Masked gunman kills local man at Foodland

By: Richard Anderkin

A lone masked gunman walked into Foodland Grocery Store in Brodhead on Saturday night killing a local man and robbing the store of an undisclosed amount of money.

Kentucky State Police Detective Gary Lane said that Cornell Meece, 59, of Brodhead was shot and killed after he walked in on the robbery in progress.

Rockcastle County coroner Bill Dowell, who pronounced Meece dead at the scene, said that preliminary autopsy reports revealed that Meece died after he was shot in the chest. Dowell said the bullet pierced Meece's heart and lungs.

According to store employee Eric Helton, 18, of Quail, the gunman entered the store around 9:45 p.m. Saturday night, about 15 minutes prior to closing.

Helton said that the gunman was wearing a Jason character hockey mask, from the movie Friday the 13th, black shoes, black pants, black shirt and black gloves and carrying a gun.

Helton said that when the gunman first entered the store he ordered clerk Julie Burdette, who was standing near one of the cash registers to lie down in the floor.

Helton said that the gunman then entered the office, in the front of the store, where owner Mabel Randolph was preparing her paperwork to close the store for the night.

Helton said that when the gunman first ordered Ms. Randolph to fill a sack with money from the safe, she thought he was trying to pull a Halloween prank because store employees at Foodland had been passing out candy to trick or treaters all night long.

But when Ms. Randolph questioned the gunman thinking it was a hoax, he shot into the wall to prove that he was not kidding. Helton said that while the gunman was in the office, Meece, who was Ms. Randolph's companion, walked in on the robbery.

Helton said that Meece, who had a knife, struggled with the gunman, who struck him in the head with the gun, before shooting him in the chest.

Helton, who was in the back of the store with another employee Dinah Moore, when they heard the first shot, said that before the gunman left the store with the money, he

Patton carries county, state for second term

The only surprise in Tuesday's general election in Rockcastle County was that a Democrat won the Governor's race in a county that is four to one Republican.

Incumbent Kentucky Governor

Debra Smith, 40, of Hwy. 1505, Mt. Vernon, was arrested at 8 p.m. by Rockcastle County Deputy Sheriff Doug Thomas and Kentucky State Police Officer Lafe Owens.

Thomas said that he and Owens went to the Smith home after he received information that Ms. Smith was selling marijuana and beer.

Thomas said that Ms. Smith allowed the officers to search her home and that they found over sixteen cases of beer and three plastic baggies of Paul Patton carried Rockcastle County by 19 votes, 565 to 546 over Republican candidate Peppy Martin.

Patton also carried the state with 61 percent of the vote to Martin's 23 percent and Gatewood Galbraith's 15.

Some observers had thought that Galbraith, the Reform Party candidate, may actually defeat Martin, running second to Patton, but that wasn't the case.

In Rockcastle, Galbraith got 20 percent of the votes or 312 of the 1,506 votes cast.

The city must publish a summary ordinance in the Signal at least seven days prior to the second reading of the ordinance, which has been scheduled for the next regular monthly meeting of the council on December 6th.

At that meeting the council will take another vote on the ordinance and once it is published in the Signal it will become law.

Mt. Vernon passes new tax on wages

By: Richard Anderkin

Two years ago the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court imposed a tax on insurance premiums in Rockcastle County. Now the City of Mt. Vernon is taking a wack at your pocket book as well.

On Monday night, the City of Mt. Vernon voted to impose a 1.5 percent occupational tax on all workers, who work at businesses located inside the city limits of Mt. Vernon.

Mt. Vernon Mayor Karen King said the tax was needed to help the city overcome a $92,000 shortfall and enable her to give city employees much deserved raises.

The only council member to vote against the new tax was councilwoman Clarice Kirby. The rest of the council: Jackie Renner, Clark Mullins, Daryl Smith, Lou Vanhoose and Wayne Bullock voted in favor of the tax.

But Monday night's vote was only the first hurdle for the tax.

The city must publish a summary ordinance in the Signal at least seven days prior to the second reading of the ordinance, which has been scheduled for the next regular monthly meeting of the council on December 6th.

At that meeting the council will take another vote on the ordinance and once it is published in the Signal it will become law.

The tax will go into effect on January 1, 2000.

Mayor King said that she thought the tax would generate in the neighborhood of $400,000 annually for the city.

Besides covering the shortfall in the city's general fund, the Mayor said that she hoped to be able to build a new fire department building for the city's volunteer fire department.

"As it stands right now we don't have the funds to do anything besides barely scrape by," King said.

King said that the new tax would not be imposed on the profits of corporations, sole proprietorships or partnerships.

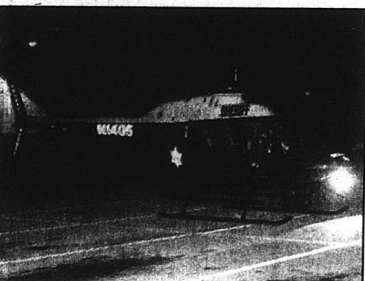

"This is truly a payroll tax, assessed on employees inside the city limits," King said.

I think it is ridiculous, people with just one employee will have to fill out all that paperwork and I think a better job could have been done to balance the city's books," councilwoman Clarice Kirby said.

Monday's vote comes only six weeks after the city raised property taxes and most privilege license fees on businesses throughout the city.

According to the ordinance, which can be seen at the Mt. Vernon City Hall, businesses will have until the 10th day of each month to pay the

Arson cause of fire at Pine Hill church

Arson is suspected as the cause of a fire that destroyed a large metal building which housed the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ and the Rockcastle Child Care Center on U.S. 25 at Pine Hill on Monday night.

Mt. Vernon and Livingston firefighters were called to the scene of the blaze around 12:45 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Mt. Vernon firefighter Brian Hansel said that firefighters were able to contain the blaze the first time they went to scene.

But, Hansel said that firefighters were called back to the scene around 6:30 a.m. where they found the structure completely involved.

Hansel said that firefighters found a homemade torch lying on the floor of the building and that gasoline had been poured onto the floor as well.

A news release from the Kentucky State Police on Tuesday said that state police arson investigators had determined that the fire was indeed intentionally set.

The building had been listed for sale in the past few weeks.

Police say that someone burnt the building that houses the Church of our Lord Jesus Christ and the Rockcastle Day Care Center on Monday night. Firefighters found a torch and gasoline in the building after they extinguished the blaze the first time.

Stamper writes about Renfro

By: Richard Anderkin
No doubt many performers, promoters, ticket takers, ushers and even the guys that sweep up after the shows have a story about Renfro Valley and the historic barn dance.

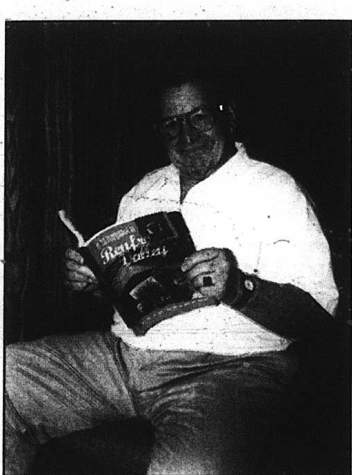

But probably no one else has the perspective of one Wallace Logan Stamper, who for 48 years of his 69 years on this earth has been part of Renfro Valley.

Better known as Pete Stamper, the life-long performer has recounted both the good times and bad times at Renfro Valley, in a new book It All Happened in Renfro Valley, which has just been released.

Stamper, who has been a part of the Renfro Valley Barn Dance since he arrived in the valley from Butler County in 1950 for a guest appearance on the barn dance, has written the book from his point of view, about the historic country music complex.

Stamper, known mostly for comic routines on the barn dance, since becoming a full-time entertainer in 1952, traces the show's history from its early radio days in Cincinnati and Chicago, through the glory years in the 1940s, the lean times in the 1960s and to its renewed popularity in the 1990s.

Stamper held a book signing last Saturday before Renfro Valley held their 60th anniversary show in the Law is clear on posting of Commandments

A couple of weeks ago the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court discussed placing the Ten Commandments in the courthouse.

They acknowledged that legally they are not supposed to be posted and that if any lawsuit arises from their posting, the county's insurance carrier as the holder they will not pay any of their legal expenses.

Judge-Executive Buzz Carlotis even went as far as to say that if any other religious group, taxpayer or not wanted to post their commandments or religious materials concerning their certain religion, they would not be allowed to do so.

I guess Judge Carlotis is wiser than the United States Supreme Court, which ruled in 1980 that the posting of the Ten Commandments was a definite violation of separation of church and state and should not be posted in courthouses and schools and basically in the public domain.

First of all, no one at the Signal has any problems with the Ten Commandments, and their importance to the religions they serve and to this country as a whole. There are no Atheists or Agnostics here either.

The United States constitution was patterned after the Ten Commandments and is a document that has endured well over 200 years.

But when politicians and school boards and other governing bodies begin trying to usurp the authority of

in this county and they demanded that the Eleven Sanaic Rules of Earth, their commandments, be posted?

The Sanaic Rules of Earth, include commandments about magic and destroying people. Is that something you would want displayed?

Or would you want your children to be subjected to other people's religious beliefs when their beliefs are nothing like yours?

Would you want your children to think they may need to worship Buddha or Muhammad, both leaders of different religions not associated with the Ten Commandments.

It is understandable why some people think it is necessary to post the Ten Commandments, but, because we live in the United States where all citizens are supposed to be treated the same - religion and the state are supposed to be separate.

That is in order to assure that religious groups can meet without persecution, so they can worship the way they want to and the way they think is correct and proper.

We all know that even Christians vary on what they believe and how things should be done when it comes to worship.

I simply believe that it would be a grave mistake to try and change laws that have been so effective, that have endured over 200 years and that have guaranteed the rights of religious groups to meet and worship without anyone telling them they can't or how they can.

A friend of mine who probably would go along with the posting of the commandments, but who also has some common sense, had some good thoughts on the matter.

How many people can recite all Ten Commandments? How many people have the Ten Commandments posted in their homes? How many people, in favor of posting the commandments in courthouses and schools, have the commandments posted in their places of businesses or in their vehicles?

How many people carry a copy of the commandments on their person? If folks are honest, it would be very few, if any.

Strong religious foundations begin the home - are built in churches and can certainly survive without breaking the law.

I'm afraid that people who insist on bringing together church and state and not keeping them separate as the drafters of the constitution intended, won't like the end result of such a debate in this country and may actually lose some control of the freedoms they now enjoy.

In the Bible, in Romans chapter 13, Christians were instructed to live by the laws of land, to respect civil powers, and the laws of this land include the separation of church and state. The 1980 ruling on the Ten Commandments obviously doesn't set too well with some, but it simply is a ruling that is in the best interest of all, including Christians.

into consideration and that is the fact factor.

While most women sneak a spoon-ful of baking soda or cream or gas into their recipe to lighten on intestinal gas production. A lot of them won't even use beans for the same reason. I take exactly the opposite approach.

Some people like to figure that if someone does pass a little gas, you can light a match and the smell will go away. Eat a big bowl of my chili and within two hours its dangerous to light a match unless you don't mind the doors and windows being blown out of the walls.

Women don't realize that in clubs where only men are admitted every chili supper is followed by a farting contest. That's the reason that I have put years of research into selecting the key ingredients for my chili.

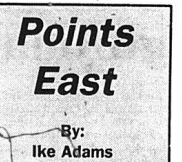

I read the fine print on the cans of red kidney beans and tomatoes while I'm still in the store to make sure that no preservatives have been added. Preservatives can make beans tomatoes less gassy. I've discovered that red onions have nearly twice the gas production capacity as white or yellow. Ditto for fresh chili peppers - probably name it the Sports Club or maybe the Sportsbarix Club or anything that recognized the fact that women are just as involved as men. I've already suggested the Hen-pecked husbands hangout, but the only reaction I got for my creativity consisted of icy stares.

What were we talking about anyway. Oh yeah, chili.

Since several of the women are cooking up big pots of chili for tomorrow night, I thought it was only fitting that they have a pot of the genuine article to compare it to.

Normally I would have used a lot more ripe red chili peppers than I'm putting into this recipe because normally I like to break out into a sweat when I think about chili. I'm making this batch fairly mild, because I actually want the women to be able to sample it without blistering their mouths.

However, I have not neglected the other key element in manly chili and the one that women never even take

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

October has been designated "Clergy Appreciation Month" for the past several years. This is a special time set aside to honor our ministers and their families. True, October is now history, but we Kiwanians trust that our ministers will always be honored.

Pastors need our physical support and our spiritual support. We can help on a regular basis by praying for them and their families, lending willing hands and hearts, and offering words of encouragement. Take the time to express your appreciation to your minister for his contribution to your spiritual life.

The first object of Kiwanis is "to give primacy to the human and spiritual rather than the material values of life." We sponsor many activities to promote spiritual and human values.

You are always invited to join us any Thursday at noon at Kastle Inn Restaurant.

Blessings,
Sue Hamm

"Rockcastle's Most Preferred"

Some Traditions Live On Forever

In "the old days" a gentle word, a kind smile and a genuine appreciation for the needs of others was the rule and not the exception. It was a world where neighbors helped each other just because they were neighbors, family members worked side by side and where friends did whatever you needed them to do.

It was a time when people did what was right because... well, it's the way they lived their lives, raised their families and ran their businesses.

Even though times may have changed, our philosophies and way of doing business have remained the same.

Frankly, we happen to like the values we grew up with, and still believe there's a place for them in our lives and in our business today.

Time may change a lot of things, but a tradition of doing what's right doesn't have to be one of them.

In Loving Memory

In Heaven

By Debbie Barnett
It was on a cold dark dreary night
As we stood quietly at his bed side
We saw him slowly fading away
As tears were streaming down our face
Amazing Grace how sweet the sound
The greatest man there was around
Heaven couldn't have welcomed a sweeter Daddy
He's gone to rest high upon that mountain

To rest with Jesus to hold his hand
He's gone to that great beulah land
He's gone to that beautiful shore
To rest peaceful with his Lord
The Lord is his shepherd
He restoreth his soul
The greatest daddy we will ever know
We remember how he was back then
Someday in Heaven we shall meet again

This poem is in loving memory of Clyde Barnett who passed away on Nov. 1, 1993.

UK to award scholarships

A special University of Kentucky scholarship program is now open for applications from eighth-grade students in 29 Eastern Kentucky counties. The Robinson Scholars Program will identify at least one eighth-grader from each of the counties, offering them full tuition, room, board, books and other expenses. At current costs, the full, four-year scholarship is worth approximately $32,000. Since the program's beginning, it has inducted 337 eighth-grade students.

The induction process requires students to be nominated, but the students and family, as well as teachers and school principals, can initiate the nomination process by requesting a nomination packet. Nomination packets may be obtained from the student's school guidance counselor or by contacting the Robinson Scholars Program.

Selection for the program is based on the student's academic potential, the family's financial need for assistance with college-related expenses, essays and interviews. Parents of the students who are nominated may not have a four-year college degree.

Each student chosen for the program will receive the scholarship to the University of Kentucky or any of the state's community colleges if the student maintains the required grade point average and attendance rate as well as earn the required score on the ACT.

The Robinson Scholars Program is funded by earnings from mining and logging operations permitted on nearly 5,000 acres of the 14,000-acre Robinson Forest in Breathitt, Perry and Knott counties. The program was established in 1995 by the UK Board of Trustees from the E.O. Robinson Trust in order to help increase the number of college-going attendees from Eastern Kentucky, where college attendance is historically low compared to other regions in the state. The program is being administered by Paula R. Whitaker, regional coordinator at Southeast Community College in Cumberland.

"This program, through its many support activities, assists young people in realizing their dreams, and it provides them with the opportunity for higher education that will help to make those dreams come true," says Whitaker. "It is a very special opportunity for students in Eastern Kentucky."

The Robinson Trust was established in 1922 by Edward O. Robinson, a logging magnate who donated $1 million to establish a fund to help Eastern Kentuckians obtain both education and healthcare. He also gave the University of Kentucky the 14,000-acre tract of land that his firm logged, now known as the Robinson Forest. The gift carried the stipulation that it be used primarily for reforestation and agricultural research or other projects that benefit the people of the mountain region.

In 1991, the UK Board of Trustees approved the opening of specified areas for mining and logging activity. The royalties received by UK on those activities, which have generated at least $26 million to date, are being used as an endowment to fund a variety of programs, including the Robinson Scholars Program. The counties targeted by the program are Bell, Breathitt, Carter, Clay, Elliott, Estill, Floyd, Harlan, Jackson, Knott, Knox, Laurel, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, McCreary, Menifee, Morgan, Owsley, Perry, Pike, Powell, Rockcastle, Whitley and Wolfe.

Gigold and Mink complete basic training

Marine Pfc. Joseph A. Gigold, son of Gloria M. Gigold of Mt. Vernon, and Marine Pvt. Roy K. Mink, son of Leroy Mink of Brodhead, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Paris Island, South Carolina.

Gigold and Mink, both successfully completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marines recruits both physically and mentally. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Gigold spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand and operated as a small infantry unit during field training.

Gigold, Mink and other recruits also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values — honor, courage and commitment, and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

Gigold, Mink and fellow recruits ended the training phase with The Crucible, a 54-hour team effort, problem solving evolution which culminated with an emotional ceremony in which the recruits were presented the Marine Corps Emblem, and were addressed as "Marines" for the first time since boot camp began.

Rock loses at Bell; finishes second

By: Richard Anderkin

The Rockcastle County Rockets finished their regular season Friday night with a disappointing 19 to 7 loss to the Bell County Rockets.

The Rockets were hoping to pull off the win against a team they have never beaten and win the district title all at the same time - but it was the same outcome as the other nine meetings.

Bell County got on the board first with 20 yard run in the first quarter and then moved on out to a 13 to 0 lead on another 20 yard run in the second quarter.

Rockcastle batted back into the game when junior tailback Derrick Bussell took the ball around right end and scampered 76 yards for the score. Junior placekicker Greg Terry added the extra point and the Rockets were right back in the contest at 13 to 6.

However, the Rockets success didn't last long as Bell County took the ball right back down the field and scored on a 28 yard pass play.

The 19 to 7 half-time score would be the final, as both teams made adjustments on offense during the break, which proved to be too much for both offenses to handle.

The win by Bell County actually caused a three way tie in the district with Rockcastle, Bell and Whitley County all having one loss each.

Of course, Rockcastle beat Whitley, Whitley beat Bell and Bell beat Rockcastle.

Bell won the district by virtue of the tie breaker.

The tie breaker is figured by the number of wins, by each team's opponents not in their district.

For example, Rockcastle picked up nine points when they defeated South Laurel, who ended the season at 9 and 1. They got seven more points for their win over Harrison County, a team that finished the season 7 and 3.

But Bell County's opponents outside the district had more games than Rockcastles or Whitleys.

Rockcastle finished second because the teams they defeated outside the district had more wins than the teams that Whitley County beat.

Besides Bussell's 76 yard run for the only Rocket score, he also picked up 104 yards on 13 carries and completed one pass of ten yards on a halfback pass.

Bussell's 104 yards accounted for most of Rockcastle County's offense, which managed only 184 yards of total offense on just 39 plays from scrimmage.

Bell County had 246 yards of offense but ran ten more plays from scrimmage and controlled the ball much of the second half.

Quarterback Christopher Parsons had 42 yards on eight of 16 passes. He also picked up 15 yards on six carries, many of which were forced by Bell County after he dropped back to pass.

Senior Josh Dooley carried the ball twice, gaining 11 yards and senior Derek Bradley had 2 yards on a single carry.

Sophomore Josh Hale had two catches for 29 yards. Freshman Marty Reagan had 14 yards on three catches. Junior Greg Harper, who has been the Rockets leading receiver all season long, caught one pass for six yards and junior Dackery Larkye caught one ball for three yards.

On defense junior Travis Ingram played the best game of his high school career, while setting a school record. He picked up 15 solo tackles and ten assists, to go along with three quarterback sacks.

He was simply outstanding in a losing effort," defensive coach Tony Saylor said of Ingram's performance.

Although Ingram's performance stood out above all others, the rest of the Rocket defense played well including senior Dustin Crawford, who picked up ten tackles and assists and also a quarterback sack.

Outside linebacker Greg Harper also had a quarterback sack to go along with nine tackles and assists.

Senior outside linebacker Gary Coffey also had eight tackles and assists, senior Matt Smith also had eight tackles and assists and Derek Bussell had eleven tackles and assists from his defensive back position.

Senior Joel Deatherage had six tackles and assists. Sophomore Josh Hale was in on four tackles and assists and, Derek Bradley and Chris Kirby had three tackles and assists each. Junior Shawn Smith had two tackles and assists.

"We didn't win the district, but the good news is that we are fairly healthy heading into the playoffs," head coach Tom Larkye said.

"Our kids played hard Friday night, but we made some mental mistakes and our offense struggled. It is just extremely hard to win at Bell County," he said.

"I think we have a good chance as we have had in the playoffs the past four or five seasons," he said.

Although the Rockets are favored to win in the first round of the play-offs when they face Greenup County on Friday night, it will be no push-over.

Greenup County finished third in their district and have a record of six and 4.

On Friday night they easily defeated Ashland 38 to 7 after falling behind 7 to 3 in the second quarter.

If the Rockets are able to win on Friday night, they will embark on a road trip to Inez, which is in Martin County to face Sheldon Clark, the other district's champ. Provided that Sheldon Clark beats Cawood on Friday night.

The best game on Friday night in the Rocket's region will pit Whitley County against Lawrence County in Louisa.

Game time at the ROCK on Friday night is 7:30 p.m.

The Rocket defense held Bell County to just 246 yards of offense Friday night and 19 points, but it wasn't enough, as the Rocketlets lost their second game of the season to finish second in the district. Above are Chris Kirby, Joel Deatherage, Greg Harper, Matt Smith, Travis Ingram and Gary Coffey.

Middle linebacker Travis Ingram, #33, played an outstanding game Friday night in the Rockets 19 to 7 loss at Bell County. Ingram had 15 solo tackles and ten assists, to go along with three quarterback sacks. Also in the photo is #12 Greg Harper, who had nine tackles and assists and a quarterback sack. Harper also caught one pass for six yards. After Friday night's loss, the Rockets finished second in the district and will play Greenup County at home Friday night. Game time is 7:30.

Lady Rockets place third in conference tourney

The 8th grade Lady Rockets had a great time last Thursday night when they avenged an earlier season loss at Meece by defeating the Jumpers 45-30 for their final regular season conference game.

Monday night was a pretty good night for the Rockets too as they opened conference tourney play at Southern Pulaski by defeating North Laurel 48-32. However, they were unable to get into the championship game with a repeat over Meece, falling to the jumpers 37-30 in a heavily-contested game from start to finish. It wasn't much consolation for the Rockets but they hardly defeating South Laurel 66-27 Tuesday night to take third place in the conference tourney.

Against Meece last Thursday night, the Rockets were led in scoring by Stephanie Price with 13, Sheena Swinney was next with 11; Allison Anderkin got 8; Lauren Clontz 6;

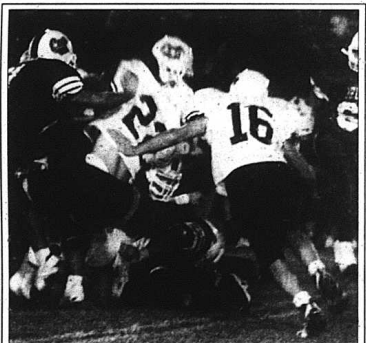

Krystal Parsons 3 and Amanda Rogers and Jessica Riddle, 2 each.

At Southern Pulaski Monday night in the opening game of the tournament, Anderkin led the scoring with 16; Clontz got 12; Price 7; Parsons 5; Riddle 4; Rogers 2 and Swinney and Anna Guillofi, 1 each.

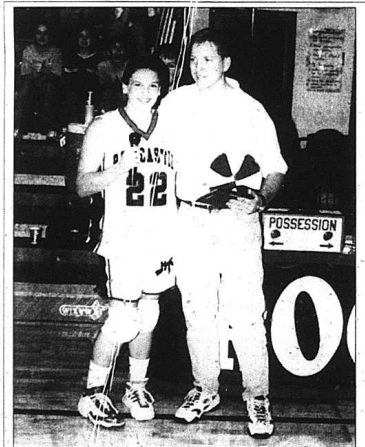

Against Meece in the second game of the tournament, the girls got behind 8-0 before their offense could take hold and then proceeded to go on a 13-2 run. The score was knotted 20 all at halftime but the jumpers outscored the Rockets 17-10 in the second half to advance to the championship game.

Anderkin led the scoring for her team with 8 points; Price, Clontz and Jenna Owens, got 6 each and Rogers, Parsons and Riddle each scored 2.

(Cont. to A7)

Seniors Gary Coffey and Dustin Crawford combine to make a stop in Friday night's loss at Bell County. The Rockets host Greenup County on Friday night in the first round of the play-offs. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Lauren Clontz and the rest of the eighth graders presented coach David Owens with a plaque and basketball during their last home game of the season.

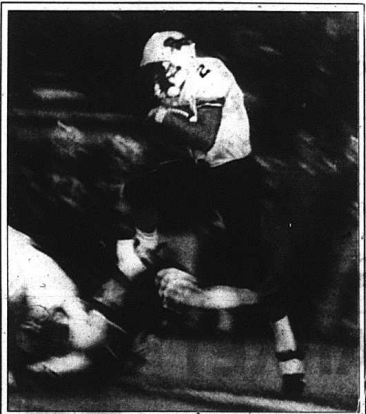

Reynolds qualifies for state championship

On Saturday, October 30th, the boys and girls cross country teams competed in the Region 3, Class AA cross country meet at Anderson Dean Park in Harrodsburg. The girls team placed 6th out of 12 teams, and the boys finished 8th out of 14 teams. Only the top four teams advance to the state meet, so Rockcastle will not be sending a full team. Brandy Reynolds will, however, be representing Rockcastle as an individual runner this Saturday at the Kentucky Horse

Park in the State Cross Country Championship Meet. The top seven individual runners whose teams did not qualify advance to the state meet. Reynolds was the 5th top runner whose team did not advance.

Although the entire team did not advance, the runners put in a good effort and ran well on the challenging course. Several of the runners were dealing with injuries and illnesses

Junior tailback Derrick Bussell had 104 yards on 13 carries and scored the Rockets only touchdown on Friday night. The Rockets finished the regular season 8 and 2 and host Greenup County on Friday night.

The RCMS Lady Rockets honored their eighth grade ball players and their parents during their final home game last Thursday night. Hale learns leadership in New York City

Andy Hale, a freshman at Georgetown College, spent Oct. 15-18 in New York City learning about leadership as an organizational service. Hale is among 12 freshmen from the college participating in the Brown Scholars Program.

While in New York, Hale, a 1998 RCHS graduate, visited with Cynthia Searcy, a graduate student at New York University and a research assistant for the Citizens' Budget Commission, and with Tid Griffin, who works as the director of strategic relations for Electronic Systems Associates.

He also saw the Broadway musical, Smoke Joe's Cafe, followed by a backstage tour with cast member, J.C. Montgomery. Finally, he toured the Metropolitan Museum of Art with Samantha Sizemore, who serves as assistant director of European Art.

Searcy, Griffin, Montgomery and Sizemore are all Georgetown College graduates and natives of Kentucky.

During the remainder of the academic year, the Brown scholars will examine leadership in practice through programs with the Kentucky State Government, businesses and non-profit organizations.

The Brown Foundation is based in Louisville and has been supporting Georgetown College since the 1970's. In 1996, the foundation established the Brown Scholars Recognition Program. Active on five college campuses throughout Kentucky, the program's focus is to increase the personal development and leadership skills of Kentucky students, while enhancing their local and regional appreciation and broadening their international awareness.

Hale is the son of John and Nancy Hale of Mt. Vernon.

Local News

The pike out Main Street, north of the railroad, will soon be completed to Taylor Avenue. The marriage of Miss Lina Kennedy to Frederick M. Clothier of Somerset, is announced for some time in the early part of next month. R.P. Norton's house and most of its contents were destroyed by fire Wednesday. The origin of the fire is unknown as all the family was always from home except the woman who was washing on the opposite side of the house, from where the fire started. DEATH: W.G. Proctor died at his home at Quail post office, this county, Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock. Mr. Proctor aged 49 years and one year. For more than two years he had been the sufferer of a complication of diseases and the end has long been expected. Mr. Proctor was a man of generous impulses and never forgot the hospitable ways of the pioneer. The stranger, even though a beggar, never failed to find food and shelter if he sought it at his hands, and he was at home by the bedside of the sick and delighted in all kinds of neighborly offices. He had borne adversity bravely and enjoyed prosperity quietly. He had filled the various relations of life, as son, husband, father, brother, friend and filled them well. Who can do more? But he is gone! Another name is stricken from the ever-lessening roll of our settlers and the once happy home is left to attest how sadly they will miss him. It is best so; these tender human ties can not be severed without a pang. Yet in such a death there is really no cause for grief. His life work was done, and well done. He had passed his golden wedding day and wearied with life's duties and cares. Weary of suffering and waiting, he lay down to rest. He was a man who united sound sense with strong convictions, and candid outspoken temper, eminently fitted to mold the rude elements of pioneer society into form and consistency, and in raising a high standard of citizenship in our young and growing state. How much his community owes him and such as he, is impossible to estimate. It would be a grateful task to trace his influence through some of the direct channels, to hold him up in these degenerate days, in his various characters of husband and father, of neighbor and friend, to speak of his sons and daughters he has reared to perpetrate his name and emulate his virtues. But it comes not within the scope of this brief article to do so. Suffice it is to say, he lived nobly and died peacefully at the advance age of 81 years. The stem reaper found him "as a shock of corn, fully ripe for the harvest." Not for him be our tears! Rather let us crown his grave with garlands. Few of us will live as long or as well and fewer yet will the Angel of death grin with such a loving touch. He leaves 10 children, five boys and five girls. Messrs. George, J. W., Tartis, J. A., and Dr. F.E. Proctor, Mesdames Andrew Herrin, E.A. Herrin, Mace Brown, Henry Brown and Mrs. Hubble, to mourn the loss of a kind and dutiful father. The remains were laid to rest yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the Providence cemetery beside his beloved companion who preceded him to the grave by only a few months.

Ladybugs and Building

With the approach of fall and cold weather lady beetles begin congregating on the sides of homes and infesting buildings. This phenomenon has become a recurring fall event in Kentucky and throughout much of the U.S. The culprit is the Asian lady beetle in search of protected places to overwinter. In Kentucky, movement into buildings begins in mid to late-October, continuing through mid-November.

Lady beetle flights are heaviest on warm sunny days, when temperatures climb above 60 degrees F. They tend to initially congregate on the sunnier, southwest sides of buildings in mid-afternoon. Structures that are shaded and not brightly illuminated by afternoon sun are less likely to attract the beetles.

Once the beetles have alighted they attempt to enter cracks and other dark openings in search of hibernation sites. These locations may be anywhere on the structure, but especially beneath exterior siding, around window and door frames, soffits, fascia boards, and through weep holes and attic or crawl space vents. Sealing exterior cracks and openings with caulk, screening, weathersstripping, etc., is the most effective long-term preventive measure against beetle entry.

Once the beetles are indoors, the best way to remove them is with a vacuum cleaner. Insecticides tend to be less effective and may stain or leave unwanted residues on walls, counter tops, and other exposed surfaces. While sealing openings is the more permanent way to deny beetle entry, pest-proofing is time-consuming and impractical for many clients. If a household or business continues to be troubled by lady beetles, owners may want to enlist the services of a professional pest control firm. Some companies offer pest proofing services and many offer insecticide treatment of the building exterior, which helps to prevent pest entry. Fast-acting "professional strength" synthetic pyrethroid formulations (e.g. Demand, Demeton, Commodore, Opren, Saga, Tempo) tend to be most effective, and can be applied around eaves, attic vents, windows, doors, underneath siding and other likely points of pest entry.

Homeowners bent upon performing exterior treatment themselves will probably get the most for their efforts using either Spectracide Bug Stop (permethrin), Enforcer Overnight Pest Control Concentrate (cypermethrin) or microencapsulated (slow release) Dursban, sold by some hardware/farm and garden shops. The key is to apply the treatment before the beetles enter buildings to overwinter. Finally, concerned clients should be reminded that lady beetles play an important role in nature, and that their entry into buildings is a sporadic and short-term event. Lady beetles do not injure humans, nor can they breed or reproduce indoors like fleas or cockroaches, i.e., they constitute a nuisance only by their presence.

PFC Payments

Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman has announced Production Flexibility Contract (PFC) final payment rates for fiscal year (FY) 2000. Eligible producers will share in total FY 2000 contract payments of approximately $5.1 billion.

Eligible farmers can choose to receive PFC payments all at once or in two equal payments at any time during the fiscal year. According to Glickman advancing the payment date will help provide needed financial assistance in a time of great stress for our farmers.

The Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies, Appropriations Act, 2000, signed into law October 22nd by President Clinton, provides farmers greater flexibility in the timing of receiving their PFC payments. Those who do not choose a payment option will receive their full payment near the end of FY 2000, which began October 1, 1999 and ends September 30, 2000.

Producers should contact the local FSA Office to receive information regarding selecting payment options.

Market Loss Assistance

(MLA) Program Payments
 On October 22, President Clinton signed the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2000. The Act provides:
 "...up to $5.5 billion"...for assistance to owners and producers on a farm that are eligible for final payments for fiscal year 1999 under a production flexibility contract (PFC) for the farm under (provisions of) the Agricultural Market Transition Act...the assistance made available to producers shall be proportionate to the amount of PFC payment received by the producer for FY 1999.

FY 1999 MLA payments shall be: —issued to producers who were eligible for FY 1999 final PFC payments.
 —proportionate to the amount of PFC payments received for FY 99.
 —equal to 100 percent of the FY 99 payment received after reductions for:

- FAV acre-for-acre payment reductions
 - payment limitation *
 - issued immediately
- Payment rates are as follows:
 Corn—$363 per bushel.
 Grain Sorghum—$435 per bushel.
 Wheat—$637 per bushel.
 (Farm Yield X Payment Rate = MLA Payment)

Phase II Tobacco Settlement
 The Dispute/Amended/Late (DAL) Application process officially begins on November 2, 1999. On that date, three county-specific payee registers will be delivered to county PVA offices for distribution to County Extension and FSA offices. We will also deliver the blank DAL application form and instructions for completing these forms. The instructions will also be available on-line at kybaccotrust.state.ky.us, should you need additional copies in a hurry.

Registers shall include the names and addresses of everyone in the county who has been determined eligible for compensation from the trust. They will be listed by category (owner, growing farm, grower/tenant) and many will be listed multiple times if they qualify in more than one category. For example, a grower who raises tobacco on his/her farm using labor he/she employs will be listed on the register three times.

- The DAL forms should be filed for one of the following reasons:
 —to amend the original application to correct any misallocation of pounds or other incorrect information submitted on the original form.
 —to dispute an original application for alleged misallocation of pounds.
 —to file an original application form that was not submitted by the October 8th deadline.

On the top of each DAL form, there is a box to indicate whether the form is being submitted as an Amended or as a Disputed application. Applicants should indicate what type of application is being submitted. Late applicants should complete the DAL form and include a letter explaining why the application is late. The toll free help line number (1-888-366-8698) is available to answer questions.

REMEMBER: November 12, 1999 - Absolute Deadline for submitted DAL applications. No FORMS POSTMARKED after November 12th, 1999 will be considered for compensation in 1999.

Office Closure
 The Farm Service Agency will be closed Thursday, November 11th, for Veterans Day. The office will reopen Friday, November 12th at 7:30 a.m.

Help Me, I'm Jealous
 "Help me, I'm jealous," Vera said on her first visit for counseling. (All characters are fictitious.) "I have a problem with jealousy and it is ruining my marriage. Can you help me?"
 Jealousy in relationships is a common problem. While jealousy is often seen as love, it really has nothing to do with love. Rather, it comes from the insecurity of the jealous person. It can be overcome, so I set out to help Vera overcome her own jealousy.

"How is your jealousy ruining your marriage?" I asked Vera.
 "My jealousy makes me accuse my husband of things," she answered. "I imagine that he is seeing another woman, but when I accuse him, he assures me that he is not, and that it is just my imagination. Then he is angry with me for two or three days. I have to stop being jealous. He has threatened to leave me, and I'm afraid he will!"

"Actually it began when we were dating," she told me. "I always thought he flirted with other women too much. He would do it right in front of me, but he told me that he didn't mean anything by it and that I should just ignore it."

"Did your jealousy get better or worse after you were married?" I wanted to know.

"I thought it would be better," she replied. "Once we got married I just knew I would feel more confident in him and that I would stop being so jealous. Unfortunately that is not what happened," she became very quiet.
 "What did happen?" I prodded her.

"I became more jealous," she admitted. "It seems that every time I turned around, I saw something else that my husband was doing that looked suspicious. When I would mention it, he would assure me that it was all in my head, I have tried to ignore these things he does, but I am not doing very well at it. That's why I need your help."

By this time I was beginning to have some suspicions of my own. "What does your husband do that makes you suspicious?" I asked Vera.
 "Sometimes he stays out late, and I don't know where he is," Vera reported.

"How late?" I asked.
 "Until two or three in the morning," she answered. "When he comes in, he tells me he was just out with some of his friends. Once I found a note in a lady's handwriting in his truck, but he explained to me that one of his friends left it there."

"Does anything else seem suspicious?" I asked.

"He sometimes takes his cell phone out to his truck and makes calls from there," she added. "He will stay out there for an hour or more. We also get a lot of hang-up calls, at least when I answer the phone. Also he leaves early for work and comes home two hours after quitting time. He has stayed out all night several times, and I didn't know where he was."

"Vera!" I exclaimed. "I can see why you are suspicious. Your husband is doing some very odd things. You have good reason to wonder."

"Buy he says it's all in my head," she explained.
 "It's not all in your head, Vera," I assured her. "If it barks like a dog, looks like a dog and smells like a dog, it is probably a dog. Your suspicions are probably right on target. He has brainwashed you into believing these things are just in your imagination. They're not. He owes you an honest explanation."

Library News

By Lynda Mullins
 We hope everyone enjoyed a safe and happy Halloween. We had a big crowd here at the library Thursday night for our annual Halloween party. Many children came dressed in costumes and everyone looked so good it was very hard for our judges to decide the costume contest winners. They finally decided on three so we want to congratulate, Eli Haddix, first place winner; Rachel Cain, second place winner and Sarah Dawson, third place winner. We also want to congratulate Dustin Vanwinkle, Courtney Vanwinkle, Andrew Robby and Bethany Robbins, winners of the Pumpkin Decorating and Coloring Contests. Great job kids!

The children were entertained during the party by Pam Chaliff who read a poem, and Mrs. Shirley Martin, who did a paper cut story. Thanks to these ladies for helping out. Our Story Time group continues to grow. We have new faces each week it seems. The more the merrier so we invite any and all preschoolers to join us each Tuesday at 1:00. We have stories, crafts and fun so give us a try.

We've just learned that our library has been chosen to receive a gift of 100 new children's books, ranging from Pre-kindergarten through early readers. These books are being donated by The Brownstone Book Fund, a private foundation in New York City, interested in fostering early reading, a love of books and encouraging parents and children to read together. We will let you know as soon as our new books arrive so that you and your children can come to the library and explore the new collection together.

"What Saith The Scriptures"
 In I Cor 11:23-26 we read, "For I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you, That the Lord Jesus the same night in which he was betrayed took bread: And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me. After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come." The Lord's supper is a marvelous memorial to remind us, and to proclaim to the world, the death of the Lord Jesus Christ on the cross. Some have reasoned from verse 26, "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup," that Paul does not say how often in this passage, and that we can do it as often as we think is best. This would be a logical conclusion, IF that were the only passage that talked about the time it was to be done. But we have another verse, that identifies the time WHEN the Lord's supper is to be partaken of. In Acts 20:7 we read, "And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow; and continued his speech until midnight." Here we see the early disciples gathering together for worship, Paul preaches to them, and they partake of the Lord's supper, "to break bread." The Lord's supper is called breaking of bread in Acts 2:42, "And they continued stedfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers." So, every first day of the week we gather to partake of the Lord's supper according to the God given pattern. Do you have the Lord's supper on another day, or do it monthly, quarterly, yearly??? Why not follow God's pattern of when it is to be done?

Arts and Crafts volunteer program coming to Rockcastle

Rockcastle County volunteers will soon share Kentucky's arts and crafts with students, residents and tourists, a Kentucky arts and crafts organization announced today. The Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen (KGAC) is seeking volunteers for its new Docent Program. The volunteers would give tours and presentations of the region's arts and crafts attractions to school, tourist and other groups. KGAC modeled the program after traditional docent programs in museums across the country - with one significant difference.

"A docent is a tour guide. But our docents will be tour guides for the entire region, not one museum," Allison Kaiser, director of KGAC, said.

The docents, after training, will provide guided tours of the studios and galleries of local artists and craftsmen in their region. In addition, the docents will be trained to go into local schools to give educational presentations on arts and craft.

KGAC, based in Berea, created the program for several reasons, Kaiser said. "Docents will promote the arts and crafts heritage of the state, provide exposure for our talent and promote the accessibility of arts and crafts to all. Accessibility and knowledge is the key."

Schools in rural areas have always expressed interest in the docent presentations. Most of Kentucky's arts and culture resources are centered in three or four metropolitan areas of the state. Schools outside these areas often lack the funds and time to travel to these destinations. KGAC will provide all necessary training for docent volunteers. Rockcastle residents interested in learning more about the program should contact Allison Kaiser at 606-986-3192 or kyguild@mis.net.
