Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

Believe it or not, things are still on hold here at the library and I mean in more ways than one. It seems the company that is doing the automation project is dragging their feet over something and we don't know just what. We are prepared here but just waiting for the delivery of the software to get everything in place.

The preliminary interviews have been done for my position as library director, but no decision has been made yet. We have had several applications and it is hard to make an important decision such as this. I really want to see the right person, one that is definitely interested in library work, to take my place. This is a time consuming job but one that is very rewarding. I have never done any work that I have liked as well as being library director, but all good things have to come to an end. We have accomplished a great deal in the past years and I hope to see the library continue to grow up and provide even more new services.

Also, Lynda is continuing to wait and hope for the stock to arrive. She is still working, but hoping each day will be her last for a few weeks. She and Carol have been making plans for the Summer Reading Program that will be beginning in late June. This is a later date than usual but Lynda is hoping to be back to help with at least part of the reading program.

I sure hope that things will be happening soon. I only have about five more weeks left of regular work. I will probably have to come in to help out with reports, etc. for a short time, but I am looking forward to being home and not having to rush all the time. Even though I think I do better to have a regular set schedule. I seem to feel better if I get up at the same time each day and I try to take a walk before going to work. I do want to continue walking and maybe even farther than I go now. Those people that have retired tell me they are just as busy after retirement, but in my case I hope that is not true. I just want to be able to do those things that I have put off doing for a long while and maybe even travel a little if my husband gets to feeling better.

We are not neglecting the everyday library work with all this waiting. Things are continuing to move forward with new books, videos and audio tapes coming in continually. I have ordered sixteen new books that should be here and ready for circulation next week. Some of them are fiction and some non-fiction, but I think all will appeal to our patrons. I hope you will remember to tell

Pam how much you appreciate her service when you see her. Pam is our special employee for the month of May.

We appreciate your suggestions and comments.

Reviews of new books Suspicion of Malice by Barbara Parker... Another hot steamy summer draw to close, Miami lawyer Gail Conner is still reeling from her devastating breakup with criminal attorney Anthony Quintana. The bitter accusations they hurled at each other can never be erased... nor can the unborn child they created together before the love was gone.

Circumstances arise that find Gail and Anthony locked together on opposite sides of a capital case but with an innocent man's freedom hanging in the balance, there is no room for venomous emotions, and no margin for error. Grand Jury hands down six indictments

The Rockcastle County Grand Jury handed down six indictments Friday for various alleged crimes.

Anthony C. Garrett, 35, of Mt. Vernon was indicted on four counts involving incidents with his wife, dating back to December of last year. Garrett is accused of pointing a loaded firearm at his wife Rebecca and their infant son on December 11. He is also accused of hitting his wife with his fist the same day.

Garrett was also indicted on one count of Stalking first degree. He is accused of violating a protective order issued by the court and going to his wife's residence and leaving threatening phone messages.

Joe Michael Spoonamore, 25, of Castle Village, Brodhead, was indicted on three counts, in connection with a March 21 incident with Brodhead Police Chief Joe Russell. Spoonamore was indicted for escape, assault and theft by unlawful taking. He is still at large.

Karl W. Pittman, 26, of Mt. Vernon, was indicted for escape/second degree. He is accused of leaving his home on Fair Street while under court ordered home incarceration. He was also indicted on one count of being a persistent felony offender.

Paul Franklin Levert, 23, of Cynthiana was indicted for attempting to introduce illegal drugs into the Rockcastle County Detention Center on March 26. He was also indicted for being a persistent felony offender.

John B. Mayfield, 37, of Somerset was indicted for escape. He is accused of walking away from a work detail, while under supervision at the state highway garage, on April 10. He was also indicted on one count of being a persistent felony offender. He was captured a couple of weeks after he walked away.

Ronnie Ray Goff, 49, of Brodhead, was indicted on one count of theft by failure to make required disposition of property valued over $300.

Rifle team members may receive scholarships

Last week the Rockcastle County Board of Education gave their verbal approval to an outlay of approximately $13,000 for rifles and equipment that will allow the JROTC Rifle Team at the Rockcastle County High School to compete in the Precision Rifle category as well as the Sporter category.

But that is not the best thing to come from the board's decision. By competing in the Precision category, rifle team members will be eligible for college scholarships.

SGT. Major Keith Taylor, who coaches the rifle team, told the board that over 300 colleges and universities across the country offer scholarships to high school students who are accomplished shooters. Among those is the University of Kentucky, whose rifle team is currently ranked second in the nation.

The Rifle team at RCHS has been extremely successful in the past year in the Sporter division, almost totally dominating the sport in the state. They will compete in the Nationals in Georgia in June.

Parent elections held at Rockcastle County High

Forty parents turned out Tuesday night for the parent elections to the Rockcastle County High School Site Based Decision Making Council.

Cindy Anderkin was re-elected to the council and Paul Abney was elected to replace Roy Adams, who did not seek re-election.

Anderkin and Abney will join teachers, Adam Coleman, Connie Riddle and Dana Singleton on the council.

At Mt. Vernon last Wednesday the certified staff re-elected teachers Paula Cowan, Bobby Webb and Mike Robbin to the council. The parent members are Dr. Tony Arvin and Roy Martin.

The final two SDBM elections in the county will be held Thursday night (tonight) at Brodhead Elementary and Roundstone Elementary. Both teachers and parents will be elected the same day.

Last week we reported that Barbara Click had been elected to the council at the Rockcastle Middle School, when it should have said Brenda Click.

Local men sentenced

Acting Commonwealth Attorney Eddy F. Montgomery announced Monday that three Rockcastle County men had pled guilty in Rockcastle Circuit Court last Friday.

According to Montgomery, Frankie Powell, 20, of Mt. Vernon, Hugh Michael Helton, 42, of Renfro Valley and James Dawson, 27, of Hammond Trailer Park, Mt. Vernon, were sentenced to prison by Circuit Judge William Cain.

The prosecutor said that Powell admitted that he committed two robberies on December 26 and December 28 at Dairy Mart in Mt. Vernon and that he threatened to use physical force while committing one of those thefts. He received a five year sentence.

Montgomery said that Helton admitted to stalking his ex-wife and threatening to kill her, after being served with a protective order. Helton received a one year sentence.

Dawson, who was probated in 1997 had his probation revoked after a search of his residence turned up controlled substances, drug paraphernalia and weapons. Montgomery said that Dawson admitted that he had been drinking beer and he also tested positive for marijuana and cocaine. Dawson's original sentence of three years was imposed.

$50,000 doesn't go far

The $50,000 the state gave the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court for blacktop on Burnt Ridge Road did not go very far.

The 4.5 mile long road, which runs along the county's border with Madison County was heavily damaged during the reconstruction of Big Hill and Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Buzz Carlolitis says it is probably in worse shape than any other county road.

The fix from U.S. 421 was detoured onto Burnt Ridge during the multi-million dollar road work at Big Hill, but no funds were set aside to fix Burnt Ridge road after the work to Big Hill was completed.

The $50,000 in blacktop went about 1.6 miles leaving three miles of the road still in extremely bad shape. The Judge said he would ask the state for more money and he would also ask the Madison County Fiscal Court for some help on the road.

Rockcastle has always maintained the road because no Madison County residents live on the road. The side of the road in Madison is owned by Berea College and no homes are on it. About 25 Rockcastle families live along the road.

Race for prosecutor highlights Primary Election on Tuesday

In Tuesday's May Primary election local voters won't have much to vote for because most candidates are either running unopposed or do not have to run until November.

The Republicans will have a Commonwealth Attorney's race, which will pit former prosecutor David Tapp and current acting Commonwealth Attorney Eddy F. Montgomery against each other for the six year term as well as the President's race.

No Democrats filed for Commonwealth Attorney.

The only contested races on the ballot for the Democrats will be for U.S. Congressman in the 5th District.

The Democrats and Republicans will vote for a Presidential candidate, but those winners have long been decided, with George Bush and Al Gore, facing off in November.

In the race for U.S. Congress, three democrats, Jimmy "Gabe" Turner, of Drift, Sydney Jane Bailey of Langley and Michael Vacca, Jr. of Shelbiana will face off to see who will run against Republican incumbent Congressman Harold "Hal" Rogers of Somerset.

Running unopposed on the Republican side are State Rep. Danny Ford, State Senator Albert Robinson and Rockcastle Circuit Court Clerk Teresa Vanzant.

Vanzant, who was appointed to fill her father's unexpired term in August of 1998, and Ford, will not be opposed in November.

Robinson will face opposition from Democrat Lawrence Kuhl of London.

In November, current Family Court Circuit Judge Debra Lambert will be opposed by current Pulaski County Assistant County Attorney Michael Duncan.

There will also be races for school board seats in district two, four and five.

The incumbents in those districts are: Terry Brown district two, Martin Vanzant, district four and Sherry Isaacs, district five.

There will also be council races in Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and Livingston.

RCHS will host both girls and boys district tourney

Both the girls' fast pitch softball district tournament and the boys' baseball district tournament will be held at the Rockcastle County High School beginning Monday May 22.

In the boys' tournament, RCHS will take on Oneida at 5 p.m. on Monday and Jackson County will play Clay County in the second game, 30 minutes following the conclusion of the Oneida and Rockcastle game.

The boys' championship game will take place on Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. Both the winner of the district and the runner-up advances to the regional tournament, which will also be played at RCHS beginning on Monday May 29.

The regional drawing will be held on Sunday May 28 at Rockcastle County High. Eight teams will participate in the regional tournament with Corbin, Rockcastle County and Whitley County expected to be the favorites.

The Rockets have not played at home since May 2 because of a problem with the infield.

Group pleads guilty

By Richard Anderkin

Several Rockcastle County residents, many members of the same local family have pled guilty in United States federal court to illegal drug activity.

According to a media release from the Department of Justice, a large cocaine distribution organization based primarily in Mt. Vernon has been dismantled thanks to a massive five year investigation, which included law enforcement agencies from Eastern Kentucky to Miami, Florida.

In February seventeen people were arrested by state, local and federal police and in the past weeks, fourteen of those seventeen have pled guilty.

Many of those who pled guilty are from Rockcastle County and are members of the Floyd and Bernice Lovell family, of Bern.

According to the release, the organization was involved in the distribution of approximately 400 to 500 kilos of cocaine during the five year period.

The U.S. Attorney's office said the group was also involved in the laundering of more than $2 million in United States currency. The $2 million was the proceeds from the distribution of cocaine, which was sold mostly in Southeastern and Central Kentucky.

According to the release, the head of the organization, Richard Allen Lovell, 56, entered a guilty plea to operating a Continuing Criminal Enterprise and faces a 20 year to life sentence.

His wife, Kathleen Lovell, entered a guilty plea to money laundering conspiracy and faces up to a twenty year sentence.

During a bond hearing in February, an I.R.S. agent testified that the couple spent at least $680,000 more than they could have earned through legal means, since their only listed legitimate income was from gambling and welfare and social security payments.

At the conclusion of that same hearing, the federal judge denied bond for all those arrested on February 15 and they have been held ever since.

The following individuals entered guilty pleas to Criminal Conspiracy to distribute cocaine and various money laundering offenses:

Bernice Bradley, who is already serving a sentence in Federal prison on other drug related charges, Charles "Charlie" Lovell, Wendell

By: Ike Adams

I swear that when something tears up around my place, I'm going to start crawling under the bed and helping for a week or two, sneaking out only to use the toilet and grab a sandwich two or three times a day. But the way my lack tears the commode would probably stop and the door would fall off the refrigerator. The engine on my tiller has already been rebuilt once and the cylinder wall is so scarred up that the only thing to do now is buy a new one. It'll still start but it sounds like someone is inside it with a hammer trying to beat their way out and a toddler with a plastic shovel could do about as much tilling as it is currently capable of performing. The bottom line comes to just over $500.00 for the motor and new tires.

That's still better than $2,500 that a new tiller would cost if they still made them anymore. What Troybilt has on the market these days that is called a tiller is like comparing a Tonka Toy to a bulldozer and I wouldn't swap my old 1981 model for a truck load of them. I figure that the folks at Troybilt finally figured out that the problem with building a practically indestructible machine is that the market would eventually be saturated. Much better to build something that will rust in about three years and hope the customer will come back for another one.

But as usual, I digress. Last weekend my neighbor Mat Gray and I spent several hours replacing a broken blade shaft on the deck of my lawn mower. We figured that we might as well replace the blades while we were at it. Ring up another hundred bucks.

I went to water the flowers and discovered that my garden hose was more akin to a minnow seine than something that would hold water. Another trip to the store and 16 dollars worth of garden hose which I go to hook up and discover that outside faucet is broken. Another trip to the same store. Bluegrass Hardware, where all the clerks know me by my first name, but insist on calling me Mr. Adams because I am personally responsible for keeping two of them on the payroll. This time I'm 23 bucks lighter.

John Edwards happened by and did all the plumbing on the faucet and we hooked up the hoses and it worked great. Except the nozzle won't shut off. Take my word for it, 150 feet is a long way to run back and forth to turn off the water. I wound up soaked after I figured out how to twist a kink in the hose and shut it off. That's a very practical solution if you don't mind getting drenched, but put a five dollar nozzle on the list of stuff that I need from the boys at Bluegrass.

I filled up my one gallon pressure sprayer with Round-Up after blowing the line out with a high pressure air gun intent on wiping out a bunch of poison ivy and honey suckle on the rock wall in front of my house. I pumped it up good and tight, took aim at the ivy and pulled the trigger. Nothing. Not even a fizzle. I shook it and cussed it and kicked it. Still nothing so I unscrewed the little gizmo or the end of the nozzle and suddenly I had not one, but four streams of wood killer flying in all directions and hitting everything but the ivy.

I finally punched the nozzle down in the ground and stopped it up but now I have lines of dead grass in my yard that look like the work of some sick abstract artist. I called Bluegrass to see how much a new nozzle for my sprayer was going to run and discovered they don't sell em. I will have to buy a new sprayer. Ka-ching. Fifteen dollars for the cheapest one they have, but since its mine, I getting "Frankly

Mr. Adams you don't want this sprayer," treatment. What I want, I'm told, is the one that costs $59.95 and comes with a three year warranty.

This morning I got up to go to work and my truck wouldn't make a sound. I turned on the headlights and they were bright so battery failure didn't make sense. But I let her coast off and started her by popping the clutch. I had to make a couple of stops between the house and Berea, but I left the motor running. I pulled into my parking lot at work, killed the engine and she started back just fine. Tonight at 5:30 she was dead again. So I called Dave Maggard and we surmised that maybe the battery was going bad.

I took it to Wal-Mart and had them put it on a machine that verified that. "Bad Battery" it said after humming a few minutes with several little lights going off and on and which I now believe to be there only for show. Ring up $74.86 for a new battery and the truck still would not make a sound. I called Dave back and he told me to beat on the starter with a hammer. Don't laugh. It worked. But the bad news is that it was only apt to work once. The fluctuating power in my battery had fried my starter.

So Dave came over to my house with Junior Rogers and Junior takes off the starter. We drive to Richmond and under it for a new one at Auto Zone where I leave the last 90 bucks of my paycheck. At 10:00 p.m. we get back to the house to discover that the starter had the wrong bolt holes and now I have to bum a ride to work tomorrow morning.

In the meantime, I need to take a shower, but I'm scared to touch the water faucet. I figure the next thing I touch is going to break and I'm too broke to deal with a major plumbing problem. Sleeping under the bed may not be such a good idea either. It would probably fall on me.

I have to find a place to sleep though. I just don't want to wake up til this is over.

deserve the honor of a special day set aside for them. A day their offspring serves them breakfast in bed, proudly accompanies them to church and either cooks the noon day meal themselves or take her for dinner so there are no dirty dishes she has to wash.

I remember my first mother's day quite well and it wasn't a holiday affair for any one but me. It was 2:20 a.m. November 27, 1936, in the bedroom of our apartment on Vine St. in Elmwood Place, Ohio. After several hours of labor, Dr. McMath, my beloved doctor with the gentleness and drawing speech of the deep south, laid my first born in my arms and said, Zira, you are now the mother of a little girl. My dream of a baby of my own, one I could cuddle, play with and teach the way I thought a child should be taught was finally a reality and I was the mother of the future world's most perfect child. Wheew! did I ever have a lot to learn. Someone must have forgotten the instructions, or they had been lost in all the confusion of the past several hours, for I never did find them, and they were important papers too, on how to raise and care for that precious girl just laid in my arms that I was responsible for. How could I stop that constant crying all night long? How could I get clothes on that squirming mass of arms and legs that wouldn't stay still long enough to get a diaper pinned securely, or a tiny shirt over her head, I had read all the books on what one was not to do, so I didn't rock her when she cried, which was almost day and night for quite a while, and if I walked the floor with her it would also spoil her and I did not want to be accused of that for then I would be reminded of the times I had been guilty of accusing others of doing the same thing. She was perhaps six weeks old when I found out my breast milk wasn't sufficient and she was plainly hungry. I had been determined to feed her the way nature had intended. With breast milk from my own body that had the nutrients built into not only satisfy her hunger but would immunize her from early childhood problems. Bottles and formulas were not in my plans, but the popularity of bottle feeding at that time swayed many doctors opinions and her crying was soon stopped by a bottle of warm milk and I had a smiling baby to show off. The short time I had nursed her had supplied the special nutrients she needed and my idea of breast feeding being an important part of motherhood was satisfied so we both accepted the bottle as a satisfactory substitute. Her tummy was full and the rows of carnation milk on the shelf was not so bad after all. She became spoiled after all by the attention my family gave her. When I would say "oh no, we don't walk the floor with her or rock her," I would be laughed at and the rocking or walking would continue. She loved it much more than the bed I had put her in, so the arms of Aunt Katie, Grand-dad or whenever happened to be present was always welcome.

When she was five months old we left those soothing arms and hearts full of love behind and moved to the hills of Kentucky. Now I was truly on my own. I had no mom close to buy me katie tea, ground ivy tea or even tell me what they were good for. She knew the herbs and how to prepare them for satisfactory results in simple things like diarrhea, colic and fretfulness. Nor Aunt Katie to love, soothe her to sleep or play with her. No grandpa to hold her securely in strong arms and hum, off key, to her while she went to sleep. I'll bet I missed them more than she did, for she was, or so I thought, too little to remember. But she had remembered, for when any of them came down shortly after we moved, she reached for them with giggles of welcome.

When the dreaded diarrhea, common to babies then, appeared in mid summer, I became concerned for I didn't know what to do for it except wash diapers daily and change her frequently to keep her bottom as clean as possible so rash wouldn't add to her discomfort. That happened anyway and crying with discomfort as well as the illness had to be dealt with. There was no Dr. McMath to guide me through it nor mom to make a tea that may have helped. Mat had never been around babies with their peculiar problems so he was no help. Yet, somehow the natural ability of a mother to guide me through it and soon she was back to a normal little girl crawling over the rough floors of the log house we were living in till the new one was built.

That summer flew by and by her first birthday we were settling in to our first home close to the log house we had been living in. The floors were soon after her to crawl on and the soon was exploring every nook and cranny and playing with the baby starrng back at her from the floor length mirror of the vanity. Her training to be THE PERFECT CHILD began here. No, no, you can't play in mommy's powder box. No, no, you can't play with lipstick. No, no, those are your tops, here you look at the floor baby. Now I never bragged about raising a perfect child after that first years experience of having the responsibility of developing the character of one from birth to maturity, but I will say, Judy learned quickly what no, no meant and what was allowable around her environment and was obedient. She learned to walk soon after we moved into the home she lived in till she went off to college, and she frequently visited till it burned a couple of years ago. Soon after the art of getting places on her feet instead of knees she began trying to help with simple chores. I think the first I remember distinctly was when she would toddle up to me with a diaper and gown she had clutched in little arms trailing behind her when she was sleepy and ready for bed. They were kept on a low shelf with in her reach and

"It is Written"

Let's notice the word of God verses the words of men:

"He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" Mark 16:16

"He that believeth is saved and should be baptized later" Creeds of Men ch. 8:12

B=A=S B=S=A

When you place the teachings of our Lord against the doctrines of men, it's not hard to see the difference. Now I know a lot of people have followed the doctrines of men, (as I had done at one time), but we must believe and obey the word of the Lord. If we reject the words of Jesus hear... warning, "He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day."

Mother's Day-Motherhood There is quite a bit of difference in being a woman celebrated for being a mother one day a year and being a mother 365 days a year. That one day set aside to honor women whom the nation depends on to raise the next generation of leaders is the day we, the mothers and grandmothers of the next generation show off our new hats, wear a corsage to church, go out for dinner and welcome kids home from far away places they escaped to when they no longer needed a mom to wait on them or get away from her nagging and telling them what to do, or the ones coming home simply because MOM was there. The mom who had tended to their needs as long as they could remember and had nourished them since he or she was laid in her arms soon after they made their first cry and entered a strange new environment. These mothers

Tobacco Leasing

Quotas for the 2000 crop year were mailed on April 7, 2000. Leasing for the crop year 2000 began April 10th and will continue through July 3rd.

Small Grains

Producers growing small grains (wheat) must report their acreage by May 31, 2000. If crop acreage is not filed timely and producer applies for a Loan Deficiency Payment, then a charge of $26.50 will be applied for a late file.

Conservation Reserve

Program's Continuous Signup
Agricultural Secretary Dan Glickman has announced that landowners can receive more money for participation in the Conservation Reserve Program continuous signup. The new financial incentives—totaling up to $350 million in the next three years—include signing bonuses and more money for installing and maintaining conservation practices.

The continuous signup enhancements, part of the Clinton-Gore plan to strengthen the farm safety net, consist of additional economic incentives and updated rates including:

1. An up-front signing bonus of $10 per acre for every year the contract covers. This amounts to $100 to $150 per acre at the start of the contract to help defray up-front installation costs for filter strips, riparian buffers, grassed waterways, field windbreaks, shelter belts and living snow fences.

2. A payment equal to 40 percent of the practice installation cost, in addition to the 50 percent cost-share paid by USDA for establishing certain approved practices.

3. Increases in maintenance rate incentives for certain practices involving tree planting, fencing or water development. Between $2 to $5 per acre may be added to existing maintenance rate incentives.

4. Updated marginal pastureland rental rates ($44 per acre in Rockcastle County) nationwide to better reflect the market value of these lands. In many cases, rental rates increased with the update.

Unlike the regular CRP program, the continuous signup program allows procedures to enroll eligible highly environmentally sensitive land at anytime, without waiting for a sign-up period or competing against other offers. Conservation practices protect streams and rivers by keeping sediment and nutrients from entering the water, providing cleaner drinking water, enhancing recreation and improving wildlife habitats.

For more information pertaining to CRP contact the local FSA office.

Should You Be a Coach?

I love baseball. Last night I watched a 37-year-old rookie pitch his first game in the major leagues. After spending 16 years playing in the minor leagues and in the Orient, he finally got his chance at the big time. He has to love baseball in order to persevere for that long a time.

Many leagues for children and youth will soon be in full swing. Coaches are being chosen and some are already hard at work. Even yours truly has been called upon to coach in past years. (I see myself as a younger Tommy Lasorda.)

Coaches have a big effect on the young people on their teams. Coaches can inspire or they can tear down the confidence of these young people. Coaches must have a large amount of patience for dealing with the players and an even greater amount of patience for dealing with the parents.

What does it take to be a coach for young people? What qualifications are there for those who are interested in the job? (In my case I think anyone who was still breathing would have been given serious consideration.)

In answer to these pressing questions I have devised the following questionnaire for prospective coaches in T-Ball, Little League, Cal Ripken, Coaches Pitch, Babe Ruth, and all other youth leagues. The same test can also be used to identify potential coaches for basketball, soccer and other sports.

PROSPECTIVE COACH'S TEST

After each statement write "yes" if the statement applies to you or "no" if it doesn't.

1. I can keep my cool when a mob of 10-year-olds is crowding around me all yelling, "I wanna pitch! I wanna pitch!"

2. I can endure the sore muscles that I have after the first practice of the year in which I hit seven thousand four hundred thirty-two ground balls to the infield.

3. I can remain calm when a parent questions my knowledge of the game, my ability to make judgments and my parentage because her child only played two innings in today's game.

4. I can still sleep at night even though my team is 0-8 and has yet to score a single run.

5. I can keep a straight face while telling my team that their relatives and neighbors will be anxious to buy the new Super Dooper Drain Plugs that we are selling for only $27.95 in order to raise money for our league. 6. I will not hurt a child who asks for the seventeenth time, "Coach, when is our next game?"

7. I can smile and shake hands with the opposing coach even though my team has just lost its twelfth straight game.

8. I experience only mild anger when the tournament games that were rained out are rescheduled for the week of my vacation.

If you have three or more "yes" answers, you have definitely been called to be a coach. If you answered "yes" to all the questions, you should apply for sainthood.

"Sweet n' Sour"

she had learned not only where they were but they meant comfort and sleep. Judy, never lost that trait for helping around the house or farm.

One of the cute little things she did was the day Matt asked her to get him some sandpaper from the porch so he could sharpen the hoe he was working with in the garden. She was gone a long time and when she returned with it he asked what had kept her so long, her instant reply was, "Daddy I wanted it to be good and sharp so I stopped and sharpened it on three rocks."

Judith Gwynn, soon shortened to Judy, our first born, and the one to bless me with the name MOTHER, and made me eligible to celebrate Mother's Day with honor has not turned out to be the perfect child of my dream world, but she has been a daughter to be proud of. Her help at home was not limited to house duties, then worked her way through college, at Bowling and later, grad school in Greening, Ohio. Now she is retired after seeing her own two through college.

This year she and Geoff came down a few days before Mother's Day and once again she helped her mom do things a little beyond my ability to handle now; they painted and mended inside wood work, etc. They didn't call it a Mother's Day gift but what better gift could one receive?

So, Mother's Day is not only one day in May, it is every day of the year and a lifetime job for a woman who becomes one.

Cut Large Round
Bale Hay Losses

Decisions now on where and how large round bales of hay are stored will determine how much and what quality this winter's feed supply will be. One should also look at the financial consideration for using round bales by measuring hay losses.

Studies on the weathering effects of hay stored in different ways show some interesting facts. A round bale that is 4.5 feet in diameter and 4 feet wide occupies a total volume of 64 cubic feet. Even though 4 inches is only 7% of the bale diameter, a weathered layer 4 inches deep over the entire surface of the bale, including ends, would contain 39% of the total package volume. Even a layer that was only 2 inches deep over the surface would occupy 22% of the bale volume. Losses on the ends of exposed round bales do not penetrate as far into the bale as on the outer circumference of the bale. When losses on the end of the bale are disregarded, a 4 inch deep layer contains 28% of the total bale volume. Since the ratio of surface area to volume decreases with increasing bale size, larger round bales should have smaller storage losses on a percentage basis.

With these facts in mind, what can be done to save hay? Whenever possible, store hay inside. Better quality hay and alfalfa hay should be stored inside first. Long stem fescue will bale tighter and shed water better.

Bale storage sites should be well drained. Any method such as crushed stone, poles, tires, and pallets which will keep round bales off the ground will prevent damage from ground water. And don't forget the obvious. Store hay so that weeds and trees do not prevent good air movement for drying. Bale storage areas located under trees or allowed to grow up in weeds will have even higher losses than reported earlier.

New bale tarps are on the market that allow large stacks of hay to be covered. Special pockets allow pipes and ropes to secure the sides to prevent wind damage. Farmers find, with care, that bale tarps last up to 5 years and store hay just as well as barns. Tarps run just over $175 and cover 54, 5'x4' bales. A 5 year tarp life would mean 65 cents per bale storage cost to prevent 35 percent hay loss.

One might look at hay loss like a mowing machine or rake that left 25% to 30% of the hay in your field. Most farmers would not stand for a shoddy job, but accept large bale storage losses as unpreventable. For more information, call the Extension Office at 256-2403.

Buckle Up America! Week May 22-29

Traffic crashes are the leading cause of death to American children. Each year, more than half of all children who die in automobile crashes are unrestrained. Tragically, nearly half of these untrapped children would be alive today if only they had been properly restrained.

May 22-29 has been designated as Buckle Up America! Week and Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center, Inc. (RHRC) is using the opportunity to remind Rockcastle countians of the importance of wearing seat belts and restraining their children every time they drive.

"Our mission is not just to heal the sick, but to help prevent accidents and illnesses whenever possible," said Lee Keene, RHRC administrator. "That's why our doctors and staff are concerned about seat belt usage and want people to know that the majority of serious and fatal crashes occur close to home, on familiar roads, and on bright sunny days."

Health and safety officials strongly advise all drivers and passengers to wear seat belts, whether in front or back seat, and to always place children in proper child restraints on every ride.

"Many drivers don't believe they'll be involved in an accident, so they don't put on their own seat belt or make sure that children are properly restrained," said Rosalyn G. Millman, acting administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

"Some people may just need a friendly reminder to get in the habit of buckling up. However, the risk of getting stopped and ticketed is what it takes for many drivers to be the message."

It is illegal in Kentucky and 48 other states to drive without a seat belt. In every state it is the law that children must be properly restrained. Infant seats, convertible seats and booster seats are 71 percent effective in saving children's lives during an auto accident.

"You may be an excellent driver, but not all drivers are," Keene said. "Wearing your seat belt and properly restraining your children are your best protection while driving."

In support of Buckle Up America! Week, the National Safety Council (NSC) has established a toll free number for the week of May 22-29 that the public can use to report vehicles with unbuckled children. Simply write down the state and license plate number and call 1-800-764-5755. The NSC will then send a reminder to the owner of the vehicle reminding him or her that it is dangerous and illegal to allow children to ride unbuckled.

Farm-to-Schools Meals Institute workshop held

On May 1st a southeast regional workshop was held in Georgetown, for USDA's Farm-to-Schools Meals Institute. Speakers included USDA officials, University agricultural specialists, Food Service Directors, farm cooperative representatives, and local producers. The informational meeting explained the marketing opportunities that farmers could develop for fresh produce like fruits, vegetables and other locally grown products. Area schools, institutions and communities all have food service directors that need to purchase a variety of quality foods on a timely basis to supply their kitchens. Cooks prepare thousands of meals daily that require large quantities of fresh ingredients. Making growers aware of the direct marketing opportunities and the necessary criteria like quality, packaging and timeliness is the focus of the Farm-to-Schools Meals Initiative.

Michael Dunn, Under Secretary for Marketing and Regulatory Programs at USDA spoke to the gathering and offered the administrations support for the initiative. Mr. Dunn encouraged growers to seek added value for their production, and explore avenues of more direct marketing. Kentucky's Commissioner of Agriculture, Billy Ray Smith welcomed the cooperative efforts of the Under Secretary and presented Mr. Dunn with an award for honorary commissioner of Kentucky agriculture.

Other USDA officials also addressed the crowd, along with Department of Defense (DOD), Fresh Food Program Coordinator, Patricia Scott. Ms. Scott described the distribution and transportation capabilities which DOD has available, and told farmers that the Defense Supply Center would welcome quality fresh produce from Kentucky fruit and vegetable growers, and could serve as distributor of Kentucky produce.

Food Service Directors like Melinda Turner of Booneville, know the favorite foods children eat most often, and plan school meals in accordance with their tastes. Kentucky school cafeterias serve an average of 26 million meals a day, which is more than McDonalds. Food procurement specialists know their business, and fresh quality food is in demand. Kentucky farmers can increase their profits substantially by contracting with cooperatives that supply schools and institutions. Providing the type of fruits and vegetables Food Services need on a regular basis takes planning and hard work, two things at which Kentucky farmers excel. Locally grown food by Kentucky is mutually beneficial for farmers and children across the state.

Ways to Leave Your Blubber

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent for Family and Consumer Science

"Don't waste your time and money on fat diets, diet pills, or magic potions that promise weight loss overnight. Most of the weight you lose on these is from water, not fat.

Keep records on how much you eat, when and where you eat, what you're doing while you eat, who you're eating with, and your mood. After a week or two, go over your records and look for any patterns or bad habits.

Have any bad habits you'd like to break - like eating chocolate when you're upset? Try curing just one habit at a time. Don't try tackling another until you're sure you've got the first problem licked.

Start to measure or weigh all your food portions so you know exactly how much food you're eating.

Try to eat your meals at the same time each day. That way, expect food at certain times.

Drink a glass of water before you eat - it will help make your stomach feel fuller.

If you are tempted to eat more, wait 20 minutes. It usually takes that long for your stomach to tell you when you're full.

Don't clean your plate just because of those poor, starving kids somewhere else. It is better to let food go to waste than to your waist. While no single food is fattening, too much of anything can be. Your body will turn 3500 calories of unused energy into one pound of fat, regardless of whether those calories came from cookies or celery.

Eat fewer fried foods. Frying can quadruple the number of calories in foods. Look at what it does to half cup of potatoes: Boiled - 59 calories; Hash browned - 178 calories; and French fried - 228 calories.

Are you beginning to feel like you have to give up all your favorite foods while dieting? You don't have to - just eat less than you usually do. Have two slices of pizza instead of four, or share an order of fries with a friend.

DAVID TAPP Commonwealth's Attorney

Ask yourself:

Was Benny Ham a good prosecutor?

If your answer was yes, then you should be glad that he's been rehired as an Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney.

If, however, you believe that cases should be handled as quickly as possible, that probation and plea bargaining shouldn't be misused, and that victims should have a voice in the manner in which their cases are handled, then you probably said "NO".

Why would the Acting Commonwealth's Attorney rehire Benny Ham after Rockcastle County voted him out of office?

Birds of a feather...

This time, vote for a

Local students honored at Cumberland College

Several Cumberland College students were honored Monday, April 24, during a special Honors Day convocation. Honors Day convocation, held annually in the O. Wayne Rollins Center on the Cumberland campus, recognizes those students who have excelled academically throughout the school year. Jennifer Cromer of Mt.

Vernon, was the recipient of a George I. Alden Scholarship. Each year, students submit applications to the financial planning office for the Alden scholarship. From those applications, only six are chosen to receive half tuition scholarships. Cromer was chosen based on grade point average, leadership abilities and academic achievements. Presenting this award was Cumberland College President, Dr. James H. Taylor.

Jeremiah Taylor of Mt. Vernon was the recipient of the SGA award for dedication to Cumberland College. Student Government President, Nathan Coleman presented the award. Taylor was also the recipient of the History Award. The History Award is given to one outstanding senior a year who has excelled in the area of history and who has been of service to the history department. History department Head, Dr. Eric Wake presented the award.

Kevin Rader, Cromer and Taylor, received other honors also. Rader and Cromer each received the ranking of Honor. Those students who received an Honor ranking were recognized for maintaining a minimum of 3.70 cumulative grade point average.

Taylor, a Fall 1999 graduate of Cumberland, was inducted into the J.T. Vallandigham Scholastic Honor Society. The Honor Society, established in 1961, is the highest academic honor Cumberland College students can receive. In order to be eligible for membership in the J.T. Vallandigham Scholastic Honor Society, a student must have completed at least 96 semester hours as a full-time student and have a 3.5 grade point average or better each semester. The student must also have a cumulative grade point average 3.7 or better.

Rainbow Bridge

Just this side of Heaven is a place called Rainbow Bridge. When an animal dies that has been especially close to someone here, that pet goes to Rainbow Bridge. There are meadows and hills for all our special friends, so they can run and play together. They are plenty of food, water and sunshine, and our friends are warm and comfortable. All the animals who have been ill or old are restored to health and vigor; those who were hurt or maimed are made whole and strong again. Just as we remember them in our dreams of days gone by, The animals are happy and content, except for one small thing: They each miss someone very special to them, who had to be left behind. They all run and play together. But the day comes when one suddenly stops and looks into the distance. His bright eyes are intent; his cager body quivers. Suddenly he begins to run from the group, flying over the green grass, his legs carrying him faster and faster. You have been spotted, and when you and your special friend finally meet, you cling to each other in joyous reunion, never to be parted again. The happy kisses rain upon your face; your hands again caress the beloved head. You look once more into the trusting eyes of your pet, so long gone from your life but never absent from your heart. "Then you cross the Rainbow Bridge together." These dogs did not belong to me. They were retrievers, their names were Tasha and Dixie. But I couldn't have lived them any more if they had been mine. Tasha was run over by a car. Dixie didn't live but two weeks later. Dixie was in so much grief.

Rader completes Leadership Seminar

The goal of Cumberland College is not only to develop good students, but also good leaders. One way that goal is accomplished is Cumberland's unique Leadership Seminar. Kevin Rader, son of Calvin and Kaye Rader from Mt. Vernon, recently completed this 10-session seminar. Kevin was presented with a certificate by his instructor, Cumberland's Coordinator of Leadership and Community Service, Diana Warmoth, upon completion of the course. The seminar is part of a four-year leadership project at Cumberland College. It is designed to teach students how leadership enhances their personal skills. Students participate in activities to strengthen leadership skills, analyze the characteristics of good leadership and assess leadership style and potential.

Pet Pointers

From Rockcastle Adoption Agency for Pets, Inc.

Is your pet parasite infested? Hookworm infestation can have symptoms similar to canine parvovirus. Besides hookworm, your dog and cat can host roundworm, whipworm, tapeworm and heartworm. A few symptoms of parasite infestation include: diarrhea, bloody or foul smelling stool, inability to gain weight, coughing. However, some worms infested pets show few, if any symptoms before death occurs. We strongly suggest at least one fecal exam and heartworm test per year to determine your pet's status. These tests can be done as early as two weeks of age. Many wormers claim to kill all worms, but each worm requires different drugs to kill it. Some wormers may kill up to three types, so only one. Examination and treatment by your veterinarian is the only sure way to keep your cat and dog worm free.

Rockcastle County Staff participates in National School Safety Research Project

On May 4-6, Ruth Allen, Principal of Rockcastle County High School and Loretta Powell, Rockcastle Board of Education, attended the Hamilton-Fish Institute's Annual Symposium on School and Community Violence in Washington, D.C. Institute National Office staff, Consortium research teams, and school partners who are participating in an ongoing research study that examines the effectiveness of violence prevention programs in schools, attended the three-day symposium.

Rockcastle became involved in the study in the fall of 1999 after being asked by Eastern Kentucky University to participate. EKU is one of seven Consortium member universities that work with Hamilton-Fish Institute. EKU's primary interest in the study is to evaluate effective violence prevention strategies among schools. As part of this National study on youth violence, Rockcastle County High School freshmen were administered the National School Crime and Safety Survey in the fall of 1999. The students will be followed over a two-year period and will be compared to other schools on levels of youth violence. As data is gathered over time, Institute staff will be able to recommend various programs and strategies that appear to curb violent behaviors among youth.

As the National Symposium, Ms. Allen and Ms. Powell were able to learn about ongoing investigations of programs and strategies designed to reduce violence in and around schools. These ideas are useful in assuring that schools are "on the right track" when it comes to youth violence prevention.

Poet's Corner

Cowboy Comedy Corral

By William Jerry Ayers
I know one Texan who's so rich he has an unlisted phone company. In the old west a naughty child was straightened out by being bent over.

Hay growers keep bailing out. Craig... What's John Wayne got that Arika... Looks, talent, money and fame. Craig... Besides that. New CD... She was only a moon-shiners daughter, but I loved her still, sung by The Drunking Cowboys.

His horses get up and go, get up and went. Old bank robbers never die, they steal away in the night... Little Indian... Ugh. Big Indian... Ugh. Ugh. Little Indian... Don't change-un subject.

Cowboys know that a "SMILE" is a curved line that sets many things straight. Easter Sunrise Service By Preston Parrett April 23, 2000 It was a cool Sunday morning A nip of frost was in the air, When several went to Christian Camp to worship and have a word of prayer.

Walker had it looking beautiful With everything mowed and neat, Surrounded by the forest The camp was a lovely retreat. Giant tulip poplars towered high Dwarving the beautiful flowering dogwoods below. While the sounds of God's creatures Came through sweet and low.

When we see the beauty of nature And hear nature's sound, Yes, we know! Yes, we know! That God is around.

There was a tiny cross On top of the flag pole, Symbolizing the death of Jesus Who died to make us whole.

A larger cross Stood on the brow of the hill, Symbolizing that Christ died and arose His mission to fulfill.

Brother Wade read a poem Then told the Easter story, And from God's own holy word A promise of a higher glory.

Brother Clay, the patriarch of our church, Rendered up a comforting heartfelt prayer, And as he finished and said "Amen" The sun broke through and brightened the heavens up there.

Dear Graduates By William Jerry Ayers You graduate from school today, And if in search of a career you should move away,

If times get rough and you feel blue, Think of others that are worrying too. Things don't always go according to plan. For if they did wouldn't it be grand. So if in life your troubles are many, Don't think the rest of us haven't any. Life is made up of many smiles and tears.

Joys and sorrows, all mixed with fears. And although as times you may think it's one sided, Trouble is pretty well divided. If you could just look into every heart, You would find that each one has its part.

Now those who travel fortunes road, Sometimes carry the biggest load. It's true, there's more to life than money. It's love, music and jokes that are funny. And as you now move along life's highway, Don't forget to take time to stop and quickly fade away.

Although at times from loved ones you must part, Keep your family and friends close to your heart. Now no matter what in life you become or do, Please keep in mind these things I have just told you. May GOD bless you where ever you may roam, And always bring you safely back home.

Graduates, A Person is a Success By William Jerry Ayers Graduates, a person is a success, Who is life has found everlasting love, And finds time to worship our Lord up above.

Who does not think first of fine cars, mansions and money, But of good friends to share a joke with that's funny.

Graduates, a person is a success, Who has earned the respect and love of his kind, And gained the trust of many small children.

Who loves to listen to birds as they sing, And answers the call of church bells when they ring.

Graduates, a person is a success, Who leaves this old world better than they found it to be, And never lacked appreciation of nature's great beauty.

Who looked for the best in others, and gave all they had, And always kept the love and respect of their mom and dad.

One that is proud of our flag and this great land, And will defend it against any country or any man.

And The Real Winner Is

By William Jerry Ayers

And the winner is, Oh how your heart will really pound, The moment you've been waiting for has finally come around. But wait, suppose you don't win and don't get the fame.

It isn't the winning, but just how you played the game. Each one is a winner, you've won the greatest gift God can give. You've won love and friends, it's why people want to live.

If you win the trophies and ribbons but not friends and love, You're a loser, not a winner, just ask the Lord above.

Your friends and love will last forever, yes, forever and a day. But the trophies and ribbons will rust and quickly fade away.

Your family and friends are waiting with teardrops in their eyes. Their hearts are beating like yours, to hear who won the prize.

To your parents you are the greatest, to friends you are the same.

Yet to be happy and successful, you don't really need the fame. So, when they announce the winner, it should be a real thrill.

For if you don't win the trophy one of your best friends will.

Kidding With Kids

Harper hits two homers; ROCK improves to 18-5

Junior Greg Harper hit two home runs and allowed only one hit over six innings in leading the Rockcastle County Rockets to their eighteenth win of the season Friday night.

The Rockets defeated Casey County 8-2, after a five run seventh inning which saw eleven Rockets bat. The ROCK also left the bases loaded in the seventh.

Casey County dropped to 3 and 14 on the season.

Friday night's win was Harper's ninth of the season. The Rocket ACE has won all nine of his starts this season.

Juniors Shea Taylor and Billy Hackworth each had a double and Brad McNew, Brandon Bishop, Taylor and Harper each had singles.

Senior Andrew Cash gave up two runs in the seventh, but picked up the save.

Junior first baseman Christopher Parsons was injured in a collision at the bag and left the game, but was expected to play on Tuesday at Madison Central.

The Rockets have not played at home since May 2 against Knox Central, because of a problem with the grass in the infield.

The infield has been completely resodded and no games will be played on the field until the district tournament begins Monday at 5 p.m.

The Rockets will travel to North Laurel on Thursday night and will play their final game of the regular season at Lexington Catholic on Saturday.

Junior Greg Harper hit two home runs and gave up only one hit leading the Rockets to an 8-2 victory Friday night at Casey County. Rockcastle will host both the boys and girls district tourney beginning Monday.

Right fielder Rachelle Riddle takes a pitch during the Lady Rockets win over district foe Clay County Tuesday night. The girls play in the district tournament Monday night at RCHS.

Lady Rockets defeat Clay

The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets have won two out of their last three games and three out of five as they head down the home stretch toward the district tournament.

Tuesday night they came from behind to defeat visiting Clay County 10-9.

"I'm really proud of these kids," said head coach Chris Hendrickson. "After we got off to such a horrible start our players could have dropped their heads and just quit, but they didn't," he said.

"It has just taken our young players time to adjust to high school fast pitch and to a different level of competition," he said.

The Lady Rockets went into the bottom of the seventh inning down 9-8 before pulling out the win.

Winning pitcher Jessie Hayes grounded out to start the inning but left fielder Josie Bengo got a single.

The next batter, catcher Amber Falin, doubled to right center and Bengo went to third.

With one out, third baseman Angie Howard grounded to first, which scored Bengo and tied the game at 9.

Shortstop Brooke Roberts then delivered the game winning hit with a ground ball in the hole, that scored Falin from third.

Last week the Lady Rockets defeated Oneida 26-6 and Monticello 18-4.

Thursday they travel to Bell County and on Friday they will host Monticello in their final game of the regular season.

Girls finish second at Boyle Co. meet

The girls' track and field team recently finished 2nd out of eleven teams at the Boyle County Invitational. The girls were defeated in a close contest with regional rival Boyle County. The girls were without the services of Junior Cheyenne Carmack for most of the meet. Cheyenne suffered an asthma attack as the result of an allergic reaction and was forced to miss her last three races. With her, the girls would have easily taken first place.

The 3200-meter relay team of Jessica Asher, Kayla Hayes, Daniella Arnold and Makayiah Bryant ran a great race and placed fourth overall in 12:00.

In the 100-meter hurdles, Junior Tara Abney continued her brilliance with a new RCHS record time of 17:22. Tara finished third overall. Teammate Theresa Chishum also ran her fastest time ever and finished fourth in 17:6. In the 300-meter hurdles, Tara ran well and placed fourth overall in 53:32. Theresa finished sixth overall with a season's best time of 53:68.

In the 100-meter dash, eighth grader Sheena Swinney ran her fastest time ever and finished 2nd in 13:09. Cheyenne, despite impending allergy problems, finished fourth with a fast time of 13:19.

Mindy Bullock tied her own RCHS record in high jump for the second straight meet with an impressive effort of 5'0". Mindy placed first overall.

In the long jump, Rachelle Hammond performed very well and finished 2nd overall with a leap of 15'1". Rachelle also finished 2nd in triple jump with an incredible effort of 32'9". Teammate Chere Embs also jumped well and placed third with an effort of 28'11".

In shot put, Clarissa Hubbard displayed her usual dominance and finished first with a throw of 31'10.5". Clarissa also placed second in shot put. Ashley Lawson placed fifth in discus and also place fifth in shot put with an impressive effort of 26'8". In the 400-meter dash, Rachelle placed second with an impressive time of 1:04.12.

In the 200-meter dash, Sheena ran an awesome race and finished first overall with a time of 27:03. Johnna Abney also ran an exceptional race and finished fourth overall with a personal record time of 28:12.

Jessica Asher and Kayla Hayes did very well in the 800-meter run. Jessica finished fifth overall in 2:49.45, while Kayla finished sixth in 2:50:38.

In the 1600-meter run, Mournie Ramsey finished seventh overall with a personal best time of 6:27. Danielle Arnold finished 11th overall with a great time of 6:49. Mournie also placed fifth in the 3200-meter run with a time of 14:49.

The 400-meter relay team of Johnna, Theresa, Mindy and Casey Taylor finished fifth in 56:94. The 800-meter relay team of Tara, Johnna, Casey and Sheena placed fourth overall in 1:58:91. In the 1600-meter relay, Theresa, Tara, Rachelle and Sheena finished third in 4:40.

The boys' 10th place finish was highlighted by two very impressive performances by senior sprinter Dustin Crawford. Dustin ran an extremely fast race in the 100-meter dash and finished second overall with an awesome personal best time of 11:07. The effort ranks Dustin fourth in the state in Class A in the 100-meter dash. Despite his impressive 100-meter performance, Dustin's best was yet to come.

In the 200-meter dash, Dustin ran an unbelievable race and finished with the fastest time ever by an RCHS competitor in the event. His awesome time of 23:08 broke Jason Brown's previous record of 23:11 and earned him a second place finish overall. His time also ranked him fourth in the state in the 200-meter dash.

The Rockcastle County High School girls' basketball team received a $2000 check from Modern Woodmen of America, a fraternal life insurance society. District Manager Jan Gill and District Representative Peggy Baker explained that the donation was made through the local Modern Woodmen camp which sponsored a matching fund project to purchase audio/video equipment for the team. Baker said, "Modern Woodmen of America is very supportive of youth programs throughout the county, the fraternal programs make it possible to return approximately $6000 to the Rockcastle County area per year." District Manager Gill said that the local Mt. Vernon camp has been very active for several years supporting the volunteer fire department, various sports programs, and beautification programs. "We recognize the importance of community involvement and our responsibility to make a contribution toward the growth and well being of our clients and their families."

Senior Matt Smith, center, recently signed to play football at Kentucky Wesleyan College. Looking on are his parents, Roger and Miran Smith and head asst. coach Tony Saylor and head coach Tom Larkey. Eds Note: This photo is being reprinted because we incorrectly identified Mr. and Mrs. Smith as Minks in last week's paper. Our apologies.

Amanda Barnett takes off for second during the Lady Rockets win Tuesday night. The Lady Rockets have won three out of their last five games.

Second baseman Jessica Thacker goes to bat for the Lady Rockets 10-9 win over Clay County Tuesday night.

Aaron Tippin will perform in Renfro

He's been a farm hand, a welder, a pilot and has driven trucks and heavy equipment, but Aaron Tippin has found his true calling as one of country music's most admired performers. Since his debut album, "You've Got to Stand for Something" catapulted the multi-talented singer songwriter to the top of the charts he's had to make time for the weight lifting that keeps his prize winning physique in shape.

His hard work ethic has served Aaron well on the road to success. In 1987 he packed up and moved from the family farm in Greenville, South Carolina to Nashville in pursuit of a dream. He split his time between the Kentucky mill where he worked nights and 60 miles away in Nashville where he was writing songs by day. "That was a great time in my life," says Tippin. "I barely had enough money for food so I would buy a 20 pound bag of beans, that's what I had every day for lunch and dinner, but I was just so happy, I was doing what I loved."

Country music lovers will hear the influence of his musical heroes, Jimmie Rodgers, Hank Thompson, Hank Williams Sr. and Lefty Frizzell in the songs he writes and sings. Aaron wants to keep traditional country music alive. There is no place where traditional country music is more alive and well than Renfro Valley Entertainment Center where Aaron Tippin will perform in concert on Saturday night. Show times are 7:00 and 9:15 p.m.

Poet's Corner

Return to Renfro Valley

By William Jerry Ayers
Headed out for a night of entertainment, just my wife and me, Ended up at the Renfro Valley Entertainment Center you see.

For we knew the songs would be grand and the jokes up to date. Jim Gaskin was there, and as always was really great.

Listened to Susan Tomes Laws do great songs old and new. Jim and Susan's singing had everyone clapping before they were through.

Bun Wilson, as usual put a big smile on the entire audience's face. They all made us glad we had come to this friendly musical place.

Seen Alesia Robinson and Justin Rogers, the best cloggers by far. Mark Laws played the drums, and Don Guley was on the guitar.

We also enjoyed Pam Perry, Glen Thompson, Bobby Stone and the band.

Everyone laughed out loud at Jerry Isaacs the chicken man. It was as always another really great fun filled country music show. And was sorry when it came time to get up and go.

For Jim, Susan and the other performers seem like an old friend. Now if YOU are looking for some great entertainment and loads of fun.

Then take it from this writer-poet Renfro Valley is the right spot for YOU.

A Mother's Love is Like a Melody

By William Jerry Ayers
We love you more than we can ever say, that's true, That's why on this special day, we pay tribute to only you.

Because whenever one of us is really feeling low, And things seem to be moving away too slow,

That's when we always run home and straight to you, Because that's where skies always seem blue, And no matter what, you always see us through.

Mother, your love is like a melody. Without you, what would our little family do? We are so thankful that God gave us you. For when "Old Man Trouble" gets us down,

Or whenever smiles gives into frowns, All of us find ourselves turning to you once more.

You always seem to make things better, that's for sure. Your feelings for us is like a beautiful song that never dies.

We see it in the things you do and tell it in your eyes.

For, MOTHER your love is like a melody.

Mothers Say the Sweetest Things

By William Jerry Ayers
All mothers have favorite sayings which they tell their children. Below are some of them which I would like to pass on this Mother's Day.

Nature didn't make you children perfect, so she did the next best thing, she made you blind to your faults.

Be yourself. Who else is better qualified.

Kids if you look to look your best always wear a smile.

Children, you'll find there is little traffic congestion on the straight and narrow path.

My wife will never get as low as some people will stoop to get it.

The grass on the other side of the fence may look greener, but it is just as hard to cut.

When I was growing up, a naughty child was straightened out by being bent over.

A reward is never offered or given for a lost temper.

A baby is God's way of saying that the world should go on.

Mothers as you can see they are the cutest and smartest things.

We love them and may God bless them all. May they have a happy and love filled Mother's Day.

Rockcastle County Laugh Line Wrote By William Jerry Ayers Smiles are something that can be shared by one and all.

City Dude...Have you lived around Rockcastle all your life? Country Boy...Nope, not yet.

Randy...There a lot of girls around Mt. Vernon that don't want to get married.

Jim...How do you know? Randy...I've asked them. I asked a friend of mine how come his wedding ring was on the wrong finger, he said because he married the wrong woman.

The reason a dog has so many friends is that he wags his tail, not his tongue.

Sign in Rockcastle County Store—wanted a person to work eight hours to replace person who didn't.

His wife said she wanted to see the world, so he gave her a MAP.

Him...Take away this coffee it tastes like mud.

Her...Well it was GROUND this morning.

Apple growers are good to the core.

Rockcastle County Dairy men have lots of pull.

Money can't buy everything, including what it used too.

For a brighter Rockcastle County day wear a shining smile.

The infield has been completely resodded and is expected to be in good shape when the district begins on Monday.

The girl's tournament will also be held at RCHS beginning at 5:00 p.m. on the 29th.

Clay County and Jackson County will play the first game with the loser playing Rockcastle County.

Because Oneida is not playing in the girl's tournament Rockcastle drew a bye, but they must still win one game to advance to the region.

If Rockcastle loses their game, they are out and the winner of the first game goes to the region as district champs and the winner of the Rockcastle game goes as runner-up.

If Rockcastle wins, they will play the winner of the first game at 5:30 on Tuesday.

The girl's region will be held at Middlesboro High School beginning on Monday, May 29.

"Guilty"

Their penalty ranges from five years up to 20 years imprisonment.

Barbara Lovell, 27, of Mt. Vernon was also among those who pled guilty.

In April she pled guilty in Rockcastle Circuit Court to first degree assault in connection with a local murder case.

What federal time she receives will run concurrently with the ten year sentence she received in state court.

Barbara and her husband, David, were charged with the 1997 murder of Charles "Toddy" Baker, 31, of Mt. Vernon.

David Lovell was also among those charged in the federal drug round-up, but he has yet to plead guilty or be tried.

He also still faces the murder charge in Rockcastle County.

His wife Barbara, who admitted to shooting Baker, but not killing him, is expected to testify against her husband.

Brian Lovell, David and Richard Lovell's brother, was also among those charged in federal court and he is still awaiting trial.

The U.S. Attorney's office said that over $250,000 in cash, real estate and proceeds had been seized during their investigation.

Mt. Vernon STLP travels to Berea College

The 4th and 5th grade STLP (Student Technology Leadership Program) students have devoted many hours to learning about technology during this school year. As a learning experience, their sponsor, Mrs. Sharon Lovell and Mrs. Joyce Lear, traveled to Berea College to explore the exciting world of computers.

The group met their tour guide, Ms. Lora Munsey, Sociology major at Berea, at 9:00 a.m. for a walking tour of the campus and a tour of the Technology and Industrial Arts Center. Dr. Alan Mahoney showed the group how computers are being used in the areas of manufacturing and industry. Dr. Mahoney demonstrated how a computer could be used to design everything from a lamp base to an automobile. The students were then shown how the computerized design was transferred to high-tech equipment that would transform the design into an actual piece of wood or metal. The group also viewed a new type of automobile that does not have a combustible engine. Instead of a gasoline motor, the car used batteries. The group was also fortunate enough to get to see the Printing Department. Not only did they see a demonstration of making paper from recycled materials, but they also got to observe a computerized CD labeling system.

After the informative tour of the Technology center, the group visited the Geology Museum. Exhibits included arrowheads, unusual fossils, and hundreds of different rock formations. Of special interest to the group was the display of a triceratops head.

The group was very impressed with the Focault Pendulum on display in the Science Building. This pendulum demonstrates the earth's rotation.

As with any group of students, they were especially interested in the next stop on their tour...the Cafeteria. The STLP students were impressed with the array of foods available in a school cafeteria. Most made frequent use of the ice cream section.

They also enjoyed experimenting with the various flavors of soft drinks available.

The tour ended with a visit to the planetarium. Here the students not only saw an interesting review of the solar system, especially of the moon, but also got to see the technology used in this setup.

This tour of Berea College was both fun and educational for the STLP students. Students were exposed to planetary science, geology, technology and manufacturing in just one visit. Not only did they learn about all of these areas, but they also got to explore first hand some areas of study available on a college campus.

Dowell applies theories to real life situations

When Lindsay Dowell graduates from the University of Kentucky in August, she won't just know the theories of food management. She will understand their applications.

Dowell, a fifth-year dietetics student, is one of several students participating in a 10-week internship program offered by Food Services and the UK College of Human Environmental Sciences' Department of Nutrition and Food Science.

The internship lets students put their classroom studies to work while they learn new hands-on lessons. During the internship, students do everything from running cash registers to assisting with purchasing.

"There are so many things that I wasn't aware of," Dowell said. "I've learned a lot through the hands-on training."

"For instance, I know now how to work with employees and understand how important it is to have open communications."

Dowell works in the Kirwan-Building Commons under the mentoring of DeWitt King, assistant director of food services.

"This internship program gives the students a perception of what goes on in the daily business of food service," King said. "It helps them see if they do or don't want to pursue this aspect of a food service or nutrition career."

King said the interns also help keep UK Food Services running properly.

Should a regular employee be unable to come to work, he knows he can count on the interns to help out.

Recently, he asked Dowell to fill in for the regular Commons supervisor who was out sick.

"We try to seize the opportunities to learn as they arise," he said. "It is great to have a person on hand who can do all the tasks at any time."

The varied experience will be a bonus to Dowell, who will pursue a career in clinical dietetics after graduation.

Whether in a hospital, nursing home or other facility, she will know how to work with food service operations to offer her clients their best options.

"I'll have this experience behind me and that will help me understand what different food service operations do and the procedures they have to follow," she said.

"This internship has certainly made me respect food service workers more."

MVES and Pentatones collect 1,800 cans of food!

The Mt. Vernon Pentatones presented their spring concert last Friday, May 12th. The concert, entitled "Lend a Helping Hand" was in correlation to a food drive the chorus was holding. The Pentatones, along with the entire MVES student body, as well as members of the public, contributed over 1,800 cans of food! The chorus, along with Mrs. Cornelius, appreciates the hard work that everyone did to help with this drive.

Student intern Lindsay Dowell learned a lot through hands-on training with UK Food Services and mentoring from DeWitt King, assistant director of food services.

Smith named U.S. National Award winner in Math

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Shawneha N. Smith of Mt. Vernon has been named a United States National Award Winner in Mathematics.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Shawneha, who attends Rockcastle County Middle School, was nominated for this national award by Mrs. Davis, a teacher at the school.

Shawneha will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusion recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Shawneha is the daughter of Roger and Margie Smith and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Jr., all of Mt. Vernon and Darvel Rader of Connersville, Indiana and Darlene Hicks of East Bernstadt.

Cromer named National Award winner & All-American Scholar

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Scott Cromer of Mt. Vernon has been named a United States National Award Winner in English, a National Leadership and Service Award winner and obtains a 4.0 GPA.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Scott, who attends Rockcastle County Middle School, was nominated for this national award by Ms. Miller, a teacher at the school.

Scott will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

The Academy would also like to announce that Scott has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American Scholar must earn a 3.5 or higher, grand point average. Only Scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Scott was nominated for this national award by Mrs. Miller, a teacher at RCMS.

He will appear in the All-American Scholar Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy and All-American Scholar Awards winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Scott is the son of Dennis and Desiree Cromer and the grandson of Fred and Rosie Cromer, all of Mt. Vernon and Geneva Bailey and Jerry Hall, both of Lexington.
