Rocket Golf Team has winning season, misses state play

by Jeff French and Chuck Bullock

- Even though they don't have a pep rally, and may not be considered the "jocks" of the school, there is a Rocket golf team, and last year they qualified to play in the state tournament.

In fact to show their appreciation for the players, the week before regionals, members of the FHA gave the team "goodie" bags.

"This team is very similar to last year's team," said Coach.
Barry Noble, "because neither team played up to its potential, even though the people that came back from last year have made gains."

This year, the team has eight varsity players, five from high school and three from the middle school.

Team members are: Travis Anderkin and Chad Silvers, both seniors and Andrew Cash, Layne Nicely, John Bray, and Jeremy Neely, Joseph Lambert, and Mickey Howard. Five golfers (Andrew, Travis, Layne, Chad and John) were selected to play in this final tournament at Eagle's Nest in Somerset. September 30.

For the second year straight, Andrew Cash led the team in regional play.

The team finished 7th out of 26 teams, but did not qualify for state tournament.

"The year has gone pretty good, and we've had a lot of fun. Coach Noble has helped us in many ways by taking us to practice and putting us in tournaments," said Layne Nicely, a junior.

"It's been a fun year and a pretty cool one. It's been a first time experience for me, "said Jeremy Neely.

"Interest in golf seems to be growing here in Rockcastle County. A lot of that can be credited to golf on TV and what I like to call the Tiger Woods factor," says Coach Noble.

Jesse Mahaffey also contributes in coaching varsity as well as junior varsity golf.

Terminology for the Golfing Idiot

ACE - A hole in one. (You hit the ball once, or tee off, and it goes in the little hole on the green.)

BIRDIE - A score of one under par on a hole. (You didn't have to hit the ball as many times to get it in the hole as the sign says you are allowed to.)

but you finally get it in the hole.)

DIVOT - Sod cut with the clubhead when executing or attempting to execute a shot. (You dug up a clump of dirt with your club. Your ball may have gone somewhere, or it may not have.)

DRIVER - Number 1 wood. (A club that has wood on it.)

EAGLE - A score for a hole played in two strokes under par. (You could have hit the ball two more times, but didn't have to.)

FAIRWAY - The course between the teeing ground and the putting green. (The area you have to get the ball to fly over.)

FLAG - Banner on top of the flagstick identifying the cup. (The colorful cloth on a stick showing you where the hole is.)

FORE - A warning cry to anyone of a stroke about to be played or one that has been played. (You're yelling to anyone who might be in danger of getting hit by your ball to watch out!)

HOLE- Small cup sunk into the green into which the golf ball is hit. The hole is 4 1/2 inches in diameter and 4 inches deep. (This is the goal or the ultimate place you want the ball to land.)

PAR - The standard score for a hole. (The number of shots it should take to get the ball in the hole.)

TRAP - a hazard, technically known as the bunker. (When the ball gets stuck in the sand or anywhere off the fairway.)

WEDGE - A heavy iron club used to lift the ball high into the air. (The club used to get the ball out of a trap.)

Rockets run down Redhounds 36-12

by Jeff French and Chuck Bullock

It's being described as the biggest upset in district play this season. For those of you who haven't heard, the Rockcastle Rockets played one of their best games at Corbin, last Friday night and left victorious over the Redhounds in a 36-12 blowout.

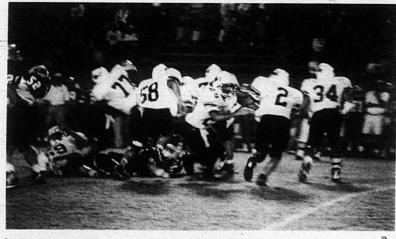

"This was an enjoyable evening coaching offense," said Coach Tom Larkey. "The players executed very well on basically every play. The defense would get the ball for the offense, and they would score. That's the way it's suppose to be," said Mr. Larkey.

"It must have been a fun game to watch from the stands," he said. "I think the big difference was we wanted this game more than Corbin.

The Rockets scored early in the game and kept it up, leaving the field at halftime leading 29-6. Corbin scored only once in each half and failed to gain the extra points each time.

"Our intentions were to make it a physical game. Our defense hit harder than in any game this year," said Mr. Tony Saylor, defense coach. "The boys made the plays they had to make in order to get the ball back for our offense," he said.

In the game against Corbin last Friday night, Chris Bishop (#29) hands the ball off to Andy Hale (#2) while Andrew Carrera (#34), Gary Coffey (#58) and Josh Martin (#77) block. The win brought the Rockets winning streak to six consecutive games. They lost to South Laurel in the first game of the season.

Senior quarterback Chris

Bishop had two rushing touchdowns; he rushed 6 times for 14 yards.

"We basically took over the game whenever we wanted to," said Chris.

Dusty McClure, senior tailback, caught a TD pass from Bishop, rushed five times for 42 yards, and eaught two passes for 70 yards.

"We dominated the whole game -- offense, defense, and special teams," said Dusty. "We deserved the win for our hard work at practice during the week. That's what makes it happen."

Junior Brooks Ingram also rushed five times for 45 yards and a touchdown.

Andy Hale, a junior, caught a TD pass from Nathan Deleon. Andy also had an extra-point reception from Nathan, Junior Josh Hendrickson had a perfect 4 for 4 on field goal attempts.

Two District Games Remaining

The Rockets are 2-0 in district play, having defeated Wayne County and Corbin.

The Rockets have two remaining games in district play. The next is against Estill County, whose quarterback, Stanley Niece, is number one in the state for gyards thrown this season. He is averaging 309 yards a game. The other district game is against Somerset on October 24.

Rocket fans will not have to travel far for the remaining 3 games. They are all at home.

The last game is October 31 with Casey County.

Michael Crichton fans. here's another one

Many people are already Michael Crichton fans, and with books like his, it is no wonder.

Airframe is the story of an investigation into an accident caused by a jet body made by Norton Aircraft.

The author presents this

The Word On Words

information in such away that it is easy to absorb and to learn about the different obligations an airframe manufacturer has.

It begins with the accident, after the plane porpoises in the sky. The wreckage is sent back to Norton for investigation as to the cause. Information leaks out to a tabloid TV show, and the investigation reveals counterfit parts.

As Crichton introduces new twists and turns, the reader starts wondering exactly where the story

The end of Airframe, leaves the reader truly involved and sorry that it is ending.

I guarantee you'll enjoy it. Rating * * * *

An upclose look in a drug-addict's mind

Have you ever wondered exactly what goes on in a drug addict's mind? If so, Go Ask Alice is a book you need to read. Like It Happened to Nancy, it's a collaboration by Dr. B.

The book is Alice's diary, which includes her innermost thoughts and feelings. The diary sometimes serves as her only friend.

She speaks of life in the streets, getting jobs for drug money, and all her roomates and "friends."

This book should be read by those seeking a new understanding of how people think.

However, if you are looking for a happy ever after-all problems solved kind of ending, leave this one on the shelf. It is dark.

What makes it even more haunting is the fact that this is true story about a real person.

A Small Pleasure: the title says it all

From the summary on the back, A Small Pleasure by C.B. Christiansen, promised to be good. About a girl and her goals, it shows the stress some teens go through.

Wray Jean has a three-yearplan for success which includes working, serving as class vicepresident, choosing the right girls' club, and keeping a great boy

Her life goes along just fine until it becomes monotonous. She tries to make life as fun as it had been, but somewhere, she fails, She keep herself so busy she barely sees anything around her.

In the end, she understands what everyone has been trying to tell her.

This book has a very good moral, but not a very good ending. It left me hanging.

Music Reviews by Josh McKibben

Oasis

"Be Here Now"

Epic Records

It's nothing she

It's nothing short of dramatic that Oasis'
"Be Here Now" even exists, considering the break-up rumors amidst the quarreling
Gallagher brothers.

But all of the gossip came to a head with the August release of the band's third album "Be Here Now": a disappointing attempt to reassure their fans of their unity.

The group tried to sound more like the Beatles on this record than on either of their previous albums; instead, Oasis comes across as a cheesy version of the Kinks.

The first single, "D'You Know What I Mean?," takes at least a minute-and-a-half before the music actually begins, as it's preceded by corny sound effects and pointless backwards vocals.

"My Head" is probably the most raucous song on the set, but really doesn't lead anywhere.

"Don't Go Away" is just one, in a string of several, overly-mushy ballads, that make you want to hurl and "All Around the World" is a catchy tune, but rips off the same "na-nana" concept as the Beatles' "Hey Jude."

The mediocrity of their debut "Definitely Maybe" surpasses their latest effort, and most certainly the mastery of "(What's the Story) Morning Glory?" makes "Be Here Now" look childish.

You won't find any "Wonderwall"'s or "Champagne Supernova"'s on this one, but you will find a collection of cracked voices, songs that drag on way too long, and a disc that's better suited for a panel of Rolling Stone critics.

Talk Show

"Talk Show"

Atlantic Records

While naughty Scott Weiland, lead singer for Stone Temple Pilots; was serving time jail and drug rehab, remaining STP members Eric Kretz, and Robert Dean DeLeo, went and found themselves a new frontman.

The three recruited British singer, Dave Coutts to fill the void, and continue the DeLeo musical legacy.

The new band, which many feel is just a side-project for Kretz and the DeLeo brothers, call themselves Talk Show, and their self-titled debut is STP reincarnated.

"Hello Hello," the first single from Talk Show, pulls off a Zeppelin-esque guitar ditty, with the jangly rhthym that made STP so popular.

The song is getting major support from both Mainstream and Modern Rock Radio, much like the music of Scott Weiland's original band.

Coutts' vocals reach a feverish pitch on the album's opening track, "Ring Twice," as the ghost of STP once again creeps into the music of Talk Show

A recent issue of Guitar Player magazine is quoted as saying that Dean and Robert-DeLeo "attempt to save their music from Stone Temple Pilots and transfer it to Talk Show."

Instead, Talk Show simply recreates the glory of STP, but in a new-fangled British way.

R.I.Y.L. Stone Temple Pilots Chumbawamba

"Tumbthumper"

Universal/Republic Records

Some bands demand attention.

The Smashing Pumpkins come to mind, but very few can boast as to saying that their first single is undeniably hookable after one listen.

England's Chumbawamba can be placed in this elite category, due to the huge success of their first single, "Tubthumping."

The song's mixture of varied musical styles is impressive, combining hip-hop beats, alterna-rock guitars, and swing-style horns with a chorus that sounds like something you'd hear at a football game.

The tavern-type, sing-a-long chorus "I get knocked down / But I get up again / You're never gonna keep me down" is an inspiration to the downtrodden, but is sung in such a playful way that it's considered a rock song.

"Tubthumping" overshadows every other song on the album, and makes it hard to enjoy the unique sound that makes Ghumbawamba.

"Mary Mary" and "I Want More" are two other mystically uncanny tracks on "Tubthumper," all brought to you by this anarchist octet from England.

So forget the name and focus on the music; Chumbawamba's "Tubthumper" is an awesome attempt at the unknown regions of alternative music.

Just For Fun

Sagittarius (11-23/12-21) Stop dressing up as "Lucky the Leprechaun" on Halloween and asking trick or treaters to make a wish and rub your "magical" corn between your toes.

Capricorn (12-22/1-20) Don't go around biting strangers and screaming "Me vampire. Me drink blood." You did it last year, and to put it frankly, it was disturbing. The children were afraid of you.

Aquarius (1-21/2-19) Balance it out this Halloween. Throw two cartons of eggs instead of one. Harass twelve trick or treaters, not eleven. Keep it even, since you are odd enough.

Pisces [2-20/3-20] Don't take things so seriously. Pisceans have the tendency to focus only on the evil in life and not the good. So this Halloween get yourself a Snow White costume.

Aries (3-21/4-20) - Stop going to parties and bobbing for apples out of the toilet. I don't care what your "hip" peers think. It isn't cool. Stop it.

Taurus (4-21/5-21) I hate to tell ya this pal, caramel and braces just don't mix, and you still have turkey left in them from last Thanksgiving! I don't even want to know what it would look like if you chow down on some sugar babies....yuck!

Gemini (5-22/6-21) If you don't wash off your face paint from Halloween, people can tell that you haven't been bathing. I understand you can't see yourself because of all the broken mirrors in your house, but at least make the effort.

Cancer (6-22/7-23) Do you remember how your mom always told you not to make a face, it might freeze that way? Too late; it already has!

Leo (7-24/8-23) Someone snitched. Mr. Cash knows about the plans to decorate his house with toilet paper and eggs this Halloween. My advice? Don't bother. He has the school security guard on duty.

Virgo (8-24/9-22) First of all, you are much too old to be trick or treating. You're not fooling anybody. So take my advice and take off that hideous fake nose and all of those ugly warts.....ops.....THOSE

Libra (9-23/10-23) Okay, you're taking the words "trick or treat smell my feet, give me something good to eat," way too literally. When children say that to you on Halloween, they don't mean for you to grab their feet and smell them. You are scaring them away!

Scorpio (10-24/11-22) I know that you are really excited about dressing up as a werewolf on Halloween, but trust me, save your money don't buy any "smelly spray" for your costume. You do quite a good job without it.

Humiliation Corner

At grandmother's funeral I went to the bathroom and when I came out everyone began to snicker. My aunt came up, pecked me on the shoulder, and whispered, "Honey, your dress is caught in your pantyhose!"

I was at a regional track meet and we went to McDonald's. I was in the bathroom and this lady opens the door, walks in, and comes back. I found out that I was in the ladies' room. ...Jeremy Saylor

In the office they put a long piece of toilet paper in the back of my pants. I walked around quite some time like that.

-Mr. Cash

I was at my grandparents' getting ready to shower when this mouse fell down from the exhaust fan. I jump up screaming and ran into the hallway naked. My grandpa was there and he saw me naked.

-- Christina Stamper

My most embarrassing moment was my freshman year when I had been elected a homecoming candidate. I didn't know anybody so I was estatic. All the other homecoming candidates had already started to march and I wasn't down there. My mom was velling at me, "Jamie, get down there!" I started running down that steep hill in high heels and a short dress and low and behold my heel got caught and I went tumbling down the hill. My dress flew over my head and everyone in the bleachers saw my undies. My arms and legs were covered with dirt. My pantyhose had a big run, and my hair was ruined. Guess what? I had to march like that. So now my homecoming picture shows the messed up hair, the run in my hose, and dirt covering my arms! That would definitely have to be my most embarrassing moment!

Dear Gabby

Dear Gabby,

There's this guy I've liked for a while, and we've become pretty good friends. The other day, he asked one of my friends out. Since then, he has been making eyes at me, and she has no idea. I don't know what to do now, I still kind of like him. What should I do?

Extremely Confused

Gabby

Gabby

Dear Extremely,

Honesty is the best policy. You should tell her what he is doing and how you feel before it's to late. There should be enough respect in the friendship so that no one will be hurt. Friends can last forever, guys come and go.

Gabby

Dear Gabby,

One weekend my best friend was out of town, and her boyfriend and his friend stopped by my house. The three of us were just hanging out. Then my friend's boyfriend kissed me. I feel so guilty, and I want to tell her! But I know she will hate me forever. Please help!

Feeling Guilty.

Dear Guilty.

You should tell your friend that her boyfriend kissed you. If she does hate you for ever and doesn't respect your honesty, you are probably better off without her friendship anyway. Also remember that sometimes an apology goes a long way. Just say, "I'm sorry. I was stupid. I don't know what happened to me.

Dear Gabby,

I have a problem. I like this guy, but he doesn't know it. I want to tell him, but he acts like he doesn't even know me. What should I do?

Unsure

Dear Unsure,

I think you may want to flirt with him, and if he still doesn't get the hint, resort to this age-old trick. Have a friend ask him if he knows you and if he likes you. Sometimes this is very effective approach for shy people.

Dear Gabby,

A friend has been drinking and driving. I know the risk and want to tell her to stop, but I am afraid our friendship will end if I start preaching to her. I am scared that she may kill herself or someone else. This has happened to her a lot. Sometimes I am in the car with her. Help.

Concerned

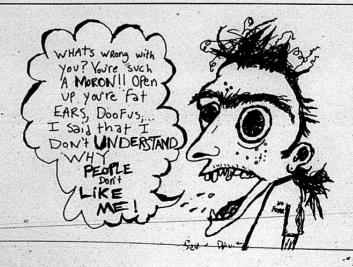

Dear Concerned,

I think you should tell your friend of the risk. Share your feelings with her. If it doesn't work you will at least know you tried if something does happen. You might also tell her parents or a concerned adult. They might know what to do.

Gabby

Annoying Tips

- 1. If you have a glass eye, tap on it occasionally with your pen while talking to others.
- 2. Specify that your drive-thru order is "to go."
- 3. Name your dog, "Dog."
- 4. Repeat everything someone says, as a question.
- 5. Erect an elaborate network of ropes in your backyard, and tell the neighbors you are a "spider person."
- 6. Chew on pens that you've borrowed.
- 7. Ask people what gender they are.
- Sit in your front yard pointing a hair dryer at passing cars to see if they slow down.
- 9. Lie obviously about trivial things such as the time of day.
- Decline to be seated in a restaurant and simply eat their complimentary mints by the cash register.

Resident voices concern over homeless dogs

It was an extended fiscal court meeting Tuesday with the issue of the court's responsibility for animal control/care in the county being the main issue brought before the court. Mary Yam/finkle of MayApple Road, in the norther end of the county, told the court of the need for at least a "Rescue Shelter" where animats could be kept and provided for while efforts were being made to find homes for them.

for while efforts were being made to find homes for them.

Ms. VanWinkle said she was personally caring for 33 stray dogs at present, had had as many as 52, and that it was a "Bardship and vec-pensive." It work two jobs! Mrs. VanWinkle told the court, and I don't do it (care for animals) because of money, I do it because I love animals.

mals."

VanWinkle said she was caring for the dogs on her one acre of land in wo thirty-fook kennels and five doghouses but that she was concerned because of the coming winter when she would not be able to provide shelter for the animals.

She was primarily asking the court if any help was available for food for the animals and possibly shelter and, with beginning, a spay and neuter program in an effort to cut down on. He animal population.

Mrs. VanWinkle also said that a Humane Society was being started in the county and they would help bear the expense of the care for stray animals.

County Judge Executive Buzz Carfoitis heard Mrs. VanWinkle out and replied in very explicit terms, "We cannot afford one pound of dog food or any place to house them. We have trouble housing juvenlies (definiquents) let allow help. We have trouble housing juvenlies definiquents) let allow help. We have trouble housing juvenlies definiquents have been one first," he added. However, Carlottis sidd suggest that set try to enlist the aid of local civic organizations who might help.

Mrs. VanWinkle told the court that they were requised by state law to have an animal shelter and asked or see their records on how many animals have been put down and what the court's costs are for cuthanasia. The response from the court was that they were not aware of any records and Magistras Bill McKinney said that he thought, from reading the states statutes, that the county was not required to keep records of his type. Judge Carloftis was admant that the county could not ford to provide an animal shelter. He told the court that Laurel County had been spending $100,000 a year on a shelter spending stoy, over year or institute and had to discontinue the program. He said the Humane Society then stepped in to take over the program and they had to abandon it after a few months because of the expense in-

The upshot of the discussion was that the court passed at motion contiguous areas of the court passed at motion contiguous or the court passed at motion contiguous to keep stray dogs.— Mrs. VanWinkle asked the court to hold off on the motion, saying she hoped to get a Humane Society organized and they might be able to come up with facilities on their own. However, Magistrate Billy McKinney persisted with his motion and got a second and a unanimous vote. The court also heard from Jim Woodrum of Architecture Plus, Inc., The upshot of the discussion was

It was Del.con's second touchdown pass of the season. The Rockets defeated district rival Corbin to extend their

The Rockeastle County Rockets rolled over the Redhounds of Corbin on Friday night behind a 29 point second quarter, that gave the Rockets a 29-0 lead.

It was the Rockets easiest win

It was the Rockets easiest win over their district archirval, as they dominated the Hounds 36-12.

And they did it in a variety of ways. Their defense was as good as it has been all season long, and their offense showed the Hounds at least seven different formations. Head coach Tom Larkey moved offensive guard Kevin Bradley totight end and Josh Jones into the center position. This allowed John LaFevers to move to the guard position making an extremely storing right side of the line when tackle Josh Martin lines up with them.

with them.

But, that was not the only thing

with them.

But, that was not the only thing different about the Rocket's offense.

They threw a touchdown pass on a fake reverse and they fakedan extra point kick, scoring two on a throw into the end zone.

"I would have to say that Friday night's game was no doubt one of the most enjoyable Vie ever had coaching offense," Larkey said.

"Our players executed very well on basically all of the plays, many of which had been put in only this week during practice," Larkey said.

"With all of the different formations there is a lot for these kids to comprehend, but they are a smart bunch and it showed Friday night," he said.

he said.
"I think our team wanted this game more than their kids did and that alone makes a big difference on this level," Larkey said.

Senior quarterback Chris Bishop had probably his best game of the season on both sides of the ball.

nau promothy his eest game or insection on both sides of the ball. He threw for 122 yards on just the threw for 122 yards on just completions. One of those completions was for a touchdown to senior Dusty McClure.

McClure had two catches on the night for a total of seventy yards. Besides the touchdown catch, the other one was a beautiful fingering rate that set up one of the Rockets five secres. He threw one interception which was insignificant since it came in the hind period after the Rockets and a 36-6 lead, and it gave the ball to Corbin on the two yard line, 98 yards from home.

All purpose player, senior Nathan DeLeon, had three catches for 52 yards and he rushed for nine yards on two carries.

But, the senior, who played quar-

Iwo carries.

But, the senior, who played quarterback when he was a freshman-to-mosed his second touchdown pass of the season on a fake reverse.

DeLeon found tight end Andy Hale in the end zone in the second period for an Is yard score. DeLeon, who also holds on extra point kicks, then faked a kick and hit Hale again in the end zone for a two point conversion.

Basically, theRockets offense kept Corbin guessing all night long and in most cases, they guessed worng. It was an awesome display for a high school football team.

Besides McClure's 70 yards receiving he also had 42 yards on the ground on just five carries.

Tailback Brooks Ingram, who was playing with a slight handler for one of the Rocket's five scores.

He shandieran had to be his worry.

for the game at Corbin.

The younger Ingram is still recovering from his injuries.

"He did a good job to put aside his worry for his brother and play a good game, We knew Travis was injured along with the other two students, but Brook's add (Jeff) told us they would all be alright before we left for the game, "head couch Tom Larkey, Michael Parsons and his brother Christopher, another Rocket, were also injured in the accident at the Rockeastle Indiustrial Park. The Parsons have since been released from the hospital, lingram is expected to be released utday, (Wednesday). Andrew Carrera picked up 49 yards on 12 carries.

Josh Hendrickson had nine yards on four carries fate in the game, but was four of four on extra point kicks.

Middle School girls win three at North Pulaski

The three middle school girls basketball teams got two wins each during their last outings - over Corbin and Northern Pulsasi.

Last Thursday night, the eight graders, limited, the Corbin Lady Redhounds to only one basket and hree free throws in their 39 to 5 rout. Coach David Owens cleared his bench in the game with the starters actually seeing little playing time. Leslie Carpenter led the scoring with 8 points; Ashley Carpenter, Angie Boreing and Ashley Carpenter, Amber Denney and Ashley Mink, 4 each; Amber Thacker and Jessie Hayes, 2 and Amanda Blanton.

Jessie Hayes, 2 and Amanda Hanton,
I. The seventh grade game was too closest of the three with the Rockets actually being behind 18-13 at half time but the girls came back in the third quarter to outscore Corbin 10 to 6 and 15 to 6 in the fourth quarter for the 38-32 win. Ashley Mink Led the scoring with 11 points, 6 of them coming in the third quarter, Heather Pingleton got 9, Amy Barnett 8, Jessie Hayes, 5: Vanessa Childress 4 and Jessica Carpenter 1.

The sixth graders won their game 20-10 with Allison Anderkin leading the scoring with 7 points. Stephanie Price got 5; Kyssiel Parsons, 4 and Jena Owens and Amanda Rogers, 2 each.

cach. Wassa and manatar Rogers, 2 cach. Stasday night, the girls journeyed to Somerset to take on the Northern Pulaski Lady Knights. The eighth grade game was a reversal of their earlier meeting between the two clubs when the Rockets had won 29-12 -- this time the girls pulled out a barnburner 32-31 on a last-second basket by Leslie Carpenter. The Rockets led 8-6 at the end of the first quanter but were down 19-13 at half-time but that was the biggest lead the Lady Knights would enjoy as the girls had cut the lead in half at 24-21 at the end of the third quanter the fourth quarter was a batted sall rhe fourth quarter was a batted sall rhe. 24-21 at the end of the find quarter was a battle all the way and the score was tied at 29 all with 2:22 left to play. Cox Funeral Home Announces A Unique Gift To BE GIVEN TO FAMILIES THAT WE SERVE

The MEMORY Tree

Bud, Shirley and Lewis Cox of Cox Funeral Home are arranging, through our recent affiliation with the Memory Tree, to have a small tree sent to families that we serve

We believe that by planting a living tree on their property or nearby public land in memory of a loved one, families can enjoy the therapeutic benefits of a visual tribute which will become a continual source of beauty and a lasting symbol of hope. The tree will be shipped during the proper planting season so that a family member or perhaps a friend can plantit. Some families may choose to have a dedication ceremony including family and friends. If they prefer, the tree will be planted for them on public land and will help restore our environment. Each family will receive a certificate of planting to keep as a part of their family history.

We hope that you will recognize our sincere wish to serve Rockcastle County families by providing this living tribute to serve as a reminder of your love for your family member in a way that will help create a renewed spirit of hope. Thank you for placing your confidence in us for over ninety years.

attempts to stay warm.

Byron Crawford has been onto me since Easter to see what NAWWWW thinks about the coming winter. Byron likes to be the first newspaper reporter to get out a variety of winter forecasts and to do that he starts bugging his sources before the last snowfall of the previous Spring. So I've had to render an opinion several weeks back based on very scant information. Wooly worms don't stir around too much when the However, they've been coming and going by the hundred on Crab Orchard Röad: As usual there is no clear consensus on what the weather may be, but a large majority is insisting that we're in for another eatively mild winter even though most of Byron's soften sources are saying it may be the worst winter in a hundred years.

NAWWWWW 's specific forecast calls for generally mild conditions with a lot of moisture that will fall more in the form of rain and sleet than snow. Early December until the first of the year will offer the best opportunity for snowfall and they say that the chances for a white Christmisa are better than they have been in decades.

January and February should be generally dreary with most days overcast and frequent rain and sleet. Lots of upper 20's at night and day time, highs in the 40's and 50's.

Late March and carly April promise to be especially wet and the biggest snowfall of the season should happen around the end of March or up into April. Don't be thinking about gardening too much until the first of May. It's going to be too wet to plow.

Our FFA Tobacco Grading Team also competed at the state fair with members Jon Adams, Elizabeth Bullock, Matt Chaliff and Kenny Allen earning 18th place honors. Eric Helton served as Dairy Holder at the fair, showing cattle during the judg-ing competitions. Rockcastle also created an educational display repre-senting our Kentucky River Region, which was presented along with dis-plays from the other 10 Kentucky FFA Regions in the state.

While the trip wasn't all fun and games at the fair, we did have time to roll a few sets in bowling, and I'm pleased to report that all members had a very good time.

Rock vs. Scott

Rock vs. Scott
County Cards
By Preston Parrett
It was homecoming at the Rock
And festivities were great in the Rocket lair,
The band and flag girls were performing
And fireworks were going off in the air.

The dance team was performing And the honor guard was ready to present old glory, The Rock team had warmed up And were ready to end the cardinal story,

The game got underway,
And soon there was a score,
As Handy Andy Hale caught a pass from Bishop
That was good for twenty yards or

The Rock kicked the point after And they were ahead seven-zip, As it looked like the cardinals; Were in for a wing clip.

The battle continued raging With a lot of hitting done, Then Choo Choo Carrera chugged in On a mighty three yard run.

Now the cards wouldn't roll over And they came right back,

When Holbrook on a ten yard pass from Payne,
Over the goal-line did crack.

The Rocks at halftime Had a seven point lead.
As the cards went to regroup.
And plan how to undo this dastardly deed.

Meanwhile, out on the field They were about to crown the homecoming queen,

Among the prettiest girls ever seen.

Tiffany McClure and Mignon Looney

Tiffany McClure and Mignon Looney were runner-ups, And Wendy Himes would wear the queen's crown, She was crowned by the '96 queen, Who would now step down.

The band and flag girls had performed And great was their music and for-mations, (Cont. to B10)

"It is Written"

Today we want to begin our study of the beatitudes by looking at Matthew 5.3, "Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." The word poor can be used in two senses, one who is not recently but who has the basic necessities of life, and the other, being, no who is completely in poverty and destitute of even daily necessities. This second use, is the way the word is used here, it comes from the original language to mean total and complete poverty.

We must see that we are totally, and completely bankrupt before the Lord in reference to our spiritual condition. Until we see that we are flat broke spiritually, and thus in need of the spiritual riches of Christ. that broke spiritually, and thus in the do it as spiritual theory we will never come to Jesus with the right attitude. We must see that we have sin in the sight of God, and are thus condemned because of it. As Paul would say in Romans 3:23, "For all have sinned, and come hort of the glory of God." Our personal righteousness is as Isaiah 4:6 $ays, "But we are all as an unclean thing, and all ou ighteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and uur intiquities, like the wind, have taken us away." Until a person ealizes that they are sick, they will never go to the doctor, and this is the way that it is spiritually, we must see that we are sin sick, and in seed of the Great Physician. The promise to those who truly see their piritual condition before the Lord, and who will come to him for the cleansing of the soul, are told that theirs is the kingdom of heaven. In order to gain the kingdom of heaven, a place in the rule and domain of King Jesus today, we must humble ourselves to see our true spiritual overty. The haughty, arrogant, self-sufficient human being will neve be any need for Jesus Christ and his blood. Only the poor in spiri Providence church of Christ $616.555. Woodrum said the project could be authorized at 10% over the original budget and he felt there were several items in the budget which could be paredenabling the project to go forward. One way of paring the costs would be to use county employee and prisoner labor on some portions of the project at substantial savings because the prevailing federal wage rate kicks in on projects over $250.000 but does not apply to labor provided by county employees or immates.

The court voted to accept the bids and allow Mr. Woodrum to begin the process of reworking some parts of the bids submitted. The court also entered into an agreement with the Mason County Detention center to house juvenile offenders at a cost of 590 per day. Judge Carloftis told the court that this gave the court another facility for housing juveniles from the county

housing juveniles from the county,
In a related tiem, Carloftis steld the court that the county would realize a savings of about $20,000 (or about $00%) of the bills it presently owes for housing juvenile offenders because some of them have been placed in state programs which are picking up the cost of their incarceration.

Carloftis said that some of the juveniles now in centers have been named wards of the state and that the named wards of the state and that the Dept, for Juvenile Justice and the Cabinet for Families and Children are picking up their bills. Carloftis also said that the juve-nile problem in Rockcastle County had abated somewhat and he felt it was due in part to the progredar.

was due, in part, to the parental responsibility ordinance which the court adopted. He said that Jefferson County was looking at a similar ordinance and that other counties had nance and that other counties had considered it but were unwilling to take the controversial step. One personnel move was approved by the court. Everett Renner was hired as a grader operator to replace retir-ing Charlie Lamb, effective October 15

The court also approved a motion The court also approved a motion to allow the 911 system to be housed in the offices presently occupied by the Green Thumb Program on the second floor of the courthouse. This program will be offered office space on the third floor. Carloftis said the mapping of the county, necessary for the enhanced 911 system, would begin in-January or February of 1998 and local people would be hired and trained for the jobs. He also reported that GTE would very shortly be testing the basic service.

The court also accepted two roads into the county road system - one in District #1 to be known as the Old Dowell Farm Road and the other, in District #1 to be known as the Loonard Miller road. Both roads were accepted subject to meeting specifications. to allow the 911 system to be housed

The county's tax rate for FY 97-98 was set at 7.6c per hundred dollar assessment, lower than last year's 7.7c, on a motion by Magistrate Amos Purchette.

Because of the length of the meet-ing, the court put off reviewing the financial statements for September. This will be done at a called meeting

This week America honors its temporary workforce. Today, we at Olsten honor ours.

> WE COMMEND YOU FOR A FINE JOB!

FSA continues to seek voters and candidates for the upcoming County Office Committee election. With today's changing farm economy, it's essential that the committees represent the wide variety of producers who make up the buseness of producers to the county committees must represent the whole of local agriculture. By seeking diversity, FSA will bring a greater range of experits, edifferent perspectives, and a border understanding of the various business and marketing aspects to the committee's work. In the end, the decisions the committee makes works on behalf of all area farmers. FSA need severyone's help—from voters to active participants as candidates for everyone's help—from voters to ac-tive participants as candidates for committee membership. Dr. Don Whitehead to teach seminar at EKU

The College of Allied Health and Nursing at Eastern Kentucky University announces that Dr. On Whitchead will teach the seminar "Dealing With Depression" Dealing With Depression of Wednesday, October 29, at Shate Village. The day-long seminar will beginnat 8:30 a.m. with registration in the West Family Wash House (Conference Area C). The conference ends at 4:00 n.m. at 4:00 p.m.

Dr. Whitehead is a pastoral coun-Dr. Whitehead is a pastoral counselor in private practice in Somerset. His wockly newspaper column "The Family Room" appears in six newspapers across Southeastern Kentucky. He is a graduate of Yale Divinity School and the Southern Baptist. Theological Seminary. Dr. Whitehead has studied depression and counseled with families for nice than 12 years. The has presented his ideas about depression to audiences across the state.

Depression strikes so many people, and yet most of us know so little about it," Dr. Whitehead states. "Depression can be fatal, because some of its victims will commit suicide. Even when not fatal, it is a painful illness that can make a person miserable. Insomnia, overeating, miscrable. Insomnia, overeating, undereating, low energy, arkiety, guilt and hopelessness are just some of its many effects."

"I have had some personal experience with depression," Dr. Whitehead reports, "I know what it feels like to be depressed, and I know it does not feel good at all! I would like to help some of those other depressed persons out there. Come to this seminar and you will find out more about the and you will find out more about the symptoms, causes and treatments for depression. You will learn that de-pression is very treatable. There is hope!"

Dr. Janet Collins, director of Continuing Education for the College of Allied Health and Nursing, says, "We hope you will come join us for a great day at Shakertown on October 29. Nurses, nursing home administrators and others can receive continuing education credits for the six-hour conference. The seminar is not restricted to nurses. Anyone interested in learning more about depression is welcome to attend. "For registration information, call +606-622-2143 in Richmond. The $75 fee includes continental breakfast, lunch at Shaker Village, contact hours and handout materials."

Rockcastle County High School

Volume 14 - Number 2

October 1997

Students who miss required to take test

by Nikki Barnett

The RCHS Site Based Council approved, at the September meeting, a new attendance policy which includes pass/fail exams for students who miss too many days of school.

According to Mr. Chuck Cash, a member of the attendance committee which submitted the proposal, exams will be made up of sample questions taken from tests the teacher has administered during the nine weeks.

He said the attendance committee will take care of the testing so that the teacher will not have extra work to do.

Students that miss four or more days will be required to score 60% or higher on the exam in order to receive the teacher-assigned grade.

"Good idea," said Mr. Barry Noble, administrative assistant and member of the committee, "Now kids are required to prove that they have knowledge of the content area."

Below is the list of the procedures that will be followed:

- 1. After three days absences in a nine weeks, Youth Services will make contact with the parent or guardian.
- After four days absences in a nine weeks, the student will be required to pass an exit exam before receiving credit for their classes.
- 3. Exit exams will be administered and scored by the attendance committee. Test will be administered during ESS (tutoring)

Staff can access e-mail and Internet in classroom

by Jimmy Payne

As of September 16, the last staff person at RCHS finally crawled onto the technology fast track. E-mail and the Internet have now been installed in every classroom.

"We have had the capability of getting Internet and e-mail in every classroom since the school built; we just had to wait on the computers," said Mr. Ed Peterson, technology coordinator at RCHS.

Teachers can arrive at school in the morning, turn on the computers, check their e-mail, (which usually includes a message from the principal) and send memos to the faculty or someone in Texas.

They do not even have to leave the classroom to have contact with other teachers from the building or from all over the nation and world.

They can get new ideas, share information, plan field trips, and catch up on current events while sitting at their desks.

Students too will be able to look up information for school projects, write other kids, and get information from teachers at RCHS without leaving the room.

"We have needed this for a long time," said RCHS principal Mr. Ronnie Cash.

Most of the staff have been taking full advantage of the installation since everyone is now on board.

Mr. Cash has been using the e-mail to write the teachers every morning.

"It is so simple to use that it's frightening. I started using it on the first day of school, and I hate to admit it, but Becky Perkins along with everybody else taught me.

"People in my age group were afraid of technology, but I knew if I expected my teachers to use it, then I had to use it. Now other teachers are starting to come around and use it. It is great to see teachers who were resisting start to come around,"

Most of the teachers at RCHS are very positive about the technology advances.

said Mr. Cash.

Ms. Debbie Coleman, social studies teacher, said, "It's the easiest way of communicating without leaving your room.

Mr. Rick Barnett said he thinks it has been helpful. "It is more convenient and it also saves on paper."

Mr. Jason Wilson, who teaches math, loves it. "It's mind-boggling when you think about what you can do from your classroom. Whether you have friends in Africa, Asia or anywhere in the world, you can write anybody."

Mr. C. W. Vanzant said, "I like it, but it sticks in your mind better when you see it on paper. I use it sometimes in the morning, then I forget it by the afternoon."

expected my teachers to use it, then I had to use it." Mr. Ronnie Cash, principal

"People in my age group were afraid of technology, but I knew if I Ms. Renee Smith, home economics teacher said, "I like it. It is a quick and convenient way to get information that you need. It is a lot quicker than going through papers.

One teacher who is very pleased with the new technology is the journalism teacher, Ms. Nancy Mullins. She says her newspaper staff can do much of their teacher interviewing and information gathering via email. "It often saves time and is less intrusive," she says.

Foreign language teacher Ms. Pam Powell said, "It is easier to communicate with other teachers and plan projects. but you have to be careful and watch kids closely around it or they will use it for the wrong things."

Mr. Cash said, "I am amazed at how many schools in Kentucky do not have computers.

"Our school just took a great step into the future; with all of the new technology around the world, our school is up to date in everything."

Some teachers however, still do not have a printer, but according to Mr. Peterson, 18 new ones have been ordered and should arrive within the next 2-4 weeks.

Also, according to Mr.
Peterson, the terminal at the central office will be replaced before the year is out. "There have been some problems with it," he said.

Rockcastle County Needs an Animal Shelter

Have you ever been lost, lonely, hungry, depressed, or scared? You may have experienced one of these emotions sometime in your life, but think of experiencing them all at the same time.

In our communities, there are dogs and cats that are suffering. Some people may think that animals don't have feelings, but those with pets know that to be untrue.

Animals are like children; they need to be nurtured and loved. There are lots of animals who have not known love and have spent their whole life on the streets. There are also a lot of animals who are loved and still end up lost or homeless. What there may not be enough of is caring, compassionate people who are mature enough to try and help these unfortunate animals.

Mrs. Terri Lunce, who works for the Rockcastle Veterinary Clinic, is oneof those who does care. She is using her time and energy to start an animal shelter in Rockcastle County.

"It depends on the response of the county on whether or not we get an animal shelter," Mrs. Lunce stated.

The burning question in my mind is how will the county respond?

Hopefully, with a lot of donations and volunteer work. Everyone in the county has a chance to respond to this question by filling out the form at the top of the page and dropping it off at the journalism room (Rm. 115 or 116).

College hopefuls should pay attention! If and when an animal shelter comes to Rockcastle County, this is a great opportunity to get in volunteer hours that look good on college and scholarship applications. The fact that you worked to help get an animal shelter established in your community might impress employers also. Not only could you be volunteering, you could also have community service hours and the self satisfaction of knowing that you're helping to save an animal's life.

Not that Mr. Buck Farthing, Rockcastle's dog warden, is not doing a great job already. He averages rounding up fifty dogs a month, but after he keeps them for a short time, if no one claims them, he "disposes" of them.

In McCreary County one couple spends almost every weekend having fundraisers to operate their local animal shelter. In that county, it takes over $20,000 a year to keep an animal shelter open even with volunteers. That may or may not seem like a lot to you, but if everyone helped a little, it would amount to a lot for the whole community. Taking care of dogs and cats is

So please open your hearts (and checkbooks) and help save an animal.

With your help Rockcastle will soon have an animal shelter, Funding is not yet available to provide basic care for homeless dogs and cats, but we believe that there are enough interested and caring people in our area to make an adoption agency for pets possible.

Everyone agrees that stray animals are and can cause problems, and local animal "foster homes" are filled to capacity. Can we count on your help to start and maintain an animal shelter in Rockcastle County?

Our non-profit status is pending. If you want to be involved, please return this questionaire to a member of The Rocket staff by October 31.

Dear Students and Staff,

If you are sick of talking to the same old people and want to meet new people, I know the thing for you. It is the e-mail. You can find the e-mail on the Internet.

The e-mail is a new fun way to write to people from all over the country or the world. You can also write to your friends for fun. The e-mail was made for people who want to get information from all over the world. You can get news from Asia to America in a matter of seconds. People can also get mail. Some of the mail will be junk mail because of people wanting to sell you something.

It is very easy to get on e-mail. All you have to do is have a computer with the Internet and type in www. net address. USA. net and then you are on it. After that you type in your code name and then your secret password. They put a secret password on the w-mail so that no one can get into your part of the e-mail and buy stuff because you can buy stuff on e-mail if you have a credit card number. Someone across the country can get on the e-mail and get all kinds of stuff from people who sell their stuff on the e-mail.

The e-mail is a very good thing to use. People from all over the world use the e-mail to meet new people because they are curious to know how people live in another country. I know I would like to write someone from another country. I would ask them a whole lot of questions about his or her life in the country and who their schools are different from ours.

Well, that is all I have to write about the e-mail, but if you get on it, you will see how much fun it is to do it. Thank you for your time and hope to hear from you on the e-mail soon.

> Sincerely. Tim King

(The Rocket staff thanks Tim for his letter which was submitted by his teacher Ms. Cathy Short, who is proud of his writing progress.)

From the Principal's Pen

Students.

I was very pleased with the article in the last publication of THE ROCKET. Communication and/or the lack of communication is a problem in everyday life, not just at school.

Too many times we as adults are criticized for decisons we make when students do not have imput. Too many times, students do not discuss items with us. The concerns the senior class had were legitimate concerns and in a single discussion, the matters were settled; hopefully, everyone was happy.

I would encourage each of you, to always, feel free to discuss decisions made that affect you with your teachers and administrators here at RCHS. Our goal would be for you to have a great year and if you are happy, it will be! I think this shows the maturity of the senior class.

STUDENT OPINION

Down the Hall

Do you think Rockcastle County needs
an animal shelter?

"Yes, we need one. We have lots of stray dogs in our neighborhood, and if you call the dog warden he may or may not be at home and it takes him forever to come out."

--Nikki Wood

"Yeah, there's a lot of animals out running around getting hit by cars and causing a stink in the air."

-- Henry Bryant

"I think it would be good because people drop strays at our house. We give them shots and have them wormed and dipped and take them to the front of WalMart and give them away."

-- Erica Mallory

"Yes, because there are lots of strays running around. Volunteers could help run it."

-- Jessica Lowery

Get involved in volunteerism

Columnist Christina Crawford

Teenagers are not as involved in volunteerism, community service, or organizational events as they should be.

Many teens feel they are too busy with school or work, while others simply do not care to participate. It's time for a change. Get involved - that's my advice for today's teens.

Everywhere you look there is something that needs to be done, and helping with any small deed goes a long way. Volunteering for community service would benefit communities nationwide. Offer to give a helping hand whenever you see someone who is in need. By being involved, you can learn a lot!

You can also start your own organization. – Before starting a new organization, figure out what you're passionate about. You will be more committed to working for that cause. The more participants, the more you will accomplish.

For more information on volunteering, call Youth Service America at (202) 296-2992.

Dried-up Ideas

Columnist Glennys Pulliam

I used to have a lot of really good ideas for a column, but my idea well has run dry.

Earlier this week, I thought I was going to write on the football season. The only game I've missed was Dayton because the band couldn't go. I was there when Madison Southern's #53, Eric Wren, got injured.

I was there when Wendy Himes got crowned Homecoming Queen.

On Wednesday, I had a good topic: The Search for Mr. Righthow to choose the right guy, how to know he's the one, etc.

I began writing my column like a pro, giving helpful hints and timely advice. Then my best friend suddenly asked for my advice on her love problem.

That's when I realized I hardly know enough about the search for Mr. Right to get myself through it, let alone give helpful hints and timely advice to others.

I guess what I'm suffering from is temporary lack of ideas. Now if I just had an idea of what to say

Marilyn Manson sickening; degrading to humanity

by Josh McKibben

Shock rock/industrial/metal band, Marilyn Manson, has been the topic of controversy for the past few years over the band's questionable actions, dress, lyrics, and influence.

Personally, I am appalled whenever I see Marilyn Manson, who contrives their name from his two heroes, Charles Manson and Marilyn Monroe.

Rumors have been circulated that the band's lead singer, who takes the band's namesake, has eaten babies, passed out marijuana, and committed other repulsive and perverted acts on stage, at his concerts.

Although these rumors can't be confirmed, I'm compelled to believe that something is obviously going on to cause such ideas to enter people's heads.

Manson's form of dress is very unique, but is utterly disgusting, unless you dig skinny, pale bodies covered by nothing more than a thin loin cloth or tattered strips of clothing.

(If you don't get the picture, watch the 1997 MTV Music Video Awards again...you'll catch my drift then.)

The lyrics for his songs have a variety of topics, including references to the Devil and Hell, and his self-proclomation of being the antichrist.

His numerous bashings of God and Christ have landed his music in the category "Music for the Discerning Devil Worshipper."

Can't he sing about something wholesome or less graphic and vulgar? If he chooses to lose his soul to eternal damanation, why must he always sing about it?

Somehow, this "spawn of Satan" has gotten into the heads of many of the youth of America, brain-washing them to become Marilyn Manson drones.

Most of them are 12-year olds, who dress like minions of the dark side, reciting satanic phrases, which they won't even be able to comprehend for another 5 years or so.

- Hate and rebellion have been implanted into the heads of his followers, whether his intents have been intentional or not.

Marilyn Manson is detestable and degrading to society. Some have argued that it's all just an "act"; if that's the case, then he's a pretty good actor!

Creative history project

Joy Howard, a senior, displays her doll and poster of Desi Arnez made recently for Mr. Bill Lynch's World Civilization class. Mr. Lynch bought 60 plain, cloth dolls at a church yard sale last summer for 25 cents each and put his students to work turning the dolls into famous characters from history or fiction. The students were required to research the character, give a presentation and prepare a possible portfolio piece. Other dolls crafted in the project included such people as Princess Diana, Buddha, Albert Einstein, Napoleon, Judy Garland, Florence Nightingale, Hitler, and President Reagan.

According to Ms. Hammack it is still not late for you to join the team. For more information you can talk with Ms. Hammack or Ms. Alene Cornelius, junior varsity coach:

More Accelerated Reader tests available; all fiction on computer

by Glennys Pulliam

Ms. Janet Wells, librarian, reports she now has 11,000 books on the computer, including all the fiction books.

She is in the process of getting the new book order out and said, "When the books come in, not only will we have all those new books, but a disk for easy down loading of all the book titles."

Along with the new books will be more Accelerated Reader tests, which means students will have more of a selection to choose from.

One of the newest books on the shelves is The Ditchdigger's Daughter, and there are many new books by authors such as Lois Duncan, Agatha Christy, Louis L'Amour, Thomas Dygard and others.

Besides the great new selection of fiction, Ms. Wells said there are several new career books also available.

Spanish Club raises money for trip; to attend dance performance

The students in Spanish classes as well as the Spanish Club have been selling Mexican salsa, hot and spicy cheeses, chocolates, and other holiday fare to help lower some of the expenses so more students will be able to go on the Mexican trip their teacher Ms. Powell is planning for June.

Around 40 of Ms. Powell's Spanish students will be attending a Latin American dance performance at UK's Singletary Center for the Arts on Friday, October 31.

FHA sponsoring dances; painting pumpkin faces

FHA members are selling $6 discount cards which allow for up to 10% discount from various merchants.

Also officers are raising money for the national FHA meeting in Minneapolis, Minnesota in November by sponsoring school dances after home football games.

At the October club meeting members will be doing the traditional "Pumpkin Painting" with the pre-schoolers.

Rockettes work hard to help spirit

by Glennys Pulliam

"For your pregame enter-tainment, ladies and gentleman, The Rockettes!"

That's right! The dance team is back and working hard to be better than ever.

In July, they went to UK for a three-day dance camp where they learned 13 routines and were evaluated by the camp staff.

Students in band or JROTC know about drill downs. The dance team went through drill downs and won ribbons. At the end of camp, their ribbons were counted for points, and they won the "Superior" trophy.

Besides new members, there are a few changes in the dance team this year, and one significant change is practice.

"Each girl has to be evaluated individually before she can perfirm the routine," says Ms. Cindy Witt, one of the dance team coaches.

The team and coaches will be creating more routines this year, one of which will be a special Christmas routine, (which Ms. Witt wouldn't talk about).

They are also working on a routine to do with the band during a halftime show.

Although they are keeping the same uniforms, they are getting new warm-ups and plan on participating in the Christmas Parade.

The dance team is part of the spirit boosters and help by making posters to help the cheerleaders and athletes.

Members of the Rockettes dance team help generate Rocket spirit at the Homecoming pep rally. From right: Angie Murphy, Shannon Hess, Holly Machael, and Kacee Taulbee.

The other coach is Ms. Robyn Johnson and the captains are Shannon Hess and Angie Murphy. Other members are: Holly Machael, Bridgette Feltner, Denise Clark, Christina Hacker, Lindsey Hall, Kaycee Taulbee, Elizabeth Bullock, and Stephanie Dobbs.

'Honest John' to arrive after a four-year delay

by Cory Bailey

This year's seniors probably remember the article in The Rocket from their fresman year intitled "Honest John to be moved."

Almost four years later, however, the rocket still has not been moved, but according to Mr. Ronnie Cash, principal, progress is being

For those readers who don't know, "Honest John" is the large rocket located in front of what used to be the Rockcastle County High School, now the middle school.

Originally donated by the Bluegrass Army Depot as army surplus, the rocket was a symbol of school spirit and was often a focal point for pictures and student activities.

Mr. Ronnie Cash, had expected it to be in the spring of 1995; but other, more pressing matters had to be taken care of first. He said earlier this month, however, that it should be moved by the middle of the month after Mr. Glen VanWinkle, director of facilities management, works out the details with the contractor hired to move it.

Mr. VanWinkle said that the delay was due to the fact that the sign in front of the high school had to be raised and reset. He added, "I had intentions of doing it this summer, but since it didn't directly affect instruction or the curriculum, it got put off."

When brought before the school board recently, members decided to place the rocket near the sign at the end of the drive.

"It will be easier to put it there because there is already wiring for the lighting," said Mr. Cash.

Before it is moved, the rocket will be sand blasted and repainted, according to Mr. Cash, who also said it will be aimed toward the road and away from the school. "Just in case it goes off," Mr. Barry Noble, administrative assistant, added jokingly.

SBDM requests movie preview

However, because of a problem that arose last year over the showing of certain movies, the SBDM Council requests that teacher follow the following procedure: .

- C. Send parent consent form and have it signed.
- D. If they so choose, they may opt out and do another assignment.

- 5. All decisions made by the attendance committee will be final. According to committee members, students will only be required to take the test in classes they have missed. For example, if students have left school early too many times during fourth block, they might have to take a test in that class only.

We are not going to try to create a impossible test, but I feel as thought missing too much isn't fair. What are these students going to do when they have to get a job? If you are late to work or miss so many days in nine weeks, you're fired," said Mr. Chuck Cash.

"It's super and it's fair. I think it is going to be the most workable policy yet because the committee is made up of teachers, and they have to deal first-hand with attendance," Mr. Ronnie Cash, principal said.

Other members of the committee include teachers Debbie Cash, David Hansel, and David Riddle.

Becky Davis also contributed to this story.

October 28 set for Showcase

by Brad Jones

This year at the Rock something different is happening in October.

The staff at RCHS and the Public Engagement Committee are planning a schoolwide "showcase" on Tuesday evening, October 28.

The school will show off the work students have done in their classes, clubs, sports, and other extra-curricular activities.

Ms. Janet Wells, the school libarian and a member of the committee said everyone. students, parents of students and the community is invited to attend the event.

"We hope to have a lot of students and teachers involved in the preparation this year. We have asked for all teachers to display their students' work," said Ms Wells

Along with Ms. Wells, Ms. Jill Ponder, Ms. Janice Miller, Mr. Dale Whitaker, Mr. Charles Norris, Major David Donathon, Sargent Major Keith Taylor, and Ms. Dianna Waddle make up this committee.

Student teacher has dream of becoming a writer

by Susan Brown

To teach, or not to teach?

That is the question that often runs through a student teacher's mind.

The question sometimes can be answered, while the college student is getting the needed experience in the classroom.

Miss Amy Grigsby, a senior education major at Berea College, has decided to teach, but she is undecided about whether or not she should go to graduate school.

Miss Grigsby said she definitely wants to further her education and thinks she might even get her doctorate degree and become a college professor.

"My goal," she said," is to make a difference in students' lives. If I can make a difference in only one student's life, it would still be worth it."

She also wants to take time to travel to Europe, Africa, and other places and to write and take pictures. Miss Grigsby said she would really, really love to write a book.

From Bullitt County in Northern Kentucky, Ms. Grigsby attended Bullitt East High School where she was a member of FBLA. Beta Club, National Honors Society, and FHA. At Berea she is a member of the English Honor Society and People Who Care.

Her hobbies include reading, creative writing, singing, and photography. Miss Grigsby can speak Spanish, but she says she can understand it better than she can speak it.

She has been to Mexico about seven times. After she graduated from high school, she spent two months there teaching English to six and seven year olds. "This was fun, but very difficult," she said.

"Everybody seems nice and very helpful to me," Miss Grigsby said of RCHS. She said she first thought the building looked like a science museum because of the design. She said meeting Mr. Cash made her feel at ease.

Miss Grigsby is student teaching with Ms. Iris Young, senior English teacher.

Fire victims receive relief from RCHS students

Kristy Lovell, junior sorts through clothing and other items donated by RCHS students for the Rockcastle Villa fire victims, as part of a community service project headed by the Y-Club. The Y-Club and other clubs and organizations joined in this project to aid those 16 families who lost their homes, as well as all their clothing, furniture, and all other household items in the September 28th blaze. On October 2nd, several Y-Club members and their parents delivered five truckloads of donated items to the fire victims. Y-Club sponsor, Ms. Debbie Coleman explained that the grateful residents sorted through the items, keeping those they needed. Almost all of the donated goods were immediately taken and residents repeatedly thanked RCHS students for their kindness and generosity.

Spiritual life important to many at the Rock

Even though the U.S. Supreme Courtruled in 1962 to outlaw state offically sponsored prayer in public schools, students around the country have been finding ways to celebrate their love for Christ.

As long as it is student initiated and not the project of adults or staff, students may pray or worship at school.

The ban on school prayer has had little if any effect on RCHS students' enthusiasm for spiritual expression at school.

They wear WWJD bracelets, have early morning prayer group, participate in the national Sec You at the Pole, and have growing FCA membership.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

The Fellowship of Christan Athletes (FCA) is the only Christian club at RCHS.

Matt Smith, a sophomore who joined FCA this year, said he joined "...because I'm a Christian." He said he wanted to fellowship with other Christians.

During the monthly FCA meetings members pray, listen to guest speakers, watch Christian music videos, and sometimes volunteer to sing.

Mr. Jason Wilson, sponsor, said, "FCA meetings give members a chance to be refreshed and evaluate what is important. We have good speakers the students enjoy and they give good messages."

Speakers have included Cameron Mills, UK basketball player, and Steele Harmon, area director of FCA.

"The speakers are very inspirational and they make my day better because I like to hear about God," said Denise Clark, a junior FCA member.

Junior Inace Evans said she joined FCA for "the atmosphere." He said he enjoys being around other Christian people.

Mr. Wilson projects that membership will be 150-170 this year.

Craig Sowder is president and Andy Hale is vice-president. They, along with Billy Kirby, treasurer, are responsible for preparing for all of the meetings.

Students gather around the flagpole in front of the building for the See You at the Pole day.

WWJD bracelets popular

A new faith-related fad at the Rock this year is the WWJD bracelet.

The letters stand for What Would Jesus Do and are designed to help students focus on Christian values and on doing what is right.

The half-inch cloth bracelets, woven from heavy cotton thread, come in a variety of colors of contrasting tones,

According to Jamie Owens, a senior, WWJD bracelets have been around for a while, but when they were sold at the last Rocketown, they really became popular.

The one sophomore Lindsy Hall wears was given to her by her youth group leader. "To me, it means that He would do anything for us to show us that he loves us."

Gina Anderson, a junior, said her bracelet "...makes me want to treat others the way Jesus would."

"I feel it symbolizes my beliefs and is a good reminder," said Leighanne Seals, a senior. "Also, it is a great way to witness to people."

Jaci Durham, a junior, said, "If you're ever in a situation you don't know what to do, think about WWJD and model yourself the way Jesus would want you to."

WWJD bracelets can be purchased at most bookstores for around $1.50. Bible Baptist Church will be selling them at the next Rocketown as well.

See You at the Pole

This year about 180 students, faculty, and staff attended the RCHS "See You at the Pole," according to FCA sponsor and math teacher Mr. Jason Wilson.

See You at the Pole is an event that takes place every September 17 at 7:30 a.m. in front of flag poles at schools nationwide.

During the 20 minutes, students held hands and prayed together for their nation's leaders, their school, their classmastes, and themselves.

"I thought it was great that so many people from our school came together to honor Jesus Christ," said Senior Jamie Owens, one of five students who sang "Thy Word" and "Keep the Candle Burning by Point of Grace.

Another student who sang "Thank You" was sophomore Matt Smith who thought the event was "awesome."

Many students like Andy Hale, vicepresident of FCA were really pleased with the turnout. Andy felt the student speakers were inspirational.

Craig Sowder and Cheyenne Carmack spoke about David and Goliath and read the poem, "Night Before Jesus Came."

Beth Blanton was also pleased with the event. "There were a lot more people this year than there were two years ago."

Shannon Hess, a senior, felt the gathering was very uplifting. "It makes you realize how many people really care," she said.

See You at the Pole started a few years ago with students from a school in Texas who decided to set aside one day a year to pray for their school. It has expanded until now it is nationwide.

For more information on See You at the Pole, check in on their web site at: WWW. SYATP. com.

Prayer Group meets 10 minutes every morning

The RCHS Prayer Group is not officially related to FCA, but was started six or seven years ago by Andy Martin (a former student who is now a minister) and friends.

Prayer Group meetings are every morning at 7:50-8:00 in front of the auditorium before classes begin.

During this ten minutes, the 15-20 who attend have opening prayer, followed by a short message by a volunteer, and then a closing prayer.

Students who attend feel it adds spirituality to their school life.

Craig Sowder, a junior who attends daily, said, "It is good to know we have the opportunity to meet and worship God and nobody can say anything to us about it, and it's good to know you have friends who will be there for you."

Cheyenne Carmack said, "It helps when others see here are some of us who don't care to stand up for what we believe."

Most of the Prayer Group say they benefit spiritually from it.

"I have a better day if I come," said Jessica Cobb.

Brittany Owens said, "It gives you encouragement."

Ashley Holt and Nathan DeLeon bow their heads for closing prayer at morning Prayer Group near the auditorium.

One-fourth of class of 1998 dropped out

by Jamica Bradshaw

Senior life - senior pictures...portfolio...prom....ACT... college applications....job applications.... graduation... the future.

But what about the 59 students missing from this year's senior class? Those students who dropped out sometime during the first three years of high school.

In the fall semester of 1994, 234 freshmen registered; now in 1997, there is only 175 seniors (not considering the students who do not have enough credits to be a senior.)

Where are these 59 would-be seniors? Why did one-fourth the class choose to drop out? Did they really hate school that bad? Was it not really their choice? Did circumstances stand in their way of finishing school?

Kenny Bustle's Story

Kenny Bustle, a junior (who should be a senior) made the decision to drop out of school when he was a sophomore. His reason for dropping out, "I got tired of school, I thought I was too grown-up to listen."

Kenny wasn't legally able to quit school until the age of sixteen, so he went on "home school" for a couple of months. Instead of coming back to Rockcastle, he decided to attend North Laurel High School, but that didn't last long. His car broke down, and he had no transportation, so he quit school again.

It wasn't until last year that he decided to continue his education. Kenny won't be able to graduate with the class of 1998; he will have to attend summer school and then nine weeks of school next fall.

Kenny feels he needs school and he is determined to go on to college (EKU.)

Bill Cromer's Story

Bill Cromer, who should have graduated last year, also made the decision to—quit school. His reasonings were about the same as Kenny's. Bill said he was lazy. He had missed 47 days of school, had already failed his classes and felt that there was no point in continuing.

"My father encouraged me to come back to school," he said. Bill said, "I regret dropping out. It's harder on me this year having to make up so many classes that I failed."

Bill will be graduating with the class of 1998.

David Smith's Story

David Smith dropped out twice. The first time he was not yet 16 and the courts sent him back. The second time he came back on his

"I didn't think school was important," he said. But when he got a job for Renner and Sons carrying mortar and rock, he decided to return to school.

"I didn't make any money and it was hard. I found out I didn't want to do that all my life."

David's classmates graduated last year; he will graduate with the class of '98.

Many dropouts, however, do not return to school. Some get their GED as soon possible, some get jobs, and some do neither. Many work in the area at fast-food restaurants or other low-paying jobs.

Mr. Barry Noble, administrative assistant, said he feels it is often a decision made without considering all cons.

"It is easy now to choose to quit, but it becomes more difficult later in life," said Mr. Noble. "We admit school can be tough, but it's meant to be that way, and I promise you that no matter how hard school is, the real world is 10 times harder."

Students who want to drop out and drive have found a way -home school.

Ms. Jill Ponder (whose job as family service worker at Rockcastle County High School is to help students with problems that cause them to drop out) feels the main reason for student drop outs is family situations. "Some families," she said, "have financial there are other reasons like pregnancy,

and behavior

--Bill Cromer

"The biggest reason I think we have the number of dropouts is because we have increased the academic standards. When ever you do this, some people can't adjust," Mr. Dale Whitaker, guidance counselor, said.

To be able to quit school is a long process. The student is supposed to view videos and, by law, there is a 60-day waiting period during which a student has to attend school or be referred to the court system for truancy.

Dropping out at the age of 16 means the student is not allowed to get a driver's license, according to the laws in Kentucky.

Students who want to drop out and drive have found a way to go around this, however--home school. If students do not withdraw on home school, their names will be sent to the Central Office, and from there they will be released to the court. If a drop out already has a license it can be revoked.

According to Ms. Ponder, our school offers programs to encourage students to stay in school.

In one program, a person at the central office becomes a mentor (or special friend) to a student who is considered at-risk of dropping out. They encourage them and, if needed, help them with school work.

There are also peer helpers, or students helping students.

Ms. Ponder said she also makes a lot of home visits. "I give them attention and check up on them," Ms. Ponder says.

Mr. Ronnie Cash, principal, said the drop out rate is a real problem statewide. He said, à state legislative committee on education is studying the problem and is expected to recommend measures to helb.

Mr. Cash feels like one reason students drop out is that they are working and making money.

He also said, "I'm amazed and alarmed at the number of kids who drop out because they don't want to conform, and at the number of parents who allow them to."

Why do students drop out?

Matt Sowder - I think the reason most students drop out is they don't have parents that support them in school.

Amanda Lee Smith - It is the plain and simple fact of laziness. It's just too hard to get up that early in the morning.

Kent Smith - I think it's because they mess up in some way and possibly need to stay at home if they have a child, or just don't want to be here.

John LaFevers - They just don't have any interest in it.

Miranda Philbeck - They get pregnant and don't think they can handle school and having a baby at the same time.

Evelyn Clines - They are too sorry to gounless they are working. I don't know of any good reasons.

Crystal Bush -They can't handle the pressure of school work and the responsibility.

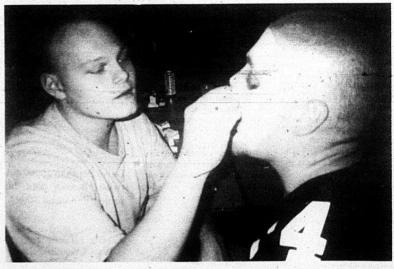

Kim Allen - They may think they can get a head start on us in getting a job.

WWF has found new contender in The Patriot

by Jimmy Payne

The World Wrestling Federation has done it again! Turned a WCW nobody into a WWF star.

Former two-time WCW world tag team champion, The Patriot, has now made quite a name for himself in the WWF.

The Patriot has all that it takes to become a star, emotion, skill, flashy costume, and a reason to fight for what he believes in.

The Patriot is one of many wrestlers that the WWF has turned into stars, with victories over Vader, Owen Hart, and even the current WWF champion Bret Hart.

The WWF has found itself a brand new contender.

Gangs dominating wrestling

Shawn Michaels, Hunter Hearst Helmsley, Chyna, and Rick Rude are the new clique of the World Wrestling Federation. It seems that these days that gangs are taking over everywhere, especially in the wrestling scene.

With the NWO, the Hart Foundation, the NOD, the DOA, and the Los Boricuas everything is being ruled by these gangs.

After War Games Ric Flair found out that he couldn't trust anybody, he disbanded his gang, The Four Horseman.

These gangs ruling the wrestling scene are starting to get very old. Thise wrestling a lot better when it is one-on-one or tag team, right now I think wrestlers are starting to realize it is the men without gangs that are starting to shine and as more men such as Stone Cold, Sting, and Ric Flair are starting to get popular, hopefully the superstars of wrestling will realize that they are better off on their own.

There are two men in particular that I wish would wake up and dump their gang. Do Scott Hall and Kevin Nash not realize they are watching the parade pass them by?

In 1995, if you had asked anybody in the world who they thought the best wrestler in the world was, most likely it would have been Diesel (Nash), and Razor (Hall) would not have been far behind.

Now two of the best wrestlers in the world are settling for a lousy tag belt and are wrestling like a couple of ham-n-eggers.

If just Diesel would wrestle like I know he can in WCW who could beat him?

Luger? Diesel beat him in '94.

Hogan? It would be like Larry Holmes' annihilation of an aging Muhammad Ali in 1980.

Sting? Maybe, if he would quit acting like Brandon Lee.

Raven? Maybe if he was still Johnny Polo. Yeah, right.

The Giant? We all saw what a jacknife die to him at Super Brawl VII.

Ric Flair? We all know that Flair is the real icon of wrestling, but I doubt he still has the skill.

Hopefully, within a couple of months Kevin Nash will be the NWO/WCW World Heavyweight Champion, and we will all have forgotten Hollywood Hogan's long disgraceful reign.

A tribute to Pillman

On October 5, 1997 the sport of wrestling suffered a great loss. Brian Pillman passed away of a drug overdose in his hotel room.

Pillman was a great superstar of wrestling, while in WCW he was known for his aerial skill. Pillman was the first-ever WCW light heavyweight champion and the only man to have ever held the title twice.

Pillman was also a member of one of the greatest tag teams of the '90's, along with Steve Austin. They were known as the Hollywood Blondes and as tag team champions they wreaked havoc among the WCW tag team scene.

Since entering WWF Pillman had given upon his high flying skills, but his feud with Goldust and Marlena is memorable.

We will never forget the character, the craziness, and the voice of Brian Pillman. The Loose Cannon will be missed by all.

Ring brings luciato Coach by Tonya Hale

Over the summer, Mr. Tom Larkey, head football coach, feels he had the chance of a lifetime; he was selected to be assistance coach for the Kentucky All Star Seniors football team.

The head football coaches of Kentucky high school teams vote annually for the coaches of this select group of players.

According to Mr. Larkey, the team stayed on the UK campus and practiced on their field for a week, then traveled to Tennessee for the games.

The experience, he said, was great. "I got to see the best players from the state do what they do the best." He also learned new drills from other coaches.

For his work, Mr. Larkey got a gift of appreciation from the Balfour Company, an All-Star ring.

He said the ring, which has a large blue stone, didn't replace any other ring; however, he feels that his ring has become his lucky charm because the Rockets have won every game since he started wearing it.

He did not wear it to the first game of the season when the team was defeated by South Laurel.

But Coach Larkey said, "It must be on the same hand and be put on the same way."
