

Service Learning Tutors Support Instruction

What is Service Learning?

The Center for Service Learning/Literacy Programs defines Service Learning as a powerful teaching methodology used by teachers to actively engage students in fulfilling academic expectations by meeting community needs through meaningful service.

Service learning is initially a difficult concept for people to understand. That is because people have many personal experiences with and prior knowledge about community service and volunteerism which stress service. They immediately think of service learning as volunteerism (and get excited about the developmental benefits of such a program—empathy, an ethic of service, moral development, etc.) If there is one thing educators most need to learn in this field, it is the distinction between community service and service learning.

What most people miss is that service learning is the blending of both service and learning goals in such a way that both occur and are enriched by each other. Service learning projects emphasize both sets of outcomes—the service and learning—and design the activities accordingly. Most prominently, programs that emphasize learning always include a strong reflective component where students utilize higher order thinking skills to make sense of and extend the formal learning from the service experience.

Implementation of service learning projects

All service learning projects are composed of four stages: preparation, action, reflection and celebration.

Preparation— the involvement of students in learning activities prior to the service itself. Students must understand what is expected of them as well as what they can expect from the project. Preparation includes the following: (1) identify, research and analyze issues (2) select a project (3) plan the project (4) learn the necessary skills.

Action— the service itself must be meaningful; have academic integrity, have adequate supervision; promote for student ownership; be developmentally appropriate.

Types of service

•DIRECT SERVICE: examples of projects are tutoring, mentoring, visiting the elderly

•INDIRECT SERVICE: examples of projects are drives, collections, fundraisers, clean-ups, construction, environmental

•ADVOCACY: examples of projects are lobbying, speaking, performing Reflection— enables students to think critically about their service experience. Reflection time is a structure opportunity for students to learn from their experiences through: 1) observation 2) asking questions 3) putting facts, ideas and experiences together to add new meaning to them all 4) discussion 5) reading 6) writing.

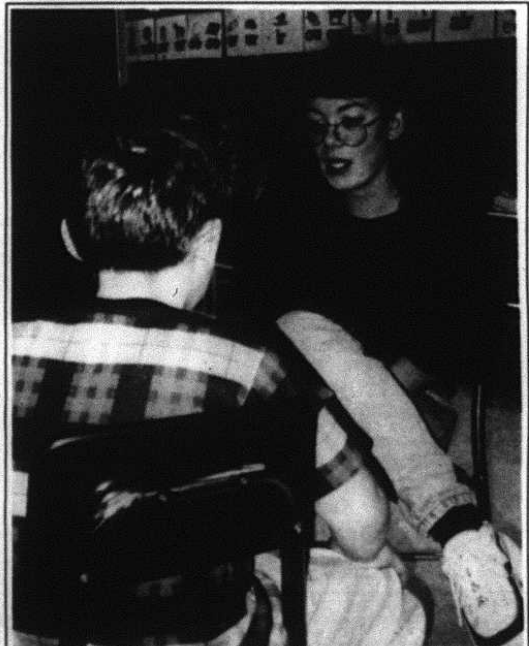

Celebration— recognizes students for their contributions and provides closure for service learning project. The celebration component of service learning can be implemented with: 1) special school recognition program 2) special media coverage 3) joint celebration with service recipients 4) certificates 5) pizza parties 6) community recognition program.

March proclaimed Youth Art Month

Youth Art Month is an annual observance each March to emphasize the value of art education for all children and to encourage support for quality school arts programs. This year, Youth Art Month in Rockcastle County began with County Judge Executive Buzz Carloftis signing a proclamation declaring such at the Rockcastle County Middle School surrounded by students. When asked about the importance of Youth Art Month, Judge Carlotlis stated, "This is a way to increase community, business and governmental support for art education, to recognize art as a necessary for the full development of a better quality of life for all people and to recognize art education as a viable component in the total education curricula that ~~develops citizens of a~~ global society." Throughout the month of March, county businesses along with area schools are encouraged to display student work and sponsor art related activities.

According to Rockcastle County Basic Arts Coordinator, H. Allen Pensol,

"March is the perfect time to recognize Art education as KIRIS Assessment is scheduled for April. March is also 'Music In Our Schools Month' and 'Theatre In Our Schools Month'."

As students prepare for the assessment period, teachers and administrators are continuously directing attention to the value of arts education which develops technical and communication skills along with divergent and critical thinking while promoting multi-cultural awareness.

The Rockcastle County School System encourages all citizens to visit schools during Youth Art Month and view some of the works students are producing. If you or your business would like to help recognize Youth Art Month, contact your local school and find ways you can support Arts Education in Rockcastle County.

One group of students, representing the United States of America, received the prestigious "Best Country Award" for best representing their country's current government, political parties, philosophies, history, culture, religious practices, economy, imports-exports, work force, daily life and total delegation involvement. Four student proposal authors were recognized by having their proposals from Bangladesh and the USA ranked among the top 16 proposals presented at KUNA. Rockcastle County businesses and Rockcastle County High School teaching students skills today for tomorrow's jobs

Local businesses and Rockcastle County High School have teamed up to work together to help students make a successful transition from school to career through the school's co-op program. Co-op means businesses and schools cooperate together to benefit the students.

Students in the program attend school for half a day and then are released to go to their various work sites to work the rest of the day. Students in the program get high school credit while working at their job sites. Students not only learn in school but also get working experience, and apply what they have learned in school to real working conditions.

The following businesses are participating in the co-op program along with the student or students they have working for them.

Summer School

Teachers, we are gearing up for our July summer school program. We just did a mass mail out to all parents offering them the opportunity to place their child in our July Program. We had a great response. Now, I need your help. Look over your list and make recommendations of any children that you believe would benefit from summer school. We'll check back with you on what their needs are. Please drop these names in Mrs. Osborne's mailbox at the elementary schools, or in Mr. Napier's box at RCMS or RCHS. Mrs. Osborne and I put an updated list of our children in your boxes last week. Thank you for your help.

Success

The Mister Rogers sweater drive was a huge success. We want to thank KET and Geraldine Robbins at the Rockcastle County Library for the help. We appreciate all of you who helped get the word out and especially all of you who donated from your hearts. The sweaters have continually been given out through the Migrant Program. Remember, we'll take donations anytime.

Hiring Summer Teachers and Assistants

We're continuing plans for summer school for our Migrant student body for July of 1998. If you are interested in teaching or being an aid during this summer session, please call Mrs. Powell as soon as you read this newsletter. (Call 256-2125 for Loretta Powell) This will be the only notice sent out. Priority will be given to staff members who have participated in the past. Staffing the program will be made by the last of April. Thanks for your interest in the Migrant Program.

STUDENT INVOLVEMENT

We'd like to thank the Rockcastle County High School FHA Club and their teacher, Renee Smith, also the Beta Club and their sponsor, Becky Taylor, for their donations to the sweater drive. It's a wonderful feeling to know that young people care and are getting involved with the Migrant Program. Thank you, students, very much for your help with this project.

Rockcastle Manufacturing

We would like to thank Mr. Tandy Pedigo, Rockcastle Manufacturing Company, for his support of the Migrant Program. To aid our efforts in helping the children in our program, he has allowed us to purchase pants, in sizes that we do not normally have available, at a reduced price. Thank you, Mr. Pedigo and the Rockcastle Manufacturing Company.

Regional Meeting

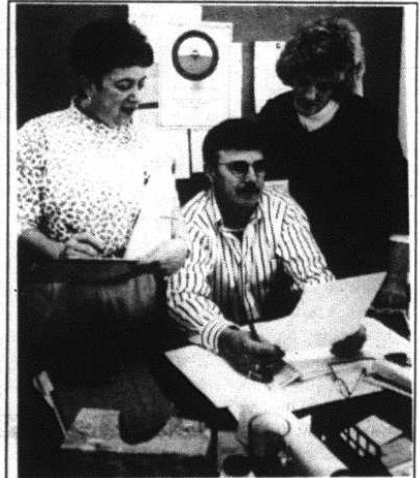

A staff meeting was held at the Madison County Schools Central Office on Thursday, February 12, concerning the Migrant Needs Assessment and Consolidated Planning. Loretta Powell, Charlie Napier, Pat Bryant, and Linda Osborne attended the meeting and have been working on the Needs Assessment survey for Rockcastle County.

Home Visits

Many times during the school year teachers have questions or concerns about certain students in their classes that may only be addressed through a home visit. Teachers, we realize that it is impossible for you to make these visits, but we want to let you know that if the student is on the Migrant Program we might be able to help. Just call us a 256-2157 or let us know when we visit your school. We want to work with you to make the school experience as successful as possible for both the students and you.

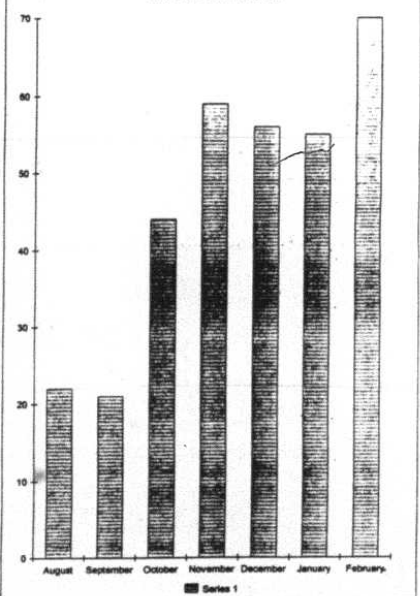

Recognition

We want to thank First Baptist Church in Mt Vernon for Outstanding service to families in this community. Thanks Migrant Advocates, Linda Osborne, Charlie Napier, Recruiter Pat Bryant.

Technology Classes Offered

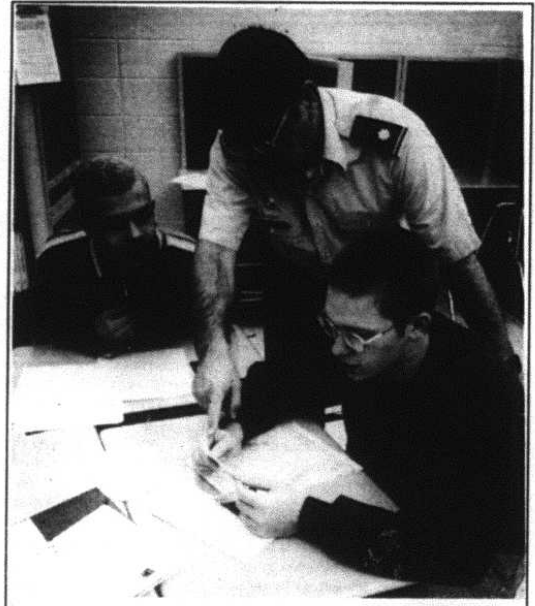

Technology is offered to the Rockcastle County community through the collaborative efforts of the Rockcastle County High School Youth Services Center, the Migrant Program, and a parent volunteer. The six-session class is coordinated through Jill Ponder, YSC Coordinator, and is taught by Jerry Burke, parent volunteer, and Charlie Napier, Migrant Advocate. Participants will learn about the Windows operating system, use of a word processor, spreadsheet for practical use, use of the multimedia power of the personal computer, and how to use the Internet. This is the third year for the class. It is offered once during the Fall semester and again in the Spring semester.

Rockcastle JROTC Share Success

Rockcastle County High School Army Junior ROTC Cadets were invited to exhibit their integrated curriculum projects at the 1998 Kentucky School Boards Association Conference in Louisville, KY. These projects are exemplary examples of units of study designed to incorporate multiple subjects into interesting and challenging projects which emphasize the Kentucky Education Reform Act's desired outcomes, bring together core skills, and enable students to produce tangible products. The RCHS faculty has joined with the ROTC program in completing the "Technology and the American Military" project. This project, which was highlighted at a national teacher training conference, combines English, research, math, science and technological skills in requiring students to produce a flyable scale model of a military missile or aircraft. In addition to the consolidated learning applications, students are able to gain personal confidence in the "hands on" building and launching of their replica. Supplementing this established project is the on-going "Military History of Rockcastle County" project which incorporates many of the same learning objectives as the technology project, but which is designed to produce both a published compilation of the County's military veterans and a series of military history picture quilts. This unique project combines traditional Kentucky arts, state-of-the-art desktop publishing, and practical skills with an in-depth community involvement that reinforces community and school ties.

Major David Donthan and students discuss research for Military History of Rockcastle County project.

ASSESSMENT INFORMATION FOR 1997-98

As Kentucky's assessment program has progressed, assessment of certain content areas of the KIRIS On-Demand test has changed grade levels. Specifically, the assessment now includes grades 4, 5, 7, 8, 11 and 12 so that data can be obtained from a larger student base in a given year while student testing time at a given grade level can be reduced. (Table 2-A below outlines the grades and content areas to be assessed in 1997-98.)

President clears way for county to get funds

Federal disaster funds have been approved to help communities in nine Kentucky counties, including Rockcastle, recover from the effects of the snow storm of 1998, according to the head of the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

FEMA Director James Lee Witt said the aid was authorized under President Clinton's major disaster declaration issued last Tuesday night because of the damage done to public property during the February snow storm.

Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Buzz Carloftis said the news was certainly welcome.

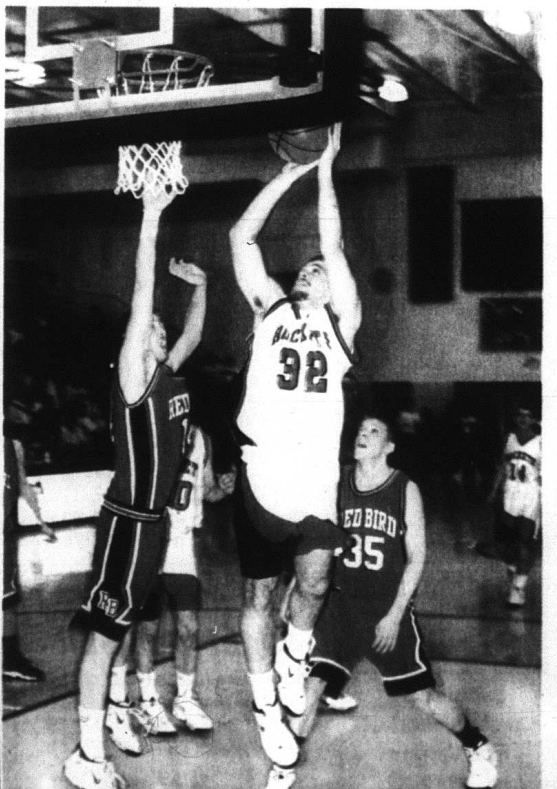

"We estimated the cost of clean-up here at $167,000, then the federal man estimated it at $257,000, but I would be willing to say that it will be more like a half million when it is all said and done," Carloftis said.

The Judge Executive said that he will meet with a representative from the federal government on Thursday to begin the huge paper work trail that will eventually lead to the reimbursement of eighty-seven percent of the county's losses during the storm.

Carloftis said that seventy-five percent of the money for the huge clean-up would come from the fed-

PRIBICIOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and expositions from the windy Weald of Wab'd, home of the late Othar L. Scobin, Sr., long-time Director of Wab'd's Center for the Performing Arts, and part-time collector of funeral home fans, who said, "A bird in hand could make it more difficult to blow your nose."

At the corner, where're that corner may be. Even if like Adam's wooly worm calls for more snow in March, the budding, blooming season is upon us, awakening us out of our winter doldrums. Spring indeed! That time of year when a young man's fancy turns to what the young girls have been thinking about all winter long. Spring is the time for building, although construction did not abate much this past winter because we didn't have a winter! And for that reason the renovation of Wab'd's beloved Cinemaporium in downtown Wab'd, directly across the square from the Tomb of the Unknown Taxpayer, is ninety-nine percent complete -- and will open Saturday April 11, the Almighty willing.

In an interview with Director Othar L. Scobin, Jr. last week, I learned that the first week's ticket prices will emulate -- for the opening week -- those of our childhood: Children -- nine cents and everyone twelve and over -- twenty-five cents. And popcorn -- "riced a base!" And get this! The first week of flicks will emulate the schedule of the Cinemaporium of the forties and fifties, i.e., four films per week, and five when Saturday offers a "double feature" western. Furthermore, Director Scobin and the Cinemaporium Board elected to feature a slate of Charlton Heston films during opening week.

John Wayne was strongly considered, but because you can turn on your television any time of day or night and catch "the Duke," the board opted for a Heston Fest. And I, your faithful and indefatigable reporter -- excluding spells of maniacal lumbar rascality -- was able to get the scoop on the lineup for the week. It goes like this:

Saturday, April 11
Shootout at the Sundance Saloon with Yvonne de Carlo and Fuzzy St. John and starring a rising star
Charlton Heston
as
The Colorado Kid
Serial "Clap 9" - "The Desert Ghaz" starring Gilbert Roland

It just occurred to me, dear hearts, that giving you the Cinemaporium schedule for the entire week in one offering might overwhelm you. So, allow me to intersperse news from Wab'd as we move along.

My friend, Charlie Drudleather, tells me that Harmony Chapel Church, out on Big Split Road, held another business meeting last week, with Sheriff Matt Lasterson present to maintain order. And the congregation voiced (53 yes - 9 nay) by secret ballot to purchase robes for choir members, the organist and pianist, and a special robe for the pastor to wear on special occasions like weddings, funerals, christenings, and eccommunications.

And word has it that Alameda Shooettler left infuriated, but before she exited she asked to be recognized by the moderator. Holding on to the door handle she said, "Yon poor souls have made a grave mistake. I'm sure God is put out with you. And since my word isn't worth a red cent around here, I'm gonna take up fellowship with the Campbellites of Dimpole Street. Those people know how to dress to meet the King."

Sunday & Monday - April 12, 13
featuring
Vincent Price and Shirley MacLaine and starring
Charlton Heston
as
El Greco
who with Goya and Velasquez completed a masterpiece considered to be the scene of Spanish art.
Filmed entirely on location in Spain with a cast of thousands.
Directed by Pedro Jose de Vega

In other news WHAM (the Wab'donian Hierarchical Alliance of Ministers) held its February colloquy and penned a resolution to be presented for approval to all Wab'd-allyed churches. If approved, women must wear hats, scarves, or veils in worship services, morning and evening, thereby fulfilling the admonition of the apostle Paul who adjured the women of Corinth to cover their heads in church, and by all means to let their hair grow long. Short cuts are out.

Paul went so far as to say it is shameful -- ya verily, disgraceful -- for a woman to enter a church with her head uncovered.

The bottom line to the apostle's warning to the women, beloved, is the fact that women with heads uncovered are more susceptible to being seduced by "good time" angels, like John Travolta. And being women, they are by nature weaker and more apt to be seduced. They, however, would have nothing to fear from angels like Michael Landolt. But I'm not so sure about Denzil Washington. He almost lost it with Whitney Houston. He's apt to slip any day now.

Men, however, should never cover their heads because their hair is their glory, not unlike God's glory. But what if a man is bald? I take the apostle's injunction to mean that if a man doesn't have hair on his head, he ought to go out and buy some so he can worship with a pat of glory. You can read all about it, dear hearts, in 1 Corinthians 11:1ff. WHAM is to be commended for its resolution. Just think where our churches would be if that venerable body were taken seriously more often!

Tuesday - Wednesday - April 14, 15
El Cid
featuring
that beautiful, beautiful, beautiful
Italian Beauty Italo
Sophia Loren
as the outstanding Charlton Heston
Rodrigo of Bivax, Spain's hero who defied the invading Moorish hordes -- and became a legend -- El Cid!

The local chapter of the Followers of Pythagoras (FOP) did not hold their annual February dinner meeting because of the big snow. They have rescheduled the meal and program for April 9 at 6:00 p.m. in the west wing of Wab'd's Civic Center. FOP invites non-Pythagoreans to attend the evening's activities and learn more about the chapter and its purpose. The meal is free if you make reservation by March 31. (Call 256-2325)

FOP is characterized by four main tenets:

1. belief in the transmigration of the soul;
2. sharing of communal goods and property;
3. and adherence to strict moral maxims;
4. and abstinence from eating beans.

Thursday - Friday - April 16, 17

One in 20 of these people will get colon cancer in their lifetime.

(But, 20 in 20 won't talk about it.)

We know it's hard to face the facts about colon cancer, but here they are:

- Colon cancer claims 55,000 lives every year -- enough to fill Rupp Arena twice.
- Colon cancer is the second leading cause of cancer-related deaths in the U.S., just behind lung cancer.
- Your chances of developing colon cancer increase as you get older.

Early detection increases your chances of surviving colon cancer as much as 80 percent.

That's why Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center has declared March "Colon Cancer Awareness Month."

So stop by the hospital or your local pharmacy, to pick up a free colon cancer screening kit, courtesy of us. The results are confidential and mailed directly to your doctor.

I Can't Find The Time

The four women had known each other for years. As they say at lunch one day, they talked about the lack of time in their lives. "I know I need to exercise," Susie said, "but I just can't find the time." (All characters are fictitious.)

"I wish I could spend more time with my husband," Janie added. "We haven't had a night away from the kids in years!"

"If I could find the time," Margaret chimed in, "I would read and meditate every day. I used to do that, and I felt so good when I did."

"It wouldn't matter to me what I did with the time," Helen said, "I would just like to find the time to do something for myself. It seems that all I do is take care of other people!"

These women are not the only ones who have bemoaned the lack of time to do what they want. A similar discussion has taken place many times among other groups.

Although they complained about the lack of time, these four women were not able to come up with any ideas for finding more time. They left their luncheon still having the same problem as when they came: not enough time.

Could it be that they are "barking up the wrong tree"? Will they ever be able to find more time? No, they will never find any extra time. In fact looking for more time is what is keeping them from finding a solution. They are blessed with the same amount of time as everyone else, twenty-four hours per day. No matter how hard they look, they will never find another hour or even another second to add to their day.

If finding time is not the solution, then what is? Each of them will have to make the time to do what is important to them. Each will have to carve a chunk of time out of her busy schedule. The time will not magically appear; it must be made.

The key to carving time from a busy schedule is priorities, priorities, and priorities. What is most important to each of these women? Exercise, family time and quiet time are at the top of their lists. Each of them will have to give up some other activity to make time for her priority.

This truth became obvious to me again in the weight loss class that I teach. Each participant made time for the weekly meeting of that class for a month. These people, with their hectic schedules, carved two-and-a-half hours out of each Tuesday night. They wanted to do it, and they made it happen. At the end of the class, I encouraged them to keep some of that time, available for themselves. These class members had proven that time can be made.

One thing that helped them make the time for class was the commitment they had made to other people to be there. Making time for exercise may be easier if there is a friend involved. If Susie's friend is waiting to her go walking, Susie is more likely to go than if she is the only one involved.

Time is not found. It is made.

Oops! My time is gone. I must go buy a roll of canvas so Nancy can set up our lettuce bed. Until next week, beloved, keep your lamps trimmed and your powder dry, say a King James word now and then, be kind to strangers and animals (who might be angels in disguise), don't peep during prayers, by all means use a good deodorant, and remember to wash behind your ears.

And while you're doing all that, ponder some words of wisdom from Harry Emerson Fosdick, a most wise and liberal preacher of the first part of this near gone century, who best I can tell never visited Wabed, but would have been even wiser had he done so. Said he: "Hating people is like burning down your own house to get rid of a rat."

$100,000 more funding needed

Board votes to keep pre-school program as is

The Rockcastle County Board of Education had a crowded agenda before them Tuesday night for their regular monthly meeting, held at the high school. But one of those items, additional funding for the pre-school program, consumed the major part of the meeting. The discussion ended with the board going against Superintendent Larry Hammond's recommendation and voting to serve all students in the program (qualifiers and non-qualifiers).

The motion came after Tammy Gabbard, pre-school coordinator, told the board that a shortfall in enrollment at the December 1, 1997 count date was less than expected and the program would have to repay $50,000 of the funding received from the state for the 1997-98 school year. The program received $228,000 in operating money that year but will receive only $175,000 for the 1998-99 school year because of the negative adjustment in enrollment and, of this amount ($175,000), $50,000 will have to be used to repay the state for the shortfall in enrollment for the previous year.

In 1997-98, the program served 85 qualified pre-schoolers and 39 non-qualified children with a budget of about $290,000. Of this amount, $228,000 was received from the state, $30,000 from federal funds and $30,000 from the school board for supplies, playground equipment, technology, etc. In addition, the local district spends about $30,000 a year on expenses to transport the pre-schoolers and from school.

The count for qualifiers in the 1996-97 budget was 101, compared to 85 for the most recent year, and Mrs. Gabbard told the board that an analysis she had made showed that the shortfall occurred in the student count from the Family Life Child Development Center (FLCDC). In the 1996-97 school year, FLCDC contributed 19 children to the qualified count and in the 1997-98 school year, only seven children were included in the count for qualified children. Gabbard told the board that because she was on maternity leave during the months preceding the head count on December 1, the necessary paper work through the school system was not accomplished in coordination with the FLCDC causing the shortfall.

The bottom line to the discussion was that the board would either have to come up with an additional $100,000 (besides the $30-33,000 they already give the program), or would have to cut back the program to serve only students who qualify. There are two ways for children, beginning at the age of three, to be a qualifier. One is by income and the other is through a disability. The program has a ratio of one teacher for each 10 qualifying students and there are currently four certified teachers and six and one-half instructional assistants. With this number of personnel, 39 non-qualified students were served by the program last year.

To make up the difference in the funds available, the board could have voted to cut out the non-qualified student or voted a tuition charge for non-qualified students. The tuition charge was immediately dismissed by all involved in the discussion so it came down to whether or not the board would use $100,000 from the general fund or cut the program back to qualifiers only, thereby allowing the board to cut staff by one certified teacher and three instructional assistants (two of the instructional assistants would be from the program at the hospital and from the homebased part of the program, neither of which had an enrollment for the 1997-98 school year).

Board member Sherry Isaacs expressed her support for the program and for keeping it as is, with the board picking up the shortfall and the non-qualifiers being served. Mrs. Isaacs said she felt the program was as important as other items the board had financed such as new lighting for the football field. Mrs. Isaacs said she was personally familiar with the program and would "hate to see it come down to the non-qualified not being served."

When a motion was called for concerning the pre-school enrollment registration for 1998-99, Mrs. Isaacs made a motion to serve all students (within the confines of the present budget). Board member Martin (Cont. to A12)

Griffith elected to three-year term on KSBA

A member of the Rockcastle County Board of Education has been elected to the post of state director-at-large of the largest organization of elected officials in Kentucky.

Dr. George W. Griffith of Mt. Vernon was chosen by the members of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA) to serve a three-year term on the organization's 28-member board of directors.

A local physician, Griffith, is in his sixth year on the Rockcastle County Board of Education. He was elected to the KSBA board during the organization's annual conference March 1 in Louisville.

Established in 1936, the nearly 900-member KSBA represents school districts and local boards of education in all 176 public school systems in Kentucky by providing training, consultation, advocacy and information to school officials statewide.

Gill said that both men were wearing seat belts, but that the vehicle traveled 131 feet off the roadway before striking a large Sycamore tree.

Gill said that the wreck was not spotted sooner because the car was over an embankment.

Renfro Hall of Fame still in state's budget

A County Music Hall of Fame at Renfro Valley once had one step closer to reality on Tuesday, when the Kentucky House of Representatives approved their version of the 1997-98 budget.

In that $6.2 billion dollar budget is $2.2 million for the construction of a Hall of Fame at Renfro Valley. State Representative and House Minority Leader, Danny Ford of Mt. Vernon said the Hall of Fame would promote tourism in Rockcastle and surrounding counties and be a much needed economic boost.

"I'm sure who has worked hard on the project for the county, said he thinks it will remain in the budget when the budget gets final approval.

The local lawmaker has been working to establish Renfro Valley as one of the nation's top country music sites since 1987, when he filed legislation to name Renfro Valley as "Kentucky's Country Music Capital."

The Country Music Hall of Fame project will provide exhibit space to honor past and present Kentuckians who have made significant contributions to the entertainment industry.

"The $2.2 million will facilitate efforts to collect, preserve, store and showcase artifacts and records, as well as provide a resource center for educational purposes," Ford said.

The full House is expected to vote on the budget Thursday. It will then go to the Senate.

In 6 year road plan Over $2 million for Hwy. 150

State Representative Danny Ford, of Mt. Vernon, announced Tuesday that over $2 million had been approved for work on Hwy. 150.

Ford said the money is part of the state's six year road plan, with work beginning sometime in 2001 or 2002.

"The project will upgrade Hwy. 150 from Crab Orchard to Mt. Vernon, making it easier for motorists to get to interstate 75," Ford said.

Hee Haw's Mike Snyder in concert at Renfro Valley Complex, April 3-4

There is one reason and one reason only that an entertainer is invited back to Renfro Valley - because they are good at what they do.

Banjo picker and country comedian Mike Snyder finds himself in just that situation. Snyder was a crowd favorite at Renfro Valley in 1997, commanding a repeat performance in 1998.

The fact that Snyder is a top country performer didn't hurt his chances at a return performance either.

"Although thousands of entertainers only dream of the chance, Snyder's southern drawl, country wit, and musical ability landed him a permanent spot on one of the most hallowed stages in country music in 1990 when he was made a permanent member of the Grand Ole Opry family.

Snyder will bring his music and comedy back to Renfro Valley Entertainment Complex for two great shows on April 4, when he will perform in the new barn at 7 and 9 p.m.

"Snyder was raised on a small farm outside the little town of Gleason, Tennessee, where his family still lives. At the age of 22, he won the National Banjo Picking Championship and immediately headed for a guest appearance on the Grand Ole Opry.

The veteran entertainer's success on the Grand Ole Opry led to appearances on the Nashville Now Show, hosted by Ralph Emory and a seven year stint as a cast member of the Hee Haw Show.

Ever with his hectic schedule, which includes 650 shows a year, Snyder has found time to record seven albums. His latest is the "Mike Snyder Live at the Grand Ole Opry," album. Snyder also has his own show at the Opryland USA theme park for the full season each year. He performs all side each country stars as Charlie Cushman, Blake Williams and Bob Clark.

"For a night of great family entertainment in a setting second to none in the country music industry, you must see Mike Snyder at Renfro Valley," said Vice-President and General Manager Jane Thorne. "We are fortunate to have Mike back to kick off our 1998 concert series," she said.

For tickets and reservations for this special concert and all other Renfro Valley shows, concerts and special events, call 800-765-7464 or 606-256-2638. Renfro Valley is located on U.S. 25 just off interstate 75 at exit 62.

For those of you who may be wondering why so many out-of-state looking license plates are beginning to show up on the hind quarters of familiar looking pick-ups and minivans, get up a little bit closer and read the fine print.

Purple though they are, they have "Kentucky" printed in modest type across the top.

I got mine about the end of January and hauled it around in the truck until the end of February hoping that some guy at the state penitentiary (where I understand they make the plates) were playing some kind of sick joke. I even flagged down a state cop and showed him the one I'd been issued.

He assured me that it was legit and advised that I ought to be installing it post-haste unless I was just dying to get a ticket for driving around with expired tags. He also grinned and allowed that if he had a pick-up he'd be waiting right up to the minute he too.

What I'd like to know, first off, is what on earth was wrong with blue? Secondly, why purple? Actually, I'm sure there's an artist in state government who will write in to tell us that it really isn't purple. It's going to have some sissy name like lilac or lavender or sunset mist because it looks like real purple getting over a bad case of diarrhea. It's a sickly looking purple at best.

And thirdly, why do regular old cars get tags with happy little birds and chipmunks frolicking around in nature scenes fit for framing while we truck and van drivers get stuck with purple puke numbers on a non-descript background?

Why can't we have a beagle hound in hot pursuit of a cotton-tail or a bullfrog sitting on a big lily pad for our pick-ups? Why not a big flat-head catfish wrapped around the numbers and staring at those behind us in the eyes or a smallmouth bass leaping on the end of the line in one of Kentucky's finer streams?

Van drivers deserve a yard sale scene at least. Since I don't have a van, I'd rather not speak for them, but I'll bet they are just as unhappy with this purplish rendition of our license plate as I am. Maybe a choice between a little leaguer at the plate or an old cow-bell or something like that would make them happy? I don't know. But I'll bet any amount of money that most of them would rather have blue than purple numbers.

Frankly, I'd rather have road kill scenes than purple numbers on my truck. Right now, for example, here around Paint Lick, we've got dead skunks about every six tenths of a mile on any black top you choose to motor around on. Dead skunk tags could come equipped with little bags of spray that the driver could activate inside the cab when somebody got to tailgating a little too close. This purple stuff is repulsive enough, but I guarantee that a little whiff of skunk perfume would make folks trying to hurry you along back off and reconsider their options.

Or now about roadside ditch-liners drawn across the bottom and the top of our plates full of the filth that they normally contain? There would be a picture of Kentucky's General Assembly in between the ditches and a little logo at the top reading "GARBAGE R US." Across the bottom a would read "AND POOP IN ME!" (Everyone else is. Why not advertise?)

And now that I think about it, maybe that's where this sick purple is coming from. After feces has floated down the Kentucky River a few miles it bleaches out to a hue remarkably close to the letters and numbers on my license tag. If the folks in Frankfort haven't yet come up with a definitive name for it, let me be the first to suggest "Poop Purple".

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank Daniel Boone Weatherization for installing a new furnace and weatherizing our trailer. I appreciate the people that work for this program especially Betty Carter, Nancy, Irene, Joe Roland and his fellow employees, Paul, Frank, Chuck, Henry and DaWayne. They were very excellent at their work, patient when a lot of family issues arose in our home during the time they were doing their job. I'm very grateful for this program and Christian Appalachian Project. Without their help and support on my fixed income, I could have never made all the repairs that were necessary for our home that was deeply needed. Also, I know these programs and the people who work for them help a lot of others that are in need. Sometimes people like myself have no other resources to help them besides these programs.

I deserve recognition from our society in which we live for their good deeds. I wish I could give them more than this letter of appreciation. But for me this is all I can do at this point in my life.

Thank you all very much, Judy Kirby and others, Brodhead, KY

To The Editor:

We would like to thank all the people who helped make the recent Livingston Fire and Rescue's Chili Supper and Pie Auction a great success. The Mount Vernon Signal and The Banner for advertising, Food World, Carter's Market, Save-A-Lot, and Superior Food Mart of Mt. Vernon for groceries. Also E.C. Porters, Krogers -192 By-Pass, Krogers - Main St. and Food Fair of London for groceries and supplies.

We would also like to thank the Ladies Auxiliary and all the other ladies for making and donating all the delicious pies. Also a big thank you for all the people who attended and bought the pies. We are trying to build a new building and greatly appreciate all the help and donation such as Mike Mink for back-hoe use. Once again thanks for all the help.

Dear Editor:

After reading the Signal for the last year, it's very disturbing, that our county is in such a shape financially. I though everyone knew you can't get out of debt by borrowing money. But our judge just keeps taxing things which hasn't helped. I wonder what else he will think to tax before his term is up? He doesn't pay the other counties for keeping our juveniles, but expects them to just keep on trusting him to pay. Well, maybe those counties are getting smart.

Seems we don't collect what is owed us, don't pay what we owe and just keep borrowing and taxing. I understand Buzd doesn't have experience in paying bills not even running a household, but we as a county must do something before our county goes bankrupt. If it isn't too late already. Thanks for listening.

Louise James

Mt. Vernon, KY

P.S. What Buzd is doing is what we older citizens call robbing Peter to pay Paul. It has never worked in the past and it sure isn't working now. Thanks again.

Dear Editor:

and Mr. Thomas Welch: Thank you for contacting my office to convey your support for S. 1334. I appreciate you taking the time to share your views with me on this important legislation.

You will be pleased to know that I am a co-sponsor for S. 1334. As you may know, this bill was introduced to establish a demonstration project that would allow the Department of Defense to evaluate the feasibility of allowing Medicare-eligible veterans to enroll in the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program (FEHBP-65). The pilot projects would be conducted in two geographic areas, which have not yet been determined. With military downsizing, military treatment facilities are being forced to shut down, leaving those who rely on medicare subvention without adequate health care options. It is my hope that this bill will ensure veterans and their dependents will have the options they deserve with their health care plan.

I assure you that protecting veterans' benefits remains a top priority of mine. Like you, I strongly believe the United States Government must keep the promises made to men and women who have bravely served this country. I am extremely proud of my record on supporting veterans and military retirees. You can be sure I will continue to fight to keep these promises and ensure that citizens who dedicated their lives to military service receive all the benefits they deserve.

Sincerely,
Mich McConnell
United States Senator

RES sings the Blues

On Friday, February 27, Rockcastle Elementary sixth level primary students hosted, Keith Otterson, singer/songwriter as a kick-off to "Music In Our Schools Month" (March) and as an Arts component to their African Unit of Student, "Roots of the African American." The students have been studying Africa and its influence on their culture as part of a Rockcastle County Schools Arts and Humanities Interdisciplinary Unit Mini-Grant.

Otterson's visit included demonstrations of performances techniques with guitar, violin/fiddle, mouth harp, drums and voice while exploring the "Benefits of the Blues" and looking at its legacy. His performance was accompanied with discussions on the African-American historical experience, its lessons and implications in regard to questions of ethics, justice and fair play; elements of music theory and style which are uniquely African American in origin with an appreciation of their contribution to contemporary, blues, jazz and rock forms; histories of the instruments with emphasis on the African American approach to playing them; the structure of the instruments and the nature of sound and music's kinship with mathematics and the poetic styling found in blues songwriting including its heritage and influence.

According to Otterson, "We have to direct a focus throughout on the inspiration to be gleaned from considering the strength of the African-American creative spirit and recognize the richness of its artistic contribution to contemporary American culture."

Keith Otterson, singer/songwriter, shares performance techniques with RES student John Polly.

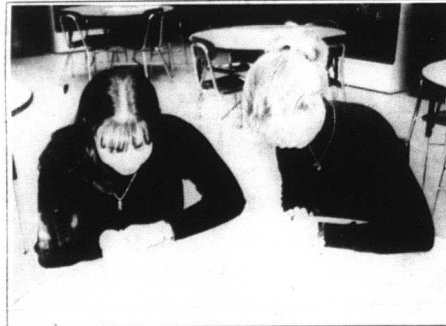

RCMS students will conduct a "Reality Store"

As an eighth grader, few of us understand how our course of study at school and our lifestyle decisions would affect our future. On March 27, Rockcastle County Middle School hopes to make that point a little more clear for students preparing to enter high school.

RCMS will be involving students in a "Reality Store." Based on interests and research conducted in their Careers course, students have selected a career which they may consider pursuing. With their salary, students will be required to meet monthly expenses. Booths will be set up for them to pay such bills as taxes, groceries, insurance, and house payments.

The Reality Store goal is that students will understand how expensive it is to care for families based on a set income, as they learn firsthand about careers, expenses and day-to-day living skills. Students will begin to understand why parents cannot always buy children everything they want and that sometimes it is necessary to adjust our expectations to our means.

Since there will be approximately 20 booths for this event, RCMS is seeking volunteers. The project will be held at the middle school from 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Any community business people or eighth grade parents who are willing to assist at any time on this day would be welcomed. If you are interested in helping with the project or have questions, contact Leshia Cromer, David Owens or Carla Parsons at the middle school at 256-5118 or John McQuay at the Rockcastle Extension office at 256-2403.

Eight graders Shena McKinney and Cassie Sowder review their career folders in preparation for the RCMS Reality Store.

EKU Spotlight Day offers information for Rockcastle County students, parents

Attention all prospective college students in Rockcastle County and parents: you have a special invitation to visit Eastern Kentucky University Saturday, April 4, for EKU's Spotlight Day.

The event, from 10 a.m. to noon at Alumni Coliseum, will include campus tours, academic exhibits and information, open classroom tours, residence hall visits and refreshments. High school students as well as those transferring from a two-year school or even one of EKU's three educational centers are encouraged to attend. Ample parking will be available in the Alumni Coliseum parking lot.

"Visitors will be able to talk with our students, faculty members and residence hall directors," said Les Grigsby, director of EKU's Division of Admissions. "They can see what campus life at EKU is all about."

"Already, about 210 Rockcastle Countians are studying with us at EKU," Grigsby said. "We're delighted that some of the county's best and brightest students have come to Eastern, where the top priority remains teaching."

"The combination of innovative academic programs, affordable costs and a competitive financial aid program make Eastern an educational bargain," Grigsby added.

Every academic major will be represented at the event, to which over 15,000 prospective students have been invited. Last fall's Spotlight Day at Eastern was the most successful every, attracting a record 1,800 students.

The academic exhibits will be set up like an information fair, where students can browse and get as much information as they want. No formal presentations are scheduled.

Eastern's residence halls will be open, and a number of classrooms and departments across campus will be open so students can see first-hand EKU's learning environment.

"Choosing the right place to continue an education is an important decision," Grigsby said. "We believe Spotlight Day gives students a feel for the special atmosphere of our University."

Cash gets 32, but Rockets fall in regional action to Red Bird 59-52

Junior guard Steve Bradley pulls down a Rocket rebound during action against the Red Bird Cardinals in the second round of the regional tournament.

Despite a premier performance by sophomore guard Andrew Cash, who poured in 32 points in a losing effort, the Red Bird Cardinals ended the post-season quest of the Rockcastle Rockets Monday night at Clay County in regional action.

The Rockets had advanced to the second round of the regional tournament by defeating a district winner Williamsburg 60-54.

In that game, the Rockets came out in the first quarter, took a 5-2 lead and then saw the Yellow Jackets tie the score at seven all and go on to take a 13-7 first quarter lead. Things didn't improve for the Rockets in the second quarter as the Rockets only got 11 points, eight of them from John Brown and were down 24-18 at the half.

To begin the third quarter, the Rockets were outscored by the Yellow Jackets 6-2 and Williamsburg had their longest lead of the game 30-20 at the 5 minute mark. But, the Rockets were down but not out as they went on an offensive tear and outscored the Yellow Jackets 15-0 over the next three minutes and 28 seconds to go ahead 35-30. During the run, Layne Nicely played outstanding defense, causing several turnovers by the Rockets and the Rockets came up with a balanced scoring attack with Cash getting eight points; Dusty McClure 5 and John Brown 4 besides Nicely's three at the free throw line.

The closest the Jackets could come in the fourth quarter was 49-46 but the Rockets came back to score seven unanswered points and go back ahead 56-46 before going on to the final 60-54.

Cash led the scoring for the Rockets with 23 points; John Brown turned in a 20 point performance; Nicely, besides playing outstandingly on defense, got 9; Dusty McClure got 5 and Travis Anderkin, 2.

Blake Childress only scored one point in the game but had 9 first half rebounds for the Rockets at a time when his team was struggling offensively. In fact, Coach Clayton Cash said that Childress worked on the boards this season and during the tournament was the biggest factor in the Rockets success this year.

In the Rockets final game of post-season play, they met Red Bird who had destroyed a good Cawood team in the opening round. And, it looked for a while as if the Rockets would be able to advance to the finals as Red Bird did a terrible job of taking care of the ball with 8 first quarter turnovers. However, the Rockets didn't take advantage of the give-aways by the Cardinals, managing only a 12-10 first quarter lead. The second quarter was better offensively for the Rockets as they built a 24-17 half-time lead, again aided by eight turnovers by the Cardinals.

After going ahead 28-17 in the third quarter, the Rockets saw their shot stop falling, missing nine in the period and making only 6 and Red Bird took better care of the ball. It was an 18-14 quarter in favor of Red Bird and the Rockets lead had dwindled to three at the third quarter stop 38-35.

In the fourth quarter, the Rockets one man offense, Andrew Cash with 12 points in the period, was unable to keep pace with the Cardinals who took a one-point lead at the 3:55 mark 46-45 and went on from there to put the Rockets away 57-52. In that period, the Rockets missed 11 shots, hitting only five, four of them by Cash and one by Childress.

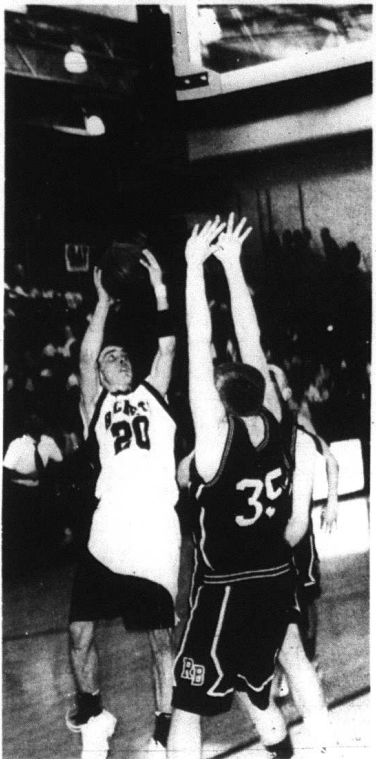

Cash got 32 points in the game, garnering him the guard of the game trophy; John Brown scored 10 points; Steve Bradley had 6; Layne Nicely 3 and Blake Childress 4. Childress was the leading rebounder for the Rockets.

Coach Clayton Cash said later that he couldn't be prouder of this team. "I wish we could have gotten to the finals of the regional and had another shot at Clay Co." Cash went on to say, "The kids really worked hard this year and exceeded expectations. I was never really pleased with our offense but I was with our defense."

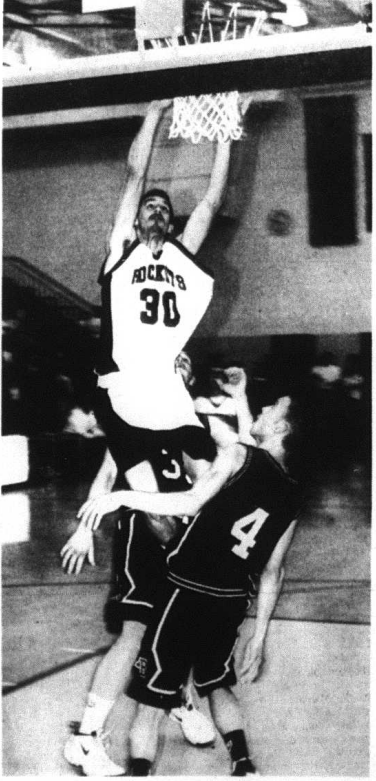

"I think we gained a lot of respect for our basketball program in the county and out of the county this year and proved that we can win," Cash added.

The Rockets finished the season with 20 wins, the best ever for a Rocket team and 9 losses.

Named to the all-regional team for the Rockets were Andrew Cash and John Brown.

Andrew Cash goes for two of his 32 points against the Cardinals. Cash, a sophomore guard who scored 23 points in the Rockets first game in the region against Williamsburg, was named to the all-region team. Red Bird went on to lose by five to Clay County in the championship game Tuesday night.

Senior John Brown goes hard to the basket against two Red Bird defenders in action at Clay County Monday night. Brown got 7 points in the Rockets 59-52 loss and was the other Rocket chosen for the All-Region team. In the Williamsburg game, Brown scored 20 points in the Rockets win over the Williamsburg Yellow Jackets.

March 15-21 designated Poison Prevention Week

An estimated 135,000 children under the age of five will become victims of accidental ingestion of household poisons this year. March 15-21 has been designated as National Poison Prevention Week and Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center is committed to educating people about the dangers of poison.

"It's important we make our community aware of the simple, everyday products they have in their homes that can poison their children," said Stella Young pharmacist at Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center. "We want to teach them how to prevent accidental poisonings."

The theme for the week is "Children Act Fast... So Do Poisons!" Young noted that there are many products within the home that can make children sick. The kitchen, bathroom and the garage and storage area are key rooms that should be given special attention because they usually contain deadly poisons.

Dangerous products in the kitchen include dishwashing liquids, window cleaners, oven cleaners and drain cleaners. Bathroom contain medicines, cosmetic products, shampoos, cleaners and lotions. Garage or storage areas have bug sprays, rat poison, gasoline, paint, antifreeze, kerosene and car wax. These common products can be very dangerous to children if ingested.

The following is a list of preventative measures that can be taken to poison proof a home for children.

- Never leave the caps off of medicine bottles.
 - Always use household products that are packaged in child-resistant containers.
 - Store all poisons, cleaners, medicines, and other household products out of the reach of small children.
 - Refer to medicines by their proper names. Never refer to them as candy.
 - Install child-resistant safety latches on cabinets and doors.
 - Never put full containers in the trash.
 - Keep all products in their original container.
 - Clean out old medicines and dispose them properly.
 - Keep the poison control center number, 1-800-722-5725, by the phone.
- Even if preventative measures are taken, accidents can still occur. If poison is accidentally ingested, quick action must be taken. Follow these instructions immediately and then call 1-800-722-5725 for further instruction.

- Poison in the eyes - Hold eyelid open, and wash quickly and gently

TOPS proves "Good as Gold" on 50th anniversary

TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), an international nonprofit weight-loss support group with almost 300,000 members worldwide, turns golden this year. Its anniversary marks 50 years of a proven program which encourages a sensible lifestyle and provides obesity research. Members receive individual food and exercise plans from their personal physicians.

To mark the occasion, the local chapter is holding an open house on Thursday, March 26, at 7:00 p.m. at First Church of God, Main St., Brodhead. Women, men, teens and preteens, interested in losing weight are invited to attend. The open house is free. For more information call 758-4047.

The theme "Good as Gold" corresponds to the traditional gold of a 50th anniversary, as well as to TOPS' golden guidelines of sensible weight loss through meal planning, exercise, and encouragement from fellow TOPS members windows so others will not be poisoned by the fumes.

• Swallowed poison - Immediately call 1-800-722-5725 before taking any action. Induced vomiting should only occur if the emergency personnel on the phone tell you to do so.

• Knowing the first aid tips to help a victim of an accidental poisoning is important, but it is better to take every precaution to prevent it from occurring, said Young. "Don't wait until March 15 to poison proof your home. Start now to see if your home is poison safe or a potential accident."

Recipes for Kentucky Gets FoodWise were developed with an eye for the traditional foods Kentuckians like, Kurzynske and McCough said. The recipes, weekly meal planner and lesson plans will be used by Extension agents in 104 counties in programs and cooking demonstrations.

The information in the lesson materials is appropriate for any audience, not just those with limited resources, Kurzynske said. Focus groups were conducted to involve participants in program planning. Kurzynske said food prices were compared in six Kentucky communities to make sure food stamp recipients could follow the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Guide Pyramid within their voucher limits. The cost for the recipes developed is an average of those communities' costs.

Following are some tips for saving on grocery bills and a recipe developed for Kentucky Gets FoodWise:

• Buy flavored rice and pasta as well as canned beans and tomato products on sale. These products keep well and are good staples.

• Choose recipes that start with pasta, rice, potato or bean ingredients. Then add vegetables, seasoning and smaller amounts of meat.

• Spices are expensive, but go a long way. Good basic spices to have on hand are garlic powder, parsley flakes, chili powder, oregano and mustard.

Stretching Food Stamp Dollars

Can a family of four eat nutritiously on just $13.50 a day? And can they do that without sacrificing taste or spending hours in the kitchen?

That's the challenge facing Kentucky's food stamp recipients. Helping in facing that challenge is coming from a new University of Kentucky Home Economics Extension program called Kentucky Gets FoodWise.

According to Janet Kurzynske, interim assistant director for Home Economics Extension, the program teaches those eligible for food stamps how to prepare tasty, inexpensive and nutritious food with common appliances. "We looked at not only the quality of what they're eating and the price but how quickly the food can be made and taste," said Kurzynske.

Previous studies found that food stamp recipients weren't getting the nutrition they needed when they spent only the voucher limit. To eat a better diet they often had to use cash to supplement what they bought with food stamps, said Suzanne McCough, Extension associate for home economics programs. "If you're spending money to supplement vouchers, you may be taking away money from rent and utilities," she said.

In June 1997, there were 168,434 Kentucky families-374,530 individuals-receiving $30 million in food stamps. "People want the program to be as efficient as it can be," said Kurzynske.

So, can a family of four eat on $13.50 a day? That answer is yes. "Obviously you're eating more economical foods, but it can be done," Kurzynske said.

The RCHS Lady Rockets cheerleading squad will head to State KAPOs Competition on Saturday, March 14th. The cheerleaders won both District and Regional Co-ed Championships.

Agricultural News

By Warden Alexander,

FSA Director
The 1998 Burley Tobacco Referendum ballots were counted on Wednesday, March 4, by the Rockcastle County FSA Committee at the USDA Service Center. Results were: 821 valid ballots, six no votes, and 815 YES votes.

The 1998 Tobacco Quota notices were mailed Friday, February 20. Any producers who had or will have sales after January 30, 1998, received an incorrect notice. A corrected notice will be sent when marketing cards are turned in and sales are reconciled.

Disaster leasing deadline has been extended until close of business March 12. These "late" disaster leases will require approval from a State Office Representative. Interested parties should contact the office prior to the deadline.

The tobacco market is tentatively scheduled to remain open until April 9th.

When destroying tobacco that is in excess of 499 pounds, contact the FSA Office. The disposal must be witnessed by an FSA representative.

Due to the numerous amount of late sales for the 1997 crop year and the markets remaining open, FSA will NOT begin processing 1998 tobacco leases until April 1. Sign up for the Livestock Indemnity Program has been extended until close of business March 13. Any persons with livestock losses during the eligible time period (June 16, 1997) should contact the office.

Farm record changes requiring a reconstitution (division/combinaton of records) cannot be processed until after the 1997 Tobacco Records have been reconciled. After "tobacco rollover", these reconciliations can be completed, and revised notices will be mailed.

The crop insurance policy requires that all production can be accounted for, therefore, any production will be assigned a fair market value by the insurance provider if it is not declared zero.

Beginning January 1, 1999, all payments made from the FSA Office will be made by direct deposit. This means that all participants in the AMTA (com) program need to come in and make arrangements for their payments to be made directly to the financial institution of their choice. If you do not make arrangements by January 1, 1999, to receive your payment through direct deposit, you will no longer receive program payments from this office.

Preliminary burley marketing quota referendum results

The US Department of Agriculture announced that preliminary results from a mail referendum held February 23 through 27 show burley tobacco growers voted to continue marketing quotas on a poundage basis for the 1998, 1999 and 2000 marketing years.

Keith Kelly, Administrator of USDA's Farm Service Agency, said results show that 117,914 of the 120,925 producers who voted in the last two-thirds in favor was necessary to continue poundage marketing quotas.

In the last referendum, held February 1995, 96.78 percent of the voting growers favored marketing quotas as a poundage basis for the 1995, 1996, and 1997 marketing years. Burley tobacco is grown in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia. Kentucky voted 98.39 percent in favor of marketing quotas.

Rockcastle teens say "no" to food

More than 25 local teens went three hours without food to help fight hunger and poverty around the world: The Bible Baptist Youth Group joined thousands of other teens across the United States and Canada in World Vision's annual 30 Hour Famine.

Participants in the "Famine" were sponsored by family, friends, and neighbors, with pledges as the youth group members went without food from Friday, March 6th at noon, until Saturday, March 7th at 6 p.m. Through videos, games, special events, and involvement in local community service projects, the teens learned about hunger and what they could do to help others.

Bible Baptist Youth Pastor Scott Stayton and his wife, Lisa organized the local 30 Hour Famine. Scott says the middle school and high school students raised more money than he thought they would.

"About a week ago, we had collected about $600. That was short of our goal of $750, but still pretty good. But when Lisa added the final tally, which is still not final, and there was more than $1500, we were just blown away!" said Stayton.

The money raised is utilized in numerous third-world countries by World Vision, a non-profit Christian organization that has distributed food, immunization, and training to less fortunate people across the world since the 1950's.

Doug McGlashan, the national director of the 30 Hour Famine, has seen the program grow dramatically over the past few years. "Young people in this country have enormous compassion for children and families in need," says McGlashan. "The more they learn, the more they become committed to making a difference in their world. We can all learn from their example and enthusiasm."

With the more than $1500 raised by the Bible Baptist Youth Group, more than 3,000 meals will be provided to starving children, including meals for 50 children for two months. Bible and literacy training will be provided for 300 people. Bibles will be distributed to 150, and there will

This award was presented to Robert L. "Bud" Cox from the City of Mt. Vernon to show their appreciation for his dedication, devotion, and loyalty to the City of Mt. Vernon and the Fire Department for 35 years. This represents their deep appreciation for a job well done as Assistant Fire Chief since 1974.

Jack Weaver has been deputy jailer for one year and has begun corrections training and CPR training. He was deputy sheriff with the Rockcastle County Sheriff's office for two and a half years.

Ruth Coffey has been deputy jailer for two years and has completed corrections training, CPR and first aid training. She was deputy jailer at Laurel County Jail for three years.

Ressie Meach has been deputy jailer and cook for six years and has attended correction training.

Wilmer Robinson is the chief deputy jailer on shift and has been with the staff for five years. He has completed corrections training every year as well as CPR and first aid training.

Maxwell Lovell has been deputy jailer for three months.

Roger Lovell has been deputy jailer for two months.

For we had as hard scabble farm
Which consisted of hillsides and rocks
And from the poor rocky soil
We grew starvation preventing crops.

Families were mostly self-sufficient
Raising stuff for the table
We could even have sugar and salt
If we were financially able.

Working from dawn to setting sun
With mules and plows
Yelling, "Gee, haw and whoa"
We survived by the sweat of our brows.

When seeds were planted
Rest was still not at hand
For it took a lot of fence padding
To keep the animals on the land.

When plants burst through the soil
It was time to plow and hoe
Sparks would fly off the gooseneck
As we hoed each plant row by row.

Three times during the growing season
We plowed and hoed and chopped
Fighting Johnson grass and weeds
Waging a battle that hardly ever stopped.

After the third working
The crops were laid by
Left to nature's mercy.
And rainfall from the sky.

We dug, picked, shucked, broke and strung
When harvest time rolled around
Hundreds of jars were canned for food
And potatoes were buried in dirt mounds.

Cutting large stocks of wood to last
And laying in enough fuel and food
To survive hunger and winters icy blast.

The holidays finally rolled around
We went into the woods and cut a tree
Decorating was at hand
To make the tree a beauty to see.

We all looked forward to Christmas
It was a time of joy
For there would be a treat
To delight each girl and boy.

For our tree decorations
We'd curl red ribbons and make bows
Then we'd string popcorn

And hang them around in rows.
We'd get some pine cones
And color them bright
Then we'd hang them on the tree
And we were ready for Christmas night.

An apple and an orange
A piece of Christmas candy or two
A pair of gloves or socks
And we knew Santa had been through.

Birds the harbingers of spring
Would sing songs loud and clear
And we'd get out the team
To start preparing for another year.

Depression Parrot
By Preston Talbert

Farm Life
During the Great Depression
Life was full of woe
Instead of life in the fast lane
It was dig, chop and hoe.

With my feet pointed down slope
And I dreamed of a future
Where one could be full of hope.

A-model Fords passed down below
With raw unburnt gas wafting strong
And I wondered if some day
I would own one and drive along.

As a lad, I lay on a hill

Congressman Harold Rogers Report to Kentucky

Visiting the Nation's Capital? Give Me A Call First

With just a few more weeks of winter to go, many people are beginning to think about longer days and warmer weather. As thoughts turn to spring and summer, planning for vacation is not far behind.

For thousands of tourists each year, the nation's capital offers a first hand look at our nation's history and government. Whether you are coming for pleasure, a school trip or business, Washington is an exciting place to be, and there are so many things to see and do while you are here.

For thousands, the highlight of the trip is a tour of the White House or the U.S. Capitol. Others like to visit the nine Smithsonian museums on the Mall. The Air and Space Museum, which chronicles man's attempts at flight, is always an exciting stop. A person can spend several days just going through all the Smithsonian's exhibits!

Others prefer the National Zoo, in search of giant pandas, komodo dragons or golden lion tamarins. Still others favor the awesome impression of the Vietnam Veterans War Memorial Wall or the heroic solitude of Arlington National Cemetery.

Because there are so many wonderful things to do, I hope you will not hesitate to let me be your guide. Before you pack the car and head for Washington, call me first. My toll-free constituent hot line number is 1-800-632-8588. I and my staff can help you plan your trip.

Perhaps you would like a tour of the FBI Building or the Bureau of Printing and Engraving where all our nation's money is printed. During certain times of the year, advance reservations are necessary. The U.S. Capitol is open seven days a week. When Congress is in session, I can provide you with passes to watch the House and Senate in action from the viewing galleries. Tours of the White House are also popular, and daily public tours fill up quickly. I can arrange a limited number of guided VIP tours. Since they book up two to three months in advance, call me as soon as you know your travel dates!

Of course, the one "must see" in Washington is your congressional office. Please call the office at (202) 225-4601 or stop by room 2468 of the Rayburn House Office Building, where you will find me hard at work on your behalf. We can visit for a few minutes, and I can answer any last minute questions you have. Washington is a beautiful city. If you visit, let's make sure you take advantage of all she has to offer!

There will be another time again...
For togetherness...
And for now we have our memories.
Of the love...
Of our lives.

Vanzant seconded the motion and it passed unanimously. A second item on the agenda to review/approve the pre-school budget for 1998-99 was tabled since portions of the general budget are not approved separately but together when the general budget is presented at a later meeting. Chairman of the board Dr. G.W. Griffith told Mrs. Gabbard that he was going along with Mrs. Isaacs' motion this time but, "another budget increase next year will probably change my vote," Griffith said.

Finance officer Richard Bray pointed out that two years ago, the total budget surplus was $930,000 and, last year, it was $778,000. With another $100,000 expense, the budget surplus will further shrink, Bray said.

The board also discussed the expansion of a service contract with GE Capital, for a computer technician. Kelly Pensol, technology coordinator for the schools, told the board that the present contract called for the services of a technician only one day a week and this was not adequate to keep the system's 497 computers in working order.

Mrs. Pensol told the board that it is almost certain the schools will receive funds from the Universal Service Fund (USF) which will help pay for the services of a technician, or for the salary of someone hired to do the required maintenance work, but the amount of the reimbursement is not known at this time. The board agreed with the expressed need but decided to wait to see how much funding will be available from USF, a federally funded program for public schools, before making a decision on which route to go to provide more support.

In other business, the board recognized the achievement of chairman Dr. G.W. Griffith who has attained Level IV, the highest level of training offered by the Kentucky School Board Association. Dr. Griffith has completed thirty hours of in-service training since joining the board in September of 1992.

The board also approved several field trips by various schools in the county; the application of Mary Lee Craig and Dennis Ray Lawrence as substitute teachers; a contribution to Project Graduation of $3.35 per senior class member; an increase in the mileage reimbursement rate from .25 cents to .27 cents per mile in keeping with the rate set by the Kentucky Department of Education and approved participation in the Summer Feeding Program. Under the program, breakfast and lunch will be prepared at participating schools during summer school session and any student enrolled in the Rockcastle County School System can eat free, regardless of family income.

Before getting down to the hard choices it had to make during the meeting, the board was entertained by members of the local school's Y Club with a shortened version of their presentation at the Kentucky United Nations Assembly (KUNA) at Louisville recently.

The students represented five countries during their three-day meeting and came away with the highest award given at the assembly -- Best Country Presentation. One of the countries given the local school to represent was the United States and the award was given for their costumes, display, participation, etc. The club also got a Triple A award, given to only three schools in the state each year.

The club's sponsor is Mrs. Nancy Hale, gifted education teacher for the school system, and she, and several other teachers at the middle school, acted as sponsors for the countries and as chaperones for the trip.

Legislative Update

Rep. Danny Ford
 Like a traveler weary of the stones placed in his path but stronger for the journey, the State Legislature has moved into the heart of the 1998 Session.

Sparking of heart, last week we passed the "Gracie Hargis Bill" to protect nursing-home residents from unfair and unexpected eviction due to loss of Medicaid benefits.

This legislation came about because of an eligibility review conducted by a company working under a contract with the Cabinet for Human Resources. This company was paid several million dollars to determine if Medicaid recipients were eligible for benefits. Many times these reviews were completed by telephone and at no time was a patient examined by a physician.

Obviously, the Cabinet for Human Resources came under a great amount of well-deserved criticism for allowing this situation to escalate. Because of these highly unacceptable reviews, 180 nursing-home residents lost their Medicaid benefits last year. Among them was 94 year old Gracie Hargis, who lived in a Putaski County nursing-home. Mrs. Hargis won an appeal, but reports of her situation spurred the House of Representatives to action.

The "Gracie Hargis Bill" creates a set of patient rights and guarantees that all Medicaid eligibility reviews will be performed by a physician. The bill stipulates how the state must notify a nursing-home resident of his or her right to appeal a benefit cutoff. Also, it allows residents to remain in a nursing-home during the appeal, which can take up to 90 days.

Once again, this bill ensures that a nursing-home resident must be examined by a physician before their level of care can be decertified.

I am very proud of the "Gracie Hargis Bill" because our senior citizens deserve the best treatment possible from nursing-homes, government agencies and the State Legislature.

In other action last week the House of Representatives passed a sweeping criminal justice act. The heart of this bill will help take violent criminals off our streets, put them in the penitentiary and keep them there.

Also, let me express my appreciation and gratitude for everyone that has written, called and shared their opinions on issues being addressed by the Legislature. As the 1998 Session moves toward adjournment, your best interests will be paramount.

Thank You!

I wish to thank Appliance Service Center for the donation of a chain for chain saws during the recent snowstorm.

Library news

By Geraldine Robbins

The library is getting ready for spring even if the weather has changed back to winter. With it being so warm a week or so ago, I certainly have spring fever with all the daffodils, crocus, forsythia and other flowering shrubs blooming out. I even noticed that bleeding hearts and peonies coming up, so I have covered them up for a few days. I have bought some books on gardening and we have a special display of books for those that like me and want to be planning their spring gardens. Even if it is cold, we can look at these new books and plan ahead. One of the new books is "PLANTERS, CONTAINERS AND RAISED BEDS" by Chuck and Barbara Crandall. . . If you are looking for an easier, more convenient and affordable way to garden, raised beds, planters and containers are the answer. All give greater control over the quality of soil and the opportunity to use plants in an astonishing number of ways. Also, another new book is THE COMPLETE POND BUILDER by Helen Nash. These beautiful water gardens give a distinctive beauty to your lawn and flower garden. The simple serenity of water gives a pleasant atmosphere for you and your guests whether it be a private conclave or a eye-catching focal point for a front lawn and adds a touch of magic anywhere. For those without the know-how to design a pond, or lacking the funds to hire a builder, practical advice and inspiring photos in this book will help you to realize the garden of your dreams. My son built a small pond in their side yard last summer and it proved to be an excellent addition to their lawn. They have some gold fish in it and they have survived all winter.

Two other new books for your gardening pleasures are THE WEEK-END GARDENER by Susanna Longley. . . Filled with imaginative ideas and time-and-labor saving tips and techniques, this book shows gardeners how to turn their existing gardens into easy to maintain wonderlands of greenery and colorful blossoms and PERENNIAL ALSTARS. . . This guide will take you through the jungle of perennials that are available from nurseries, garden centers and mail-order sources. It describes the 150 greatest, most beautiful, longest flowering and easiest to care for perennials. It also helps pinpoint the perfect plants for each specific site in your garden.

For those people who are planning on remodeling or doing some new decorating this spring I have a new book. INSTANT DECORATING by Stewart & Sally Walton. At some point, every home needs some decorating or updating to keep it looking fresh and stylish. Perhaps you have a new home and you want to stamp it with your personality, or you are tired of the same old chair, curtains, or carpet and you want to give the room a new look. Instant Decorating provides up-to-the-minute ideas and practical advice. Over 100 self-contained projects and divided into five chapters for different decorating schemes.

Did you know, MARCH IS YOUTH ART MONTH? The library has on display a poster done by one of the students, Chris Robbins, from the Rockcastle County Middle School. The logo on the poster is, "Art Can Make A World Of Difference." Chris has done a super job on this poster and I want to congratulate him for having it chosen for display.

We all ought to commend the students when they have done extra activities at school. This gives them a feeling of accomplishment. Not all students are ball players and I feel sometimes we put too much emphasis on sports and not enough on other activities such as art, band, etc. I'm not putting down sports for I'm very proud of our students that participate in basketball, football, track and other sports. I congratulate our basketball team this year. They have worked hard to accomplish the wins that have taken them so far in the tournaments.

I have two grandsons in band and we're all very proud of them. Our school has an excellent band director and we ought to give Mr. Daugherty thanks for the extra time and attention that he gives his students.

I really got away from library news but we here at the library like to give our support to the students and the school. We have different displays quite often from the schools such as the poster for Art Month.

The library will be having different displays from the middle school, beginning March 16. Some of the classes have been studying countries and each class has a special display about the country they have been assigned. The first exhibit will be about Brazil and this is from Tammy Miller's class. Each exhibit will be in for one week. Please come in and see what a fine display the students have made. They have put a lot of work in this assignment.

National Library Month is April

19th-25th and we are planning to have some kind of art work from different classes at that time. All the details have not been worked out but we will have something special for our patrons to view when they come to the library.

We are encouraging people that have never visited the library to come in and see what you have been missing.

If you have any questions about the library or the bookmobile schedule, call 256-2388.

FAITH REMINDS US THAT WEALTH ONLY RAISES OUR TAXES

Since money was invented by Those folks of long ago. We've often seemed to magnify The need for earning "dough." It's handy to a great extent To cure financial ills. As well as for the food and rent. And paying doctor bills. Yet some of us will break our backs To seek excessive wealth. Which only brings a higher tax And undermines our health. It's time we let our faith explain The best of life's reward: That we receive our greatest gain By trusting in the Lord.

Farm News

County Extension Agent

Cattle farmers need to be aware of grass tetany during early grazing

Adult beef cows nursing young calves while grazing grass or small grain pastures in late winter or early spring are especially susceptible to an extremely acute disorder known as grass tetany. Affected cattle can die suddenly and in fact are frequently found dead before the disorder is discovered.

Although in some seasons Kentucky farmers experience losses due to grass tetany from November to April, cows are more susceptible in the late winter and early spring when the grass is heavily on the new growth of grass and refuse other feed offered to them. Each loss is especially damaging, because it is invariably a big, sleek cow with a healthy young calf that dies.

Grass tetany is a result of a magnesium deficiency in the cow. Weather and soil fertility seem to be factors. Grass tetany occurs when soil temperature is between 40 and 60 degrees and often during changeable weather. High levels of nitrogen, potassium and moisture in the soil increase the incidence, because they apparently decrease the level of magnesium found in plants naturally.

Symptoms of the disorder usually begin with nervousness and then progress to a stilted gait, staggering, convulsions, coma and death. It always requires immediate veterinary treatment.

About 2/3 of cows treated intravenously with magnesium and calcium compounds recover. However, to prevent relapses, treated cows should be removed from the pasture. They should be fed hay and grain plus 2 ounces of magnesium oxide daily for at least a week.

Because animals do not store up magnesium, their dietary requirements have to be supplied on a day-to-day basis. The only way to prevent grass tetany is to supplement the diet with additional magnesium. This can be done with commercial mineral mixes containing magnesium or with home-made mixtures. Mixing 1 part magnesium oxide, 1 part trace mineral salt and 1 part distilled dried grain will do fine if it is the cattle's only source of salt.

PEPPERS PRODUCING $1000+ PROFITS

By: Dan Grignon
U.K. Extension Agent for Agriculture

Peppers are a very stable and profitable supplemental crop for area farmers. Unlike most other vegetable crops, peppers have a guaranteed market outlet and a guaranteed price to go with it. Raising pimento peppers is a good way to increase farm profitability. Several growers have enjoyed profits of $1000-$1200 per acre. Peppers fit into most farm operations in this area since most of you have tobacco production equipment which is the same type of equipment needed for peppers. Peppers can be transplanted with a tobacco setter, cultivated with tobacco equipment and sprayed for pest control with tobacco equipment. A lot of folks worry about the back-breaking labor. True, there is hard work at picking time but it's nothing compared to cutting tobacco or throwing hay bales. Over the years we have learned several tricks of the trade to make picking peppers easier and less time-consuming. If you have a little family labor you can make some really good profits for the family by growing peppers.

There is plenty of acreage available to farmers through the Moody Dunbar Company. The company will have a buying station in Stanford at Cargill. They have contracts available now through Douglas, and your local extension office will provide you with information on how to grow peppers for the best profits. We will be available to you throughout the season to help you with production and harvest procedures. Stop by the Extension Office and pick up a bulletin on growing peppers if you have questions on what's involved in red pimento pepper production. Peppers require the same type of equipment as tobacco but they must be managed differently than tobacco. For example, too much fertilizer on peppers may reduce yields. For this reason, I suggest that you talk with us before jumping into growing peppers.

March 13th for pimento peppers. The station manager, Mark

The price per ton will be increased this year to $280 per ton.

Proposed Kentucky Bill on Telemarketing

By: Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Kentucky Legislation (S.B.199) is currently being discussed that would restrict certain behaviors of telemarketers in Kentucky and would make certain requirements of them. The Kentucky law, if passed, would be more strict than the federal law.

The main points required by the proposed law are:

- No calling before 10:00 a.m. or after 6:00 p.m.
- No blocking of caller ID by telemarketers.
- No access to a consumer's bank account without express written consent of the consumer.
- Mandatory compliance by all telemarketers to add the names of consumers to a No-Call list if they don't want to receive unsolicited telephone sales calls.

This Bill, S.B.199, is presently in the rules committee. Citizens who want to express their opinion about this bill can call 1-800-372-7181.

HOUSING WORKSHOP SET FOR APRIL 17th

London will be the sight for an

Many of our growers sold 8-10 tons of pimento peppers per acre in late dry season. In good weather years, many growers have sold 12-15 tons per acre. You should produce around 10 ton per acre on an average year. This will provide a pretty good profit per acre. It may not be quite as high as tobacco, but it will be close. The profit potential is definitely better than corn, soybeans and many other crops. Most growers are averaging around $1000 of profit per acre in an average year. CHESNUT FOR SHERIFF

Greetings Republican-Taxpayer and Voters- I am trying to see you all, but seeing around 5,000 Republican voters is impossible so I will take this means to tell you a little about myself. I am a Christian and a member of the Livingston Pentecostal Church. I am married to Renee Chesnut, who works at the ambulance service. She is the daughter of Ott and Martha Turner Bond. Together we have five school age children. I am also a 32nd Degree Mason. I am the grandson of Elmer Hopkins and Emma Taylor. My great grandparents were Emma Jane Owens and John C. Taylor. I have experience as a former city police officer and as a Deputy Sheriff here in Rockcastle County. I now run a business and know about record and bookkeeping which is a necessity for running a sheriff's office as there is a lot of money that goes through there and you are in charge of it. People are asking me, why do I want the job as Sheriff? My answer is simple and true. I need the job. It pays well and, if you elect me, I will be a full-time sheriff, fair to all. I don't want the job to wear a badge and gun. I've been there and done that. Law enforcement isn't like what you see on T.V. People are also asking, who will be my deputies? My answer is, it would be nice to have a deputy from each area of the county. It would also be nice to have them trained in police work and they would all be honest and they won't work for me. Another question people are asking is, how many deputies would you have? My answer is, not as many as we have now. Another question is, can you stop thefts? The truth is, there is no way you can stop thefts, me or any other candidate cannot. But I think you can, at least, try to patrol the roads and deter it a lot. Have you had stuff stolen in the past?? I have and I know what it feels like. You, the voter and taxpayer, deserve service. If you give me the chance by electing me as Sheriff - You will get your money's worth! Question for you - How many times a week where you live, do you see a Sheriff's car go by and, to business people, how many times do you see a sheriff's car checking on your business at night without being asked to?? Thank you for reading this letter. If you can help me by your next Sheriff, then you can expect a full time sheriff - all the time, not just at election time. Thank you very much

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY SCHOOLS A GOOD IDEA!

Thursday, March 12, 1998

The Rockcastle County Board of Education Provides Equal Education and Employment Opportunities

Superintendent's Message

Across the state, school districts have been asked to develop Kentucky Consolidated Plans which will carry us into the twenty-first century. Rockcastle County has embraced this task and is well on the way to its successful completion.

The consolidated planning process relies on district KIRIS results and other needs assessment data to enable us to identify priority needs. We must then look at causes, and establish goals and objectives to meet these identified needs. We seek community participation in this important process of prioritizing needs, developing solutions and identifying funding resources. As the schools establish committees and work sessions, we must all collaborate in the construction of a strong consolidated plan to ensure a bright future for the children of Rockcastle County.

Your participation in this process plays an integral part in the improvement of our instructional program. As we continue to provide the best educational system possible, I encourage your support of the Consolidated Planning process while we continue to make education in Rockcastle County truly "A Good Idea!"

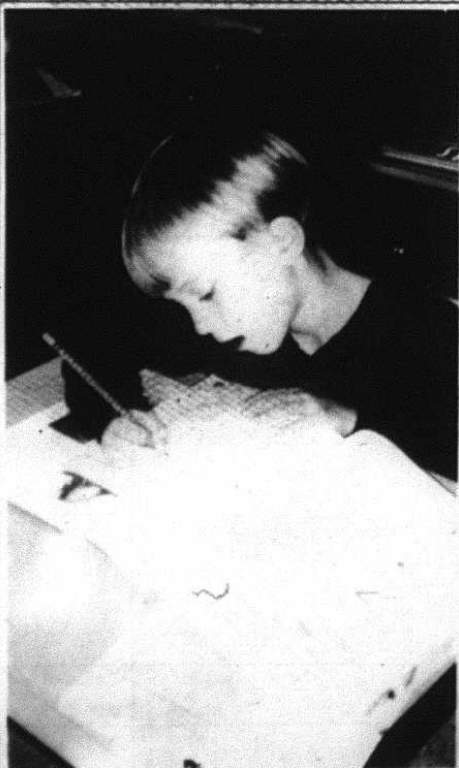

Superintendent Larry B. Hammond greets District Spelling Bee Contestants. (L-R) Shana Noe, Rockcastle County Middle School; Lori Miller, Brodhead Elementary School; Sarah Parsons, Mt. Vernon Elementary School; Kyla French, Roundstone Elementary School.

Consolidated Planning Sessions Scheduled

The Department of Education encourages teachers and administrators to attend Consolidated Planning Regional Training Sessions scheduled for March and April at sites throughout the state.

In March, presenters will focus on the appropriate use of program resources, developing the budget and planning for final review by councils, boards or the public. April sessions topics include completing the consolidated plan, preparing for the regional review, connecting with the public and final planning "nuts and bolts."

For dates and locations of these sessions, contact your Department of Education regional service center or go to the department's Web site at www.kde.state.ky.us.

Mt. Vernon Elementary School Primary student, Freddie Mason, strengthens phonics skills.

School Budget Sources

The consolidated planning and budgeting process ultimately permits schools and districts to tap allocated funds and categorical grant funds to meet needs in ways that support student achievement. To do that, planning and budgeting teams must be familiar with the requirements and allocations of grants funds and alternative resources. This diagram identifies funding sources that might open doors for your school or district to realize some long-held dreams.

Categorical Programs

Resources for which the funding authority sets specific limits on how the dollars may be used; may provide a source of funding to meet other priority needs as long as compliance is maintained.
