Model game, the Lady Jayvees held Model scoreless the first quarter while they were scoring 15 points behind 7 points by Suzanne Brown. Things didn't improve for Model in the second quarter as they managed only 3 points for a first half 21-3 bulge for the Rockets.

With Coach Chuck Cashing clearing his bench the second half, the Rockets still outscored Model 22-8 for the 43-11 final.

Nine Rockets scored, with Brown leading with 9 points; Jennifer Cromer and Joanna LewAllen each got 8; Jessica Rickels scored 6; Amanda Osborne got 4 and Nikki Bullock, Jessica Cobb, Brooke Roberts and Rachelle Hammond each scored 2.

The Rockets stayed with South Laurel in the first quarter, ending up knotted up rockets in scoring against South Laurel with the second quarter 13-8 for a half-time edge of 19-14.

South Laurel took the second half 19-15 for the final 38-29.

Jessica Rickels came off the bench to lead the Rockets in scoring against South Laurel with 9 points; Osborne got 5; Brown and Cromer, 4 each; Nikki Bullock 3 and Brandy Reynolds and Brooke Roberts 2 each.

Boys lose to Whitley and Knox Central

The ranks of the varsity ballteam have been further thinned. After the loss of sophomore Andy Hale with an injury in the Madison Southern game, junior Travis Anderkin was lost for two-four weeks with a bone chip in his right hand after the Pulaski Southwestern game. Then, in the Whitley Co. game, junior John Brown suffered a back injury which sidelined him the second half of the game and kept him out of action in the Knox Central game.

Coach Clayton Cash inserted sophomore Layne Nicely into the line-up for the Whitley Co. game and Nicely came through in style, pouring in 16 points in the 81-71 loss.

Whitley Co., 13-5, had to fight for their life in the contest as the Rockets battled hard the entire game.

The Rockets were down 23-19 at the end of the first quarter and found themselves further down at the half 42-31. However, in the third quarter, the Rockets came back and outscored the Colonels 23-14 to cut the lead to three but the Colonels proved equal to the task and came back in the fourth quarter to quell the Rockets uprising, winning the period 25-17.

Topping Nicely in the point totals was freshman Andrew Cash with 18; Dusty McClure got 15; Blake Childress 10 (and 10 rebounds), John Brown 8; Stevie Bradley 2 and Nathan DeLeon 2.

At Knox Central Tuesday night, the Rockets outplayed the Panthers but couldn't get over the hump, coming up on the short end 68-65.

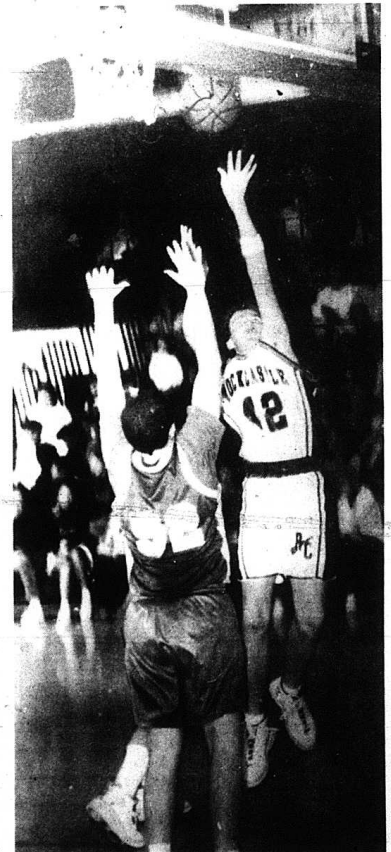

The Rockets were ahead 14-11 at the first quarter stop but, in the second period, the Panthers were the winners 25-14 for a 36-28 half-time edge.

The Rockets fell further behind in the third quarter 20-15 but mounted a rally in the fourth to pull within three with seconds to go in the game. Bradley's three pointers was off the mark and it was the Panthers ball. How

The Family Room

By: Dr. Don Whitehead

"Why are Sunday mornings so bad at home?" Vera asked in exasperation. (All characters are fictitious.) "We have more fights on Sunday morning while getting ready for church than at any other time of the week," she added sadly.

Getting their three children and Sam her husband up and fed and ready for church is a major task for her. "It's like I'm raising four children!" she complained. "Sam just sits there reading the paper and doesn't even offer to help."

"I don't help because you won't let me!" Sam replied angrily. "I used to help," he explained, "but according to you I never did anything right, so I just quit."

Vera continued unappetized. "And the children won't cooperate either. By the time I get one dressed the other two have already gotten their clothes dirty. Usually I have to shout to get them to mind me."

By the time Vera gets to church, she is steaming. She puts on her best smile, though, and no one in her Sunday School class is any the wiser. They look at Vera as a model of the perfect mother.

Can you see the problem here,

Dear Reader? Vera is setting herself up to have a bad Sunday morning. Sam's attitude doesn't help any, but her undoing is mostly her own doing.

What can Vera do to avoid this trap she is laying for herself every Sunday?

1. She can get up earlier and have some quiet time to herself to prepare for the day. "But the weekend is the only time I get to sleep late," Vera protests. However some extra time spent collecting her thoughts would make the getting ready time easier. Rushing around almost guarantees a family squabble.

2. Vera can stop her quest to reach perfection. "Which is more important to you, Vera?" I asked. "Children with combed hair and matched clothes or being in a good mood by the time you get to church." Vera puts a lot of stock in the opinions of others. They look to her as a role model, and she feels the pressure to look like one. Putting that pressure on herself and her family is making Sunday morning miserable for everyone.

3. She can ask Sam to help with a specific job and then stay out of his way. "But he won't do it right!" Vera exclaimed. "He won't do it the way you want it done," I explained to Vera. "You can't do everything on Sunday morning and still be calm and relaxed at church time. The choice is yours."

(I silently reminded myself to say something to Sam in his next session about being more involved on Sundays. He needs to lend a hand.)

When Vera relaxes, Sunday mornings will be less stressful for her whole family.

Poet's Corner

Enough's Enough!

The wind was whistling 'round my house
As I sat by the fire;
I reached and turned the TV on
To while away an hour.

A bedroom scene was being played
Across my TV screen;
The man was in his middle years
The girl a teenage queen.

I turned a news show on and saw
An interview being done;
A "gay" was talking 'bout his rights
And a civil suit he'd won.

Again I changed the channel to
A blaring hard-rock scene;
It was bizarre; the stars' attire
Would rival Halloween!

I turned the TV switch to "OFF",
Turned on the radio,
I listened to a woman sing
On a country show.

She sang about a place where they
Would "make it through the night";
She said she didn't care at all
If it was wrong or right.

I picked up the newspaper, saw
In column one, front page,
A picture of a porno shop and
A young man in a rage.

The folks of his fair town, it seems,
Had had his place closed down.
He argued that his shop was not
The business of the town.

I flipped the page and turned again
To column two, page two,
And read of the successful work
Of a group - ACLU.

They want no scriptures read from space,
Nor prayers in public schools;
And those who dare to disagree
Are unenlightened fools!

They advocate - at our expense -
Abortion on demand;
Our judges say this "right" to kill
Is legal in our land.

I glanced on down the page and saw
A used car advertisement;
A pretty girl - bikini clad,
Was used as an enticement.

I sat and thought, America,
You're in an awful rut;
You've buried all your values
In a cesspool filled with smut.

The darts from Satan's well-aimed bow
No longer cause you pain;
And sin's become so commonplace
There's no remorse or shame.

Seems "Free Press" gives us license
To print obscene trash and lies;
Malicious slander of fellowmen
Under "Freedom of Speech" disguised.

The ERA finds fault with things
The Scriptures have to say;
God's rule for man is obsolete;
They have a better way.

We need a feast of decency
To feed this starving nation;
A respite from the god of sex
For the good of all creation.

Is it too late? Have we gone too far?
Has Satan won the war?
Not if we all together cry —
Enough's Enough! No more!!!

Fire damages home

Milton Stokes' home on Pittman Street in Mt. Vernon was damaged by fire last week, according to a city police report.

The home caught fire in the basement area where he had an office.
The fire is believed to have been arson with attempted robbery.
Police reported a window near the office area was broken and there were pry marks on the door.
The fire was investigated by state arson investigator Steve Faulkner and city policeman Matt Bryant.
Mt. Vernon Firemen contained the fire in the basement area.

RECC opens new warehouses

While many utilities across the country have been closing local offices and cutting back services, Jackson County RECC recently opened two new warehouses to provide services to residents in three counties.
The buildings will also serve as work stations for employees and were opened in Irvine and Beattyville.

"The warehouses will enable us to serve our members more efficiently," according to General Manager Doug Leary, "and we are always looking for ways to improve our consumer service level."

Staff for the facilities will include service representatives, a warehouse worker and a construction crew, which will mean more efficient service for the RECC consumers in Lee, Owsley and Estill counties.

Before the sites opened, crews working in those areas were dispatched from the main office in McKee, which meant driving from another county before beginning work at a home or business in the area.

Now a crew reports to the new warehouses each morning.

In addition to being closer to work assignments, Leary added that as more personnel are needed to the work stations, the co-op will look for applicants from those counties.

The facilities are part of a reorganization of the co-op's service territory to locate employees and material closer to consumers. Warehouses are now located in Beattyville, Irvine,
London and McKee.

"Our co-op has been working in recent years to bring more programs and services closer to the communities," Leary added. "In addition to the work centers, we also have pay stations in each county we serve to make

Renfro Valley begins 58th season of entertainment

Fifty-eight years of traditional country entertainment! That's what Renfro Valley will celebrate on the season opening, March 1, 1997. The performance of the world-famous Barn Dance Show at 7:30 p.m. in the historic Old Barn Theater will start another season of concerts, events, festivals, and down-home, wholesome family entertainment at "Kentucky's Country Music Capital!"

Rehearsals are now underway; new songs and fresh sounds are giving a spirit of expectancy to the cast. In April, a variety of shows will be offered for the full season featuring the best in traditional country, gospel, bluegrass and comedy for the family. The Jamboree Show highlights today's country music — the hits you hear on the top country charts. Thursday Night Best of Both Shows (combining the Jamboree Show with the world-famous Barn Dance Show) and Saturday matinees also begin in April. In May, the Wednesday Night Spotlight is added. Each week, this show "spotlights" a special member of the 40+ live cast of entertainers. These shows run five days a week in both the Old and New Barn Theaters, through October.

In addition to weekly productions, The Headliner Concert Series brings some of the biggest names in country music entertainment to the stages of Renfro Valley. Entertainers scheduled to perform this year include Patty Loveless, The McKameys, Ray Price,

The Oak Ridge Boys, Barbara Mandrell, Loretta Lynn and many others.

Renfro Valley will also present a number of special events and festivals in 1997. Two separate talent contests allow rising young talent the opportunity to perform in the Valley.

Some of the best pickers and singers gather on the festival grounds for music-filled days and nights at The Old Joe Clark Bluegrass Festival. The All-Night Gospel Sing is a legendary celebration of gospel music featuring the nation's top Southern Gospel acts. Another outstanding gospel event is the Gospel Quartet Weekend. The Appalachian Harvest Festival is an old-fashioned celebration of the fall harvest, and The Fiddler's Festival brings fiddle players in from as far away as Canada and California. In 1996, Christmas in the Valley was rated one of Kentucky's top ten holiday events by the Kentucky Tourism Council, and exciting plans are in store for 1997.

"We feel that Renfro Valley is a special place with a special ambience," said Jane Thorne, the Valley's

General Manager. "We enjoy being 'discovered' by people who come to feel that Renfro Valley has become a second home."

For tickets and reservations for all Renfro Valley shows, concerts and special events call 1-800-765-7464 or (606)256-2638.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
My recent musings about Christmas were not meant to offend or trigger a debate, but rather to offer a few suggestions for getting us back on track. We who feel that need for a special day to honor our Lord's birth couldn't care less who started it, or when. It was a good idea and my only regret is that the pagans thought of it first. Or was it the Catholics? Well, whoever... I'd like to thank somebody.

Surely we Christians can all agree that Jesus' was born, and therefore, had a birthday. We have no need to know the exact day or hour this holy event took place. It's quite enough that some thoughtful soul(s) chose a day to show God and the world that they hadn't forgotten this greatest gift of all.

Of course it is true, Jesus never commanded that we have a big celebration in honor of his birth, or even to commemorate his resurrection from the grave. Either one would have been a selfish, conceited order and we know He wasn't a vain person. But, if these two events—Christmas and Easter—were carried out in a spiritual manner, with Him as the center of attraction, I've a feeling He would be pleased in much the same way our earthly parents appreciate a spontaneous expression of love and appreciation. Not one of them, however, would demand it. It's the way we demonstrate gratitude and affection that's important. It has to be a voluntary display. And sincere. Which was the point of my displeasure with the way so many now celebrate Christmas. Christ has either been legislated out or carelessly abandoned, and each year it gets less spiritual and more commercialized. I still say we turn things around.

It's sheer insanity the way we exhaust ourselves, both physically and financially, to see that everyone on a long list has the perfect gift, then a month later we find it difficult to recall what we gave or received. But, just being together as a family is something that is never forgotten. Our kids, now all grown up, still like to reminisce about Christmas of long ago, though it's seldom that a particular gift is called to mind. It is something more like the Christmas tree with all blue lights that we used to have; how I baked their favorite cookies while they decorated the tree, then later turned off the lights and sat in the glow of the blue tree and sang carols or read Christmas stories while munching on warm cookies. Those four years our son, Ron was away in the military, especially the two in Libya and the one in Vietnam, we placed his portrait on the floor under the tree and each one tried to get as close as possible. Even his girlfriend, home from college for the holidays, joined us beside his photograph. We still have the Christmas pictures, but nobody remembers what present was under the tree. It is well remembered how we trusted the Lord, whose birthday we were commemorating, to bring Ron safely home to us. It was comforting to know that, wherever he was at that moment, his spirit was there under the tree with us. We could be sure that he was envisioning that little Cape Cod brick on the hill in Reading, Ohio, where he grew up; that his mind was replaying the scene of our traditional Christmas and longing for the day when we could celebrate together as a family. Thankfully, God answered our prayers and he came home unscathed.

In our home, this is Christmas. We still adhere to similar routine each year and none, to my knowledge, have suffered any pangs of condemnation. In fact, we're so sold on our simple way of doing things that we can only feel sorry for those who have never experienced the blessings of an old fashioned Christmas. But whether one does or does not choose to participate in this annual birthday tribute is of no concern to me. I would, however, suggest in all sincerity, "Don't knock it if you haven't tried it!"

Thank you,
Christine McKinney

Dear Editor,
Please print the following correction in the letter you printed of mine in your January 23 paper (in your Letters to the Editor column). And please DO NOT give my exact address in your column. I had only put my name, city and state at the end of my letter to you. Now I will never stop getting letters from that crazy Dan McKibben.
There was a typo in your reprint of my letter to the editor in your January 23 paper. I used the word "non sequiturs," not "non sequeters," as you had printed. I do not want your readers to think that I think this is actually a word. I imagine you were spell checking your paper on the computer and "sequiturs" came up as a separate word, which was not in your computer's dictionary. Therefore, you corrected it with the word "sequeters," which totally changes the meaning of what I was saying. Please have someone proofread your paper, in addition to just spell-checking it. Obviously, "non sequeters" doesn't make any sense.

Thank you,
Liz Paulow

FOR A REAL EDUCATION, TAKE TIME TO READ YOUR BIBLE

In that busy life of yours, so rigidly apportioned among work, home maintenance, TV, PTA meetings, the bowling league or whatever, try to find time to read your Bible; even if it's only one chapter at a time. It contains a great many elements for our education and well-being. It's history, with the story of the earliest days of the world, faithfully handed down through the generations. It's geography, inviting fascinating comparison between the Middle East and Mediterranean lands, then and now. It's a prescription for better living, with its rules for behavior toward our fellow human beings. It's a great comfort, bringing us guidance and solace in times of trouble or sorrow. All in all, it's the world's most perfect collection of writings, and if we know how interesting and helpful it can be, we will somehow manage to find the time for it.

God is above all earthly rulers, and his law above all human laws.

Using Your Crock Pot Safely

By Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

If you have enough discipline to think about dinner at breakfast time, your reward can be a meal that's ready when you come home; yet your crock pot must be used appropriately to ensure the safety of the foods, especially meats.

It may take several hours for the food in your slow-cook crock pot to reach 125 degrees F. when cooking at relatively low temperatures. This is the temperature at which heat begins to destroy any bacteria present. Until the temperature reaches 140 degrees F., some bacteria can survive. Food safety experts say that a slow-cook crock pot should heat to 125 degrees F. within three hours and to 140 degrees F. within four hours. The temperature must be maintained at 158 degrees F. for at least one hour to kill all bacteria.

In a recent study by Consumer Report, only five crock pots reached 125 degrees F. within the three hours suggested by food safety experts on the low setting. They are: Rival Crock Pot 3733, Dazey Chef's Pot Plus SFT3, Presto Kitchen Coker 06001, West Bend Slow Cooker 84624 and West Bend Slow Cooker 84643.

To reduce any bacterial risk while using a slow-cook crock pot follow these simple guidelines:

- Keep raw ingredients refrigerated until they are to be put in the cooker. Use only good quality ingredients.
- Thaw frozen meat or poultry before cooking.
- Cut vegetables in small pieces to ensure rapid heat transfer.
- When cooking meat, the water or stock level should almost cover the meat to ensure effective heat transfer.
- Use the higher heat settings for dishes with meat as an ingredient.
- Do not overcook the crock pot. Half full is the design of most crock pots.
- Do not leave cooked food to cool down in the pot. Either consume it immediately or cool the food rapidly and refrigerate.
- Never reheat leftovers in the crock pot.
- Always follow the manufacturer's instructions.
- For crock pot questions/recipes, call the Extension Office at 256-2403.

lasted into the third season, increasing their overall yield.

Farmers planning to seed clover should contact their farm supply store 10 to 14 days before you need seed. This allows store owners to be sure they have certified seed of the variety and amount you desire.

For additional information on variety performance and selection, contact the County Extension Office for the 1996 Clover Variety Trial Report.

Agricultural News

Warden Alexander, Director Tobacco producers who have purchased quotas in one of the preceding three years have been notified by letter to submit documentation for their "sharing in the risk" obligation. Receipts for expenses pertaining to the tobacco crop shall be submitted (tobacco bud supplies, spray, fertilizer, etc.) AND marketing sale bills. These documents should be submitted to the county office no later than February 15, 1997 for review by the County FSA Committee and District Director for Rockcastle County. Failure to comply will mean a forfeit of the purchased quota.

FCIC Insurance is now available for purchase through FSA. Producers who did not purchase the insurance in 1996, and wish to purchase it for 1997, should come in no later than March 15, as this is considered a new policy. Deadline for sale of new policies is March 15. Producers who purchased the insurance for 1996, and wish to keep the coverage have until June 30 to pay fees. Producers who had the insurance in 1996 and wish to cancel should do this no later than March 15 for corn policies; April 15 for tobacco policies. If you have any questions concerning the FCIC program, please feel free to contact this office.

The Dairy Refund Payment Program is open for applications thru close of business March 17. Producers who qualify may get a refund of withheld amounts if they can show that they marketed less pounds in the refund period (1996) as compared to the base period (1995). Receipts with the monthly marketing must be submitted at the time of application.

Applications for new burley tobacco quotas are being taken now through February 15. Eligibility requirements include: own land which has no tobacco (sharecropping/leasing) and 50% of all income derived from farming. Anyone wishing to make an application should contact this office no later than February 15. We have received notification that there will be an increase of 11.2% to burley tobacco basic quotas for the 1997 crop year.

Owners of burley tobacco farms are reminded that tobacco quotas MUST be produced or leased 2 out of every 3 years. The quota will be dropped or any farm that does not have a record of production of tobacco OR transfer of quota by lease in at least 2 of the preceding 3 years. Tobacco must be growing on the farm or transferred by lease to another farm. This means that farms which have leased out every other year in the past can no longer skip in this manner, or they will fall into the category that will have the base dropped.

Producers are reminded to return their marketing cards to the FSA Office AS SOON AS SALES ARE FINAL.

News Deadline is Noon Tuesday

Renovating Grass Pastures With Red Clover

Is it cost effective to seed red clover into pasture and hay land? For years farmers have used the dark of February's moon as a time to overseed clover into fescue. By adding clover through the renovation process, pastures are improved in three ways.

Clover will add nitrogen to the soil and benefit surrounding grass. As much as 180 pounds of nitrogen may be added. With higher nitrogen cost expected this year, clover renovation may be worth as much as 400# of Urea or just over $55 per acre.

The second benefit to adding clover is the improved quality of feed. Clover is a higher protein feed that animals prefer over grasses such as fescue and orchardgrass. Clover will also grow best during mid-summer when other grass has stopped. Not only will clover spread out the grazing season, clover will also increase the total yield.

The third benefit to adding clover is that fescue pastures infected with the endophyte fungus is diluted. The endophyte fungus has silently lowered cattle production through its detrimental effects during summer months. Adding clover dilutes the amount of fescue available and gives animals a choice. Clover, being more abundant and preferred by animals, will then become a larger part of their diet.

Lowering fertilizer cost, increasing yield and improving the quality of feed available to livestock makes clover very cost effective. However, clover varieties vary in results.

Research at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture has compared the performance of common or uncertified clover with that of better certified varieties.

The cost of better varieties may be as much as $1.00 more per pound and are well worth the benefits they provide. An additional seed cost of $8 per acre was worth over 3,500 pounds additional hay over the first 2 years. Stands of the certified varieties were thick and vigorous going into their second winter, while the common varieties were clearly thinning. Certified varieties

"It is Written"

In the January 2 issue of the Signal we ran an article in this column on the word iniquity from the text in Mt. 7:21-23. We pointed out that a lot of folks are unclear, or just do not know what the word iniquity means. We quoted from the NLT to help clarify this point. Here is a portion of that article: "Notice from the New Living Translation 'But I will reply, I never knew you. Go away; the things you did were unauthorized.'" This is just a wonderful translation that helps us to understand reason why the Lord rejected these people." A reader wrote this last week about me endorsing and encouraging folks to use this translation. He said, "Since you made the suggestion that this is just a wonderful translation encouraging others to use it, I feel that you have not seen the many words of deception in it."

First, we appreciate this person reading our articles, and taking the time to drop us a letter. It is unquestionably commendable for folks to seek to be wise and discerning in what we read and hear. It's certainly true that far too many people in this world just swallow down whatever is taught. The Bernans were commended for examining what Paul and Silas taught, "These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether these things were so." Acts 17:11. Now Paul and Silas did not get belittled, all huffed at these people for "checking out" what they said, and neither should we either.

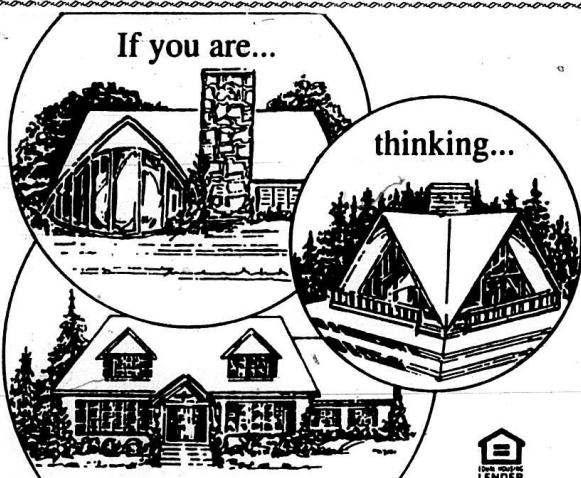

The point I was making, was not a wholesale endorsement of the entire NLT, but how this verse in Mt. 7:23 is translated in the NLT. Yes, this is just a wonderful translation of this verse! We apologize for a poor communication of our thoughts.

A couple of months ago a sister in the Lord had asked me about the NLT. I had never seen or heard about it before then. I looked at a few random verses, Mt. 7:23 was one of them, which I thought was an excellent translation, which spurred me to write the article for the 1-2-97 column. There was one problem I picked up on though, that permeates in this translation, (as in the NIV) and that is erroneous doctrine of inherited sin. Next time we will look into this point....

ORDINANCES
Rockcastle County (Summaries)

AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO THE PROTECTION OF PUBLIC HIGHWAYS
The County, finding it necessary to codify standard operating procedures, will obligate any and all persons constructing any encroachment upon or into county roadways approval from the magistrate and road foreman permission to place encroachment; pay all costs associated with installation of drainage tiles, if needed; receive a written waiver from the district's magistrate and road foreman should the road foreman determine a tile not required at the intersection.

PENALTIES: Should a tile be required, yet not paid for by the constructor of the encroachment, the constructor of said encroachment shall pay for tile the county puts in place; should there be substantial damage to the roadway due to negligence on the part of the constructor by failing to adhere to this ordinance, the County shall charge all costs for any and all damages associated with the reconstruction of the foundation, subsurface, and surface of the public highway. Furthermore, it shall be unlawful for any person to obstruct, in any fashion or by any device, any drainage tile without expressed written approval by the magistrate, road foreman, and county judge-executive.

This ordinance is an attempt to codify already-existing procedures, and to protect the publicly-owned roadways from unnecessary damages. FIRST READING PASSED BY FISCAL COURT'S MAGISTRATES.

AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO NUISANCE ANIMALS
The County, in an attempt to codify already-existing state statutes as required by law, hereby adopts Kentucky Revised Statute 258.195 (employment of dog warden, etc., and other minimum requirements mandated by the State of Kentucky. FIRST READING PASSED BY FISCAL COURT'S MAGISTRATES.

AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO THE PROTECTION OF PUBLIC PROPERTY
The County, in an effort to protect publicly-owned property (street signs, buildings, grounds, etc.), defines vandalism as any wanton act of destruction, defacement, or theft, partial or complete. Requires the County Attorney to vigorously prosecute such actions to fullest extent of state law, and provides, in lieu of a fine, the convicted person to submit himself/herself to Community Service labor on County projects as directed by the magistrates and county judge-executive (work detail). PASSED BY FISCAL COURT FIRST READING.

AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO LOCAL GOVERNMENT IMPLEMENTATION OF A FRANCHISE UPON INSURANCE COMPANIES
The County, finding it necessary to implement all policies and procedures of the state, and to meet compelling obligations imposed upon all counties of the Commonwealth with no funding from the state; and, the County, faced with lowered revenues that are completely out of the control of the Fiscal Court, hereby imposes on each insurance company a fee of 4% of the premiums actually collected within each calendar quarter by reason of the issuance of such policies on risks located within the County of Rockcastle on those classes of business which such company is authorized to transact, less all premiums returned to policyholders; however, any fee imposed upon premium receipts shall not include premiums received for insuring employers against liability for personal injuries to their employees, or the death of their employees, caused thereby, under the provisions of the Worker's Compensation Act. Furthermore, there shall not be any fee upon any company's life insurance and/or health insurance policies on the lives of persons residing within the jurisdiction of the County of Rockcastle for the first calendar year and thereafter. Life and health policies are exempted. FIRST READING PASSED BY THE FISCAL COURT.

AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO CONTROLLING ENVIRONMENTAL POLLUTION CAUSED BY INADEQUATE SEWAGE SYSTEMS
The County, in an effort to protect and enhance the health standards of the citizens of Rockcastle, and to protect the environment from unnecessary pollution caused by persons constructing homes in Rockcastle County without sewage systems (septic tanks, etc.), would require homeowners to follow state Department for Natural Resources administrative regulations, requiring said homeowners (new construction only) to receive a permit from the local health board before electrical utility service could be provided.

This ordinance would have placed Rockcastle County in compliance with every other county within the Cumberland Valley Board of Health District. FIRST READING FAILED BY THE FISCAL COURT. (Two ayes; four nays).

RESOLUTION
The County Fiscal Court resolved to determine passage or rejection of 911 emergency services for citizens of Rockcastle County. RESOLUTION TO DETERMINE FATE OF 911 PASSED BY FISCAL COURT.
