Accident on bypass proves fatal

A Rockcastle County man was killed Friday night in an accident on the Hwy. 461 bypass in Mt. Vernon.

Kentucky State Police said that Charles "Doug" Adams, 73, of the Old Brodhead-Mt. Vernon Road, died as the result of the 6:30 p.m. accident at the intersection of Ky. 461 and 1326, as he was trying to cross from West Main Street onto the Old Brodhead-Mt. Vernon Road.

Police say that Jeremy W. Howard, 27, of Mt. Vernon, who was driving a Plymouth mini-van, hit Adams in the middle of the road.

Howard told police that he did not see Adams, who was pronounced dead at the Rockcastle Hospital by deputy coroner Marvin Owens.

Howard was also treated for minor injuries at the hospital and released. State police say the incident is being investigated as an accident.

Grand Jury hands down 15 indictments

Rape, drugs, theft among charges

By: Richard Anderkin

The Rockcastle County Grand Jury handed down 15 indictments November 9th, for crimes ranging from rape to trafficking in drugs.

Roger L. Saylor, 34, of Copper Creek Road was indicted on three counts, which involved a 15-year-old female.

According to court records, Saylor allegedly had sex with the underage girl, during an 18 month period from August of 2004 through February of 2006. Saylor was indicted for third degree rape, third degree sodomy and third degree incest.

Rockcastle Circuit Judge Jeffery T. Burdette set Saylor's bond at $50,000 cash or property but he had not been arrested as of press time.

Rockcastle Sheriff's Deputy Matt Bryant is investigating the case.

Another local man, Nathaniel Seals, 36, of Mt. Vernon was also charged in a sex crime case involving a child under the age of twelve.

Nathaniel Seals

Roger Saylor

The 14 count indictment against Seals alleges that he committed the sex crimes in August and September of this year.

Seals was indicted on four counts of first degree sodomy for "having deviate sexual intercourse with a person under twelve years of age," four counts of first degree sexual abuse, for "having sexual contact with a person under twelve years of age" and two counts of using a minor in a sexual performance.

Seals was arrested on October 15th of this year, by Mt. Vernon Police Chief Terry Jackson and Kentucky State Police Detective Gary Lane at his Richmond Street home.

Seals was arrested after police received a complaint. At the time of his arrest, police said Seals admitted to the crimes against the child.

Seals, who has been in the Rockcastle County Detention Center since his arrest under a $100,000 cash or property bond, will be arraigned November 29th.

Detective William "Bo" Harris, a former Rockcastle County Sheriff's Deputy and now an officer with operation UNITE, presented six cases to the grand jury.

Indictments were handed down against all six defendants.

Teresa Slate, 37, of Rt. 1, Mt. Vernon was indicted on one count of trafficking in a controlled substance and one count of tampering with physical evidence.

Slate is accused of selling hydrocodone on May 30th of this year.

A warrant has been issued for her arrest and a bond of $50,000 cash or property has been set.

Three indictments were handed down against Barry Randy Stewart, 47, of Orlando for a June 14th incident involving illegal drugs.

Counts one and two allege that Stewart possessed Oxycodone and Hydrocodone with intent to distribute, dispense or sell the Schedule III drugs while in possession of a firearm.

Count three alleges that Stewart also committed the offense of cultivation of marijuana, five plants or more, while in possession of a firearm.

Stewart was arrested November 13th and lodged in the Rockcastle County jail under a $50,000 cash or property bond. He will be arraigned on November 29th.

Rocket lineman Brad Durham to sign with Wildcats

There is good news this week for Rockcastle County High School standout football player Brad Durham and the University of Kentucky Wildcats.

Rockcastle County head football coach Tom Larkey confirmed Tuesday morning that Durham verbally committed to U.K. on Saturday, while attending the U.K. - University of Louisiana-Monroe game.

The 6-5, 300 pound offensive and defensive tackle will make an official visit to U.K. on December 8th.

"Kentucky offered Brad a full scholarship his junior year and they are making good on their word," Larkey said.

"Brad is a great football player and he is an excellent, young man who will fit in good with the Kentucky program," Larkey said.

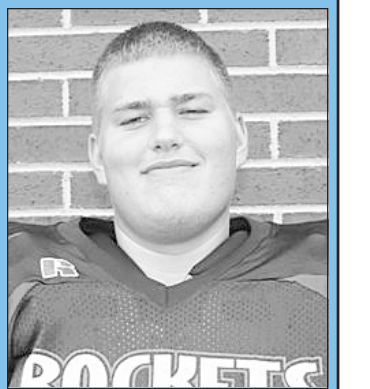

Durham verbally committed to the University of Louisville on August 10th, at Louisville's request.

However Louisville pulled their scholarship offer to Durham during the first week of November.

Durham, the son of James and Amy Durham, will join former teammate Jason Leger on the Wildcat squad.

Leger played for the Rockets from 2000 to 2003 and is a starter on the Wildcat's offensive line.

Brad Durham will play his college football at U.K.

Demolition nearing completion on the Northside Apartments

By: Richard Anderkin

Demolition of the structures on the Northside Apartment's property in Mt. Vernon is almost 100 percent complete.

Corey Craig, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development board said Monday that the entire site would be cleaned up in a couple of weeks.

Northside Apartments and adjoining property on Richmond Street will encompass well over an acre and may be used for a new Rockcastle County Library.

The Northside Apartments property was bought in June for $175,000 from David Vanhoose and property next to Northside Apartments owned by Roger Isaacs was purchased this month for $77,000.

The site extends to Cox Funeral Home property in the back and borders property owned by the Rockcastle County Board of

"A new library has been part of the long range strategic planning for Rockcastle County," Craig said.

Craig said in June that a plus factor for some funding for a new library could be connection with the school board's new Rockcastle Teaching and Learning Center. The building, which housed the school system's bus garage for years, has been totally renovated and is located next to the Northside Apartment site.

Craig said funds might be available through the Wilderness Trail Program, which has funds available for such projects as a new library.

Craig also said that members of the development board and project coordinator for the board, Lynn Tatum, had talked with several counties in the state

Clifford Collins, owner of Clifford Collins Backhoe LLC of Mt. Vernon, and Sam Stallworth were busy on Thursday tearing down the Northside Apartment structures on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon. The site, along with adjoining property owned by Roger Isaacs, will be completely cleared in a few weeks. The property is owned by the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Board and totals approximately 1.3 acres. Industrial Authority Board Chairman Corey Craig said the house on the Isaacs property would probably be destroyed by a controlled fire set by the fire department.

Rockcastle County Attorney William D. Reynolds, right, and members of his law office recently welcomed Tighe Estes to the staff. Besides working in Reynolds' law office, Estes has also been sworn-in to serve as assistant County Attorney. Tighe is a graduate of the University of Kentucky Law School, Georgetown College and Madison Central High School. Reynolds will begin his second term as County Attorney in January.

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

Dear Journal:

Thanksgiving is almost here. I don't know if I'll be ready or not. Thanksgiving, like most any other holiday, usually requires a bit of preparation. There's all of the extra cleaning and preparing for guests, many of which may be from out of town. There's extra shopping and of course, the cooking. Did I bother to mention all of the cooking? Let's not even talk about all of the cleanup and recovery from the event. (The recovery stage is what I'll be in by the time that this is read. If I'm not mistaken, I think I have just missed the deadline by a couple of hours in order for this to be printed.)

It has come to my attention that for the past few years the retail industry and society in general has all but forgotten Thanksgiving. It's only that little "bump in the road" between Halloween and Christmas that we're supposed to be using to reflect and note all of the blessings that we've been given from God since last year. Maybe that's it in a nutshell. It isn't very politically correct to be thankful to God for all that He has done for us, and He doesn't turn a lot of revenue at the retail stores.

Thanksgiving has, unfortunately, turned into no more than a day to watch parades and football games on TV, eat a huge meal, and sleep it off on the couch resting up for a daybreak shopping spree the next day. It's a shame to see such a grand old holiday, the oldest and most unique of the American celebrations die in this fashion. Hopefully, there will be a few take a stand and be genuinely thankful for what we either individually or collectively as a nation have.

If we think that we don't have anything for which to be thankful, look around and see. I'm sure it won't take long to see someone more in need of something in some aspect than we. I know that on a few Thanksgivings in the past, it has been very difficult for me to find something in which to be thankful. In some cases, the only thing I had to be thankful for was the fact that I was alive, and not necessarily because I wanted to be. Here's the real thankful part: situations never stay the same indefinitely no matter how bad they may seem.

However, I have a great deal to be thankful about this year. There is my health, such as it is; I'm not so bad off that I couldn't be worse. I have a very wonderful husband and marriage, we have a nice home (it usually stays a little dirty with a lot of clutter, however) that we are redecorating. We have everything we actually need, plus a few things extra; I guess you'd call them "the desires of our heart." We even have a heavenly Father who has made all of it possible. This year I, as well as Stanley, want to be especially thankful.

Rockcastle Memories

By David J. Griffin

In considering a topic for this week, I consulted my wife. She replied, "You're the apple expert. Write about apples." While I may not be an expert, I have always remembered what I learned about them in a graduate course conducted by Dr. Don Frazer at UK. I must say that I learned more useful information from his than any professor I have ever had. When I coincidentally ran into him at a UK basketball game, the timing seemed to confirm my wife's apple idea.

As a child growing up in Rockcastle County on my grandfather's (Pop) farm, I was exposed to the best tasting fresh apples that anyone could imagine. He had several different varieties including Yellow Delicious, Winesap, and my favorite, "horse apples." (I don't know if this is a real variety or just what he called them.) The horse apples were a very late fruit and were as hard as a buck's horn. Mommie Katie used to dry them to make her scrumptious dried apple pies. They had a wonderful juicy and unique taste. My friends and I would fill our pockets with them and head for the woods to play.

At Christmas time, my father (Hobe) always went to Uncle Jesse's grocery store to purchase every kind of fruit, nuts, and candy known to man. It was a yearly tradition. About four days before the 25th, he would drive up and unload bags of these treats. I remember that he always wanted to get as many different varieties of apples as he could find. Red and golden delicious, Granny Smith, McIntosh, and Winesap apples filled the bags. We ate the fruit and candy first and saved the nuts for later. Daddy had false teeth and could not bite into an apple so he used his pocket knife to cut slices to savor. (I hesitate to mention that it was the same knife he used to trim his toenails!)

While teaching chemistry and human anatomy, I always taught a unit about the value of apples in the human diet. And as mentioned, I even used apples as a research topic in my graduate studies at UK. I taught this unit to countless numbers of teenagers and now I am going to share it with you. So, pay attention. You are not required to take notes.

My research revealed that there are approximately 20 things that are beneficial to the human body if a person eats just one apple every day. For the body to benefit, the whole apple has to be consumed, including the skin. I am not going to lecture to you about all of the ben-

Points East

By Ike Adams

It's not a blizzard, but as I sit here, uninspired, on this early Monday morning, I would like to report that Paint Lick received its first official snowfall of the season in the wee hours of November 20, 2006. For that matter, it's still flurrying about as I glance out the window. It's not quite a Courier and Ives scene, but I'd bet Pine Mountain is.

There is just enough on the front yard grass that when I went to fetch the newspaper there in the slip across Charlie Brown Road, I had to dust off my moccasins before I dared come back in the house. There's hardly anything that riles Loretta more than melted snow on the hardwood floors.

This is what I call a kale and turnip curing snow. I still have enough kale, turnips, mustard greens and collards to supply anybody in the neighborhood who likes them, but kale is an entirely different vegetable after it's undergone a snow and turnips get twice as sweet and tender as were before they soak up the melting snow.

We've already had a couple or three hard freezes that made the Siberian kale edible.

In fact, I picked a big arm full last Saturday morning, brought it to the kitchen and stripped it off the stems along with a hand full of curly mustard greens. I stuffed the kale into a big kettle along with the mustard, added a couple cups of water, and poured about half a cup of steak drippings on top.

I covered the kettle with a heavy lid and turned the heat up high. Within a minute the greens had wilted down and I added more and kept repeating the process until the kettle was about half full of wilted greens. Then I turned the heat down low and let them simmer for about fifteen minutes. Then I turned the heat off and let them continue to smother in the steam.

I also fetched half a dozen smaller turnips about the size of tennis balls, peeled and cubed them, placed them in a two quart cooker along with a cup of water, a couple tablespoon size scoops of Amish cow butter, a little salt and a liberal dusting of fresh ground black pepper. I covered the cooker with a heavy ceramic dinner plate, bottom side down and simmered the turnips for about ten minutes before turning the heat off.

I let them sit and smother, without ever removing cover, while a big pone of cornbread finished baking in the oven.

That's what Loretta and I had for lunch and supper on Saturday. We polished the whole thing off, along with fried pork chops and window-ripened tomatoes on Sunday night.

Lunch on Sunday after Church found us sitting in a fast food place in Stanford, chowing down on burgers and Chili before heading for the grocery store. (Best way to save money at the grocery store is eat a full meal right before you go so that you don't get overly tempted to break the budget at the high dollar cheese and meat counters.)

Any way, midway through the meal, Loretta noticed that I had a wistful look in my eyes.

"What are you thinking about," she wanted to know? "You look like you're a thousand miles away."

"I was just dreaming about supper," I told her.

"Aren't you getting tired of greens and turnips," she asked with an incredulous look on her face?

"Never will!" I exclaimed. "But actually I'm just hoping the pork chops are thawed out good when we get home."

Double Jeopardy and the Juice

In what his publisher characterized as "his confession", O.J. Simpson is poised to tell all in his soon-to-be released book entitled If I Did It. The book purports to chronicle the manner and means of N i c o l e B r o w n Simpson's and friend R o n a l d Goldman's murders on

Judge David Tapp

June 12, 1994 while the Simpson children slept in an upstairs bedroom.

Simpson's trial commenced on January 24, 1995 and ended with a verdict of acquittal on October 3, 1995 following only three hours of deliberation. The trial represented to many all that is wrong with the criminal justice system and the pending book release has sparked renewed public outrage.

Simpson consistently maintained his innocence following the trial and even promised to help identify the true killers. Until now.

Fox television reports that Simpson's new book tells how he would have committed the murders if he were the one responsible. Simpson's publisher is even more blunt, stating that the book is Simpson's confession. The anticipated release has renewed interest in prosecuting Simpson for the spectacularly brutal murders. Yet, even if Simpson really tells all, without equivocation, he is unlikely to face a re-trial.

The Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution provides that no person "be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb. . . ." The double jeopardy clause protects people from successive trials for the same conduct, except in limited circumstances, and bars a prosecutor from trying separately multiple offenses arising from the same set of facts. Thus, a defendant acquitted of murder cannot be re-tried if new evidence surfaces indicating guilt. Neither can a prose-

A legend in my lifetime...

Dear Editor,

William (Coach) Bill Riddle died at his home Thursday, October 19, 2006. Mr. Riddle left behind his lovely wife of 54 years, Carol Purcell Riddle. They had three children, Vicki Rae Riddle Scott (Gary), Cheryl Riddle Brown, who admitted that Coach said she was his "problem child," and David Riddle (Sandi), the youngest of the three children. They have five grandchildren, Corey Scott, Angela Dawn Brown Lewis (David), Jared "J-Rod" Brown and Weston and Kyle Riddle and one great grandchild, Riley Lewis.

I remember going to a boys Rockets basketball game with former 1972 Brodhead Tiger Terry Burton and we struck up a conversation about a game at Burgin High School in the regular season of 1972. We went on the floor not ready to play and were down at halftime about 25 points. In the locker room, all the players were very quiet but Mr. Riddle chewed them out up one side and down the other. The third quarter wasn't any better but the team came to life in the fourth and won the game and, I think, were district runners-up in the 49th district. They went on to win the regional championship at Middlesboro High School. In the first game against Knox Central, The Rockets won 60-58 with two foul shots by Clayton Cash making the difference. Then the Tigers beat Cumberland in the championship game 35 years ago this next March. Middlesboro had 6 ft. 8 in. Robert Mayhall and Tommy Mullins and Larry Lafavers played defense on him. After the win, it was on to the Sweet Sixteen where they lost to Warren East 69 to 59. The Britt brothers were just too much.

Coach Riddle coached the Rockcastle County Rockets from 1972 until 1980 and was the first Lady Rockets coach in the 10-974 season.

He will be missed by his family, including his sister, Jean Silcox, and especially by me (he gave me my nickname). I hope to meet up with you, Coach Riddle, in Heaven someday. Rest in peace.

Set the Record Straight On Bipolar Disease

I am bipolar and would like to set the record straight on what the disease is and is not.

It is not crazy, weak, self-pitying or non-motivational and you can not JUST SNAP OUT OF IT.

It is a neuropsychiatry disease (physical) which can be genetic (run in families), associated with an over or lower abundance of these chemicals. Although, not everyone with these genetic chemicals will develop the disease. It sometimes skips generations and may have something to do with stress and environment.

Of the one hundred chemicals that circulate in the brain, much research has been done on four of these chemicals: norepinehrine, serotonin, dopamine and acetylcholine.

An imbalance of these chemicals can cause bipolar (manic-depressive disorder), which causes a change in mood and energy, depression and euphoria. Changes in chemicals in the brain also cause Parkinson disease, but a Parkinson patient is ever called crazy or told to snap out of it.

To name one victim, who probably was never connected with the stigma of bipolar disease, is Abraham Lincoln, who was thought to have the disease.

If a person has bouts of depression and euphoria they may need to see a doctor.

Although, there is no cure for bipolar disease, treatment methods are: antidepressants, mood stabilizers, and ECT, electroconvulsive therapy, which causes seizure and probably massive dose of these chemicals.

ER service at UK has been improved...

(Editor's Note: This is a letter to the editor in response to a letter written by Nancy and Wendy Miller in the November 11th issue.)

Dear Ms. Miller,

I read with deep disappointment your letter to the editor in the Nov 9th Mt. Vernon Signal. As Chairman of the Department of Emergency Medicine at the University of Kentucky, I first would like to apologize to you and your daughter for all the problems you described in your letter and then I would like to outline some of the steps we are taking to ensure that our patients and their families have a much better experience in our hospital in the future.

Your dissatisfaction with the experience can be broken down into two components:

1. Problems with the way you and your family were treated by our staff,

2. Challenges with the capacity of our current facility to handle the volume of patients.

We have been trying to pay a lot of attention in the last year regarding the way we talk to our patients, address their needs and express compassion for their pain, suffering and frustration. I am personally very disappointed that we did not make you and your daughter more comfortable as she recovered from what was a serious medical condition. While our facility can often become crowded as we care for anyone who needs to come to our hospital as part of our mission, there will never be a good excuse to treat people with a lack of compassion and respect.

I believe that if we would have done a better job communicating frequently with and actively listening to you and your daughter many of your concerns could have been addressed quickly. We would have done a better job meeting your basic needs and your overall experience would have been much more positive. I know that we have made several improvements recently, but your experience tells me that we obviously have more work to be done and for that I take responsibility.

As for your complaints about the facility, specifically the lack of privacy and that your daughter was unable to rest because of the noise from other patients, I again sincerely apologize. I can assure you, however, that we are taking active and innovative steps to improve this situation as well. We realize that our hospital and Emergency Department fill a vital need for not only Lexington and our contiguous counties but also many areas of Southern and Eastern Kentucky. Unfortunately, at certain times, we simply have too small a house to comfortably accommodate our guests. To rectify this situation, the UK Hospital administration is rapidly opening every available bed in the hospital and creating new beds in areas that formerly were administrative space. To improve the situation for patients needing emergency care, the current Emergency Department is being expanded and completely renovated. In this project the primary concern is to ensure that the privacy and comfort of our patients takes first priority. The ED renovation should be completed by the Fall of 2007 and will be a major improvement over the current under-sized facility. In addition, as you may be aware, UK Hospital has already begun an incredibly ambitious project building a new patient care facility, which is scheduled to open in 2011. We are very excited that an enormous, "state of the art" ED will be located on the ground floor of this new facility.

Lastly, I would like to comment on the title of your letter to the editor, "Bigger is not always better...". I know that your local hospital, Rockcastle Hospital, is an excellent community hospital serving a vital role in Rockcastle County. I am very proud that the director of the ED at Rockcastle Hospital, Dr. Nancy Antonacci, is a board certified emergency physician who graduated from my emergency medicine training program. In addition, one of the staff physicians who is board certified in both pediatrics and internal medicine, Dr. Karen Saylor, was a resident during my third year rotations in medical school at UK. I can still remember vividly (nearly 20 years later) how impressed I was with her knowledge, skill and ability to communicate with her patients and their families. For me, she embodied the physician I hoped to become. A few years ago I had the opportunity to participate in the training of Dr. Saylor's brother, Dr. David Bullock. Dr. Bullock is an excellent family physician who last year joined his sister's practice in Mount Vernon and at Rockcastle Hospital. Because I have firsthand knowledge of the quality of the providers in your local hospital, I completely agree with you "that bigger is not necessarily better". Our goal, though, is to provide quality and personal care even in a bigger setting. I believe we can - and we must - do that. Your concerns should provide even more incentive for us to redouble our efforts to provide the kind of compassionate and personal care we all want for our patients.

In closing, I apologize again that we did not do as much as we should have to meet your daughter's needs during her recent hospitalization. I give you my promise that we will continue to work hard to improve all aspects of our care. Thank you for expressing your concerns as we use feedback like your letter to train and improve our staff while at the same time planning for the future and improving the bricks and mortar of our facility.

Sincerely,
Roger L. Humphries, MD

efits of apples, just the first five. (If you would like the entire document, you can send me a self-addressed envelope, and I will mail the report to you.)

Apples, including their skin, contain a large amount of vitamin A, which reduces the susceptibility to infection. Is this, by itself, good enough reason to eat one apple per day? I think so. In addition, vitamin A promotes healthy skin - possibly an extra incentive for you ladies.

Apples also have a high concentration of magnesium. When taken in its pure form, this metallic compound has a tendency to reduce stress - and Lord knows that we all need stress relief in this complex world in which we live.

Another metallic compound in apples is the element manganese. If consumed at night after supper, it promotes good digestion and even acts as a mild sedative. This is much better for good health than taking a sleeping pill or some acid-reducing tablet.

The last two advantages of apples are also based on the chemistry of this wonderful fruit. They contain a small amount of malic acid, which promotes good dental health and reduces halitosis (bad breath). (Sometimes when I am talking to someone, I wish I had an apple to give them.)

OK the lesson is over for this week. Are you ready for the test? I am teasing of course. But remember, an apple a day really may keep the doctor away!

You can reach me at mtman@mis.net. Thanks for the wonderful comments. I read each one carefully and take your suggestions seriously.

ecutor, except in unusual circumstances, elect to try a defendant for murder and when the defendant is acquitted, try the same case again on a theory of assault. Essentially, the rule provides that the government gets one bite at the apple and they better get it right the first time.

There are some circumstances where multiple trials are permissible despite the plain language of the Fifth Amendment. Mistrials are the most common exception. Where a jury is unable to reach a verdict, i.e., is "deadlocked", double jeopardy is inapplicable. Likewise, if charges are dismissed before jeopardy attaches, then the charges can be later re-instated. In Kentucky, jeopardy attaches when a jury is sworn. At any time prior to the administration of the oath to the jury, a court may dismiss charges without prejudice and thus allow a prosecutor to later reinstate the same or similar charges.

The other notable exception to the double jeopardy bar arises when different governments prosecute the same person for related offenses. This doctrine of dual sovereignty permits different states, or a state and the federal government, or the federal government and a foreign government, to proceed against the same defendant for related offenses.

Recall Rodney King. The officers accused of beating Rodney King following a high speed car chase on California highways were acquitted in state court, but then tried in federal court for civil rights violations. Since each case was brought by a different sovereign, the successive prosecutions were proper.

Thus, the latest saga in the Simpson case is significant only because it marks yet another sick and twisted development in a brutal and unresolved crime. It is not significant in terms of legal implications because it is unlikely that any exception to the double jeopardy clause exists.

I for one, will not be reading the book. I already know how it ends.

"What Saith The Scriptures"

What is your goal and pursuit in life? Is it the trivial pursuit of the things of this world? Or is it to serve God? Solomon made a quest to find out the meaning of life. He found out that every earthly pursuit, (that leaves God out of the picture) is vanity of vanities. Whatever the pursuit, whether it be education, buildings, silver and gold, travel, music, political power, fame and fortune, etc.; all these will not fulfill the longings of soul. One will see vanity and emptiness, for this is what comes from making these sorts of things the pursuit and goal of life. He states his conclusion to this extensive search, in Eccl.12:13-14, "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." Now if, we do as Solomon says, to fear God and keep his commandments, then the earthly activities of life have their place and purpose in living life as we serve God. Remember there is coming a judgment day, when we shall answer to God, and all things will be exposed. Are you serving the Lord? Are you ready for judgment day?

Turkey for the Holidays

Family and Consumer Sciences

Hazel Jackson

Rockcastle County Extension Office

Holiday meals, especially Thanksgiving, often go hand-in-hand with turkey. In fact, it's probably safe to say that more homes will be serving turkey on the major fall and winter holidays than any other item. Many family cooks have prepared this favorite for years and years with recipes and instructions that have been lovingly handed down through generations and which they, in turn, will hand down to their children. In some homes, cooking the first turkey might even be seen as a rite of passage.

Thawing your turkey is best done on a tray in the refrigerator. Allow 24 hours for each five pounds of weight. Another option is to use cold water immersion. In order to do this, place the wrapped turkey in the sink and cover it with cold water. Change the water every 30 minutes.

Stuffing is almost as essential as turkey at a holiday meal. To prepare, get the ingredients ready a day in advance. Store dry items at room temperature. Keep the produce in the refrigerator. Stuff a whole bird immediately before cooking, but remember, dressing expands, so don't overstuff. The stuffing should reach an internal temperature of 165 degrees F.

To roast, place the bird breast side up on a rack in a shallow pan. Cover it with a loose aluminum foil tent. Insert a meat thermometer through the foil and into the inner thigh muscle. Cook in a 325 degree F oven; never cook at low heat. Remove the foil during the last 20 - 30 minutes for browning. Cook until the meat thermometer reads 180 degrees F. When finished cooking, remove the bird from oven and let cool for 20 minutes. While it's cooling, remove all of the stuffing. You can now carve the bird. Afterwards, keep warm in 200 degree F oven.

Keep these food safety tips in mind when storing your turkey leftovers:

*Within two hours after roasting, remove stuffing from turkey and carve the meat off the bones, then store in refrigerator or freezer.

*Wrap turkey slices and stuffing separately, and refrigerate and use within three days.

*Use refrigerated gravy within three days.

*Freeze leftovers if you plan to store them for a longer period of time. Wrap in heavy foil, freezer wrap or place in freezer container or freezer bags; for optimum taste, use stuffing within one month and turkey within two months.

Here is a new recipe to try using your turkey leftovers:

TURKEY RANCH PASTA SALAD

2 cups (8 oz) dry penne pasta, uncooked
2 cups chopped leftover cooked turkey
2 cups broccoli florets
1 medium tomato, chopped
1 cup (4 oz) shredded Cheddar cheese
8 green onions, sliced (about 1/2 cup)
6 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
3/4 cup reduced fat ranch dressing
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper

Cook pasta according to package directions. Drain; rinse with cold water. Combine pasta, turkey, broccoli, tomatoes, cheese, onions and bacon in large bowl. Add dressing, salt and pepper; toss lightly. Cover. Refrigerate at least 2 hours, or until chilled.

Golden Eagles win 29-7

Johnson Central ends ROCK's 2006 campaign

By: Richard Anderkin
The Rockcastle County Rockets will have to settle for another regional runners-up title in 2006.

In front of an estimated crowd of 5,000 fans, the Golden Eagles of Johnson Central handed the Rockets a 29-7 defeat in the regional championship game played at Johnson Central High School on Friday night.

The Rockets battled hard but were never really in the contest, at least on the scoreboard, after the first Golden Eagle score with just over six minutes to go in the first period.

Johnson County added another score with 2:25 left in the first half and took a 14-0 lead into the dressing room at half-time.

The two teams played even in the third period, with neither team scoring, but with only two minutes gone in the fourth period the Golden Eagles scored on a 44 yard pass play and opted to go for two points, which they got, making the score 22-0.

The score virtually put a nail in the Rocket's coffin because of the extremely poor field conditions, which made it difficult to play catch-up with big plays.

Johnson Central added their final score of the game with 7:50 to play in the fourth quarter on a 64 yard run by tailback Shawn Grimm, who rushed for 273 yards on just 25 carries and scored three touchdowns in the game.

The Rockets only score came on a 55 yard pass from Izak McQueary to Shawn Childress with 5:23 to play in the game. Brad Durham added the extra point for the final score of 29-7.

Offensively, it was the Rocket's lowest out put of the season, picking up only 242 yards on the muddy field.

In week one, when the Rockets defeated Corbin 2-0 they had just 244 yards. The seven points scored was also the lowest of the season, except for the win against Corbin.

But, the Rockets stand out tailback Dusty Miller had another good game, picking up 127 yards on 28 carries for an average of 4.5 yards per carry. He also caught passes for eight yards.

Sophomore Cody Mize rushed the ball eight times for 25 yards. Fellow sophomore Shawn McHone rushed the ball twice for 12 yards and Adam Hensley had three yards on two carries.

McQueary had 11 yards on seven carries. He completed three passes for 63 yards, threw a touchdown pass and threw five interceptions.

Besides the touchdown reception, Childress picked up one yard on one carry.

Defensively the Rockets were led by sophomore Casey Hayes who had ten tackles and assists and a fumble recovery.

Defensive play caller Donovan Pigg had nine tackles and assists.

Linebacker Zach Burkhardt had seven tackles and assists and senior defensive lineman, Josh Garrison had six tackles and assists, and probably turning in his best performance of the season.

McQueary had four solo tackles and two assists and he recovered a Golden Eagle fumble.

Miller had three solo tackles and two assists while Durham had one tackle and two assists.

Tanner Perkins had two solo tackles and Hensley added two assists.

Scott Daugherty, Lynn Miracle and Childress all added a tackle.

All total, the Rockets defense gave up the most yards of the season, allowing the Golden Eagles 379 yards, 311 on the ground and 68 through the air.

"Johnson Central was the first team this year that actually matched up with us physically," said head coach Tom Larkey.

"They had a very physical defense and a lot of team speed on both sides of the ball and I was proud of our team for giving it all they had," he said.

"This senior group has been together since their freshman year and deserve to be appreciated by the entire student body and community," Larkey added.

"It has been a pleasure working with these young men and their families," he said.

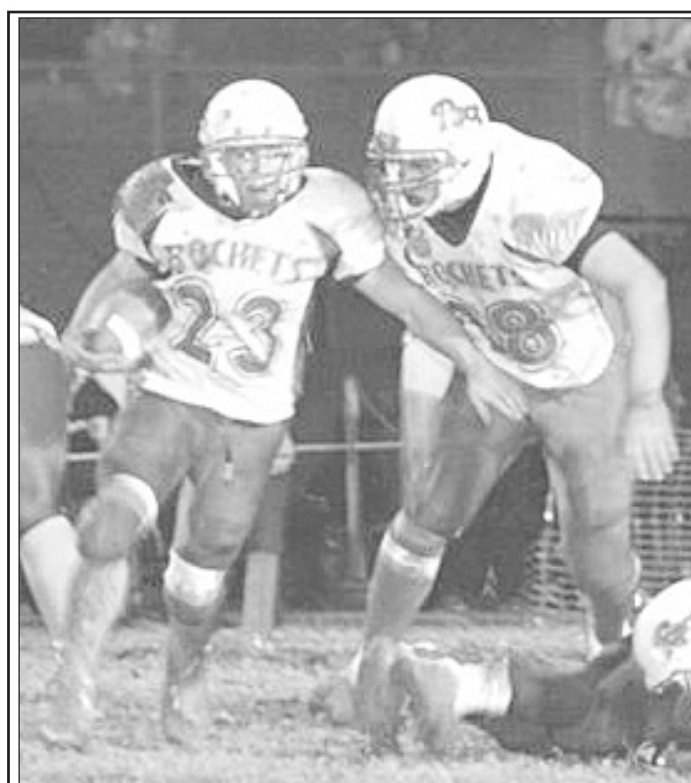

Friday night's regional championship game was the eighth regional championship game for the Rockets while Larkey has been head coach.

The first regional championship game was in 1991 against Danville.

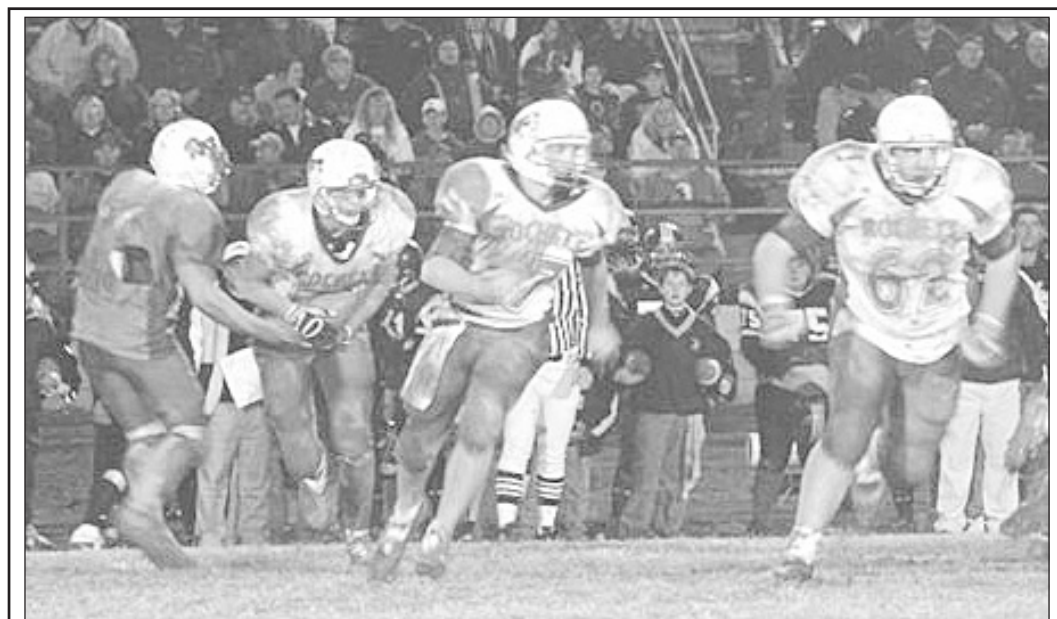

The Rockets have won four regional titles in 2000, 2001, 2002 and last year in 2005.

In 2001, they advanced to the state title game by defeating Covington Catholic in the semi-finals and in 2002, when they embarrassed Fort Thomas

Seniors Dusty Miller, left and Adam Hensley, right, played their last game as a Rocket on Friday night. Miller had another good game, gaining 127 yards on 28 carries. Miller also broke the single season rushing record at the ROCK with 2,524 yards. He also scored 28 touchdowns, on the season.

Dusty Miller hands the ball to Shawn Childress on a reverse play Friday night at Johnson Central. Leading the way for Childress is Izak McQueary and Scott Daugherty. The Rockets season ended with a 29-7 loss to the Golden Eagles. Miller, Childress, McQueary and Daugherty are all seniors. The Rockets finished the season with an 11-2 mark.

Mt. Vernon Elementary School recently participated in the annual Pennies for Patients campaign which raises money to fund the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. Students brought in pennies, as well as other coins and bills, and competed against each other to raise the most money. The class who raised the most in both primary grades and in 4th and 5th grades were rewarded with a pizza party. Have a Happy and Safe Thanksgiving from the Signal staff

For National Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week

Food Drive and Pig Roast were successful

The Family Life Abuse Center, in response to National Homelessness Awareness Week, sponsored a Community Food Drive and Pig Roast, both of which were very successful, thanks to the support and efforts of a number of people and organizations.

The Community Food Drive yielded more than 3,500 canned goods thanks, in part, to efforts of students, teachers, staff and parents of Mt. Vernon and Roundstone Elementary Schools, as well as the support of Mayor Clarice Kirby and the City of Mt., Vernon and local businesses and organizations where collection sites were located.

A Pig Roast, free to the public, was held on Saturday, November 18, to promote Hunger and Homelessness Awareness. Some of the people and organizations who made this successful day possible include: Joyce and Don Gabbard and family, Burton and Diane Stephens and family, June McNew and family, Ford Brothers Realty, Judge Buzz Carloftis and the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, volunteers from the Christian Appalachian Project and the musicians, Ricky's Gospel Mountain Grass, Brady Hensley and Friends and The Bakers, who provided inspiration and entertainment during the event.

Of course, the success of these events was due, in large measure, to WRVK, the Mt. Vernon Signal and the Banner, who provided the advertising necessary to get word out to the community.

We, at the Family Life Abuse Center, thank all those who made our National Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week events successful and look forward to working with all of you again next year. (See photos on Page B1)

53 students attend leadership training

On Friday, November 10, 2006 53 students from the Rockcastle County Area Technology Center attended the SkillsUSA Regional Leadership Training in London, Kentucky. The purpose of this event was for Skills USA club members to attain their professional development for club membership and qualification. Professional Development for SkillsUSA guides students through 84 employability skills activities that are covered in seven levels of the program. The activities help meet the competencies outlined by the U.S. Secretary of Labor's Commission on Achieving Necessary Skills (SCANS).

Skills USA Professional Development provides the tools to strengthen school-based learning, work-based learning and connecting activities as outlined in the School to Work Opportunities Act. Skills lessons include self-assessments to communications skills, ethics, conflict resolution, government awareness, time management skills, career research and more.

The use of the PD encourages local business involvement in the training of tomorrow's entry-level workers. The curriculum used fosters individual self-development for club and community pride. Students are recognized for individual achievement as they develop their professional and occupational skills.

All 53 Skills USA club members, in attendance received their level one Professional Development Certificates, as well as earning their Statesmen Pins for Skills USA. The Rockcastle County Chapter was also well represented in Regional Officer Elections. Rockcastle Students elected to Regional Office were: David Baker, President; Amanda Miller, Vice President; Nick Doan, Secretary; Kevin Begley, Historian; Danielle Alexander, Treasurer; Lisa Robinson, Parliamentarian; and Justin Hensley, Reporter. Rockcastle County Students were elected to each Regional Office voted upon. Smoking cessation program to help pregnant women

The Southern Kentucky Area Health Education Center (AHEC) will team up with the March of Dimes to provide smoking cessation counseling to pregnant women in Rockcastle County. The program, called Baby Steps, will begin in January 2007 and lead women through the process of quitting smoking.

The Baby Steps program will provide free counseling, both in person and on the telephone. Each participant will have two trained counselors assisting her in becoming tobacco free. This assistance will include how to manage cravings and withdrawal symptoms, how to avoid tempting situations, prevent weight gain, and how to stay a non-smoker after the baby is born.

In addition to counseling, participants are eligible to receive incentives for remaining smoke-free. Incentives include free haircut or manicure at the beginning of the program, as well as gifts for baby, movie tickets, massages, gift cards, and more throughout the program.

Participation in this program is voluntary. Any pregnant woman age 18 and over who lives in Rockcastle County, has smoked at least 2 years, and has a due date between May 15 and August 31, 2007, is encouraged to participate. Anyone interested in this program may contact the Southern Kentucky AHEC at 256-0950.

Travel safety tips from Transportation Cabinet

The nation's busiest holiday travel period is about to begin. In anticipation of the tremendous increase in traffic on the Commonwealth's roadways, representatives from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KYTC) will carry their holiday travel safety messages to radio, television and newspaper audiences across the state next week.

"The Wednesday before Thanksgiving is typically the heaviest travel day of the year," observed Transportation Cabinet Secretary Bill Nighbert. "Everyone is thinking 'Home for the Holidays'. We want to do everything we can possibly do to ensure that your holidays are remembered for the most cherished traditions, and not for some avoidable tragedy. Our media campaign is all about saving lives."

KYTC traffic counts from November, 2005 reveal that interstate traffic in Kentucky is, on average, 56% heavier on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving than on any random day prior to the holidays. A recent telephone survey by the American Automobile Association (AAA) has also revealed that almost 83% of all holiday travelers take to the highways to get home.

"While we promote safe driving every day of the year, we really focus on this period because of the dramatic increase in traffic volume, which always accompanies the rush to get home for Thanksgiving," said Tim Hazlette, Commissioner of the Department of Transportation Safety. "With so many more drivers in the mix, you have to exercise more caution. We definitely want to remind everyone to buckle up and observe all the posted speed limits and traffic laws."

The Transportation Cabinet offers the following tips for safe holiday traveling this Thanksgiving:

Buckle Up!

- Undoubtedly, seat belts save lives, and protective restraints for children are just as important. From 40 percent to 50 percent of children ages 4 to 8, who are killed in crashes, are unrestrained. Properly used booster seats -- which let older kids who are shorter than 55 inches (140 centimeters) gain the fullest protection from standard backseat belts designed for adults -- substantially reduce the risk of injury in a crash.

Observe Posted Speed Limits and Traffic Laws

- Research shows that 30 percent of all highway fatalities are speed-related.

- Move Over or Slow Down for Stopped Emergency Vehicles

- Follow the guidelines established under Kentucky's new "Quick Clearance" law:

If you are involved in a crash:

1. If no one is visibly injured, move vehicles off the interstate or parkway, if possible.
2. Call police.
3. Exchange information.

Trip Planning and Preparation

- Allow for plenty of time to reach your destination without speeding or skipping rest stops.

- If you've never taken a particular route before, be prepared for unfamiliar roads, which will require more driver concentration.

- Leave your itinerary with a trusted neighbor or friend, so that someone knows where you are likely to be at any given time.

- Check weather reports and road conditions before you begin the trip.

- Remember to include emergency supplies in your packing list (blanket, flashlight, etc.)

- Don't overload your vehicle, with suitcases and packages obstructing your view. Consider mailing some packages to your destination well before the trip.

- Avoid eating a heavy meal just prior to the trip, which would contribute to drowsy driving.

Avoid Drowsy Driving

- Constant yawning, heavy eyelids, and drifting out of your lane, are a few of the warning signs that you may be on the verge of falling asleep at the wheel. When you are sleepy, your brain starts to shut down. Your ability to drive safely and to think quickly is significantly reduced. Your reaction time is slower, awareness is decreased, and judgment is impaired. The actions of fatigued drivers are frequently confused with drivers who have been drinking. The consequences can be just as fatal. Each year 100,000 automobile crashes, which lead to 40,000 serious injuries and 1,550 fatalities, can be attributed to drivers falling asleep at the wheel.

The following actions may help you to avoid drowsy driving:

- Avoid heavy meals before driving.

- Do not attempt to drive after taking medications which may impair your driving.

- Try to avoid driving when you normally would be sleeping.

- Take regular breaks, at least one break every two hours.

- If possible, share the driving.

- Keep the temperature cool in your vehicle.

However, Craig said that if a new library proves not to be feasible the property might be used as a u-shaped retail area, similar to the one just off Berea's first exit of I-75 as you travel north.

The current county library was built in 1973 and is located on Ford Drive in Mt. Vernon.

Craig said the demolition and clean-up costs at the site would be approximately $20,000.

The majority of the money for the project came from coal severance tax funds.

Hurst family takes part in livestock exposition

By Mary Irelan
North American
International Livestock
Exposition

The National Chianina and Chiangus Show took place at the North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE) in Louisville, KY. The Chianina Division had 111 entries from 19 states, and the Chiangus Division had 92 entries from 16 states.

Chiangus is a cross between Chianina and Angus cattle. Crossbreeding has been controversial in the past, but is becoming less controversial as time passes.

Glen Klippenstein, CEO of the American Chianina Association located in Platte City, MO, explains the need for the Chianina industry. "In the United States Chianina includes crosses between Chianina and any other breed of cattle except Angus. Angus-Chianina crossbreds are called Chiangus.

Crossbreds have become 25% more productive than purebreds over the entire beef industry." Angus cattle are used most often in cross breeding Chianina cattle.

Chianina's suffered from a bad image because they were so large and tended toward a bad disposition. Over the years, genetics has ridded the Chianina of those negative traits, Klippenstein said.

One of the advantages of the Chianina Breed is their genetic ability to substitute fat for edible product. Basically, Chianina's have less fat and more meat, Klippenstein said.

"In carcass contests, Chianina win 50% of them. The other 50% are the rest of the beef industry," Klippenstein said.

Donnie Hurst of Brodhead, KY was at the NAILE showing his Chiangus cattle. "Crossbreeding Chianina and Angus gave us better weight gain," Hurst said.

Hurst was at the NAILE with his bride of two weeks, Theresa Hurst, and his twin brothers, Barry and Garry Hurst. The three brothers own Rocket Cattle Co. They have owned Chiangus cattle for eight years and shown at the NAILE for all eight of them.

Weight gain and quality meat are not the only things Chianina cattle are known for, according to spokesmen for the breed. Chianina have increased carcass value, increased longevity, and increased hardiness, Klippenstein said.

The average lifespan of most cattle is eight years, while Chianina have an average lifespan of 10-12 years. They can even get as old as 20, Klippenstein said.

Chianina cows experience easy labor and calving, because the birth canal is shaped so long.

Calves are born with a lot of vitality, said Klippenstein. Chianina are also very climate flexible. They have a heat tolerance second to Brahmans.

Chiangus breeders devote most of their energy to providing the industry with bulls. Chianina breeders are more focused on the recreational part of the beef industry such as show stock, Klippenstein said.

Full-blood Chianina animals originally came from Italy. They were too big for the environment in the United States, however they had outstanding meat traits. Thus, began crossbreeding of full-blood Chianinas with American breeds, Klippenstein said.

"Breeding those outstanding traits with environmentally adaptable cattle, such as Angus, enabled the beef industry to capture the best of both worlds," Klippenstein said.

During the incorporation of Chianina into the American beef industry, breeders were given the genetic flexibility to make decisions, based on market and environmental conditions, Klippenstein said.

Klippenstein lives on his ranch in Maysville, MO, where he formerly raised Chiangus cattle but has since ceased to be a producer. He showed at the NAILE for many years and now comes back to help out with the Chianina and Chiangus show.

Each year the North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE) draws over 200,000 visitors from both rural and urban areas. The expo takes place each year in Louisville, KY during the first two weeks in November. Livestock shows at the expo provide more than $650,000 in premiums and awards to winning livestock breeders.

The NAILE is internationally respected as the finest purebred livestock exposition in the world. Nine livestock types are featured at the North American International, including shows in most breeds for both youth and adult breeders.

Thanksgiving Blessings To You & Your Family

Built in 1911, this is the last wagon made by Rockcastle County wagon maker, William Henry Cox, great-grandfather of Bud Cox and great-great grandfather of William Lewis Cox. William Henry had a wagon-making shop in the Wellhope section of the county. He also made caskets for families that requested them which led to the beginning of Cox Funeral Home in 1907 by his son, William A. Cox.

Thank You, Rockcastle County, for placing your confidence in our family for nearly a century. We continue to offer quality funeral service, professional assistance and a genuine, sincere concern for anyone's funeral needs at affordable prices.

Food Drive at Save-a-lot

A food drive is underway at Save-A-Lot Grocery Store on West Main Street in Mt. Vernon. Employees and managers have been busy assembling gift bags, full of food, which can be purchased for $5.00 through December 20th. The gift bags will then be donated to First Baptist Church's Food and Clothing Mission in Mt. Vernon for distribution. Mission Director Jean Allen said those interested in receiving a gift bag should simply stop by the Mission Monday and Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. or Saturday 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Shown above from left are: Save-a-lot store manager Linna Stewart, office manager Priscilla Cotton and assistant managers Danny Smith and Danny Hurley.

Rockcastle County residents, David Lyndsey and his wife Carolyn were among the first to sample the meal at the Free Pig Roast Saturday at Dogwood Crafts and Gardens at Brindle Ridge. Ms. Donna Forbes, Children's Advocate for CAP was among the servers. The meal was an event for National Homeless and Hunger Awareness Week. Shown below clockwise from bottom are: Amy Bowling, Burton Stephens, Greg Neely and James Bowling who were among those who helped roast the two pigs. (Second front photos by: Richard Anderkin)

KY-ASAP Board awards $15,000 in grant monies

The Rockcastle KY ASAP Board (KY Agency for Substance Abuse Policy and Prevention) is pleased to announce that $15,000 in grants has been awarded in the effort to expand short and long-term substance abuse treatment options in our community.

A local board meeting was held at Kastle Inn on November 8th and checks for $5000 were presented to Tom Conner, Healing Rain Substance Abuse Recovery Center for Women, Chad Burdette, Northside Baptist SWAT Treatment Referral, and to Tammy Brock, Rockcastle Hospital Cooper Clayton Smoking Cessation Program. In addition to these proposals, the Rockcastle KY ASAP Board is in the process of reviewing three other proposals that have been submitted for review. It is our hope that we will soon be funding other agencies in our community that are providing substance abuse treatment options for Rockcastle County.

Healing Rain is a six-month residential women's substance abuse treatment center operated by CAP. The money received by the center will be used to support their goals for women to achieve and maintain sobriety through spiritual, mental, physical and emotional transformation. Please contact Peggy Hancock at 256-5810 if you would like more information about the center.

Northside SWAT (Servants With A Testimony) Program has been working with treatment for substance abuse for the past three years. The monies received for the SWAT Treatment Referral Assistance Program will be used to assist 10 or more persons who are residents of Rockcastle County who need to be referred and placed in a substance abuse treatment center. Northside Baptist offers group support meetings for anyone dealing with addiction or alcoholism. SWAT meets every Thursday at 7:00 PM at Northside Baptist Church. Meetings are also held on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Fridays at noon at the church. Please contact Chad Burdette at 256-5577 if you would like further information.

The Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center, Inc. is offering the Cooper-Clayton Tobacco Smoking Cessation Program. The program will serve any person (excluding those who are pregnant) in Rockcastle County who wishes to stop smoking.

Cooper-Clayton Smoking Cessation is a highly successful 12-week program that provides education, group support and utilizes nicotine replacement patches. The grant money received by the hospital will be used to provide participants who attend each week of the program with nicotine replacement patches free of charge. Please contact Tammy Brock, RN at 256-2195 if you would like further information.

Lynnett Renner, Chair, Rockcastle KY ASAP Board presents $5000 check to Tom Conner with Healing Rain Substance Abuse Recovery Center for Women.

$5000 check presented to Chad Burdette for Northside SWAT Team Treatment Referral Assistance Program.

$5000 check presented to Tammy Brock, RN with Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center, Inc. for the Cooper Clayton Smoking Cessation Program.

Don Gabbard and his wife Joyce hosted the Free Pig Roast to help promote National Homeless and Hunger Awareness month. Saturday's event was sponsored by CAP's Family Life Abuse Center in Renfro Valley with approximately 400 enjoying the large meal. The Gabbards, Owen Stephens and others started roasting the two pigs at 8 p.m. on Friday night for the 1 p.m. Saturday meal.

Safety tips to ensure a safe holiday season

Holiday lights make the season festive and bright but each December flickering candles, faulty lights and dried-out Christmas trees cause hundreds of house fires and send thousands of people to hospital emergency rooms.

Kentucky Utilities (KU) urges customers to follow these important safety tips to keep the holidays safe and happy.

- Check every set of holiday light for frayed or bare wires, loose connections or broken sockets. Throw away damaged sets.

- Always replace burned-out holiday bulbs with bulbs of the same wattage.

- Choose only lights that have been tested for safety by an independent agency, such as Underwriters Laboratory (UL).

- Keep cords unplugged as you're stringing the lights.

- Before stringing lights in outdoor trees, check to be sure the tree hasn't grown too close to power lines. If it comes in contact with the power lines, the entire tree could be electrified.

- Remember the rule of three: Use no more than three sets of lights on a single extension cord to avoid the risk of it overheating.

- Trim your tree with only flame-resistant materials, including tinsel or artificial icicles made of plastic or lead-free metal.

- Don't run cords under rugs or furniture.

- Use candleholders that won't tip and light candles only when they're held securely in the holders.

- Never use lighted candles on a tree or near other evergreens. Always use non-flammable holders and place candles out of reach of children and pets.

- Decorate the outside of your home only during daylight hours so it's easy to see power lines and avoid them with your ladder. Always carry ladders parallel to the ground and look up to check for power lines before setting ladders up.

- Always turn off holiday lights, including the tree, and blow out any lit candles before going to bed or leaving your house.

- Check and, if needed, replace batteries in smoke detectors.
