Copper wiring thefts

The newest criminal activity, across the state and nation, is alive and well in Rockcastle County.

Ricky Bullock of the Blue Springs area tells us that thieves, in the past couple of weeks, have torn the paneling off the walls of an unoccupied house on his property and stripped all the wiring from the walls -- to cash in on the current high price of copper. In another unoccupied house on Bullock's property, thieves have busted the dry wall but haven't managed to retrieve the wiring, as of yet.

Bullock also said that in the Bloss area, some of the original power lines, now running up hollows to abandoned houses, are "gone." "Miles of power lines have been taken for the copper," Bullock said.

Motorists must have letter to change address

Rockcastle County Circuit Court Clerk Teresa Vanzant is asking for help from local residents.

Mrs. Vanzant said Monday that she would like to remind local motorists, whose addresses have been changed by the fiscal court, that they must change the address on their driver's license.

"State law says motorists have ten days to change their address after they are notified of the change. Normally there is a $12 fee to change an address on your license, but that fee is being waived because the road name changes were mandated by the court," Vanzant said.

On Monday alone, 286 Rockcastle Countians changed the address on their license in Vanzant's office, but some were turned away.

"They were turned away be-

Benefit Auction and Live Music

There will be a benefit auction and live music at the Livingston gymnasium on Sat., July 22, beginning at 5 p.m.

Proceeds from the event, which is being sponsored by Rockcastle County Fire Departments, will go to the renovation of the Livingston Fire House which burned recently.

Food will also be available for purchase.

Workers at Roundstone School were putting in overtime on Tuesday night to try and complete the renovation of the heating and cooling system before school begins for students on August 9th. Teachers report on Wednesday, August 2nd.

A public hearing was held at the Quail Community Park on Monday to discuss a proposed $230,000 grant, which will be used for various projects at the park.

Work is progressing at the new Outpatient Services Center at the Rockcastle Hospital located on Newcomb Avenue in Mt. Vernon. Carmichael's Masonry has been on the site for the past three weeks laying brick and stone and expect to be on the job for several more weeks. Below from left: Donnie Sayers, Charles Wesley, David Ventura and Tommy Lovell are among those fighting the heat on Tuesday. The 55,695 square foot project is expected to be completed by the first of year.

Livingston commission to require check or money order for payments

On a motion by Livingston Councilman Phillip Doan, and a second by Councilman Todd Mink, the Livingston City Commission voted Friday, at their regular meeting, to require that all compensation due the city, water bills, property tax bills, etc., be made by check or money order only, effective immediately.

Doan said that with the city imposing the recent high rate increase for water and sewer service, "the commission owes it to customers and city residents to be able to account for every cent of take in."

More research on motion

At a called meeting of the commission Monday night, Mayor Curt McHargue and Commissioner Todd Mink both ex-

Mt. Vernon council gets excellent news on city's end-of-year finances

The Mt. Vernon City Council got good financial news at their regular meeting Monday night concerning their finances. The city ended their 2005-06 fiscal year with a surplus in their water and sewer fund and their general fund coming out almost exactly even between revenues ($743,826.23) and expenditures ($743,704.93).

"I think we (the city) are in sound fiscal condition and since our accounting records are up-to-date we can now go forward with more projects," Mayor Clarice Kirby said commenting on the city's financial affairs.

Kirby also noted that part of the good news at the end of the 2005-06 fiscal year, was that the general fund did not have to borrow any money from the water department to operate on. "Since we paid back $30,000, that had been taken from the water fund to pay for a fire truck, in the first years of my administration, we haven't had to borrow any more money from the water department to operate the city."

The water fund wound up the fiscal year with a $58,000 surplus and the sewer fund had $194,195.

The general fund would have had a surplus but workmen's compensation insurance cost more ($2,526.62 for general fund and $6,445.35 for police department) than expected; insurance expense was higher ($1,099/$8,382.47); equipment purchases for the police department ran higher ($7,962.59) and there was $7,500 expended for a new vehicle for the police department which was not originally budgeted for. The city also had to pay $6,736 more than the $1,000 originally budgeted for lawyer fees.

The city received more revenue than expected from the franchise tax ($21,233.67); delinquent taxes ($19,579.23) and occupational tax ($36,000.12).

Keith Smith indicted by Federal Grand Jury

By Richard Anderkin

Former Citizens Bank president Keith Smith, 54, of Mt. Vernon has been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in London.

Smith learned of the indictment last week and is scheduled for arraignment before Federal Magistrate J.B. Johnson next Tuesday.

Smith is charged with one count of bank fraud, five counts of false entries in bank records, while president and one count of giving false statements to get loans.

In count one of the indictment, Smith is accused of trying to defraud First Trust and Savings Bank of Oneida, TN and First National Bank of Manchester to obtain "monies, funds, credits, assets and other property by, or under the custody and control of those financial institutions, by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations and promises."

Count one also alleges that Smith would "represent to the lending institutions that he and his spouse had lines of credit at Citizens Bank in Mount Vernon, Kentucky in certain amounts, when they did not have lines of credit in those amounts."

In count one, Smith is accused of causing letters to be sent to financial institutions advising them that the lines of credit at Citizens Bank had been pledged to them or assigned as collateral to secure the loans, "when the lines of credit had not been pledged."

According to count one, Smith caused "purported letters of credit to be sent to financial institutions on the letterhead of Citizens Bank, Mount Vernon, Kentucky, when those letters had not been approved by Citizen's Bank's board of directors."

Smith is also accused of keeping information from the County employees get raise

At last week's meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court, the court, in executive session, approved a 50c per hour raise for county employees.

The raise covers road department employees, jail workers, 911, CSEPP and general courthouse employees and Kathy Robinson, a full time employee of County Attorney Billy Reynolds and a part-time employee of the county.

The raise covers approximately 29 employees who will see a $1,040 yearly increase in salary.

The Farmers Market in Rockcastle County is alive and well. Business seemed brisk Saturday at Renfro Valley, although one of the vendors said business had not been as good this year as in past years since the total of food vouchers for senior citizens was cut from $18,000 to $15,000. In the above photo, Betty Pheanis of East Ford Road, completes her purchases from Denton and Ruby Childress. The market starts off the week in Brodhead on Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. They are at Livingston Thursday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Mt. Rockcastle Memories

By David J. Griffin

In 1954, I was only ten years old, and this old world was a very different place. It is hard to believe that 50 years have passed. We survived without many of the items that are now considered to be either essential or required by law. I recently tried to imagine what a shock it would be to go back to that time. Travel with me...as we consider how our lives have changed and how simple it was in the 50's.

My first bicycle: it was a 24-inch, orange bike with no fenders. Nothing fancy about it. We had never heard of wearing a helmet, and we could ride with a friend sitting on the crossbar. Its paint was probably made of lead. Of course, we wedged a baseball card in the spokes so that the bike was transformed into a "motorecycle." We went everywhere on our bikes. We rode all day long and never considered being tired -- or staying inside to play. The world was our playground. It would be considered punishment if we had to stay cooped up inside the house.

When we got thirsty, we simply turned on the garden hose and got our fill. Our water came from a well in the yard. It contained no fluoride and was not treated in any way. Paying for water in plastic bottles would never have occurred to us. The water from our well was free. If we were fortunate enough to have a soft drink, we shared it with two or three friends...without considering diseases that we might pass from one to another.

If we went for a ride in the family car, there were no seat belts or air bags. We physically "rolled down" the windows, and our arms waved in the breeze rushing past. Occasionally, a hand would be smacked by a passing bug. In my hometown, the entire family drove to town on Saturday night and parked the car on the street. We

Points East

My Dad grew green beans better than anyone I have ever known or ever will.

Mostly half runners and white cornfield beans and greasy beans that he planted in the corn rows. Lazy-wife fall beans, string-less and plump. And whatever else he thought might sell. Missouri or Kentucky Wonders that grew out the top of the stalks and hanging by the double hands full.

In the middle of July and well into October, you would find my Dad, at the end of his ten-hour shift in the coal mine, late in the evening sunset, hoeing and digging in the gardens. He called it rest.

My brothers and I called it torture.

We did most of the plowing and tilling with Ole Dock, the big Percheron work horse who was more like a dog except he weighed in right at a ton and was perfectly useless this time of year.

I swear that that horse could laugh. And that he did when we were picking beans. He'd done all the hard work early on and come bean picking time, he grazed around the fields and snickered when anybody called his name.

So we picked the beans. The biggest field was only about four acres, but my Dad grew beans on every bit of tillable soil there on the land we owned on Blair Branch. Actually we didn't own much but all my uncles and aunts let Dad tend their shares of Pap's old farm and they'd settle up for a bushel or two of this or that.

In retrospect, I don't know how we survived July back in the sixties, but I do know for sure that we had the most wonderful beans that God ever saw grow.

And coming soon, to a newspaper near you, we'll tell you how we used to can em.

Fifteen Men on a Dead Man's Chest: Piracy on the High Seas

The release of Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest, Johnny Depp's long awaited reprise to the first movie's take-off on the childhood Disney ride, has grossed thus far in excess of $135 million, making it the most profitable film of 2006.

Greatly entertaining, the film romanticizes high-seas piracy of old.

Yet it might be surprising to learn that piracy continues to flourish on the world's oceans. "Piracy" is generally defined in the 1982 United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea as an illegal act of violence, detention or depredation committed for private ends by the crew or passengers of a private ship on the high seas. Hollywood depictions aside, modern piracy is savage and very real, and not altogether unlike legend crimes of yore.

There was chest on chest of Spanish gold with a Ton of plate in the middle hold and the cabins riot with stuff untold as They lay there that had took the plum With a sightless glare and their lips struck dumb While we shared all by the rule of thumb

Yo ho ho and a bottle of rum. Nowadays, pirates don't seek pieces of eight, but cargo containers of valuable chemicals, electronics and even arms. Small vessels are plundered for the owners' personal assets and ships' equipment, all of which can be lucrative in the right marketplace. Piracy in U.S. territorial waters remains rare according to the U.S. Coast Guard. Still, piracy occurs often in not-so-distant waters. Three separate pirate attacks occurred off the coast of Venezuela including one near fatality in April. In a 2004 attack, pirates rammied the sailing yacht Yuma Maru as it traveled from Panama to the Galapagos, cap-

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

I had the fortunate situation of living next door to my grandparents as a child. Let me tell you, that was a nice situation for a kid to be in. My mother worked, so therefore I stayed next door with my grandparents. Mom would hire a babysitter every summer to come and stay with me at home, but the babysitter usually ended up staying alone. I knew the way to Grandma and Grandpa's house too well. I guess that I was a rather unusual child. What kid would rather stay with aging grandparents (who by today's standards would be too dull) as to stay with a teenage babysitter who was able to play all kinds of games and be very energetic.

It is about this time of year on especially hot days such as this, when my mind drifts back to my childhood days of these various summers. Some of my favorite memories are of long summer days playing in the yard. I remember that the temperature was well into the 90s most every day, but it didn't seem to bother me. My grandma usually kept a big gallon jar of ice-cold lemon-lime Kool-Aid with fresh lemon slices in it in the refrigerator. That would cool you off in a hurry. Sometimes Grandma would pack a picnic lunch for us, and we would eat out in the yard. That was, at the time, about as exciting as eating in Central Park.

I remember one time, my grandpa had rigged up a tent out in his front yard as a surprise. Playing in that tent was some of the most fun a kid could have. I took several of my toys in it, and wasn't seen for several hours at a time. I had a way of entertaining myself.

One of my favorite activities was going to visit the neighbors with my grandpa. There were about three or four other retired elderly couples, and one old widower whom my grandparents had known for years who all lived within about a mile or less of our house. My grandpa would get his old summer straw hat and cane, and we were soon going down that dusty little dirt road on the way to the neighbor's houses. Meanwhile, my grandma stayed at home to do the cleaning and the cooking, unless it was one of the days she went visiting these neighbors, and I went with her.

My grandma was one of the best "old-time country cooks" that ever came along. I usually followed along behind her every step, and learned how to make every recipe by the time I started school. However, knowing the recipe and cooking at that age were too different stories, but I sure knew all of the ingredients. She never used a cookbook.

Another of my favorite activities was going to the apple orchard where my swing hung from a branch of an apple tree. My grandparents had a small apple orchard of about five or six trees in their side yard. Quite often, my grandpa took out his trusty pocketknife and peeled a few of those Golden Delicious apples for us to eat. While he peeled and I swung in the swing, he told me stories of when he was growing up over in Wabed just outside of Mount Vernon.

Sinus Infections

Presented by Dr. Kimberly Cornelius

When colds and other viruses are going around, the sinuses can get into a lot of trouble. The sinuses normally secrete mucus to help moisten the air you breathe and trap pollution and particles of dirt. When viruses, allergies, or weather changes cause congestion, the sinuses cannot work properly.

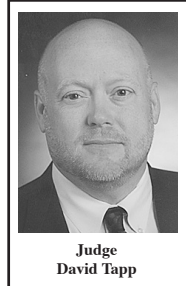

The sinus openings become clogged and pressure builds up. The normal secretions accumulate and the bacteria can multiply since the body cannot easily remove them from the plugged nose and the sinuses. Then the mucus becomes thicker, and the color turns to yellow or gray --an infection has started.

The infections may cause pain in the cheeks and along the sides of the nose. There is often a fever and pain in the teeth, especially the upper molars.

What can you do to prevent or treat sinus infections? It is useful to open the nasal airways with decongestants, such as pseudoephedrine. Antihistamines are often used, especially if allergies are involved. You should also raise the humidity in the house and drink plenty of warm liquids to keep the secretions thin.

Cigarette smoke paralyzes and eventually kills the cilia which sweep the sinuses clear of mucus. This damage from smoking allows the mucus to build up, and the amount of secretions is increased because of the irritants in smoke. Always avoid smoking.

When a bacterial infection develops, you will usually need antibiotics to help clear it up. It may take a prolonged course of antibiotics or a change of antibiotics if there is a slow response. Cortisone nasal sprays may be useful depending on the cause of the sinus infection. Viral infections are the most common cause, of course, and do not respond to antibiotics.

Sawmill Lane almost unpassable...

Dear Editor,

My father and mother-in-law, Butch and Fanny Broaddus, live on Sawmill Lane at Orlando. The road, always in terrible shape, is now almost impassable. There are big dug out places and a six inch deep gully.

The Broadduses have called, I have called and even my grandmother, Juanita Davis, has called. As usual, with any politician, the calls fell on deaf ears. Fanny's mother, who has a pacemaker, has been forced to move in with Fanny and Butch. Nurses come biweekly to administer medicine and check on her and they can barely get up the road. Heaven forbid, something were to happen and they would need an ambulance. Fanny's mother would be out of luck.

No remorse is coming from the Magistrate because he has been called. Probably too busy. Again, you know the politician's oath. While they need your vote they are willing to kiss your hand, your baby and other parts but now, while he doesn't need any votes, Fanny and Butch are out of luck.

Very untruly yours,
Chuck Davis

New addresses are the price of progress...

Dear Editor,

No one wanted to change physical/mailling addresses. Almost everyone, however, wanted, expected and deserved a modern emergency dispatch system.

Not too many years ago, emergency services were dispatched from, of all places, the county jail. Jailer's deputies were trained in the proper treatment of prisoners and to be deputy jailers -- not dispatchers. When an accident occurred, if the direct line to the ambulance service were not known, the jail would have then been responsible for taking the call and dispatching the ambulance -- and this, along with taking care of up to 50 inmates. It was cheap for the county to operate, but not a very good system. In fact, it was a very dangerous system as far as liability was concerned. Today, the dispatch center in Rockcastle answers anywhere between 300 to 500 calls per week.

There are over 3,300 counties in the United States and Rockcastle County is one of the last in Kentucky to change from 'rural routes.' Today, even if you want a telephone or electricity hooked up to your house, a physical address is required. If you want something from a mail order catalog, a physical address is required. And that is what you now have, a physical address which shows your exact location within Rockcastle County.

With this new system, emergency vehicles will be able to pinpoint your location. After all, if you believe that a 'rural route' already tells your location, then consider that many of the 'rural routes' can be anywhere from 10 to 70 plus miles long and cover anywhere from only one road to maybe 50 different roads within the county. Get the picture? Rural routes are outdated and really never did give a person's true location. In fact, modern dispatch systems cannot operate without physical addresses.

Everyone involved with this changeover truly regrets any inconvenience but this is a price of progress as we move forward into new technology that will ultimately serve you much better than ever before.

Respectfully,
Bonnie Roark
Rockcastle 911 Director

Will new jail help quality of life in Rockcastle...?"

Dear Editor,

Everyone loves a get rich quick scheme: something will bring boodles of money to our county with no effort or inconvenience on our part. That latest "easy money" is on the Signal's front page (July 13, Fiscal Court discusses possible regional jail for Rockcastle).

We already hold way too many in jail. Has doubling the number in jail doubled Rockcastle's quality of life? Has redoubling the number in jail given us a 50% reduction in crime? But maybe I just don't see how much better off we are for pitching record numbers in jail.

Be that as it may, it is wrong to help to make money off the misery of others. To say the least it is uncharitable to help for more prisoners to be held in Rockcastle so we can turn a quick and easy buck. "But if we don't do it, someone else will." Is there any evil act that cannot be justified with this same logic?

We are all adults. If we need money, we get it the hard way - we go to work and earn it. All of us together are Rockcastle County. If we, as the county, need more money, we should paddle our own canoe and raise taxes to take care of our own needs.

Easy money is always too good to be true. The moral cost to pay the piper for holding yet more captives in Rockcastle is far too high.

Sincerely,
Bob Coffey

Not such a safe place to live?...

Dear Editor,

I have lived in the Mount Vernon area all my life. I have always thought this was a good place to live and a safe neighborhood. However, over the past two summers, events have occurred that make me think otherwise.

Last August (2005), several cars, homes and garages were broken into on a regular basis on or around Williams Street. The break-ins normally occurred between the hours of 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. To my knowledge, no one was ever arrested concerning those instances. Now, almost a year later, the pattern starts again. Over the last couple of weeks, homes have been broken into while people are in bed sleeping. Businesses are being robbed as well.

I, myself, was a victim of this illegal act last year and lost items that were never recovered. This summer, I have once again been a victim but, lucky for me, I learned my lesson last year and no longer leave valuables in my car or outside my home so the thief wasn't so lucky this year.

My main concern is where are the police during all of this illegal activity? I realize they can't be everywhere at the same time but the day after my car was broken into, again this year, I stopped a city police officer in front of my home and explained the situation to him. One would think if the police had been made aware of the situation, they would have patrolled the area more but I'm not sure that is happening because break-ins are still happening at least once a week.

I understand the police department operates on a budget but maybe the department should look at shifting their resources around. Instead of having three or four day officers, when nothing is happening in town, maybe the department should move one of those officers to the night shift and attempt to catch the individual(s) that continue to violate the neighborhood.

The robberies need to stop. It's not fair to me, or others living in the Williams Street area, to work every day and pay for the items we have, just for someone who has decided that stealing is more rewarding than working to take those items.

If the city police department continues to be unable to provide the citizens of Mount Vernon with the necessary night time protection, then maybe it's time that all of the neighbors get together and decide how we are going to make our area a safer place to live.

If you can't go home and feel safe, then where can you go??

Thank you,
William Swinney

"What Saith The Scriptures"

When we look at what the scriptures declares, we know that hell is a real place. "And if thy foot offend thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter halt into life, than having two feet to be cast into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: Where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched." Mark 9:45-46. Jesus did not have any doubt that this is a real place. In fact the 12 times that the Bible uses the word gehenna in the N.T., Jesus used it 11 times. Yes, hell is a real place that was prepared for devil and his angels, Mt.25:41, "Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels." Now the scary thing is, that we can be cast into hell also, if we don't flee for refuge through Jesus Christ, Rom.5:9, "Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him." Have you been saved from wrath to come? Have you fled to the rock of salvation? Jesus is the only answer for sin. Not only can he save you from wrath to come, but he can also give unto you eternal life! Let us know if you want to study.

The Family Room

By: Dr. Roy Don Whitehead

How can you help your children have successful marriages? If you are divorced, does that mean your children will be too? A new study done at the University of Minnesota sheds some light on this subject.

The five-year study was of 290 young people from late teens through their mid-twenties. Whether or not the parents were divorced, good parenting produced higher quality romantic relationships and marriages among the children. The parent who builds a good relationship with his or her child helps that child to have a better marriage. In other words, it is not the parent's marriage but the parent's relationship to the child that makes the most difference. For divorced parents who do not want their children to go through the pain of divorce, this study holds out hope.

What is the good parenting that produces good marriages?

1. Good parenting means being warm and nurturing. Children are like tomatoes; they grow better in a warm environment. They need the attention and affirmation from the two people who gave them life.

2. Good parenting means establishing good boundaries between parent and child. The good parent does not treat the child as a buddy nor does she use the child as her counselor. She does not allow the child to be her parent and take care of her. She is the adult and acts accordingly. Another study concluded that parents with bad role boundaries when their children were thirteen sharply increased the children's chances of ending up in an abusive relationship.

3. Good parents are involved in their children's lives and interested in their activities. They talk to and listen to their children. They spend time with their children so that information will be shared between the two parties.

4. Good parents treat their children the way they hope a romantic partner will treat them some day. Good parents treat their children with respect.

5. Good parents teach their children to argue rationally. It is possible to have an argument without shouting, cursing and name-calling. The good parent resolves conflict with his child by rational discussion. Children who learn how to resolve conflicts do a better job of relating to future romantic partners. Parents who scream at their children should not be surprised if their children end up with partners who scream at them.

6. Good parents are firm, fair and consistent in disciplining their children. They do not enforce different rules when they are angry than when they are calm. They do not use rules to punish the child. They are the same "yesterday, today and tomorrow."

This study is most interesting because it emphasizes the relationship that exists between parent and child as the primary influence on future romantic relationships. Previous studies have seen the parents, relationship to each other as the primary influence. There is a great amount of hope in this new study for both couples who are still together and couples who are divorced.

It is the quality of the relationship between the parent and the child that has the most effect on future romantic relationships.

1906 was a year to remember in San Francisco. But good news was at hand for those in central Kentucky who had long been ignored by bigger banks in Lexington and Louisville. PBK Bank was formed to provide true community banking for families and business owners.

Today, a century later, we are pleased to remember our past, with the certain knowledge that our commitment to service and solutions has served generations well and will continue to do so.

Academic News from EKV

Spring graduates

Eastern Kentucky University recognized 1,479 graduates at the conclusion of the Spring 2006 semester.

Graduates from Rockcastle County, honored at commencement ceremonies May 13th were:

Bobby Joe Coffey, Brodhead, received an MS in Industrial Education and James Edward Mullins, Renfro Valley, received a BA in Spanish.

President's List

747 students earned President's List honors for the Spring 2006 semester.

The President's List was established to recognize outstanding academic achievement. It is bestowed on full-time undergraduate students who attain a perfect 4.0 grade point average for a semester.

From Rockcastle County, the list includes:

DeJon C. Graves, Brodhead, majoring in Biology Pre-Medical Science; Jennifer L. Alsip, Mt. Vernon, Elementary Education Teaching; Angela Boreing, Mt. Vernon, Communication Disorders, Kayla Bryant, Mt. Vernon, Special Education Teaching/L&B Disord. P-12 and Aaron Stallsworth, Mt. Vernon, Special Education Education Teaching/L&B Disord. P-12.

Dean's Award

EKV has announced 265 Dean's Award recipients for the Spring 2006 semester.

To earn the Dean's Award, students must achieve Dean's List honors at EKV for three semesters, not necessarily consecutive. A lapel pin is presented to students by the dean of their academic college.

Award recipients include: Jessica Carmack, Renfro Valley, an Art major.

Dean's List

2,035 students earned Dean's List honors for the Spring 2006 semester.

To achieve Dean's List honors at Eastern, students attempting 14 or more credit hours must earn a 3.5 grade point average out of a possible 4.0. Students attempting 13 credit hours must earn a 3.65 GPA and students attempting 12 credit hours must earn a 3.75 GPA.

The list includes: Jennifer Lynn Alsip, Angela Boreing, Kayla Bryant, Melinda Coffey, Thomas Coffey, Ashley Mize, Eric Poynter, Carl Ramsey, Kyle Reams, Jeremy Rowe, Bradford Spears and Aaron Stallsworth, all of Mt. Vernon.

Five FFA members attend Washington Leadership Conference

By: Jerrica Poynter
FFA Chapter Reporter

On June 26th, four members of the Rockcastle FFA Chapter departed, by train, for a five day leadership conference held in Washington, DC. Attending were: Derek Adams, Cody Robinson, Hillary Proctor and Jerrica Poynter.

This conference was definitely a wonderful opportunity for the group to gain leadership skills, sightsee and make friends from across the country.

Some of the places visited were historic, such as the Thomas Jefferson Memorial, the Korean War Memorial, Arlington Cemetery and the WWII Monument. The Rockcastle students also visited the Holocaust Museum, Ford's Theatre and several other places. By visiting these places, students were reminded of what exactly it takes to be a leader. They were inspired to contribute to their own community and, throughout the week, they each created a plan to better their hometown.

At the end of the week, over 400 WLC participants picked food that would be sent to homeless shelters in Maryland. Within less than an hour, this group had picked 705 bags of food that were set out on someone's plate by that night. Being able to do this was an amazing experience for everyone who attended. Not only were they able to help the homeless but they were able to meet someone who does this every single day and he was actually living below the poverty level himself. This amazing leader was an inspiration to everyone who attended WLC.

Derek, Cody, Hillary and I would like to thank the Kentucky FFA Alumni Assn, Bishop's Tire, Thursday Club, Wal-Mart of London, Peg's Food Mart, RCHS FFA Alumni, Lexington Trailer and Hitch, David's Tire Center and Larry Lily Coal Company.

Adams named to MSU Dean's List

The Morehead State University's Dean's List for the 2006 Spring semester includes two students from Rockcastle County - Vanessa D. Adams and Josh Ott, both of Brodhead.

To be named to the list, a student must be enrolled on a full-time basis and achieve at least a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale for the current semester.

Matthew Alan Smith, husband of Brandy Reynolds Smith and son of Roger and Miriam Smith of Shopville, graduated from the University of Kentucky College of Health Sciences on May 6, 2006. Matthew received a Bachelor of Health Science and a Master of Science in Physical Therapy from the University of Kentucky. Prior to his acceptance to the Physical Therapy Program, Matthew completed his pre-professional requirements at Kentucky Wesleyan College in Owensboro, Ky. Matthew is a 2000 graduate of Rockcastle County High School. Matthew began working in the Physical Therapy Clinic in the Rockcastle County Hospital on July 10 2006. Congratulations!

April Deanne Martin graduated from Eastern Kentucky University on May 6, 2006. April graduated with a Business Administration in Accounting, summa cum laude. April, a 2001 graduate of Rockcastle County High School, is the daughter of Frankie and Patricia Martin of Calloway, and the granddaughter of Junior and Louise Collins of Calloway and Murphy Martin of Red Hill. April is employed by Robinson, Hughes & Christopher, CPA of Danville.

Shana Lea Noe, daughter of Bill and Rosemary Noe and the granddaughter of Paul and Audrey Noe and the late Edward and Mary Delaney, received her Bachelor's Degree of Science in Accounting from Georgetown College in Georgetown on May 13, 2006. Shana, a 2002 graduate of Rockcastle Co. High School, will begin her career with an accounting firm in Lexington and pursue becoming a licensed CPA. Thanks for all who've shown their support and love these past four years. Shana is shown here with Georgetown College President Bill Crouch.

watched people. We watched to see who drove by our car. Just before going home, my grandfather bought all of us an ice cream cone -- to cool us off before going to bed.

Children from the neighborhood gathered in our yard to play in the evening. We knew each other by name, and so did our parents. We played hide and seek, kick the can, and marbles. We climbed trees. Every boy had a BB gun and knew how to use it safely. Sometimes the girls brought their dolls and played in a group, while the boys went on adventures with their air rifles. The weapon used most often between the children was a trusty water balloon.

No one was ever seriously injured. And no one ever got sued. Parents in the neighborhood could and would discipline the kids who were playing in their yards. That was essential -- an unspoken rule that both adults and children understood.

None of us had television sets, much less video games. Nor had we ever heard of FM radio. Phones were mounted on the wall, and nearly the entire community was on “party” lines. At our house, we only answered the phone when it rang three short rings. If it was any other sort of ring, it was for someone else.

We had never heard of tape decks, and computers were room-sized machines for large businesses or colleges. Hardware was nuts and bolts, saws, hammers, and axes. No one had ever heard of “software.”

None of our homes contained air conditioners, dishwashers, or electric blankets. At night, we slept with only the screen doors closed to keep animals out and let the night air in. We never locked our doors. We slept with no fear of intruders coming into our homes.

Cigarette smoking was the thing to do, and almost every adult smoked. Penicillin had not even been developed. The polio vaccine was just being introduced into our school systems. A nurse came to school to give injections to every child. Contact lenses had not been invented.

We ate bread with real butter. Food was flavored with bacon drippings (lard), and meat was present on the table for every meal. We licked the bowl when our mothers made cakes containing real eggs. Who ever thought of getting salmonella poisoning? Because we played outdoors in our yards, fields, and forests all day long, very few children were overweight. We simply ran off the excess calories.

It is refreshing to remember the simplicity of that era. What I would give to sit for a few hours on our old front porch in the swing with my grandparents! Or to walk with Pop through our garden, watching him pull turnips from the patch and peeling them with his pocket knife. I can see him holding a slice for me to sample. I long to stroll with Mommie Katie through the apple orchard or through her flower garden. What a thrill it was to watch my mother make sauerkraut in our back yard as she chopped fresh cabbage from our garden.

OK...OK...I know that modern conveniences are wonderful, and we probably would not want to return to the 50's. No one today would want to live without his air conditioning, million-channel TV, or his power tools. We wouldn't be comfortable in a world without access to daily showers and the modern plumbing that accommodates all of those work-saving appliances.

Nevertheless, the 50's had much to offer. The era provided many of us with a touchstone to the identity of family, of community, and of self -- secured upon values of trust and responsibility. I failed to realize how fortunate I was to be growing up at such a time. It all played out in a way that resulted in us living in a kind of affluence that we didn't know we had.

tured the crew and robbing them of the ship's electronics, jewelry and other valuables. Currently, even small yachts traveling in international waters after leaving the Panama Canal routinely travel in convoys to lessen the risk of attack. Attacks worldwide are increasing in both frequency and ferocity.

Only last week, in a coordinated assault, six pirate boats converged on a bulk cargo carrier in the Indian Ocean, and pirates attempted to board a chemical tanker off of Vietnam. Successful boardings can be horrifying. In an incident in the South China Sea, thirteen pirates overpowered the crew of a commercial fishing vessel killing four and injuring three others. Even cruise ships are not immune to attack as a recent incident off the coast of Somalia suggests.

U.S. forces are poised to repeal pirates in territorial waters and seas patrolled by the U.S. Navy. Recently, the Navy engaged in confrontations with pirates armed with a variety of modern weaponry including rocket-propelled grenade launchers. Sailors aboard a dhow captured by the U.S. Navy in January off the coast of Somalia told of their own capture by pirates who then commandeered the dhow for attacks on merchant ships including a Bahamian registered bulk tanker.

Yo heave ho and fare you well

And a sudden plunge in a sullen swell

These latest incidents spotlight an upswing in such incidents and the increasing ferocity used to subdue vessels. Over sixty people were taken hostage by pirates in the first quarter of 2006 including 13 which were held for ransom according to the latest International Maritime Bureau's Report on Piracy and Armed Robbery against Ships.

Fear of pirates has engendered new defensive strategies by captains of large and small vessels alike. Aside from traditional strategies like convoying, some companies urge the hiring of mercenaries and the use of exotic technology, including unmanned aerial vehicles to provide real-time data to ground stations during overflights of large ocean areas in search of suspect vessels. Companies also market non-lethal electrifying fences which surround entire ships to deter boarders. And commercial vessels routinely use satellite tracking systems which allow land-based agencies to monitor their exact location.

Disney's Pirates will almost certainly gross many millions more. Non-fictional modern day pirates, however, inflict an unmeasurable toll on the global economy and upon human life. Romantic notions may be entertaining, the reality is horrifying.

He also told stories about his days in World War I when he was serving over in Europe, or the days when he was delivering mail on rural routes by horseback. He would often sing songs that were popular in his youth, as would my grandma. One such song was “In The Good Old Summertime,” quite an appropriate tune for the time. Some of those old song lyrics of the early 1900s still live in the recesses of my memory.

Sometimes Grandma and I would play “Dress-up” and have tea. I would put on a bunch of her clothes, a hat, and gloves. We would sit and sip tea and eat cookies like real ladies. It was a learning experience, too. She injected notes of etiquette along the way. She also told stories of her youth, and growing up. One of the stories I remember most was one she would tell of the tragic sinking of the Titanic. It occurred when she was only ten years old, but the horror of it made a permanent impression.

About four or five o'clock, I made it a point to situate myself in the back yard to wait for Mom to come home. It was also at about this same time each day that a neighbor boy who was the grandson of one of the older couples we usually visited left for work. He drove out of his drive, which was across the street from my grandma's back yard. He had a brand-new, copper-colored 1964 Mustang. He was a local deejay at the local radio station in London. He always waved and spoke to me as he left, if he had time. I usually requested a Beatles song or two for him to play as soon as he possibly could. It wasn't exactly the type of tunes my grandma and grandpa had been singing earlier in the day.

By this time, Mom was usually home. She picked me up at my grandparents' and sometimes we stayed for supper before going home. It gave us all a chance to get caught up with the day's events. We usually watched the CBS evening news brought to us by Walter Cronkite. He always ended the broadcast by saying, “...and that's the way it is.” And that was the way it was for me on a typical hot summer day of any given summer long, long ago.

Births and Birthdays

Cager and Kaiden Doan would like to introduce you to their baby brother, Josaiyah McClure. Josaiyah was born on November 14, 2005 at Lake Cumberland Regional Hospital in Somerset. He has finally gotten big enough to hang out with us guys. Josaiyah's grandparents are Robert and Rhonda McFerron and Ellis and the late Janet McClure, all of Brodhead. Josaiyah's father is Jamie McClure and his special nanna is Tracey McClure. We all love him "so big".

Gracelyn Demaye Robinson was born July 6, 2006. She was welcomed home by her big sister Jerica Renee Goebel. Proud parents are Kayla Barnes and Dewayne Robinson. Grandparents are Dorothy and Dewayne Sizemore, Gerald and Charlotte Barnes and Glenna Robinson.

Happy Birthday Jeweldean Durham from all your friends. You're not getting older you're just getting younger.

Happy Birthday Brooke I've been trying to think Of a real cool way To tell you some things I've been wanting to say. Things I've not said enough, Yet I want to scream loud. Like, "I love you so much!" And "You make me so proud!"

It seems like just yesterday, Not at all like twelve years, That you came into my life, Us both bearing tears.

I'm still shedding those tears. You have changed my whole world.

I couldn't be happier To have such a great girl! I'm so amazed every day By how awesome you are. You have so much to offer, You are sure to go far.

All your great qualities, Where do I start? Your humor just tickles me, Your love melts my heart. I love the passion you show In all that you do.

And no matter what happens, To yourself you stay true. You're sneaky and silly, yet stunning.

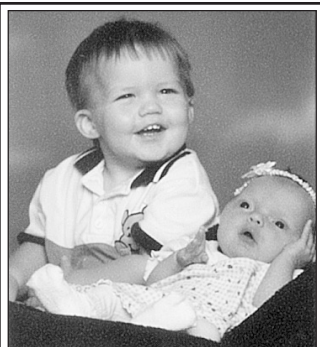

You're cool and you're crazy, yet kind. But your strength is in your faith, Which gives me peace of mind.

I'm so lucky and honored To be able to say That you are my daughter, And each night I pray.

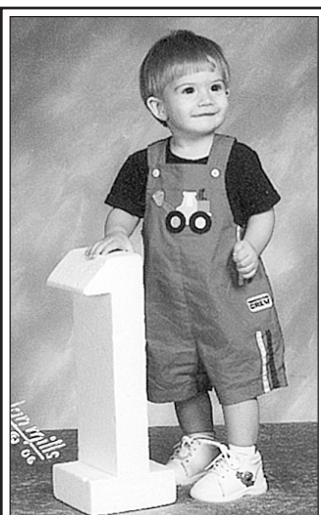

I thank Him and thank Him, And my spirits just lift, Knowing I've been blessed With God's greatest gift.

THE WORLD COULD NEVER GIVE A BIRTHDAY GIFT THAT COMPARES TO THE GIFT THAT YOUR BIRTHDAY GAVE TO THE WORLD.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY BROOKE!
With all my love,
Mom

Lindsey Marie Barnett was born May 21, 2006. She was welcomed home by her big brother Dokota Lee Wayne Barnett. Proud parents are Kyle and Crystal Barnett. Is that Mr. Douglas and his hired hand Ebb on "Green Acres"? No, that's the Hysinger boys, Ricki and son Richard, making hay while the sun is shining. The tractor is a 1950 Ferguson, that belonged to Richard's great great grandfather Jack Hysinger's Green Acre Farm. The 1973 hay baler was Richard's grandfather Wayne Hysinger. The machinery was brought out of semi-retirement since 1985. This farm now belongs to Ricki and Kathy Hysinger.

Absolute Auction

of Mr. Danny Reynolds'
42 Acre Farm in Tracts
Saturday, July 29, 2006 at 10:00 a.m.
438 Howard Road • Somerset, Kentucky

Location: From Somerset, take Hwy 39 N. approximately 12 miles to Hwy 934 and turn right. Proceed 2 miles and turn left onto Howard Road. Once you are on Howard Road proceed 6/10 miles. The property is on the right. Auction signs are posted.

Having decided to no longer farm, Mr. Reynolds has authorized our firm to offer this well manicured farm for the absolute high dollar.

Tract #1 consists of .58 acres with approximately 85 feet of frontage along Howard Road. This tract is all cleared and would be an ideal location for building or a mobile home site.

Tract #2 measures 8.38 acres. This tract is accessed by a 30' ingress/egress easement from Howard road. This tract does have an older barn (in need of some repair) and a storage building. Being mostly cleared with several mature shade trees, this tract would be an ideal baby farm site or ideal home site with that additional acreage. This tract is also bordered by a stream.

Tract #2M - Currently situated on Tract #2 - we will be offering the pictured mobile home separately. This gorgeous 1991 Marshall home is a 16x72. Its features include an open floor plan with living area, kitchen and dining area, two bedrooms, two full baths, utility area, and also has front and back decks. It does have hardwood and laminate flooring as well as carpet, central heat and air and a very neutral color scheme.

Tract #3 consists of 0.89 acres and has 156 feet of frontage along Howard Road. This is a very nice lot that does have an older home (in need of repairs) which could be utilized for storage.

Tract #4 measures 3.71 acres and is accessed from a 30 ft ingress/egress easement from Howard Road. This tract has a pond for stock water and has several mature trees. This tract also joins the stream and would be a serene home site with that additional acreage to ensure privacy.

Tract #5 - #6 and #7 contain .84 to .99 acres each. Each tract fronts Howard Road and is all cleared. Either of these lots would be excellent home sites or would make a great package if purchased together or added with Tract #8 and #9.

Tract #8 consists of 2.66 acres. This tract also joins the stream and has several mature shade trees. This tract is accessed by a 30 ft easement from Howard Road and would also be an ideal building site. It offers a view of the entire farm.

Tract #9 measures 23.65 acres. This tract is also accessed by a 30 ft ingress/egress easement. This tract has a stream running through it and has approximately 10 cleared acres with the balance in marketable timber.

Equipment to be sold includes: 275 Massey Ferguson Diesel Tractor (68 HP), good condition * John Deere drag type disc * post hole digger * box scraper blade * 6' Bushhog * two hay spears * fertilizer and seed spreader * diesel tank and pump (300 gallons) * cattle head shoot * drill press * cattle racks (16' x 6') * two creep feeders * water trough * feed troughs * hay rings * mineral feeders * electric fence box * approximately 100 steel T posts * approximately 75 small electric posts * two 10' x 18" drainage tiles * two 4 ft diameter drainage tiles * two plus various other items.

Auctioneers Note: Have you been longing for a place to build close to a stream with lots of shade trees but in a private setting? Perhaps you are looking for pasture for cattle or a good horse farm. We have just the place!!! When combined this farm consists of 42.69 acres and offers everything you could possibly need plus the opportunity of purchasing equipment to maintain it. Mark your calendar to attend this absolute auction on July 29th at 10:00 a.m.

Terms: 20% down the day of the auction with the balance due in 30 days for the real estate. For the equipment items we will accept cash, check or VISA, Mastercard and Discover in full the day of the auction.

Note: This will be a multi-parcel absolute auction, giving each and every prospective buyer the ability to buy any or all tracts or combination of tracts. Announcements made the day of the auction take precedence over printed matter. For additional information, plat copy, or appointment to see the property contact the auctioneers.

All-State Awards from KTCCCA

The Kentucky Track and Cross Country Coaches Association (KTCCCA) recently released its 2006 All-State awards and, once again, Rockcastle County had several athletes listed.

First Team All-State honors went to: Morgan Thacker, long jump and the 3200 Meter Relay Team 1- Sara Hammond, Michaela Hunter, Kayla Hayes and Jessi Asher.

Second Team All-State: Morgan Thacker, triple jump; 400 Meter Relay Team - Samantha Smith, Katie Mattingly, Morgan Kincer and Katie Burdette; 1600 Meter Relay Team - Jessi Asher, Jessica Albright, Morgan Kincer and Sara Hammond.

Once again, Rockcastle track and field athletes dominated the listing for the All-State Academic Team with eight athletes receiving this honor.

KTCCCA All-State: Academic Track and Field includes: Sara Hammond, Samantha Smith, Jessica Albright, Kayla Hayes, Jessi Asher, Morgan Thacker, Katie Mattingly.

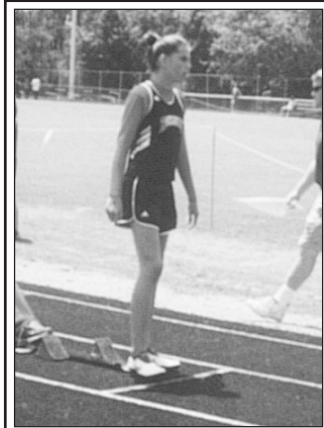

All-State Academic Honorable Mention: Morgan Kincer.

The RCHS Track and Field program has produced more

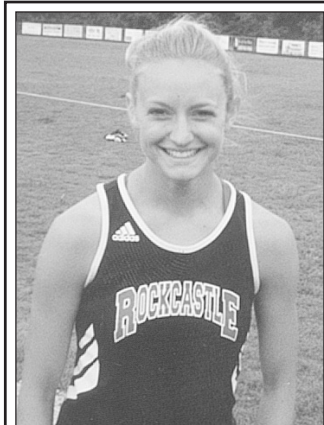

All-State competitors than any other sports program, especially Academic All-State and has the distinction of producing Rockcastle County's only All-American. A multiple All-State performer in high school, Cheyenne Carmack Haste, was named Academic All-District twice and Academic All-American her senior year at Western Kentucky University.

Samantha Smith received Academic All-State and 2nd Team All-State 400 Meter Relay.

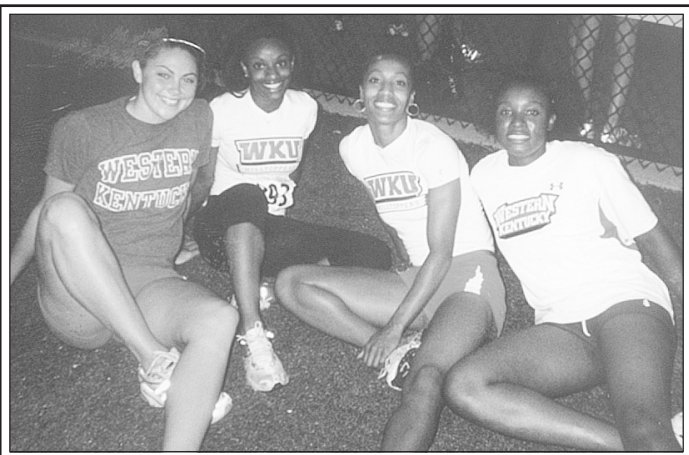

Sara Hammond received KTCCCA Academic All-State, 1st Team All-State 3200 Meter Relay and 2nd Team All-State 1600 Meter Relay.

Morgan Kincer received KTCCCA Academic All-State, 2nd Team All-State 400 Meter Relay and 2nd Team All-State 1600 Meter Relay.

The Cedar Rapids Dolphins swim team earned first place in the Laurel County Invitational held at Crooked Creek Country Club in London this past Monday night. The team also came away with the women's High Points award. Pictured above are, front from left: Dakota Bishop, Levi Gentry, Jared Robinson, Emily Childress, Rachael Cain and J.D. Hamilton. Second row: Lauran Burton, Douglas Nicely, Ashton Arvin, Lucas Gentry, Keely Goff, Devon Poynter and Kelsey Mattingly. Third row: Sydney Arvin, Shanlee Burton, Beth Clontz, Andrew Burton, Hillary Proctor and Jordan Robinson. Back row: coach Heather Hammond, Lauron Graham, Sara Hammond, Dustin Bishop, Bryan Clontz and asst. coach Ryan Graham.

Teammates Heather Hammond, Temi Akojie, Shanea Wilson and Alecia Brown of Western Kentucky relax after running the 4x400 relay at NCAA Regional in Knoxville, TN in May. They qualified for Regional by running a record time for WKU of 3:41.78. These ladies also made All-Sunbelt Conference and helped lead the Lady Hilltoppers to their first ever Indoor and Outdoor Sunbelt Conference Championships this year. Heather is just one of the many excellent athletes coming from Rockcastle County's Track and Field/Cross Country program.

Jessica Albright in her first year competing in Track and Field received Academic All-State and 2nd Team All-State 1600 Meter Relay.

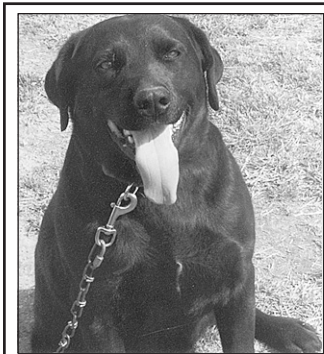

Three locals walked away with the top three spots in this year's Men's Invitational Tournament held at Cedar Rapids Country Club this past weekend. Colby Brown (left) posted a two day total of 141 to win the championship. Jordan Cash (center) carded a 142 for second place and Chris Cornelius (right) shot 143 to take third place.

ENTRY DOORS & STORM DOORS NOW AVAILABLE

Absolute Auction

ONLY AT AUCTION

of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Taulbee's

Modern Home & 37 Acre Farm in Tracts

Friday, July 28, 2006 at 5:30 p.m.

647 Howard Road • Somerset, Kentucky

Location: From Somerset, take Hwy 39 N. approximately 12 miles to Hwy 934 and turn right. Proceed 2 miles and turn left onto Howard Road. Once you are on Howard Road proceed 8/10 miles. The property is on the left. From Mt. Vernon, take Hwy 461 approximately 7 miles to Hwy 934 and turn west toward Hwy 39. Follow auction signs to Howard Road. Auction signs are posted.

Mr. & Mrs. Taulbee now reside in another county and have authorized our firm to offer this spacious home and acreage for the absolute high dollar.

Tract #1 measures 2.40 acres and has approximately 444 ft of frontage along Howard Road. This tract is improved with the pictured stone and vinyl home. The main floor features a spacious living room, dining room, large kitchen (lots of new cabinetry) and a bedroom. The second level has a master bedroom and bath, two additional bedrooms (one could be utilized as an office as it has built in shelves and desk) and another full bath. In the basement there is also a kitchen (with tile), family room, and another full bath. This house also has a carport, new water heater, new heat pump, (also has wood burning stove), new septic, several ceiling fans, thermopane windows, and a new shingle roof. Also on Tract #1 is a small orchard and barn.

Tract #2 and Tract #3 measure 1.13 and 1.26 acres respectively. Each tract fronts Howard Road approximately 200 ft. Either of these tracts would make excellent home sites as city water is available and these tracts are all cleared.

Tract #4 and Tract #5 measure 5.29 and 5.64 acres respectively. Tract #4 has 541ft of frontage along the proposed road and Tract #5 has 504 ft along the proposed road. Tract #4 is all cleared and Tract #5 is mostly cleared with a small amount of woodland. These tracts are the ideal size. It is rare to find 5 acre tracts for home sites!!

Tract #6 consists of 6.68 acres and is accessed by the proposed road from Howard Road. This tract is approximately cleared with the balance in woodland. This tract would be a beautiful site for a cabin nestled near the woods with that additional acreage for privacy.

Tract #7 contains 5.40 acres. This tract has approximately 214 ft of frontage along the proposed road. This tract is also all cleared.

Tract #8 and Tract #9 measure 5.03 and 4.77 acres respectively. Each of these tracts has over 400 ft of road frontage along the proposed road. Being all cleared, these tracts would also be ideal baby farm or home sites.

Auctioneers Note: Longing to have your children grow up in a rural setting?? This spacious home is perfect for growing families as it features 3 to 4 bedrooms - but the best part is there is acreage available for letting them roam!!! You will have the opportunity to purchase a few acres or the entire property consisting of 37 acres! Mark your calendar now to attend this absolute auction on the evening of Friday, July 28th at 5:30 p.m.

Terms: 20% down the day of the auction with the balance due in 30 days.

Note: This will be a multi-parcel absolute auction, giving each and every prospective buyer the ability to buy any or all tracts or combination of tracts.

Announcements made the day of the auction take precedence over printed matter.

For additional information, plat copy, or appointment to see the property contact the auctioneers.

Beat the heat through energy conservation

Kentucky's electric utilities report they are having no trouble meeting the high demand for power created by the hot and humid weather that has settled over the state, the Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) says.

However, to help reduce the demand for power so that it does not exceed the utilities' ability to provide it, the PSC is encouraging consumers to conserve energy and, at the same time, lower their utility bills.

"The utilities that we regulate have told us they anticipate no problems in generating enough power to meet demand or in transmitting that power to where it is needed," PSC Chairman Mark David Goss said. "But energy conservation is always a good idea for consumers, and can be helpful to utilities at times of very high demand."

A heat wave over much of the nation has led to record high electric demand this week in several states, including California, Texas and New York. With temperatures in Kentucky expected to be near 100 degrees in the next two days, electric usage in the state could also reach record levels.

"Because this kind of weather is not that unusual for Kentucky in July, our utilities are prepared for it," PSC Vice Chairman Teresa Hill said. "Consumers also should be prepared for summer heat by knowing what they can do to reduce electric usage."

PSC Commissioner Greg Coker noted that simple measures can make a big difference in energy consumption.

"Set your thermostat at 78 degrees in the summer," he said. "Every degree below that increases your air conditioning bill by as much as 8 percent." Other easy conservation measures include turning off lights, televisions and home computers when they are not in use, Coker said. Closing blinds during the day can lower air conditioner usage, he added.

More energy conservation tips are available on the Web from the Kentucky Office of Energy Policy at <http://energy.ky.gov/dre3/tips/tips.htm>.

The PSC is an agency within the Environmental and Public Protection Cabinet. It regulates more than 1,500 gas, water, sewer, electric and telecommunication utilities operating in the Commonwealth of Kentucky and has approximately 110 employees.

Saving energy in the summer heat tips

- If you have central air conditioning, set your thermostat no lower than 78 degrees, which is comfortable for most people. Every degree below 78 raises your air conditioner's energy consumption by 5 percent to 8 percent.

- Keep blinds and drapes closed during the day, particularly on windows facing south. This will reduce air conditioning demand by keeping out sun and heat.

- Lights, televisions, computers and appliances not only use electricity, they generate heat. Keep them turned off when they are not needed.

- Use appliances such as ovens, dishwashers and clothes dryers early in the day or late in the evening, when temperatures are cooler.

Little World's Fair

What is bareback bronc riding?

The 8 second bareback ride is confusing because sometimes a cowboy's wild spurring appears to be simply showing off while in fact the rhythm of a man's legs on his horse is all that keeps the rigging (a handhold on the sursingle) from being torn out of his hand. The bareback rider throws his feet forward in time with the horse's jumps, and at the same time this motion keeps his seat close to his riding hand. He is well aware that once he slips away from the hand hold he is on the launching pad. The further back he gets on a high kicking horse the more trouble he gets into.

A cowboy who had his riding arm straightened invariably winds up having his clenched riding hand jerked open. Rules require the rider's dulled spurs be over the break of the horse's shoulders when the animal lands the first jump out of the chute. Some bareback horses wheel out almost as quickly as the gate can be jerked open and the cowboy has a hard time keeping that outside foot where it is required to be.

The judges are looking for the horse that gives the rider the most trouble for the full eight seconds. Onlookers when hearing the score often are mystified because the bronc who threw a spectacular ride, bucking and jumping, perhaps several times, wasn't marked higher by the judges. They failed to take into consideration that for some of the eight seconds the horse, in the judge's opinion, wasn't difficult to stay on.

Join the International Professional Rodeo Association, World Championship Rodeo, produced by Broken Horn Rodeo, at the Little World's Fair, Brodhead, Kentucky, August 7 & 8, 2006, 7:30 p.m. Watch this

- Use your microwave instead of your stove and oven. It generates less heat.

- Use fans to supplement room or central air conditioning. They do not lower air temperatures, but the breeze they produce makes it feel cooler. Fans use much less electricity than air conditioners.

- Use the exhaust fans in your bathroom sparingly. In just one hour they can remove a houseful of cooled air.

- Replace incandescent light bulbs with compact fluorescents. Not only do fluorescents use much less energy and last 10 times longer, they generate less heat.

To the People of Kentucky
Honorable Ernie Fletcher, Governor
John R. Farris, Secretary
Finance and Administration Cabinet
Honorable George (Buzz) Carlotis, Rockcastle County Judge/Executive
Members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

We have audited the accompanying statement of assets, liabilities, and equity arising from cash transactions of Rockcastle County, Kentucky, as of June 30, 2003, the statement of cash receipts, cash disbursements, and changes in cash balances - governmental fund types; the statement of cash receipts, cash disbursements and changes in cash balances - proprietary fund; and the related statement of cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for Fiscal Court Audits issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As described in Note 1, Rockcastle County, Kentucky, prepares its financial statements on a prescribed basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the modified cash basis and laws of Kentucky, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the assets, liabilities, and equity of Rockcastle County, Kentucky, as of June 30, 2003, and its receipts and disbursements and the cash flows of its enterprise fund for the year then ended in conformity with the modified cash basis of accounting.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated September 26, 2005 on our consideration of Rockcastle County, Kentucky's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be read in conjunction with this report in considering the results of our audit.

The accompanying financial information listed as supporting schedules in the table of contents is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the financial statements of Rockcastle County, Kentucky. The accompanying schedule of expenditures of federal awards is presented for purposes of additional analysis as required by U.S. Office of Management and Budget Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local Governments and Non-Profit Organizations, and is not a required part of the financial statements. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Based on the results of our audit, we present the schedule of findings and questioned costs, included herein, which discuss the following report comments:

- The County Should Have Maintained Two Appropriation Expenditure Ledgers As Required By The Uniform System Of Accounts
- The County Treasurer Did Not Maintain A Check Distribution Ledger As Required By The Uniform System Of Accounts
- The County Should Properly Account For Encumbrances
- Budget Amendments Should Be Properly Recorded In Financial Statements
- The Cash Balance Per The County's Books Should Agree With The Reconciled Cash Balance Per The Bank On The County's 4th Quarter Financial Report
- Receipts Listed On Fourth Quarter Financial Report Should Agree With Receipts Ledger
- Disbursements Listed On Fourth Quarter Financial Report Should Agree With Disbursements Ledger
- The County Judge/Executive Should Prepare A Budget For All Funds Utilized By The County
- The County Did Not Maintain Inventory Records As Required By The Governor's Office For Local Development
- The County Treasurer Should Resolve Unexplained Variances When Preparing Bank Reconciliations
- The Payroll Revolving Account Should Be Maintained With A Schedule Of Liabilities
- The County Treasurer Should Prepare A Bank Reconciliation For The Payroll Revolving Account
- The County Judge/Executive's Salary Should Be Paid In Accordance With The Maximum Authorizations Set By The Governor's Office For Local Development
- The County Should Not Participate In Related Party Transactions
- The Fiscal Court Should Approve All Transfers
- Prior Year Transfers From Restricted Funds Should Be Returned
- The County Should Limit Expenditures For First Half Of Each Fiscal Year
- The Fiscal Court Should Review The Administrative Code Annually As Required By KRS 68.005
- The County Should Require Depository Institutions To Pledge Or Provide Sufficient Collateral And Enter Into A Written Agreement To Protect Deposits
- The County Should Comply With KRS 64.140, Which Requires That Invoices Be Paid Within 30 Working Days
- The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court Lacks An Adequate Segregation Of Duties
- Jail Invoices Should Be Approved By The Fiscal Court Prior To Payment Being Made
- The Jailer Should Maintain Receipts And Disbursements Journals For Jail Canteen Operations
- The Jailer Should Prepare Monthly Bank Reconciliations For The Jail Canteen Account

To the People of Kentucky
Honorable Ernie Fletcher, Governor
John R. Farris, Secretary

Bike/trike Charity pace ride for Hospice is July 29

There will be a bike/trike charity pace ride, benefiting Hospice Care Plus on Saturday, July 29 (Sunday, July 30 rain date). The ride begins and ends at Kay Shelton's Dari Delite in Brodhead. Sign-ups start at noon and entry fee is $25/bike or trike (tax deductible). All collected monies, beyond the prizes, go to Hospice to help them continue their work.

The ride will be about 50 miles through parts of the scenic Daniel Boone Forest on some of the best, most beautiful rural roads in the country.

This event is not a race -- it's a pace ride. The object is to complete the ride in the optimum time (determined by GPS). The bike/trike completing the ride in the time closest to the optimum time, will be the winner and receive a $75 first prize cash award and an engraved plaque.

A prize of $25, and a free dinner at Dari Delite, will be awarded to the bike and rider (s) best turned out for the event (as determined by impartial judges).

"Remember, no tragedies, no falls, no crashes, just a good time for all. Keep off the center line, watch for "cattle products," driveway gravels, farm equipment, etc. and be aware of the dangers possible," a Hospice spokesman reminded.

original motion, which was seconded by Mink, said he felt the city could enforce the rule, even if they had to pass an ordinance to do so.

After some discussion, it was decided that Doan would check with County Attorney Billy Reynolds as to the legality of the motion.

At Friday's meeting, Commissioners also noted that they were able to make the almost $2,000 payment to Rural Water Assn. which was due the first of July and would be able to pay the $3,370 water bill to Wood Creek before the end of the month.

The commission pays Rural Water $1,690 ten months year but in January and July of each year, a little over $300 interest is added to the regular payment.

Commissioner Katha Carpenter said the city still owes "about 30 years" on the 40 year loan of $280,000 made to the city to extend water lines to customers outside the city's limits.

The commission also approved the publication of their annual budget for July 1, 2006 to June 30, 2007.

The budget shows expected revenue from general fund of $53,400 with expenditures of $39,400; $4,250 to the MRA fund with expenses of $3,900; $800 from the LGEA fund with expenses of $500; $90,400 in revenue in the water fund with expenditures of $100,400 and $31,000 from the sewer fund with expenses of $26,000 for a total of $179,850 in expected revenues and $171,000 in expected expenses.

Mrs. Vanzant said the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet requires her office to make copies of the letters before issuing a new license.

Cindy Offutt, a clerk in Property Valuation Administrator Margaret Offutt's office said the letter is not required in the P.V.A. office, which prepares the county's tax bills.

The letter is also not required in County Clerk Norma Houk's office either, when changing an address.

If someone receives a ticket for not changing their address on their driver's license, they should take it to County Attorney Billy Reynolds' office.

Bullock's property, there were three clothes dryers - two still working - and a freezer, sitting on the porch. They were all stolen along with a three point hitch cultivator. The cultivator was recovered recently from a local scrap yard dealer.

"I just want people to be warned of what is going on and to check on their property more often," Bullock said. He also added, with tongue-in-cheek, "I've got a substantial amount of lead that I will donate to anyone, they don't even have to steal it."

Detective Matt Bryant of the Rockcastle Sheriff's office said there had been no other reported incidents of wiring theft in the county.

Blood Drive Friday

Central Kentucky Blood Center will be holding a blood drive on Friday, July 21 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the CKBC bloodmobile at 145 Newcomb St., Mt. Vernon.

Donors must be 17 years of age, weigh 110 pounds and be in general good health. It takes less than an hour and you can do it again in 56 days. A picture ID is required of all donors. Donors will be able to register to win our summertime giveaway. "Fly Me to Orlando" which includes two round trip tickets to Orlando, FL, two nights at Crowne Plaza Universal Hotel and two passes to Universal Studios.

"Nearly everyone of us will need a blood transfusion some time in our lifetime? It's true. Thousands of hospital patients across central and eastern Kentucky need blood each day. It could be to survive a car accident or some other traumatic injury. Maybe the blood is needed for cancer or burn treatments or for a delicate heart or liver transplant," said Loretta Robinson, donor recruitment specialist for CKBC.

Rockcastle Hospital asks you to please roll up your sleeve and do your part to keep our community's blood supply at a safe level. Make sure enough blood is available to help you, a love one, a neighborhood, co-worker, fellow church-goers or even a complete stranger. Please...give the gift of life.

1977 by the late Roy G. Brown and his wife Flora Mae Brown.

No negative comments, on the planned improvements and renovations at the park, were made during the hearing, although it was pointed out that because of road name changes, Quail Park is now located on Willailla Road (Highway 70).

Carloftis said the county and homemakers should know something in the coming months.

Land for the Quail Community Park was donated by the late Roy G. Brown and his wife Flora Mae in 1977. The county is seeking a $230,000 grant for numerous projects at the park, which is located on Hwy. 70.

One of several grants the City of Mt. Vernon received for the 2005-06 fiscal year was for about $320,000 for decorative lighting in the Renfro Valley area. The money was used to buy the 82 lamps, like the one shown above, and to lay the new lines for the lights. The pole on the lights will also have banner arms to advertise Renfro Valley and events in Mt. Vernon and flag holders. The pole replaces 12 much larger lights previously used but Mayor Clarice Kirby, who gave most of the credit for receiving the funding to State Rep. Danny Ford, said that four of the larger lights might still have to be installed later to make sure there was adequate lighting for safety. The decorative lights are of a much lower wattage than the previous lights used.

However, they did not receive the amounts of estimated revenues for forfeiture funds -- $2,780.31 instead of the $15,000 budgeted; $4,200 for boat dock fees when $7,200 was budgeted and $8,113 instead of the $12,000 estimated for public service tax.

Kirby told the council that work had already begun on the 2005-06 audit. Craft and Noble of Richmond were the only bidders for the job. They are the accounting firm which brought the city up to date earlier in the year on all their past audits.

Mayor Kirby also told the council that the $320,000 T-21 grant for a new sidewalk on Richmond Street from the existing one to Rite Aid on that side and both sides from the existing sidewalks to the railroad tracks near Main Street. “It took three years of applying for this money but we finally got it,” Kirby told the council.

Jack Gill Heart Institute at the UK Chandler Hospital, the flagship of UK HealthCare, will see patients on Mondays at the Rockcastle Medical Arts Building. Seven months ago, interventional cardiologist and UK College of Medicine associate professor Dr. Rick McClure began seeing patients each Friday and has helped diagnose and treat a number of patients with potentially life-threatening heart disease.

“I am delighted to be personally involved with the expanded cardiovascular services being provided in Rockcastle. The hospital has assembled a great team of doctors and staff to provide high quality care in a close-to-home setting for its patients. The response to Dr. McClure’s launching of cardiac services in Rockcastle from the University of Kentucky months ago has been simply awesome,” said Moliterno, an internationally recognized expert in the field of cardiology research and treatment. Moliterno also serves as a professor and vice chair of medicine, as well as chief of the Division of Cardiovascular Medicine in the UK College of Medicine, and is a member of the board of the American College of Cardiology.

“We look forward to building the partnership between Rockcastle and UK Gill Heart Institute even further this coming year. Expanding our office days there to several times weekly is the next logical step,” Moliterno said.

Rockcastle Hospital is a not-for-profit community hospital established about 50 years ago to serve the south-central Kentucky region. The hospital treats patients from Kentucky, nearby Tennessee and other border states.

Steve Estes, Rockcastle Hospital president and CEO, said, “The staff at Rockcastle Hospital is excited about this partnership with the Gill Heart Institute. It is an asset to our community and will help us further our mission of providing access to excellent care. We appreciate that the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center has the foresight to reach out into rural areas of the state to provide much needed services.

“This expansion of service illustrates the commitment of Rockcastle Hospital and the Gill Heart Institute toward increasing access to world class cardiac quality of care,” Estes said. “Dr. Moliterno is imminently qualified to expand the Gill presence, and we look forward to working with him to enhance cardiology service here.”

The UK Linda and Jack Gill Heart Institute provides a central focus for cardiovascular disease care and research. The clinical programs of the institute target the high rate of heart disease prevalent in Kentucky, while the research and teaching programs work to advance cardiovascular care throughout the world.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by not listing the letters of credit and not including the amounts reported on them, during bank examinations.

Count one was for period from May, 14, 2001 to June 23, 2004.

Count two alleges Smith secured an $800,000 line of credit for his spouse at First Trust Savings Bank in Oneida, TN with a letter on a Citizens Bank letterhead “without authority of its board of directors.”

Count three alleges that Smith secured a $100,000 line of credit at the same Tennessee bank, without knowledge of directors at Citizens Bank. The feds say both letters were written the same day.

Count four claims the same action by Smith as count three, except the line of credit was $700,000 for his spouse.

In count five, Smith is accused of “causing a letter to be sent to First National Bank of Manchester stating that his spouse, had an established line of credit with the Citizens Bank in the amount of $200,000 and that Citizens Bank had pledged the line of credit to First National Bank of Manchester in support of a loan from First National Bank to his spouse, when as the defendant then and there well knew, his spouse did not have a $200,000 line of credit at Citizens Bank.” The indictment alleges the board of directors had no knowledge of Smith’s actions.

In counts six and seven Smith is accused of deceiving Citizens Bank directors and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by listing only $52,000 in lines of credit approved by the bank for the period ending June 30, 2003 and $51,000 in lines of credit issued by Citizens Bank for the period ending September 30, 2003.

His wife was not indicted last week.

A portion of a civil lawsuit, which was filed by Citizens Bank, alleges that First Trust Savings should have known the documents they used to loan the Smith’s approximately $600,000 were fraudulent. The Smiths were also named in the civil action. That case has been dismissed pursuant to agreement by all parties.

be August 8th, with students reporting for classes on August 9th. Rockcastle County School Superintendent said the 9th will be a full day for students, unlike in previous years when the school system’s nearly 3,000 students were only required to go a half day.

Work on the heating and cooling system is still ongoing at Roundstone School, but Hammond said school officials and contractors believe the project will be completed by the time school starts for students. The total cost of the renovation is $1.5 million.

Hammond also said soil samples for the foundation of the new gym had been taken to see what preparations must be made for the foundation of the gym, which will cost the board another $2.5 million. Construction on that project is expected to begin sometime this fall.

Northside holds Freedom Fest

Bro. Chad Burdette, pastor of Northside Baptist Church, gave a gospel message July 1st at the church's 3rd Annual Freedom Fest at Brodhead Fairgrounds.

Northside Baptist Church gave free hot dogs and hamburgers to the large crowd attending the Freedom Fest.

Lora Beth Payne, Lewis Cox and Northside's Praise Band sang several praise songs at the 2006 Freedom Fest at Brodhead Fairgrounds. Members of the Praise Band are: Tony Fredricks, drums; Doug Proctor, percussion; Tony Renner and Christy Witter on guitars and Danny Renner on keyboard.

Tony Renner played guitar and sang as Bro. Chad Burdette gave an invitation to the crowd at Freedom Fest.

Local student inducted into Robinson Scholars Program

Regina Rice, of Mt. Vernon, was inducted into the University of Kentucky's Robinson Scholars Program last month. She was one of 29 middle school students from 29 Eastern Kentucky counties inducted into the scholarship program, which is now in its 10th year.

Rice, daughter of James and Mary Helen Rice, will be attending Rockcastle County High School in the fall.

The Robinson Scholars Program is a scholarship, student support, and leadership development program that serves first generation college-bound and college students from 29 Eastern Kentucky counties who have demonstrated the potential to succeed but who might encounter economic, cultural, or institutional impediments to completion of four-year college degrees. In recognition of the potential obstacles facing these students, the program identifies scholars in the 8th grade. Its mission is to provide the students with support services and scholarship resources that empower them to complete undergraduate degrees at UK and to positively impact their current and future communities.

The Robinson Scholars Program provides full college tuition, room and board, and books during the college careers of students who otherwise would be financially unable to pursue a degree. The students must maintain an acceptable grade point average and graduate from high school to receive their scholarships.

Since the program's inception in 1997, 538 students have been selected as Robinson Scholars.

Miller completes portion of Rogers Scholars program

Zac Miller of Rockcastle County completed the community service requirement of the Rogers Scholars program by participating in a variety of activities benefiting the United Way of South Central Kentucky. Rogers Scholars is an intensive one-week youth leadership program administered and hosted by The Center for Rural Development located in Somerset, Ky. A select group of sixty students representing "the best and brightest" from a 42-county region of Southern and Eastern Kentucky earn invitations to The Center for the prestigious annual program.

According to Sherry Schultz, Executive Director for United Way, "We hope to increase the organized capacity for people to care for one another."

United Way of South Central Kentucky serves 25 non-profit agencies in a 10-county region. In order to receive financial assistance from United Way, organizations must undergo an extensive application process. In addition, each agency must use all funds raised to benefit the community.

United Way began in Somerset in 1972 with 8 agencies. The entire organization began in 1881 in Denver, Colorado when clergymen joined to pool resources and dispersed evenly.

"Each scholar will apply what he or she has learned about community service by giving back to their home communities through future projects," said Jessica Melton, Rogers Scholars Coordinator for The Center.

For more information on United Way, call 606-679-2947 or make a tax-free donation by mail to United Way of South Central Kentucky, 208 East Mount Vernon Street, Somerset, KY 42501.

The Family Room

By: Dr. Roy Don Whitehead

I have had parents tell me, "The children don't know we fight." Parents who believe this are deluding themselves. Even if children do not actually see the fighting, they hear it. Even if they neither see nor hear it, they feel its effects. They know when Mom is upset because Dad hit her last night, and this violence affects them.

Battering or spouse abuse causes damage and distress to the fetus.

Violence affects that child even before he is born. Mom's anguish and worry produce chemicals that affect the fetus. At its worst physical violence can cause such injury to the mother that she has a miscarriage. I have counseled two women in the past six months who endured such an experience.

Violence in the home means emotional abandonment of the children. A mother who is being abused has to use most of her energy to cope with that abuse.

She has very little left for her children. Nor is Dad supportive to the children because he is too angry. The result is that the children are left to fend for themselves, emotionally and physically.

Battering means living in constant fear. Keeping the body and mind in a state of constant arousal has a negative physical effect. Fear was meant to be a short term emotion to help humans cope with a threat. It was not meant to go on for months and years. Children who grow up in violence are always looking over their shoulders, wondering when the next battle will occur. They know it is coming: they just do not know when.

Violence makes children feel powerless. They want to help Mom but nothing they do stops Dad from being abusive. Many children, some as young as three or four, will try to intervene when Dad attacks Mom. They are rudely shoved aside or sometimes seriously hurt by the abuser. They cannot stop the abuse and they feel powerless. This affects them as adults when they attempt to cope with life.

Battering creates low self esteem. Children tend to personalize everything that happens in the family. In short, they blame themselves. "I must be doing something wrong," they think, or "I must not be good enough," they conclude. They come to see themselves as the problem. This sense of low self esteem shadows them into adulthood.

Battered children take on adult roles prematurely. When Mom and Dad are unable to fulfill the parent role, one of the children usually takes over.

Often the oldest female child will be Mommie to the younger ones. Some girls become "parents" in this way by age six. They are not able to enjoy a normal childhood.

Violence often results in stress, depression and flashbacks. These symptoms of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder occur in survivors of abuse, just as certainly as they occur in survivors of combat.

Children of abuse may learn to abuse others or to be abused themselves. Not everyone who grows up in abuse becomes an abuser, but some do. They learn that violence is the only option for handling life's problems. Others take on the role of victim and end up in abusive relationships as an adult.

Stopping abuse now prevents many problems later on for the children in violent families.
