Carrie Mullins is new Trial Commissioner

Chief Rockcastle District Court Judge Jeffrey Scott Lawless has appointed Mt. Vernon attorney Carrie Mullins to serve as Trial Commissioner for Rockcastle District Court.

Lawless swore Mullins in on Tuesday afternoon. She will replace current Trial Commissioner Paul Cummins.

Trial Commissioners serve as judicial officers in Counties where no District Judge resides, such as Rockcastle.

Under Kentucky law, the Trial Commissioner has the au-

At 4:30 a.m. Thursday, Kentucky State Police responded to multiple-vehicle crashes with and without injury on I-75 in the north and southbound lanes, near Exit 59. KSP Public Affairs Officer Don Trosper said that a total of seven traffic crashes, involving 20 vehicles occurred within a two mile stretch of the interstate. Four people were treated at the Rockcastle Hospital, including a Frankfort couple who were driving the above pictured Kia Sedona mini-van which rear-ended a KC truck from Manchester. The truck was hauling empty crates used to transport motor parts. The woman had a severe laceration and the man broke his left leg in two places. They were cut from the vehicle by members of the Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue squad. In the middle photo, workers remove cereal from a transfer truck and load it onto a smaller truck, after the truck was involved in one of the seven wrecks. In the top photo, crews worked for hours to remove the transfer truck, which caused most of Thursday's delays. The truck driver, from Canada escaped the fiery crash without a scratch. The interstate was closed both north and south for several hours Thursday and traffic was re-routed along US 25 and Hwy. 461. The interstate wreck, caused primarily by very heavy fog, caused a virtual log jam of traffic in and around Mt. Vernon most of the day.

County awards bid for clean-up of illegal dump

By: Richard Anderkin

In a continuing effort to rid the county of illegal dump garbage, the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court awarded another bid to a contractor for the clean-up of a huge illegal dump on Burnt Ridge Road at their regular meeting Tuesday.

Keeton Excavation of West Liberty was the low bidder of the six bids received.

The money for the contract to clean-up the dump will come from the federally funded PRIDE (Personal Responsibility in a Desired Environment) program.

The bids ranged from Keeton's low bid of $51,111 to the high bid of $148,250 submitted by Hinkle Contracting Corporation of Lexington.

Although the county has never done any business with Keeton and did not inspect any of his work, Solid Waste Coordinator, James Renner told the court that Keeton had worked in seven counties for PRIDE.

"The PRIDE director for dump clean-ups knows him well and says he will do a good job," Renner told the court.

Judge-Executive Buzz Carloftis and Renner assured the court that the site would be inspected before PRIDE released the money for the clean-up. The money will be a direct reimbursement to the county from PRIDE with no matching

Three sentenced in Rockcastle Circuit Court on Friday

Three local people were sentenced in Rockcastle Circuit Court Friday, all on drug-related charges.

Lorene Bostic, 52, of Mt. Vernon was sentenced to two years imprisonment for two counts of second-degree trafficking in a controlled substance and one count of simulated sale of controlled substances, according to a press release from Rockcastle Commonwealth's Attorney Eddy Montgomery's office.

According to UNITE prosecutor David Dalton, in August of last year, a confidential in-

School board gets excellent "audit"

The Rockcastle County Board of Education approved the year-end audit for the Rockcastle County School System at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

Arthur White, CPA, and owner of White and Associates of Richmond, presented the findings of his firm's audit to the board, which showed "absolutely no problems," according to White.

"You have an excellent operation with only minor deficiencies," White said.

Those deficiencies were in the school activities accounts, which White said was a problem in all school districts.

"We've never audited one system that did not have any deficiency in that area, but you all are close and will probably be our first," he said.

Duane Didonato is first graduate from drug court

By: Richard Anderkin

He was in Circuit Court on November 1st but, instead of criminal proceedings taking place, a joyous occasion occurred for a Rockcastle County man.

The joyous occasion was for a very humble and determined Duane Didonato, the first graduate of the Rockcastle County Drug Court.

At a very early time on that Wednesday morning, a small crowd of family, friends, supporters, public officials and members of the local drug court, watched as he was honored during his graduation.

Chief Circuit Judge Jeffrey T. Burdette, who was the master of ceremonies at the graduation told the group that drug court had been a passion and creation of the late Circuit Judge Robert E. Gillum and that he would have been very pleased with Didonato's graduation.

Burdette said Didonato had initially been very skeptical of the drug court program. But, because of the value of the rehabilitative approach, Didonato was anything but skeptical.

Drug court participants are required to have stringent drug and alcohol testing, out-patient

District Judge Katie Wood looks on as Mt. Vernon lawyer Carrie Mullins, was sworn-in Tuesday afternoon as Rockcastle County's new Trial Commissioner by Chief District Judge Scott Lawless. Mullins replaces Paul Cummins.

A vacant mobile home owned by Charles and Kathy Brock of Burr was destroyed by fire last Wednesday morning. Mt. Vernon firefighters got the call around 5:15 a.m. Public Affairs officer Steve Griffin said the mobile home was completely engulfed when firefighters got the call. The mobile home was still burning on Thursday and officials think the smoke from the fire, combined with the heavy fog on Thursday morning, may have caused "smog". It was the second trailer of the week in the Burr area to burn. A doublewide mobile home was destroyed by fire on Monday morning. Both mobile homes were located near the exit 59 ramp where seven wrecks involving 20 vehicles occurred Thursday morning.

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

Dear Journal:

How 'bout them Cats? It looks like the football Cats are on their way to a bowl game this year. Can you believe it? I, for one, am simply overjoyed. I was about to begin to think that UK should cancel the football program and invest that money elsewhere.

I've noticed one thing, however. If the football Cats play on TV, especially national TV, they usually lose. Therefore, I hope somebody doesn't have the bright idea to televise the bowl game. I'd rather listen to it on the radio and use my imagination, so maybe they'll have a better chance to win.

I'd like to go to that bowl game. I remember the last Wildcat game Stanley and I attended. We were almost frozen by the fourth quarter, so we will probably reconsider. By the time it was over, we didn't care if the Vols did win; we could go home and warm up a little.

Maybe we should stick with indoor games. Hopefully, we'll get to go to a basketball game or two this year. I know it's wishful thinking, but it would be nice.

The first two games of the basketball season are under the Wildcats' belts and they look like they could have a good season ahead. There is already one injury, but we can hope that it won't be that much of a factor.

It seems that the teams more recently get the job done, but overall they don't have the talent as in years past. There have been years in the past when it wouldn't be unusual to see two or more players go to the pros at the end of the season.

I'm really proud of those Lady Cats. They have really turned their program around in the last couple of years. We were so fortunate to see Coach Micki DeMoss come our way. She really learned a lot from Pat Summit of the Tennessee Vols, plus a few things of her own, I'm sure.

I'm not only proud of the Lady Cats, I'm proud of all the UK teams in various sports, win or lose. I'm particularly fond of the men's basketball team. They have a long and proud history of excellence, and are the pride of the Bluegrass. Good luck, Cats!

Rockcastle Memories

By David J. Griffin

My eldest grandchild, Baylor, was born on November 22. His birthday is not one that I have to write down because the date was etched into my memory decades before he was born. I knew on the day of Baylor's arrival that I would never have any trouble remembering his birthday—and that it would always take me back to the same date in 1963.

I will never forget that Friday, a cold November afternoon. I got into my car, after attending a college class, and heard the news that John Fitzgerald Kennedy had been gunned down in Dallas, Texas. Chills still run down my spine as I type these words. It was the most memorial moment in my young life. He was, and remains, a hero to me.

Upon heading back to my dorm in my '58 Chevy, the radio announced, "President Kennedy was gunned down today by an assassin's bullet in Dallas, Texas." At first, I just froze—and then I began to cry. I hurried to my dorm room to hook up my reel-to-reel recorder. The tape ran for the next four hours of coverage from WHAS radio in Louisville. My dorm room was filled to capacity with young men listening to the saga unfolding in Dallas. No one was talking or going anywhere.

Sometime later, everyone began to congregate around the small black and white television in the recreation room of the dorm. The sound from the TV filled the room. Not another sound could be heard. For the next three days, the nation was glued to the news coverage that documented the events surrounding the assassination.

We watched as Lee Harvey Oswald was arrested in a theatre shortly after Kennedy died. We witnessed the execution of Oswald when Jack Ruby shot him in a Dallas police station. One escalating event seemed to follow another throughout the weekend.

Nothing was more heart-wrenching than Kennedy's funeral. The rider-less horse (named Black Jack), John John's salute to his father, and the countless numbers of Americans that lined the road to Arlington National Cemetery. I can still hear the beat of the drums and the sound of the hooves as the carriage bearing the body of our slain President rolled down the street toward his final resting place.

Dignitaries from all over the world came to pay their last respects to President Kennedy and his family. Many of these important world leaders marched behind the casket for the entire trip from the Capitol to Arlington Cemetery, a distance of six miles. An estimated one million people lined the route with hardly a dry eye in the multitude.

I was a sophomore at Mt. Vernon High School when John Kennedy ran for the presidency. In the Democratic primary, he faced Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, and Adlai Stevenson, who was the favorite "write-in" candidate. On July 13, 1960, the Democratic Party nominated Kennedy as its candidate for President.

My grandfather, Eugene Stokes, was one of Rockcastle County's most staunch Republicans and, therefore, was not a supporter of Kennedy. But he, as did much of America, had further reservations about Kennedy's Catholicism. It was a blaring issue for a short time. Other issues included Cuba and the Soviet space and missile programs.

After Kennedy assumed office, Pop quickly accepted his new President's role as the leader of the most powerful country in the world. I think his attitude had begun to change when Kennedy commented in September of 1960, "I am not the Catholic candidate for President. I am the Democratic Party's candidate for President who also happens to be a

Points East

By Ike Adams

For several months this past growing season, I have literally fought a ground hog that is invading my little orchard and vegetable garden. He/she/it had numerous entrance holes around the acreage that I suspect are intertwined in a complicated system of deep underground tunnels.

Suffice to say that they are well below the reaches of an 18 inch turning plow. But they have to be down there somewhere.

Twice or three times I plowed over those holes and suspected tunnels with a huge, four-wheel-drive Ford tractor digging so deeply into the clay that the front wheels came off the ground. Carrying a loaded and ready to cock rifle if the whistle pig showed itself.

Two days later, there were mounds of earth piled up around new hole among the furrows.

I tried pouring gasoline down the holes—I'm talking five gallons of gasoline soaked in for several minutes—and sitting it afire. The earth trembled upon the explosion and I am lucky to be alive. Smoke and fire belled from every visible ground hog hole on the place, which, I believe verifies my tunnel theory. (Do not try this gasoline approach at home unless you are bent on suicide and intent on burning yourself alive.)

I survived but don't count yourself so lucky.

But nooooo. Two days later sooty dirt began piling up here and there and my Romas and Blue Lake beans began taking a beating, or should I say "eating?" In short order my peas were obliterated. Chewed off at the root tops.

So I resorted to sulfur. I plugged up all the groundhog holes I could find and dug out one of those little burners that holds like 6 or eight blocks of charcoal that campers use to heat up hot dogs. I had already purchased a 12 oz. box of sulfur at a local hardware store. I believe, thank God, that I got the last one and that it has long been against the law to sell this stuff.

But Mom used to buy it and put it on red-hot coals in old hub caps that she sat around the barn once a year to get rid of chicken mites. The yellow smoke would kill anything that breathed it and it would permeate the barn. Mom would set it asmoke and make sure that me and the younger boys were well out of reach of the orange smoke.

She'd have all the chickens and livestock out of the barn, but I'm telling you that it smoke-killed rats and mice as well as lice and mites and fleas. She also knew how to sulfur smoke apples so they tasted like gun powder but that's another story.

So I acquired my box of sulfur, ran a 200-foot electrical cord off the front porch and took along an industrial grade hair dryer. I heated up my charcoal to bright red and poked it down in the ground hog hole and dumped in the sulfur, poked in the hair dryer and, tamped in a bit of moist soil and turned the dryer up to high. Then I mounted a WWII gas mask that I had purchased on Ebay and sat there on the battleground.

Within seconds orange smoke was rolling out of the crevices of my property and I let it go like that for thirty minutes until it looked like the hair dryer was going to fry.

This morning when I went to get the paper right at dawn, the ground hog was sitting on my rock wall chomping on a turnip. He/she/it immediately slithered back into a hole where smoke had recently arisen, turnip in paws.

And I thought to myself: "this battle is not over but at least it doesn't have fleas."

Baby, That Dog Won't Hunt

Duane "the Dog" Chapman, Honolulu's famed bounty hunter got some good news from Mexico recently. It appears that the prosecution of the Dog by

Mexican prosecutors for his capture of a fugitive cosmetic company heir may soon be resolved without the Dog facing prison time himself.

In 2003, the Dog traveled to Puerto Vallarta to apprehend Max Factor heir Andrew Luster who had been charged in connection with three alleged rapes. Ironically, after being arrested in Mexico for the illegal apprehension, the Dog posted bail and then failed to appear for court. Mexican officials then initiated extradition proceedings. Most recently, a Mexican appellate court issued an order staying further proceedings against the Dog. Whether this development signals the impending dismissal of charges remains unclear.

Bounty hunters, also known as bail enforcement agents, are generally employees of bail bondsmen. In many states, after a defendant is arrested for a criminal charge the court may set a monetary bail which when posted permits the defendant to remain free pending trial. Since most defendants cannot raise such large sums, many choose instead to pay a small fee to a bondsman who then posts the entire amount of the bond with the court to ensure the defendant's subsequent availability. If the defendant fails to appear for court, the bondsman faces the prospect that the court may forfeit the bond, typically a sum entailing thousands of dollars. Bounty hunters are re-

Colon Cancer Can be Hereditary

Presented by David Bullock, M.D.

We seldom think of cancers as something we inherit. Yet there are a number of cancers that have one or more genes that directly affect a person's chances of developing it.

Colon cancer is one of these cancers where genetics is often involved. Fortunately, we have genes that protect against the cancer too. It is when you end up with the wrong combination of these genes that you are at greater risk of developing the cancer.

Your family tree becomes important in assessing your risk. If your direct relatives had cancers of the colon, breast or ovaries, you are at increased risk of colon cancer. You need to watch closely for symptoms, do screening tests, and work to avoid further risk factors.

Any prolonged change in bowel habits is a warning sign that needs to be evaluated by your physician. Also any pain or bleeding with bowel movements needs to be evaluated.

Even if you have no symptoms, you should routinely do the card tests for blood in the stool and a flexible sigmoidoscopy according to guidelines. The card tests for blood in the stool should be done each year, starting in your 40's or earlier if cancers have developed in your family at a younger age. A flexible sigmoidoscopy is typically done every 3-5 years beginning at age 40.

Other colon cancer risk factors which you can control are tobacco use and a diet too high in fat and too low in fiber.

To determine if you have an increased risk of cancer from hereditary causes, make a list of all your relatives, if they developed cancer, what kind, and at what age for your doctor to review.

Mt. Vernon is a friendly town...

Dear Editor,

Not sure who to contact in regards to Mt. Vernon. Just wanted to tell someone that my brother, Dan Nordman, had the most encouraging and inspiring story to tell last night. He was in Mt. Vernon last week to head to a fishing trip. He had trouble with his truck and encountered at least 3 or 4 different people in Mt. Vernon who were so very hospitable and assisted him with his getting his truck fixed. It was unbelievable how very friendly and warm the individuals were (sorry I do not have names), but what faith they give us in humanity. Living close to a larger city (Northern KY/Cincinnati area) offers many conveniences but maybe too much technology and hustle-and-bustle where the friendliness does not exist quite as much.

Thank you for being so hospitable.

Mary Gerding

If you would be interested in being an election officer or alternate, please call me at 758-0115.

I would like to thank the following officers for their work in the last election. If you see any of these people, you may want to give them a job well done too. East Mt. Vernon - Louella Bussell, Stacy Thacker; South Mt. Vernon - Rebecca Cash, Chara Bryant; West Mt. Vernon - Brenda Hayes, Lois Baker; North Mt. Happy Maguire elected...

Dear Editor,

Election time is over and Judge Walter Maguire is our new Family Court Judge and I am happy.

This letter is in response to Karen King's letter in the Signal on November 2nd, asking for people to vote for Debra Lambert.

I would like to ask Ms. King if she has ever had a vicious lie called to social services in Rockcastle County? Ms. King needs to investigate and talk to the public and Concerned Citizens for a Better Family Court, based in Somerset, before she asks people to vote for Debra Lambert.

My daughter's rights were violated in numerous ways and my whole family scarred for life because of rulings against her and because social services did not investigate to find out the truth.

My grandson says his youth was taken from him and that he wishes he had been old enough to have realized what his dad and his girlfriend were doing.

In fact, my grandchildren were taken from a loving, caring family and put in undesirable surroundings, abusive homes and with people who did not care for them.

Rock Of Ages open...

Dear Editor,

A few months ago we decided to close the Rock Of Ages Mission due to lack of financial support. Since then we have received several calls from needy people asking that we stay open because our services are very much needed in this area. We will remain open because we don't want anyone to go without.

This has really touched our hearts. We are still in need of a building to put items for the less fortunate to come out to when they need something. Please just take a minute and think of the comfort of your family and your home. Then imagine losing all of it to a fire or any disaster. What would you do? This is the type of situation that we help with.

We also give to anyone who may just have need for a bed or table etc. We are in need of financial support so we can purchase items that we don't have. I would like to see other Missions and Organizations and Churches work together with us. Some refer people to us, but they don't help when we need it for the people. Won't you please be a supporter of Rock Of Ages? We need everyone who can to send your support. And please pray for our needs list. We hope that everyone has a safe and Blessed Holiday and remember that if Jesus wasn't born that there wouldn't be CHRISTMAS.....

Thank You

warded with a portion of the bond if they re-capture the defendant and surrender him to the court.

The U. S. Supreme Court has recognized the broad historic rights of bounty hunters and bondsmen to re-capture fugitives. In 1872, the Court noted that: "The bail bondsmen have their principal on a string, and may pull the string whenever they please, and render him in their discharge." Thus bounty hunters can re-capture their clients pretty much at will, by force if necessary, by breaking into their homes, or on the Sabbath. Few restrictions exist. Except the one that got the Dog.

Many foreign jurisdictions and some states, like Kentucky, have no bondsmen and do not recognize the right of bounty hunters to forcibly remove clients from their territory. In fact, Kentucky affirmatively eliminated this type of vigilante justice in 1976 with passage of legislation abolishing commercial bail bonding in favor of a professional pre-trial release system. Our current system is acclaimed nationwide as a model of effective pre-trial release.

Because bondsmen are illegal in Kentucky, bounty hunters like the Dog frequently find themselves in conflict with Kentucky law enforcement. In 1997, a Cincinnati bondsman posted a $21,000 bond to secure the release of Allen Wayne Barkley who was being held on traffic charges and a domestic violence offense. Barkley failed to appear in court and fled across the river to northern Kentucky. The bondsman went after him and several months later observed Barkley's vehicle being driven into the parking lot of what was believed to be Barkley's residence. The bondsman gave chase and eventually located Barkley, though he was not the driver of the vehicle. Barkley resisted and the Newport police were called. Upon their arrival, the bondsman was unable to produce a warrant for Barkley's arrest, in accordance with interstate extradition practices, and police ordered that Barkley be released. The bondsman was charged, however, with violating a Kentucky statute which provides that no bondsman may arrest another for violating the terms of his bail unless a warrant has been issued for that person's arrest. At trial, it was revealed that this bondsman had made more than 50 such apprehensions in Kentucky without legal authority.

Because of the risk of wrongful arrest, and the concurrent dangers associated with breaking the peace, Kentucky and other states-and apparently Mexico-prefer that police officers re-capture fugitives after an appropriate warrant is obtained. To misuse a Waylon Jennings' verse: Well, I've been sitting here at home with the porch light on/While you've been chasing everything that runs/Let me put this in your ear and make it be so clear/Baby, that dog won't hunt. At least not in Kentucky.

Catholic." After that, my family did not dwell on the religious background of our new leader.

While Kennedy was President, the Berlin wall was constructed. On June 26, 1963, he visited West Berlin and gave a public speech criticizing communism. In that speech he said, "Freedom has many difficulties and democracy is not perfect, but we have never had to put a wall up to keep our people in." I never heard my grandfather criticize President Kennedy again following that speech.

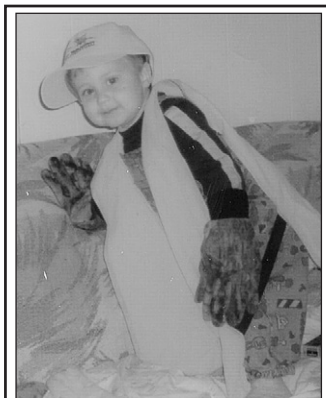

The day after the assassination was a Saturday, and I went home that morning to be with my family. It was a time for gathering together for consolation. We sat in front of the TV for the entire weekend, and I watched every member of my family cry for our fallen President. Not only did my family draw closer together but so did the entire country.

Those of us who survived the tragedy remember well where we were when we first heard the horrible news. United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said of the assassination, "all of us will bear the grief of his death until the day of ours." He was so right.

No one could ask for a better team of supporters and friends and I will always cherish you and be guided by your spirit and strength, as this has not been just about me, but about all of us.

I love our community and I cannot imagine being among better people than we have here in Pulaski and Rockcastle Counties which make up our Judicial District.

I feel truly honored and blessed and am looking forward to each and every day continuing to serve our community as District Court Judge to the very best of my ability.

Earl Ponder, right, age 92 and formerly of Livingston, is shown with fellow World War II Veteran and long time friend, George Garrison, of Stanford. Mr. Garrison is accredited with saving the life of Mr. Ponder when he was badly wounded during World War II. Mr. Ponder is one of the few remaining WWII Veterans living in Rockcastle County. He is a Purple Heart recipient and was also awarded the Silver and Bronze Star and numerous other military medals. He now lives with his granddaughter and family near Mt. Vernon.

Library News

Pam Chaliff and Kathy McKibben

We are looking forward to the holidays here at the Rockcastle Library! We are planning special programs for the preschoolers. Allen Pensol is working on a program for our little ones to attend the Teaching Learning Center across from the Board of Education building. Last year the children and caregivers loved it!

Mrs. Charlene Gentry, crafter for Renfro Valley has been working on a project for the ladies to do before the holidays. We are anxious for this to take place November 20th on Monday. Next month we will set a date to do crafting with beads. The library has most of what we would need to make a bracelet, necklace or even earrings! We love the little ones coming to the library, but we also want to provide a place for the adults and young adults to enjoy being creative.

This week we are expecting the preschoolers from Mount Vernon Elementary School to visit us, plans are in the works. If you have an idea that would be simple for us to hold a class, please make the suggestion, we are open to ideas for the community. This week is Children's Book Week! Please stop in and see the books that we were able to acquire for our youth. We are so proud of the non-fiction books we are able to provide for the up and coming young people in this county! These books are ready for check-out.

We had a wonderful group from the Rockcastle Middle School this last week while school was not in session come visit us to write a bill and speeches to be presented at Kentucky Youth Assembly in Louisville. Wow, what an honor. These young people used the career room for these discussion group. In attendance were Laiken Coffey, Hannah Bullock, Mathew Gonzalez and Jacob Houk. We are so proud of these students! Yeah for Rockcastle!!!

"What Saith The Scriptures"

In 2Cor.11:13-15 we read, "For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works." Now this text raises some intriguing questions. Who are these "ministers of righteousness" that really are doing the work of Satan? Do we have any of these kind of people today? Who would they be? How can we identify them? Yes, we have these folks today, and plenty of them! They can be identified by their fruits, "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?" Matt.7:15-16. The fruits of the teacher, is his teaching. Just listen and examine these "ministers of righteousness" teachings' with the word of God and you will see we have a multitude of laborers for the devil.

Eighth graders publish Music Book

Several eighth graders from the Rockcastle County Middle School (RCMS) Gifted and Talented program in partnership with the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame & Museum (KMHF) are publishing a music themed book entitled "Sounds of the Mountain Soul". The publication focuses on musicians and songwriters who preserve the traditional music of Eastern and Southern Kentucky. As stated in the book's introduction, "Tradition is a familiar friend in the field of music. And if that friend is unmatched in lyrical honesty and cradles a narrative strength of true crafted feeling and tone then the music of Eastern and Southern Kentucky is an everlasting friend indeed."

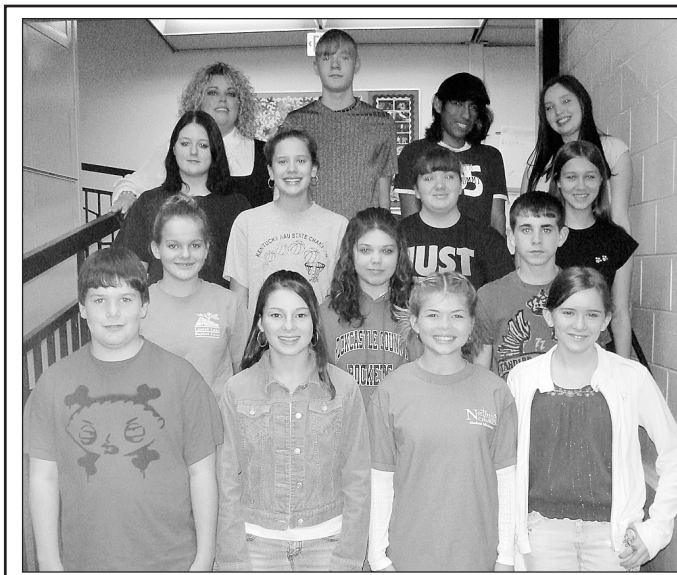

The student writers contacted various musical artists known for their "strength of tradition and the spontaneous force of living artistry". The students then interviewed the musicians and wrote character biographies to compile in book form along with quotes and photographs. The book is a hardbound 25 to 30-page publication to be published and marketed by KMHF with proceeds going toward the MKHF educational programming.

The student writers took several fieldtrips to the KMHF and were introduced to the project goals and given assigned artists to contact and interview then meeting again to develop draft interviews, begin the writing process and review final writing pieces. Those eighth grade students participating in the project include Morgan Hunt, Katie Linville, Felicia Cameron, Jasmin Johnson, Brook Blackburn, Jennifer Hackworth, Heather Gregory, Bruce Bolyard, Ethan Miller, Josh McKinney, Taylor Anderkin, Ashley Partin, Victor Coffey, Allyson Washburn, Sarah Herbert.

An evening presentation of the book, "Sounds of the Mountain Soul" will be held Thursday December 14th at the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum beginning at 6:00p.m. The public is invited to attend. Artists featured in the book include Mitch Barrett, Roger Cooper, Jennifer Rose, Ethan Eversole, Michael Garvin, John Harrod, Sarah Howard, Tim Lake, Homer Ledford, Ada and Jimmy McCown, Chris Mullins, Deborah Payne, Brett Ratliff, Lee Sexton, Ray Sloan, Jamie Wells, Jesse Wells, Randy Wilson.

Minds in the Middle

RCMS would like to send thanks to the Rockcastle County School Board for visiting our school last Thursday evening. Bravo students Emily Clark and Ben Lake did an excellent job of sharing information about our new gifted and talented program.

After much preparation, the RCMS Leadership Team did a great job of hosting Mix It Up Day in the cafeteria on Monday. In an effort to break social barriers and exclusion of others by students, the team had everyone in the cafeteria sitting by someone new. Their hope is that students will realize how easy it is to talk to new people and that the inside of a person is more important than the outside. Great effort team!

This month, the media center is holding a "Book a Day Giveaway." When students check out a book, they are registered for a drawing to receive a free book of their own. Congratulations to recent winners Rachel Halcomb, Matthew Alcorn, Brandon Woods, Kenton Adams, Jacob Langford, and Chasity Minton.

The Shooting Stars would like to recognize Makayla McFerron and Spencer Childress as Rising Stars of the Week. Keep up the great work!

The dance that was scheduled for this Friday has been rescheduled for December 1st. Time is running out for 8th graders who wish to apply for the Robinson Scholar Program. This program will offer a full four year scholarship to the student who is selected. All 8th graders interested in going to college should apply. The only students who are not eligible to apply are students with a parent who has a four year college degree.

RCMS wishes the best to our Student YMCA members who will be representing our school at the Kentucky Youth Assembly on Thursday and Friday. We have confidence that they will continue to make us proud.

We would like to express our appreciation to Mrs. Jamie Fain for helping us with our website. The RCMS website received a third place plaque at the Outstanding Achievement in School Information Services award banquet in Bowling Green on November 2nd. More than 30 education communication professionals judged over 206 entries. If you haven't check out our website, please do so at w

In a very emotional program last Friday, our students and staff showed their appreciation and respect for our local veterans. It was a great honor for us to host over 100 veterans. We thank all the students and staff who helped to make Friday such a special day. The RCMS Choir and RCMS Band sounded awesome!

FFA members attends National Convention

By: Jerrica Poynter
FFA Chapter Reporter
On October 25th, Rockcastle FFA members loaded up for their three day long trip to Indianapolis, Indiana for the 79th National FFA Convention. The convention was held in the RCA Dome. The theme for this year's convention was "Blue Jackets, Gold Standards." This theme helped emphasize exactly what the blue corduroy jacket represents and what's expected of FFA members when they are in them.

One of the many activities that the chapter participated in during the trip was attending sessions ran by the national FFA officers where they got the opportunity to listen to motivational speaker and football icon, Terry Bradshaw.

The group also went to the National FFA Center where they learned a few new facts about FFA and got to tour the entire center for better understanding about the brains of the whole operation.

There is a little something for everyone at the annual Career Show. It held over 1,300 booths representing colleges, fundraising companies, vehicle manufacturers, U.S. Armed Services and, of course, agriculture-related companies. Each student had no trouble finding plenty of exhibits that not only interested them, but gave them information to help them with their future.

When Rockcastle chapter members weren't learning more about FFA, they were taking some free time to attend events such as a Carrie Underwood concert and a hypnotist's show not to mention the hours each member spent buying tons of new gear at the FFA Shopping Mall.

Congratulations to Daniel Bustle and Matthew Whitaker who received their American Degree at convention. Also, Derek Adams represented Rockcastle well as a national delegate as well. Great job, Derek!

The group was honored to be members of the Courtesy Corp during the trip where their job was to help out during competitions whether it was to give directions or help clean up.

The trip came to an end with a tour of the Bass Pro Shop in Indiana. Each member returned home on Friday afternoon with an empty wallet, tons of great memories, and more leadership skills to better their school, community, and country. The chapter would like to thank everyone who helped to make the trip possible, it was a great trip and we are already anticipating next years!

Students at Rockcastle County Area Technology Center took part in the democratic process Thursday as they cast their ballots in the National Student/Parent Mock Election. Over 60,000 Kentucky middle and high school students participated in the youth voter project, coordinated by Secretary of State Trey Grayson.

The student ballot included the Fifth District Congressional race between US Representative Hal Rogers and Kenneth Stepp, as well as issue questions about Iraq, immigration, and the environment. Students were also given the opportunity cast their vote on the local election races, as well.

"Allowing the students to experience the voting process firsthand was also allowing them to come into contact with their fundamental right as an American. Our goal in this mock election was to encourage students to keep the desire to be an active voice in how our government works," says, Wendy King, School Coordinator of Mock Election for Rockcastle County Area Technology Center.

The National Student/Parent Mock Election is just one of the many programs that the Civic Literacy Initiative of Kentucky (CLIK) is promoting in the Commonwealth. The CLIK, directed by the Kentucky Workgroup on Civic Literacy, is striving to develop a strategy for enhancing long-term civic engagement and literacy. In recent years, Kentucky has been recognized as a national leader in this effort.

"Mock elections foster a voter habit that young people can carry well into their adult lives," says Secretary of State Trey Grayson who chairs the Kentucky Workgroup on Civic Literacy. "Encouraging active civic engagement among on young people is ultimately beneficial for the entire Commonwealth."

Play Johnson Central in Regional Championship

Rockets 'pick-off' Bell Co. in 13-0 win

By: Richard Anderkin

The Rockcastle County Rockets used a ball control offense and three interceptions to beat the visiting Bell county Bobcats Friday night 13-0 and capture another district seven football championship.

The Rockets kept the football eight minutes and 23 seconds on their opening drive which ended with a two yard touchdown run by tailback Dusty Miller. Place kicker Brad Durham added the extra point and the Rockets were ahead 7-0.

In the second period, the Rockets scored with just 19 seconds to play before half-time on a one yard run by quarterback Izak McQueary.

That score came at the end of a five minute and 23 second drive. Durham missed the extra point and the Rockets were ahead at half-time 13-0, which would be the final score.

Of the 48 minutes played Friday night, the Rockets had the ball for 34:13 to the Bobcats 13:47 seconds.

The Rockets racked up 16 first downs compared to Bell County's 11. However, Bell County had nine first downs in the second half compared to Rockcastle's three.

Bell County's offense certainly outperformed the Rockets in the second half, picking up 153 yards compared to the Rocket's 74, but it was turnovers that would spell doom for the Bobcats and victory for the Rockets.

For the game, the Bobcats turned the ball over four times, three of those were interceptions, all in the second half and all in the end zone.

The Bobcats also fumbled the ball once in the second half, which was recovered by defensive specialist Donovan Pigg.

"Our defense dug in when they had too, just like they have all season long," said Rocket defensive coordinator Adam Coleman.

Defensively the Rockets yielded only 172 yards to the Bobcats the entire game, all through the air.

The Rocket defense held Bell County to minus six yards on the ground.

In the first half, the Bobcats gained only 19 yards on the eight plays they ran. On the other hand, the Rockets ran 42 plays, picking up 185 yards and scoring the only two touchdowns of the game.

Besides his fumble recovery, Pigg led the Rockets in tackles and assists, which included two sacks.

Two of the three interceptions in the end zone were by defensive back Tanner Perkins and the other was by junior linebacker Zach Burkhart. Both Burkhart and Perkins also had four tackles and assists.

Casey Hayes had four tackles and assists. Both solo tackles were sacks. Adam Hensley also had four tackles, as did Miller and both had a sack.

Durham had one tackle which was a sack and three assists and Trenidy Coffey added a tackle and assist.

McQueary, Josh Garrison and Steve Trimble all had a tackle.

Senior Scott Daugherty, who starts on both the defensive and offensive line for the Rockets, suffered a knee injury in the second half and had to leave the game.

Head assistant coach Tony Saylor said a special brace had been ordered for Daugherty for his injured knee and that he may be able to play Friday night in the regional championship game.

"We really want know anything until he has a chance to wear the brace on Thursday," Saylor said.

Offensively the Rockets gained 185 yards in the first half and 74 yards in the second half.

Miller led the Rockets on offense with 177 yards on 38 carries. He also caught one pass for negative yardage.

Miller also set another school record on Friday night when he broke the single season rushing record with a total of 2,397 over

RCHS girls place 12th in State Championships

The RCHS girls' cross-country team finished in 12th place overall this past Saturday at the Kentucky Horse Park in the Class 2A State Championships. Although RCCHS did not finish as high in the team standings as they have been accustomed to, the entire team enjoyed great performances with many of them running season or career best times. RCCHS did avenge their regional loss to Lexington Catholic, defeating them by an impressive 49 points. RCCHS sixth grade all-stater Michaela Hunter led the RCCHS girls' team with an outstanding performance. Michaela stayed in the hunt for the state title the entire race. She had the greatest performance of her career to date, finishing 3rd overall among a field of nearly two hundred state qualifiers. Michaela's awesome time of 19:59.26 was not only a personal best, but also the second fastest time in the history of RCCHS cross-country. Placing in the top eight guarantees her a 1st team all-state selection for the second straight season. Michaela's second straight top fifteen finish (after finishing 6th last year) will give her a chance to become only the second girl in the history of Kentucky cross-country to make the top fifteen for eight seasons in a row, provided she remain healthy and committed over the next six years.

RCCHS eighth grader Sara Hammond came through at state with an all-state caliber performance. Sara got off to a great start in the race, putting herself in contention early on. She finished a strong 29th place overall in a personal best time of 21:16.53. Her 29th place finish was also a career best. Sara's terrific performance will likely earn her a spot on the all-state team as well. Even more amazing is the fact that Sara has had very few days of practice time with the team. Next season, she should become a serious individual state title contender in Class 2A with much more practice time available due to the later start of basketball season.

Freshman Deana Gabbard saved the best performance of her career for state. She ran a great race throughout, finishing an impressive 78th overall with a new personal record time of 22:13.8. Deana's time was an improvement of over 25 seconds from her previous personal best. In only her first year of cross-country, Deana has already established herself as one of the hardest working runners to ever compete for RCCHS.

Junior Courtney Bullock has battled the entire season to overcome injury and illness. The state championships were no exception. It seemed as if Courtney might not be able to participate before the race began due to severe stomach cramps. Despite the pain and discomfort, Courtney ran her heart out. She finished 129th overall in an impressive 23:17.66. This was her best performance of the last two years and an improvement of over a minute from her best time this season.

Eighth grader Jasmin Johnson has had a breakout season, knocking over five minutes off her best time for a 5,000-meter race. She has been a very consistent performer for the last several weeks for RCCHS despite some illness of her own. At state, Jasmin performed exceptionally well. She finished a superb race in 154th place overall in a very impressive 24:12.27. Her time was only seconds away from her personal best set earlier this season.

Senior Morgan Kincer has had a great first season of cross-country, despite a meniscus problem that will likely require surgery somewhere down the road. No stranger to success as an all-state track performer, Morgan has been equally impressive this cross-country season. At the state championships, she finished in 161st place overall in 24:39.28, her second best effort this season. Morgan will likely run track in college after her senior season and is currently weighing her numerous options.

Eighth grader Kristen Bullock ran very well at the state championships, despite overcoming a recent illness. Kristen's hard fought effort resulted in a 171st place finish overall in an impressive 25:23.74, one of her best performances this season. Kristen has had a successful season after getting a late start practicing full time due to her participation on the golf team.

With the cross-country season coming to a close, several members of the team are expected to be named to the all-state team, as well as the all-state academic team, in the coming weeks. The athletes will have some time off and will resume practice for the indoor track season in December. The RCCHS girls will be seeking their second straight indoor state championship title in Class 2A after defeating Paducah Tilghman for the crown last year.

the 12 games played thus far. The record was set by Marty Regan in 2002 when he gained 2,279 yards.

On Friday night, McQueary rushed the ball ten times for 31 yards and completed two passes.

Hensley had 24 yards on five carries, Shawn McHone had 19 yards on four carries and Cody Mize added two yards on two carries.

Perkins had one catch for 9 yards.

Friday night the Rockets will travel to Paintsville, where they will take on the 12-0 Golden Eagles, who defeated Ashland Paul Blazer Friday night 28-21.

The Golden Eagles are favored by a touchdown in Friday night's contest.

"We will have to play error free football to win Friday night and I hope we have a lot of fans to help offset their fans. They (Johnson Central) always pack them in," said head coach Tom Larkey.

"We played as hard against Bell County as I have seen us play all year and we've got to repeat that performance Friday," he added.

If the Rockets were to get pass Johnson Central they will return home to host the state semi-final game. Their likely opponent will be Lexington Catholic, who defeated Franklin County 44-38 last week in overtime.

Lexington Catholic plays Covington Catholic this week. Lexington Catholic defeated Rockcastle 48-20 last year in the regional championship game, which was played in Lexington and went on to win the state 3A championship.

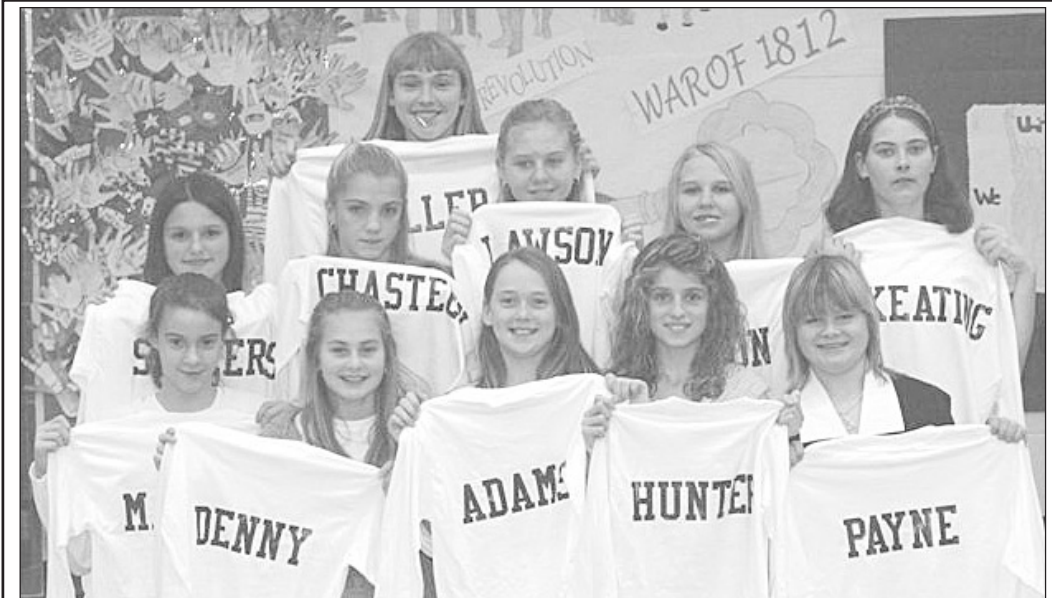

The RCCHS girls cross-country team finished in 12th place overall this past Saturday at the Kentucky Horse Park in the Class 2A State Cross-Country Championships. Michaela finished 3rd overall with an awesome career best time of 19:59.26, the second fastest time in the history of RCCHS cross-country. Youth Yak at RCHS

Youth Yak has finally made it back!! We've had so many requests for Youth Yak we decided to bring it back. Just in time for the Holidays too! We've had a lot going on at RCHS so lets get started.

Some New Faces

We want to say kudos to Mrs. Jennifer Mattingly for taking the challenge as our Principal at RCHS and Mrs. Ruth Hamilton (some of you may remember her as Mrs. Ruth Allen) for coming on board as Assistant Principal. We are happy to have such a wonderful and devoted team of Principals. Thank you Mrs. Mattingly, Mr. Noble and Mrs. Hamilton. Your jobs are very demanding and we do appreciate you.

Other new faces are Mrs. Jaclyn Cook, Mrs. Joy Farley, Ms Jamie Garner, Mrs. Rita Hayes, Mrs. Amy Lewis, Mr. Nathan McGee, Mrs. Rebecca Trembula, and Mrs. Johnna Ward. We are glad to have these new folks to be a part of our RCHS family.

Come to School

Students are encouraged to have good school attendance. Missing school is a sure way to find yourself behind in class. The attendance policy at RCHS states: A student is allowed three excused parent notes per semester. Any absences after that require a doctor's statement. If a student has three unexcused absences or tardies per semester, they will spend one day in-

School Suspension and be banned from attending school trips, job shadowing, college visits, and attendance at extra-curricular activities (except tutoring) for one month. After five unexcused absences, driving and parking privileges shall be revoked, students will not be eligible to attend the Prom, and students shall be banned from extra-curricular activities for the remainder of the year. A total of nine unexcused absences and/or unexcused tardies will result in charges of habitual truancy. More detail regarding the attendance procedures can be found in the student handbook, which each student is required to carry with them at all times.

Attention

Advance Tickets for Friday night's regional football final at Johnson Central will go on sale during lunch on Wednesday. Ticket prices are $5.00 and will be sold to our students ONLY on Wednesday on a "first come-first serve" basis. Any remaining tickets will go on sale to the general public on Thursday.

Ready or Not - It's Time for KYA!

By: Sarah Woodall • KYA Media Corps

Whether you're ready or not, it's that time of year again. On November 16-18, RCMS will be attending another exciting, fun-filled KYA. Just in case you don't already know, KYA (Kentucky Youth Assembly) is a three-day experience where middle school students, from all across the Kentucky, come to learn about their government. Although KYA is a lot like real government, there is one major difference: the kids run the entire thing! You may be wondering what exactly goes on at this "KYA." Here it is in a nutshell: delegates, or students, vote on bills, campaign, vote for their leaders, debate at the capitol and have the time of their lives.

Bill authors are the ones who come up with ideas that they think would make a good law. Then, they decide exactly how this law would work. Next they research their bill so they'll be prepared for any curve ball the other delegates might throw at them. Once the bill authors have given their speeches and answered questions about their bill, the committee that they're in, votes to pass or defeat their bill. If their bill makes it through all the committees, it will then go to the governor of KYA. The governor can choose to pass or veto the bill. Some bills from KYA have even been turned into actual laws for the state of Kentucky.

Bill authors aren't the only people who are important at KYA. We can't forget about the candidates, the delegates who are running for governor of KYA. We can't forget about the candidates, the delegates who are running for governor of KYA. IF they are elected, they serve the following year, conducting the entire conference. The delegate from RCMS who is running for governor this year is Ben Whitaker. He will spend most of his time campaigning, giving speeches and talking about his three platforms. Like Ben's motto says, "Ben means business!" Sydney Arvin is our state candidate for Leadership Team 2006. She is seeking the office of Speaker of the House. With Sydney, "Big things come in small packages!"

Most of the time, that's what we are all doing -- conducting business. However, you can't really expect middle school students to be all business during their time at KYA! There is, of course, some time for socializing, fun and pizza! I've got to go - pack my bags! I don't want to miss a minute of this exciting experience.

Committee election
The 2006 FSA County Committee elections will be held November 3 through December 4, 2006.

Committee members apply their knowledge and judgment to make decisions on disaster and conservation payments, establishment of allotments and yields, producer appeals, employing FSA county executive directors and other local issues that affect their communities.

To be an eligible voter, farmers and ranchers must participate or cooperate in FSA programs. A person who is not of legal voting age, but supervises and conducts the farming operations of an entire farm, can also vote. Agricultural producers in each count submitted candidate names during the nomination period held last summer.

Eligible voters, who do not receive ballots by mail, should contact their local FSA County office. December 4, 2006 is the last day for voters to submit ballots in person to local FSA County Office. Newly elected committee members and alternates take office January 1, 2007.

counseling, attend AA/NA meetings and keep a job.

Didonato told the crowd that he was thankful for the program and that, in past appearances in the court room, he was a nervous man.

"This room makes me nervous, but I don't have to worry about that anymore," he said.

"With the things that I have learned in this program, I am going to stay sober. I would do anything to stay sober," he continued.

Didonato had nothing but good things to say about Drug Court.

"I already had a head start on staying sober, but the things I learned in here help me maintain my desire," he said.

"It took me a long time, and so many times of being down and out, to realize drugs were no good," Didonato said.

"You don't see an addict recovering from drugs in 30 days and the length of this program is just as much a factor as what you learn," he said.

"Drug Court changed my life and helped me to manage my priorities - drugs are no longer a part of my life and I am happier than I have ever been," the 37-year-old said.

Commonwealth's Attorney Eddy Montgomery, whose office was responsible for prosecuting Didonato, told the graduate he was glad he had proven him wrong regarding his ability to stay clean.

"I certainly think he will make it, he seems determined," Montgomery said after the graduation. Keynote speaker Kentucky Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Lambert of Mt. Vernon told those in attendance that during his first tour of the state, as Chief Justice in 1988, he witnessed his first Drug Court graduation in Fulton County.

The Chief Justice said that at the time there were only 12 drug courts in Kentucky and now there are 60 throughout the state.

Lambert noted that there were many good reasons to support Drug Court besides the dollar savings.

"It is well documented that rehabilitation is cheaper than incarceration, but there are much better reasons, the families, husbands, wives and children who have been saved by this program are the other reasons," the Chief Justice said.

"We've tried to incarcerate our way out of the drug problem and now we are working together to find the best solution for everyone," he added.

Lambert also lauded the efforts of Kentucky Congressman Harold Rogers for his ongoing fight against drugs, through the UNITE program, which he helped create and which the federal government funds.

"Many recent accomplishments in Eastern and Southeastern Kentucky would have not been possible without the Congressman's help," Lambert said.

Karen Engle, Executive Director of Operation UNITE, praised the success of Drug Court and the leadership of Chief Justice Lambert in the fight against the drug problem.

"I think we have something that works," she said.

Judge Burdette said that because of his completion of Drug Court, Didonato escaped three years of jail time but, more than anything, "he has gotten his life back on track."

"You would never believe it, if you didn't already know, that he had been in and out of trouble with the court system since 1999," Burdette said.

"It is an uplifting story," he continued.

Didonato's criminal record is completely clean and his only requirement now is to complete a year of after care, which may require him to be randomly drug tested.

The Circuit Judge said that at least two other graduates in Drug Court are on the horizon and admitted that many of those who have been admitted to drug court failed and were sent to jail. "That has happened many times but at least drug court gives them a chance to change their lives," he added.

Wednesday, the 17 members of the drug court panel will vote on whether or not to admit two other local people into the program.

The week of November 12-18 was proclaimed as National Hunger and Homeless Awareness Week in Rockcastle County by County Judge-Executive Buzz Carloftis on Tuesday. On hand during the signing of the proclamation were Holly Bryant, left and Tamara Cox, right. Both women work with Ashlee's Homeless Shelter on Main Street in Mt. Vernon and the Daniel Boone Community Action Agency. Several events have been planned throughout the county this week and will culminate with a Pig Roast on Saturday.

formant with UNITE purchased pills from Bostic at a residence on Rainbow Ridge in Mt. Vernon.

Bostic told the informant that she was selling four Vicoden pills for $20, but lab reports later revealed that the pills were actually just methocarbamo, a pain relaxer which is a non-controlled substance.

And then in October and December of last year an informant went back to Bostic's home and was sold Hydrocodone.

Bostic request for a probated sentence was denied by Circuit Judge Jeff Burdette.

Bobby Jo Delph, 38, of Brodhead was also sentenced to two years by Burdette for second degree trafficking in a controlled substance.

In October, Delph pled guilty to a March, 2005 incident where she sold four Hydrocodone pills to a UNITE undercover officer.

At the sentencing hearing, Delph asked Judge Burdette to probate her sentence as well, but he also denied that request.

According to the news release, Dalton pointed out that at the time of the sale between Delph and the undercover officer, she was carrying an infant in her arms. "By dragging an innocent child into this danger, she should be sent to prison," Dalton said.

While free on bond, Delph also broke her bond conditions when she failed a drug test.

Doug Kirby, 35, of Brodhead was sentenced to one year in jail by Burdette for selling marijuana within 1000 yards of a school in February of 2005.

According to the release Kirby sold 6.1 grams of "pot" to a confidential informant for Operation UNITE for $60.

When Kirby was arrested last year at the Bittersweet Festival on the indictment charge for trafficking, he was also in possession of marijuana, according to Dalton.

Dalton combined both charges against Kirby, which he pled to in August in Circuit Court.

Veterans honored Friday at RCMS

Over 100 United States Veterans and their family members attended a Celebration of Veterans Day Friday at the Rockcastle County Middle School. The day's events included a reception, lunch and a student-led program of honor for the Veterans. Among those in attendance were Billy Ray and Lavada Sowder, of Brodhead, shown top left. Sowder, who fought in the Vietnam War was on the ground in Vietnam for a year during the conflict. They are shown viewing the Vietnam display at the middle school. Also looking at Vietnam display in top photo are right, were: Marvin and Jackie Onkst, of Berea, whose granddaughters, eighth grader Kaitlyn Blanton and sixth grader, Brooklyn Blanton invited them to the celebration. Onkst served three years in the armed services in the 1950s. In the photo at right is Ret. Lt. Commander Bob Randolph, a pilot in the Korean War and the Vietnam War being greeted by middle school teacher Melissa Singleton at the reception. Randolph, who spoke during the program, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in 1959.

Several RCMS students visited the courthouse on Friday, before the celebration, to place a wreath at the War Memorial. Although the students spent the day with many wonderful Veterans, they also wanted to take a moment to remember those who gave their lives for the cause of freedom. Those visiting the memorial were: Rachel Halcomb, Nathan Bullock, Mrs. Kathy Bobo, John Robert Hasty, Katie Linville, Megan Stewart, Tiffany Howard, Robert Reynolds, Megan Martin, Johnathan Alcorn, Jarret Hamm and principal Jason Coguer.

Dear Citizens of Rockcastle County,

Congratulations to the winners of all political races on November 7, 2006. I am confident each person will aspire to move the county forward as I also desire.

Also, to the non-winners, thank you so much for your political participation. Your sacrifice makes current office holders diligent in doing a job that will benefit all Rockcastle Countians.

A lot of work is ahead of us, and now is the time for all to join together and make wise decisions in all areas so Rockcastle County can march forward.

I want to personally thank the people who voted for me. As I often say, I am only as strong as the people behind me. I am very proud to be Rockcastle County Attorney and will do my best to make you proud of this office that I hold dear to my heart.

Again, congratulations and I am excited and looking forward to the next four years. And, as always, should you need me, please call or stop by.

Sincerely,

William D. Reynolds

Four FBLA officers recently traveled to EKU in Richmond to participate in the Fall Leadership Conference for Regions 4 and 6. These officers attended workshops for their specific office and gained valuable knowledge to help them fulfill the obligations of that office. They also attended workshops on recruitment, fundraising, awards and recognitions, publicity, and running for a regional or state office. Those attending were: Ronnie Lainhart, president; Lorrie McClure, secretary; and Amanda Miller, treasurer; and Rocky Lear, parliamentarian.

During the week of October 23rd, the Rockcastle County FCCLA Chapter along with Youth Services, hosted Red Ribbon Week. During the week, the chapter hung a banner in the main hall of the high school. This banner had the words "The Future Relies on You & Me... Be Drug Free!" written on it (the theme for the week). The chapter had all of the students sign the banner signifying that they were drug free. When a student signed the banner, they would receive a free Red Ribbon that had the same logo as the banner, showing all that they had pledged to be drug free. Pictured is freshmen Regina Rice signing the banner.

CAP holds dance for those with disabilities

On November 3, The Christian Appalachian Project Rainbow Respite Care Center held a dance for individuals with disabilities at the Family Life Community Center. The Theme was "Celebrating the Fall Season". Over 70 people attend from Rockcastle and surrounding counties.

We would like to thank the following business', Godfathers Pizza, Pizza Hut, Franks Pizza and Carters Market for the pizza's they donated. Also Wal Mart in Berea and London, for the gift cards which were used to purchase decorations and drinks, and Sigmond Farms for the pumpkins, gourds and fodder shocks. The community support was overwhelming and will not be forgotten.

A special thanks to Joy Mosely, a short term volunteer with C.A.P. who came from Rim Rock Arizona to donate her time and talents to the Rainbow Respite Center and her church the Beaver Creek Baptist Church who also donated money for the dance.

And a BIG Thank You to the staff of the Rainbow Respite Care Center who put a lot of time and energy into this dance to make it a success.

The Respite Care Center is a program of the Christian Appalachian Project, a non-profit inter-denominational organization founded by Father Beiting. CAP provides local services in Eastern Kentucky, regional services throughout Appalachia and a national program educating the American public to the problems that exist in Appalachia.

Life Center grounds in Renfro Valley, Kentucky, provides short-term care for families with children, teens, and adults with mental and physical disabilities. We are an approved Supports for Community Living Medicaid Waiver provider, providing out of home, weeklong overnight respite care. For more information contact us at (606) 256-5921.

The Christian Appalachian Project Rainbow Respite Care Center recently held a dance for individuals with disabilities at the Family Life Community Center. The Theme was "Celebrating the Fall Season." Over 70 people attend from Rockcastle and surrounding counties.

Operation Christmas Child Helping children in need

Operation Christmas Child is a ministry that puts simple shoe box gifts into the hands of children in third world countries. "Many of those who receive these boxes have never received a gift on any type and they find it hard to believe that they get everything that is in the box" said, Sherri Yants, Director of the Lake Cumberland region of Operation Christmas Child. Yants said that last year our region sent over eight thousand shoe box gifts to children around the world and she hopes to send ten thousand or more this year. "I have been praying for years for more individuals, groups, clubs, and churches to take on the challenge of giving through Operation Christmas Child"

Yants said. If you would like to be apart of Operation Christmas Child you may contact the Rockcastle County Relay Center, located at First Baptist Church, by calling (606) 256-2922. All shoe box gifts are due by this Sunday. You can find all the information you need about what should go into a box by visiting the web site or contacting the Rockcastle County Relay center at First Baptist Church. Drop off hours this week are as follows.

Wed: 8:00am - 7:00pm
Thurs - Fri: 8:00am - 3:00pm
Sat: 11:00am - 3:00pm
Sun: 3:00pm - 7:00pm
