Mt. Vernon firefighters were showing off their new 1998 Ford fire truck Monday night, which they recently purchased with a $100,000 grant from the state of Kentucky. The truck will be used on county runs by the fire department and rescue squad. The truck carries 1,000 gallons of

Voters to make several decisions

Large number registered to cast ballots next Tuesday

By: Richard Anderkin
Usually a general election in a Republican-dominated county in a Democrat state generates about as much interest as a re-run of Sesame Street, but that is not the case this year.

10,477 Rockcastle voters are registered for next Tuesday's general election, which will include races for city councils, mayors, school board, magistrates and jailer.

Voters will also decide on two constitutional amendments, one which could save citizens some tax money and one that would let lawmakers hold annual sessions in Frankfort.

Rockcastle County Court Clerk Norma Hook said the high number of registered voters is the result of races in each city, where voters will have choices for council and for Mayor.

In two of the three cities, Mt. Vernon and Livingston there are contested races for Mayor.

In Mt. Vernon, incumbent Mayor Gary Cromer is facing a tough challenge from council member Karen King.

Probably the most important race in the county next Tuesday has generated a great deal of interest and an increase in registered voters.

Cromer, who owns and operates a medical equipment and supply business in Mt. Vernon is running on his record, which shows several improvements for the city over the past four years.

King, a local contractor, is running a campaign of cooperation with citizens and other local officials.

In Mt. Vernon for council race, where six seats are up for grabs, only six candidates will appear on the ballot, but another local citizen has announced that she will run as a write-in candidate.

Incumbent council members Clarence Kirby, Lee Keene, Clark "Joe" Mullins and Wayne Bullock have all filed.

For Livingston police officer Council may turn down grant

The Livingston City Council is considering turning down a $67,000 grant from the federal government. The grant, which was authorized by the U.S. Department of Justice, was to be used to hire a full-time police officer for the city for a three year period.

Livingston Mayor Sandra Tyree said the council was worried that they may not be able to meet the financial requirements of the grant, which requires the council to keep a full-time officer after the federal funds run out.

That officer, Bill Hammons said the council hired him in June and that he has been working full-time although he has received only partial payment for his work. "They have only paid me about a $100 a week since I started," he said.

High Court upholds conviction

Eddy Montgomery, acting commonwealth attorney for Rockcastle, Pulaski and Lincoln counties announced last Friday that the manslaughter conviction of Charles Mullins, 36, of Lexington had been upheld by the Kentucky Supreme Court.

A Rockcastle County jury convicted Mullins in April of 1997 of three counts of manslaughter, second degree and one count of assault, fourth degree.

During the two-day trial evidence was presented that Mullins caused the death of Carl Schumaker, Cindy Schumaker and their son, Gasin Schumaker on July 4, of 1996.

Rumor is just that a rumor!

If you have told someone you saw it on television or you read it in some publication or heard it on the radio, you are either hallucinating or just handling the truth lightly. For the past several days a rumor that several local officials, police, lawyers and bank officials were incarcerated for a multitude of crimes are completely false.

The county has been buzzing for the past several days with conversations related to several officials, citizens and law enforcement officials being in jail.

It was supposed to have been on the radio. It was not, it was supposed to have been on television. It was not.

Recent checks with Lexington television stations and regional news organization confirmed that such report never existed.

By press time Wednesday, the rumor had grown to the point that several local residents had supposedly been involved in a federal, state or international bust for various crimes including drugs, weapons trading, money laundering and other crimes, but it was all a hoax.

Chris Swindell of WKYT-TV in Lexington, the station that supposedly aired the first story of the rumors, said that no such story concerning Rockcastle officials ever ran.

Bill Estep, a veteran reporter with the Lexington Herald-Leader said that nothing has appeared in the state's second largest newspaper concerning Rockcastle officials or business people.

Some people said they had heard it on a Somerset radio station, but a check with those stations turned up nothing.

Checks were also made with the Federal Drug Enforcement Agency, the Commonwealth Attorney's office, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the U.S. Attorney's office, all of whom said they knew nothing of any such bust.

Amendments would allow annual sessions, possible tax cuts

By: Richard Anderkin
When Kentucky voters go to the polls on Tuesday they will have to decide on two constitutional amendments on the ballot.

Amendment number one would allow the Kentucky General Assembly to meet in regular session for an additional 25 days in odd numbered years.

Rockcastle County Republican Representative Danny Ford, who is also House Minority Leader, said this week that he opposes the amendment.

Ford simply doesn't think the amendment is needed.

"Proponents of the amendment say the annual sessions would virtually eliminate special sessions, but Governor Paul Patton has said he will call special sessions regardless of whether the amendment passes or not," Ford said.

"Any Governor with an agenda will also call special sessions in order to get what they want done. Annual sessions are simply not needed,"

Ford said.

Each day the legislature meets in Frankfort costs the taxpayers $60,000.

Ford also pointed out that the amendment is somewhat misleading in its wording.

The amendment question on the ballot reads as follows:

Are you favor of amending Kentucky Constitution to reduce the General Assembly's organizational session by five days and to allow the General Assembly to meet in interim session in odd-numbered years for twenty-five days?

"Your organizational meetings are held each year to elect party leadership for the House and Senate and really have nothing to do with this amendment," Ford said.

The amendment wouldn't reduce anything for taxpayers, it would add 25 more days in Frankfort every two years, the reading is very misleading," Ford said.

PERVOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and palpitations to you and yours from Nod's Little Acre of Hope, my blest abode that sitteth hard by the blissful, mumbling waters of Cosmos Branch in the heart of the sometimes mythical but ever mystical Weald of Wabdonia, life-long dwelling place of the late Smedgar Q. Applidreer, one, long-time local, one-time dryman, and part-time peddler of Dr. Wright's Famous Fleece and Ribbed Underware, who is said to have said, "Politicians approach every subject with an open mouth."

Ah, beloved, of Smedgar's insight is good enough for me, so good that I will refrain from discussing the disgusting goings-on that bombard us every other minute by radio and television. Consequently, I'll use today's space in this venerable but inky weekly to answer a few of the many queries that have come to me via telephone, the postal service, carrier pigeon, Morse Code, Pony Express, E-mail, and ICBM (inter continental ballistic missives).

Dear John Norman: What haven't you listed the King James Word for the Week lately?

—Hester Sideholder
Oswego, Tennessee

Dear Hester: Newspaper space has been the primary concern. With so many pressing issues to examine and highly newsworthy events to report, I just haven't had room. Nonetheless, because you have asked, I'll resume the practice. Thus, this week's King James word is consumption, as in a question you might put to your doctor, "Doc, I have this nagging cough, consumption be done about it?" Saith the word often each day, and thou shalt keep Old Scratch at bay.

Dear John Norman: The rock from whence you were hewn was a Southern Baptist rock. Do you think it is right for you to make light of it?
Ulriiss B. Heapweather
www.ulr@benchmark.com

Dear Ulriiss: Yes, Ulriiss, I think it is right for me to take a shot now and then at the jackals who have taken over the rock and are dragging Southern Baptists back into the Dark Ages. These would-be reformers are little more than Falwellian copycats who have a warped understanding of Baptist history and heritage. I hope I live long enough to see the day when they self-destruct. And they will, Ulriiss. Remember that I said such.

Since you mention the subject of the SEC, here's an insightful anecdote to null over.

Word has it that after a shipwreck, two men washed up on the beach of a deserted isle. One of them crawled over to a palm tree, leaned back against it, managed miraculously to find a dry cigarette in his coat pocket. He lit it with his Zippo and had a nice calm smoke.

The other washee paced back and forth along the beach, pulling his hair, cursing and sweating. Finally, he couldn't stand it anymore. He grabbed the relaxed guy by his lapels and yelled in his face, "What's the matter with you? Don't you realize we could be here for years and years?"

The calm guy smiled and said, "We won't be here that long."

"Oh, yeah. What makes you think so?"

"Well," said the relaxed guy, "I'm a multi-millionaire Southern Baptist, and I tithed to my church at the end of every business year."

"So you think," retorted the worried guy, "that just because of all that God is going to find you here and rescue you?"

"No, not God," said the rich man. "My minister."

"Ouch!" And "Pang!" even. Beloved, I must cut this article short. An old ailment of mine has returned: carpal tunnel syndrome. In both wrists! And thus far doing this misssive, it's been write a tad, then put on my wrist braces and rest, then write a tad, etc. Add to that the antics of Ol' Arthur of the Itis family and ...

A-merecy! Whoever dubbed this season of life "the Golden Years" was full of sheep dip!

Nonetheless, I must tell you about widower Sam Iselburt, and his neighbor, widower George Demps, who is about ten years younger than Sam.

They live, as many of you know, out on Bottom Line Trace, just past the old cannery. Their relationship is based more on pragmatism than real friendship or personal affection. And in the winter, they rarely talk at all, unless something "pragmatic" comes up.

One January morning Sam sat down to a cup of coffee and opened the morning paper to the Obituary Page.

He got the shock of his life when he saw his own name listed in the column of the recently deceased. But he soon realized that the query for information about him by the local newspaper several months earlier had, in reality, been in preparation for reporting his demise, since he was in his upper eighties. He surmised correctly that it was a mistaken entry from their database, premature and erroneous to be sure.

He called the newspaper and gave them a royal diatribe laden with adjectives that cannot be printed in this paper.

Still, the mistake both excited and rankled Sam. So, he phoned George. "George, are you up yet?"

George answered sleepily, "Yeah, but I'm only now starting my coffee."

"George, open your paper to page

"Why? What's in the paper?"

"Never mind what, George, just get the paper and open it to page eleven now!"

"Ok, ok," mumbled George. I've got it. So what's on page eleven?"

"George," said exasperated Sam, "please just open your paper to page eleven."

"All right, but don't be such a pain in the behind so early in the morning. So now, what's so all-fired important here on page eleven?"

"George," said Sam, "Look at the bottom of column four!"

"What's that story about?"

"George, it isn't a story. Just read at the bottom of column four!" shouted Sam.

"Ok, ok. I'll start reading if you'll stop yelling in my ear."

The paper rustled for a few seconds. Then a long, silent pause ensued. Finally, George picked up the phone, and, in a non-chalant tone, said,

"So, Sam, where are you calling from?"

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
 Just wanted to insert an excerpt from a booklet Richard Roberts wrote a couple of years ago entitled Halloween Unmasked. For a free pamphlet call 918-495-7777.

Dear Editor,
 The life of a child is very precious. When we send our children to school, we expect them to be safe there and on the way home.

"Since Halloween was a celebration of death, it was observed in the fall at harvesttime, when the Druids believed the powers of death were growing stronger. They also thought that witches, goblins, ghosts, and evil spirits were more active during the long, dark nights of winter.

Friday morning, October 23, my two children and another friend were almost struck by a car at a school bus stop in Woodland Place. The car did not stop and had it not been for the timely warning of the bus driver and the recognition of danger by my children, they would have been struck by the speeding vehicle.

On what we now call Halloween night, the Druids disguised themselves in grotesque costumes, hoping the evil spirits would think they were also evil spirits and would leave them alone. For additional protection, they lit huge bonfires to frighten away the wicked creatures of the night. Some people believe that today's jack-o-lanterns symbolize the bonfires and torches used by the Druids to celebrate their "night of the dead."

Mt. Vernon is a small town and our children are our most precious resource -- the speeding vehicle should have already been pulled over before it got to the bus and, probably would have been, if police officers were patrolling West Main Street as they used to do. For a few weeks, the vehicle enforcement officers sat on West Main St. to try to stop speeders. They were pulled from this duty, reportedly by the mayor.

Now I'm not talking about some kind of innocent, childlike celebration here, my friend! As part of the Druid Halloween rituals, they offered living sacrifices to Samhain, the god of the dead. Their victims were usually prisoners of war, criminals, or animals, and the Druids believed they could foretell the future by observing the way those who were sacrificed died.

When asked, following this incident, the Mayor reportedly said that radar detectors to stop speeders were too expensive -- I guess it's just a matter of priorities since the city seems to have plenty of money for paved streets, new lights and major renovations at city hall here at election time.

Now that's the story behind Halloween! Believe me, it's not child's play! Halloween was a day that was dedicated to death!

I understand that used detectors can be bought for about $50 each and this sum doesn't seem out of reach as a safety measure for our children.

Thanks,
 Sheila Nicely

Perhaps it's time for a mayor that puts the safety of our children first. My little girls are my life and I would hate to see them taken from me because present elected officials don't have their priorities straight.

Dear Editor,
 The Rockcastle County Conservation District would like to thank the Signmons for the use of their farm and all their tremendous effort for making Farm Field Day possible every year.

Sheila Rowe
 Mt. Vernon

Also thank you to the speakers, tractor drivers, and to those who helped prepare lunch. Thank you to the sponsors for providing lunch, Citizens Bank, Bank of Mt. Vernon, Dabney Feed Supply, Rockcastle Farm Supply, Singleton Insurance, Ford Brothers Realty, and Little Debbie's Cakes. The Kentucky Small Grain and Corn Growers Association, Ky., Division of Forestry, and Rockcastle Co. Conservation District also provided the children with bookmarks, tattoos, pencils, rulers and comic books for the children to take back to school with them.

Dear Editor,
 Some men say adultery is a private matter, it's nothing to be ashamed of.

Sincerely,
 Rockcastle Co. Conservation District

God tells us adultery, "It is a heinous crime, yes, it is an iniquity to be punished by the judges" (Job 31:11).

Dear Editor,
 As a concerned citizen, I feel it is time to speak out. I want the citizens of Mt. Vernon to know the facts told from someone other than the mayor.

Thank You,

In the summer of 1997, I saw a need for street lights at Renfro Valley. I attend Renfro Valley shows

I have worked in tourism since 1984. I feel that I have been fairly successful because I enjoy working with the public. I've had several opportunities to leave the county over the years, but I chose to stay here because I consider this my home and I like the people of this county. I do not get paid one red cent for sitting on the Rockcastle County Tourism Commission and for trying to make more and better opportunities for this county. I chose to do so because I believe in the people of Rockcastle County. If what I have done since I have been a member of the tourist commission is stupid, then I'm proud to be stupid.

Another thing that really concerns me is the fact that a year ago, the city wasn't for sure if they could pay their bills, and now, six months before an election, the city has new trucks, new police cruisers, new blacktopped streets, street lights, city park, and on and on. It is clear to see what improvements can be made when you have a visible opponent running against you in an election.

If you're having trouble getting automobile financing because of bankruptcy, slow pay, or no credit, LET US HELP!

I am also really disturbed by the mayor's own admission of using city employees, during working hours, to serve as staff in his private business. I believe this alone should be of major concern to the citizens of the City of Mt. Vernon.

The mayor seems to think that tourism jobs are not important but I think any job opportunity we can create for the people of Rockcastle County is important.

almost every weekend and I had seen a number of incidents where elderly tourists crossing the highway at Renfro were almost run over. For this reason, Danny Settles and myself approached the mayor to see what we could do as members of the tourist commission to see that Renfro received street lights. We were told by the mayor that he would not give Renfro Valley anything. With that said, we approached the city council members with the idea and they agreed with us that the lights were necessary. Karen King brought the motion to the floor and the council voted unanimously to install the street lights.

The tourist commission also worked on buying the May's Log Cabin Village for several years. In early 1997, we thought we might have a chance to acquire grant money to purchase the village and move it to Renfro Valley. We thought we could touch another market and draw more tourists into Rockcastle County and create more job opportunities. Any money the commission makes can only be spent on promoting tourism to Rockcastle County. When we applied for the grant, we automatically met with opposition from your great mayor and Jerry Hayes. Again, he fought us every way he knew how and almost caused us to lose a $400,000 grant. In the end, the state and federal government saw it as a viable project and thanks to Congressman Hal Rogers, Gov. Patton, and Rep. Danny Ford believing in us, we received the grant. The mayor even went as far as to call the tourist commission, "stupid", as quoted in the Mt. Vernon Signal.

The mayor's main problem with Renfro Valley is the fact that they disagreed with an entertainment tax that he tried to impose on them. Because they disagreed and took the tax issue to court he has since had a personal vendetta against them. You see, you don't disagree with the mayor. It is his way or no way. In my opinion, this is a dictatorship mentality.

I have worked in tourism since 1984. I feel that I have been fairly successful because I enjoy working with the public. I've had several opportunities to leave the county over the years, but I chose to stay here because I consider this my home and I like the people of this county. The mayor seems to think that tourism jobs are not important but I think any job opportunity we can create for the people of Rockcastle County is important.

I think the Mt. Vernon citizens deserve a mayor that can and will work with the other elected officials in the county. One that will work to bring other industries into the city and county, one that will work continuously to bring every job opportunity possible to the city of Mt. Vernon and county of Rockcastle. I believe we no longer need a mayor that works against one of the largest employers in the county. Let us face the facts, Renfro Valley is good for the city of Mt. Vernon and the county of Rockcastle. We can't afford to lose an employer as large as Renfro Valley because of a mayor's personal vendetta.

I urge the citizens of Mt. Vernon to go to the polls and vote on November 3rd. We, the voters, as a majority, can make a change for the better.

Dear Editor,
 This is in response to Tim Hayes' letter recently saying we didn't need our policeman in Livingston.

We have known Tim for several years and consider him our friend, but we do need our police very much. If it isn't wild enough in town for him, he can go back to Michigan. I don't recall anyone begging him to move into our town to begin with. Everyone go vote and show Tim Hayes that he is not in charge here, yet.

William T. Stephens

The family of William T. Stephens would like to express deepest thanks and appreciation to everyone who was so kind through his illness and death. A special thanks to all those who brought food, sent flowers and cards and most of all the prayers in his behalf during his illness. We would not attempt to mention everyone here. Thank you.

The family of William T. Stephens (Bill) Sinnie Nicley

The family of Sinnie Nicley gratefully acknowledges the outpouring of prayers, love and concern for our precious mother and grandmother.

Thanks to Dr. Karen Saylor and Lance, the staff at Rockcastle Hospital, Home Health nurses and aides for their careful and tender care. A special thank you to Diana Helton and Stephanie Crow for their love and nursing given to mom at home.

Also, Brother Rolla Cornelius and Brother Denzil Krahenbuhl for their thoughtful, consoling words and prayers through the years.

Mom enjoyed Ercei Cromer's singing for her at home and we appreciate those times and the last sung by her and daughter Cindy Noe. We owe a lot to our friends and neighbors for the food and love, now and in the past, nor will we forget the beautiful flowers sent by them and other members of the family. Also, the special efforts took for mom's nieces and nephews and others to be with us.

Thanks to Cox Funeral Home, Buddy and his late father were always there for us. We doubt the Signal would allow us the time and space it would take to express everything. Our apologies to the ones we forgot to thank or notify.

Delbert Parrett

The family of Delbert Parrett would like to thank each and every one for the love shown to us during the illness and death of our loved one. We would like to thank Cox Funeral Home for making this time easier for us. To the Sowder Nursing Home - thank each and everyone of you and nurses asst. that was so good and kind. For you that sent flowers, cards or food, thank you. To Bro. Most of all - thank each of you for your prayers.

Wife - Flora Parrett Sister Bessie Owens and family Niece Kay Singleton and family Mollie Westerfield

My sister, Mollie Westerfield, that passed away October 15 at the nursing home. I want to thank them. They were very good to her. I couldn't have made it without their help. Thanks to all the neighbors, friends and beautiful flowers, all my knifk, the pallbearers, the beautiful song that was sung by the nephew, the wonderful preaching - how true it was. And thanks so much for Pine Hill Holiness Church as the doors were opened wide, she has gone on to be with the Lord. As the gates of Heaven opened wide, the Lord held her, she was his child. She could walk now. She could talk and she could hear. She is so happy. She had so many trials and pain here. She has joined the family circle. But one is missing, but I will be there soon. Everything was so beautiful, Mollie was the beauty, the apply of my eye. I hold no grudge at anyone.

Her sister Lora Hamilton

Adams to serve as official delegate to the 71st National FFA Convention

A local student will help decide the future direction of the National FFA Organization this November at the 71st National FFA Convention. Attracting more than 45,000 FFA members and guests, this is the world's largest annual student convention.

Jonathan Adams, 19, State FFA Sentinel of the Kentucky FFA Association will represent the state as an official delegate to the convention Nov. 12-14 in Kansas City, MO. Adams will join 475 state FFA officers from all 50 states, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands who will conduct the business of the National FFA Organization during special sessions of the convention.

Adams is the son of Randall and Thelma Adams of Broadhead and is a member of the Rockcastle Co. FFA unit, the agricultural industry and to the nation.

FFA is a national organization of 447,880 members preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business and technology of agriculture. The organization has 7,503 local chapters located throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. FFA's mission is to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education. Local, state and national activities and award programs provide opportunities for students to apply knowledge and skills learned in the classroom.

Chapter. The national FFA convention is the culmination of a year's activities for FFA members. Opportunities for personal growth and leadership development are presented by educational and motivational speakers including Les Brown, motivational speaker; Warren Fairley, storm photographer/chaser; Gerda Klein, author and historian; Baxter Black, cowboy poet; and Robin Roberts, sportscaster.

This year's convention theme, "Making the Connection," symbolizes the agricultural education organization's mission to continue to connect its members to their commu-having their Regional Meet Saturday at Green County. There will be a dance after school this Friday from 3 to 5. Students must have a note permitting them to stay after school. Remember that there will not be school on Tuesday, November 3rd for Election Day.

Red Ribbon Week for drug awareness runs through this Friday. We are reminding our students of the importance of staying drug free by announcing alcohol and drug related statistics each morning, wearing drug free badges, and placing red drug free balloons in the office area and cafeteria. Janelle Jones and Bonnie Pattersoff were among the students winning prizes this week.

As children reach their teen years, it sometimes is difficult for parents to spend much time with their child. Here are some tips for finding time to spend with your child. If they enjoy listening to music, sit down and join them. Watch television together. When running errands, encourage your child to come along. Do chores together. Set aside one time a month to go out for lunch or breakfast together. Remember that you impact your child's life more than anyone.

Tiger Pause

A special thank you to John McQueary, Rockcastle County Extension Service, for teaching us a valuable lesson on bicycle safety during our last Family Night. Congratulations to Lige Graves, Kristan Baker, and Becky Lawrence winners of the bicycle helmets that were given away. Bicycles and helmets will both be available this year in the micro-society mall for students to purchase with Tiger Bucks.

Fall Festival and Parent/Teacher Conferences have been scheduled for Monday, November 2. Volunteers are needed to help with the festival. Please contact a PTA officer if you are available to work any time during festival hours (8 a.m. to 7 p.m.).

Please note that there is no school on Tuesday, November 3, due to Election Day.

The in-school day girl scouts have completed their six week fall troop meetings. All girls that attended four out of the six meetings received a girl scout "drink milk" patch. 25 girls had perfect attendance and 38 received patches. A drawing was held for 15 prizes and all girls that had perfect attendance were eligible. A special thank you to Gencie Taylor and Kourtney Cox for providing us with cookies for our awards program. The girls will meet for another six week program during the spring. The date will be announced at a later time.

SBDM Council meeting is set for Monday, November 2, following the festival.

Cross-country competes at SW Pulaski and Somerset

Rockcastle's cross-country teams recently competed at Southwestern Pulaski. Eighteen teams were represented in a very challenging competition, with a field consisting of 103 girls and 112 boys.

The varsity girls' team had an excellent meet and placed third overall. The girls also defeated regional rival Southwestern Pulaski. Brandy Reynolds led the way for the girls with a great race. Brandy placed 21st and ran an 18:43, her best time of the season. Cassandra Ramsey was close behind placing 25th in 19:00. Sixth grader Chere' Embs ran her best time ever and placed 27th in 19:02. Rebekah Lyons ran her best time of the season and placed 28th in 19:12. Jessica Cobb ran her best time of 19:46 on her way to a 40th place finish. Eighth grader Jennifer Brooks ran her best time ever, placing 72nd in 23:20.

Elementary girls Katie Burdette and Rachel Killen ran excellent elementary school races. Third grader Katie ran an awesome race on her way to a ninth place finish. Katie covered the one mile race in 9:17. Fifth grader Rachel Killen ran an exceptional race and finished 13th in 10:06.

The varsity boys' team also had a great meet and placed eighth overall. Stewart Abney led the boys with a great race. Stewart placed 7th and ran one of his best times of the season, 19:51. Jeremiah Myers ran his best time of the season, placing 41st in 21:19. Sixth grader Brandon Cole ran a hard-fought race and placed 53rd in 22:20. Brandon Cameron ran very well and placed 80th in 23:43. Stephen Hopkins ran well and finished 84th in 24:23. Matthew Brown ran well and placed 99th in 26:15. Josh Ramsey finished in 101st place in 26:18. Adam Stallworth placed 102nd in 26:21.

The middle school boys team placed third overall. Andrew Nelson led the boys with a third place finish in a middle school record time of 15:52 for 2.4 miles. Daniel Dobbs was close behind placing 33rd in 22:24.

Third grader Jake Woodall was Rockcastle's lone representative in the elementary race. Jake ran his best time ever over the one mile course, covering the distance in an awesome 8:37.

The Southwestern Pulaski meet moved Rockcastle one step closer to regional competition at Green County on October 30th. The last meet of the year, held at Somerset, served as the final opportunity for Rockcastle's runners to improve their times and individual rankings in preparation for the regional championships.

Somerset proved to be a valuable meet for the teams as many of Rockcastle's runners ran personal best times.

The girls' varsity team placed fifth out of 13 teams. It's important to note that the girls were without their top-ranked runner, Cheyenne Carmack. Cheyenne was recovering from a severe asthma attack suffered at the Southwestern Pulaski meet.

Seventh grader Cassandra Ramsey ran an awesome race to lead the girls. Cassandra placed 15th in a career best time of 18:24. Brandy Reynolds ran a great race and her best time of the season, placing 21st in 18:48. Eighth grader Rebekah Lyons was close behind, placing 23rd with an exceptional career best time of 18:49. Jessica Cobb ran her best time of the season, 26th in 19:02. Rachelle Hammond improved her time once again and placed 27th with a personal best time of 19:13. Sixth grader Chere' Embs ran one of her best races of the season, placing 28th in 19:15. Ashley Lawson ran her best time ever and placed 37th in 19:45. Eighth grader Jennifer Brooks ran well and finished 70th in 23:29. Tara Abney did not finish due to an ankle injury sustained earlier in the year, but made a valiant effort to compete as best she could.

Going into regional competition, the girls' top ten rankings are as follows: (1) Cheyenne Carmack, (2) Cassandra Ramsey, (3) Brandy Reynolds, (4) Rebekah Lyons, (5) Jessica Cobb, (6) Rachelle Hammond, (7) Chere' Embs, (8) Tara Abney, (9) Ashley Lawson and (10) Jennifer Brooks. Seven of those ten will be chosen to run at the regional championships. The remaining three will serve as alternates.

In the elementary race, third grader Katie Burdette led the way. Katie placed 18th place finish. Fifth grader Rachel Killen was not far behind placing 21st. Both girls ran awesome races and have been exceptional representatives of Rockcastle's elementary schools for the entire season.

The boys' varsity team placed sixth out of 13 teams. Stewart Abney ran an awesome race and led the boys with a ninth place finish. Stewart ran a season's best time of 19:30. Seventh grader Andrew Nelson ran a personal best time of 20:10 on his way to a 23rd place finish. Jeremiah Myers ran well and finished in 35th place in 21:26. Brandon Cole ran his best time ever placing 42nd in 21:52. Matthew Brooks ran well and placed 45th in 22:12. Brandon Cameron ran a personal best time of 23:07 and finished 55th. Stephen Hopkins ran his best time of the season, placing 63rd with a time of 24:03. Adam Stallworth ran a personal best 26:19 and finished 70th. Matthew Brown was close behind, placing 79th in 26:28. Josh Ramsey finished 84th in 29:00.

Going into regional competition, the boys' top ten rankings are as follows: (1) Stewart Abney, (2) Andrew Nelson, (3) Jeremiah Myers, (4) Brandon Cole, (5) Matthew Brooks, (6) Brandon Cameron, (7) Stephen Hopkins, (8) Matthew Brown, (9) Josh Ramsey and (10) Adam Stallworth. As with the girls, seven of these ten boys will participate in the regional championships, while the remaining three will be alternates.

In the middle school boy's competition, Bill Burdette led the way with a 20th place finish and a time of 20:11. Zach Shepherd placed 30th in 20:14 and Daniel Dobbs finished 33rd in 21:20. All three boys ran very well.

In the elementary race, third grader Jake Woodall was the only Rockcastle participant. Jake ran an awesome race and placed 13th overall in a very hard-fought race.

Both boys and girls teams have one week to prepare for the regional championship at Green County. The girls will be opposed by top-ranked Green County, currently 15th in the state in Class 2A. The boys will also face a Green County team ranked first in the state in the latest Kentucky Track and Cross Country Coaches Association poll. Both Rockcastle teams will be seeking a top-four team finish which is required to qualify for the state championships.

Sophomores Cheyenne Carmack will be seeking her third straight state championship berth and will be looking to improve upon last year's third place regional finish. She will also attempt to improve upon her school record time of 16:58, set last year at Green County.

Last times to sign up for Junior Pro

The last sign-up times for Rockcastle Jr. Pro Basketball for the 1998-99 season will be on Thursday, October 29th from 6 to 8 p.m. at the football field at Rockcastle Middle School and Saturday, October 31st from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School. Rockcastle Junior Pro Basketball is a member of the National Junior Pro Association and follows all rules issued by the National Leadership. Players are divided into three leagues based on age:

The Junior Varsity League: For children with birthdays on or after September 1, 1986 up to or on August 31, 1988. Evaluations and team selections for this age group will be Thursday, November 5th at 6:30 p.m. at MVES gym.

The Training League: For children born on or after September 1, 1988 up to or on August 31, 1990. Evaluations and team selection for this age group will be Monday, Nov. 2nd at 6:30 p.m. at MVES gym.

The Instructional League: For children with birthdays on or after Sep-

Junior Stewart Abney will be seeking his first ever state championship berth, as well as the first ever for a Rockcastle County boy. Stewart has narrowly missed making state the last two seasons by a little as four places.

Rockcastle's boys and girls have an excellent chance of qualifying for the state championships, both individually and as teams. Much hard work and dedication has been exhibited by the athletes this season as they have represented our county very well at every single competition. Hopefully, their individual and team efforts will allow them to achieve their many different goals.

Cumberland River Alliance for the Mentally Ill (C.R.A.M.I.) Mental Illness Awareness Week Update 1998

We are families and supporters that have joined together to form an Alliance to educate each other and the community in order to erase the Stigma of mental illness. We strive to make the community aware of the significance of mental illness, to inform consumers and families of current and alternative treatments, as well as the services available for the mentally ill in our communities.

We must increase our membership if we are going to build a powerful and effective Alliance. There are many good things happening, yet, we know we still have a long way to go before persons with serious mental illness consistently receive the quantity and quality of services that they deserve. We, as members and supporters of AMI, are the only ones that can ensure that those improvements are made.

Elect
Shaun Tracy Poynter
4th District Magistrate
Rockcastle County
pd. for by candidate

Melinda Thomason would love to give a special thank you to her Daddy and Papaw, A.B. and Lonnie Thomason of Thomason's Towing and Auto Service.

As the election draws near, I would like once again to ask for your vote to Re-Elect me, Gary R. Cromer as your Mayor for the next four years. Thank you so much for the confidence you have placed in me for the past 11 years.

- The following FACTS are for your information which will allow you to cast an informed vote.
- I have worked diligently to always uphold what is best for the City of Mt. Vernon and its citizens.
 - My opponent has NEVER VOTED NO on any item presented by me to the City Council for a vote. In fact, my opponent, on numerous occasions, made the motion to approve many of these items.
 - My opponent has not revealed a platform, therefore we do not know what my opponent wants to accomplish.
 - The water treatment plant is more than 30 years old. If the City is to meet the demands to provide safe drinking water to industry, schools, unexpected growth, water associations and districts, it is required to upgrade the plant. This upgrade will be completed in the spring and will attract industrial growth and enable all the water associations and districts to expand their service areas. The new water contracts have all been approved by all council members and signed by the Mayor.
 - The new City Park, which was approved by my opponent and four other council members, has been in use for several weeks and is a valuable asset to the City and all its citizens.
 - As you drive through the City at night, you can't help but notice that the new lighting, which the entire council approved, is now complete.
 - Currently, I serve as first vice chairman of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District. I have attended more than 90% of the meetings over the past 11 years and always speak up for the City when new programs or funding for projects become available. The city has, and will continue to receive, valuable services from that agency due to my active presence.
 - Through court-awarded funds to the City Police Department, and interest payments to the City through various UDAG loans, it has been possible to purchase a new cruiser each year for the past four years.
 - Many city projects are funded with state dollars. For the past two years, the Governor's office has been very generous to the City and I plan to keep that good relationship for the next term as your Mayor.
 - When you Re-Elect me as your Mayor, you can be confident that I will continue to keep Mt. Vernon moving forward and will always keep Every citizen's best interest in mind, and not just a few.

Thank you for your continued support,
Gary R. Cromer, Mayor

The RCMS 6th grade team, coached by Debbie Coleman, are undefeated this season and brought home the championship of the Lions Club tournament held at the middle school recently. The girls defeated Mercer Co. in the preliminary round and then trounced Lexington Catholic for the championship. Members of the team are, front row, from left: Courtney Rose, Rachel Denny, Johnna Abney, Gina McClure, Tara Rowe, Amanda Wright and Jessica Holbrook. Back row: Ashley Mize, Leighanne Caldwell, Allie Mink, Katie Parsons, Coach Coleman, Hollyann Colson, Keli Doan, Heather Hammond and Ashley Bell.

Sixth grader Ashley Bell puts up a jumper against Wayne County. The sixth graders, with a win over Meace Thursday night, will have a perfect 14-0 season. The sixth graders beat Wayne 36-17.

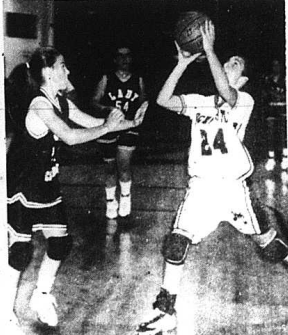

Eighth grader Heather Pingleton drives around a Wayne Co. defender. Pingleton also missed several games for her team due to an ankle injury.

Seventh grader Amanda Rogers drives to the goal in the girls game against Wayne County. Tuesday night, Amanda scored six points in her team's win over Southern Pulaski and two in the eighth grade game.

Seventh grader Jessica Riddle goes for a short jumper against Wayne County. Jessica had four points in the Rockets 39-30 victory over Wayne.

Allison Anderkin puts up two against Wayne. Anderkin had 7 points in the win. The conference tournaments (7th and 8th grades) will be played against North Laurel this year and the 7th graders are expected to contend for the championship against Northern Pulaski.

Eighth grader Jessica Thacker looks to get the pass inside during the 8th graders game against the Lady Cardinals from Wayne County. The 8th grade team hasn't fared well this season, losing eight games total. Thacker got three points in the 46-19 losing effort.

"Registered"

Darrell "Moody" Smith will also appear on the ballot.

Local business woman, Barbara Bennett, has also announced that she is seeking a council seat as a write-in candidate.

In Livingston, incumbent mayor Sandra Tyre is facing challenges from J.C. "Raymond" Griffin and Dean Jones.

There are also seven residents running for four council seats. The hottest topic in that election is the city police department.

Incumbent council members Katha Carpenter, Ed Curtis McHargue, Todd Mink and Aleda Bond face challenges from Marquita Phillips, Timothy Ray Hays and Charlie Newcomb.

Unless someone is elected as a write-in candidate, Brodhead will have a new mayor.

Walter Lee Cash is the only candidate that will appear on the ballot, but seven residents have filed for the four council seats.

Incumbent council members Johnny Wilcox, Curtis Brown, Larry Doyle and Kathy Taylor have all filed for re-election.

Current Mayor Billy B. Bussell has also filed for a council seat as well as Larry Taylor and Everett Albright.

Mrs. Houk said that under state law any eligible citizen can run as a write-in candidate in the three cities, without filing as a write-in candidate at the clerk's office.

There is only one contested race of the three for Rockcastle County School Board.

In Division One, which is comprised of the voting precincts of East and West Livingston and South Mt. Vernon, incumbent board member Dwight Griffin faces a challenge from former board employee and Livingston Fire Chief Sam Stallsworth.

In division three, current board chairman Dr. George W. Griffith is running unopposed as is board member Martin Vanzant in division four.

In local county wide races there is only one contested race, that for the office of Jailer.

Republican James Miller, who defeated incumbent Jailer Joe Howard in the primary, faces democrat Dale C. Johnson.

In the races for seats on the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court there are contested races in three of the five districts.

In district one, incumbent democrat John Holbrook faces a challenge from republican Chad Burdette.

In district three, incumbent republican Bill R. McKinney faces a challenge from democrat James E. "Bear" Bradley.

In district four, republican Fred Mullins, Jr., and democrat Shaun Tracy Poynter are running for the seat of Ames Burdette, who did not seek re-election.

District two magistrate Jack Bradley and district five magistrate Donald Bullock are running unopposed in the general election, after winning re-election in the May primary.

Two of the five races for constable will be contested.

In district one Randall Stevens runs unopposed and in district two, Delmo McClure faces a write-in challenge from Lloyd Bennett II, whom he defeated in the primary.

In district three, Roy Parriman runs unopposed as does Leonard D. Miller in district four.

In district five incumbent Eugene Senter is running as a write-in candi-didate against democrat Tommy Bullen.

Republicans State Representative Danny Ford, County Judge-Executive Buzz Carllofski, County Attorney Jeffrey Burdette, Property Valuation Administrator Margaret Offutt, County Clerk Norma Houk, Sheriff Shirley Smith and Coroner Bill Dowell are all running unopposed. District Judges Walter McGuire and Michael Henry are also unopposed.

Current Circuit Court Clerk, republican Teresa Vanzant is running unopposed for the unexpired term of her father Denver Miller, who retired earlier this year.

Statewide voters will select a new United States Senator, when they will choose between republican Jim Bunning and democrat Scotty Baesler.

Reform candidate Charles R. Argobust is also a candidate.

Bunning and Baesler, both current U.S. Representatives, have waged one of the dirtiest campaigns on record, to try and fill the seat of retiring Senator Wendell Ford.

Republican U.S. Representative Harold Rogers also faces only token opposition from democrat Sidney Jane Bailey-Bamer.

Rogers, of Somerset, a former Commonwealth Attorney for Rockcastle and Pulaski counties, has been in the United States Congress for nearly 20 years.

Voters should remember that because of the large number of candidates and the two amendments on the ballot, only two minutes will be allowed for each voter, if there is a line at the precinct in which they vote.

"Amendments"

Ford said he is in favor of amendment number two, although he wishes it too were worded differently.

Amendment number two would give the General Assembly broad authority in reducing or eliminating forms of tax on certain classes of personal property.

"That amendment says, the General Assembly may" and it should say shall cut taxes," Ford said.

Ford said that in 1996 when the amendment was introduced to the House he killed the bill because he added the word shall instead of may, but that he was for the amendment because it was a start.

"Some taxes on personal property are unfair and the General Assembly should have the ability to eliminate those taxes if they so wish," Ford said.

However Ford said voters should remember that the amendment only gives the General Assembly the right to act, it doesn't require them to cut any taxes.

about the grant. Tyree said Hammons agreed to work for minimum wage for two weeks while an attorney researches the situation. Hammons said that the city owes him about $4,000 in back pay and that if he wasn't paid he probably would sue the city. "They gave me a verbal contract when they hired me that this job was for at least the length of the grant," Hammons said.

Tyree agreed that the city owed Hammons some back pay, although she said that Hammons had bought some supplies that the city would deduct from the back pay. "I don't think the federal government could force the city to keep a full-time officer if they don't have the funds to pay him - but I think they still would release the funds for the grant," he said. "People down here tell me they can lay down and go to sleep at night for the first time in a long time," Hammons said.

Court rejected Mullins' challenge that the Commonwealth committed prosecutorial misconduct during its opening statement by being argumentative. The Supreme Court stated "the prosecution intended to, and did, present evidence to establish that Mullins was legally drunk at the time in question . . . therefore in the view of the evidence, they were not prejudicial." The Supreme Court also rejected Mullins' claim that the prosecution improperly inflamed the passions of the jury when he had the survivor of the crash to testify.

As Mullins passed though Rockcastle County on the Hwy. 461 bypass he swerved his van into the path of the Schumaker's automobile killing both parents instantly. Gustin Schumaker, 7, died a short time later at the Rockcastle Hospital. Mullins blood alcohol content revealed it was over twice the legal limit for driving at the time of the collision. Amanda Sheldon, 11, a niece of the Schumakers and a passenger in the back seat of the vehicle survived the crash but suffered injuries. Prosecutors presented evidence from witnesses who observed Mullins' erratic driving before the collision and behavior afterwards. In reaching its decision, the jury rejected Mullins' claim that his intoxication did not cause the collision. Mullins appealed his conviction to the Kentucky Supreme Court. On appeal, the Kentucky Supreme

The Court stated that, "the Commonwealth is allowed to show the jury that the victims were once living human beings rather than statistics." The Court further held, "it is apparent from the record as a whole that there was overwhelming evidence to convict Mullins." Mullins is currently imprisoned by the Kentucky Department of Corrections serving his 20 year sentence.

Rockets defeat Jumpers finish second in district

By Dackery Larkey

The Rockcastle County Rockets traveled to the Briar Patch in Somerset last Friday night to take on the Jumpers and came away with a 14-0 win in their last regular game of the season.

The win brought their record to 6 and 4 on the season. With an impressive win over Estill County last Friday, it looked to be the same this Friday as Derrick Bussell ran 71 yards on the first play to give the Rockets an early 7-0 lead. The Rockets put up one more score in the second quarter, but that would be all they needed as the defense stepped in and shut the Jumpers out.

Rockcastle received the opening kickoff, and on the first play from the line of scrimmage Derrick Bussell ran 71 yards for a Rocket touchdown. Greg Terry's kick was good and the Rockets led 7-0.

The Jumpers were forced to punt from their 20 yard line on their first possession of the second quarter. Derek Bradley blocked the punt and Josh Jones recovered the football in the endzone for the Rockets last score of the evening. Terry's kick was good and the Rockets led 14-0 for the final.

The Rockets threatened again as the first half was coming to a close as they scrambled down field only to fumble the ball on the one yard line.

Offensively, the Rockets put up 263 yards of total offense, while Derrick Bussell ran for 145 yards on 15 carries and one touchdown. Josh Hendrickson had 64 yards on eight carries. Andrew Carrera had 31 yards on nine carries. Josh Singleton carried the ball eight times for 12 yards. Josh Dooley had five yards on one carry. Brooks Ingram had two yards on one carry and Chris Parsons had eight yards rushing on one attempt. Parsons was one for six with 12 yards passing with one interception. Andy Hale caught one pass for 12 yards. Greg Terry was 2 for 2 on extra points.

Greg Harper had a total of 12 tackles and one fumble recovery. Josh Jones had nine tackles, two sacks and a fumble recovery. Brooks Ingram had six tackles. Josh Hendrickson picked up five tackles. Matt Smith and Josh Martin each had three tackles. Andy Hale had three tackles and one fumble recovery. Derek Bradley had three tackles and a blocked punt. Andrew Carrera, Henry Bryant, Travis Ingram, Derrick Bussell and Jeffery Linville all had two tackles and Sean Smith had one tackle. The Rockets defense have blocked a kick in eight different games.

In the ballgame, Andy Hale broke the school record for most receiving yards with 584 passing Chuck Shields who set the record in 1988 with 513. The Rockets will await their opponent this Friday night as the Danville Admirals and Boyle County fight it out. The Rockets are open this week and will host the loser of the Danville - Boyle County game in the first round of the playoffs November 6.

The Rockcastle County sixth grade team has continued their dominance over their opponents for the third straight year. The sixth graders upped their record to 13-0 with a win over Mercer County on Monday night in their invitational tournament going on at the middle school. Members of this year's team are pictured above front row, from left: Justin Burkart, Josh Bussell, Travis DeBorde, Phillip Boreing, Steven Rowe, Brent Clontz and Derrick Hurst. Second row, from left, Mosco Taylor, Blake

Decorate the field night set for Nov. 5, at 6 p.m.

To show our support of the Rockcastle County High School football team, we are planning a "Decorate-the-Field Night" on Thursday, November 5 at 6 p.m. All football parents, cheerleaders, and fans are asked to come help make posters, banners, signs, and noise-makers for the first playoff game.

Please bring markers and/or paint. (Poster board will be provided.) Also, bring empty, clean containers (such as plastic milk jugs or detergent bottles) for creating noise-makers for our fans to use during the game! Crepe paper streamers (red, white and blue) are also needed!

We will meet in the Rockcastle County Middle School cafeteria at 6 p.m. for instructions and move to the football field to decorate for the game!

Show your support and school-spirit November 5th at 6 p.m. at "Decorate-the-Field Night!" If you have any questions, call Myrna (758-8454), Jill (758-8619), or Nancy (256-4932).

Rockets to play in new district for 1999 season

The Rockcastle County Rockets will be moved into a new football district next year, after the Kentucky High School Athletic Association did some realigning.

In order to try and keep all schools of the same size in competition with each other, the KHSAA did some major rearranging. Rockcastle falls into the AAA category and not the AA division they play in now.

For Rockcastle it will mean a totally different schedule and possible major travel time.

As it stands now, Rockcastle would move into a district with Bell County, Cawood, Whitley County, Knox Central, Madison Southern and Knott County Central.

However Rockcastle head coach Tom Larkey said he will appeal the Rock's placement in that district, mainly because of travel time.

Larkey wants the Rock moved into the district with Lincoln County, Pulaski County, Southwestern Pulaski County, Marion County, Adair County and McCreary Central.

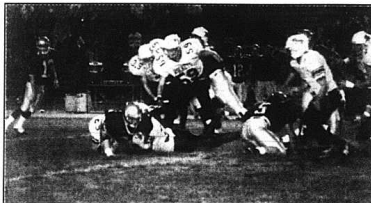

Larkey said he hopes McCreary Central will agree to trade districts and the KHSAA will approve the move.

"It would make more sense for us to play in our area of the state instead of driving to Hindman and Harlan to play football," Larkey said.

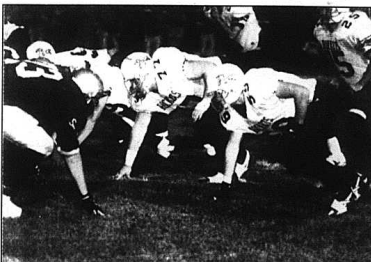

No matter what happens Rockcastle is through with its current district which includes Corbin, Wayne County, Estill County and Somerset.

Sophomore Derrick Bussell looks for running room against Somerset. He scored the Rockets first touchdown on a 71 yard sweep around right end on the first play from scrimmage.

Brooks Ingram and Andrew Carrera stop a Somerset back. Also in the photo are Henry Bryant and Josh Jones.

Josh Jones and Josh Martin played extremely well for the Rockets from their defensive line positions on Friday night. Jones also recovered a Somerset blocked punt in the end zone for the Rockets second score.

Protect Bath and Shower From Mold & Mildew

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Moisture makes bathrooms attractive to mold and mildew growth. A leaky seal under a toilet can allow water to seep between vinyl floor covering and wood or concrete subflooring, encouraging mold growth. A loose connection under a sink may allow mold to grow inside a vanity cabinet, a shower curtain or door may restrict air flow and encourage mold and mildew growth in the bath or shower. Molds are microscopic fungi that require moisture to grow. They thrive on organic materials, natural fibers such as cotton or wool, paper or wood. Mold and mildew, which are some of the most common household molds, can cause discoloration on bathroom tile or other fixtures, on walls, around windows and between layers of flooring. Molds vary in color -- from white to orange, green, black or brown -- and usually produce a musty order which helps homeowners detect growth in poorly lighted or unexposed areas, such as behind baseboards near the bathtub. To reduce mold and mildew in the bath and shower areas, follow the suggestions given below.

* Keep bath and shower areas clean and as dry as possible.
* After showering, wipe shower walls with a sponge, squeegee or towel.
* Allow towel to dry completely.

* After a bath, wipe up splashes and puddles.
* Keep shower curtains clean and mold and mildew free.

* Use a vented exhaust fan to reduce moisture in the air; allow the fan to run for a few minutes after showering or bathing. Fans should be vented to the outside, not to an attic or crawlspace.

* When weather permits, open a window to allow extra moisture to escape.
* Launder towels frequently.

To clean mold and mildew from bath and shower areas, scrub surfaces with a solution prepared with one cup liquid chlorine bleach (laundry bleach), one tablespoon of detergent that does not contain ammonia, and one gallon of water. Water may be warm or cool. Rubber gloves and glasses or protective eyewear are recommended. As with any cleaning solution, avoid breathing fumes. Use a brush or old toothbrush to clean grout. Keep the surface wet for 10 minutes, then rinse well with water and dry.

If shower curtains can be laundered by machine, add chlorine bleach with detergent. For plastic curtains, use a warm water rinse and hang curtains to reduce wrinkling.

To clean painted surfaces in the bathroom that also may host mold or mildew, scrub surfaces with a solution of one cup chlorine bleach to one gallon of water. A detergent, such as trisodium phosphate (TSP) or liquid dishwashing detergent, may be added to the solution. Do not, however, mix bleach with cleaners containing ammonia -- such mixtures can cause toxic fumes! Rinse painted surfaces with clean water and allow them to dry thoroughly before painting or wallpapering.

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

Halloween is almost here and all the children are getting very excited. The annual Halloween Party will be held at the library, Thursday evening at 6 p.m. We are looking forward to seeing a lot of little ghosts and goblins. Prizes will be given for the best costumes and the winners of the pumpkin decorating contest will be announced. Lynda has planned a fun-filled evening for all the children. Refreshments will be served at the end. I attended the KSM/AKLA Conference in Louisville last week. This was one of the best that I have attended in several years. Some of the sessions I took part in were Collaborative Ventures in Kentucky, How to Write Technology Plans, Using the Internet for Genealogical Research, Customer is Not a Four Letter Word, Interlibrary Loan, New Products and

New Trends, and Managing the Internet. The luncheons were especially good with speakers on both days. On Thursday, Barbara Taylor McCafferty and Beverly Taylor Herald, identical twins and co-authors of the Tatum Twin mystery series discussed how they managed to write three novels together when they live 250 mile apart. The three novels are Double Murder, Double Exposure, and Death Cross. We have all three of these books and I have read them and really enjoyed them.

On Friday, Paul Zindel was the speaker. Mr. Zindel is the author of juvenile books filled with mystery and horror. He was able to keep everyone's attention with his many humorous and exciting tales. Some of his books are: The Oath, The Doom Stone, Reef of Death and his newest one is Raptor. We do not have all of his novels but if we have requests I will purchase them.

We have been very busy this week preparing a grant application for the Gates Foundation. I want to thank the trustee members who have helped me in doing this and especially Jerry who stuck with me until the end. This was no easy task but the results should be four new computer and one server and a printer. This will greatly enhance our service to patrons since all of our computers are in use sometimes and other people are waiting their turn.

Some new non-fiction books available are: Kentucky's Best Fifty Years of Great Recipes by Linda Allison-Lewis. This is one of the best cookbooks I have viewed recently. It contains a variety of tested recipes and some of them are from famous restaurants in Kentucky. Another one is Christmas with Southern Living 1998. It contains a wide variety of subjects, Holiday Home, All the Trimmings, Suppers to Soirees, and Gifts of Good Taste.

Three new fiction books are: The Poisonwood Bible by Barbara Kingsolver. This is the story of Nathan Price, a self-righteous Baptist minister, his wife, Orleana and their daughters, Rachel, Leah and Adah, adolescent twins and Ruth May.

In 1959, the Prises depart from Bethlehem, GA for the Belgian Congo where Nathan is on a zealous mission: to convert his brand of evangelical Christianity to those poor unfortunate souls who think the way he does. An exciting novel awaits our patrons in the Poisonwood Bible.

The Hammer of Eden by Ken Follet. When controversial radio talk host John Truth broadcasts a terrorist threat of a man-made earthquake, a few people take it seriously. Crackerjack young FBI agent Judy Maddox is assigned to track down the elusive group called The Hammer of Eden.

Judy's research leads her to maverick seismologist Michael Quercus, who gives her the shocking news that it might be possible for an earthquake to be deliberately triggered. And when a tremor in a remote California desert shows evidence of being machine generated, Judy knows the threat is real.

Their compelling romantic drama is played out as they race to beat the terrorist deadline. All Through the Night by Mary Higgins Clark. At the center of this novel are two of Mary Higgins Clark's most beloved characters, Alvirah, the lottery winner turned amateur sleuth, and her husband, Willy, both of them caught up in a Christmas mystery that calls on all of Alvirah's deductive powers, as well as Willy's world-class common sense.

"IT IS WRITTEN"

Next Tuesday will be election day in our country. Citizens will cast their votes to decide various election races. I am reminded of the Bible election spoken about in I Peter 1:2. "Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, into obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied." Paul talked about the Thessalonians election. "Knowing, brethren beloved, your election of God." I Thes 1:4. Peter speaks again about it in II Peter 1:10. "Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall." Now how does this election work? God has cast a vote for your salvation. The devil has cast a vote for you being lost. We cast the deciding vote in the election, do we go with God and his Son, or do we go with Satan in the ways of sin? The choice is yours. God wants and has made every provision for your salvation, but you must cast the deciding vote in this election. Mark 8:24. "Thou shalt see after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me."

VOTE FOR Samuel Stallsworth for Rockcastle County School Board

Division #1
#2 on the Ballot

Division #1
#2 on the Ballot

To all the Voters of South Mt. Vernon and East and West Livingston:

My name is Samuel Stallsworth and I am running for a seat on the Rockcastle County School Board. I am a lifelong citizen of Livingston and have had the pleasure of raising my daughter in this county. Being a parent and grandparent myself, I realize how important the lives of our children are and that the direction of their lives is often pointed out to them during their school years.

Over the years, I have set back and watched our school being run by a very small minority of individuals. Even though I have no hard feelings toward these individuals, I feel that it is our turn, the parents, to be making the decisions concerning our children. It is time for us to step forward and speak up. I am hoping I can be your voice. I assure you, if elected, the citizens will know what is going on in our school system for a change.

We have problems in our school system that need to be addressed immediately. We are losing too many of our talented young people to the influence of drugs and alcohol. It is time we made an effort to stop it. I want our young people to know how much we care.

I will do my best to see that our young people receive the scholarships they deserve for their academic efforts, as well as their athletic abilities.

Our children are our future. I want to see that our future gets opportunities that they justly deserve. I want my granddaughter to be proud to say that she is from Rockcastle County.

I have not had the opportunity to visit each of you on a person-to-person basis. I would, however, appreciate your vote and support. I feel that if we work together, our schools will be the one to prosper.

Thanks once again for your support.

Sincerely,
Samuel Stallsworth

THE SILENT SOCIAL DISTRACTION

For most of us, a sneeze or a cough means turning our head and covering our mouth. But for some, it could be a tremendous threat, even an embarrassing distraction.

Nearly 13 million Americans suffer from urinary incontinence, which is the uncontrollable leakage of urine, according to the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research. And, more than two thirds of the sufferers are women.

"It's not only a medical problem, it can become a social problem as well," said Dr. Michael Hamilton of Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center (RHRC).

"Sufferers find themselves neglecting all kinds of social interaction to avoid embarrassment. It can become a self-consuming problem if it is not treated."

There are several kinds of urinary incontinence. The two main types are stress incontinence and urge incontinence. Stress incontinence, the most common type, is a leakage that usually occurs during exercise, sneezing, coughing, laughing or the lifting of heavy objects. This happens because the muscles that keep the bladder closed are weak.

Urge incontinence is characterized by being unable to make it to the restroom in time. This is a result of the muscle of the bladder wall twitching. If the twitching becomes strong enough, urine will be forced out of the body. A person can experience strong, sudden urges to urinate even if the bladder has little urine in it.

Urinary incontinence has been associated with many things, such as urinary tract infections, certain medications, menopause, hormone imbalances, multiple pregnancies and high fluid intake. "Estrogen deficiency can play a role in urinary incontinence," Dr. Hamilton said. "The most important thing is for a sufferer to tell his or her family physician. Most of the time it is a treatable condition, whether it be behavior changes, medication or surgery. But it must be diagnosed first."

It is estimated that almost 50 percent of urinary incontinence sufferers do not report it to their family physician. For most people, it is too embarrassing to talk about. However, because most incontinence problems are treatable to some degree, if not curable, it is important for sufferers to consult with their family physicians.

Certain behavioral measures help maintain a healthy bladder, which helps in the prevention of urinary incontinence. Dr. Hamilton recommends the following measures:

- Drink a lot of water. This helps to avoid urine concentration, which may irritate the bladder.
- Avoid food and beverages that contain caffeine or alcohol.

- Don't ignore signs that you need to go to the restroom. Keeping the bladder full for long periods of time can lead to bacterial infections or leakage problems.
- Maintain pelvic muscle strength, especially following childbirth.

HEALTHY TIPS

Fat-Free Banana Bread

- 6 very ripe bananas
- 1 cup of sugar
- 2 cups of flour
- 1 tsp. of baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. of baking soda
- 1 tsp. of vanilla
- 1 cup of golden raisins

Preheat the oven to 350° F. Mix the bananas and sugar together with a fork. In a separate bowl, mix the flour, baking powder and baking soda. Stir in the banana mixture and the vanilla. Continue stirring until it is completely blended. Add the raisins, pour the mixture into a non-stick loaf pan and bake for one hour. Let the bread cool slightly before removing it from the pan. Allow the bread to completely cool before slicing.

DIABETES: A MANAGEABLE CONDITION

Nearly 16 million Americans have diabetes, according to the American Diabetes Association. Diabetes is a condition where the body has little or no ability to move glucose, which is known as sugar, out of its blood and into its cells where it is needed most.

During the digestive process, carbohydrates are broken down into glucose, which then can be absorbed into the blood. At that point, insulin, a hormone made by the pancreas, moves the glucose from the blood to the cells all over the body. However, in diabetics, the insulin is either not produced or what is produced cannot be used efficiently.

If glucose levels are not maintained, they can build up in the blood, causing a condition called hyperglycemia.

Hyperglycemia can cause blurred vision, fatigue, intense thirst and the frequent need to urinate. Over time, if the glucose remains at a high level in the blood, many complications can arise.

In fact, diabetes is the leading cause of adult blindness, kidney disease and lower-limb amputations. And diabetics are three times more likely than non-diabetics to suffer from heart attacks or strokes.

"However, most diabetes complications can be prevented by keeping your blood-glucose level as close to the normal range as possible," said Dr. Kimberly Cornelius of Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center. "The common target range before meals is 80 to 140; after meals it is 120 to 180, and at bedtime it is 100 to 160.

"It is important to discuss your own personal target range with your physician. But overall, these ranges are where most people should be for the majority of their glucose-level readings."

If you have been diagnosed with diabetes, Dr. Cornelius suggests the following steps to help you maintain a normal glucose-level reading.

- Test your blood glucose regularly. Your physician can instruct you on the proper way to test and the frequency that is needed for your condition.
- Stop smoking. Diabetics have a greater risk for developing high blood pressure and circulation problems, which are increased with smoking.

- Reduce the fat and salt in your diet.
- Follow a food plan that has been assigned by your physician.
- Talk to your physician about starting an exercise program designed to meet your needs.
- Visit your doctor every three to four months. This will help you maintain your diabetes care and have an opportunity to detect common diabetes health problems early.

Stress Causes Illness
 "My doctor said that I should come talk to you," Robin explained. (All characters are fictitious.) "I've been having some unusual symptoms that don't seem to have any explanation."
 Robin had been having chest pain, shortness of breath and rapid temperature changes (hot one minute and cold the next). A battery of tests had failed to reveal any problem with her heart or other organs. "Can you help me?" she asked. "This is about to drive me crazy."

Studies indicate that 60-90% of all visits to doctor's offices are stress related. The patient expects the doctor to provide an instant cure for a problem that may have taken months or years to develop. If the doctor does not prescribe any medication, the patient tells his friends that the doctor "didn't do a thing for me."

Patients feel almost like failures if they have a "stress-related illness." Somehow they should know how to handle the stress better they feel.
 Most illnesses are stress-related in some way. That is to say that they have psychological, spiritual and mental causes as well as physical. Most illnesses are not totally physical.

The ancient Hebrews recognized long ago that man was a unity. Man did not have a soul but he "became a living soul." The body-soul distinction came later with the Greeks. For the Hebrews man was not divided into body and soul but was one creature.

Whatever happens in one part of life affects all the other parts of life, too. One cannot subject himself to continued psychological stress and expect that to have no effect on physical health.

"I have been under a lot of stress lately," Robin admitted. "My father has been sick, and Mom can't take care of him by herself. Since my sister lives 500 miles away, I've been practically living with Mom and Dad."

"I know my kids need me and I try to spend time with them," she went on, "but I just don't have enough of me to go around. And my husband and I haven't had a decent conversation in six months. (She paused).

Maybe I am just tired."

Robin had been one of those 60-90% of people who were in doctors' offices for stress related reasons. She was not a failure because stress affected her, because stress affects everyone.

Her illness was not "imaginary" either. It was not just "all in her head." The pain was very real.

"My doctor would not give me any medication," she reported, "even though I asked for some. Perhaps he saw that stress was a big part of my illness."

Her doctor realized that Robin needed help with the psychological stress as well as with the physical problems.

Election time is here again and, again I am asking for your support and vote.

I have served as your magistrate for nearly five years and would like to continue.

I have voted and voiced my opinion in a manner that I thought would be helpful to the Third District and the County.

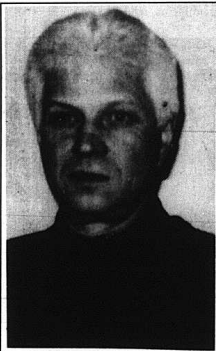

The Third District has had its portion of tax money in the form of backstop on such roads as Slatey Branch, Edgar Cash Rd., Bowling Ridge, John Mason Brown Rd., Tark Hill, Clyde Payne Rd., Low Gap Rd., Bryant Ridge Rd., Charlie Todd-Friendship Rd., Lloyd McKinney Rd., Cleft Rock Rd., Henry Brown Subdv., Jerry Hamm's Rd., Bandy Rd. and others. Some of these roads also had construction work on hills, culverts or ditching. The Third District was not forgotten on snow removal or mowing as well.

If Re-Elected, I will Continue These "Practices for Progress."

Around 300 people attended the Customer Appreciation Day event on Saturday, October 24th. There was lots of food and good music by Carl and Alan Burton and their band from Mason, Ohio and Kenneth Alexander, also of Ohio. Everyone enjoyed it so much that it was decided to make it a yearly event. Our thanks to Debbie and Danny and their employees for putting this event together.

Dale Whitaker of the Bee Lick community suffered a heart attack on Saturday and is a patient at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington. Dale is the son of R.G. and Edna Taylor Whitaker.

Carl and Dorothy McClure and Henry and Pearl Barron spent a week recently visiting Buck, Tammy, J.K.

and Ashley Fletcher in Zephyrhills, Florida.

To the Voters of the Third District

Election Day is just around the corner and I am writing again to ask for your help. I need your vote in order to be able to serve as your Magistrate in the Third District. Elections are generally not won by just one vote but it does happen and I want to be the candidate with the most votes. You could be that vote, so please take the time to vote for me Election Day.

My advertisements are not flashy. They are not full of promises or negative comments. I am not a politician. I am simply your friend, neighbor or fellow resident of the Third District who is asking for a chance to work for you, the voters. If you will give me the chance, I will strive to prove worthy.

I make no campaign promises in exchange for votes or support. As I have previously stated, if you have a problem or concern and contact me, I will respond. I am sure that I will not have the money or resources to correct every problem, so I will have to make a judgement call as to what work to do. That is part of the responsibility that goes with the job. I am sure everyone will not agree with every decision I make but I will not make decisions based on who you are or your political party. I will do what I feel is best for the district.

One thing that I have not previously mentioned is my affiliation with the Rockcastle County Little League. Last year, I served as president and will hold that position again next year. I have also served as a coach or board member since the beginning of that program. You may ask what this has to do with serving as Magistrate. I feel that it shows that I do care about our county and will spend my time trying to do something for its improvement.

Remember: I want the job! I want to work for You!
Please support me on Election Day!
Your Vote Will Make A Difference!
Thank you for your support!

Dark Lonely Old House

There's a house that stands high on a hill
Alone, dark and so very still
It's paint is dull, faded and pale
The sign in front reads "House for Sale"
But I know this old place will never be sold
Because of the weird tales about it so often told
Of ghosts from the past that roam its halls at midnight
Giving all those who dare pass it a terrible fright
Often in the top windows they see a strange shadow
Or an eerie light with a weird glow
Of ghosts from the past that roam its halls at midnight
And when it gets dark they all stay far away.

No one goes around or gets anywhere near
To that lonely old house that so many fear

Are there really ghosts that move about out there
Among the rooms so cold, damp, dark and bare?
I don't really know, I can truly say
Perhaps some stormy night you'll pass that way
By that dark lonely old house that stands on the hill Alone so dark and very very still
Then maybe my friends if you get really near
You will see what others have seen year after year.

Halloween and Superstitions
Superstitions have always been with us, people have passed them down from one generation to the next
What better time of year to tell you about some of them now??
A dog howling is thought to be a sign of death in the family of the dog's owner.

Back in medieval times if your eyebrows touched, people thought that you were a Werewolf.
If the wind blows smoke to the ground it means bad weather is on the way.
If the palm of your left hand itches, you'll get some money.
A snake's rattle placed in a chamomile bag and worn next to the heart will bring success in love.
Between 1570 and 1700 at least one million people found guilty of witchcraft were burned at the stake or put to death in some way.
To cure a headache, every morning put your left sock and shoe on first.
In Ireland's superstition, a spirit known as a Banshee wailing is said to foretell death.
We all know that you will have bad luck if a black cat crosses in front of your path.
There are many more superstitions that I have not told you about. So on this Halloween night, how many more can you think of??

"Horror Under the Full Moon"
Weird creatures stalk the dead of night.
When the October moon is full and bright.

Strange beasts come out of their caves, Ghosts will rise up from their deep graves.
Now, if you plan to go out alone tonight when it gets late,
Better not, for all kinds of spooky things may be out by the gate
For it's midnight, a time when they all come out late at night,
To scream, howl, laugh and cause everyone lots of fright.
After midnight, you don't know what is waiting for you,
In the shadows there just might be an alien or two.
They could be lurking in any dark lonely place,
And space monsters can move about at a deadly pace.
So when the clock strikes twelve stay in where there's light,
Do not venture out alone on such a dark eerie night.
So if you don't want to be part of some "Weird Legends" story,
When it gets real late home is the best place of all to be.
Take this haunting advice is what I hope you will do,
For I wish a safe dark, eerie night for all of you.

Vote for Dwight Griffin for re-election as School Board Member School Board Division 1

I would like to take this opportunity to pledge to each of you that I will continue to take the best interest of our school children into consideration in each and every decision that I have authority, as a school board member, to participate in. In addition, I want to take this opportunity to invite anyone who would like to discuss any school related issues to contact me as I am very interested in representing your views. Also, I would like to invite you to attend the Rockcastle County Board of Education meetings which are conducted on the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. Based on my past experience and training as a school board member and my willingness to work hard on school issues which hopefully will result in the best possible education for our children, I feel I would serve you as the best of the two candidates pursuing the Division 1 school board seat. Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

AAA warns Halloween is dangerous night for children

Ghosts, ghouls, goblins and the early darkness that comes with the end of daylight-savings time can combine to make Halloween a scary time for trick-or-treaters and motorists, the Blue Grass Auto Club Safety Foundation warns. Child pedestrians are four times more likely to be injured on Halloween, according to research conducted by the Centers for Disease Control. Nearly half of all pedestrian fatalities involving children occur between 4 and 8 p.m. "Trick-or-treaters are particularly at risk because they are usually out near dusk when visibility is the lowest," said Lilla S. Mason, Director of the Foundation. "The key to Halloween safety—for drivers and pedestrians is to see and be seen."

The Safety Foundation offers the following tips for parents of trick-or-treaters:

- *Have children use make-up instead of a mask to avoid obstructed vision.
- *Check to be sure children can walk comfortably in their costume without tripping.
- *Make sure costumes have adequate reflective material and have at least one person in every group carry a flashlight.

*Encourage children to walk on the sidewalks and cross at crosswalks where they are more visible. Warn them against crossing the street from between parked cars.

For motorists, the AAA Foundation says being seen and seeing others means staying alert, driving slowly and using headlights beginning at least one hour before sunset.

On Halloween, drivers should watch for children darting into traffic from between parked cars. Seventy-eight percent of fatalities involving
