No arrests in murder case

No arrests have been made in connection with a murder that took place in Brodhead last week.

But, Kentucky State Police Detective Gary Lane said that he and other law enforcement officials are following every lead and have some suspects in the case.

Cornell Meece, 59, of Brodhead was shot and killed on October 30, during a robbery at the Foodland Grocery Store in Brodhead. A short heavy set man, wearing a hockey mask shot Meece during the robbery and left the store with an undisclosed amount of money.

Lane wouldn't say if anyone saw the man leaving the store, but he did say that he was awaiting lab results in the case.

Rockcastle County Attorney Jeff Burdette said that he was satisfied that the state police's investigation would produce evidence that will be presented to the Rockcastle County Grand Jury in the very near future. "I know they are working very hard on this case," Burdette said.

Gary Kirby pleads guilty

Gary "Legs" Kirby, 44, of Mt. Vernon, entered a guilty plea last week in federal court to possession with the intent to distribute and distribution of cocaine.

Kirby pled guilty to charges in the indictment that on or about November 14, 1997 and December 2, 1997, in Rockcastle County, he possessed with the intent to distribute and did distribute cocaine, a Schedule II controlled substance.

Kirby is scheduled to be sentenced February 4, 2000, by United States District Court Judge Jennifer Coffman. The maximum potential penalties per count are not more than 20 years imprisonment, $1 million fine, or both, and at least three years supervised release.

The case was investigated by the Drug Enforcement Administration, and Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the Internal Revenue Service Criminal Investigations Division, the Kentucky State Police, the Commonwealth's Attorney Office in Pulaski County, the Lake Cumberland Area Drug Task Force, the Pulaski County Sheriff's Office, and the Mt. Vernon Police Department.

Burning ban partially lifted

Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Buzz Carlotis announced Wednesday that the 24 hour outdoor burning ban that has been in effect for Rockcastle for the past several weeks has now been partially lifted. The ban is still in effect from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. through December 15.

Joseph Smith, Ben Taylor, Zack Taylor, Douglas French and Chris Settles place rubble, too large to bag, beside the road for county trucks to transport to a legal dumping ground during Saturday's clean-up day as part of the PRIDE Program. 75 adults and 20 community volunteers worked in various places in the county to remove illegally dumped garbage.

More water for county available through state

Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Buzz Carlotis had some good news this week for Rockcastle residents who are still without city water.

Carlotis said that state program for waterline extension in rural areas is one that can work, if the proper steps are taken.

The program is designed to help areas that are not yet served by an association or city.

Carlotis said the state through the department of local government will provide all funding for the pipeline and associated engineering fees.

"Residents must provide labor for installation and the fiscal court will help where we can," he said.

All regulations regarding water supply, such as proper easements, payment and sign-ups for meters will have to be in effect before the project can start.

"The requirements are just like any other water line extension by any of the associations," Carlotis said. Residents must make application for each area to be serviced by these extensions in the Judge-Executive's office.

"When I receive this information, I will have to contact the local

On Tuesday, our roll over line went out of service so, of course, we called the phone company and they responded the same day.

The only problem was that after they got done working on our phone system, all of our lines, including our fax line were out of service.

That was for part of the afternoon Tuesday and most of the day Wednesday.

Dispute at Livingston over land transfer

By: Richard Anderkin
At least one member of the Livingston City Council believes that a land transfer from the city to the Livingston South End Fire and Rescue Inc., was illegal.

Councilman Brady Durham said last week, that Mayor Sandra Tyree had deeded a lot in Livingston to the newly organized fire department.

Durham said that land give-away was done without the rest of the council's permission and has upset other residents.

But local attorney Jerry Cox, who is representing Durham in the case, said that it was his understanding that the council did vote in 1998 to deed the property to South End Fire and Rescue, Inc.

The deed appeared in last week's Signal with a deed tax of $3.50, but Durham said that the lot was a gift to the department and was valued at $3,500.

Dean Jones, who is President of South End Fire and Rescue and the fire chief, said that Durham is making a big deal out of something that is completely legitimate.

"We are just trying to improve fire protection in and around the Livingston area and everything that has been done between the city and South End is above board," Jones said.

"He (Durham) is telling people the land was deeded to me and that is not true," Jones said. South End has 13 members, mostly the same people who are members of the Livingston Fire Department and has two trucks and some equipment, according to Jones, who said that South End will fight fires outside the city limits and backup the Livingston Fire Department on fires within the city limits.

Jones said that the main reason South End was organized was that more federal grants are available for county fire departments than city departments.

He said that the Rockcastle Fiscal Court actually owned the trucks and equipment although most of the costs for those items had been raised through donations.

Jones said that the county was currently in the process of putting a motor in one of the trucks.

However, Judge-Executive Buzz Carlotis said that the Fiscal Court had never dealt with South End, only the Livingston Fire Department said that it was his understanding that the work on the truck was for Livingston.

Jones said that other than having the same members, South End and Livingston Fire Departments are totally separate. "We each have our own equipment and trucks and we each have our own bank accounts," Jones said.

A metal building donated by Rockcastle Judge-Executive Buzz Carlotis' family is under construction on the lot in question and is located across from the current Livingston Fire department building. Cox said the main question is

Surveillance cameras will be placed at illegal dumps

By: Richard Anderkin

In an effort to curtail the illegal dumping of garbage, the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court voted Tuesday to purchase surveillance cameras to be placed at illegal dumpsites throughout the county.

"The cameras will be purchased with a $15,000 grant from the federal government's PRIDE program.

Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Buzz Carlotis said the cameras will be moved from dumpsites and that people will not know the location of the cameras at anytime.

"People should know that this fiscal court is serious about garbage. We have spent $188,000 over the past six years in an effort to clean-up the county," the Judge said.

"We will use the evidence gathered by the surveillance cameras to prosecute people who dump their garbage illegally," Carlotis said. Carlotis said that because of the county's willingness to prosecute offenders, who have paid fines, gotten jail time, been forced to clean up dumpsites and run apologies in the Signal, the county was eligible for the grant.

County Attorney Jeff Burdette and Solid Waste Coordinator Nancy Meadows have been mostly responsible for the prosecution of illegal dumpers, some of whom were from out of the county.

The Judge also told the fiscal court that on Saturday, 75 students, members of the local Kwans club and county workers picked up tons of garbage throughout the county.

Much of the garbage was picked up along U.S. 25, around Lake Linville and at Burn Ridge. Carlotis said that 15 to 20 names were found in the garbage and would be turned over to the county attorney for further investigation.

The Judge also said that he hoped Kentucky Governor Paul Patton would try to get a mandatory garbage plan that works approved statewide.

"That is the only way we are ever going to be able to keep the county clean," he said.

The court also voted to terminate their association with the Rockcastle Litter Control program, which is managed by the All-American Club.

Carlotis said that he had been very dissatisfied with the group's work for someone.

The Judge said that the county could use work release prisoners to help keep roadsides clean.

The association was terminated at midnight on Tuesday and the keys to the county van, the group used was turned over to the Judge-Executive.

The Signal has learned that the All-American Club was apparently picking up garbage at local homes, charging those residents for the garbage and then turning the garbage in as part of the garbage they supposedly picked up along the roadside.

The Judge would neither confirm or deny those allegations. He said the matter would be revisited by the fiscal court.

The court also discussed the possible closing of the Toddy Payne Road at Burn Creek.

Land owners Mike and Laurie Gates had approached the court and fifth district magistrate Donald Bullock about the possibility of closing the road because the couple are in the process of building a retreat on their property.

The couple wants the road closed because they say people illegally dump garbage along the roadway, which is used very slightly by the public.

Mike Gates told the court that Christ Outreach Program for the Blind, his organization, wanted to help physically disabled people learn that there is life after blindness.

Gates, who is blind himself, said that he wanted to be able to enclose the retreat area and that the road needed to be closed.

Rockcastle County Attorney Jeff Burdette told the court and Gates that he thought some type of compromise could be reached and suggested that the fiscal court and Judge go out and look the entire situation over before making any decision.

Besides the Toddy Payne Road, the Halcomb West Road would also be affected.

The court agreed to look at the road and go over all of the options before making a final decision.

Magistrate Bullock said the road was almost unpassable in places, except for four wheelers or four wheel drive trucks.

A more complete story concerning the retreat will appear next week.

Chapter 38 Teamwork

Often as I have rambled through my past I have mentioned how welcome visitors have always been and how people always felt a welcome mat was always at the door even though I never owned a real one until these last few years. I never felt I needed one. The door was always open, unless it was the season for flies or the weather was too cold, and it, seemed every topic that as a signal to come in and make yourself at home. And many people, usually kin-folk used this open door policy as a standing invitation to come and stay as long as they liked. Sometimes, I must confess, it was a little over used and I got tired of cooking three meals a day, making up beds, some of which was a pallet made on the floor, carrying water and quite often resenting the fact my own children were having to do the carrying of the water while the visitors sat and waited for it. Or the fact my children had to help plant and hoe the vegetables then pick the beans, dig the potatoes and help prepare them for the meals the company devoured in one meal, while their own children played or once in awhile helped grudgingly, and with inexperience, pick the beans or pull up a pan full of carrots. You know, not only children but adults, who have never grown and care for a vegetable garden can do more damage than good by trying to help. And this was a frequent occurrence with the variety of people we had visiting us. I appreciated their wanting to help but often wished they had sat in the shade of the trees until the meal was over and then do their duty by washing the dishes or carrying more water from the spring under the hill from the house. Not all of the visitors did this, some of them actually helped, especially if it was canning time. They would pick beans then help break them up and often we would can a hundred of, while they could be there. Now, in my own mind, speaking about "could" stay for a week or two at a time so the canning had to be done during their stay. This took team work. While some were picking beans others would be carrying water to wash them in and the men would have a fire going in an outside furnace built for this to cook them over. And after they were finished we would gather around the table and play games. Or the men would take long hikes in the woods while the women played games or gossiped. Now as I look back I realize my children had the hardest time for it was they who had to do most of the extra chores and give up their beds, even though I never heard a complaint from them.

All this was brought to mind this week when I had two guests that have never been a problem to me and are always more than welcome to come home. Judy and Geof, my first born and her husband, were here for the weekend and we had a wonderful time going over some of our past experiences on the farm. Judy has always been a daughter anyone could be proud of and has been a help to me since she could toddle around the kitchen. From the time she could climb on a stool and reach the table top she would help with the dishes and by the time she was five years old would help with the cooking. When she was nine years old she could plan and cook a simple meal. It was during these years I taught her the meaning of working together to accomplish more work. While I washed the windows and put up clean curtains she would sweep and dust. When I washed clothes she would hang them on the line so dry. When she was only five she did her part of hoeing in the field of corn. Mat had bought her a special small hoe and shortened the handle so she could use it when we went to the field. This was a ten acre new ground field and plowing and hoeing was difficult. She couldn't keep up with us so we helped with her row and when we reached the end she could sit with the baby, Rodney, who was on a pallet at the end of the field. One day he had been left asleep on the pallet and we were about half way through the field when I saw Mat was having trouble with the mules a couple of rows off from where we were and ran over to see what the trouble was. The mules were standing still and refused to move, the reason when we looked around them was, Rodney had awakened and was toddling and crawling between the rows of corn toward Mat. It was then I learned mules will not step on a child when it is in their path. He had been crying and his little face was caked with mad from tears and freshly plowed dirt he had crawled through. Nope! If I had those day to live over this would never happen even if we never had corn for the table. I had to go back toward. Oh time in your flight and please let me cuddle them-just for one night."

Judy and I got into other memories of those days and of how she and Rodney liked to hear Roscoe Norton tell about his youth and how the decision of his fore-parents to always go together as a unit when things looked bleak to accomplish what seemed like impossible odds against them. This, as he told it, was when they were migrating to Kentucky from the Carolinas. He said one of the elders of the clan used the story of a bunch of switches that could not be broken if they were tied into a tight bundle, but once they were separated they could be broken easily. This holds true today. If people would only stick together on an important issue they could not fail. He told of how the leader wore a belt so the other's would always know where he was and if the bell fell silent they would know danger was near. And so, they arrived safely in Kentucky and settled in the Rockcastle County area. These folks have done well with their farming and business dealings and have proven it pays to stick together when one of the offspring, whether right or wrong, has strayed from the path and needs someone to go to for help. Roscoe also told of how the community he lived in, probably where he lived in Tennessee, kept order in the community when a man in the neighborhood refused to work and take care of his family. He did it somewhat like this.

"Now when there was one of them, sorry that wouldn't work and let his kids go hungry and his wife go without food in the house, we men would put on our robes and go visit him with a bunch of switches tied together and leave them on his porch. Then if he didn't get the message and go to work and it happened again our next visit would be with a bunch of switches not tied into a bundle and he would be taken from his house and up the road some distance from the house and stripped of his clothes and the switches used on his bare backside." Then, after a pause his familiar chuckle would burst out in "heh-heh-heh. And soon the man either got a job or moved from the neighborhood, pause, heh-heh-heh." Now this may have been the wrong approach but it does show how a community or group of people working together for what they think is the good of their community can get things accomplished. They had standards for their community and the will and team work to keep it that way.

A funny story goes along with the idea of working together to get something done that needs a little more strength than is available. And it teaches the value of being kind to all animals, or cast your bread upon the water and it will be returned tenfold. Mat made peesoff all critters, even the chickens we were raising to sell or cat, and they would come to him when he called. One day when he was working on the house he used one large board as a pry pole to pry a section up to get a new plank in place but couldn't get it quite high enough to insert the new one. He called for me to help but still we liked enough strength to get it up the last inch or so. Then he thought of the pet chickens running around, threw a few grains of corn on the pry pole plank and called to them, they were about half grown and when they answered to them, they were about half grown and when they answered to his call and hopped up on the board their weight was all it took to ease the section up and the new board slipped in place. Now that is what I call ingenuity on his part and loyalty to the hand that feeds you on the chickens part. It also shows what team work can accomplish even though the last volunteers were his

So now I'll just say that I love you and I want to stroll over Heaven with you!

Written by Nora D. Poynter
In memory of Warren & my 51st Anniversary
November 8, 1948

One day I had you here and life was normal as could be. Then you left for Heaven's glory and my life changed drastically. I didn't see it coming. I carelessly took them for granted, thinking you'd always be there. I remember how I felt wrapping my arms around your neck, saying I loved you, as I gave you a little peck. Not another day will come when I do that once more unless I live for Jesus and soar through Heaven's door. Oh to see the splendor, to be away from all sin, to behold Jesus the Savior, and my daddy, my friend.

Anniversary Memories
Today is November 8th, a day that is so special to me. It's our 51st wedding anniversary and that's why it's special to me. Oh I have such wonderful memories of being together all these years. Of course we had our good and our bad times. But so many more smiles than tears. Today I'm reliving those memories and having a good but sad day. And I thank God I was able to go and visit your grave. I spent quite a good bit of time there, just thinking and letting my heart weep. Just thinking as I so often do if I could, I would just lie down there and peacefully go to sleep. But I know that's not the way God planned it. For he has work that he wants me to do. I know he will lead, guide and direct me and Lord Jesus. I know you'll see me through. I sit here beside you my darling, I feel so lost and alone. I pray heart I know I am ready, Lord, to go home. I'm so thankful for all of our family. They're wonderful and I'm proud of them too. Each one is special in their own way, and also, they're a part of you too. So Honey, you be happy in your Heaven, and I'll do the best that I can. Because I have your Lord and my family and I know that is part of his plan. He said I'll never leave or forsake you and we know that his word is true.

Needs a Home!

Hi! I'm a solid black male kitty in excellent health. My fur is plush and velvety and I love to be brushed and cuddled! I love children and senior citizens and won't scratch or bite. I'm playful and energetic - a good hunter - but I never wander out of hearing distance. My owner threw me away this past summer when I wasn't even a year old. I found this house where they let me sleep on the floor porch. They can't let me indoors because the grandma is allergic and that's why they're helping me find another family. It's cold out here in my box. We're looking for a family that will give me a safe and warm place to stay, people who will love me and never hit me or scold me, or go away and leave me alone without food and water. They call me "Kitty" here, but I'd love to have a real name, and make some toys to play with and don't you think I ought to go to the vets and get me shots, too? If you can help me, please call 606-965-1196 and ask for Mildred.

"Sweet n' Sour"

There were many more things accomplished by team work when the Buffalo Area was developing into a first class neighborhood that would fill a Mat. One of them was the road that Mat, Rescoe and Clell Pike never let up on. Then it took persuasion and cajoling by some of us to get electricity extended into our area. And I am sure many of the ones still left in the Buffalo area remember what a time we had with the telephone company to get phones into the area. That was when I was working in the poverty program and some of the neighbors, knowing what kind of work I was doing, "helping people to help themselves" came to me to see what I could do about it. The only thing I knew to do was go as a group and talk to the directors. After a couple of community meetings where we discussed the problem and how to handle it I was elected to be the one to apply for phone service in the Pongo and Buffalo Communities.

When I went to make the application I asked to see the directors or those in charge of making the decisions. Then, after squabbling over the distance, (17 miles from London) and the inaccessible places they must be asked for service, and the number of customers they could depend on, they seemed to realize how desperately the need was for a way to get a message in or out of this isolated part of Rockcastle County in case of an emergency or simply convenient and I was asked to get the signatures of, or have those wanting a phone to come to the office in London and sign the application and if there were sufficient applications to make it feasible we would have phones in our homes in the very near future. The first few neighbors approached were skeptical of the idea but soon I had the required number and the phones were installed. One of my arguments had been, once the neighbors know it is for real they will also be wanting one, and within the year there was a phone in almost every house in the region. That is what team work can do. And that is what makes a good community, people working together for the good of all.

Property tax exemption for homeowners

The Kentucky Constitution provides for a homestead exemption for homeowners that are at least sixty-five years of age. The exemption amount is $25,400 for the 1999 and 2000 assessment years and this exemption is applied against the assessed value of the property that is being owned and used as the taxpayer's personal residence.

The Constitution also authorizes this homestead exemption for all homeowners who have been classified as totally disabled and who are receiving disability payments. As a result of the recent Constitutional amendment passed in November of 1998, which expanded the coverage of the disability exemption, a disability exemption can now be granted to a homeowner who has been classified as totally disabled by any retirement system, either public or private, within or outside Kentucky.

If you believe that you may now qualify for the disability exemption, please contact Margaret Offutt, Property Valuation Administrator (PVA) at 3rd Floor Court House to receive additional information and an application form. To receive a disability exemption for the 1999 assessment year, your application must be filed with your local PVA office by December 31, 1999.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
The Constitution of the United States does not, and never did, contain the words "separation of church and state." The phrase "a wall of separation between church and state" was written in a personal letter from Thomas Jefferson to a group of Baptists in Danbury, Connecticut, to explain his decision not to establish a national day of thanksgiving or fasting during his presidency. Two days after writing the letter, Mr. Jefferson attended a worship service held in the U.S. House of Representatives. He continued to attend these services throughout his term in office. This does not sound like the kind of man who would object to the posting of the Ten Commandments in a public building.

The intent of the First Amendment has been twisted by secularists who use a phrase from a personal letter, taken out of context, to try to suppress the freedom of religious expression by Christians. This phrase has been quoted so many times that the majority of Americans believe it is written in the Constitution. We need to remember that the Supreme Court Justices (who display a picture of Moses and the Ten Commandments, and open their sessions with prayers) are people, just as we are. Their decisions are not infallible, and as the makeup of the Court changes, so does their interpretation of the Constitution. Perhaps Judge Cardozo is wiser than the members of the Supreme Court, and their interpretation may shift to be the same as his before many years pass. After all, the ACLU has taken Judge Roy Moore of Alabama to Federal Court, and to the Supreme Court of Alabama, for the posting of the Ten Commandments in its courtroom. The ACLU has lost both times. Doesn't it seem a little silly that although our laws and Judicial System are based on the moral code set forth in the Commandments, we are not allowed to display a very foundation of that system in the buildings where the laws are to be upheld?

Regarding the posting of the Ten Commandments in schools: could Mr. Anderson devote equal time and space to the correlation between the Commandments and the Bible reading from the schools and the increase in school violence; teen pregnancies, etc? It seems we would be much better off to include the Commandments in our schools as such things as wrestling matches from our schools. As a mother of two school aged children, I was dismayed by the County Schools' decision to allow a wrestling match at the Middle School. With all the terrible acts of violence that occur all too frequently in our schools, why would we attempt to condone the use of violence by entertaining our children with something that glorifies not only violence, but vulgarity and the use of illegal drugs (steroids) as well? This works against everything responsible parents are trying to teach their children. I pray that wiser choices will be made in the future, and I thank God that my children attend a Christian school where both the Ten Commandments and the Constitution can be displayed with pride.

Sincerely,
Melanie Merritt

Dear Editor,
A question for the people of Livingston and Livingston area. What makes a person go door to door spreading lies that are not only untrue, but unreasonable?
It has been told that the mayor gave property to me and other individuals in the area.
The city only decided a lot to South End Fire and Rescue, Inc., a non-profit corporation to fight fire that is not owned by anyone. The only it can ever be resold is to give it free back to the city or another non-profit company. The city had no money in the lot as we paid for it and only bought it through them.

This person also tells that Livingston Fire Dept is shutting down. False, we are only adding the other one to work together with us to we can expand and add on outside the city. This did not get done while I was on council, but was voted on by council in 1998 and approved by all members. While I was on council, I voted on no Fire Dept. issues at all.

The article of corporation and the deed for the property is open for anyone to come by and see at my house, the mayor's or Norma Hook's office as it's public record. And I will show any one it is not in my name. We will have an open town meeting at the fire house Saturday night also for anyone to see. There will also be a discussion by officials to explain what we are doing and none of this would do anything to hurt or change the fire department we have.

I don't know what his ego trip is about, everyone is welcome to come down and learn the truth.
Elmon D. Jones

Dear Editor,
Thank you for looking ahead to the possible dangers of involving the state in the affairs of religion. Look to the oppressive practices in countries where religion is government. Do we really want the state dictating what religious views and tenants that do not share the same views as the majority? Too bad? That is not what our founding fathers had in mind.

This is what Thomas Jefferson insisted he put on his tombstone: "HERE LIES BURIED, THOMAS JEFFERSON, AUTHOR OF THE DECLARATION OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE, OF THE STATUTE OF VIRGINIA, FOR RELIGIOUS FREEDOM AND FATHER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA." The statute reads, "A measure to preserve the separation of Church and State in America, to eliminate forever the dangers of bigotry and persecution. Jefferson's aim was to protect all citizens in their freedom of conscience. "To comprehend within the mantle of its protection" he explained, "the Jew and the Gentile, the Christian and Mohammedan, and infidel of every denomination." (From the book, Four Days in July, by Cornel Lengyel.)

We all enjoy the wonderful freedom to pursue whatever religious views we wish, safe in the knowledge that our government will not dictate what is favored by the majority or minority.

The Ten Commandments has wording (interpretations) that could be argued, by religious scholars, such as "Thou shall not kill," instead of "Thou shall not commit murder." Also, the Sabbath, observed by Jews on Friday at sunset through Saturday at sunset, was replaced by a Catholic Pope, to better reflect the resurrection of Jesus, which Christian scholars believe occurred on a Sunday, and to accommodate the Gregorian calendar introduced by Pope Gregory XIII in the 16th century. These are just a few of the problems that could occur if the state starts down this slippery slope: what must be observed, what is true scripture and whose interpretations are to be observed and believed. Is not better to encourage all citizens to observe their religious tenants, to glory in their freedom of choice, and to abide by our forefathers fervent wish that all citizens in this country worship and observe their religious convictions without government interference and deference to one religion, one bible over another, one religious interpretation over another?

Thanks for opening the door to reason, and the airing of views not held by the majority of our local citizens. A visit to a foreign country, one whose citizens are held captive by religious zealots might give some pause for thought, and allow reflection on how precious our right of choice really is.
Musings from an import,
Bev & Rocky Rockwell

Agricultural News

By: Warren Alexander, FSA Director

FFC Payments
Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman has announced Production Flexibility Contract (FFC) final payments for fiscal year (FY) 2000. Eligible producers will share in total FY 2000 contract payments of approximately $5.1 billion.

Eligible farmers can choose to receive FFC payments all at once or in low equal payments at any time during the fiscal year. According to Glickman advancing the payment date will help provide needed financial assistance in a time of great stress for our farmers.

The Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2000, signed into law October 22, 1999, by President Clinton provides farmers greater flexibility in the timing of receiving their FFC payments. Those who do not choose a payment option will receive their full payment near the end of FY 2000, which began October 1, 1999 and ends September 30, 2000.

Producers should contact the local FSA office to receive information regarding selecting payment options.

Emergency Conservation
EC7, Emergency Conservation Program (ECP), has been approved for Rockcastle County. This practice is to enhance water resources during periods of recognized drought to provide water for livestock. Cost sharing is provided to remove silt from existing water impoundment structures that are silted in and limited capacity exists for storage. Drought at 25% or actual cost not to exceed $800.00 per structure. EC7 is a permanent practice, with a 10-year maintenance lifespan. Producers who have completed this practice to the program announcement and interested in cost sharing may sign up at this time for the request to be submitted to the FSA office.

Producers who are interested to be eligible for this EC7 practice the tract must have had livestock present during 1999 and the structure must be located in an area that promotes grazing of livestock animals and pasture. The impoundment must be adequate pasture residue in the area that is served by the water impoundment structure at the time of the request. Sign up for this practice ends Tuesday, November 2, 1999. For more information call or stop by the FSA Office.

Phase II Tobacco Settlement

The Dispute/Amended/Late date (DAL) Application process officially begins November 2, 1999. On that date, three county-specific payee registers will be delivered to county PVA offices for distribution to County Extension and FSA office. We will also deliver the blank DAL application form and instructions for completing these forms. The instructions will also be available on-line at ky tobacco trust state site. If you need additional copies in a hurry, producers should call the names and addresses of everyone in the county who has been determined eligible for compensation from the trust. They will be listed by category (owner, growing farm, grower/tenant) and many will be listed multiple times if they qualify in more than one category. For example, a grower who raises tobacco on his/her farm using labor he/she employs will be listed on the register three times.

The DAL forms should be filed for one of the following reasons:
—to amend the original application to correct any misallocation of pounds or other incorrect information submitted on the original form.
—to dispute an original application for alleged misallocation of pounds.

—to file an original application form that was not submitted by the October 8th deadline.
On the top of each DAL form, there is a box to indicate whether the form is being submitted as an Amended or as a Disputed application. Applicants should indicate what type of application is being submitted. Late applicants should complete the DAL form and include a letter explaining why the application is late.
The toll free help line number (1-888-366-8698) is available to answer questions.

REMEMBER: November 12, 1999. Absolute Deadline for submitting DAL applications. No FORMS POSTMARKED after November 12th, 1999 will be considered for compensation in 1999.

Soybean Referendum
Soybean producers are reminded that the opportunity to request a referendum on the Soybean Production and Research Order of "Soybean Checkoff Program" will end on November 16, 1999.

A form to request a referendum may be obtained at local FSA offices through November 16th. Producers may request a referendum at the county FSA office where their administrative farm records are maintained. Producers who are not participating in FSA programs may request a referendum at the FSA office serving the county where the producer owns or rents land.

Completed mail-in forms must be posted marked by November 16th and received in the FSA office no later than December 1st. All other requests for a referendum made by facsimile or in person must be received in the FSA office by November 16th.

To be eligible to request a referendum, the producer must have been engaged in the growing of soybeans in the US and own or share the ownership and risk of loss of such soybeans between January 1, 1997 and November 6, 1999.
If the Secretary determines that at least 10% of the US producers engaged in growing soybeans (not in excess of one-fifth of which may be producers in any one State) support the conduct of a referendum, the Secretary must conduct a referendum within 1 year of that determination. If these requirements are not met, no referendum would be conducted.

For further information about the referendum contact the FSA office.
Office Closure
The Farm Service Agency will be closed Thursday, November 11th, for Veterans Day. The office will return Friday, November 12th at 7:30 a.m.

Millennium Mania has come and gone but won't easily be forgotten. Millennium Mania was the name of this year's fall festival held in conjunction with parent/teacher conferences. Our students enjoyed the festival. Each class participated in creating a poster and a robot. The winner for primary was Mrs. Harrison's class and the winner for intermediate was Mrs. Cash's class. The PTA will treat these two classes to a banana split party at a later date. Students also enjoyed an afternoon of fun and games. A special thank you to all those that helped to make the festival a success. We had one of the largest turnouts ever for parent volunteers. An extra special thank you to PTA for providing dinner for the staff.

Many parents ask how they can encourage their children to be more creative in their writing. The following article from Forward in the Fifth may be helpful.

Writing isn't the first of the "3 R's." ... but some experts say it's the most important. When you read a book, you take ideas from the outside in. But when you write, it comes from the inside out," says Robert Maloy, an expert on children's writing.

It isn't hard to encourage your child to do more writing. Here are some easy-to-use suggestions you can try right away.

- Hang up a blackboard or a dry-erase board in your kitchen or by the front door. Encourage your child to write reminders or notes on it. Be sure to write back!

- Give your child an "I Wonder" notebook. When she thinks of a question, have her write it at the top of a page in the notebook. Then together, you can find answers when you go to the library or explore the Internet together.
- Does your older child want more allowance? A later bedtime? Have her write a letter persuading you to make the desired change. She'll learn to think logically and express her ideas in a convincing way.
- If you're at work, take a few minutes to write your child a note. Let her know you're thinking of her. Leave the note on the pillow or somewhere she'll find it as a surprise. Encourage her to write back to you.

MINDS IN THE MIDDLE

Next Tuesday, November 16, is Family Math/Science Night at RCMS. This is for all grades and is from 4:00-6:00 p.m. There will be fun math and science activities for students and parents. Students can also earn extra credit points, register for door prizes, and enjoy refreshments.

The Y-Club will hold a non-perishable school/community food drive November 8-19. Each morning Y-Club collectors will circulate around each individual team area and collect their food items. Our school goal is to collect 1,000 items by November 19th. If we meet this goal on November 7th our whole school can watch Mr. Haley try to milk Anne the cow. Thermometers will be placed in the cafeteria so everyone can see how much their team has collected. Remember that this is a worthwhile project, so we must give it 100%! Last Friday was the last day for Y-Club members to make payments for KVA.

Robinson Scholar Applications are no longer being accepted. The Robinson Scholar program awards a full or four year scholarship to UK or one of its community colleges. Only 8th grade students are eligible. Students may contact Ms. Cromer for more information.

Thanks to motivational speaker, Dan Miller, for visiting with us on Tuesday morning and for the parent program he did Monday night at RCMS. Thanks also go to the RCMS Choir for their performance Tuesday evening at RCMS during the monthly school board meeting.

Students also enjoyed an afternoon of fun and games. A special thank you to all those that helped to make the festival a success. We had one of the largest turnouts ever for parent volunteers. An extra special thank you to PTA for providing dinner for the staff.

Congratulations to Mrs. Angie Hunt's class for having the best honor room attendance for our third month of school and to the 6th grade Entrepreneurs for having the best team attendance. Ms. Hunt's class has also had ten consecutive days with perfect attendance.

The 7th grade Shooting Stars team enjoyed a day away from the school Monday with a field trip to Danville to see a play and have lunch.

The 7th and 8th grade cheerleaders are raffling a retired Longaberger basket. This would make a great Christmas gift. See one of the cheerleaders to buy a chance for $2.00.

RES "Exploring Connections"

Roundstone's 4th graders are exploring an integrated unit of study, "Exploring Connections." During our study of connecting space and time, to time and place, we have discovered the rich heritage of our culture and community.

We discovered that the veterans of the present and past have played a major role in what our lives are like today.

Ms. Eversole and Ms. Gabbard's fourth graders wanted to honor these veterans and the sacrifices they have made for us by writing family stories and constructing a veteran's display in the entrance of RES.

The writings below are a small sample of our salute to American Veterans.

Dear Editor,
Today is Veteran's Day I would like to tell you about a veteran I know.

His name is James Van Cummings. He was in World War II. He went in the war at age 19 in the early forties. It has been about 56 years ago. Every person in the war had a dogtag. A dogtag is a piece of metal worn around the neck, that tells your name, birthdate, and your ID number. My papaw still remembers his ID number. It is 35 78 69 68. A soldier has two dogtags. If a soldier dies in a war they take off the dogtags and send it to the Death Registration Center and the other is buried with the soldier.

My papaw arrived in Europe and landed on the Normandy Beach in France. He was a Medic in the army. The men and women did the same job but were called differently. The men were called Medics and the women were called nurses. The hospitals weren't always buildings, but were most often tents. The hospital my papaw worked in was closest to the fighting. The most badly injured were taken there. Any soldier that could move on to another hospital was moved so that the spaces were open to the critical patients. My papaw's job was to assist with surgery and help get soldiers well enough to travel on to the next hospital. My papaw also drove an ambulance to carry injured soldiers to the makeshift hospitals, which were usually 10 miles from battle sight. As the war continued and more land was won, the fight would move to different areas. The hospitals would be packed up and moved too, using trucks, jeeps and the ambulances. A new hospital would be set up for the next battle field.

My papaw traveled to England, Scotland, Belgium, Germany and Holland.

When the war ended he was almost in Berlin.

Don't ever forget the people that saved the U.S. You could go out and hang up a flag or go to a grave and put a flag on the grave to show honor.

Sincerely,
Leslie Burdette

Dear Editor
I would like to remind you that today is Veteran's Day. You should celebrate Veteran's Day and show respect for those who fought for our freedom.

My great uncle Everett Kidwell, was a foot soldier in World War II and was killed by machine gun fire. He fought for our freedom and democracy for us to have justice. My great uncle, Everett was killed in Normandy Invasion on Omaha Beach and was picked up on July 4, 1944.

I think we should care for veterans because my great uncle, Everett had no home to live in. He had never got to see his family. He had no porch. You should put a flag on your porch to show you care for what veterans did for us.

Sincerely,
Brittany Owens

Dear Editor,
I think that the war veterans of the U.S. should have a great honor on this day, Veteran's Day. These people have fought and gave their lives for this to be a free country. I, myself, have a great uncle that served in World War II for freedom and democracy. My great uncle, George W. Rader was a recruit of the U.S. Navy. He was an ammunition loader. His ship was the U.S.S. Smith number 318.

While at sea the Japanese war planes shelled his side of the ship. Uncle George was fatally wounded. His brother, Henry was a cook on the ship and when he heard about George he ran to him. My uncle, Henry held his brother till he died. Our side won the battle that George was in with many lives lost. He died January 18, 1942. That was twelve days after my grandma, his niece, was born. After he died he was wrapped in a white sheet and threw into the ocean. That is called being buried at sea. He received the Purple Heart award for his injury that cost him his life.

I think that every one should thank all of the U.S. war veterans that helped this country to have our freedom and our individual rights.

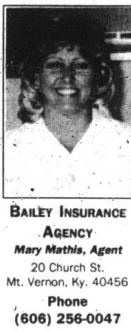

Sincerely,
Timothy Harding

The World War II Story

By Brandon Keith Edester
Today is November 11, 1999, Veteran's Day. I have a story for you to read. My great grand uncle, Fred Asch, was in World War II. He traveled to such places as England, Germany and North Africa. He saw many of the terrible deaths. When he came home from the war, he was so sad that he threw his uniform in the fire. His mother asked him why he did that, because she wanted to keep it. He said he never wanted to see it again.

Veterans Day is important because they fought for people. Nice ones, but sometimes bad ones, too. The wars was so people can have freedom and protection.

You could be nice to veterans by saying thank you and by praying for them.

Dear Editor,

Today is November 11, 1999 Veteran's Day. This day is a very special day for the people that fought for democracy and freedom for slavery and for us. All people that fought in wars-and got killed and some still a life I thank all people that helped us not to be slaves and let people take things from us. I thank my papaw and great grandfather for helping me.

My papaw, Paul Morgan, a soldier in the U.S. Army, was stationed in Fort Hood, Texas. In October 1963, he left for battle in Cuba, because Castro had threatened to attack and take over the U.S. It took five days by train to get to Ft. Stewart, Georgia all along the way, people brought food and drinks to the soldiers at the train stops. They got off the train in New Orleans where his division of 51,000 soldiers marched down Bourbon Street in full uniform. The restaurants provided free food for all the soldiers. From Fort Stewart he went by bus to Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. Then he boarded a Navy ship and sailed into Cuban water about 7 miles out from Cuban shores. They stayed and waited for five days until Castro sent word to the U.S. government that the missiles had been moved out.

The soldiers returned to Ft. Stewart, Georgia where President Kennedy came to welcome the troops home.

My papaw said it was pouring down a cold rain and that President Kennedy was wearing a gray pin-striped suit and was not wearing a hat. President Kennedy asked my papaw was he willing to die for his country. My papaw said yes, sir. President Kennedy then shook my papaw's hand. Papaw said he had firm grip and his hand was ice cold!

I want all the people to remember every soldier that fought in war and the people that have died. I think people should go to the soldiers graves, or put flags, flowers or maybe just go see the graves of soldiers to help you remember the people that fought for us.

Sincerely,
Morgan Thacker

This week the Rock heads to Inez in Martin County to play at Sheldon Clark High School.

Sheldon Clark has a perfect 11 and 0 record and defeated Caowood 51 to 22 on Friday night.

Sheldon Clark is probably the second best team we've played all season long, they are close to Bell County, but not hardly as good," defensive coach Tony Saylor said.

"We've got a chance to win," Saylor said.

In the other regional game Friday night, Lawrence County travels to Bell County.

The winners of the Rockcastle, Lawrence Clark and Bell County, Lawrence County game will square off next week for the regional finals. If Lawrence County were to knock off Bell and if the Rockets win, the game would be at the ROCK. Game time is at 7:30 p.m. in Inez. If you plan to attend get an early start because it's a three and half to four hour drive. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

A charity bus has been rented to haul fans to the game on Friday night.

Bible Baptist to Host Purpose-Driven Seminar

Bible Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon will host a satellite simulcast of the Purpose-Driven Church seminar on Sunday, November 13 from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. In cooperation with Saddleback Church, America's largest church, Bible Baptist will open the simulcast registration to community churches and leaders.

This unique seminar simulcast is hosted across the country by various churches, but until Bible Baptist decided to host the event, it was not scheduled to be closer than several hours from Rockcastle County. The recent decision to host the simulcast will allow area church members and local churches reach their communities more effectively.

Cost for the event is $45 per person and includes seminar registration, syllabus, lunch and a copy of the best-selling book, "Purpose Driven Church" by Saddleback pastor Rick Warren.

In 19 years, Saddleback Church, which is associated with the Southern Baptists, has grown from one family to more than 15,000 people in average weekly attendance. The growth is largely due to Rick Warren's five-step strategy that attracts and wins the unchurched, develops them to the ministry and then helps them to establish a life mission in the world.

Learn these principles with the perspective to see how all fit together by registering today for this event. Registration deadline is Thursday, October 14, Call 256-5862 or 256-5913 to register for the simulcast at Bible Baptist Church.

Rockcastle authors will sign books at Book Fair

Two Rockcastle County authors will sign copies of their books at the Kentucky Book Fair.

On the Air With John Lair is Ann Henderson's fond recollection of her father's pioneering efforts to bring country music to a large public through the medium of radio. After establishing an entertainment base at Raccoon Valley, Lair produced the Renfro Valley Barn Dance which aired on radio stations as far away as Chicago in the 1940's. Performed before a live audience in this valley in Rockcastle County, the show produced many performers who achieved wide name recognition, even today, such as the Coon Creek Girls.

Lair kept his show in its format, even through lean years, when television began to replace radio as the major home entertainment vehicle. He was known as a stickler for behavior and rules, many of which he made.

Ann Henderson is involved in the recent opening of the Kentucky County Music Hall of Fame, which will be housed at Renfro Valley. She lives there and will also sign Rockcastle Recollections and Raccoon Valley, which have vignettes collected by her father.

In All Happened at Renfro Valley, Pete Stamper, a 47 year veteran of Renfro Valley, traces the show's history from its early radio days in Cincinnati and Chicago, through the glory years in the 1940s, the lean times in the 1960s when rock and roll seemed to take over the music scene, to the valley's renewed popularity in the 1990s.

For 60 years, Renfro Valley has highlighted some of the biggest and most influential names in country and folk music. The show began in the 1930s as a combination radio broadcast and stage performance. Today it has grown into an array of shows and headline concerts featuring old-time country music, country, gospel, modern country, bluegrass and comedy acts.

John Lair, the ambitious and committed founder of Renfro Valley, was fascinated with the past. He created the Renfro Valley Barn Dance to give radio listeners the experience of an old-fashioned rural hoe-down. He resisted the encroachment of popular "cowboy songs" and kept the stage and the airwaves filled with authentic Kentucky mountain music with artists such as Red Foley, the Coon Creek Girls, Slim Miller, Pee Wee King and Old Joe Clark. On some Saturday nights, more than ten thousand people arrived at the venue, and performances went on all night to accommodate the audiences.

Pete Stamper, a popular country comedian, lives in Renfro Valley and has been involved in its success, and the evolution of country music, for more than a half century.

The Kentucky Book Fair this year is the 18th, runs 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday, November 20, at the William E. Hunt Center on the campus of Kentucky State University in Frankfort. Books are sold at 20 percent off retail price. There's no charge for admission.

This One's For Smokey

The most successful public relations campaign ever in the United States to feature an animal, according to surveys, is Smokey the Bear, who is known not only to legions of children, but to virtually every American.

A cooperative nationwide wild-life prevention program was initiated in 1942, during World War II, with the involvement of state foresters. The Forest Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Warime Advertising Council in 1945 they circulated a poster featuring Smokey the Bear, and the rest is history.

Since the campaign began, wild fires have dropped automatically, including the total acres burned, and the lovable, yet authoritative Smokey Bear has been a huge success.

The slogan, "Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires," coined in 1947 has been so effective that it is still in use today, along with the added slogan, "Smokey's Friends Don't Play With Matches." Smokey's messages are taken very seriously by children, who remember Smokey's admonitions.

All 50 states participate in the Smokey Bear Junior Forest Ranger Program, as do Canada and Mexico, but south of the border Smokey has a different name. There he is "Simon El Oso" (Simon The Bear).

Open Burning

Open burning is the direct discharge to the atmosphere of particles or smoke from burning materials.

95 participate in clean-up day

By Martha Cox,
Rockcastle Kiwanis Club

Some time ago there was a commercial on television showing an Indiana with a tear falling down his face as he watched a piece of litter blowing and polluting his countryside. The way some have spoiled and polluted our beautiful community by tossing their layers of trash over the hills would surely cause him to have a complete breakdown. Last Saturday morning some 75 students from RCHS and RCMS and 20 concerned community volunteers joined forces with the PRIDE PROGRAM to try to eliminate some of the unsightly mess from three areas of our community.

The PRIDE PROGRAM was started some years ago by Hal Rogers in an effort to clean up the streams in forty counties in Eastern Kentucky. The Co-ordinator for the Solid Waste program in Rockcastle County is Nancy Meadows who also co-ordinates the Pride Program. This year she received much help from Don Coyle, who is a committee member, in putting the day together. County Judge Buzz Carlotis was on hand to pick up and haul away the mounds of trash found along the roadside.

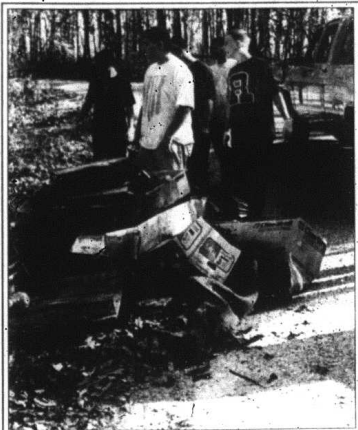

One of the places targeted to clean was the beautiful area of Burnt Ridge just above Scaffold Cane where there are breathtaking views of wooded hillsides and steep cliffs and outcroppings of huge boulders overlooking peaceful valleys below. Along with this magnificent view, the students were met with the pathetic view of dumps of garbage that had been purposefully thrown anywhere and everywhere without any care of the environment. The students didn't back away from their commitment but dug deep into the sludge and bagged up truck loads of trash.

Another location in desperate need was in the area around Lake Linville where another group of students tackled and again managed to eliminate loads of unsightly garbage. Another group picked up along Highway 25 on the outskirts of Mt. Vernon where tourists come into town on a regular basis.

There is no way that anyone could expect that miracles would occur in one day of labor, but I can assure you that these energetic and admirable young people made a great difference with their efforts. The RCHS Key Club, The Y Club, The Builders Club, The National Honors Society and the Rockcastle Kiwanis Club is to be commended for showing such unselfish community spirit. McDonalds, Wendys and Peg's Market are also to be commended for furnishing the lunch. Thanks also goes to the Bus Drivers who hauled the volunteers to their destinations.

There is a deep peace that enters the soul in the midst of our hills and forest. Why would we ever want to throw that away...

Joseph Smith, Ben Taylor, Zack Taylor, Douglas French and Chris Settles remove the mounds of rubble, too large to bag, to the side of the road for county trucks to transport to a legal dumping ground.

75 energetic and industrious RCHS and RCMS students and 20 determined community volunteers stand ready to tackle the trash.

The strength and stamina of the young is to be admired as they struggled to rid the beautiful environment of deplorable foul and filthy trash that had been tossed, creating a huge illegal dump.

Douglas French, Bridgette Lear, Brittny Blair, Johnathan Baldwin and Ashley Francis enjoy a lunch of burgers and chips provided by McDonalds, Wendy's and Peg's Market.

The writing on Amber Fain's shirt seems very appropriate for the admirable job they did in stepping forward to attempt to eliminate someone else's mess.

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

Celebrate Children's Book Week November 15-21st. The theme this year is "Get Carried Away With Books" and we'd like to see more of our children do just this very thing. Lynda will have special activities for the children that come in the library during this week.

Once again, as Lynda told you last week, we have been chosen to receive a donation of 100 children's books from the Brownstone Foundation. We are very fortunate to receive such a large number of books for our children. These will contain a selection of books for the very young up to middle school. We would like to keep our young people interested in books as they grow older. Good readers and those that read a lot usually make better students in school.

We have purchased 20 board books for a special project Lynda is working on. These are part of the infant and toddler program. We are trying to get parents interested in bringing their little ones in and letting them get acquainted with the library at an early age. I have had a good number of mothers tell me that bringing the children to the story hour has helped them tremendously when they started preschool or kindergarten. By playing with other children here in the library and participating in activities for them, they will be coming with other children at school and their behavior will be much better.

Carol has a new display on health that is very informative and helpful. Several people took books from the display the same day it was set up and this is good. Some made the remark that they didn't know this book was available. It is much easier to choose a book when it is on display and that is one reason we like to have special displays for our patrons to view. Also, the new book shelf is used extensively. We just can't keep it filled with new books because the new ones go back out as fast as they are checked in. So sometimes you might just see good books that are highly recommended. We do our best to keep something of interest for our patrons.

I have just purchased a new informational video that might be of interest to some of our patrons. The title is "How to Trace Your Native American Heritage." A lot of people have native Americans as their ancestors. If we went back far enough, probably most of us live at least one ancestor that was a native American. If the lineage can be traced, children have a good chance of getting some or all of their college tuition paid for from a special fund for descendants of native Americans.

Three new novels now ready to be checked out are: Irresistible Force by Danielle Steel. This is a novel of what happens when life's unexpected changes and responsibilities in the workplace pull two people in different directions, sweeping them into new lives and new worlds.

For fourteen years, Steve and Meredith Whitman have sustained a marriage of passion and friendship despite the conflicting demands of their respective jobs. Steve is a physician working in the trauma ward of a large hospital. Meredith, an investment banker, has achieved partnership in one of Wall Street's top firms.

What happens when two are constantly separated and one decides to move on up the ladder? Unexpected changes.

This is not one of Ms. Steel's best books. I have read it and found myself skipping over much of the content and this is not something I usually do. Hopefully others will like it better than I did.

Pop Goes the Weasel by James Patterson. Detective Alex Cross is back and he's in love. But his happiness is being dented by a series of chilling murders in Washington, D.C., murders with a pattern so twisted, it leaves investigators reeling. Cross' relentless pursuit of the killer produces a suspect, a British diplomat. But proving that this suspect is the murderer becomes quite a task. Alex and his fiancée become hopelessly entangled with the most memorable nemesis Alex Cross has ever encountered.

Pop Goes the Weasel reveals James Patterson at his very best. He produces a chilling villain that no reader will ever forget.

A science fiction novel, Angel Fire. Eat by Terry Brooks. As a Knight of the Word, John Ross has struggled against the tireless dark forces of the Void for twenty-five years. A rootless wanderer scared as deeply by the magic he wields as by the unspeakable horrors he has witnessed in his service. Ross is driven by dreams that show the world reduced to blood and ashes by the Void and it mignions. The grim future he dreams each night will come true unless he can stop them now, in the present. But for all his power, John Ross is only one man, while the demons he hunts in turn-are legion. Then he learns of the birth of a gypsy morph! Will this help?

We have two new non-fiction books. Hell to Pay, the Unfolding Story of Hillary Rodham Clinton by Barbara Olson. Ms. Olson reveals the real Hillary Clinton - a woman whose lust for power surpasses even that of her husband. She recounts Hillary's own personal "decade of greed" and reveals the paranoia of a first lady whom even a Clinton confidant has accused of operating a virtual "secret police unit to destroy presumed enemies including such well-stuffers as cooks and valets. Far from being unstained by the Clinton scandals, Olson shows how "a scandal after scandal all roads lead to Hillary" and how, with supreme irony, the most powerful in the world has won sympathy - after the Monica Lewinsky scandal - as the globe's premier "victim."

This is merely Mr. Olson's opinion of Hillary and not mine. I have not read this book yet and I'm not sure that I want to, but I am sure that some of our readers will get the low down from Ms. Olson whether it's true or not.

John Glenn, a Memoir by John Glenn with Nick Taylor. He was the first American astronaut to orbit the earth. Nearly four decades later, as the world's oldest astronaut, his courage riveted a nation. But these two historic events only bracket a life that covers the sweep of an extraordinary century, in this engaging book, John Glenn tells the story of his unique life-one lived at the center of a momentous time in history by a man who helped shape that history.

This extraordinary book captures the unique alchemy that brings a man to the forefront of his time. Married to a woman he first met when they were both toddlers, known for his integrity, common sense, and leadership in the Senate, John Glenn tells a story we want to hear. For information or suggestions call (606) 256-2388 or visit us on our website at www.users.kih.net/~repl/index.html

Rockcastle County Water Association Annual Water Quality Report

Published September 17, 1999

We are very pleased to provide you with this year's Annual Water Quality Report. We want to keep you informed about the quality of our water and services we have delivered to you over the past year. Our goal is and always has been, to provide to you a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make continually to improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water remains at the highest level and the lowest price as we meet the needs of our community.

We purchase our water from the Jackson Co. Water Association, which uses treated surface water drawn from Beulah Lake.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Jo Cook at (606) 256-5480. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please contact Jo anytime prior to any of our regularly scheduled board meetings. They are normally held on the second Friday morning at 8:00 a.m. at the Castle Inn Restaurant at Burr, Ky.

Rockcastle County Water Association routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. The table enclosed within shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 1998. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. It is important to remember that the presence of these contaminants does not necessarily pose a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Definitions:

In the test results table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Action Level - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - The "Goal" (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

MCL's are set at very stringent levels. To understand the possible health effects described for well regulated contaminants, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-million chance of having the described health effect.

A Special Note:

Sources of drinking water both tap and bottled water originates from streams, reservoirs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and in some cases radioactive material. It may also pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Possible contaminants that may be present in source water are, pesticides and herbicides, inorganic and organic compounds, microbial organisms, and radionuclides. With proper treatment process these contaminants can be reduced or eliminated. In order to insure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in drinking water provided by public water systems.

Special Precautions:

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Additional Information:

Thank you for allowing us to continue providing your family with clean, quality water this year. In order to maintain a safe and dependable water supply we sometimes need to make improvements that will benefit all of our customers. We at Rockcastle County Water Association work diligently to provide top quality water to every tap. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water resources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life and our children's future.

"What Saith The Scriptures"
The Lord's supper is a wonderful monument to the death of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Jesus instituted it before he was crucified. Why do the saints partake of this supper every first day of the week? What is the purpose of this supper?
In 1 Cor 11:24-25 we read: "And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me." After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood, this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me." Christians partake of this supper in remembrance of our Lord's death, the giving of his body and the shedding of his blood. Sometimes people think that having the Lord's supper every week would cause it to lose its meaning. NOT SO! How could the death and the sacrifice of the Lord on the cross, ever become common place? Men cannot even begin to comprehend what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height, of the love of Christ for mankind. Humans need to be reminded and enflamed about the death of Christ for sinners. The Lord's supper, in its simplicity, brings to remembrance the Saviour's suffering and sacrifice for us. As we truly share in communion with the blood and body of Christ, as we partake each first day of the week, this blessed memorial Turbidity has no health effects. However, turbidity can interfere with disinfection and provide a medium for microbial growth. Turbidity is a measure of treatment performance and is regulated as a treatment technique. Turbidity is measured in nephelometric turbidity units (NTU), and is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is not noticeable to the average person.

How To Avoid Excessive Holiday Debt

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent for Family and Consumer Science

Don't let this holiday season be memorable for the mountain of money you spend on gifts for family and friends, or the months it will take to get out from under this debt.

To keep from spending too much money on holiday gifts, do a little planning before going shopping. Set a budget that won't put you in a tight squeeze financially. Make a prioritized list of the people for whom you want to buy gifts with an estimated dollar amount for each person. Then see if the total expenditure falls within your holiday shopping budget. Take the list when you go shopping. And keep track of what you spend on each person as well as a total amount spent on gifts.

While gifts are an obvious holiday expense, don't forget to include other incidentals associated with the season in your budget, such as food for entertaining, holiday outfits, decorations, cards, postage and wrapping paper and travel. It all adds up.

Accumulating too much credit card debt can put you in a tight squeeze long after the holidays, especially if you only pay part of the total monthly.

Here's an example. Consumers spent an average of $1,148 for the holidays in 1998. How many years do you think it would take to pay this off if you charged $1,148 on a credit card with a 16.5 annual percentage rate and paid the minimum on the declining balance? It would take eight years, or until December 2006, to repay the holiday expenditures you made in 1998. And you could add another $712.77 in interest paid over the eight-year period.

Ideally, you should pay credit card charges off the month the bill arrives. If this isn't possible, pay as much per month as possible to reduce the interest costs. If estimated shopping costs exceed your budget, consider adjusting the amount of money allocated for people or think twice about including someone on your gift list.

Thinking ahead to next year, shop throughout the year so you don't have to pay for everything in one or two months.

By John McQueary
Co. Ext. Agent for 4-Youth Dev.

On Thursday, November 4, 1999, two Rockcastle Co. 4-H youth spoke to the local Kiwanis Club.

Genna Cummins and Beth Coleman, 7th grade students at Rockcastle County Middle School, spoke about attending 4-H Camp this past summer. They talked about how much they enjoyed 4-H

Camp as well as what classes they had taken. They also talked about the things they have learned from their classes. Both agreed that the biggest assets to 4-H Camp were meeting new friends, learning how to get along with each other, and learning how to work and depend on one another.

A real special thanks goes out to the Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club for sponsoring 4-H youth to attend camp.

Migrant Program needs coats

The Rockcastle County Migrant Education Program maintains a clothing closet for migrant families in our community. We have a good selection of children's winter clothes at this time, but we are in desperate need of winter coats. As the success of the closet is based solely on the generosity of people who donate to us, we hope that you will once again come through to help us keep others warm and comfortable this winter. Your coat donations can be dropped off at the Migrant Office Building on Richmond Street Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The Migrant Staff thanks you in advance for your concern.

Fall Is The Best Time To Fertilize Lawns

Fertilizing lawns in November may seem strange. However, cool season grasses, like Ky. 31 fescue, actually benefit from fall fertilization. The drought of 99 has stressed and weakened most lawn grasses. Weak plants have died, leaving open space for winter annual weeds like chickweed and henbit. If steps are not taken to encourage more fescue, the winter annual weeds will be replaced next summer by additional weeds such as plantain, dandelion, and crabgrass. The bulk of fertilizers on lawns of cool season grasses should be applied during late autumn months. Late October through November is the best time for fertilization. Cool season grasses are still growing and will benefit by developing stronger root systems. Nitrogen, which would normally go for lush top growth in spring, actually strengthens the root system during fall, helps develop more leaves, and helps the plant compete with weeds next year. Excess nitrogen will leach from the soil by winter rains, lowering the carryover. This way, next summers weeds are not fertilized as well.

Lawns which have not been fertilized in the past may benefit by up to 10 pounds of 19-19-19 per 1000 sq. ft. If lawns have been fertilized, the only need may be nitrogen at up to 5 pounds of 34-0-0 per 1000 sq. ft. Fertilizers should be spread evenly to avoid streaking.

For more information on lawn care, contact the Extension Office at 256-2403.

Migrant Education PAC meeting

The October 22nd Migrant PAC (Parent Advisory Council) meeting was a success Friday, with 18 parents and a total of 56 guests attending. The meeting was held by the Migrant staff and conducted by a Parent/President. The meetings are held for business to be discussed, but also for parents to voice their concerns. A luncheon of free pizza and soft drinks was served. Shannon Franklin, youth minister of Wildie Christian Church was the guest speaker. We would like to thank the Rockcastle Area Technology Center for the use of the room and for the help of the staff. Thanks to

NOTICE

Rockcastle County Schools Plan for Inclement Weather School Closings Early Dismissals

Every effort will be made to keep parents and concerned citizens informed as to school closings, early dismissals and possibly a delay plan.

The number one concern is the safety of students. After an extensive evaluation of road conditions in the county, taking into consideration all roads, a decision will be made in regard to closing school.

School closings will be announced on radio stations and 3 television stations. They are as follows: Radio - WRVK (AM 1460), WVLC (FM 93), WBUL (FM 8.1), WMXL (FM 94.5), WLAP (630 AM), WRSL (FM 96.3), WLKT (FM 104.5) WKQQ (FM 100.1). Television - WKYT (Channel 27), WLEX (Channel 18), WTVQ (Channel 36). If possible, the closing will be announced the evening before the closing date. If a determination cannot be made the day prior to the closing date, every possible effort will be made to reach a decision by 6 a.m. The announcement will be made no later than 6:30 a.m. This will be conducted the same for the delay plan, if it is concluded the delay plan would be the appropriate plan of action.

If the delay plan is used, breakfast will be served upon the arrival of students at school.

Early dismissal of school due to inclement weather will be announced on WRVK. Roads will be closely monitored as school is in session to determine if there is a need for early dismissal. If the need for early dismissal does occur, parents should make arrangements to meet children as they arrive early.

Parents and students should not call any radio or television station to inquire about school closings. This could delay the information distribution to the necessary channel by tying up phone lines.

Rockcastle County School System Delay Plan

Occasionally, there are mornings when an additional hour is needed to check bus routes and temperatures/weather conditions sometimes can change between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. As a result, the Rockcastle County School System will consider a one hour delay in school opening due to weather conditions.

If a one-hour delay is warranted, the delay will be announced by the following radio stations: WRVK (AM 1460), WVLC (FM 93), WBUL (FM 98.1), WMXL (FM 94.5), WLAP (630 AM), WRSL (FM 96.3), WLKT (FM 104.5), WKQQ (FM 100.1) and the following television stations: WLEX (Channel 18), WKYT (Channel 27), WTVQ (Channel 36); at 6 a.m. or as soon as possible.

There may be a time when a few isolated bus routes may not be able or may be delayed for an hour while the rest of the bus routes will be made on the regular schedule. These bus routes will be announced only on WRVK radio station.

In instances of a delay schedule, breakfast will be served as soon as students arrive at school.

Teach Tolerance

Do you ever receive those return address labels in the mail? You know, the ones from charitable organizations that want you to send them a contribution. The Paralyzed American Veterans, and other groups send them. I am not certain how my name came to be on so many of those mailing lists, but I receive a lot of them.

My favorite is the return address label that says "teach tolerance." I like that. Tolerance means that I respect your opinion and your right to have that opinion even if I disagree with you. As Voltaire, the French philosopher, said, "I disagree with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Tolerance also means that I show respect for groups of people who are different from me, and not simply respect those who are like me. Tolerance means appreciating people of different ethnic backgrounds, races and religions.

I was reminded of tolerance this week as I listened to one of my favorite gospel songs. I grew up listening to gospel music on radio and television stations from Nashville, Tennessee and it became a part of me. I am surprised that my blood tests do not show cholesterol = 180, and gospel music = 1000.

In particular I like Bluegrass gospel. This is a different variety than other Southern-gospel and includes some of those good old songs such as "I'll Fly Away" and "Mountain Railroad."

One of my favorite Bluegrass gospel songs is "The Story of the Pharisees." It is on a CD collection. The song was recorded by the Bass Mountain Boys. Rather than my telling you what the song says, here are the words. You will have to imagine the fiddle, mandolin, bass and banjo backing this up.

Verse One

Remember Jesus and the Pharisees? How he taught those holy men to see

That a holy word and a holy way won't give your soul on the Judgment Day

Verse Two

The moral of the story of the Pharisees is the judgment's not up to you and me.

It's the job of the Savior. He only can say who will go with him on the Judgment Day.

Chorus

Now don't condemn your fellow man, treat him like a brother, help him all you can.

Try to help the world until you're home. Don't be so quick to claim the kingdom for your own.

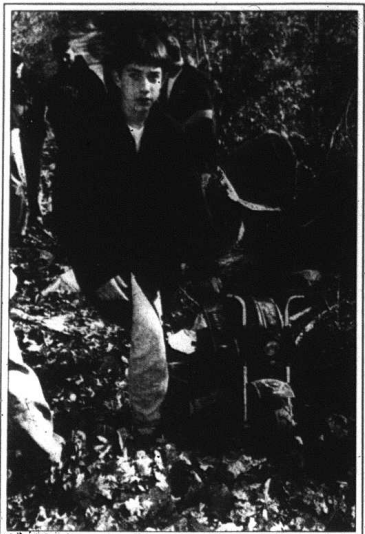

The opposite of tolerance is judgment. And we do that to each other much, much too often. We judge someone of another belief, race or geographical background before we know who he or she really is.

I like this song because it points out that judgment is not up to you and me. The decision about who makes it into Heaven or who does not is made by a higher authority than you or I.

Tolerance is more in keeping with the spirit of the Savior than is judgment. Do not be so quick to claim the Kingdom for your own and exclude others.
