are learning both how important and how dangerous agriculture is through this contest, are we practicing safe farming methods ourselves? Remember that our children learn from our example, so let's provide a safe one. One of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's top three priorities of the 1998 legislative session is funding for a full-time Farm Safety Program coordinator. Another organization promoting farm safety statewide is the Kentucky Rural Health and Safety Council. This council includes all the organizations that are helping to make agriculture a safer industry. The council coordinates efforts made by the numerous farm safety groups in the state and provides support and resources so that these groups can continue their educational programs.

Farm Safety 4x Just Kids, the Partnership for Farm Family Health and Safety, the Lincoln Trail Farm Safety Council are three of the many groups that help spread the word about being safe on the farm. These groups sponsor Farm Safety Day Camps, poster contests, Farm Safety Fairs, and other activities to benefit farmers and their families.

Let's get serious about providing tomorrow for our children by practicing safe farming methods today. Take the time to learn about safe practices in handling livestock, dealing with chemicals, manure and grain; and driving farm implements on public roads. Teach your families and those you work with on the farm about these safety practices and expect them to comply! We can and will reduce the number of injuries and deaths on Kentucky's farms.

Sincerely,
Billy Ray Smith
Commissioner of Agriculture

Dear Editor:
When bureaucrats run family livestock farms out of the organization, that really stinks.

Kentucky farmers are in a tight spot. Their annual crop is under attack, and so is their primary alternative—livestock production. With Kentucky's small farms and uneven terrain, large scale grain or vegetable production is out of the question for most areas. But animal agriculture offers farmers the opportunity to earn a living on moderate-sized parcels of land.

Enter the regulators. Citing fears of so-called factory farms, the state passed House Bill 709, and it allows regulations on hog producers, threatening the futures of the state's hog operations. Livestock farming is tough work, and even tougher on the bottom line. In 1970, there were 41,000 hog farms in Kentucky. Now, only 1,500 remain. Those who have stuck with it say expansion is the key to profits. But the new regs say no expansion, so the sons and daughters of today's farmers leave the land, unable to assure their futures in agriculture.

Farmers are supporting legislation in Frankfort as an alternative to the bureaucracy's rigid restrictions. The House Bill 709, and it allows successful livestock producers to grow, while protecting soil and water resources for our future. Kentuckians are practical folks. They know about the challenges of farming, that it's not white collar work. There is dust, there are smells, mud and manure. But they also know they depend on farmers for their food and fiber.

Call your legislator now at 1-800-372-7181. Tell him or her that family farms in Kentucky are having tough times, and that state bureaucrats are making those times even tougher.

Farmers are our original environmentalists. They work every day to conserve and protect our natural resources, because it's their job and the farm is their family's home. Let's give them a chance for survival. Help support House Bill 709. Very truly yours,
David M. Hines
Executive Vice President

Being the same property conveyed to Mike Doan and Laura Doan, by deed dated April 26, 1994, executed by Vernon Doan and Charlotte Doan, of record in Deed Book 153, page 548 in the office of the Rockcastle County Clerk.

The property will be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

1. The real property shall be sold for cash or upon a credit of forty-five (45) days with the purchaser required to pay a minimum of five thousand dollars and no/100 ($5,000.00) of the purchase price in cash on the date of sale and to cure the balance with a bond approved by the Master Commissioner.
2. The bond shall bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum until paid, the bond shall have the force and effect of a judgment and shall be a lien upon the property until paid in full.
3. The purchaser shall be responsible for the 1994 state, county and school taxes and all taxes due and payable therefor.
4. In the event that the plaintiff is the successful bidder and the sale price does not exceed the amount of the plaintiff's judgment, no deposit or bond shall be required. Further, the plaintiff shall be allowed to take credit on the purchase price to the extent of its judgment and shall be allowed to pay to the Master Commissioner only the expenses of the sale, outstanding taxes and costs upon confirmation of the Report of Sale.

5. Risk of loss of the improvements pass to the purchaser at the time of sale. The successful bidder at such sale shall, at the bidder's own expense, carry fire and extended coverage insurance on said improvements from the date of sale until the purchase price is paid to the extent obtainable or to the court appraised value of said improvements or to the unpaid balance of the purchase price, whichever is less as a minimum with loss clause payable first to the Master Commissioner of the Rockcastle Circuit Court, or first to the person or persons entitled under judgment to receive the purchase price. Failure of purchaser to effect such insurance shall not affect the validity of the sale or the purchaser's liability thereunder, but shall entitle the party or parties entitled to receive the purchase price to effect said insurance and furnish the policy or evidence thereof to the Master Commissioner if they so desire, and the premium thereon or the proportion thereof shall be charged to the purchaser as purchaser's cost.

6. The purchaser shall have possession of the premises upon compliance with the terms of sale.

7. The sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record.

they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." Does this sound like God counts in a trivial thing how we worship? Jesus said "God wants and desires people to worship him in spirit and in truth. Worshipping God according to men's doctrines makes worship vain, Matt. 15:9, and this is not a trivial matter!

Yes, I am concerned about those who "don't" worship at all, I hope and pray for the opportunities to teach them the gospel. I would hope that they would be converted to Christ, and become true worshippers of God. Marcia writes, "Think of the good that could be done if we stopped beating up on each other and joined forces." We can only join together in the unity of the Spirit, Ephesians 4:1-6, but not in the compromises of error. ("So-called Christians" would lay aside their creeds, dogmas, church traditions, doctrines of men and stand united on truth, indeed it would be a great infusion for the cause of Christ!

Two times Marcia uses the title "Rev." before my name. I do not accept, nor want this religious title of distinction. Jesus condemns such religious titles of distinction in Matthew 23:7-10. Jesus gave the reason in verse 8, "and all ye are brethren." That puts all of God's children on an equal plateau before God.

Marcia says, "This Rev. McKibben does appear to be a devout believer in the New Testament, but apparently has no respect for the prophets of old, the great warriors, and servants of God." I do have a great respect and admiration of God's faithful servants and prophets under the Old Testament. Yet God speaks in Matthew 17:3-5 at the mount of transfiguration, where Moses and Elijah (who preceded Jesus, and the prophets) appeared with Jesus. Notice what verse 5 says, "While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him." Listen to God again, "HEAR YE HIM." I choose to listen to God's voice in this matter. I respect Moses and the prophets of old; but their laws and statutes were given the Hebrew nation and were done away with. The New Testament law of Christ was given and is binding on us today; consider: Heb. 7:12; Heb. 8:13; Heb. 8:13. On the contrary, we appreciate folks like Marcia who are willing to discuss the word of God.

My friend writes, "I do believe there will be literal instruments and musician heaves." This will not be proven in Rev. 14, and then secondly it needs to be proven that we can do so here on earth.

She continues, "So, for purely selfish reasons, I hope Rev. McKibben is wrong. But just suppose he isn't wrong, shouldn't the subject be muted?" The answer to this question is NO! People still need to repent of this work of iniquity. God still desires and wants people to worship him in spirit and in truth.

Sincerely,
Dan McKibben

Dear Editor:
A 10-year-old boy's left arm was ripped from his body when his sweatshirt got caught in a rotating power-take-off.

A 32-year-old farmer nearly died from over exposure to anhydrous ammonia, the gas used as a fertilizer on many farms.

A 35-year-old farmer was crushed to death when his tractor overturned and pinned him underneath.

Kentucky's agricultural work force represents a vital piece of the Commonwealth's economic puzzle. Although farmers comprise only 3.3% of the state's total labor force, approximately 27% of occupational fatalities occur in the agriculture/forestry/fishing industries, the most deaths occurred in any industry.

While one death on the farm is too many, the word about farm safety is getting out and fewer farmers and farm workers are dying on the job. In 1995, 42 deaths occurred because of agriculture. In 1996, there were 33 fatalities. In 1997, the number of deaths further dropped to 31. These numbers further prove that one day we will have zero deaths in our industry.

The farm safety issue is the focus of Kentucky's Agriculture Day celebration. While National Agriculture Day is set aside to recognize the efforts of those who provide our food and fiber needs, we also want to emphasize the problems and dangers those in the agriculture industry face on a daily basis.

Growing Tomorrows - Through A Safer Today" is Kentucky's Agriculture Day theme. Students across the Commonwealth have participated in the annual poster and essay contests that required them to interpret this theme on paper. While students

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

The Rockcastle County Public Library will be having a display from the Rockcastle Middle School during the months of March and April. There will be a different country represented each week, beginning March 23rd and continuing for five weeks. We encourage everyone to stop in and see these displays. This will give more of the public a chance to see some of the things that our middle school students are doing. We always welcome displays from our schools. If you would like to schedule a time for a display, call the library at 256-2388.

The bookmobile will be available for school programs this spring. The students are given a tour of the bookmobile and told how to use the service from their home. It is very important that these students continue their reading skills during the time that school is not in session, and using the bookmobile service is a fun way to do this. Call the library and leave a message for Pam, if you would like for your class to be made aware of this year-round service.

There will be a summer reading program on the bookmobile as well as in the library. This program encourages children to read, by awarding prizes in different categories. You will be seeing more information on these programs. National Library Week is in April and the library will be celebrating this week, along with other libraries nationwide.

Our library has many services available to the folks in Rockcastle County. If you haven't been in the library for awhile, you should stop by and see the changes and take advantage of your very own public library.

Beginning January 1, 1999, all payments made from the FSA Office will be made by direct deposit. This means that all participants in the AMTA (com) program need to come in and make arrangements for their payments to be made directly to the financial institution of their choice. If you do not make arrangements by January 1, 1999, to receive your payment through direct deposit, you will no longer receive program payments from this office.

Three people escaped serious injury when their vehicles hit head-on on U.S. 25 Saturday morning. The accident occurred about noon at Snyder. Witnesses told police that the van, at left, driven by Herman Morris of Livingston, which was traveling north, crossed the center line into the path of the truck, which was traveling south and being driven by Troy

Mason of Berea. Morris, who was transported to the Berea Hospital by Rockcastle ambulance complaining of back and head injuries, told state police he didn't remember why he crossed the center line. Mason was treated for a minor injury at the scene. A passenger in the truck was not injured.

Total is over $250,000 FEMA reps decide on damage from February snowstorm

Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) officials have met with County Judge/Executive Buzz Carlotfis on several occasions during the last couple of weeks to review the condition of the county's roads and the funds already expended by the county to clean up emergency passages, following the early February snow storm.

Judge Carlotfis and others, including court clerk Anna Rose Mullins, county road foreman Jack Cromer and state road foreman Billy Joe Shafer, have spent many hours compiling required paperwork for FEMA officials and the last round came Monday and Tuesday of this week. Those days were spent adding up the total damage to the county's roadways and, although the documentation must be reviewed in Frankfort before going to Atlanta for payment, the original assessment of $257,000 appears to be holding up, Carlotfis said.

ways, in addition to their other maintenance and blacktopping projects, in the federal government's required and limited time frame," Carlotfis said.

According to the Judge/Executive, over 300 county roads were damaged when over a foot of snow fell, knocking out power lines and downing trees all over the county.

Carlotfis also said that 98% of the private contractors, who submitted bills ranging from $200 to $13,000, had been paid with a short-term note borrowed for the expense and part of the FEMA funds would be used to repay that loan.

Meeting with the FEMA officials Monday and Tuesday caused "everything else in our office to come to a standstill," Carlotfis said, so the regular monthly meeting of the Fiscal Court was delayed again until Wednesday (yesterday).

This money will be returned to the county to reimburse the fiscal court for contract work, road repairs and replacement and work yet to be completed. "Much of the work not yet done along roads will probably be contracted out. The Fiscal Court will have to approve it, of course, but there is no possible way for our road crew to remove all debris from right-

U.S. Postal Service representative from Lexington were here Monday to review the mapping project for the county with 911 coordinator, Edwin Anglin, and Carlotfis. The local 911 board will begin the mapping training project for the Enhanced 911 system this week with EmergITech.

No true bill returned against Hood in school altercation

A Rockcastle County Grand Jury failed to return a true bill (indictment) against a Mt. Vernon man who was charged with three felony counts involving an incident at Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

David Hood, 30, of Paul Street, was released March 2 on $25,000 cash/property bond from the Rockcastle County Jail after being jailed on charges of wanton endangerment, assault and intimidating a witness.

Newcomb will be arraigned March 27 at 10 a.m. Bail was set at $10,000 cash or property.

The charges were brought by Mt. Vernon Elementary School principal Rose Brown following an incident on February 25 after Hood allegedly struck Mrs. Brown with the rear of his car and then reportedly called her and tried to intimidate her with threats to keep her from reporting the incident.

Hood was originally jailed under $25,000 cash bond but the bond was later changed to $25,000 cash/property.

The Grand Jury did return seven indictments, the most serious of which was against David Newcomb, of U.S. 25, Livingston.

Newcomb, 38, was indicted on three counts of Rape, First Degree by engaging in sexual intercourse with a female minor through the use of forcible compulsion between August 1997 and November 1997. He was also indicted on three counts of Sodomy, First Degree by engaging in deviate sexual intercourse with the same female minor by use of forcible compulsion during the same period.

Pay raise bill for county officials passes house

State Rep. Danny Ford (R-Mt. Vernon) said Tuesday that HB 810, An Act Relating to Public Officials, had passed the House 56-32. However, Ford said the bill, which could possibly double the maximum allowed for salaries for county officials, would probably return from the Senate "looking totally different."

Ford, who voted against the measure said the bill, as first presented showed an increase from $6 to $12,000 per year for county officials but, later information showed that the increase, which will be based on county population primarily and includes a Cost of Living Adjustment (COLA), could double the maximum salary for county officials in some counties.

"While I think salaries of county officials need to be adjusted, I didn't feel we were given enough specific information about our own counties and I didn't feel we needed to impose a mandate on county governments for this large an increase," Ford said Tuesday.

"I know that salaries for county officials have not been adjusted since 1980, but I also know that our own county government (Rockcastle) is already having a difficult time making expenses and I just felt this would be more of a burden for them," Ford went on to say.

According to Judge/Executive Buzz Carlotfis, he is not taking the maximum salary allowed by law now (something over $48,000) and said he was the first county judge who had been in office not to take a raise to the maximum because "I knew we (the fiscal court) couldn't afford it." Carlotfis said by state law, no other county official is supposed to make more than the county judge but, Carlotfis also said, if the maximum salary was increased, county judges would feel a lot of pressure from other county

Taking it from here (top photo) and putting it there (bottom photo) has kept earth-moving crews busy now for several weeks. The work is taking place at the intersection of U.S. 25 and Richmond Street. A rock mountain across from McDonald's is being moved in the top photo and the rock from it is being used to fill the valley on U.S. 25 north of Wendy's. The U.S. 25 site will be the location for a new Wendy's when the site of the present Wendy's is taken to add two lanes to U.S. 25. Upon completion, there will reportedly be two southbound lanes, a turn lane and one northbound lane. The site across from McDonald's will be used as commercial lots.

I finally figured out why the motor oil people are so big on advertising college basketball games. And it doesn't have anything to do with cars.

If you've been watching the NCAA tournament you should have noticed that the predominant hair style among college coaches is that wet, slicked-back, Pat Riley look-alike do.

Given the way their teams have performed, it seems to me that Pat has had considerably more influence on coaching coffers than he has had on handling the round ball.

Anyway, I got to thinking about what on earth a man could buy at the hair care counter to slick his mop back like that and I don't believe there is anything. I believe you have to go to the automobile aisle and look for 10W-40 Penzoil or Valvoline. I'm not good at remembering coaches names, though Florida's Billy Donovan does come to mind, but there must have been at least 25 of the original 64 coaches, who started the tournament with their hair greased down. I wonder if they buy it a quart at a time or by the case. Some of them look like a quart wouldn't last more than one outing.

It also seems to me that, since they make a bundle endorsing all those other products, coaches are missing the boat by not signing on with the big oil companies. Maybe they'd get a free case and a few bucks to boot if they'd agree to put little Valvoline logo stickers above each car. Hey, it never hurts to ask.

Speaking of the NCAA, I'm still miffed about the Oklahoma State-Duke game. All in all I thought the officiating had been pretty fair up to that game. Even that one would have been fair if one of the referees had simply put on a Duke jersey and admitted outright that he was a member of the team. If Oklahoma State had known what it was up against, they would still be in the tournament.

Not that it matters much. I filled out three tournament grids where you try to pick the winners of each game and the person who gets the most

Why Is 08 Not The Answer?
Jerry J. Cox is the immediate past president of the Kentucky Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers and a partner of the law firm of Clontz & Cox in Mt. Vernon.

With the passage of lower blood alcohol for operators by both Washington and Frankfurt, I thought an article on that topic would be appropriate.

Lowering the blood alcohol level for operators of vehicles is not the answer because the machines used to measure the blood alcohol are not accurate.

Before proceeding with this discussion I want to point out that even the most avid defense lawyers would agree that incapacitated operators of all kinds should be kept off the road. I guess its not the goal that we take issue with as much as the means by which it is reached. In no other area of the law has the protections afforded the citizenry by the bill of rights been abrogated and ignored more than in the area of DUI.

Lowering the blood alcohol level to point .08 is the wrong answer because of the following reasons. This is a little complicated so stay with me on this. The "Machine" does not measure alcohol. Let me say that again. The machine does not measure alcohol. The machine measures light. The machine is an Intoxilizer 5000 and in the same band of light in which alcohol is found are hundreds of other chemicals. Chemists call this type of test a "non specific" test. But this problem is only minor when compared to the next problem with the machine. Since what we are supposed to be looking for is blood alcohol the breath measurement must be converted blood alcohol. It is this conversion which defense lawyers were able to successfully demonstrate the unreliability of the machine. To accomplish this conversion the government adopted a 2100 to 1 conversion ratio. The problem this raises is that no human being has ever been tested to have this conversion rate. In fact, people, even according to the government, have a conversion rate from below 800 to 1 to above 3500 to 1. This ratio is constantly changing throughout the day in each of us depending upon our health, diet, activities, and a multitude of other factors. What this means to you is that if you are tested when you have a low "partition ratio" your test will be inflated and much higher than it actually is or if tested when the ratio is high the results will show too low a score. As you can see the current system causes innocent people to be convicted and

PERSECUTIONS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and apogrositations from the placid but pacesetting Dell of Wabd, better known as the Navel of Earth, and the only ohlme of the late Mervet C. Slickster, long-time Director of the Greater Wabdonian Stock Exchange, and part-time retriever and restorer of lake thrown golf clubs, who asked, "Is something amiss with those who long for eternal life but are bored with and beset by a lazy Sunday afternoon?"

Well, bless my baud and bitmap, too, beloved, but what ole Mervet described was certainly not the case here at Nod's Little Acre today, Sunday, March 15. Egad! And shades of Caesar! The Ides of March! (Baud and bitmap, beloved, are computer terms. I share them with you because we should keep abreast of the times and learn the lingo of the hour and of tomorrow, sometimes called computerese.)

An Aside: I commenced composing this missive, dear hearts, at half past ten on this Sunday evening, March 15, because Editor Anderkin needs my copy on Monday for Thursday's issue of The Signal. And I do it all for you, my faithful readership (no relation to abshipping, amidship, or the Old Ship of Zion). No, that's not totally true, beloved. I also write Heresay for myself. It is a weekly chron in which I delight, in which I report the comings and goings in Wabdonia, and in which I assess and pass on to you things as they really are. The latter, I'm sure, you know and often avouch. (Avouch is this week's King James word. I lovingly remind you that)

A King Jim word used oft each day. Surely bespeeth Old Scratch avow. (End of An Aside)

Abide with me, beloved. I will get to my point for the day. The circuitous cleric in me dieth hard.

A-mercy! And shame on me for waiting until Sunday night to attack a Monday deadline. I am the chief of procrastinators. I should have been at this no later than last Thursday. Sometimes, however, I get the job done with ease even though I wait until the last witching hour to get going.

But not today! It is as if there is an irresistible force—the Ides—standing between me and my weekly column of facts and communal sagacity. Let me explain.

First, there are the NCAA basketball games. I could have watched only the Cats game, but I had to see what the opposition looked like. That meant watching Duke against Oklahoma State (State got two ridiculous calls, one in each half, that would have greatly changed the tenor of the game had not they been whistled. Duke might have gone down.) It also meant watching UCLA against Michigan, one of which would be the Cats next opponent. I pulled for UCLA. I hope that was wise.

Secondly, it may be that I can't get things going journalistically because I'm going against the grain biblically. Writing on a Sunday is taboo, if one believes the Old Bible is still in force, to wit: "Thou shalt not assay to essay on the Lord's Day, lest thine offspring be smitten with loathsome sores, carbuncles, and festered blackheads for forty days and forty nights and even unto the fourth generation." (2 Hezekiah 19:37)

Thirdly, I started writing late tonight because no sooner had we finished the ball games and gulped down our evening repast than on the tube came Moby Dick, the latest production of Melville's monumental work. I thought it a neat move to have Gregory Peck portray Father Mapple, the Calvinistic clergyman whose pulpit was shaped like the prow of a ship. It was Peck who play Captain Ahab in the fifties' version of the great white whale, whereas Patrick Stewart was as a hell bent to destroy that bounding

Allowing Seniors to Make Their Own Health Care Choices

Imagine being forced into a government-knows-best health care plan. Sound familiar? It should. One of the Clinton Administration's first major legislative initiatives in 1993, attempted a federal takeover of our nation's private health care system. Fortunately, outraged Americans helped Republicans and moderate Democrats beat back this assault on market choice five years ago. Well, President Clinton's big government boys are at it again, and this time they're using Medicare to restrict a senior's right to contract with the doctor of their choice.

Through a crafty interpretation of the Medicare law, the Clinton Administration is forcing doctors to choose between participation in the Medicare program and treating seniors who, by their own choice, want to pay out-of-pocket for a medical service rather than bill Medicare. Under the President's rules, a doctor who contracts directly with a senior for medical care is banned from the Medicare program for two years.

By threatening to deny doctors the right to treat Medicare patients, the government is placing seniors between a rock and a hard place. Seniors who are newly enrolled in Medicare may find that their doctor of choice is no longer accepting new Medicare patients. They must either find a new doctor who is accepting Medicare patients, or they may decide to go to the physician they prefer and pay for services out-of-pocket. But remember, if a doctor participates in just one direct contract with a Medicare enrollee, that physician is prohibited from serving any other senior using Medicare for two years. This basically eliminates 96 percent of all doctors from participating in any direct contract with a Medicare eligible senior!

Not much of a choice, is it? In fact, the Congressional Budget Office has predicted that "private contracting will almost never be used."

I see no reason why seniors should be prohibited from using their own judgment about health care when they turn 65. This is why, I last year, supported a provision in the Balanced Budget Act to repeal the section of the Medicare law that the Clinton Administration used to force doctors to choose between participating in Medicare and serving the patients who come to them for care. To my great dismay, the Clinton Administration threatened to veto the entire balanced budget agreement over this commonsense provision.

After the Clinton Administration rejected our proposal to repeal the private contracting ban, I joined with forty-six of my Senate colleagues in cosponsoring the Medicare Beneficiary Freedom to Contract Act of 1997. This measure will allow doctors who file Medicare claims to enter into private contracts with seniors who want to use their own money to pay for their medical care. I, along with other Senators concerned about the issues facing America's senior citizens, am determined to fight to get this bill enacted into law this year.

In 1993, the American people spoke out loud and clear that nationalized health care does not serve the best interests of patients. Though we won that fight, President Clinton firmly believes that the government makes better health care decisions than individuals and their doctor. Now, the Administration wants to use Medicare to take away the ability of seniors to use their own resources in caring for their health. This outrage must be stopped dead in its tracks. Don't you agree that seniors deserve to make their own health care choices?

For more information on this issue or any other issue, please feel free to write me at 3614 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 or call me at (202) 224-2541. I should have listened to my little brother, Steve who was predicting that Rhode Island would beat Kansas long before the dance even in music. beast whose ivory teeth severed his leg—and his soul.

Now, I and a host of Moby Dick enthusiasts are still debating, among other symbols in the novel, the "whiteness of the whale." Does it represent the purity of God, or is it an ironic comment in that the whale represents evil? Further analysis could lead one to say that the whale symbolizes God who embodies both good and evil!

I plan to do an essay on the subject of the problem(s) of evil sometime in the near future, the Almighty willing. And I'll begin with a passage from the Book of Ecclesiastes which seems to equate evil days with old age! Grasp your uppers when I publish my thoughts on that subject!

Beloved, it is now Monday, March 16, 2:12 a.m. and I'm getting sleepy. Pardon me while I get some beauty rest (do I really need it?) and I'll take up my task later in the morning.

Tick tock, tick tock... your life seconds numbering.

I'm ba-a-a-ck! The clock on my computer reads 10:32 a.m., and I, having had my breakfast of puffed wheat and coffee, will now continue my essay, which at this point does not have a point!

Mentioning last night "the Ides of March" brought to mind the intriguing fact March 15 is the birthday of the twice-fallen television prophet, Jimmy Swaggart. Dear hearts, the man was doomed to failure. After his fall, he said, "If I do not return to my [television] pulpit, millions of souls will go to hell!" I have only two things to say about that situation and statement: the first is "How sad." And the second is: "It ain't no laughing matter, especially to those who have been there or close by as similar versions of that tragedy transpired."

Now, may I get to my point for the day?

No, you cannot, John, because you have yet to explain the number one reason for your procrastination.

Indeed I do! Beloved I got nothing done yesterday because our darling grand-daughter, KATIE, WAS HERE! AND STILL IS, even as I type. (Uh-oh! She's going for my mouse at this very minute. Ah! Saved by her mom, Malissa.)

Grandparents know. When your little sweetie is in the room, everything focuses on her (or him). You watch her every move, her new and old facial expressions, her clapping hands, her steps and tumbles, her poopy diapers, and you catch the Cas' game with furtive glances at the tube. "A-merry!" If this kid gets any cuter and sweeter, we'll have to give her away.

Yeah, Right. Beloved, Katie will be here for the rest of this afternoon. So, with your permission, I'll end this article with our point. (Reminds me of the some of the my youthful sermons. And those sermons bring to mind an Indian chief's response to a missionary's sermon. "Big wind, heap thunder... no rain.")

So, until next week, dear hearts, keep looking up, give thanks in all things and for all things (like the little tyke who is playing peek-a-boo with me behind the monitor of my laptop). All things, dear hearts, include your joys and you sorrows, your jaunts and your jaunts, and sundry other things like Nancy's good chili, and my doggies' never-ending devotion, and a dozen pairs of new underwear. That brings to mind a friend from childhood, whose question to her preacher son every time he went out to preach was: "Son, do you have on clean underwear?" Add to our thankful list a mother's loving concern.

And, if you have a little time on your hands, give a modicum of meditation to the words of the late Spooler Q. Armbrister, long-time Wabsonian numismatist, and part-time collector of coins, medals, and paper money, who said, "Civilization has brought us an atomic bomb, a hydrogen bomb, a worried look, and an income tax blank."

guilty to go free. In order to hide this problem from juries and make it easier to convict, the legislature enacted a law that in effect says everyone has a 2100 to 1 ratio. This is an average but I have a real problem with using averages to fine, incarcerate and take the driver's license of a citizen. The law is not unlike the churches excommunication of Galileo for saying the earth circled the sun.

The machine has a lot of other problems affecting its accuracy including, but not limited to, radio frequency interference, electrical surges, defects in calibration and operator and technician error to mention but a few. However, another glaring error in the use of breath machines has now come to light. An article in LAW AND SCIENCE, DUI JOURNAL, Vol. 13, No. 2 authored by Michael P. Hlastala, PhD division of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine,

University of Washington, questions whether the machines premise that "deep lung air" canis actually measured by the machines and whether it can be equated to blood alcohol. He calls for forensic scientists to reevaluate the use of alcohol breath tests.

Is there a better, more accurate method of testing drivers for their competence? Of course there is. It is the skill with which one operates an automobile that we desire—and I submit that it is—there is no reason that an automobile simulator much like those seen in arcades of yore could be used. That would permit video recording of the test and insure a fair test. It would also subject those of us who simply cannot drive to loss of license.

On a completely different note, several weeks ago I pointed out several of the more egregious miscarriages of justice occurring in this country. That article led with the story of an FBI agent who criticized certain FBI labs for shoddy laboratory work.

The government immediately suspended the FBI agent, barred him from entering FBI labs, although it was his job to inspect them and try to insure quality control. The government then commenced a campaign to smear the agent's reputation. I'm happy to report that the "Just-Us" Department has conceded its mistake and agreed to pay a record $300,000.00 settlement to the agent and has further agreed to speed release to the agent of over 180,000 pages of FBI lab reports by examiners whose work had been criticized.

Candidate for Magistrate 4th District Your vote and support would be appreciated

Paid For by Byron Baker

To The Citizens of Rockcastle County I am a candidate for SHERIFF of Rockcastle County.

I have 17 years experience and I have formal training and experience in accident investigation, criminal investigation, interrogation, finger printing, all gained as a Ky. State Police trooper in Eastern Kentucky. I will have all officers formally trained and have someone on call to meet your needs. My promise to you is this—I will do what is right. I will put my training and experience to work to change the image of Rockcastle County.

Paul Harvey stated on national news, "Rockcastle County is the place to commit murder." With your support we can change this image, with the help of other elected officials. I promise to work hard. I will get good men as deputies in each end of the county. My No. 1 priority is the thefts and reason for these thefts and to make the county a place that is safer for all. I ask for your vote. I promise your needs will be listened to. Any questions, feel free to call me at 758-0205.

Sincerely, Billy M. Hammons

I'll Wait For You In Heaven
Amidst the clouds I'll wait for you adored in Heavens lights,
Among the stars I'll shine on you, unseen but still in sight,

For God removed me from this Earth, but left you with my love,
Remember all the happiness and fleeting years we shared,

While life has rushed down here on Earth, with God there are tomorrow,

The Family Room

By Dr. Don Whitehead

Your Faith Affects Your Illness
Donna and Carl had come to see me for marriage counseling. (All characters are fictitious.) Donna was unhappy with the marriage. She wanted to get help before the relationship got worse.

Soon after the first counseling sessions, Donna found a lump in her breast during her monthly self-examination. After further tests the doctor recommended a biopsy. This confirmed Donna's worst fears: she had breast cancer.

When Donna and Carl returned for counseling the next week, they were very different from the couple I had seen the week before. Carl worried and paced the floor through much of our session. Donna seemed calmer but was obviously dealing with some very strong emotions.

The two were both Christians, and they tried to understand what was happening in view of their beliefs. "I've had the thought that this is God's punishment on me for wanting to leave the marriage," Donna admitted sadly. "I don't like to think that way, but I do wonder."

"Donna, I don't think God works that way," I told her. "I don't believe he sits up on his throne waiting to zap us for every mistake. Also, I cannot believe God would hurt your children like this while punishing you."

"There are many people praying for her," Carl added. "I think everything is going to be alright. I believe God can heal her."

When a lumpectomy was unsuccessful, Donna elected to have a double mastectomy. "I'm not going to spend the rest of my life worrying about a recurrence in the other side," she told the doctor.

Some weeks after her surgery, Donna and Carl returned to counseling. "I really believe the lumpectomy would take care of it," Carl said angrily. "I am mad at God for doing this to her."

"Carl," Donna replied, "God didn't do this to me. It just happened."

"Maybe he didn't do this to you," Carl agreed, "but he could have stopped it. With all those people praying for you, why didn't he listen? What good is prayer anyway?" (I assumed Carl that God was not going to "strike him down" for expressing such thoughts.)

While Carl was going through his crisis of faith, Donna's attitude was amazing. Even after major surgery that forever changed her appearance and her life, she remained upbeat. "I have faith that I am going to be well," she declared to Carl and me. The chemotherapy was hard on Donna. For six months she was tired and listless. Her hair fell out, and she wore a wig. She had bouts of nausea regularly. Donna sometimes lost her positive outlook. She grieved the loss of her breasts. "She's still hanging in there," Carl reported. "She is an amazing woman."

Carl was taking a serious look at the meaning of prayer. "If I ask God to heal Donna," Carl asked, "does he hear that? Is anybody home up there?"

While assuring Carl that I did not have all the answers to his questions, I did share some thoughts with him. "Most of us think of prayer as asking God for things. We see God as a celestial Santa Claus who grants wishes. Maybe that is not what prayer is all about. Perhaps prayer is not so much of staying in touch with The Universal Source of power and love. Perhaps prayer is it is so much about asking as it is about being—being still and becoming aware of the presence of God."

Kentucky accepting applications for Environmental Quality Incentives program

David G. Sawyer, Kentucky State Conservationist for the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), has announced the 1998 ranking period for the USDA's Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

EQIP is a USDA program created by the 1996 Farm Bill to address agriculture's priority natural resource and environmental concerns. It reflects the commitment of USDA and the Congress for a flexible, effective, voluntary conservation program for agricultural land.

"The EQIP program proved to be a winner from the beginning," stated Sawyer. "In less than a year, it has become one of the most popular conservation programs at USDA, not to mention the lasting environmental benefits. There is a strong demand for voluntary conservation efforts, and EQIP helps farmers meet that demand with financial, technical, and educational assistance," Sawyer said. Under EQIP, USDA can provide cost-share assistance to land users for up to 75 percent of the costs of certain environmental protection practices such as grassed waterways, filter strips, manure management facilities, and wildlife habitat enhancement. USDA may also provide incentive payments to encourage producers to apply selected land management practices that are not currently in use on their land.

Total cost-share and incentive payments are limited to $10,000 per person per year and $50,000 for the length of the contract, which can run from five to ten years. The program is limited to persons who are engaged in livestock or agricultural production.

For federal fiscal year 1998, Kentucky will receive $2.89 million. Approximately 70 percent of this will be used in six locally identified priority areas and 30 percent will be used for other significant state wide natural resource concerns including water quality, animal waste management, soil erosion and wildlife concerns.

Funds will be distributed on a competitive basis. While the sign-up for EQIP is considered to be continuous, cut-off points will be identified where all applications received up to that point will be scored according to ranking criteria. Applications with the most environmental benefits for program costs will receive the highest consideration for funding. Because of the limited funding, all counties may not receive funding.

The first ranking period will be from April 1, 1998, until May 29, 1998. All applications received throughout May 29 will be scored and ranked against each other. All funds are expected to be expended during this ranking period and it is unlikely that there will be another ranking period in 1998.

Applications for EQIP may be made at the local NRCS, Farm Service Agency, or Conservation District Office. For more information, contact Randall Templeman at 256-2541.

Wildlife habitat incentive program to receive $24 million

On February 27, Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program (WHIP) will receive $24 million during FY 1998. Kentucky is expected to receive $357,000 in financial assistance in 1998. The WHIP, administered by the USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service, provides financial and technical assistance to help landowners improve fish and wildlife habitat on private lands. The WHIP allows each state to tailor its program to ensure the greatest benefit to wildlife habitat while receiving cost share. Applications ranking periods will occur throughout the year as money is appropriated to Kentucky. The first application ranking period will extend from April 1 to May 29.

To ensure that your wildlife habitat improvement project receives consideration during the first ranking period, sign up at your local Natural Resources Conservation Service office or talk to your local Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources biologist between April 1 and May 29.

For more information contact Randall Templeman, District Conservationist at 256-2541.

share to establish, manage and maintain these practices during a five to ten year cost share agreement period. WHIP sign-up will begin April 1, however, after that date a continuous sign-up for the WHIP is offered. Applications must include more than five acres to ensure enough area for a noticeable habitat improvement.

WHIP is a competitive program where applications are ranked according to their environmental benefits. Applications having the greatest benefit to wildlife habitat will receive cost share. Applications ranking periods will occur throughout the year as money is appropriated to Kentucky. The first application ranking period will extend from April 1 to May 29.

To ensure that your wildlife habitat improvement project receives consideration during the first ranking period, sign up at your local Natural Resources Conservation Service office or talk to your local Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources biologist between April 1 and May 29.

Kyrgyzstan officials visit LEAP to discuss rural economic development

By Elizabeth Crowe, LEAP It may seem at first that people from Rockcastle County wouldn't have much in common with people from Kyrgyzstan (pronounced keer-gis-tan), a small county near Russia. But on Friday, March 13, members of the Livingston Economic Alternatives in Progress (LEAP) organization found there was a lot to talk about. A group of seven political officials from Kyrgyzstan visited LEAP as part of a tour of Kentucky to learn about rural economic development in our state. The tour was sponsored by the Louisville International Cultural Center (LICC).

Many of the overseas visitors are economic development officers in the country's Parliament, which is similar to our federal agencies. In addition to visiting LEAP, their tour included a meeting with Kentucky's Appalachian Regional Commission program manager, a visit to Georgetown's Toyota Motor Manufacturing plant, Berea College, the Credit Union, and two small factories in London.

LEAP members and employees presented some general information about LEAP's programs such as the Golden Kentucky specialty foods business, Countryside Crafters United Crafters cooperative, the Livestock Development program. After answering questions from the visitors, they were treated to hot tea and some homemade goodies, including molasses cookies, made with Golden Kentucky sorghum. And, there was plenty of time for shopping in the "Shop At LEAP."

Mr. Talalibek Dioushev, the Kyrgyzstan President's Economic Development Chief-Advisor explained that about 30% of his country's population lives in the mountains, with 60% living in rural areas. Similar problems exist among small farmers and businesses being unable to compete with large producers. One of the country's primary agri-business is sheep farming, he said. But the price of wool has plummeted in recent years. Mr. Dioushev said he could take several ideas from LEAP and try them in Kyrgyzstan, but others would be difficult. He particularly liked the idea of marketing food products, but said the current economic situation would make getting supplies like jars and labels difficult. Mr. Kabybek Djumaliev, the Director of the President's Economic Department, said he liked the idea of giving grassroots community groups a tax-exempt status as incentive to develop small businesses.

Before they left for their next stop on the tour, the visitors were each given a complimentary jar of Golden Kentucky sorghum to share with friends and family back home. Some group members bought other craft items, including an old-fashioned woman's bonnet and apron.

"It was a real privilege to host the group," said LEAP director Frank Van Hove. "All LEAP members should take pride in the fact that our work for more economic self-sufficiency is being recognized." Betty

Rozier, a member of LEAP's Countryside Crafters United, said "The crafters groups is working so well for us here in Rockcastle County, it would be just great if our programs could be used to help people in other countries."

Art Exhibit at RCHS May 11

The Rockcastle County High School Key Club will sponsor the 2nd Annual Rockcastle County Artist Invitational Exhibit in the Rockcastle County High School Gym on Monday, May 11, 1998. All artists and craftspersons who live and work in Rockcastle County are invited to participate. Registration forms may be clipped from the Mt. Vernon Signal. All registration forms must be returned to Mr. Gary D. Tillery at Rockcastle County High School by April 10, 1998.

According to Mr. Tillery, Key Club faculty sponsor, "It's amazing the number of artists and craftspersons who live and work in Rockcastle County. Many of them are known outside of the county but are not recognized here. We think that the Rockcastle community should know about the talent and the folks behind that talent here at home."

All those who wish to participate should note that all work should be appropriate for multi-age audiences, Rockcastle County High School will not be responsible for lost or damaged items and all artists are requested to remain with their display throughout the exhibit day, if possible.

"This last request is very important," said Mrs. Ruth Allen, Administrative Assistant, Rockcastle County High School. "We want our students to appreciate the arts as more than just aesthetics. Other departments sponsor Career Day and it's appropriate for the Arts to be viewed as a career opportunity. If the artists are visible and available to the students then the arts become a more authentic experience."

In order for all residents of Rockcastle County to recognize and appreciate local artists, the May 11th schedule is as follows:

8:30 a.m. - 10:00 a.m.
Artists set-up in Rockcastle County High School Gym

10:00 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

Keeping Food Costs Low

By: Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

March is National Nutrition Month.

It is a good time to consider your food budget. When you afford the cost of the food your family is eating? Many factors come to mind when thinking about the cost of food.

Look at the food you are buying. Is it canned? Is this the best way to purchase this food? Would frozen be better? Or would fresh suit the needs of this certain food. When looking at canned vs. frozen vs. fresh, look at the number of servings you are getting with each item. This varies greatly, so compare and get the best buy for your family.

Read newspapers and ads for store specials. If the food on special is an item your family uses often, this might be a good, economical purchase for you. However, don't buy what's on sale if you can't use the food before it goes bad.

Planned leftovers is a good way to stretch your food dollar. As you purchase your food, think about how it can be prepared so that leftovers are available for a different meal.

Purchase only the food in the amount that you can eat or store properly. The larger container may seem like a good purchase, but if you end up throwing away half the item, was it a good value?

Compare prices as you shop. Comparison shop, but also consider what extra gas and time you are using going from store to store.

Here is a recipe that costs approximately $0.63 per serving. This recipe also freezes well:

MILD TEX MEX BEEF

1 lb. lean ground beef
1 medium onion, chopped
1 large (15.5 oz) can red kidney beans or pinto beans, drained
1 can (15.75 oz) whole kernel corn
1 can (15 oz.) tomatoes

The Mt. Vernon Signal Thursday, March 18, 1998 P.40

1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
salt & pepper to taste

Cook ground beef and onion in large skillet over medium-high heat for 10 minutes. Drain fat from skillet. Add remaining ingredients. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, for 20 minutes.

Makes 6 Servings. 1 1/2 cup, 30mg cholesterol, 37mg sodium, 25g protein, 240 calories per serving. Total cost of recipe is $3.77

Track Team competes at UK

Three members of Rockcastle's track and field team recently qualified for the Kentucky High School Invitational held at the University of Kentucky's Nutter Fieldhouse.

Freshman Theresa Chislum qualified in the 35 meter high hurdles. Freshman Cheyenne Carmack qualified in three events: the 55 meter dash, 200 meter dash and 400 meter dash. Junior Jeremy Saylor qualified in the long jump and the triple jump. All three competitors qualified last year when the invitational was open to only athletes from Kentucky. This year's selection was more significant due to the fact that individuals from twelve states were invited ranging from Alabama and North Carolina to Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Only 36 athletes were chosen in running events and 24 in field events.

Theresa Chislum ran an excellent race in the 35 meter high hurdles. Coming into the race, Chislum ranked 25th. She ran her best time of the indoor season and one of her fastest ever, finishing in 21st place. It's important to note that the majority of girls placing in the top twenty were juniors and seniors.

Cheyenne Carmack had her hands full with three sprint events; however, she decided to pass on her qualification in the 55 meter dash and concentrate her efforts on the 200m and 400m races. Carmack ran an excellent 400 meter race, finished a close second in her heat and ran her best indoor time ever. Coming into the competition, Cheyenne ranked 20th. She improved upon that by finishing 15th place. Cheyenne also ran a great 200 meter dash, finishing in 19th place. Coming into the race, she had ranked 25th among all competitors. Once again, the majority of the top twenty competitors in both races were juniors and seniors.

Jeremy Saylor performed very well in the long jump competition. Saylor improved upon his personal best jump, leaping 18'11". Jeremy had ranked 11th overall. In the triple jump competition, Saylor finished in 15th place, improving upon his 17th place ranking. Saving his best jump for last, Jeremy jumped an incredible 38' and broke his own personal record set last year.

All three athletes had excellent competitions and were able to compete against many great athletes from surrounding states. Among those competing was Owensboro's junior sensation, Casey Combest. Casey is undefeated this year and recently won the National Junior Scholastic Indoor 60m dash championship with the 3rd fastest time ever for a high school athlete. It was a tremendous honor for Rockcastle's athletes to qualify and compete with such a high class of athletes.

The outdoor season is fastly approaching and Rockcastle's track teams are working hard to prepare. The middle school teams are looking forward to an awesome season. The boys' team has several new additions which will improve their chances of success. The girls' team was undefeated last season and should continue their dominance this season since most of the team will return. The varsity teams also look strong at the beginning of the outdoor season draws near. The boys' team should continue to improve this year with the team and several individual members having a great chance to qualify for the state championships. The girls' team should enjoy a very successful season. They also have a tremendous opportunity to qualify for the state championships, both individually and as a team.

The future continues to look bright for Rockcastle's track program. Their hard work and dedication will undoubtedly bring them a successful season. Good Luck, Rockcastle!

County Judge/Executive

To fellow Republicans and all my other good friends in Rockcastle County:

I am both humble and excited as I begin my campaign for the office of County Judge Executive.

FIRST: Allow me to thank you for the friendly and kind treatment that you've given me thus far. This fact alone shows that Rockcastle has some of the best people anywhere.

SECOND: I appreciate so much the guidance you have given me as to what you want to see in a County Judge Executive. As I have heard you, these qualities are:

1. A person that keeps his word.
2. A judge that will be able to plan and manage our budget so that No New Taxes will be necessary.
3. A person that will attempt to create and maintain a friendly, productive relationship with all our county's towns and their officials.
4. A judge who will work with state and federal officials to bring additional industry into our county so our citizens may work at home (here in the county) if they choose.
5. One that will make a stronger effort to bring county advancement up to par, equal to adjoining counties.
6. A judge who has and will maintain a home county (Rockcastle) telephone that you can call without having to pay long distance charges.
7. One who shows concern for the crime rate and uses the influence of the office to affect legislation to reduce crime.
8. One who is able to follow through on work for water districts and water availability for all of our citizens.
9. A judge that will give priority to helping the established fire departments and other emergency organizations in the county.
10. One who understands and respects the needs of our senior citizens.
11. Other concerns that you may bring to me in the ensuing weeks.

Obviously, your business will be my business and I will take your concerns very seriously. I will be addressing these concerns, and others, in the weeks ahead. Your help will be valued and appreciated.

Sincerely,

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

I was at the last board meeting and I want to commend Ms. Isaacs for her stand on the preschool issue. The public doesn't know the whole story. If the administration had gotten what they wanted, all preschool children would have had to be bused to Mt. Vernon Elementary.

Children who qualify usually already have problems so they do not need to ride a bus for 45 minutes to an hour twice a day. Parents of Broadhead preschool and Roundstone preschool, this is what was going to happen.

Mr. Hammon, if Ms. Gabbard was allowed to do the job for which she at first was hired to do -- preschool not special education, things would be a lot better. She has been heard to say her preschool was getting neglected because she had to spend most of her time taking care of special education teachers were there because they were afraid of losing their job. If there was a meeting at the hospital, wouldn't you be there to make sure your job was safe.

Mr. Burton, yes, those preschool teachers were there because they were afraid of losing their job. If there was a meeting at the hospital, wouldn't you be there to make sure your job was safe.

Mr. Bray, I bet when the board voted to take $80,000 out of the general fund for the football field lighting, you said nothing about that. Folks, let get real -- children come first!

Maybe the state needs to come down and see just what is being spent on the children and what is being spent on unnecessary things.

Sooner or later, the board and administration will want to consolidate the last two elementary schools and you know, unless we have board members who care, we will never know the subject came up.

Let your board member know how you feel about the issues and I hope when your board member comes up for election, you will choose one that cares.

Ms. Sherry Isaacs, thank you for representing the northern end of Rockcastle County and please continue to fight for our children because it looks like no one else has the guts to stand up to the bureaucracy of Rockcastle County.

Susan Bennett
Northern Rockcastle Co. Resident

Dear Editor,

In response to Christine McKinney's letter to the editor that appeared in the 2-19-98 issue of the Mt. Vernon Signal, let me make a few observations. (The reason for delay in writing, I left on 2-16-98 to travel to Ft. Rucker, Florida to preach and teach for three weeks.)

My friend writes, "Well is it custodiated to being challenged." She speaks from ignorance of my life, and of what the scriptures speak. I am in a spiritual war against the works of darkness on every hand; fighting the good fight of faith; wrestling against spiritual wickedness; conflicts are to be expected, consider Eph. 6:10-17; 1 Tim. 1:18; II Cor. 10:3-5; 1 Pet. 3:15.

"He fired off a letter to the Signal and sent me an advance copy." Just following the example of Christine who had sent me advance copies of her letters. Is there anything wrong with being considerate?

My friend looks for a specific quotation like: "Thou shalt not use instrumental music in worship service." It's not there! But neither is a specific prohibition like: "Thou shalt not pray to Mary" or "Thou shalt not have religious dancing in worship" or "Thou shalt not have ice cream and cake in the Lord's supper" or "Thou shalt not sprinkle or pour for baptism" or "Thou shalt not use holy water" or "Thou shalt not use hamburger and cokes in the Lord's supper." Yet all of the above are included as unscriptural works of iniquity, as the general principles stated in Matt. 7:23; Matt. 15:9; Rm. 12:2; IIln. 9 shoes the error in all these matters! (We still need a verse to authorize instrumental music in worship.)

My friend is still wrestling with the passages in Rev. 5:8; Rev. 14:2; Rev. 15:2 whether they are "Literal" or "Symbolic". Is the 144,000 spoken about in Rev. 14:3, is this a literal exact number? Are the 144,000 only virgin men as Rev. 14:4 indicates? Who heard a "voice" in Rev. 14:2. Do harps give a voice or a sound? I Corinthians 14:7-8 "And even things without life giving sound, whether pipe or harp, except they give a distinction in the sounds, how shall he that hears what is piped or harped? For the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?"

My friend writes, "He obviously thinks instrumental music was mandated by Old Testament law and those people being forced to play for God.

Including what he considers an imposed duty to praise God with musical instruments!" Consider 2 Chronicles 29:25 "And he set the Levites in the house of the LORD with cymbals, with psalteries, and with harps, according to the commandment of David, and of the king his seer, and Nathan the prophet: for so was the proclamation of the LORD by the prophets." 2 Chronicles 29:30 "Moreover Heliashah the king and the princes commanded the Levites to praise unto the LORD with the words of David, and of Asaph the seer. And they sang praises with gladness, and they bowed their heads and worshipped." Is a command and a mandate and a duty, about the same thing?

My friend writes, "But a great deal of the Old Testament is still valid." The New Testament in my humble opinion, was intended as an addendum to clarify which parts of the Old Laws are still binding and those that aren't. Certainly the Ten Commandments were never repealed, and I resent McKibben's dislike for Moses and the prophets. Perhaps he is serious in saying he does not speak to Moses nor does Moses speak to him." Notice she goes no explanation of the texts in Hebs. 8:6-7; Mt. 17:3-5; Ga. 5:1-4. Let's look again at the Mount of Transfiguration in Matt. 17:3-5. God speaks from a cloud, Matt. 17:5 "While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and he said unto them out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him." What did God say? "HEAR YE HIM!"

Christine and others can disobey the voice of God all they want to, by going back and listening to Moses and the prophets in the Old Testament. But as for me, I choose to believe God, "HEAR YE HIM!" I'm seeking to be a disciple of Christ, not a disciple of Moses. I have no disdain for Moses and the prophets, I just listen to a greater prophet, Jesus Christ, consider Deut. 18:15-19, which is quoted in Ac. 3:22-26, which is fulfilled in Christ Jesus.

Finally my friend writes, "The various methods of worshipping God are matters of individual choice, also protected by the U.S. Constitution. McKibben and his congregation have made their choice and we respect that." Yes, I am very thankful for religious freedom that our country allows. Yes, we are creatures of individual choice. You can choose to worship God in any method or way you want; just like some people use their individual choice to have abortions, gamble, get drunk, commit homosexual acts. . . yet it doesn't make it right in the sight of God. Still seeks true worshippers, John 4:23-24, I choose to exercise my choice of worshipping God in spirit and in truth!

Sincerely,
Dan McKibben

Dear Editor:

In response to Marcia E. Harris' letter to the editor from 2-19-98 issue of the Mt. Vernon Signal, let me make a few observations.

We appreciate folks reading and taking the time to write. It shows interest, care and convictions. It seems like a lot of folks in our society have not much conviction anymore, so we really appreciate Marcia writing. As Marcia writes, "How sad it is that we Christians can be so divided in trivial matters such as various methods of worship." In John 4:23-24 Jesus said, "But the hour cometh, and now is, when those who exercise my will worship the Father in spirit and in truth; for the Father seeketh such to worship him. God is a Spirit; and

Legislative Update

By State Rep. Danny Ford

A dramatic rise in the level of activity at the State Capitol was evident early in the 10th week of the General Assembly. Committee agendas lengthened; more bills were passed; and the number of visitors to the Capitol increased. Of the 275 House Bills passed so far this session, 118 were passed in the first four days of this week. Approximately one-third of the four groups that have visited the General Assembly since January, did so during the first two weeks of March. The halls of the Capitol will be very busy as an additional one-hundred tours have been scheduled for the next couple of weeks.

Legislative issues for the week reflected a wide range of suggested changes in our laws. Emergency telephone service was addressed in two bills. House Bill 560 requires that private telephone companies be able to operate effective emergency service systems within three years and that they provide automatic number identification and location identification information for persons making emergency calls. House Bill 673 requires additional service of the emergency 911 system for cellular phones and allows for an additional charge of seventy cents per month on cellular phone bills for the additional enhanced emergency service costs. Also relating to telephone service is House Bill 582 which prohibits the switching of a customer from one to another telecommunications provider without the customer's written authorization.

House Bill 327, which reduces blood alcohol concentration to .08 for purposes of DUI laws, also provides for police officers to take an operator's license. First offenders will be issued temporary licenses for use until their court hearing, which is required to be held within twenty-one days. The bill passed by a vote of 90-4.

House Bill 490 moves the fiscal responsibility for transportation costs involved in moving juveniles from one facility to another, from the county to the state Department of Juvenile Justice. The actual transporting would continue to be carried out by the county sheriff or jailer. The bill now awaits Senate action.

When House Bill 85 was called for consideration on the House Floor mid-week, it ended a long silent period on a very emotional issue in our society. The passage of HB 85 is the most significant piece of legislation relating to the right of unborn children in this decade. It ended the long silent period in which bills to restrict abortions have been introduced and then buried in the committee system never to be debated or voted on by legislators. The debate on HB 85 lasted over five hours, and when it was all said and done, a message from our citizens was sent back out from the General Assembly that the Commonwealth does reflect a sincere respect for the rights of the unborn.

Thirty-five amendments were filed to HB 85 in an attempt by abortion proponents to either gut or mitigate the intentions of the bill. Thirteen of these amendments were called and debated before HB 85 passed by a vote of 75 to 17. Sponsored by Representative Katie Stine of Northern Kentucky, HB 85 requires that women seeking an abortion must wait at least twenty-four hours after contacting a physician or clinic. During this period, the woman is to be given information and is required to sign a statement that she understands the abortion procedure, possible side effects, and other alternatives.

The last measure restricting abortion to be signed into law in Kentucky was Senate Bill 136 during the 1994 legislative session. This legislation reduced consent requirements prior to a minor receiving an abortion by requiring that only the minor and one parent or legal guardian, instead of both parents or legal guardian, would have to sign a consent legal guardian, instead of both parents or legal guardian, would have to sign a consent form. With the House passage of HB 85, we are one step closer to further restricting abortions in Kentucky within the limits set forth by the United States Supreme Court.

A second social and heavily emotional issue that was called and passed in the House was House Bill 13. This bill would ban the recognition of marriages between two or more persons of the same sex. Such marriages are currently not recognized under Kentucky law, but other states have liberalized their laws on marriage and without the outright ban, Kentucky could be required to recognize such marriages that are legally performed in another state. After lengthy debate that kept the House in session until 10:00 p.m. the bill passed on a vote of 84 to 9.

Other legislation that passed included provisions that will allow for the development of community trails along closed railroads; increased medical services access for children; part time expansion capabilities for the parole board; juvenile curfews for citizens under the age of eighteen; and greater authority for the state to remove a child from the family in certain circumstances.

As there are important issues that still await a hearing, your thoughts continue to be important. To share your comments with me on legislation being considered, you may leave a message toll free by calling 1-800-372-7181. The Bill status line at 1-800-809-0020 will give you information on the status of bills.

Law Enforcement Appreciation Month continues

Kentucky State Police celebrating 50 years of dedication in service to the Commonwealth

By Mike Bryant
When most people think of the Kentucky State Police, they think of it as it is today—a highly professional agency of nearly 1,000 troopers with some of the most state of the art equipment available to law enforcement on the market. However, fifty years ago when the thin gray line was born, the Kentucky State Police was not as well off.

The familiar gray uniform worn by the Kentucky State Police officer symbolizes a long proud tradition that began in 1948 when the state police was established by an act of legislature. Only 138 officers made up the state police at the beginning, most of them coming from the very agency the KSP had replaced, the Kentucky Highway Patrol. The Kentucky Highway Patrol had its beginning in 1936 when the State Highway Department was created with a Division of Highway Patrol which had broad powers to regulate and enforce the traffic laws of Kentucky. Forty officers were employed to patrol the state's highways. By 1948, the force had increased to 100 officers.

On July 1, 1948, under the leadership of Governor Earl C. Clements, the Commonwealth of Kentucky became the 38th state to pass a State Police Act, forever changing the face of law enforcement in Kentucky. The Department of State Police was established by the signing of House Bill 291. Governor Clements saw a need for a statewide law enforcement agency. Many law makers in 1948 were opposed to the idea of a state police agency. Many local politicians feared that the state police would abrogate their powers and those involved in illegal gambling practices also relied upon immunity from local law enforcement. The Kentucky State Police, therefore, was born out of a need for traffic enforcement, criminal apprehension, and the need of a law enforcement agency that was not bound by county lines. With the growing number of vehicles on the state's highways, particularly in the post World War II era, there were not only more highway accidents and fatalities, but criminals were also using automobiles as an effective means of escape. Since that time, the Kentucky State Police has grown to a force of nearly 1,000 officers, supported by 700 civilian positions, and is still referred to as the Thin Gray Line. The Kentucky State Police today has evolved into a professional career-oriented law enforcement agency dedicated to preserving law and order. The Kentucky State Police is a full-service agency and all officers are empowered to enforce both criminal and traffic laws. Officers of the Kentucky State Police investigate all types of criminal activity and provide support to local police and county sheriff's departments. The Kentucky State Police has specially trained units, some of which include: Special Response Teams that handle potentially violent high risk situations; Canine Units that track suspects, detect drugs, and search for cadavers; Aircraft Section that conduct aerial reconnaissance, photography, surveillance, searches and extradite prisoners back from other states; Drug Enforcement/Special Investigations Section that investigate drug rings white collar and organized crime, and vehicle theft rings; and Executive Security which provides protection for the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and their families.

Obviously, the role of the Kentucky State Police has evolved throughout the years. More emphasis is placed upon criminal investigation. The Kentucky State Police is now utilizing the most advanced technology, including DNA testing in crime solving. However, the principle upon which the agency was established remains the same. Pride in the mark of those who have earned the right to wear the uniform of the Kentucky State Police. The men and women who have met the test for service prizes themselves on a life-long hard won reputation for courage, performance, integrity, and professionalism. Since 1948, the Kentucky State Police, has fostered and served that tradition by demonstrating their readiness and ability to respond around the clock wherever they are needed, no matter how difficult or dangerous the job may be. In this very demanding profession, an officer can encounter situations in one day that are more challenging than most people will experience in their entire life.

Rockcastle County has produced many young people, both past and present, who have served commendably with dignity and honor in the ranks of the Kentucky State Police.

Cleaning Float Trays

The greenhouse and float transplant production systems offer many advantages to tobacco transplant producers. However, a disadvantage of the float systems is that it provides an ideal habitat for the development and spread of transplant diseases due to the constant presence of water. Therefore, a key to success with these production systems is keeping the pathogens causing diseases out of the systems.

A diligent sanitation program is a MUST! The media and water being used should be pathogen-free. All equipment and tools that come in contact with the system should be pathogen-free! That means either new trays must be used or re-used trays must be properly washed and sanitized. What is available to disinfect trays? Steam, methyl-bromide fumigation, chlorine-bleach, and quarternary ammonium chloride salts are available in Kentucky. STEAMING TRAYS has been the most effective disinfectant, but its cost is high and some items are damaged by steaming. Most studies indicate that the trays need to reach at least 160 degrees F for 30 minutes, but this method presents problems for farmers in developing equipment to meet the temperature and time required.

FUMIGANTS: Methyl bromide with 1% chloropicrin has been almost as effective as steam in some of the tests. It provides excellent control of Rhizoctonia and other fungi on the surface of the tray. It will greatly reduce the level of Pythium, but has not been as effective as steam or proper bleaching in reducing Pythium, probably because a significant amount of Pythium is found embedded in the tray. It is important to have air-tight plastic seal, to pre-wet the trays, and to avoid large stacks of trays. Methyl-bromide is heavier than air, so it sinks; therefore, best results occur with long, short stacks rather than tall, deep stacks. We have found little control is provided at the low rates, so use the maximum labeled rates (3 lbs/1000 cubic ft). Certain types of styrofoam trays appear to be more easily damaged with this chemical. Pay special attention to ALL label precautions related to safety.

CHLORINE BLEACH solutions have given a high level of control. Just dipping the trays in the solution and allowing them to dry is not highly beneficial. We have found little benefit to using more than 10% solution. Without proper aeration and post-washes, salt residues can cause serious problems, especially with older trays that tend to soak up more material.

Bleaches work best when the trays are washed with soapy water, then dipped several times into clean 10% solution (1 gal. per 10 gal. water), followed by covering them with a tarp or plastic to keep them wet overnight (24-48 hrs) with the bleaching solution. Afterwards, the bleach solution should be washed from the trays with clean water or water plus a Q-salt listed below.

followed by aeration to eliminate the chlorine and salts. Worker safety issues are also important with bleach. It is important that the bleach solution remain below pH 6.8 and that new solutions be made up every 2 hrs. or whenever it becomes dirty, which ever comes first. Organic matter will remove the active ingredients quickly.

Q-SALTS (Quaternary ammonium chloride salts): These are marketed under such names as Greenshield, Physan, and Prevent as solutions containing 20% ammonium chloride. Many growers are using them, but the effects are not as positive as some believe, based on UK testing. The greatest benefit is in the final wash and on exposed surfaces in the greenhouse. In all UK tests, Q-salts have always provided some control, as compared to using soap washes only, but have always been inferior to any of the above mentioned methods.

Bottom Line: Remove as much soil from the trays by using soap and water or high pressure washes. Completely soak the trays in 10% bleach solution and cover with plastic for 24-48 hours, followed by washing and airing. Turn trays on their side for best air movement. Trays which are damaged allowing large amounts of last years soil media to remain in crevices are candidates for being disposed of. Sanitation is very important. As trays are used more, more disease problems occur. For producers with DIST 4 meters, an annual calibration is recommended. Contact the Extension Office if you would like to check your meters' accuracy.

"It is Written"
Recently, before the state of the union speech that President Clinton gave, one of the news commentators made an interesting point I would like to consider for a bit. With all the stir a swirling the past several days over allegations in the news, the commentator said whatever one may feel about the personal life of Mr. Clinton, that during the state of the union address, it was a time to "respect the office" of the president. Let's consider some verses on this matter.
In 1 Pet 2:13-14, Peter speaks about obedience to civil authorities, "Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, whether it be to the king, as supreme. Or unto governors, as unto them that are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers, and for the praise of them that do well." Then Peter went on to say in verse 17, "Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king." Honor the king, do you know who was king at that time? It was Nero, the Roman Emperor. Nero Nero was certainly less than what he ought to be as a human being, and did many ungodly and wretched activities, yet Peter says, "Honor the king." Yes, we can respect the office, even though the man (or woman) who holds that office may be less than what they ought to be as a person. Paul said in Romans 13:7, "Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour." In the context he was talking about the government authorities, vs 1-6. Yes, we ought to live an obedient life as a citizen of our country, but also giving the respect and honor that is due the rulers of the land. May we respect the office of the presidency!

Mt. Vernon Elementary is busy celebrating Music In Our Schools Month. This year's theme is "Music Power!" All of our classes are involved in a music display contest. Our hallways are very musical right now! The entire school will be having a musical dress-up day on Friday, March 20. Your child is encouraged to wear something musical on this day, or dress up as their favorite musician. We will also be having the 2nd annual All-School Sing on March 20th at 2:00 p.m. in the gymnasium. All parents are invited to attend and join our school in song! Mt. Vernon Elementary certainly has "MUSIC POWER!"

Students who excelled academically, behaviorally and in attendance were recognized last week in awards ceremonies. See academic award listings elsewhere in this week's Signal. Also, see next week's Message for attendance prize winners.

Thought For The Week: "Children have more need of models than of critics." Joseph Joubert

Eaton accompanies Georgetown College Choral in concert

The 37-member Georgetown College Choral will present its annual spring concert on Thursday, March 26, at 8 p.m. in John L. Hill Chapel. The event is free and open to the public.

Sacred selections include spirituals and an eight-part chorus. For He Shall Give His Angels Charge Over Thee, from Mendelssohn's oratorio, Elijah, Douglas Hisle, a freshman from Lancaster, will be featured as a soloist in one of the spirituals.

Secular selections include love songs and a folksong, Cindy, arranged by American composer Mark Wilberg. Angela Eaton, a senior from Mt. Vernon, will join Daniel Tilford, associate professor of music, on this folksong which has four hands piano accompaniment.

Some of the selections were performed during the choral's five-day tour in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio in February.

Dr. Mark J. Suderman, assistant professor of music, is the choral conductor.
