Assemblies of God sues for property

The Kentucky District Council of The Assemblies of God has filed a lawsuit in Rockcastle Circuit Court demanding that the River of Faith Ministries at Burr to Rockcastle County either sell their property or donate it back to the council.

Local attorney John Clontz, who filed the suit on behalf of the Assemblies of God, said that in April the church's name was changed to River of Faith and that they had severed all ties with the Assemblies of God organization.

Clontz said that the original legal documents between Assemblies of God and the late founder of the local church, Marvin Hensley Sr, require that the property be sold or donated to the Assemblies of God charities.

Hensley was murdered in 1989 by a Clay County man, as he worked at his gas station in Laurel County.

The current preacher at the church, Marty White, could not be reached for comment.

River of Faith is located on Hwy. 1004 at Burr.

Christmas in the Park December 6

The Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club and others announced this week that the annual Tree Lighting Ceremony in Triangle Park, located in downtown Mt. Vernon will be December 6.

There will be Christmas carols, music by the Rockcastle County High School Band and other local musicians.

Antique carriage rides will also be available at a small cost and refreshments will be served at various locations in town, according to coordinator Carol Bryant.

The City of Mt. Vernon's Christmas Parade will follow the tree lighting ceremony, which begins at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Bryant said that any organization or church group that may want to have a float in the parade should contact her at 256-5246.

Local hospital buys church parsonage

Rockcastle Hospital Administrator Steve Estes said this week that the local hospital had purchased the First Baptist Church parsonage, which adjoins their property on Newcomb Avenue in Mt. Vernon.

The hospital paid $170,000 for the house and lot. Estes said that the hospital board is always interested in property which adjoins their facility because of the possible expansions at the hospital.

Estes, who took over a few months ago for the late Lee D. Keene, said that currently the board has no solid plans for the property.

Rockcastle Hospital is the county's largest employer with 450 employees and an annual payroll of approximately $9 million.

A First Baptist Church deacon said that the current preacher at their church, Eddie Nation, was currently building a home in Hunter Ridge Estates and would be able to move in by Christmas.

Mt. Vernon woman hurt in accident

A Mt. Vernon woman is still recovering from her injuries received in a two car accident on Main Street in Mt. Vernon.

Ruth Owens, 63, of West Main Street, was involved in one of three accidents which have occurred in virtually the same place in the last few weeks.

Mrs. Owens was hospitalized for a week, with internal injuries. Charles B. Parsons, who was the other person involved in that accident was slightly injured. Both vehicles involved in the accident were totaled.

Wet November here

Rockcastle County weatherman Bud Cox said that over four and half inches of rain has been recorded at the local weather station in November.

The most rainfall recorded in a 24 hour period has been 1.31 inches and on two other days, over an inch was recorded. Cox said that eight of the 20 days this month, rainfall has been recorded.

The low recorded temperature in November has been 24 and the high temperature has been 68.

Stories by Richard Anderkin

Phone service for many Mt. Vernon residents was interrupted on Tuesday, after an employee of a contractor working for Alltel cut a main phone line. According to workers at the site, employees were working to make improvements when the accident occurred. Employees were working on an underground cable, located behind City Hall. Some local residents and businesses did not have service until Wednesday morning.

Main phone line cut in Mt. Vernon

Mt. Vernon residents, business owners and even the Rockcastle Hospital had a rough time communicating on Tuesday and for some on Wednesday, when a main phone line was cut.

Officials at the site of the problem said that a contractor working for Alltel, which recently purchased the local telephone system from Verizon, were working to upgrade the local lines when the line was cut.

Many Main Street businesses and other businesses in the city were without phone service all day on Tuesday.

Alltel employees at the site estimated that it would initially take six to eight hours to fix the problem, but some businesses and residents still did not have service 24 hours after the line was cut.

"In my business you can't do alot without phone service," said Tammy Cox, owner of Cox Florist in Mt. Vernon.

Ms. Cox said that because of the lack of service, her business saw a 90 percent decline in the 24 hour period.

"They don't offer you any money back either," she said.

The cut line was behind City Hall in Mt. Vernon. Not all residents or businesses in the city lost service.

Early deadline for next week's paper

Dr. Orson Arvin

Local hospital honors late doctor

On Monday, November 11, the third anniversary of his death, family, friends and colleagues of Dr. Orson Arvin gathered to commemorate his life with the dedication of a portrait and bronze plaque to be placed in the entry of Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center, Inc. Dr. Arvin, who spent his entire medical career serving the people of the region, died unexpectedly while on an extended medical mission in West Africa.

"I could talk a long while about his many accomplishments," said hospital board chairman Joseph E. Lambert. "But, in summary, I believe it would be safe to say that no one individual made a greater contribution to the success of the community's healthcare and this facility than did Dr. Arvin."

Lambert shared memories of early years of the hospital, when its future was still uncertain, and how Dr. Arvin spent countless hours caring for patients and helping the facility make ends meet.

"Dr. Arvin truly cared about the people of this community and his caring was returned to him many times over by their love for him," he said.

Dr. Arvin's widow, Bettye, and his sons Tony and Tim unveiled the framed photograph and bronze plaque.

"I'm very proud of the portrait and plaque," Mrs. Arvin said. "I have a wonderful place in my heart for Mt. Vernon. I spent 25 years here and I miss everyone." The Arvins moved to Lexington following Dr. Arvin's retirement from medical practice.

Dr. Tony Arvin said, "One of my father's greatest attributes was his humility. So in a way, this is not something he would have been comfortable with. But it is a chance for us to see him on a regular basis. Thank you for being so kind to him and to us."

Family members attending the program also included Tony Arvin's wife, Rebekah and their daughter, Sydney and son, Ashton, and Tim Arvin's wife, Jeanna, and their daughters, Emma and Sarah.

The portrait and plaque will join those of Dr. George H. Griffith and William Wayne Stewart in the front entrance of the hospital. Hospital CEO Steve Estes said the wall of honor is an indication that the community and the hospital have served each other well through the years. "Rockcastle Hospital is—and always has been—the epitome of a community hospital. We respond to the needs of the community through the leadership and service of local leaders, medical professionals, and dedicated staff," he said. "It is fitting

Points East

By: The Adams

I'm not normally big on doing any Christmas shopping in advance of the season. I tend to get into the Christmas giving spirit a day or two before Christmas Eve, which is when the so-called season begins for me.

I go to the stores and buy underwear and socks and chocolate covered candies and dutifully wrap them up and put them under the tree at the very last minute, mostly because, that's when staff gets marked down by the skitters to prices that are fair and reasonable.

Sexy pantsies, for example, can be had, all over the mall, for a mere pittance of the offering price on Thanksgiving Day if you wait until like December 23rd to buy them.

"You like these 'Werners striped jobs', the clerk will ask and she will hold up for you and all the world to see, a pair of ladies underpants dyed hot pink or baby blue and cut so scantily that you wonder why any decent woman would ever be caught wearing them?"

"23 dollars a pair just last week," the clerk will say. "Ten pairs for three dollars tonight only."

It's no wonder the women in my family love me so much. I know a bargain when I see one.

I just hope they reciprocate with good wool socks.

Speaking of bargains, the best music in the world is coming out of the Mountains of Eastern Kentucky right now. My CD player is loaded with the best music I've ever heard in my life and it all originated near home. Please consider buying one of these recordings as a Christmas Present for someone you love or just give it to yourself. I promise that you will be thrilled and entertained beyond words.

My brother, Andy, was down to visit from Letcher County a week or so ago and he gave me a copy of The Master's Harmony's latest CD and it is the best new collection of gospel harmony I have ever heard in my life. A collection of mostly original, bluegrass-influenced, songs of praise, the latest album title is called Pressing Onward. This is absolutely the best, pure, mountain, gospel harmony, sweetly-seasoned with traditional instruments that you will hear in a lifetime. I'm wearing it out on my CD player and I still can't get enough. I listen to it in the morning and the evening and it's playing right now. If you want to give somebody a super present for Christmas, this is the gift of heartfelt music. This is as good as if gets. You can order the CD by sending a check or money order in the amount of $17.00 to Charlene Mason (who sings like a bird), C/O Copper Comb, P.O. Box 963, Mayking, KY 41837. (If you'd rather have a tape, the price is only $12.00).

What you can't go wrong on is purchasing some mountain music and making that your present when it comes time to pass out the gifts this year.

Over the coming weeks we will, right here in this little corner of your favorite family newspaper, introduce you to some more remarkable talent that you aren't apt to hear on the radio all that often. And if you buy it, you are gonna call and or write us and you are gonna beg us to tell you more. That I guarantee.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
On our trip from Pigeon Forge, Tennessee on Interstate 75 we had car trouble near the Mt. Vernon exit. As we were trying to decide what we should do a car backed up to us and asked if the could help. His name was Wendell Williams. He helped us get a wrecker, who arrived soon and got us to B.F. Service Station in Mt. Vernon, where our problem was taken care of very quickly. These men, Wendell Williams, William Denny and the owner of B.F. Service Station went out of their way to be helpful and friendly.

Thank you,
Sam Bennett, Delbert Ball and wives, Burgin, KY

Dear Editor,
Just to ask, will the person who took the small bronze plaque off the Army footstone of Chester F. Phillips' grave in Davis-Witt Cemetery, please take it back.

Perhaps you threw it over in the woods, tossed it over the guardrail on the hill, or took it home and put it in the garbage or perhaps you still have it, or know where it is. If you do, just take it back and put it down over the screws, and I will get new tops for it. No questions will be asked.

Yours truly,
Ruth Phillips, Berea, KY

Dear Editor,
The Rock of Ages Mission will be opening on December 2 at 9 a.m. folks, we really need your help for this to work. We would like for everyone who is interested to come in out on December 2 and see what the Mission is all about. If you are not familiar with us, what we do is for donations, we then bring the items to people in need. We have a few items at this time, but are in desperate need of beds, chairs, tables, and tables, refrigerators, cooking stoves and food.

This Mission serves' Rockcastle and surrounding counties, land is free to everyone in need. If you are able to bring an item(s) with you on the opening day, please do. You may want to be a monthly supporter and make a contribution to the Mission. In whatever way you want to help we say thank you.

This service is for the people. We really care about you we don't mean to sound like we are begging, but we just simply need everyone who will to back us up in this service. If you need help, will you please call us anytime? Please remember this date and time to attend!

Skin cancers are common on the face

Presented By: Dr. David Brabon
Skin cancers are usually easy to find. They are right on your face. The areas that catch the most sun—the lips, cheeks and nose—are the most likely areas to develop a cancer.

These cancers are called basal cell cancers and are slow-growing. They grow so slowly that a person often ignores them assuming that they are only a chronic irritation. However, any skin lesion that lasts more than a few weeks should be checked by your doctor.

It is wise to remove these cancers early. Although they do not commonly spread like other cancers, they can cause deep tissues in the nose, ears or around the eyes which will result in scarring and poorer cosmetic results.

There are a few different ways to remove these cancers. Often they are simply cut out and the skin sewed together. This will leave a small scar.

Dr. Brabon
Skin cancers are usually easy to find. They are right on your face. The areas that catch the most sun—the lips, cheeks and nose—are the most likely areas to develop a cancer.

A scar can usually be avoided by using a more complex microsurgical technique and cautery.

For precancerous skin changes, treatments that destroy the abnormal cells are quite successful. This can be done by freezing the skin with liquid nitrogen or with an anticancer lotion.

You can reduce the sun's damage to the skin and risk of skin cancers by protecting the skin with sunscreens, broad-brimmed hats and avoiding the outdoors during the peak hours of ultraviolet exposure—10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The damage from sun exposure accumulates over the years, so you should start using these protective measures at an early age.

Volunteers needed

Volunteers are needed to help other people with their taxes in the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program sponsored by Kentucky Communities EOC (K.C.E.O.C.) in Barbourville.

Volunteers provide free assistance to taxpayers who cannot afford professional tax help, particularly those who file basic returns. Volunteers assist those with special needs, including persons with disabilities, non-English speaking persons and older taxpayers.

TCEVITA assistance is provided in neighborhoods at libraries, community centers and schools which are conveniently located for taxpayers.

Interested applicants need to apply before January 20th, for free tax preparation courses scheduled thereafter. Inquire about volunteer reimbursement and mileage.

Persons interested in participating in the TCEVITA program should contact Brenda Moses of K.C.E.O. at (606)546-3152.

Local dance hall manager says rumors are destroying business

"All we're trying to do is provide a clean, orderly place for people to have fun," says Mike Gampfer, manager of Scudder's in Mt. Vernon. But Gampfer says, customers, who have been told to leave because of alcohol or drug use, have spread rumors about the dance hall until business has dropped off dramatically.

"If something doesn't change in the next three weeks, we will have no choice except to shut down," Gampfer said Tuesday.

According to the manager, attendance has dropped from about 40 people on Saturday night to three last Saturday night at the club, located in the former Hilltop Flea Market building next to Farm Bureau on U.S. 25.

The club is absolutely alcohol and drug free, Gampfer says and Jigger James Miller has visited the club and commented on the cleanliness and orderliness of the business.

"We should have shut down three weeks ago, financially," Gampfer said but the owner, Scudder Pearson of Richmond is trying to give the area somewhere to go and enjoy themselves.

Scudder's is open Thursday, Friday and Saturday night. Thursday is Karaoke night. "We have had children on Karaoke night performing and parents have also brought their children with them on Friday and Saturday nights to enjoy the country music provided by live bands," Gampfer said.

Gampfer said that when attendance dropped suddenly, he went out into the community and asked people why. His answer was that they had heard there were drugs and alcohol being used and, on question, he found out that the source of this came from people who had been told to leave because of violating the rules. "We have four security men on the premises at all time," Gampfer said, "two ex-military men, an experienced bouncer and myself."

According to Gampfer, "This is a last resort (coming to the Signal), if things don't change in the next three weeks, we will have to shut down."

Gampfer said he would welcome anyone to bring drug dogs or undercover cops to the club to prove the club is clean. Article for Business Briefs

November is National Diabetes Month

As part of the National Diabetes Month in November, the Cabinet for Health Services wants Kentuckians with diabetes to know they are at high risk for having a heart attack or stroke.

You can help to lower your risk by managing the ABCs of diabetes. A is for A1C, a test measures average blood glucose (blood sugar) over the past two to three months. B is for blood pressure and C is for cholesterol.

The Kentucky Diabetes Center and Prevention Program and the Kentucky Diabetes Network have joined with the National Diabetes Education Program (NDEP), the American Diabetes Association and the American College of Cardiology to urge the 17 million people with diabetes to manage their blood pressure and cholesterol, along with their blood glucose to help prevent heart attack and stroke-the leading killers of people with diabetes. New studies show a strong link between diabetes and heart disease and the vast majority of people with diabetes don't know about their very high risk of cardiovascular disease.

People with diabetes are urged to take care of their hearts by focusing on three numbers: blood glucose, blood pressure and cholesterol. They should ask their doctors or other health care providers three important questions:

- What are my blood glucose, blood pressure and cholesterol numbers?
- What should my target numbers be?
- What do I need to do to reach and maintain my target numbers?
- Recommended Targets:
• Blood glucose - less than 7% of the A1C test. Check at least twice a year.
- Blood pressure - below 130/80.
- Check at every doctor's visit.
- Cholesterol (LDL) - below 100.
- Check at least once a year.

The same steps needed to manage blood glucose work for managing blood pressure and cholesterol. Follow a healthy diet and get daily physical activity to avoid being overweight and take prescribed medicines. People with diabetes should also avoid smoking and ask their health care providers about aspirin therapy. The NDEP has developed patient information materials that are available in English, Spanish and several Asian and Pacific Islander languages. The materials include a record form to help people, with diabetes keep track of their blood glucose, blood pressure and cholesterol numbers. To order a free copy of these products or to learn more about managing diabetes call 1-800-438-5383 or visit NDEP's website at www.ndep.nih.gov or www.nden.nih.gov.

Adams enrolls in NAHRP

Kevin Adams, of Brodhead, has recently been enrolled in the Angus Herd Improvement Records program of the American Angus Association, reports John Crouch, executive vice president of the national breed registry organization in St. Joseph, Missouri.

Angus Herd Improvement Records (AHIR) is a comprehensive evaluation program used by registered Angus breeders to help them keep records of reproduction, and growth rate on individual animals. Each year hundreds of Angus breeders use AHIR records to produce more profitable, efficient Angus "seedstock."

By weighing calves at 205 days of age and again at a year of age, breeders not only identify the cattle that grow the fastest and most efficiently, they also identify cows that regularly produce above average calves, and bulls that sire outstanding calves.

In 1957 the American Angus Association was the first beef breeder organization to offer its members a production records program. Since that date, the AHIR program has grown to the point that breeders report more than a half million birth, weaning and yearling weights each year.

Taul & Steele attend International Equine Podiatry Center

Dr. Darren Taul (of Lancaster Veterinary Center) and Dave Steele (Farrier) recently attended a 1 week course at the International Equine Podiatry Center.

The course consisted of Lectures, Labs, and Case diagnostics/treatments of several equine foot diseases. Eight Elite Veterinary/Farrier teams from across the nation attended the course. The primary focus was surgical/shoeing approaches for severe cases of navicular disease, laminitis (founder), full depth hoof cracks and club footed horses. This course represented current and cutting edge treatments of foot problems that have plagued the equine industry using radiography, digital venography, tendon tenotomies, corrective shoeing and hoof wall replacement.

The Great American Smokeout Celebrates 26 Years on Thursday, November 21st

In 1971, Arthur P. Mullaney, of Randolph, Massachusetts, came up with a great idea. He asked his neighbors to give up cigarettes for a day and donate the money they would have spent for cigarettes to a high school scholarship fund. During the next five years the idea spread to other communities across the nation. On November 18, 1976, the California Division of the American Cancer Society persuaded nearly one million of the state's five million smokers to quit for 24 hours. A year later the American Cancer Society held the first General American Smokeout. The event became an annual tradition held on the third Thursday of November.

This year on November 15, the Great American Smokeout will celebrate its 25th anniversary. The event has had a profound effect on America's health: millions stop smoking for a day, and many of these people successfully take that farther and quit for good. It also has changed attitudes toward smoking and resulted in public policies that help keep young people from starting to smoke and protect nonsmokers from the hazards of second-hand smoke.

"When the event began, smoking was accepted as the cultural norm," said Dr. Dileep G. Bal, national president of the American Cancer Society, which has continued to sponsor the event. "Now smoking is seen for what it actually is - a killer of nearly a million Americans each year."

Smokers are encouraged to put down their cigarettes, cigars or chewing tobacco for 24 hours. Society volunteers provide smoking cessation activities at local ACS offices. Hospitals and workplaces also distribute self-help materials and information. Many communities hold rallies and parades.

To convey the message that smoking is socially unacceptable, the Great American Smokeout has been chaired by some of America's most popular celebrities including Sammy Davis, Jr., Edward Asner, Natalie Cole, Larry Hagman and former Surgeon General C. Everett Koop.

The event has been effective. For example, in 1999, 10 million Americans took the challenge. Of those participants, six percent reported they were smoking less or not at all one to five days later. That's more than 600,000 adults who have taken the first step to leading a smoke-free, healthier life. Indeed, more people quit smoking on the day of the Great American Smokeout than any other day, including New Year's Day.

"Quitting is a process and few smokers accomplish it the first time," said John R. Seffrin, Ph.D., CEO of the ACS. "Because nicotine is so addictive, most people make four or more attempts before they quit for good. The Great American Smokeout gives them an opportunity to make more than one attempt. They get encouragement from each other, so that they will be able to persevere. People also exchange tips on what helped them, so they can overcome barriers throughout the year."

The focus of the event has evolved from simply helping adults to assist in helping children and teenagers understand that they should never begin smoking in the first place.

"The earlier a person begins using tobacco, the greater the risk to his or her health," said Dr. Bal. "Of every 10 smokers, eight begin before age 18. That's why the Great American Smokeout encourages young people to think seriously about the danger in which they place themselves when they begin using tobacco products."

Young people are encouraged to sign a Great American Smokeout Pledge certificate, promising that they will lead a smoke-free life and will not use tobacco products during the Great American Smokeout.

"One of the most important accomplishments of the Great American Smokeout is that it has helped nonsmokers by giving community leaders an opportunity to exchange ideas about how to protect people from the dangers of second-hand smoke," said Dr. Seffrin.

"In 1977, Berkeley, California, became the first community to limit smoking in restaurants and other places and now other communities do so too. The Great American Smokeout has also helped highlight other ideas like workplace smoking restrictions and the federal smoking ban on all interstate buses and domestic flights of six hours or less."

However, the Great American Smokeout still faces many challenges, Dr. Bal said. An estimated 47 million adults in the U.S. currently smoke and about half will die prematurely from smoking. Lung cancer is the leading cause of cancer death for men and women. This year alone there will be about 169,500 new cases diagnosed in the U.S. more than 80 percent of lung cancers are thought to result from smoking.

"About 3,000 young people begin smoking every day, so we must continue to inform people of the dangers of smoking," Dr. Seffrin said. "More than 80 percent of smokers say they want to quit so ACS will continue to sponsor Great American Smokeout events, and on the other 364 days of the year, we will support smokers in other ways too, with self-help materials and information."

For more information about how to get involved in the Great American Smokeout, call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit the website at www.cancer.org

Maternal smoking linked to infant colic

By Suzanne Rosier
Women who smoke at least 15 cigarettes a day during pregnancy or shortly after birth may be twice as likely to have a fussy and seemingly inconsolable baby than women who do not smoke, the results of a study suggest.

The findings, published in August issue of Pediatrics, support previous studies demonstrating a link between smoking after birth and infant colic. While studies have not looked closely at the relationship between smoking during pregnancy and colic, smoking is known to affect the fetal growth and later health of a child, the researchers note.

Neither a mother's age, marital status, alcohol and caffeine intake, breast feeding habits, the child's birth weight, nor a father's smoking habits affected the risk of infant colic. Colic is defined as prolonged bouts of crying or irritability that occur more than three days a week for more than three weeks and have no known cause.

"Our study indicates that maternal smoking during pregnancy or in the postpartum period increases the risk of infant colic," according to Dr. Charlotte Sondergaard from the University of Aarhus in Denmark and colleagues. "Ante- and postnatal care that includes advice of smoking cessation is important and also might be important for preventing infant colic."

In an interview with Reuters Health, Sondergaard suggested that maternal smoking may affect the baby's gastrointestinal tract or irritate the upper respiratory airway in a way that raises the risk of colic.

She stressed, however, that the study did not examine how smoking, either during pregnancy or postnatally, affects the baby.

The study results are based on interviews with more than 1,800 women conducted during the 16th and 30th week of pregnancy and again eight months after delivery.

Women were asked about smoking and other lifestyle factors. About 30% of women were smokers of which 6% were heavy smokers. Overall, about 11% of infants had colic.

Art students attend EKU

The Art classes at Rockcastle County High School attended a trip to see a rare and special exhibition on November the 13th, hosted by the JB Speed Museum in Louisville. The exhibition was called Millet to Matisse and showed such Impressionism getting a Van Gogh, Monet, Cezanne and many other famous painters. In addition to the exhibit, they ate at Joe's Crab Shack on the river and attended an IMAX theater showing.

"The students had a wonderful experience and saw artwork they would not normally get to see up close," Les Scalf said. "I am excited about the talent many of the high school students have, so it is important to fill their minds with images and techniques from the masters to further improve their skill," he added. The students have studied the Impressionist/Post Impressionist period in class as part of the core content in Visual Art and this exhibition helps to reinforce that instruction.

Mt. Vernon Message

We are having a school wide food drive for Kenna's Kitchen on Monday, November 25. Kenna's Kitchen will be open Tuesday, November 26. Contact our Family Resource Center for more information.

Special Projects:
Our Family Resource Center sponsored a Reptile Show for all students. Students learned a lot about African Alligators, Monitor Lizards, Boa Constrictors and many other reptiles. Students enjoyed seeing these animals as the presenter often took them into the crowd.

The MVES fifth grade combined a classroom assignment with a community service project. The students did research on a career of interest. During the same time frame the entire school was invited to bring canned food items. For 2 1/2 weeks the students brought in canned food while the fifth graders really enjoyed the project. The class with the most food items won a pizza party. Way to go Mrs. Cowan! The project was a great success. The Food and Clothing Mission in town received over 840 items of food!

Entry Level students visited with the Mt. Vernon Fire Department on Thursday as the firemen brought their trucks to school.

The MVES Family Resource Center held a week of Red Ribbon activities for the school. Each day the students participated in activities and won prizes to promote Drug Awareness.

Dylan Bell was our art prize winner for the last arts block (Congratulations Dylan!).
Project Wisdom readers for the weeks of Nov. 6-8 are as follows: Megan Perkins, student, Carly McClure, student and Thana Connelly, arts and humanities teacher, was our mystery reader.
Project Wisdom readers for last week are as follows: Dillon Asher, Nikki Wilson, James Hensley and Chelsea Whiteley, students and Becky Daugherty, technology, was our mystery reader. Thanks to all who have participated in this project.

Our quote for this week is "Success doesn't come to you - you go get it!"

Book Fair
MVES will host a Scholastic Book Fair Monday through Friday, December 2-6. This is a fun-filled book sale and literacy event geared to excite our children about reading and learning. The Scholastic Book Fair offers popular books and educational projects for all ages. Parents, students, teachers and the entire community are invited to "Lasso a Great Book" at the Reading Roundup, the theme of our book fair.

The book fair will be open each day from 8:30 to 3:00 in our Library Media Center. MVES students will visit the book fair during their regularly scheduled library class. Students may visit the book fair at other times with teacher permission. Parents and members of the Community are invited to attend the book fair from 2:00 to 3:00 each day.

In addition to being able to purchase some great books from Scholastic, our classes will be competing for a Popcorn & Movie party for their class. One class in Primary and one class in the Intermediate level will win a popcorn and movie. The winners will be determined by the total purchase for each class, which will be totaled at the end of the book fair.

One of the book fair's primary goals is to help teachers build classroom libraries. Visitors to the fair can check each teacher's Classroom Wish List, then purchase and donate a requested book to their child's class. Scholastic will give each teacher one book title of their choice from their Classroom Wish List if parents also purchase some of the titles.

In addition, MVES will use proceeds from the book fair to purchase essential classroom resources and support school project. We would like to invite our parents and interested community members to visit our "Reading Roundup" book fair.

Rockets beat Boyd Co. 37-0 in "mud bowl"

The Rockcastle County Rockets continued their quest for that first state championship in football on Friday night with a 37-0 win over Boyd County.

A game which will no doubt always be remembered as the mud bowl because of the field conditions, was dominated by the Rocket offensive and defensive lines.

The Rocket defense held Boyd County to a minus 21 yards and racked-up 384 yards on offense.

Tailback Marty Reagan had another great game for the Rockets picking up 204 yards on 16 carries. Fullback Clell Swinney also played extremely well in the mud and muck, picking up 80 yards on just eight carries. He also caught three passes for 30 yards. Michael Hayes also caught a key pass in the first half for 14 yards.

Junior Caleb Blair had 45 yards on four carries and quarterback Aaron Anderkin carried the ball three times for five yards. He was also four for seven passing, for 44 yards. The weather and field conditions made it almost impossible to throw the ball, but center Jared Rice, Anderkin and the rest of the receivers and backs did a very good job holding on to the ball, which at times was completely mud covered as were most of the Rockets.

Long snapper J.T. Lovell and punter and kicker Devin Taylor did a very good job as well of holding on to the football.

"We had the worst field conditions on Friday night that a Rockcastle County team has played in since 1995, which was during the playoffs here with Boyle County," said head-coach Tom Larkey.

Larkey, who had been hospitalized earlier in the week, braved the cold, wet and muddy conditions to lead his team to their 11th straight win of the season.

"Our running game was superb, thanks to our offensive line and the determined running of Reagan and Swinney," Larkey said.

Defensive coordinator Tony Saylor said that he was pleased with his defensive team's performance because Boyd County had one of the better offensive teams in the region.

"Our kids were prepared and focused - what can you say when you hold a team to minus yardage," Saylor said with a grin on his face.

Although the playing conditions were so terrible, Boyd County had only one turnover, that was an interception by Reagan. He also had four tackles and assists.

Reagan also gave Boyd County their only turnover when he fumbled on a punt return.

Defensively lineman Benny Northern had nine tackles and assists and a sack.

Junior Jason Leger, who is still recovering from broken foot earlier in the year had a sack and five tackles and assists.

Middle linebacker, sophomore Chris Croucher had ten tackles and assists and picked up three sacks.

Stephen Borring had six tackles and assists and Michael Brummett had three sacks as well as five tackles and assists.

Tanner Abney also had a sack and four tackles and assists. James Michael Bussell picked up a sack in the end zone for a safety and the also had three tackles and assists.

Devon Bussell had two tackles and assists, Taylor had two tackles and assists, Blair had a tackle as did senior Doug French and junior Nick Thomas.

Reagan scored four of the Rockets five touchdowns, all in the first quarter.

Blair scored the last touchdown of the game in the fourth period.

Taylor was three for four in extra point kicks.

The Rockets, who finished runners-up in the state last year in Class 3A will face the Bell County Bobcats on Friday night for the second time this season.

Bell County defeated Ashland last week 14-12 and are coached by the infamous Dudley Hilton, who has two state championships to his credit.

Two weeks ago, the Rockets defeated Bell County for the fourth straight time in a roll and the third straight time with Hilton at the helm.

"We've got to be at the top of our game and as always we cannot turn over the ball, because it will be such a tough game," Larkey said.

If Rockcastle is able to win on Friday night it would make the third straight regional championship for them and they would host the state semi-final game the next week against Fort Thomas Highlands or Lexington Catholics.

"According to Larkey and Saylor it will take a flawless performance by the Rockets for that to happen. Game time at the ROCK is 7:30 p.m.

The Rocket football players were not the only ones to brave the wet and cold weather on Friday. The RCHS Color Guard performed to two songs at half-time.

Some more muddy men on Friday night were seniors. Michael Brummett, Stephen Boring and Michael Hayes.

Rock vs. Lions
 Written by: Preston Parrett
 The Rock continued their onslaught. Towards winning the regional crown. On a field that was a quagmire. As all day the rain kept coming down.

Rock hard fans came floating in. And on this you can just -em. That when the game was over. They left with a soggy bottom.

The game got underway. With the Rock having the ball. Then-Marty Reagan on a fifty-two yard run. Was just too fast for the Lions to over-haul.

The Rock had posse defense held the Lions. And they got the ball once more. Then Marty, splattering water and mud. Carried it in for a seven yard score.

The Lions couldn't get anything going.

The game was scoreless in the third

ing
 And the Rock got the ball again. Marty on a fifty yard run. Carried the mail on in.

The game was still in the first quarter. When Marty scored his fourth TD of the night. He plunged over from seven yards out. And that really put out the Lions' light.

At half-time the score was 28-0. And the field was a watery, slippery mess. The only thing that looked worse. Was the writer of this. -Old Press.

Field lines had been obliterated. Some player's numbers couldn't be seen. But the Rock kept on Rocking. Showing that they're a fighting machine.

But James Bussell came up with a safety for a two-point score. Then Caleb Blair on a forty-one yard run. Added six points more.

The Rock Gridiron Warriors had fought Like Gladiators of old. As they fought the elements and Lions. In a battle for the cup of gold.

The Rock defensive and offensive lines. Really do a job that is great. That's the reason they pitch shut-outs. And are among the top scoring leaders in the state.

Congrats to coaches, players and support cast. For all your winning ways. You really make us proud of all you. And that's why we sing your praises.

On Monday, Rockcastle County High School senior Aaron Anderkin signed a national letter of intent to play baseball at Eastern Kentucky University. Anderkin has played at RCHS since he was an eighth grader, with a career record of 17-4. Last year he had an earned run average of 1.7. As a sophomore, he went the distance in a 6-2 game, in which he beat Boyd County, a team that won the Kentucky State Championship that season. Anderkin, who is also the Rocket quarterback, plays basketball at RCHS and is the Governor of the state's senior Kentucky Youth Assembly. He is shown above, from left with RCHS Head baseball coach J.D. Bussell and his parents Clady and Rick Anderkin. Anderkin will join former RCHS players Derrick Bussell and Greg Harper on Eastern's squad.

Gradsops Mink would play music.

We had so much fun. Lots of other friends would drop in to eat. All their husbands, wives and family would come and join in. All their children would come and have a wonderful time.

In Loving Memory of Thomas William Kirby, who passed away 16 years ago November 22, 1986

There are days I close my eyes. And pretend you are still here. But all that's left are the memories. And to each I hold so dear.

If God would open heaven's doors For me, for just one day I could finally tell you All the things I never Had the chance to say

I would walk with you through clouds As the angels guided our road

To tell you how much you've been missed

And how much we have all grown

But most of all, I would thank you For having each of us a piece of your heart Because without your love and your strength We would have never been able to part

We feel your arms waiting To one day welcome us home, but for today, Your love, your memory will forever live on

Loved and very sadly missed by wife, Marian; daughter, Vicki; sons, Tommy, Jr. and Shane; grandsons, Zachary, Joshua and Weston; granddaughters, Jerica, Leanne, Bethany, Rebekah, Lyndsay, Ruthann and Lily Mae; mother, Bessie; brother, Paul; sisters, Lois, Dot, Villa, Lucy, Lorenze, Sue & Jenny

In Loving Memories

In Memory of Carrie Barnett Eleven years has past and gone since you went away to that long home.

But I think of you as resting from your sorrows and tears in a place of warmth and comfort where there are no days and years. I think of how you must be wishing that we could know today. How nothing, but our sadness can really pass away.

I think of you as living in the hearts of those you touched. For nothing living is ever lost. Because we love you so very much. Sadly missed by your family

In Memory of Thanksgiving By: Lora J. Hamilton Everyone will be celebrating Thanksgiving Day. How happy they will be so were the pilgrims too. Wonder what we will be doing when the Lord comes back?

I want to be the first one to shake his hand on the land or sea, that will be wonderful for me. As we all wonder to and fro, wondering where to go, but Christ was always standing at the end of the road. That's where I wanted to go.

If I could shake His hand and see His face, all my burdens would roll away. I can almost see Him now. He will not leave me alone. So all my hope is built on my master, how thankful the pilgrims were. So we have better keep on the foreign line. Keep on holding to the Master's hand. As the saints go marching in. There me and my family come marching in! With all the beauty I behold, everyone will have on slippers of gold.

In Loving Memory of our Mother & Grandmother, Willie "Shug" Todd, who departed this life on November 22, 2000. We love & miss you so very much. Your children & grandchildren

"What Saith the Scriptures"

We read in Rom. 6:17-18, "But God be thanked, that ye were the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered you. Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness." That form of doctrine was described earlier in this chapter. In verses 3-5 "Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in the newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection." The death, burial and resurrection of Jesus is the foundation that the church is built upon. Even so must we, in believing these facts, go through a death, burial and resurrection ourselves in obeying the gospel. It is the same in form and pattern, a death, burial and resurrection. And when we obey from the heart this form of doctrine, it is that we become free from sin, not before! Have you been made free from sin?

The Family Room

By Dr. Roy Don Whitehead

Grief at the Holidays
 "I don't know how I'll make it through the holidays," Sarah said. (All characters are fictitious.) "It's been six months since Mom died, and this will be the first Christmas without her. I have no desire to do any Christmas shopping or to decorate the house. I know my kids expect it, but I just don't want to. Maybe I should be over her death by now, but I'm not."
 Sarah has a misconception about grief that needs to be laid to rest. The misconception is that the "should be over it" by now. Six months is a short time in the grieving process. Grief takes much longer than this to subside.
 There is no way to be back to any where near normal in less than a year. Even after the first year there is more grieving to be done.

Dr. Edward T. Creagan, an oncologist at Mayo Clinic, has some thoughts on the grieving process. "We grieve alone, but we heal in community." No one can do my grieving for me. The pain of losing someone must walk through myself. A community of support does help the healing process, however. That community may be family, church, friends, coworkers or anyone else whose love and concern help me to heal.
 "Defer major decisions." The time immediately following the death of someone close is not a good time to sell the farm, retire, get married or quit a job. Grief affects my ability to make decisions. When grieving I see everything through the lens of my loss, and this may skew my perceptions.
 There are times when it is impossible to avoid making a major decision, but for the most part, those should be postponed until later.
 "Grief takes work." The grief process is hard on the human body. It takes a lot of energy to grieve. I need to eat healthy and get plenty of rest so that I can endure. If I cannot sleep or eat, then I need to see my doctor and discuss the matter with him or her.
 "Time does not heal all wounds." Whoever claimed that time heals all wounds was mistaken. Time does ease the pain somewhat. That searing, stabbing pain of the first few months does grow less intense, but the pain is still there. Ask someone who lost a child fifty years ago if the pain is totally gone.
 How can I make it through the holidays while I am grieving? Rely on those who are closest to me. While I may want to go to bed and pull the covers over my head, this is not a good idea. In the long run this will make the pain worse. I need to seek out those people who love and support me. They are the ones who

Protecting Children's Health

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent for Family and Consumer Sciences

Children, especially young ones, are just naturally curious and often explore potentially hazardous things in and around their homes. Curiosity, along with other factors, can put children at an increased risk from environmental health hazards.

Children have a higher risk than adults because the youngsters are still growing inside. Young organs and developing immune systems are less able to combat hazardous substances. Plus, children consume more air, food and liquids per pound of body weight than adults.

Environmental health hazards for children in and around the home include toxic household chemicals, pesticides, lead in paint and air pollution.

Common household products such as bleach, oven, toilet and drain cleaners and paint products can contain toxic chemicals. A number of products also contain pesticides including bug spray, flea collars, garden weed and pest killers and rat poison. To reduce the need for pesticides in and around your home, eliminate food and water that attract pests, block their entry to your home, and use baits and traps as alternatives.

The number for the Poison Control Center is 1-800-222-1222; post it near your telephone. To protect children, always follow the label directions when you use household products and pesticides and be sure to store products in locked cabinets out of children's reach.

Homes built before 1978 might contain lead paint. Keep everything clean to help protect children from lead in paint. Regularly mop floors; wet-wipe window ledges, and wash children's toys, bottles and pacifiers in hot, soapy water. If paint is peeling or chipping, consider hiring a certified contractor to permanently wall up the paint or remove it.

Air pollution, including mold and tobacco smoke, can cause health hazards for children by triggering asthma and causing breathing problems or ear infections. To protect your children, keep your home clean, especially carpets and floors; control moisture to help prevent mold; and keep pets outdoors, or out of bedrooms. Limit children's time outdoors when ozone is high.

If possible, make your home and automobile smoke-free zones and discourage others from smoking around children. If someone does smoke in your home, open windows or use exhaust fans to remove the smoke and circulate air in the home.

Other environmental hazards include radon, carbon monoxide, unsafe drinking water and excessive sun exposure.

Radon, a radioactive gas that can cause lung cancer, enters your home through cracks in the foundation, porous cinder blocks and granite walls. To protect your family, have the home tested for radon and take action to reduce unsafe levels.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless, tasteless gas produced by vehicle exhausts and appliances like gas heaters, water heaters, furnaces, stoves and dryers. Install a carbon monoxide detector near sleeping areas and have furnaces, flues, chimneys and fuel-burning appliances checked annually.

Safe drinking water is important to good health. Have a well or spring used for drinking water tested once a year. If you're building or buying a new house, be sure the water source is as far as possible from the septic tank and any other potential pollution sources.

Bad sunburn before age 18 increases the risk of skin cancer later in life. To protect your children, keep infants under six months out of direct sunlight and use a sunscreen with a Sun Protection Factor of 15 or higher on children more than six months old. Always dress children in light-colored, firmly woven clothing with a full-brim hat and well fitting sunglasses.
