Fiscal Court gives Jailer $3,000 raise

By: Richard Anderkin

Lose an election one week and get a raise the next.

That is the situation that Rockcastle County Jailor Joe Howard found himself in on Tuesday, after the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court voted to give him a $3,000 raise.

Howard, who has made the same as County Judge-Executive Buzz Carlotis the past five years, had requested that the court allow him to make the state maximum for jailers for the last six months he is in office.

Currently Howard makes $42,600 per year, but the last six months he is in office his salary will be $48,726 a year.

The raise will take effect July 1. Second District Magistrate Jack Bradley made the motion and all the magistrates voted in favor. Judge Carlotis did not vote either way.

Bradley said on Tuesday that he thought Howard should get his cost of living raises, which he nor Carlotis have gotten in the past years. "I don't believe in kicking a man when he is down," Bradley said.

Howard was beat in the Primary Election last week by James Miller. Miller will face Democrat Dale Johnson in the Fall.

When Miller or Johnson take office in January they will start out at a much higher salary than Howard ever made.

Thanks to a new salary schedule passed by the Kentucky General Assembly, the local jailer will earn $52,787 his first year in office and $56,847 when he begins his fourth year in office.

The fiscal court once again briefly discussed the transfer of county prisoners from the county jail while the jail renovation project is underway. The renovation requires that the current kitchen in the county jail be totally torn out and remodeled. That means food will have to be brought in for county prisoners or a makeshift kitchen will have to be built, complete with a new exhaust fan.

If the county moves prisoners to other jails it will cost them approximately $17,000 a month.

The Judge said that by moving the prisoners it could move up the completion date of the renovation-construction project by a month.

The court will probably make a final decision as to what to do about feeding the prisoners and or moving them elsewhere at their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday.

Jim Woodrum, president of Architect Plus, the company in charge of the renovation project, will be at the meeting to discuss the project at length.

911 system now in operation

The 911 Emergency Dispatch System for Rockcastle County is now in operation.

911 Director Edwin Anglin said that the service had actually been operational for a couple weeks, but that 911's first official day was Monday.

Anglin said that two dispatchers will be on duty at all times and that all emergency calls for the county will be dispatched from 911, although the city of Mt. Vernon will still dispatch their own officers.

Persons who have questions for 911 or need to speak with Anglin should contact them at either 256-1327 or 256-4508.

Anglin reminds Rockcastle residents that all 911 calls are recorded and any prank callers will be prosecuted.

Deputy Sheriff Sonya Prewitt also reminds citizens that the new business line for the Sheriff's office is 256-2032. The Sheriff's emergency number is 256-2031 and will be answered by 911 dispatchers outside business hours.

Livingston has new Mayor

The City of Livingston has a new Mayor.

Council member Sandra Tyree, 32, was appointed by the council to take over for former Mayor Ed Lile, who resigned in May.

Tyree who had served as member of the council since 1993 was appointed by fellow council members

Todd Mink, Melody Salyer and Kathy Carpenter. The council also appointed Alveda Bond to replace Tyree on the council.

Tyree said her first major act as Mayor was to host an Open Book, Pot Luck dinner at the firehouse in Livingston at 6:30 p.m. on June 26.

Tyree said that all residents in Livingston were invited to examine the city books. The council currently meets at 9 a.m. on the third Saturday of each month, but the council plans to change that in the near future.

Tyree also said that she filed Wednesday to run for the Mayor's seat this fall.

Money for new police officer

U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers announced last Wednesday that the City of Livingston will receive a $67,834 grant from the U.S. Department of Justice to hire one additional full-time police officer.

"The job of law enforcement is difficult in our rural areas when there is not enough manpower," Rogers said. "This money will enable the City of Livingston to pay the salary and benefits for one additional sworn officer. This will go a long way in assisting Livingston's police officers as they battle crime and work to keep our people safe."

The Department of Justice grants provide law enforcement agencies with up to 75 percent of the total salary and benefits needed to hire additional officers for a three-year period.

Currently Livingston has two police officers, Roger Alcorn and Donnie Cope. Alcorn is part-time and Donnie Cope is a volunteer.

Bonds sold for $4.5 million water project in Mt. Vernon

The City of Mt. Vernon just completed a tax-exempt bond transaction for the renovation and expansion of their water and sewer system.

Nesbitt Engineers of Lexington served as project engineer and coordinated the $4.5 million project.

On May 19th, the City sold $3,375,000 of tax-exempt bonds through J.B. Hilliard, W.L. Lyons, Inc., Louisville.

The bond issue was insured by Financial Security Assurance, Inc., a nationally recognized insurance company, and will carry a AAA rating from Standard and Poor's Corporation. The term of the bond issue is 30 years and will have an average interest rate of 5.99%.

Remaining project funds will come from USDA-Rural Development loan and grant funds, Community Development Block Grants and funds from the Kentucky Department of Transportation.

Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer expects the project to be complete in about one year.

One big main...

The City of Mt. Vernon's 4.5 million dollar water project is now well underway. The project, which will upgrade the existing water plant, is probably the most important project to take place in the county in many years. Included in the project will be a new 24" water main that will double the capacity of the amount of water the city can furnish to most of the county. Many of the water main pipes are sitting along U.S. 25 in Mt. Vernon. Some of the water main pipes have already been installed.

The State May Be Watching!

The Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet is in the process of placing hidden surveillance cameras at illegal dump sites throughout the state. In the above photo, this man was filmed illegally dumping garbage at a Rockcastle County illegal dump site on May 3rd. The state has said that they will place the cameras randomly throughout the state and that violators could be fined up to $5000 a day.

State to put surveillance cameras at illegal dumps

A word of warning to people who dump their trash on Kentucky's roads, hillsides and creeks:

The woods might be watching. With a trash-filled abandoned Rockcastle County limestone quarry at Pine Hill as a backdrop, state Natural Resources Secretary James Bickford revealed Friday that the state is using hidden video cameras to catch illegal dumps.

A dozen people already have been caught in the last few weeks by cameras in Leslie and Jackson counties. Sample videos released to the news media showed three men unloading fat black plastic bags from a car and two pickups.

"These cameras will be rotated all around the state and nobody's going to have any idea where they are," Bickford said. "It's going to be kind of like the old television show... and they're going to be on candid cameras."

The cameras might be hidden in a hollow log. They might peep from a pile of garbage.

They are powered by marine batteries and switch on when they detect just the right amount of movement. They can be set so that rain or passing cars won't set them off, but a vehicle stopping so someone can unload trash will.

The cameras are the latest weapon in a crackdown on illegal dumps, part of cleanup program led by Bickford and U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers, R-Somerset. The program is called PRIDE, which stands for Personal Responsibility in a Degradeable Environment.

To date over 11,000 PRIDE volunteers have collected 17,860 bags of trash totalling over 5,000 tons.

Volunteers have also collected 31,118 tires and pulled 102 abandoned vehicles from state streams. 30,138 appliances have also been recycled.

Last spring, state investigators started tearing through garbage bags, looking for names and addresses of illegal dumpers.

When caught, polluters are given a choice of cleaning up the dump or risking a hearing that could lead to fines of up to $5,000 a day.

In a year, officials said, more than 1,750 dumps were investigated. More than 1,300 people received notices of violation. About 400 dumps were cleaned up by people who'd been caught and about 1,000 people paid fines. Violators also are required to pay for regular home trash collection.

In the past some people, when confronted with documents bearing their names that had been found in dumps, claimed that someone had stolen their trash and disposed of it illegally.

The cameras are solving that problem.

Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet Secretary James E. Bickford spoke at an illegal dump at Pine Hill last Friday.

Renfro Valley Entertainment owner and president Warren Rosenthal, right, and Vice President and General Manager of Renfro Valley Jane Thorne, left, presented Darrell Ishmael, Executive Director of the PRIDE Project for Eastern Kentucky, with 5000 tickets to various Renfro Valley shows. PRIDE volunteers will receive the free tickets courtesy of Renfro Valley for their efforts in cleaning up eastern Kentucky.

The following first appeared in the Mount Vernon Signal on August 3, 1906. It was recently transcribed from microfilm of that issue of the Signal. One of my internet genealogy friends, Mrs. Cindy Durham Crawford, of Batavia, Ohio loaned me some of her University of Kentucky Library microfilms of the Signal. I thought it would be a nice gesture to share these gleanings with the Signal's present readers. Most readers will be pleased to read of an old fashion hayride from Brodhead to Crab Orchard. Perhaps you will recognize some of your ancestors having a good time in the old days.

BRODHEAD NEWS
On Monday night one of the swellest crowds which ever left Brodhead, departed from here at 8 o'clock on a hay wagon engineered by Thos. Francisco and chaperoned by Mrs. Mary Albright. Those going were Miss Lillie Albright; Nora Barner; Burdette Owens; Ethel, Lyda and John Eva Hilton; Clyde Wilmont;

Lizzie Cable; Cora Welsey; Jewel Francisco; Messrs. W.H. Benton; M.C. Albright; Dick Albright; Dr. A.C. Wilhoit; A.C. McClary; Sam Simpkins; Fred L. Durham; W.H. Anderson; Dr. W.F. Carter and Robert Wilmont. We drove over to Mr. and Mrs. Amel Giezel's near Crab Orchard, where we found them with open gates and we were certainly entertained royally. We found Miss Carrie Frith, Lela Sambrook, Willie Benton, and Dorra Dickerson already there. We indulged in games and

dancing until 11:30 o'clock when supper was announced and then we partook of many good things prepared by the hostess. The time came for us to leave which was regretted by all, and just as the clock was striking for Tuesday we departed and arrived back at 2:30. All there had the time of their lives. So Mr. and Mrs. Geize, remember we are coming again.

Mrs. Walter Miller and daughter, Miss Ella Sunshine, and their aunt, Mrs. Granville Leece are visiting in Louisville this week.

Miss Maud Forbes returned to her home in Level Green after spending two pleasant weeks with Miss Lyda Hilton.

Walter Slack of Westbourne, Tennessee was in our city a few days this week.

Mrs. Belle Herson of Lowell is visiting her daughter, Mrs. E.B. Newland.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Sharp died Monday and was laid to rest in the Christian Church cemetery at 2 p.m. Sunday. Both father and mother have our heartfelt sympathy.

Miss Mattie Wilmont is visiting her uncle Granville Leece on Copper Creek.

We are glad to say that Charles Hurst is able to be out after being laid up several weeks with typhoid fever.

Ed Hurt has returned to work at Lebanon Junction after spending two weeks at the bedside of his brother, Charles Hurt.

W.C. Swinford and N.E. Testerman were in Somerset on business the first of the week. Dr.

A.D. Wilhoite, makes weekly trips to Livingston each week to practice dentistry.

Misses Lillie and Clarence Albright, Nora Barner and Messrs. R.C. Wilmont, A.C. McClary, M.C. Albright and Arthur Mahan attended the party at Mt. Vernon given by Miss Risse Williams in honor of Miss Victor of Indianapolis, and Miss Peck of Alabama.

The Fair is August 15, 16, and 17. Bear those dates in mind and be sure and be there.

Momento from the past . . .

Mrs. Ann Senter of Livingston proudly displays a No. 2 pencil with the schedule of the Livingston Blue Devils' basketball team's 1948-49 season printed on it. Mrs. Senter got the pencil when she was in the fifth grade at Livingston Graded School.

The 1948-49 Livingston Blue Devils basketball team was coached by Lee Gentry and they played a 22 game regular season schedule. That schedule was made up of games with McKee, Amvillie, east Bernstadt, Brodhead, Crab Orchard, Kirksville, Tyner, Greendale, Highland, Stanford, McKinney and Houstonville. Oddly enough, Mt. Vernon was not on Livingston's regular season schedule that year.

Thank You

I would like to thank the people of the Second District who voted for me and supported me during my race as magistrate. I cannot tell you how much I appreciated it. Although I didn't win the race, it was worth trying. I got to meet a lot of nice people. If nothing happens within the next four years I will give it another try.

Thanks Again,
William Denney

Ensuring safe home canning foods

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
 for Home Economics

Growth of the bacterium Clostridium botulinum in canned food may cause botulism - a deadly form of food poisoning. These bacteria exist either as spores or as vegetative cells. The spores, which are comparable to plant seeds, can survive harmlessly in soil and water for many years. When ideal conditions exist for growth, the spores produce vegetative cells for growth, the spores produce vegetative cells which multiply rapidly and may produce a deadly toxin within three to four days of growth in an environment consisting of:

- * a moist, low-acid food,
- * a temperature between 40 degrees F and 120 degrees F, and

- * less than 2 percent oxygen.

Botulinum spores are on most fresh food surfaces. Because they grow only in the absence of air, they are harmless on fresh foods.

Whether food should be processed in a pressure canner or boiling-water canner to control botulism bacteria depends on the acidity in the food. Acidity may be natural, as in most fruits, or added, as in pickled food. Low-acid canned foods contain too little acidity to prevent the growth of these bacteria. Acid foods contain enough acidity to block their growth, or to destroy them rapidly when heated. The acidity level in foods can be increased by adding lemon juice, citric acid or vinegar.

Low-acid foods include red meat, seafood, poultry, milk and all fresh vegetables except for most tomatoes. Acid foods include fruits, pickles, sauerkraut, jams, jellies, marmalades and fruit butters.

Although most tomatoes usually are considered an acid food, some variations are now low acid. Therefore, if tomatoes are to be canned as acid foods, they must be acidified with lemon juice or citric acid. Properly acidified tomatoes are acid foods and can be safely processed in a boiling-water canner.

Botulinum spores are very hard to destroy at boiling-water temperatures; the higher the canner temperature, the more easily they are destroyed. Therefore, all low-acid foods should be sterilized at temperatures of 240 degrees F to 250 degrees F, attainable with pressure canners operated at 10 to 15 pound per square inch of pressure as measured by a gauge.

At these temperatures, the time needed to destroy bacteria in low-acid canned foods ranges from 20 to 100 minutes. The exact time depends on the kind of food being canned, the way it is packed into jars and the size of jars. The time needed to safely process low-acid foods in boiling water ranges from seven to 11 hours; the time needed to process acid foods in boiling water varies from five to 85 minutes.

Illegal Dumps from front

lenn, Bickford said. They capture the people dumping as well as the vehicle and license plate number all on videotape.

"They also capture what some people do when they think they are alone in the woods; the first several videos showed three men, one woman and a dog urinating on the illegal dump."

"The cameras also dispel a myth that people who use illegal dumps are too poor to pay for trash-collection services," Bickford noted that several dumpers have been recorded on tape driving pickup trucks that cost well over $20,000.

"I wish we didn't have to do the camera work, but unfortunately, we have people who just will not stop," Bickford said.

Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Buzz Carlolis, who attended the press conference, said he welcomes the state's help in cracking down on illegal dumping.

Only about 70 percent of the county's residents pay for garbage pickup, he said.

Those residents are paying to have their trash carried away and also to clean up illegal dumps, Carlolis said, while the other 30 percent "get a completely free ride."

Carlolis also said that he thought the state should have a state-wide ordinance governing all counties. "That may keep some people from other counties from dumping here - which is a problem," he said.

Jerry Waddle, a Rockcastle County environmentalist who is using the state to require stronger enforcement of dumping laws and other environmental regulations, was also at the press conference. He said he supports the use of cameras.

"Every time we clean up a dump, somebody comes along and trashes it again," he said.

Mrs. Nancy Meadows echoed Waddle's statement. "We can't clean dumps up as fast as people make new ones," she said.

"We have about ten really bad dumps in the county now and there are about 50 to 60 other small dumps."

Last year the state cited three Rockcastle people for illegal dumping and in each case the violator was required to clean up the dumpsite and run a letter of apology in the Signal.

Rockets tourney ends with 7-5 semi-final loss to Cawood

The Rockets bid for their first ever regional finals appearance was dashed last Wednesday night when the Cawood Trojans put together a five run second inning and went on to take a 7-5 victory.

Senior Chris Bishop was on the mound for the Rockets and gave up a first pitch single to the lead-off batter. However, he was erased as second on a steal attempt and Bishop struck out the next man and got the third to end the inning on an infield grounder.

The Rockets drew first blood in the first half of the first. Travis Anderson led off with a walk, stole second and, one out later, came home on an RBI single by Bishop.

The Trojans big 67" pitcher was the first man up in the top of the second and drew a walk. The next man doubled to centerfield and Bishop walked the next man on four straight pitches to load the bases. The next batter flew to right but the strong arm of Nathan DeLeon kept the runner from scoring from third. Bishop struck out the next man and Rocket fans breathed a little easier but it was too soon. The number nine batter in the line-up drew a walk, on a very controversial fourth ball call by the home plate umpire, walking in a run to tie the score at 1-1. The next man, who had teed off on the first pitch of the game, took the first pitch delivered by Bishop out of the park for a grand slam and it was 5-1 Cawood.

It was three up and three down on strike-outs for the Rockets in the bottom of the second. In the third, the Trojans again threatened. Bishop struck out the first man, walked the next three, struck out the fifth and got the last batter of the inning to ground to first where Christopher Parsons made the out unassisted. However, it was also during this inning that head coach Ryan Riddle was ejected from the game by the home plate umpire.

The Rockets got a mini-threat going in the bottom of the second when, with one out, Anderkin got a single to right and Derrick Bussell drew a walk but Bishop hit into an inning-ending double play.

Both pitchers only gave one hit in the fourth and fifth inning, the Rockets coming off a two-out single by Greg Harper in the fourth.

Cawood added to their score in the sixth however when Bishop gave up a two-out two run homer to make it 7-1. DeLeon was brought in in relief and struck out the last batter of the inning.

DeLeon also helped the Rockets offensively in the bottom of the sixth, leading off the inning with a solo homer to make it 7-2. Andrew Cash was safe on a bunt single and went to second on a wild pitch. Parsons walked and Greg Harper singled in Cash and putting Kevin Bullen, who had been inserted as a pinch runner for DeLeon, on second and he was later throw out trying to steal third. Dusty McClure struck out for the second out of the inning. Jacob Burdette walked but Anderkin flew to center to end the inning.

DeLeon put the first two men up in the seventh inning on base but then struck out the next two men and got the first man to ground out. The Rockets came back to mount a rally in the bottom of the seventh. Bussell walked to begin the inning and, with one out, DeLeon was safe on an error. Cash struck out, Parsons walked, loading the bases and Harper got another single, scoring both Bussell and McClure and making it 7-5. However, McClure hit a hard shot to the short-stop who flipped the ball to second, getting Parsons for the third out. In the final game, Middleberry beat Cawood and was scheduled to play Lafayette in the sectionals. Two named to All-Tourney team Chris Bishop and Travis Anderkin were named to the regional all-tourney team.

Congressman Harold Rogers Report to Kentucky

No More Citizenship for Criminals!

It has all the makings of a television movie: allegations of fraud, incompetence, theft, and deception of a congressional task force. Unfortunately, this "Made for TV Movie" is the true story of what is going on at the federal Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The failures of the Immigration Service are a national disgrace. Too many Kentuckians have fought and died for our nation to watch the most precious benefit our country has to offer—American citizenship—be cheapened by an Agency that cannot safeguard it properly.

One of the most important responsibilities of the Immigration and Naturalization Service is to safeguard American citizenship and to keep illegal aliens out, but it has failed in this mission. Not only have thousands of unqualified individuals, including convicted criminals, been improperly granted citizenship, but it is very unlikely that these individuals will ever be tracked down and deported.

To make matters worse, the number of illegal aliens in this country is at an all time high. Each year, more illegal aliens enter our country than are deported. And, while few know one knows the exact number, it is estimated that nearly 5 million illegal aliens are living in the country today, and they will be joined by nearly one-quarter of a million each year.

As the chairman of the committee that funds the Immigration Service, I am getting ready to bring the hammer down. I have proposed legislation to overhaul and end the abuses within the nation's immigration system.

My bill would dismantle the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and create a new agency solely dedicated to controlling our borders and removing illegal aliens from the country. It would also require the Department of State to process immigrant benefits and the Department of Labor to stop businesses from giving American jobs to illegal residents.

This is a good bill for our citizens, our nation, and our state. It will help strengthen enforcement, improve accountability, and ensure that American citizenship is never granted to criminals ever again.

1998 Bluegrass State Games Open

The 1998 Bluegrass Summer Games officially "teed-off" May 28, as registration opened and plans were announced at a morning news conference.

Lexington Mayor Pam Miller was joined by Mac Zachem of Ashland, chairman of the Bluegrass Summer Games board of directors, in announcing that this year's Games will feature two new sports, tee-ball and disc golf.

To highlight the new sports this year, tee-ball Commissioner Cisco Bryant of Lexington and disc golf Commissioner Steve Trauger of Independence gave demonstrations at the news conference.

"Start with Lexington, then take 28 sports, add thousands of athletes of all ages and abilities, throw in a generous measure of family fun and excitement, mix thoroughly two weekends in July, you've got the recipe of this year's Bluegrass State Games," said Mayor Pam Miller. "We're proud to host the games and ready to roll out the red carpet for Kentucky."

Most of the events included in the 14th annual Summer Games will be held July 17-19 and July 24-26 in Lexington and surrounding communities. The Summer Games are co-hosted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky and Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government.

Nearly 20,000 amateur athletes ages two to 87 from 114 Kentucky communities participated in last year's Summer Games. Forty-two states currently conduct similar state games programs.

The Valvoline Company is extremely proud to be a founding sponsor of the Bluegrass State Games," said Martin Kish, Vice President of Public Affairs for The Valvoline Company. "We are as excited about the Games as we were 13 years ago when it all began. This is a family event that brings together Kentuckians from all walks of life and athletic interests for fun, food and fellowship."

The Bluegrass State Games is a project of the Governor's Commission on Sports, Physical Activity and Wellness.

Other Summer Games sponsors include the Lexington Herald Leader, Ashland, Inc., Kentucky Utilities Company, Fruit of the Loom, GTE, Clark Material Handling, the Kentucky Broadcasters Association, the Kentucky Cable Telecommunications Association, KET-The Kentucky Network, HMH Broadcasting, the Kentucky National Guard and Champions for a Drug Free Kentucky.

To receive an entry booklet or for more information about the Bluegrass State Games call toll free at 1-800-722-2474.

Producers are reminded to report crop acreages such as wheat, corn, tobacco, etc. by the deadline of July 15th. This assures the producer history for these acreages.

Provisions of FmHA Instruction permit youth loans to persons: have reached the age of 10 but have not reached the age of 21 reside in a rural area or a town with a population of 10,000 or less.

These projects must be initiated, developed and carried out by rural youths participating in 4H, FFA, or similar organizations. Projects must produce enough income to meet expenses and debt repayment.

Youth loans will not be approved

if the total outstanding principal balance exceeds $5,000 at loan closing. If you are interested in obtaining a youth loan contact the Rockcastle County FSA Office for more details.

The FSA Office wishes to remind farmers and consumers that once again Rockcastle Farmers' Market will be the place to buy and sell nutritious food produced by local farmers in Rockcastle County. LEAP will manage the market this year. A participating producer will assist in operating the market and making decisions.

The locations of this market are two easy accessible sites. One being in Mt. Vernon, a lot on Main Street across from NAPA on Saturday mornings and Brodhead fairgrounds will host the site on Wednesday afternoons. More info will follow as details become available.

Child Abuse - A Matter of Fact

By: Peter O. Samples, State Chairman

Sex Offenders Prey On Your Family Members

They are female. They are 12 or younger. They are usually relatives and acquaintances.

Who are they? They are the people most likely to be victimized by sex offenders, according to an extensive inmate-based study by the Bureau of Justice Statistics.

The study, which canvassed some 14,000 inmates imprisoned in 1991 or earlier for violent crimes, found that two-thirds of convicted sex offenders victimized a child, and that one-third raped or sexually assaulted their own child or stepchild.

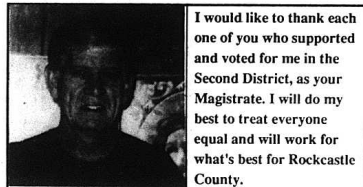

Of an estimated 61,000 offenders serving time for violent crimes against victims under 18, nearly 10 percent had been convicted of forcible rape and 57 percent had been found guilty of other types of sexual assault including sodomy, statutory rape and lewd acts. An estimated 30 percent has attacked more than one child during the incident for which they were imprisoned.

Agriculture News

By Warden Alexander, FSA Director

The Rockcastle County FSA Office is now assisting farmers in the lease and transferring of tobacco. A bulletin board is available for listing your tobacco for lease.

Producers who did not lease or market tobacco in 1997 are urged to remember burley quotas will be dropped permanently if not planted, leased or sold two out of the three preceding years.

All unmarketed tobacco which weighs 500 pounds or more that is to be destroyed MUST have an FSA employee to witness destruction of tobacco.

Producers who have more than one farm and wish to combine the farms, but were previously restricted from doing so because one farm was participating in PFC and one farm was not, may now request special combination for the 1998 crop year

Tickets are $14 and $16 for preferred seating. Call 1-800-765-7464 or 606-256-2638. Tickets are selling fast so fans should make reservations now.

With multiple chart-topping songs, two Country Music Association instrumentalist of Year Awards, three Grammy's and a People's Choice Award, Jerry Reed is no doubt the ultimate entertainer.

Reed will make his first ever appearance in the Valley and in a recent interview Reed said he was looking forward to performing in Renfro Valley. "At Renfro Valley, the fans are genuine, they come to be entertained and they know what they like, I can't wait to perform there," he said.

Music has given Reed the opportunity to travel throughout the world and has brought him recognition as one of Nashville's foremost entertainers.

Reed's first number one record came with Amos Moses and many others followed. They include: When You're Hot, You're Hot; Alabama Wildman; Lord Mr. Ford; A Good Woman's Love; UpTown Poker Club; East Bound and Down; The Bird and possibly Reed's best known song, She Got The Goldmine, I Got The Sheik.

Performing for his fans is a natural progression for Reed, who is the consummate entertainer on-stage. During his early days in Nashville, he worked the Festival of Music with Chet Atkins, Floyd Cramer and Boots Randolph and later entertained to large audiences at Carnegie Hall.

Patty Loveless to perform in Renfro Valley June 13

Country music superstar Patty Loveless will return to the Renfro Valley stage for two big shows on Saturday, June 13.

The beautiful, talented Loveless will perform two big shows in the New Barn Theater at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Tickets are $22 and $24 for preferred seating. Call the Renfro Valley ticket office for reservations for this special performance by one of country music's truly talented performers. Call 1-800-765-7464.

One of seven children of a coal miner living in a true Kentucky holler, Loveless was exposed to the raw emotion of country music from the beginning. Her traditional country roots and the influence of her "Stanleys" (from Patsy Clighe to the Stanley Brothers) can be heard in her own music: touches of bluegrass, acoustic, gospel, love ballads and blues.

Her most recent album, When Angels Fly, has gained Loveless steady popularity among listeners. Her songs deal with emotions and struggles of love and life; making her music popular with many age groups and backgrounds.

"What I try to do is sing songs that are country, but that reach out to people," said the Pikeville Kentucky native. "I know how much music has motivated me and gotten me through rough spots. For me, the best part of being an artist is making a difference in people's lives, even if I never get to meet them or spend a lot of time with them," Loveless said.

Attending a Loveless concert can, for some fans be like coming to see a close friend on stage. "The longer I do this — singing songs that reach inside me and set off emotional reaction — the harder these songs hit me. And I think the people who come to the shows feel it too. They feel they know me from the songs, so they open up and tell me their stories... there's no greater compliment in this world."

Loveless' rich voice and string of hit songs, that include: Low Lonely Too Long; If My Heart Had Win-

All-terrain vehicles put children at risk of danger

All-terrain vehicles (ATVs) have become a popular mode of transportation for both work and play. But, as the sale and use of ATVs have increased, the number of deaths and injuries resulting from ATV also has soared.

ATVs were introduced in the early 1970s, and, in 1993, about 2.5 million of the three or four-wheeled motorized vehicles were in use in the U.S.

From 1982-1997, almost 3,000 deaths were associated with ATV use in the U.S. Twelve states accounted for half of these deaths. Kentucky ranked 11th with 86 ATV-related fatalities.

Many of those fatalities were children. Children younger than 18 represented 22 percent of ATV operators in 1993, but children younger than 16 accounted for 40 percent of ATV-related injuries from 1985 through 1994. In 1994, 37 percent (442) of ATV-related deaths were to children younger than 16; 16 percent (406) were to children under 12. In Kentucky (1982-1997), 47 percent of the ATV-related fatalities were to children 16 or younger; and close to 30 percent of the deaths were to children 12 or younger.

"Unfortunately, there are few laws governing the use of ATVs, so almost anyone of any age or skill level can legally operate these vehicles," said Linda Goldstein, project manager, Kentucky Injury Prevention and Research Center, part of the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center. "However, children typically don't have the body size and strength or the motor skills and coordination — needed to safely handle an ATV."

Sturdy clothing and leather gloves can help reduce or lessen the severity of most abrasions from falls, but the key piece of safety equipment is a

Some people also may not realize that it's illegal for persons of any age to operate an ATV on public roads, and it's against Kentucky law to carry passengers on ATVs.

To help avoid injuries and deaths with ATVs, the Consumer Product Safety Commission recommends that operators:

- take a hands-on training course offered by certified instructors
- always wear a helmet and other protective equipment
- do not carry passengers
- do not ride on paved roads or use alcohol

Targeting prevention efforts, such as farm safety programs aimed at younger children, might help reduce injuries and fatalities, but parents need to take responsibility as well, Goldstein said. "Parents need to know the dangers of a child driving an ATV, and should be encouraged to provide the proper supervision and protective gear to ensure their children's health and safety."

helmet that meets federal standards, Goldstein said. "The average cost of an ATV is $2,700, but a helmet costs about $40," she said.

Children not wearing helmets accounted for more than 90 percent of the ATV-related deaths between 1982 and 1997. Kentucky law requires ATV operators to wear protective

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

U.S. Senator, Washington, D.C. 20510

OPENING DOORS FOR TOBACCO FARMERS

I once heard public life described as a "continual struggle to rescue one's self from the pressure of circumstance." Nothing could be closer to the truth as I confront one of the most difficult challenges of my career — protecting tobacco farmers from the potentially harmful impact of any tobacco settlement legislation.

Assuring Kentucky tobacco farmers and their families have choices is the reason I introduced legislation called the Long-Term Economic Assistance for Farmers Act or the LEAF Act.

In writing that legislation, compensating those farm families — whether quota holders, lessees or tenant farmers — for lost quota was my top priority. But to assure farmers and their families have choices, Congress must also include funding for education and re-training in any final package for farmers.

The LEAF Act does just that with $1.4 billion for Farmer Opportunity Higher Education Grants and $50 million annually in training benefits for displaced workers.

That means anyone who held quota, leased quota or was a tenant farmer in 1996 will be eligible for higher education assistance. Equally important, family members would also be eligible for these grants.

My bill's Farmer Opportunity Higher Education Grants are modeled after Pell Grants and farmers or family members would apply for them the same way, using the same forms, conforming to the same academic eligibility standards.

As with an average Pell Grant, a student could receive $1,700 per year, using the money at any institution accepting Pell grants. Students looking to attend any Kentucky college, university or vocational school could use the grant whether they plan to attend full-time or part-time.

There are some differences between this grant and the Pell Grant. The Farmer Opportunity Grants won't involve means testing, so a family's income level would not disqualify a student from receiving the grant. Nor would they become ineligible for a Pell Grant by receiving Farmer Opportunity Grant money.

And because the legislation also provides tobacco growing communities with economic development funds, recipients of a Farmer Opportunity Grant will have another door open for them once they graduate.

If they return to their home counties, these graduates could be given a first shot at new jobs created with economic development funds.

In addition to these education grants, for the next ten years the LEAF Act would provide $50 million annually in training funds directed toward displaced warehouse, processing or cigarette factory workers.

Modeled after an existing program created under the North American Free Trade Agreement, these funds recognize the need to help workers who lose their jobs.

In the end, if Congress decides to shut one door, they must be prepared to open another. I believe the LEAF Act could be just that door opener for Kentucky tobacco farmers.

During last meeting

Council hears complaint from veteran RCHS teacher

The regularly scheduled meeting of the Rockcastle County High School SDDM Council was held on Monday, May 25, 1998 in the high school conference room. Chairman Ronnie Cash called the meeting to order at 4:02 p.m.

Mr. Cash welcomed the council members and others in attendance. Council members present were Jeff Hayes, Charles Norris, Ronnie Cash, Joyce Machal and Debbie Brown. While reviewing the minutes, Mr. Cash commented that Yvonne Carmack and Debra Brown are the new parent members for the 1998-99 school year. He also noted that the budget should be ready for submission to the council in June.

Mr. Noble commented that the country club was not going to charge the golf team the $1,000 dollars that the club had originally requested for maintenance charges.

Mr. Norris made the motion that the council accept the minutes as written. Mr. Hayes seconded. Motion passed.

Mr. Cash reported that Mindy Bosters had been in the school dress code when he had an earlier date, and that he had invited Mindy to talk with the council. Mindy read a letter to the council discussing her desire to see the dress code changed in regards to appropriate length of shorts. Mindy based her proposal to change the dress code on the premise that the dress code is out of date and that students, especially tall people, have difficulty finding clothes that fit and meet the dress code. Mindy reported that she had talked to about 20 people who are of the same opinion she is.

Mindy suggested that the length of shorts would be appropriate at the edge of the fingertips. Mrs. Brown agreed that her daughter is tall and has a hard time finding shorts that meet the dress code. Mrs. Machal said that her daughter had never had trouble finding shorts that fit when she was in high school, but all students had trouble finding shorts of the appropriate length. Mindy showed the council where the length of shorts would be if they were fingertip length.

Mrs. Machal asked Mr. Bullock, also in attendance, if he thought the shorter shorts would cause a problem. Mr. Bullock responded that he did not think so and referenced Meade County, where he had taught before. The fingertip length shorts had not caused problem there.

Mindy also discussed with the council that she had done a correlation study of people's height and arm span. Her finding was that there would probably be no more than a two inch variance. She did not feel this variance would cause a vast difference in the length of shorts.

Mrs. Cash responded by saying that the council would consider Mindy's proposal and look at the situation again in June. Mr. Cash suggested that he and Ms. Allen could call other schools and make a comparison with their dress code.

Mr. Noble commented that the same dress code should apply to physical education students if they come out into the hall during their class. Mr. Cash welcomed Mindy back to the next council meeting and expressed his appreciation for the way in which Mindy had handled her request.

Mr. Scott Adams reported to the council that he had visited various schools in the surrounding counties to see how many math credits they require. Mr. Hayes questioned if requiring four credits actually impacted scores. Mr. Hayes commented that the additional fourth math credit was already in the schedule and had not actually been approved by the council. He also stated that the enrollment for the agriculture classes had decreased from 90 students last term to 60 for the fall term.

Mr. Hammond commented that it would be good to check with Christine Edwards, Kentucky Department of Education, about voting by consensus in regard to policy approval. He also stated that Mrs. Claudinnia Cash could contact other District Assessment Coordinators to compare math scores in other districts which require four math credits.

Mr. Cash agreed to postpone making a decision about the math credit until the June meeting. Mr. Noble discussed a list of "Safe School Proposals" for RCHS. Mr.

Hammond commented on getting legal advice on any proposal that might be questionable.

Mr. Allen suggested that the council review the policy on alert papers and be sure that procedure is followed with questionable papers. She also suggested more crisis training for teachers.

Mr. Cash also reported the hiring of Patrick Greene as a teacher, Chris Larkey as a social studies teacher, Rhonda Rose as a chemistry teacher and Chris Frith as an English teacher. The school will still need to fill a family and consumer science position. Some discussion was given to the shortage of teachers in this particular field.

Mrs. Machal questioned how much emphasis was placed on the National Teachers' Exam and past work records in the hiring of new teachers. Mr. Cash stated that the committee accepted passing scores on the test according to state standards and the committee did consider past work experiences of the interviewees. Mrs. Machal then commented that a candidate should be okay if the committee agreed to hire him/her.

Teachers hired for summer school are Ed Peterson, Chris Frith, Stephanie Hammack, Judy Bullock, Debra Cash, Ed Peterson and Bill Lynch (if needed). Others are Charlene Newcomb, library assistant; Sondra Mullins, secretary and David Riddle, coordinator. Susan Brown is hired as a student worker.

While discussing summer school, Mr. Otis Prater, a science teacher at the high school, brought the complaint that he felt he should have been hired to teach summer school. Mr. Prater claimed that Mr. Cash had told him previously that he could teach summer school as long as he wanted it. Mr. Cash replied that he had never made that statement.

Mr. Cash went on to say that he felt summer school should rotate, but the school does need a policy concerning hiring of summer school teachers.

Mr. Cash also responded that Mr. Prater had commented some time earlier that if someone else wanted to teach, the person should go to. Mr. Prater disagreed that he had made the comment.

Mr. Cash stated that he and Mr. Riddle had made the final decision on teaching staff for the summer. Mr. Cash went on to say that he felt that seniority should play a role, but we must have a policy in place before next summer.

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Machal both commented that summer school teachers should rotate and that a policy is needed.

Ms. Allen presented the council members with copies of 1998-99 RCHS Consolidated Plan. She asked Jeff Hayes and Scott Adams to discuss the teacher involvement in making the two-year plan. Mr. Hayes and Mr. Adams explained how teachers had met and worked together to come up with a workable plan.

Ms. Allen also presented the council with an overview of the Professional Development plan for next year.

Mr. Hammond and Mr. Cash both commented Ms. Allen and the teachers on the plan's quality. Ms. Allen asked that the council review the plan and give approval at the June meeting.

Mr. Hammond advised the council to be sure to attend the council member training and to review the policies in place in order to consider any changes that might need to take place.

Mr. Prater brought forth three other complaints in addition to the complaint about the summer school teaching position. First, Mr. Prater stated that in September the faculty voted 29-4 in favor of having bells ring to signal class changes and tardies. Mr. Prater maintained that we still have no bells.

Mr. Cash responded that the teachers later revoted, but the council could make a final decision on whether to have bells or not. Mr. Cash stated the council could vote at the June meeting.

Second, Mr. Prater presented the council with a portion of the schedule showing that Mr. Larkey, Mr. Saylor, Mr. Barnett and Mr. Chuck Cash are assigned to In-School Suspension.

Mr. Prater stated that we do not need four people scheduled in ISS. He went on to say that two people are scheduled for ISS every period every day and that ISS is closed on Mondays and Fridays. Many times no students are in ISS.

Mr. Prater stated that this is a "gross injustice to the faculty. Tom Larkey should be held to the same load as the rest of us."

Mr. Cash responded that he assigns teacher loads. Mr. Larkey will be teaching two classes next year. Mr. Hammond suggested that the council could set up ISS guidelines.

Third, Mr. Prater commented that all three administrators voted in the last SDDM council member election. He went on to say that principals are not allowed to vote and that he thought a new election should be held in the fall.

Mr. Cash responded that the Office of Educational Accountability had already visited the school concerning site-based issues and they will be contacting the rest of the council members. Bill Stearns, with OEA, will be getting a report back to soon.

Mr. Hammond said he felt we should probably get legal advice and that he would contact the state department to be sure that the school is okay with the election.

Mr. Cash stated that the council will review the issues at the next council meeting.

Jeff Hayes made the motion to adjourn. Mrs. Brown seconded. Motion passed, and the meeting was adjourned at 5:45 p.m.

Watts Chapel donates $10,000

The Watts Chapel Baptist Church, Broadhead Road, reached a four-year goal in four months. The church voted to give $10,000 over four years for an endowed student scholarship at Clear Creek Baptist Bible College, Pineville. On May 3, the centime amount was presented to Clear Creek president Bill D. Whittaker. The funds will be permanently invested and the interest used to assist church members who attend Clear Creek. The gift is part of the college's Beyond 2001 Campaign that seeks $3.54 million.

Kentucky Baptist churches have enabled the ministry training school to secure over $800,000 in scholarship endowment during the last thirty months.

Watts Chapel pastor Dan Gutenson, a 1992 Clear Creek graduate said, "Our church recently retired the construction loan on our new auditorium. The Lord has blessed us and we wanted to get this scholarship established now to benefit students." Church member Tony Shelton recently completed his second semester at Clear Creek.

Clear Creek Day on May 3 featured student couple Russell and Carol Wallace from Owensboro. Russell is student body vice-president. Carol works on the college workshop program as public relations secretary. After Russell gave a testimony of his call and experience at Clear Creek, Carol sang special music. Dr. Whittaker preached the morning message. Pastor Gutenson received on behalf of the church a plaque of appreciation for establishing the scholarship.

Four Rockcastle County Middle School students chosen as Robinson Scholars

A special University of Kentucky program has identified four eighth-graders from Rockcastle County as qualifiers for scholarships covering tuition, room and board, books and fees, announced Ben Carr, assistant to UK President Charles T. Whittington, Jr. for administrative affairs.

The students are David Patrick Snyder of Orlando; and William Kermit Blair, Walter Michael Howard and Paul Ray Rowe, all of Mt. Vernon. They were among 116 eighth-graders from 29 eastern Kentucky counties who were named Robinson Scholars.

The program, funded by earnings from mining and logging operations permitted on nearly 5,000 acres of the 14,000-acre Robinson Forest in Breathitt, Perry and Knott counties, was established in August 1995 by the UK Board of Trustees utilizing the E.O. Robinson Trust.

The students were selected based on academic potential, their family's financial need for assistance with college-related expenses, essays and interviews. The parents of the selected students also have not attained a college degree. At current costs, each scholarship carries a value of up to $8,000 per year.

Each year, eighth-grade students from the 29 counties will be named Robinson Scholars. The scholarship program from Rockcastle County requires each student to maintain an acceptable grade-point average in high school, complete their high school studies and be admitted to UK or one of the UK community colleges to actually receive the award. The scholarship can be used for expenses incurred by attending UK or any of Kentucky's 14 community colleges.

The program is being administered by Hazard, Prestonsburg and Southeast community colleges and coordinated by Janet Comperry, coordinator of the Robinson Trust at the Lees College campus of Rockcastle Community College. In Rockcastle County, the students will be monitored, advised and mentored by Robinson Scholars Program coordinator Paula R. Whittaker of Southeast Community College in Cumberland.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

Why don't you have a column written by kids? In your April 23 newspaper you only devoted a small column to the Cumberland Science Fair winners. Rockcastle took home the two best prizes, Grand Champions! I, along with my partner won, as sixth graders one of those Championships, competing with sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth graders from many other counties. It meant so much to me and all of the other winners. Rockcastle Middle took home the award for having the most points from all of the winners from the school. Didn't we deserve a little more attention?

Another example of this was when Nathaniel Bullock won "Best of Show" for his drawing at a statewide art competition. We haven't seen anything about this lately, and he was a state winner! This has become a problem, because kids don't get enough attention for doing outstanding things. We are doing things that some adults could not do.

How about you let us write our own column about the many things we have done. When children and teenagers like myself do great and extraordinary things and do not get any recognition, it makes us feel like what we did is unimportant to our county. You even have a column about who visited who and who did what and barely anything about greater things children did.

Sometimes, you may go unformed of our great doings. I want to change that I'm sure the kids of Rockcastle County would like their own column, set aside from school columns. Maybe you could set up a deadline for reports of good happenings, and ask for a volunteer.

We are just asking for a little more attention, and maybe a chance to tell about the great things we did.

As you all know, attention is what helps us realize that what we are doing is appreciated.

Thanks,
Anna Guilfoil

Dear Editor:

This letter pertains to the article you ran on the Salt Petre Cave on May 7th. The little boy in the picture is Bob McGuire.

The family has never seen that picture which was probably taken by an out of state visitor to the cave.

Bob's mother and father, Sylvia and Manley McGuire lived in a house near the cave where Manley acted as a tour guide. Their first five children were born there and the family has many memories and stories of that time.

That little boy is now 57. The family guessed him to be four or five in the picture.

The following article was printed in our home town paper in West Chester, Ohio. Please reprint it to show where the little boy is now.

Thank you,
Char McGuire

Can Marriage Survive An Affair?

Mary was sitting in my office in tears. (All characters are fictitious.) "I found out two weeks ago that my husband is having an affair," she told me. "I can't eat, I can't sleep and I don't know what to do."

Mary's reaction to her husband's affair is a typical one. Most spouses feel hurt and rejection when they learn of the affair. Often they become angry. "Sometimes I just want to choke him," Mary told me. "Then at other times the hurt is so bad that I almost can't endure it."

Many marriages survive affairs and some even become better marriages. Sometimes however the affair is more than the couple can handle, and the marriage ends. What are the differences between marriages that survive and those that don't?

In marriages that survive affairs, the offending spouse takes responsibility for his or her actions. Jerry hasn't learned that yet. "If she would have had sex with me more," Jerry claims, "then I wouldn't have had to go looking for it."

While it may be comforting to blame the partner, it is not fair. No one made Jerry have an affair. If there were problems in his relationship with his wife, there are many other choices he could have made. He could have talked to her about the problems. He could have talked to a counselor. He could have separated from his wife before he became involved with someone else.

Jerry is totally missing the point when he blames his wife for his own actions. At age 35 Jerry is a "big boy" now and needs to take responsibility for what he does.

Sherry is not blameless, however. She is 50% responsible for the condition their marriage was in at the time of the affair. Jerry is responsible for the other 50%. Together they built a marriage that had problems. Both share responsibility for that, but the affair was Jerry's doing.

Lenny, another man who has had an affair, says he wants to save his marriage. However, he is either unable or unwilling to break off contact with the other woman. He has been promising his wife Myrtle that he will quit seeing and talking to the other woman, but he still talks to her every day by phone. Lenny says, "I have to talk to her. She is going through a rough time now that we are breaking up. I owe it to her to try to help."

Myrtle says quickly, "But what about the pain I am going through? Don't my feelings count for something too?" To save his marriage, Lenny must sever all ties with the other woman.

Claude and Anita have another problem: Anita wants to forget all about the affair she had. "It's over and done with," she tells Claude. "Don't keep bringing up the past." Anita feels guilty when she sees how much she has hurt Claude, so naturally she would rather not talk about it with him.

Claude just found out about the relationship two weeks ago and still has many feelings to deal with. He can't forget the past so quickly. There are consequences to having an affair. One of those is that Anita is going to have to listen to her spouse's feelings, even if those feelings make her uncomfortable.

An affair does not have to mean the end of the marriage. There is still hope!

little white building in the cemetery. We didn't even have a dump truck.

Today, McGuire is the supervisor for the now-established department, which has mushroomed into a staff of 21 people, and 14 dump trucks. Having the sole function of cemetery upkeep in 1961, the department is now responsible for the maintenance of 185 miles of road, the police and fire stations, Keelner and McGinnis parks, the administration building and yes, Brookside Cemetery.

On April 14, the Southeastern Butler County Chamber of Commerce recognized McGuire for his longtime service to the township by presenting him with an honorary plaque at the organization's monthly luncheon.

McGuire was there in coat and tie, looking nervous - one of those people who doesn't like the spotlight. Even though he was dressed like everybody else in the room, he looked out of place not wearing his everyday work attire.

"He really is a no-tie, blue-jeans type of guy," said Union Township Administrator David Gully. "He is one of those invisible people that doesn't get noticed a lot. He's forgotten more about Township maintenance than most people in the field will ever know."

So, for starting a department without formality, Michael Basarich, vice-president of the chamber, presented McGuire his plaque in the most formal manner such a formal occasion requires.

"Business owners realize the importance of infrastructure," Basarich said during his presentation. "In the last 37 years (McGuire) has built the roads, parks and cemetery department into one of the best in the state. And as many have observed in time of ice and snow, our roads are in better condition than the state - and county-maintained roads."

Not bad for a man who started out with only a small white building in the middle of a cemetery.

And with no dump truck.

"It was an unexpected surprise," McGuire said.

"He's a man of few words. But a lot of action."

"He's a hard worker," Gully said.

"Makes me look good!"

And McGuire doesn't just work for the township. He lives here, too. And as most people take pride in how their homes appear to those passing by, so does McGuire. Only his lawn is every park, his driveway, every road.

"Thirty-seven years with the township represents a tremendous commitment to the area," said Neil Kilpatrick, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce. "He lives here, he works here, and he is a part of the township. His roots run deep."

Library News

By: Betty Lindblom

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! The Rockcastle County Public Library has set their summer reading program for June 15th through July 13th. The theme this year is "Readers of the Round Table." There will be prizes, a pizza party and fun for all ages.

We are also having a castle building contest. The children will make a castle at home and bring it to the library June 29th. It can be made out of boxes, tubes, construction paper, etc. We request it not be over 36 inches square due to space limitations. We will have a ballot box for people to choose their favorites and prizes will be given.

The ages will be 6 to 12 for our program. We already have a presenter coming the 16th of June, Miriam Bowling of the Wilderness Road Girl Scouts Council is fixing a special program to fit into our theme. Our storytime is one Tuesday from 1 till 2 and each week I will have a craft and stories from the King Arthur era.

McDonalds Restaurant has already donated coupons for our program and we will have many more prizes for the number of books read. There will be three age groups to suit the children's reading abilities.

This is a great opportunity for the children to continue their reading skills through the summer. To receive more information call the library at 256-2388.

I want to take this opportunity to thank the Kiwanis Club of Rockcastle County for the great new toys that they have donated to our children. Our old toys had definitely lost their shine. Now we have some fantastic new playthings. I think toys also help the children as well as books. They learn to share and get along with each other. We appreciate their donation and the time involved.

You will be reading more about our program as time progresses.

Fairview News

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Hello to everyone.

This is another awesome Monday morning, it seems like everyone is so tired. Maybe it's because every day we get older. But God is good to us and we must never forget to give Him thanks for all His wonderful blessings.

Worship services were well attended at Fairview over the weekend. Sunday School attendance was 113 for which we are thankful.

We extend our heart-felt sympathy to all those who have lost loved ones recently, including Mrs. Stella (Thomas) Coyle of Florida, formerly of Muncie, Indiana. James Douglas Chasteen of Florida and Mr. Robert Abney formerly of Roundstone. May God bless and comfort the families left behind.

Danny Dooley one of our faithful members of Fairview Baptist Church submitted to major surgery a few weeks ago, but is now home and feeling much better. We hope and pray Danny you will be up and around soon. (Danny is a much loved and liked man and we all wish him the best in life).

Mrs. Mary Cope's sister, Mrs. Patsie (Grant) Hamilton of Keawano, Illinois, died last week. Mrs. Cope is now the only surviving member of her family. May God comfort you Mary, you have love and prayers.

The Alexander Reunion held at Brodhead last Sunday, May 24th was well attended. Johnny Alexander and daughter, Felicia of Orlando, Florida visited Mrs. Hallie Alexander during Memorial Day weekend. They also visited Hubert and me. Johnny is a good old down to earth country boy. The kind that I like and we love him and his family very much, as we do all of our relatives and friends. Our world today needs more love.

Mrs. Anna Alexander Carey of Crossville, Tennessee and other members of her family were also here for the Alexander Reunion. She also visited with us for awhile. It's always good to see our kinsfolk.

Others visiting in our home recently have been Hallie Alexander and daughter, Jewell Davidson, James and Joyce Seals and daughter, Kim Seals; Tip Reppert; Junior and Lynetta Chastener; Patty Reese and her mother, Mrs. Victoria Reese; Ricky Adams and Fred Mullins, Jr.; also our other daughters, Janet Ridgell and Darlene Abney and families.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shupe of Waverly, Ohio and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hairre, also of Ohio spent Saturday night with Mrs. Mary Cope. Enjoying a picnic supper Saturday night at Mrs. Cope's home they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Hayes of Winchester, Helen Powell and Christine Barnett of Berea, Mr. and Mrs. William Cope of Eubank and Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Cope who live close. All of Mrs. Cope's children were there except Ernest who lives in Texas, but he called his mom. They, as always, enjoyed being together. They are a very close knit family. I just wish all families could be that close and loving.

After the funeral and burial of Mrs. Stella Coyle, around 30 family members gathered at the home of Mrs. Edith Mullins of Snider, who wasn't able to attend funeral services. They had such a delicious table of food which was served outside. We all enjoyed the evening so much. You know when people love each other they enjoy being together.

I hope you will forgive me for not writing for the past couple of weeks. Several have asked why, but some times I'm too busy it seems, or something else goes wrong. But I'm thankful that I can still write some, maybe not as often, but I try.

Our Vacation Bible School at Fairview will be in session June 8-12th. Classes for all ages from toys to adults. Everyone is welcome. God bless you, let's continue to pray, love one another and be good to children.

and Mrs. Terry Waddle and Mr. and Mrs. Travis Waddle were all in during the weekend. They are from Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Penix of Louisville were in Livingston on Saturday. Mrs. Myrtle Durham had all her children home for the weekend. They were Mr. and Mrs. Bo Bo McGuire; Mr. and Mrs. Crech and children, Kayla and Kyle of Franklin, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Tosovine and son, Todd of Miamisburg; her son, Verry; Douglas Lewis; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Lewis; Irene Bond; Jeraldine Allen, all of Livingston and Sharon Sturgil, of Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. Lois Mullins spent a few days with her sister, during the week.

Her grandson, Stuart Mullins, of Frankfort, visited Sunday, also his friend Jennifer Smith.
