Two killed in fiery wreck on interstate

Two people, believed to be husband and wife, were killed and another seriously injured in an interstate crash Monday night that sparked a massive hazardous materials containment operation.

Police evacuated a one-mile area around the accident scene, most of whom were in Rockcastle County. It was a few hours before rescue workers were able to approach the burning remains of an overturned tractor-trailer hauling the volatile chemical sodium hydrosulfite.

The three victims remained unidentified at press time on Wednesday.

Just after 11:40 p.m. Monday night, emergency personnel were notified of a two-vehicle collision in the northbound lane of Interstate 75, at the Rockcastle River bridge, just past the KY 909 exit at mile marker 49. A Cadillac passenger car and the tractor-trailer were both traveling north when they collided, causing the truck to overturn down an embankment.

The truck burst into flames, igniting the hillside and numerous containers filled with sodium hydrosulfite.

Police believe the tractor-trailer, which was hauling huge 9,000-pound containers, belongs to Climax Transportation, located out of the Carolinas, and may have been headed to Osh Kosh, Wisconsin, according to Rockcastle Director of Emergency Services Hal Holbrook.

At least two of the containers were on fire.

A company spokesman told media representatives that there were two people in the truck, which was hauling 44,500 pounds of a crystallized form of the chemical.

Around noon on Tuesday it was confirmed that two bodies were discovered amid the truck's wreckage.

The driver of the Cadillac had to be extricated from his mangled vehicle by members of the London-Laurel County Rescue Squad, who were forced to wear self-contained breathing apparatus to work near the toxic chemical. He was airlifted from the scene by LifeNet air-medical services and taken to the University of Kentucky Medical Center, where he was listed in good condition Tuesday.

Sodium hydrosulfite is used in numerous household products, including film, wine, cleaners, expensive paper, leather goods, water treatment, and colored fabrics.

According to the Emergency Response Guidebook, it reacts violently with water, forcing emergency and hazardous materials personnel to attempt to extinguish the blaze with sand or other dry chemical. Fire involving sodium hydrosulfite produces irritating, corrosive and toxic gases, the inhalation of which could cause serious injury or death. Touching the substance is likely to cause serious burns.

Thousands of interstate travelers were re-routed Monday night and throughout Tuesday afternoon, as workers attempted to contain the burning chemical.

Interstate traffic was blocked from the north London interchange at KY 80 to the 59 mile marker near Mt. Vernon.

Police also stopped traffic on U.S. 25 for several hours because of its proximity to the accident scene. Motorists were directed west on KY 80 to KY 461 in the Shopville area of Pulaski County, then onto KY 461 to Mt. Vernon — a better than 30-mile route.

On Wednesday morning one lane of northbound I-75 had been opened. Tuesday afternoon both southbound lanes of I-75 were opened back up, after being closed for 14 hours.

Several of those trapped on the interstate during initial evacuation procedures were taken by local RTCC buses to local motels until it was deemed safe for them to return to their vehicles, that according to Kentucky State Police Public Affairs' officer Craig Sutton.

Local police and members of the Mt. Vernon fire department, who assisted in traffic control, stopped northbound traffic on Hwy. 25 at the Burr interchange because they considered it a dangerous situation for motorists because of the thousands of motorists who were being re-routed to southbound U.S. 25.

Police were taken minutes after the northbound lane of 25 was re-opened an accident occurred when an East Bernstadt man pulled in front of a D.P. coil truck as he exited the interstate. Kevin Gibbons of Mt. Vernon was traveling north and was unable to avoid the collision, which was clearly caused by the driver of the mini-van. No one was seriously injured, but minor damage was noted.

Hwy. 461 from Somerset to Mt. Vernon was also a slow go Tuesday, with at times a 15 mile back up for motorists traveling from Somerset to Mt. Vernon and at times a ten mile back up for motorists traveling from Mt. Vernon to Somerset.

Information for this story was taken primarily from the Sentinel-Echo in London.

Arrest made

An Orlando man has been arrested in the March 20th robbery at the home of Louise Johnson in the Maple Grove area.

Justin Cody Witt, 21, of R. 1, Orlando has been charged with robbery, first degree and is lodged in the Rockcastle County Jail on a $20,000 (10% cash bond).

The case will be presented to a Rockcastle Grand Jury for indictment in April.

Rockcastle Sheriff's Department detective Matt Bryant said that another suspect is expected to be charged in the case.

The arrest was a joint effort of the Rockcastle Co. Sheriff's Department and the Kentucky State Police.

Both lanes of I-75 were closed Monday night and Tuesday for several hours after a fiery crash around 11:40 p.m., at the Rockcastle - Laurel County line. Above, rescue workers remove the driver of the Cadillac, which was involved with the transfer truck hauling the toxic chemical, which is shown on fire, in the middle photo. Shortly after Hwy. 25 was re-opened near the Burr exit, a wreck occurred when a mini-van driven by a Laurel County man pulled into the path of a coil truck driven by Kevin Gibbons of Mt. Vernon. No one was seriously injured. The mini-van was a total loss. The northbound lanes were shut-down again on Wednesday, but the southbound lanes remained open.

Vernon will host a cook-out with entertainment for all who donated time, prizes or other donations. This will begin around 3 p.m. and will be held at the boat dock.

Mt. Vernon City Council plans new "camping" ordinance for lake area Residents of Lake Linville Road and members of the Rockcastle Kiwanis Club were at Monday night's meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council to request that an area, located near the boat dock at Lake Linville be renovated as a park and that camping be banned, except at the campground.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hampton, who live near the dock, told the council that people were using the area across from their home as a campsite and boat docking area, setting up tents for days at a time and leaving the area very messy for others, primarily the Hamptons, to clean up.

Mr. Hampton said he had cleaned up and mowed an area of about five hundred feet between the road and the lake. Since he had done that, he said it seemed that those using the site had attempted to keep the area clean. "I think when people see that something is nice and clean, they will try to keep it clean," Mr. Hampton said. He said there was more to the site that needed cleaning up.

EMA/CSEPP needs your help

Rockcastle County Emergency Management Agency/Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program (EMA/CSEPP) will be conducting a telephone survey beginning Monday, April 12th. The agency wants you to know that you may be called to participate in this important survey. This is not a sales call. The questions asked will center on emergency preparedness issues in the Blue Grass area.

The survey has been approved by

Troy Hansel, local artist and craftsman, presented the council with a watercolor drawing of the area showing what the area could look like if a cable were installed across it to keep anyone from pulling cars, campers and boats into the area but still allow fishing from the site. Mr. Hansel's drawing depicted a concrete slab, with a concrete roof to be added, for picnic tables, etc. and an area graveled for parking.

However, Gary and Gertha Minks, representing the local Kiwanis Club, told the council the club would rather put a gazebo on the property with funds from the club and matching funds from Modern Woodmen. The gazebo will seat about 20; the Minks said.

The council passed a motion to re-write a city ordinance which will prohibit camping in the lake area except at the campground. Monday night's meeting was considered the first reading for the revised ordinance and a special meeting, set for April 19th, will constitute the second reading and the council will be called upon to pass it.

If you are called, your cooperation would be greatly appreciated. This is your chance to help in your community preparedness.

For further information, contact EMA/CSEPP office, 606-256-8436.

passage of the revised ordinance.

As to the plan for the area in question on the lake, the council, upon agreement with the plan, decided to hold off on official approval until they can check on insurance and other legalities.

Mt. Vernon Chief of Police Terry Jackson reported to the council that there were now seven full time police officers with the eighth hired this week. This officer will begin training April 19th and the department will be at full strength by August.

The chief also reported on a grant which the department received that is allowing for Mobile Data Terminals (MDTs) to be installed in city police vehicles. These terminals provide a direct link to data programs that give officers information on plates, drivers licenses, warrant inquiries, etc. The cost is about $10,000 per car and should be installed within four to six weeks, Jackson said.

Money for the equipment came through Cong. Harold Rogers' office in the form of a federal grant.

The chief also reported that complaints had already started on in Mt. Vernon about after-hours parking which leaves litter (including broken glass) for property owners to clean up.

Jackson said he, and his officers, would be patrolling the areas and issuing warning tickets for the first offense only.

Jackson also told the council that nine Glock pistols had been ordered for the department along with new nylon duty gear and new summer uniforms, all paid for with federal

by J.J. Cook

Last week, I had noted the wedding fiasco with the wedding cake being in the '70s. That triggered a memory about a story, which happened to two great grandsons and a great-aunt by marriage back in the Depression Era.

The two uncles were my Grandma Norton's brothers, and the aunt was her sister-in-law. The uncles as well as my Grandma grew up in a small community just outside of Clairfield, Tennessee just over the Tennessee line past Middleboro, Kentucky.

The eldest of the two uncles was Frank, a short, stocky man about thirty who had a reputation for playing practical jokes and living for humor. He was married to Dorothy, a petite woman who was rather serious and didn't like much idleness or excessive humor. He had been raised a Baptist, and she was a very strict Pentecost. They had two young boys.

Jobs were scarce during the Depression, as you know. So Frank thought that he would move his family from Clairfield to Corbin, Kentucky in hopes of finding a better job. There was a Clover Top Bakery looking to hire men for the third shift at seven dollars a week. The Clover Top Bakery was a small, family-owned business on Main Street that was open six days a week, and provided most of the baked goods for the whole town of Corbin. There was only one opening left, and in order to get it, Frank offered to work for six dollars a week. He figured that six dollars was better than nothing, and better than what he had left.

He got the job at the bakery, and he worked there for several months. Things seemed to be going fairly well, although they did suffer a few setbacks. They even had their new living room and bedroom suffers repossessed.

One Friday night, Frank's younger brother, Raymond came to town to spend the weekend and brought his best huntin' buddy, Bob along. Raymond was in his early twenties, was tall and lanky, and full of mischief. This pretty much described Bob, as well. Raymond and Bob were coal miners from back in Clairfield, and in their spare time, lived to hunt. Raymond and Bob got off of the bus at the bus station about midnight about two or three blocks from the Clover Top Bakery where Frank worked. Dorothy was expecting their arrival, but they decided to drop by the bakery to pay Frank a visit before setting in for the night. Frank's house was no more than seven or eight blocks from the bus station as well as the bakery.

When they got to the bakery, it was about break-time, so Frank and his guests took supper-break together. Raymond and Bob didn't bring along anything to eat, but packed deep within their suitcases, each had about a gallon jug of moonshine.

They broke out their jugs and started to do a little bit of "suppin'". As fate would have it, everybody else had to have a little sip, too. Break-time ended, but there just wasn't much desire on the part of this third shift to return to work.

An hour or so had passed, and by this time, Frank, Raymond, Bob, and about a dozen or more bakers were "purely plastered". They had even forgotten about the baked goods left in the oven at the beginning of break-time and almost let the bakery burn down. It is at about this point when the pie-fight began. I've heard these uncles tell this story, and they estimate that "way over three hundred pies" lost their lives that night. When the pies were all gone, they started out with the cakes. This kind of activity continued until even the doughnuts had been flung at someone.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

It is no coincidence that Kentucky is involved in "partisan politics" over an issue which should have no political affiliation associated with it, an issue which should be near and dear to everyone who calls him- or herself a member of the human race. I am talking about the marriage amendment to the Kentucky constitution which has occupied the thoughts, efforts and vocalizations of many supporters in Frankfort these last several weeks.

As Kentuckians, and as Americans (note the Federal Marriage Amendment), we should all be concerned about those our society claims to "put first" -- our children and their future. What future is there but chaos if no stable marriages are found as they have for centuries since time began?

We need to search our hearts on this one, Kentucky. It just might be a matter which will motivate every one of us to call Mr. Ford (and every other representative in Frankfort) before Monday morning when this issue is likely to be voted on during the couple of days when our legislators meet for governor's vetoes and matters qualifying for rule suspensions (they have a chance to re-nub and undo actions which were not well-considered before "spring break").

Speak out, Kentucky, and really put children first.

Dear Editor,

After reading the article "RCHS Senior gets appointment to U.S. Naval Academy" in last week's Signal, I felt there were some points that absolutely required further explanation: points that should have made clearer in the interview and hopefully can make up for in this letter.

First, the desire to serve has been instilled in me from an early age by both my mother and my father. Both, through their continual lectures and consistent behaviors, have taught me that humans were not created to simply serve themselves and their own little "empires," rather, we were created to live and work selflessly together -- giving time, energy and patience freely to each other in support of that greater good, as defined by each individual (to me, it is making the world a safer place while protecting freedom and liberty, honor and courage). My parents have taught me that a traditional, oversimplified life is a wasted life if one is not making a real, positive difference in the lives of others.

The method of each service was provided by the memory of my grandfather, Lt. Commander Frederic G. Kurz (USN), as well as the living examples of my uncle, Capt. William C. Kurz (USN Ret.) and father John Guilfoif (USMC), who is a Vietnam veteran and absolute epitomizes the dedicated public servant. Each of the aforementioned individuals gave his country all of himself, making sacrifices and accomplishing feats that most Americans don't have the depth to even dream of. All of these men were, are, to me, heroes, and I hope I can be half the person they were are.

Secondly, I did not want to go to the academy because it is an "honor to go there," I wanted to go because it is a place of honor, courage and commitment and because I will graduate ready to be a leader, in service of my country and all we stand for. The United States Naval Academy is "different" in that from the

I'm not talking about college kids because we only have half a dozen or so of those and they are in Cancun or somewhere in Florida running naked on the beach and chugging beer, bless their hearts.

I actually had a mother of one of our finest families tell me today that her daughter was in Daytona Beach on spring break this week helping sea turtles lay eggs. I swear I'm not lying.

That's a good line and Mom swallowed it along with the hook and sinker. She explained all this to me while she was telling the bank teller to up the kid's credit card limit--just this month--from $500 to $3,000 to help protect the turtles this one time.

God knows them turtles need all the help they can get. Like a turtle in it's right mind would come within a hundred miles of Daytona Beach anytime, much less April.

But hey, who knows? Maybe turtles like Maker's Mark and Wild Turkey. Maybe sea turtles love a keg of beer as much as your average college kid.

I just wish I had a $500 monthly allowance. Heck, for $3,000 I'd go down the Baja and save some whales with some Mexican beer and spend three months doing it instead of a week. And still have a good time while I was doing my philanthropic duty.

But spring break is more than college stuff. What I'm really talking about is your regular middle school kids in the ten to fifteen year-old range and the Paint Lick community is covered up with them.

Tons of energy. Hormone city. You'd think they'd been in prison these last three months, because they ride their bikes at breakneck speed up and down the roads or they just run about for the sheer joy of freedom. You have to be careful, this week, when you are driving on the Ole Railroad Grade or down White Lick, because you may hit one doing cartwheels down the middle of the road. They are everywhere.

And more reluctant to get out of the road than a polecat or a possum. I swear I almost did hit one this morning and I was driving slow.

Sinus Infections

Presented by: Dr. Karen Saylor

When colds and other viruses are going around, the sinuses can get into a lot of trouble. The sinuses normally secrete mucus to help moisten the air you breathe and to trap pollution and particles of dirt. When viruses, allergies, or weather changes cause congestion, the sinuses cannot work properly.

The sinus openings become blocked and pressure builds up. The normal secretions accumulate and the bacteria can multiply since the body cannot easily remove them from the plugged nose and sinuses. Then the mucus becomes thicker, and the color turns to yellow or gray--an infection has started.

The infections may cause pain in the cheeks and along the sides of the nose. There is often a fever and pain in the teeth, especially the upper molars.

What can you do to prevent or treat sinus infections? It is useful to open the nasal airways with decongestants, such as pseudoephedrine. Antihistamines are often used, especially if allergies are involved. You should also raise the humidity in the house and drink plenty of warm liquids to keep the secretions thin.

Cigarette smoke paralyzes and eventually kills the cilia which sweep the sinuses clear of mucus. This damage from smoking allows the mucus to build up, and the amount of secretions is increased because of the irritants in smoke. Always avoid smoking.

When a bacterial infection develops, you will usually need antibiotics to help clear it up. It may take a prolonged course of antibiotics or a change of antibiotics if there is a slow response. Cortisone nasal sprays may be useful depending on the cause of the sinus infection. Viral infections, of course, do not respond to antibiotics, open and bringing him to the hospital as soon as possible.

Cards of Thanks

Milton Adams

We, the family of Milton Adams, would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the people who were there for us during the death of our loved ones.

Thanks to the nurses and staff at the V.A. Hospital, to McKnight Funeral Home for the wonderful job they did, to Tommy Tom, Wendell Charles, Everett and Cecil Gibbons for the wonderful job they did and to Marsha's Florist for everything she did.

We also want to express our thanks to Bro. Cecil Roundtree for doing a wonderful job with the service and for his visits. We also want to express our deep appreciation to everyone who sent cards, gave money, flowers or food for being there for us in our time of loss.

The Family of Milton Adams

Thanks! Thanks!

"The better part of one's life is his or her friendships," Abraham Lincoln. This is so true.

I have been overwhelmed with love and kindness, since my car accident March 3, 2004. Friends and family have shown they care in so many ways. I just want to express my love and appreciation and say "Thanks" to each and everyone who has sent up a prayer, made a phone call, came by to wish me well, sent a card, sent flowers and gifts, brought food or just kept me in your thoughts. I have been truly blessed.

Thanks to all the Good Samaritans who were there to help - the special truck driver, the Broadhead Fire Dept., Larry Gooch, Harry Harmon, the ambulance driver, Judy Baker and many others.

My thankfulness would not be complete unless I mentioned the wonderful hospital facilities we have in Rockcastle County. We are very fortunate to have such a great hospital, doctors and caring employees.

In Loving Memory

In Memory of Bobby Bullock

April 13, 2003

A year has passed since you left us. But it seems like yesterday. This year has been so lonely. Since you went away.

You were my eyes to help me see. My ears to help me hear. And though I cannot see you now I always know you're near.

I know you were discouraged. The way you had to live. I tried to make it better. By giving all I had to give.

I can hardly wait to see you. And hearing you saying softly "Ruby, I'm glad you're finally home."

Sadly missed by your wife, Ruby, and all your family.

In Memory of Artie Cash

Your mother is always with you. She's the whisper of the leaves as you walk down the street.

She's the smell of certain foods you remember. She's the cool hand on your brow when you're not feeling well.

She's the sound of the rain that lulls you to sleep. The color of a rainbow, she is Christmas mornings.

She's your first love and first friend. But nothing on earth can separate you. Not time, nor space and not even death.

A Mother like ours is more than a memory.

Briarfield Cemetery

It's that time again! Time to get our cemetery all cleaned up and mowed before Memorial Day.

We are getting very low on funds for the upkeep of the cemetery. Please get your donations in the mail soon. Make your check to: Briarfield Cemetery Fund. Send to Roger Ely, caretaker, Rt. 1, Box 232, Orlando, KY 40460.

Roger Ely has agreed to take the job of being caretaker of the Briarfield Cemetery. He has been helping with the upkeep for the last few years. He can be reached at his home at 606-256-5283.

Edward Baker has been caretaker since 1985. He has worked hard and made lots of improvements over the years. This was all done with donations from people who had loved ones buried in Briarfield Cemetery. Edward decided it was time for him to step down and let a younger man take over the caretaker responsibility. He thinks Roger is the man for the job because he has shown an interest in helping him over the years and is a fine young man.

Roger will need your continued support with donations by mail or in person at the cemetery during the Memorial holiday weekend.

We are looking forward to our annual potluck dinner at the Briarfield. This date will be Sunday, May 30th at 1:30. Plan to be there. Bring your lawn chair and a covered dish.

Home Spring Cleaning Tips

Family and Consumer Sciences

Hazel Jackson
Rockcastle County Extension Office

Many of us thoroughly clean our homes at least once a year. This may include cleaning upholstery, shampooing carpets, polishing floors, and washing woodwork, window sills and door frame tops. Spring is a common season to roll up our sleeves and get busy on these tasks.

Becoming organized will make a top-to-bottom house cleaning easier and faster. Check cabinets and other storage locations to be sure you have all the necessary cleaners, polishes and other supplies. It's also a good idea to check cleaning equipment to be sure it is in good condition. Next, put kitchen and bath cleaning supplies in an easy-to-carry basket and place dusting and other supplies in another one.

You can easily make inexpensive home cleaners from products already on hand or those you buy from a grocery, hardware or drug store. Use common sense when working with and handling do-it-yourself cleaners. They are dangerous only when improperly stored, combined or misused.

Remember to never mix chlorine bleach or any cleaner containing chlorine with ammonia, toilet bowl cleaner or rust remover because the mixture produces a harmful gas. Always read labels to find out what ingredients products contain and for special cautions. You should always keep strong acids away from your skin and eyes, and wear rubber gloves when using strong alkalis.

To be on the safe side, never store any cleaners in soft drink bottles or other containers that could be mistaken for something else. The worst places to store cleaners are locations that are accessible to children and pets such as under kitchen and bathroom sinks and other low cabinets. When doing a major house cleaning, take one room at a time and use a cleaning pattern such as top to bottom, left to right. This will keep you from overlooking anything. First dust and wipe down everything using a damp or treated dusting cloth to keep dust from settling back down on surfaces. Periodically changing the furnace filter also will help control dust.

Leave vacuuming and cleaning floors until last. Be sure to move chairs, tables, chests of drawers and appliances to clean under and behind them.

If you notice musty odors from drawers in old furniture, remove the contents and let drawers air for several days. Put the drawers in the sun for two or more hours if possible. Also, place the chest on its back so the sun will shine on inside surfaces. Then, wash all unfinished surfaces with a solution of half vinegar and half water and dry with a soft towel. If an odor persists, spray unfinished areas with a disinfectant cleaner; keep drawers closed to allow the cleaner to penetrate corners, and let the drawers air well before replacing contents.

You can put potpourri, fabric-softener sheets or unwrapped bars of soap in drawers to give a pleasant fragrance.

When you're finished cleaning, relax and enjoy your clean home.

environment topics, contact the Rockcastle County Cooperative Extension Service at 256-2403.

You may have won... the chance to be cheated

All of us have received sweepstakes offers in the mail, some of them promising the moon. Before you enter another "celestial" sweepstakes or send in your money in response to a "cosmic" telemarketing offer, take a moment to evaluate the transaction.

Ask yourself these questions: Do I have to pay to receive the "prize" or enter a sweepstakes? You should never have to pay to receive a prize or enter a sweepstakes contest. If you do, it's illegal.

Am I a "guaranteed" winner or told "no risk involved"? If you're told you're a guaranteed prize winner or that there's no risk involved, be skeptical.

Is the lottery offer from a foreign country? Any lottery that involves a foreign country and is conducted through the mail is illegal.

Charity or sweepstakes—or both? "By returning your entry form, you could be the winner of $20,000 cash!" These are charity sweepstakes. Legitimate charities don't ask for donations in conjunction with a contest. The problem is that many phony charities use names that sound or look like respected organizations.

Do I have to give any personal or financial information? Don't give your financial information — Social Security number, credit card or bank account numbers — to callers you don't know. If it's a reputable group, this information won't be requested.

Am I pressured into responding right away? Don't be pressured into making an immediate decision. Get all information in writing before you agree to enter a contest, make a purchase or give a donation.

If you suspect fraud, contact your Post Office or call the Postal Inspection Service at 1-888-ASK-USPS (1-800-275-8777).

Southern Kentucky Area Health Education Center establishes office at RHRCC

Offers Community Outreach Programs, Health Education Southern Kentucky Area Health Education Center (AHEC) is moving its local office to Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center, Inc. Southern Kentucky AHEC serves 15 counties, focusing on recruiting and retaining health care providers, which includes doctors, nurses and allied health professionals. Another important component of the organization is community health education and encouraging students to consider health care careers.

"In partnership with the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center and Rockcastle Hospital, AHEC organizes and provides a wide variety of education programs aimed at identifying and improving the health care needs of all residents in our area," Brad Hall, executive director, said. "This includes health care professionals and the public. We have health education programs that target audiences from kindergarten students through professional health care providers."

The new Rockcastle Hospital AHEC office includes a medical library, which serves professionals and the public. Hall said a librarian is available on site to help with requests.

AHEC forms partnerships with community groups and hospitals to offer programs such as Scrubby Bear, a hygiene program for students in K-3, diabetes education and a family-oriented infant care program.

"We are very pleased to be working with Rockcastle Hospital," Hall said. "A lot of organizations talk about working as a team and being family oriented. When I'm at Rockcastle Hospital, I actually see that in action, and I think that will translate into a good partnership for us with them."

Steve Estes, president and CEO of RHRCC, said having AHEC on-site is a plus for the hospital and the community.

"We want to do everything we can to address the health care needs of the community," Estes said. "Having the AHEC here will enable our patients to have greater access to information and education programs along with great educational resources for our physicians and other clinical caregivers."

one. About daylight, the moonshine was gone, and this was about the time that the owner came in to open for business. Upon entering the bakery, he soon found that he didn't even have a decent slice of bread-to-ast. His bakery was totally destroyed. There were even pies hanging from the ceiling. Pastries of all kinds were stuck to the walls, and there was about a foot or more of cake in the floor. He could scarcely ever distinguish one employee from the other, as all were frosted from head to toe, as well as pickled.

The owner fixed the whole third shift. I heard he had to close his bakery for several days for repairs and cleanup. At least this indiscretion about the moonshine opened up several jobs for the community.

So, in the shadows of dawn, three drunken and pastry-covered men staggered their way home after a "hard night's work". Dorothy was always up, and had a good, hot breakfast waiting, as she did this morning. She was just setting a platter of ham and eggs on the table when these three appeared. Dorothy was appalled. Not only had Frank been fired, he was drunk and covered in pie.

In a few days, they packed up and moved to Cincinnati. Frank got a job at the Drake Memorial Hospital, and worked his way into an executive position, after a few years. He retired after about thirty years of service as an executive from that hospital. He even had enough money to buy a lovely home in the suburbs of Cincinnati, educate the two boys, and have a good retirement.

Raymond stayed on in Tennessee, and mended coal for several years, eventually becoming a director of two or three coal companies. He still loved to hunt with Bob, and he and Bob hunted every "hill and holler" in Eastern Tennessee and Kentucky. Raymond often laughed about his successful "big-city" brother in Cincinnati who owed his career to him, a gallon of moonshine, and a chocolate-cream pie.

I would have liked to have been a fly on the wall at the Clover Top Bakery that night. Of course, being a fly this night would have been great because of all the food, but I would have liked to have seen my uncles during this hilarious event. I can only remember those uncles as white-haired, elderly gentlemen who became devout Christians, and I can hardly imagine either one of them taking a drink.

Considering my wedding-cake demise, all of the fallen cakes, and other pastry fiascos in the family, I have to wonder if that bakery owner didn't put a curse on the culinary art of baking for this family. Hmm...?

day I enter (June 30, 2004) everything has its purpose, from spitting the floor to memorizing the next several meals. No time is wasted, period. The average life span for an American female is roughly 70 years - and I am 18, so that doesn't leave too much time for "finding myself" or goofing off. I will graduate at 22 a commissioned naval officer, one who is prepared to lead men and women of a high caliber in support of my "greater good." That, in a nutshell, is why I wanted to attend the United States Naval Academy.

Thirdly, this achievement, though it has my name on it, is not solely mine, not by a long shot. There are several wonderful people out there who saw something in me and took the time to make my dream a reality. They expressed sincere interest in me and my plans, gave me pep talks during the "Dark Ages," wrote letters of recommendation that made me feel like a respectable person, and celebrated right along with me when I got the "good news." I could not have made it through this year-long process without each and every one of you, and I will never forget that. So, to everyone who has helped me, and you know who you are, thank you! I'll try to make it worth your while!

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter.

Respectfully,
Anna M. Guilfoil

P.S. If anyone is interested in attending a service academy, their websites are as follows: The United States Naval Academy: www.usna.edu The United States Military Academy (West Point): www.usma.edu The United States Air Force Academy: www.usafa.edu Preparation for the application began for me freshman year with class scheduling, etc. - it is always a good idea to start early.

"Points East"

Pretty little ten-maybe eleven-year-old girl out in the middle of the blacktop just after daybreak, pulling wheels on her bike. Oblivious to the rest of the world. Just glad as glad can be that school is out for the next few days. Rejoicing. And I almost plowed into her with my pickup. My heart literally stopped before the brakes held and the pick up skidded to a halt.

"Oooooooops!!!!!" she said when she wheeled up to my truck window. "I almost hit you!"

"Oh thank you," I told her. "I couldn't live without my truck."

"I'm sorry," she said, and she patted the hood of my truck. "I wouldn't put another dent in this old Chevy for nothing. Sneeze Ya!!!" and then she was gone before I could tell her any safety lessons.

She pedaled down the road, rearing her bike up on the rear tire as though she owned the road. Flying. Pony tail trailing behind her like a kite. Menace made over. Free and oblivious. God I wish I'd had a camera.

In the meantime, I drive a bit slower this week. Maybe the responsible thing to do would be to track the kid's parents down and get her bike privilege taken away. But I wouldn't do that for the world. She's on spring break for crying out loud. And she's not running up Mommy's credit card and making lame excuses about sea turtles. She's just pedaling her bunts off down White Lick Road and letting the tension go.

And if I were twelve years old I'd be chasing after her.

That's what spring break is all about. In the meantime, I have an unmarried son who needs to hook up with the neighbor's daughter. $300 a month for whatever!!!! $3,000 to help turtles lay eggs!!!! Sweet deal if Mommy keeps the cash flow going.

Blake McKinney named All-American Scholar

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Timothy Blake McKinney, of Mt. Vernon, has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher, grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor, or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Blake, who is an eighth grader at Rockcastle County Middle School, was nominated for this national award by Melissa Sington.

Blake will appear in the All-American Scholar Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important today than ever before in America's history. Certainly, winners of the All-American Scholar Awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence in their studies," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendation by teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the USAA for other honors.

Jackson Energy brings electricity to the classroom

Area middle school students and teachers have a new tool for learning, thanks to Jackson Energy and Discovery Channel School.

Jackson Energy is excited to present Get Charged! Education and You, an educational outreach program supported by Touchstone Energy Cooperatives and Discovery Channel School. The Get Charged! program is designed to help teachers educate about electricity - where it comes from, how it works and how to use it safely.

"Combining Discovery Channel School's Get Charged! curriculum kits with Touchstone Energy co-ops' branding efforts, Jackson Energy provides the tools educators need to teach middle school students about electricity and rural clarification.

As part of the Get Charged! program, teachers will be provided with educational tools, including videos, CD-ROMs, a Teacher's Resource Guide, student activity books and other materials to augment the existing curriculum - all free of charge. The materials were developed by the Discovery Channel School and comply with National Science Education Standards.

Jackson Energy also provides area teachers with a Kentucky core content guide to help integrate the lessons into the classroom. "Touchstone Energy cooperatives are committed to the communities they serve," says Jackson Energy President and CEO Don Schaefer. "The Get Charged! program is a natural outgrowth of the school safety programs that electric co-ops have provided."

Jones named National Award Winner in Math

The United States Achievement Academy announced that Johnny V. Jones, of Broadhead, has been named a United States National Award Winner in Mathematics.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Johnny, who attends Rockcastle County Middle School, was nominated for this national award by Robert E. Phillips, a teacher at the school.

He will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards for Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Johnny is the son of Clyde and Melissa Jones of Broadhead. Grandparents are Billy and Billie Jones and Verdell and Carolyn Wagner, all of Waldron, AR.

Community Good Friday Service

The Rockcastle Ministerial Association invites Rockcastle Circuitants to the 2004 Good Friday Community Worship Service to be held Friday, April 9th at 7 p.m. at First Christian Church on West Main Street in Mt. Vernon.

Burford Parkerson will be speaking and, in addition, there will be special music and congregational singing.

"Good Friday" is traditionally a time to remember the sacrifice of Jesus Christ on the Cross for our sins. It precedes the Easter celebration of His resurrection. It is wise for us to recall not only that Jesus rose from the dead, but that He is the author of salvation, but also to remember the price paid for our sins. This time of reflection is open to any and all who would like to come.

For more information, or questioning, contact Bruce Ross, preaching pastor of First Christian Church at 256-0870 or Mike Bryant, president of the Ministerial Association and pastor of Faith Harvest Fellowship at 256-0904.

Jail time possible for driver's licensing and registration offenses

Court is a place most people want to avoid. According to Rockcastle County Attorney Billy Reynolds, nearly one-fourth of the charges he hears in district court could be avoided if people were more aware of some specific laws in Kentucky.

"I know it is aggravating, for people to find out they have broken a law that they have never heard of," Reynolds said. "Ironically, many of these laws that people are unaware of, or consider minor offenses, could result in jail time."

Reynolds said some of Kentucky's most simple laws are what provide many people with a court appearance and force some to pay high fines with the possibility of spending time in jail.

"These aren't laws that threaten the life of another, but are just procedural things we must follow because it is the law, and those laws help maintain order," Reynolds said.

The following is a list of suggestions Reynolds said that could save people a lot of time, money and eliminate the possibility of jail time.

After moving to a new residence, KRS 186.540 requires a person to change the address on his or her driver's license at the circuit clerk's office within 10 days. Failure to do so could result in a Class B misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum of 90 days in jail and/or a $250 fine.

" Likewise KRS 186.540 also applies to those changing their name after marriage. The law provides the name on the driver's license should be changed within 10 days by going to the circuit court clerk's office to request the change. Failure to do so is a Class B misdemeanor.

"KRS 186.435 states that a person has 30 days after establishing residency in Kentucky to apply for a Kentucky license with the circuit court in the county they are residing. This Class B misdemeanor, which was adopted in 2002, carries a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and/or a $250 fine."

"Always carry proof of vehicle insurance and registration in your vehicle. Driving without liability insurance is a crime punishable by a fine up to $1,000 and/or up to 90 days in jail, according to KRS 304.39-080. If the owner can prove that he or she had liability insurance at the time of the offense, but just failed to have a proof of it at the time, the judge can opt to reduce or dismiss the charges. Subsequent offenses increase the penalties and require the defendant to purchase a six month policy in advance and provide proof to the

"Never drive without your driver's license. Those who drive without a license are in violation of KRS 186.510 and can be charged with a Class B misdemeanor. If that person can prove that he or she had been issued a license before the offense, the judge can dismiss the charges without a fine or imprisonment."

"When buying or selling a car KRS 186.190 offers the correct procedure to ensure that the title is properly transferred. Take three items to the county clerk's office: the title, an affidavit of the transfer and proof of insurance. The seller should bring the title. On the back of the title is an affidavit to transfer to title. Both buyer and seller must sign the affidavit, with both signatures being notarized. The buyer also must show proof of insurance for the vehicle to be purchased. This will ensure that the seller will be no longer be charged for taxes on the vehicle and that the title is legally in the buyer's name. Failure to do so is considered a Class A misdemeanor punishable by a $500 fine and/or 12 months in jail.

" Likewise, if a car is unfit for future use or is junked, the owner of the vehicle should take the registration and the license plate to the county clerk. The county clerk will return the plates and registration to the Transportation Cabinet, so that future taxes will not be owed on the vehicle. Failure for the vehicle owner to follow these procedures is a violation of KRS 186.190. This Class A misdemeanor is punishable by a $500 fine and/or up to 12 months in jail.

"These laws may seem insignificant to some people, but they are necessary to maintain order and prevent more serious crimes from happening," Reynolds said.

Above, the Hwy. 461 by-pass in Mt. Vernon had plenty of traffic on Tuesday because of the bad wreck on I-75 Monday night. Northbound and southbound traffic on the interstate was diverted to Somercrest, from London and Mt. Vernon. Traffic was backed up several miles at times. Below is I-75, without any motorists. One lane of I-75 re-opened Tuesday night, but was closed again on Wednesday. The southbound lanes re-opened Tuesday afternoon and remained open on Wednesday.

Louisville Lions at Renfro Valley
Monday evening the regular meeting of the Louisville Lions Club was held at Renfro Valley and over seventy-five club members and their wives attended. A banquet was given at the Lodge and after the regular business meeting, the group adjourned to the big barn, where, through the courtesy of John Lutz, a regular program of the Barn Dance was enacted. At 10:35 WHAS picked up the proceedings which were broadcast for twenty minutes. Several prominent Lions of Kentucky were present including G. C. Perrone, of Lexington, District Governor. Rockcastle County's Lions Club from Livingston was represented by Clyde Lanville and Jim Tom Pke. — Dr. R. G. Webb III at home

It is kind of a rarity to Rockcastle citizens not to see the dynamic figure of Dr. R. G. Webb on the streets, in the country or wherever his fancy dictates, and to those who have missed Doc, we impart the information that he is convalescing at his home from overwork. Many, many times Doc has told his countless patients that all was wrong with them, was overwork and a sure cure was to stay home and rest up. He always gave those patients a big bottle of medicine and the largest pills he had, knowing full well that they wouldn't stay home and rest. However, this time, Doc had to slow down, and a few weeks at his home should make him good as new, and capable of performing his many duties. Hurry up and get well Doc. We all miss you.

Army recruiter retires after 20 years of service

A veteran U.S. Army recruiter is hanging up his Army greens and returning home after 20 years of service.

Sgt. 1st Class Kenny L. Thompson will move back to Richmond this spring. He is leaving his current position as a guidance counselor at the Nashville Military Entrance Processing Station at the end of the month to begin his final transition from the Army.

"It's been a challenging and interesting job," Thompson said. "I'm ready to go back to my roots in Kentucky."

Thompson, 38, has accepted a sales position at Jack Burford Chevrolet in Richmond. He, and his wife, Fatima, and their 11-year-old daughter, Alicia, will move to the area soon.

A 1983 graduate of Rockcastle County High School, Thompson is the son of Kenneth and Georgia Thompson of Hwy. 39. He entered the Army in February, 1984 as a Chinook helicopter repairer.

Thompson counts his service in Panama during Operation Just Cause when U.S. forces removed dictator Manuel Noriega as one of the highlights of his time in uniform. He also served in Germany, Fort Hood, Texas and Fort Campbell before becoming an Army recruiter in 1995.

He began his recruiting career as a field recruiter and later an on-production station commander in Murfreesboro, TN. He served as a limited-production, station commander in Madison, TN before moving to the U.S. Army Recruiting Battalion Nashville's operations section where he worked until taking his final assignment last year.

Thompson drew praise from one of his former supervisors, 1st Sgt. Eric Dodson.

"He's disciplined and dependable," Dodson said. "He's a good hard-working NCO."

Thompson's accomplishments drew a host of Army awards. He holds the Meritorious Service Medal, four awards of the Army Commendation Medal, five awards of the Democrat Precinct Conventions will be held April 17th

Democratic County Chair John Holbrook announces that Rockcastle County's Precinct Conventions will be held April 17, 2004 beginning at 10 a.m. at each precinct's regular polling place.

All Democrats who reside in Rockcastle County, and are registered to vote in that precinct by March 25, 2004, are eligible to attend and participate in the election of precinct committee members. The precinct committee members (one man, one woman and one youth (35 or younger)) will be delegates to the County Convention to be held April 24, 2004 at 10 a.m. in the District Courthouse of the Rockcastle County Courthouse. At that time, they will elect a new Democratic County Executive committee to serve for the next four years.

In addition, precinct committee members will elect delegates to the Congressional District convention and State Convention to elect members of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee. The 2004 Democratic Congressional District and State Convention will be held Saturday, June 19, 2004 in Lexington at a location to be announced later.

Any Democrat, registered in the county by March 25, 2004, may seek election as a member of the County Executive Committee and/or as a delegate to the Congressional District and State Convention.

The delegates mentioned above are not to be confused with delegates who will be elected June 5, 2004 at the County Presidential Preference Caucus. These delegates will attend the Congressional District Caucus June 19th and will elect "pledged" delegates to the 2004 Democratic National Convention. Information on this meeting will be available at a later date.

Agricultural News

By Warden Alexander, FSA Director

2004 Tobacco Notices - No Go

Notices were scheduled to be mailed but are now being withheld. The new data for notices to be mailed will be determined once we get the actual download of the under-marketing factor. No "official" word yet as to how much the under-marketing will be cut due to the 10% rule.

The 2004 Burley Tobacco national factor for the quotas has been set at 10500 (5% from 2003 quotas).

Leasing will begin once notices are received by producers. Sign-up for 2004 Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program Warden Alexander, County Executive Director, of Rockcastle County Farm Service Agency wishes to inform producers that the enrollment for the 2004 Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP) began October 1, 2003 beginning the second year of successful implementation of the 2002 Farm Bill.

Producers must sign DCP contracts annually beginning with the 2003 crop year, which is a change from Production Flexibility Contract requirements under the previous farm legislation.

Producers have until June 1, 2004 to enroll for the 2004 DCP. Producers receive direct payments at rates established by statute regardless of market prices. Counter-cyclical payment rates, on the other hand, vary depending on market prices.

For sign-up and payment dates contact FSA.

USDA announces final Burley Tobacco Referendum results
USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) has announced that final results from a mail referendum held Feb. 23-27, 2004, show that burley tobacco growers voted to continue marketing quotas on a poundage basis for the 2004, 2005 and 2006 marketing years.

Results show that 96.5 percent voted yes. A vote of at least two-thirds in favor is necessary to continue poundage marketing quotas. The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, provides the authority for conducting this referendum.

The 2004 burley tobacco marketing year begins Oct. 1, 2004 and ends Sept. 30, 2005. Marketing quotas limit the amount of tobacco a producer can sell without penalty in a given marketing year.

Burley tobacco is grown in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

Grassland Reserve Program
The Grassland Reserve Program (GRP) is a voluntary program that helps landowners and operators restore and protect grassland, including rangeland, and pastureland, and certain other lands, while maintaining the areas as grazing lands. The program emphasizes support for grazing operations, plant and animal biodiversity, and grassland and land containing shrubs and forbs under the greatest threat of conversion.

Applications may be filed for an easement or rental agreement, including NRCS or FSA at any time. Participants voluntarily limit future use of the land while retaining the right to conduct common grazing practices, produce hay, milk, or harvest for seed production (subject to certain restrictions during the nesting season of bird species that are in significant decline or those that are protected under Federal or State law); conduct fire rehabilitation; and construct fire-breaks and fences.

Easements include permanent easements and thirty year easements. Rental agreements include 10 year, 15 year, 20 year or 30 year contracts. USDA provides annual payments determined accordingly.

There is no national maximum limitation on the amount of land that may be offered for the program. However, there is a minimum requirement established into law. Offers for enrollment in GRP must contain at least 40 contiguous acres, unless a special circumstance exist to accept a lesser amount. Rockcastle County rental rate is $11.00 per acre.

For more info on these and other FSA programs, please contact your local FSA office.

Farm Changes
Producers who have purchased or sold land should inform the FSA office of the change. A copy of the deed or land contract sales is required to update FSA records with correct ownership.

Producers are also reminded to inform the FSA office of any change of address.

Important program dates
Loans or Loan Deficiency Payments for 2003 corn and soybean applications end May 31, 2004.

Library News

Last Tuesday the Rockcastle County Public Library was happy to have Michael VanWinkle here at Storyhour. Michael put on a wonderful presentation of Woody Guthrie for the children. Woody Guthrie helped to establish folk music as a viable entity. Guthrie was not one to conform to rules much and sang about it in his songs.

This is all part of the Storybook, Chautauqua Series overseen by none other than H. Allen Pensel, Basic Arts Coordinator for the Rockcastle County Schools. The children really enjoyed Michael he played "This Land Is Your Land," some of the children tried to sing with him. They were certainly fascinated by the guitar he brought with him!

To go along with the theme the story hour children colored a picture of a guitar and then made a little craft out of construction paper and wooden circles, when they had finished they also had a guitar to take home. Thanks to Michael and Mr. Pensel, the Library Staff really appreciate you.

This month has some very special events in it. The whole month is "National Poetry Month," and the week of April 12th - 17 is Young Peoples Poetry week. We have made some arrangements to display some poetry from some of the County Schools. National Library Week is April 18th - 24th so we are requesting any of the crafters that would like to display their work, bring it on down to the library. You can go ahead and bring it down so we can get it displayed for this month. Make sure that you have your name on all of your work! There will also be a new book display in the library to celebrate National Library Week.

We appreciate all of the support we get from the community. We appreciate the partners that we have such as Rockcastle County Schools, Early Headstart, Even Start, P.J.'s Daycare and the many businesses that support our various programs throughout the year, especially Summer Reading. Yes it's that time again. We want to thank you for your support in the past and we hope we can join hands this year in making Summer Reading 2004 the best Program ever. There is a World of Readers. We have mailed out several letters to some of the businesses, and have received some response. Some of you we may have to contact by phone due to the time frame we are working under.

Let's get busy and make the next few months grand for all! Make the connection, connect @ your library.

Michael VanWinkle singing and playing "This Land Is Your Land."

Michael read a book about Woody Guthrie to the story hour kids.

Woody Guthrie plays the song for the children one more time they loved it!

Words of Hope

I recently read a book, which had this quote: "Marriage is an invitation to come and die...to yourself." At first it seems to be against marriage, but then you can see it means that to have a good marriage you must give up your own selfish needs. In order to die on the cross for us, Jesus had to first die to his own desires. Not only did that act become our saving grace, it was a good example of how to live our lives. What do you need to give up today?

Outreach Program

"Spring Into Faith"

It's finally here! Spring brings a sense of renewal, and new life. The Outreach Program is sponsoring our first annual "Women's Retreat" for women 18 years and up. Our focus will be on Faith and a time of Reflection, Renewal and Relaxation. This is a two-day one night event located at Camp Andrew Jackson in McKee (Jackson County), on May 4th and 5th.

Women from Rockcastle, Owensley, Clay, Jackson and McCreary are invited. Transportation will be provided only for those planning to spend the night. There is no cost to the public and there will be free gifts for everyone.

There will be special speakers both days, an opportunity to socialize with other women, learn how to relax, find other resources that are available to improve life skills, opportunity to have lots of fun, and opportunity to find out "What on earth am I doing here?", resources from "The Purpose Driven Life" by Rick Warren.

We will be serving a light breakfast on the 4th as everyone arrives.

lunch on both days, dinner on the 4th and breakfast on the 5th at no cost. We hope to make this a time to enjoy and to get away a couple of days and focus on yourself and away from the crazy schedule of cleaning, caring for everyone but yourself, paying bills, cooking, running around like a "chicken with your head cut off". Dorm style sleeping quarters are available. Each person will need to bring their own sheet, blanket and pillow and any personal items needed.

God has a purpose for us all and we want to put our faith in Him that He will reveal this to us all. "It is Written"

Last week we discussed how that we have some folks that are seeking to redefine the word marriage to mean the joining of 2 men or 2 women together. Let's look at another example where we have folks redefining words to fit their erroneous practices.

Men have taken the word baptism, and defined it to mean sprinkling, pouring or immersion. Of course the New Testament word means to dip, or to plunge, that is an immersion. One does have to be a Greek scholar to know the word means to immerse or to dip. A reading of Col 2:12 teaches us this, "Buried with him in baptism, wherein also we are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead." Also Rom 6:4. "Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death; that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life." We all know how we bury people, we dig a hole and put the body (casket) down in the ground and cover them over. It will do no good to sprinkle or pour some water on one, and called that baptism. Such is the wisdom of men in giving new definition to words. No let us be satisfied with God's explanation and meaning of the word.
