Tonight at Roundstone Town meeting concerning FSA office closing

A town meeting concerning the closing of the local Farm Service Agency's office will be held Thursday, (today) at Roundstone Elementary School on Hwy. 25, beginning at 7 p.m.

In the past few months there have been several rumors concerning the closing of the local office, but for now nothing has changed and no date has been set for closing, according to Gloria Robbins, a program technician at FSA for 25 years.

Robbins said that the state's Executive Director Jeff Hall would be in attendance at the meeting to field questions and comments about the fate of the local office.

Anyone with questions about the meeting should call the FSA office at (606) 256-2525.

State trooper sued over actions after traffic stop

A Louisiana man has filed suit in Rockcastle Circuit Court in an effort to get back $30,000, taken from him during a June 30th traffic stop on I-75.

According to court records, Michael D. Rogers of Deville, Louisiana was stopped on I-75 by state trooper Jason Vanhook, who gave Rogers a ticket for going three miles over the speed limit and crossing the fog (outside edge) line.

According to Rogers' suit, Vanhook also confiscated $30,000 cash from Rogers, after police searched his vehicle. However, nothing about taking the $30,000 appears on the citation.

According to the citation issued by Vanhook, Rogers said he was talking on the cell phone when he crossed the fog line.

The suit states that Vanhook called for back up from other officers and did not commence writing the uniform citation until after he had detained Rogers for a period longer than it should have taken to write the citation.

The suit against Vanhook also alleges that he did not tell Rogers that he could refuse the search of his vehicle.

The suit states that Rogers told Vanhook he did not have any drugs or illegal items in his vehicle, but that he did have the $30,000 in cash, which Rogers said was his vacation money.

The suit alleges that Vanhook told Rogers he would need to produce receipts at the state police post in London, showing its source, before it would be returned to him.

"This is a total miscarriage of justice," said Jerry Cox, one of Roger's attorneys.

"They brought in drug dogs and thoroughly searched his Fiscal Court accepts Doan's tax settlement and audit for 2005

In a special called meeting Monday morning, the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court accepted the state's audit of his tax settlement for 2005 and the audit of his office for the same year.

Doan paid the county the excess fees for that year the state said he owed - $51,701, in March of this year.

The audit of his office for his last year, 2006, is now being prepared by the state, along with an audit of the forfeiture funds received by his office and D.A.R.E. funds.

According to the audit of taxes collected in 2005 by Doan, the state says he still owes taxing districts in the county $2,786 which includes $1,671 to the school system and $1,038 to other taxing district, including $810 to the library.

During the special session, the court also approved payment of two bills, one for $2,100 to Mr. Glass Window Tinting for work done on the section connecting the Administrative Offices of the Court - Circuit Clerk Teresa Vanzant's office and other state offices and courtrooms - and the county courthouse building. 266 families participate in Redi-Fest Approximately 800 adults and children, from 266 different families, attended the first ever Redi-Fest at Mt. Vernon Elementary School on Monday afternoon.

"To say we were pleased with the turnout at the event would be an understatement," said coordinator Satica Morgan.

Morgan said that 405 students were served at the event, designed specifically to get students ready for the new school year.

Staff members from each elementary school's family resource center, other school personnel and representatives of 23 other agencies were on hand at the event.

Morgan said approximately 120 hair cuts were given by Sherry Cox, Bootsie Shephard, Karen Durham and Brandi Lee from The Cutting Edge Hair Salon in Mt. Vernon.

Some new students were also enrolled for this school year on Monday and appointments for immunizations were made.

Students received free school supplies, books and backpacks.

"This is certainly something we are going to try and do every year," said Rose Brown, Director of Student Services for the Rockcastle school system.

The first day of school for students is next Thursday, August 9th.

District day for all school employees is next Wednesday August 8th.

RCMS will be ready for start of new school year

"The total refurbishing and reconstruction project at the Rockcastle County Middle School will not be complete when we start school but it will be very, very close," said Rockcastle County School Superintendent Larry Hammond Tuesday.

Middle school principal Jason Coguer said Wednesday that he and his office staff should have the front office completely set up by Friday and teachers would begin Monday morning getting their rooms ready for school.

"They will begin unpacking boxes, going through the materials to see what is outdated and what can be used and begin setting up their rooms first thing Monday morning," he said.

"For the most part we will be ready, but it is not going to be easy to get all of the classrooms ready in two and half days," he added.

The middle school has undergone a $2 million overhaul this summer after three RCMS students set fire to the school in late April.

Coguer said an open house

A Three Links man lost his life last Wednesday afternoon in a farming accident in northern Jackson County.

Fire destroys Poynter home

The home of Delmas Poynter on Doc Adams Road was completely destroyed by fire early Sunday morning.

According to Brian Hansel, a captain with the Mt. Vernon Fire Department, firefighters got the call around 2:40 a.m. and, when they arrived, half of the brick house was already completely engulfed in flames.

Hansel said Poynter was not at home at the time of the fire because he had not returned from Somerset where he had gone to the Cruisin' Car show on Saturday night.

The fire captain said it appeared that someone had broken through the basement door on the side of the house and that it was very likely the house had been set on fire.

According to Jackson County Deputy Coroner Lonnie Hacker, William Thomas "Tommy" Clark, 64, died Wednesday while mowing a field on his farm, sometime between noon and 5 p.m.

Family members told Hacker Clark left his home around noon to mow a field behind Three Links Christian Church. Around 5 p.m. his wife, Ruby, became worried and asked a neighbor to check on him.

Clark's tractor had apparently dropped off a bank, overturning and throwing him off before rolling over on him, according to Hacker, who said Clark died from massive head trauma.

After overturning, the tractor came back up on its wheels and traveled down the field before coming to a stop against a tree.

Clark was pronounced dead at the scene.

Over 300 people attended the annual Relay for Life to benefit the American Cancer Society on Friday night at the Rockcastle County Middle School. Rockcastle Memories

By David J. Griffin

With all the fairs and festivals occurring at this time of the year, I thought it appropriate to share some of my memories about the famous "Little World's Fair" held annually in Brodhead, Kentucky. (This year the fair will be August 13 through 18.)

When I was a little boy, it was a yearly event for my Dad, Hobe Griffin, to put me into his pickup truck and head for the fair in Brodhead. Occasionally, he allowed me to take a friend. Because of the enormous crowds, we had to park about a mile away and walk to the fairgrounds. Daddy always complained about the heat and the long walk to the day's events.

We usually spent some time at the horse show before venturing into the throngs of people who were purchasing tickets to board the joy rides. Daddy was not interested in riding himself, but he always allowed me to choose which rides I wanted to enjoy. He stood close by, watching me have fun.

Daddy was a "people person" and spent a great deal of time chatting with his friends. Everyone knew him and wanted to talk. Sometimes I became aggravated when he spent too much time chatting with his "buddies" instead of walking me through the ride area. I remember one year when Daddy actually rode the Mary-Go-Round with me. It was a real thrill to have him by my side. I was probably six or seven at the time. I don't recall that he ever did that again.

Part of our tradition was to sample most of the food items that were available at the fair. Daddy loved pork bar-b-que and usually tried to find a vendor that was serving good pork.

After lunch we had to find an ice cream stand to cool us off. In the afternoon, a variety of candy and fruit was the standard fare. I remember sitting under a shade tree while we consumed a whole watermelon. We had the sweet juice all over us by the time it was finished.

One of my favorite parts of the yearly event was the games of chance that had booths around the circle. As a very small child I loved choosing the floating ducks to see which prize I could win. As I got older the games of chance became harder to produce a prize.

As we walked around the circle, fair workers barked at the crowd, trying to convince us to spend our money at their individual booths. One year Daddy got into a shouting match with a "pushy" carnival guy who wanted me to toss rings over Coke bottles.

Daddy threatened to "call the law" if he did not leave us

Points East

By Ike Adams

Most of you already know that there are few things on earth that I love more than watching a good thunderstorm. If distant thunder awakens me in the wee hours of the night I will usually get out of bed, grab a camera, and head for the front porch swing hoping that a storm will soon roll in.

If I had back all the money that I've wasted, over the last four decades, on film and photo processing in pursuit of my attempts to get the "perfect" lightning shot, I could easily afford to purchase the high dollar, top-of-the-line, Nikon digital camera that I currently covet to the point of sinfulness.

If I had back all the sleep I've lost in said pursuit, I'd also be a better rested man.

Normally, when a storm moves in close, I try to get in my truck and away from trees. One does not have to be a lightning rod to enjoy a storm but I will admit that I have, on occasion, taken risks that fit well within the definition of inanity.

Suffice to say that when one is outside in a storm and one's hair stands on end, one's skin goes to tingling and one has a sour taste in one's mouth even though one is not eating a lemon, one should find a hole to crawl into or at least get back inside one's truck.

I normally follow that advice and so far the only bodily harm I've experienced is a substantial loss of hearing in my left ear that came about when lightning took out a huge maple tree not ten feet from where I was standing.

Uncle Willie Adams's favorite dog, a mountain cur named Ole Pudge, was not so lucky.

The story that I recall had Uncle Willie and Pudge squirrel hunting in the head of Blair Branch there in Letcher County on a hot, late-August afternoon when a storm blew in. Uncle Willie found shelter in a small cliff overhang but both he and the dog had gotten wet.

Uncle Willie decided that there was not room for both him and a wet dog in the small space so he shooed Pudge out of the hole after deciding that the rain might offer a good bath and make him smell better.

Ole Pudge took up shelter under a huge oak tree a few feet away and suddenly lightning hit it, knocked off a great limb, and stripped the bark off one side of the tree.

Uncle Willie said it put off intense heat and he could even smell the wood burning.

The blast knocked Ole Pudge several feet down the hillside and he lay there like he

by: Tonya J. Cook

Dear Journal:

I had no idea there was fortune to be made in witchcraft. I was watching the Today Show last week during all of the hoopla over the most recent Harry Potter book and movie release during an interview with J. K. Rowling, its author, when I heard the overwhelming news. She, through her series of books about an adolescent warlock and his adventures with his friends has surpassed the queen of England, once known to be the world's wealthiest woman, in riches.

The very idea infuriates me right to the core. Every decent Christian I know is on a daily fight against Satan and his evils, as to maintain a godly character, to hopefully raise their children with morals and values and to make a good example for themselves in the community. It's a hard enough battle to sift through the smut, filth, and violence on TV (that's just the six o'clock news), and then to have some woman come along to glamorize witchcraft to innocent, unsuspecting children, and society as a whole. Then to learn that she has made a huge, huge, fortune from this infuriates me even further. If there was ever a woman I'd like to metaphorically "grab and shake 'til her brains rattled," this is the one.

Witchcraft has been glamorized in recent years. Instead of being bad and scary, as it was when I was a kid growing up, it's now become modern, trendy, and heroic. It seems to be a pretty smooth way for Satan to get his "cloven hoof" in the door. But wait. Isn't that a pretty good strategic plan? Come across harmless, innocent, appealing, and heroic. Yes, even good. When I was a kid, all you had to do is to let me see the old witch on the Wizard of Oz and I'd be too scared to sleep for a week. I just knew she was lurking around every corner, waiting to jump out and get me.

I can't help but to wonder how many kids have put Harry Potter up on a pedestal in a hero's light, and wished they could be just like him? I'm all for role models and childhood heroes, but we as a society should be a little more careful as to whom we allow ourselves to put on a pedestal.

The media isn't all together innocent in this matter, either. They have had their part in adding to the hype and hysteria by showing long lines of excited Harry Potter fans waiting to get their hands on the new edition. Bookstores have opened at midnight to sell it. Theaters

Medicinal Marijuana Raises its Ugly Green Head--Again

Medicinal marijuana is again in the news with reports of DEA agents raiding 10 marijuana clinics in Los Angeles last week and the release of a new study indicating that marijuana may greatly increase the risk of serious mental illness. Both events come on the heels of a decision by the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit which details the compelling story of one woman's continuing effort to treat her own extreme physical suffering by self-administered marijuana.

Angela Raich suffers from ten serious medical conditions, including an inoperable brain tumor, a seizure disorder, life-threatening chronic wasting, nausea and a severe pain disorder. Nobody, including the DEA, disputes the extreme severity of her medical condition.

Raich's physicians explored all available legal treatment options and determined that each was ineffective or presented intolerable side-effects. The government also did not contest this assessment of Raich's treatment options.

Instead of continuing a course of legal, but ineffective, treatment, Raich used marijuana provided by two anonymous sources to treat her chronic pain. Under California's Compassionate Use Act, Raich's use of marijuana was legal under state law.

When federal agents raided the home of another medicinal marijuana user, Raich filed suit

Mom, Wednesday, July 25, 2007 at 10:10 a.m. made one year since God took the prettiest flower and placed it in His Garden of Love. You are that flower, Mom. Thanksgiving, Christmas, your 84th birthday and Mother's Day for us was filled with pain. Those days, or any other day for us, will never be the same.

Bernice and Charles still come up, on the porch is your favorite chair and, everytime we look, it seems we can see you sitting there. When we go into your house, we can feel your presence and your love and I know that good feeling is given by God above. Because for you, he knows how much we cared. So many times, we would give all we have just to be able to talk with you and see that beautiful smile and to have you help with our problems as you have done so many times in the past.

We thank God everyday and night for the time we had with you here on earth for your love, your sacrifices and every step you made, for all your good advice and bringing us up in the right way.

God saw your pain and suffering and the doctors couldn't help. So, out of this old cruel world, He took you into Heaven with Him to stay so that someday we can be together again.

Mom, we miss you and love you very, very much.

Explanation from State Auditor...

Dear Editor,

I would like to take the opportunity to respond to the article in the Mount Vernon Signal on June 28, 2007, regarding the 2005 Fee Audit of Rockcastle County Clerk Norma Houk. The Auditor's Office stands by its work and was very disappointed we were not given the chance to refute the incorrect allegations by Mrs. Houk contained in the article. There are several misstatements of fact throughout the published story.

The audit was performed under government auditing standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. It was performed by career, merit employees with over 46 years of government auditing experience. Our professional auditors work very hard to accurately prepare audits in every Kentucky county.

Specifically, auditors met with Norma Houk regarding her audit on December 6, 2006 at the Rockcastle County Courthouse. At that time she was given documentation that supported each of the comments in the audit and Ms. Houk was asked to review it. As with all elected officials, she was told that if she finds mistakes the audit would be corrected. She subsequently told auditors on more than one occasation that she did not have time to review the findings. At her request, auditors met with Ms. Houk on January 25, 2007 in Frankfort. She informed auditors that she disagreed with some of the findings. Auditors requested that she review the documentation and again she refused. Evidence was never presented to auditors refuting the findings.

The audit reported that the Clerk's Office had a deficit at the end of the 2005 calendar year totaling $4,286. The office had undeposited Deed Transfer Tax receipts of $1,979. Records indicate that the office received more money than was deposited into the office's bank account. At the time, the clerk and the auditor both agreed with the reconciliation.

An additional amount of undeposited receipts of $2,307 was also discovered. This was because the last deposit for the 2005 calendar year was $2,307 less than the daily checkout sheet. The checkout sheet is the clerk's record of each day's transactions. Ms. Houk was unable to offer an explanation. We commend Ms. Houk for fixing her mistake by repaying the county the $4,286 deficit.

Auditors are required to prepare a yearly report on set criteria. These criteria include accounting standards, state and federal statutes, and other established protocols. Auditors report these findings to government agencies and the public. All agencies have accepted this audit. However, no citizen has to take our word for it, they can review the entire report by going to our website at www.kyauditor.gov <<http://www.kyauditor.gov>>.

The auditing bill was $34.15 per hour; the exact rate billed every county in the Commonwealth. The extra auditing hours were necessitated by the additional time spent trying to identify the cause and nature of the deficit.

I am extremely proud of the hard working professional staff of the Kentucky State Auditor's Office. We all work extremely hard to be the independent watchdog for Kentucky taxpayers. We will continue to do so.

Sincerely,

alone. I am amazed that he did not pull his 38 special on the guy. (He carried his Smith and Wesson every where he went!) Daddy was capable of doing that if he was aggravated. I had seen him pull that trick before.

I distinctly remember one year when Daddy gave me a roll of quarters to play the games of chance. (A small fortune at that time!) He told me that he would be "right back." I was about 10 at the time. As I saw him walking down to the tents at the back end of the carnival, I had an idea of where he was going—but I did not say a word. He returned about 30 minutes later. We never discussed where he had gone.

After I was old enough to drive, my trips to the fair involved taking a date instead of going with my dad. This was a totally a new experience! Every girl that I ever met wanted her guy to win a "teddy bear" so she could take it home as a souvenir.

Because I wanted to please my date, my goal was to win the largest bear in the entire complex. Most of the time it took several rolls of quarters to accomplish that feat. I was willing to spend a fortune.

There was one special date. She wanted to see the horse show and even took a picnic basket for us to enjoy for lunch. After the horse show, we moved to a shady area and shared fried chicken, deviled eggs, and one of the best platters of fried apple pies that I had ever eaten. Not only was she extremely cute but she could cook! That evening we walked around the circle riding the rides. I even won her a large, white Teddy Bear. I think I was her hero that day.

was dead for several minutes. Uncle Willie, fearing for his own life, didn't dare check on his dog until the storm abated.

But when he did, Ole Pudge came right out of it and hobbled home behind him.

A few days later the sky was cloudy and it looked like rain—perfect weather for squirrel hunting. Uncle Willie grabbed his gun, called his dog and headed for the woods but Ole Pudge wouldn't budge from the porch and even commenced growling and barking at my uncle who muttered something about getting rid of a dog too sorry to hunt and went on into the woods by himself.

Sure enough, a storm blew in and Uncle Willie hurried home but Old Pudge was not on the porch. Aunt Lona said he'd nearly knocked the door down getting inside at the first sound of thunder and that he was back under the bed whining and shaking with fear.

I don't remember when Old Pudge finally died nor what killed him. But everyone in the head of Blair Branch knew his habit of getting inside a house at any cost if a storm was brewing. I can recall one instance when he left only a wide gaping hole in the spot where my dad had hung a brand new screen door only a day or so earlier.

Last week I was in the parking lot at an office building near Lake Reba Park in Richmond and there was thunder in the distance.

Suddenly a mix-breed, long-legged, mostly-yellow dog came tearing from the park with his leash flying like a kite string behind him. He skidded to a halt beside a big SUV and began bellowing at the passenger door like he'd treed a bear.

Moments later a young fellow came running up, all out of breath and began trying to calm the dog.

"I don't know what got into him," the guy said. "I'm keeping him for my aunt who is on vacation and he's been perfectly behaved until just minutes ago."

The thunder rolled again and the dog hunkered to the ground and began whimpering. I told the guy he must have been hit by lightning.

"His name isn't Pudge is it," I asked.

"Yeller," he replied and I was wondering why I even asked but the fellow wanted to know.

"He sure looks like Ole Pudge," I told him. "Pudge got hit by lightning," I said as though that might explain everything.

"Gotta go grab a camera," I said as I envisioned a streak of lightning, perfectly framed, coming out of the sky into the dead trees standing there in the lake in that little cove right beside the golf course.

in federal court seeking an injunction against enforcement of the federal laws which prohibit the possession, transfer or sale of marijuana. In court, Raich claimed, and the government did not attempt to disprove, that she was faced with a choice-of-evils, either comply with the federal Controlled Substances Act and endure excruciating pain and then death, or violate the terms of the Act and obtain relief from her agony. The federal court determined that Raich made a sufficient showing that the use of marijuana was necessary in her unique condition and thus might provide her a defense in a criminal prosecution.

Yet, the appeals court still denied Raich the right to prevent federal law enforcement from charging and then prosecuting her, holding that while "[w]e agree . . . that medical marijuana and conventional wisdom that recognizes the use of marijuana for medical purposes is gaining traction in the law . . . , that legal recognition has not yet reached the point where a conclusion can be drawn that the right to use medical marijuana is 'fundamental' and 'implicit in the concept of ordered liberty.'"

Only two years ago, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the authority of the federal government to regulate marijuana despite the passage of laws in 11 states which permit medical cannabis. Raich was also the lead party in that case. A close reading of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision indicates that part of the problem underlying the legitimization of medicinal marijuana for those few patients who might truly need it, is the difficulty of enforcing laws against illegitimate use.

Under California law, marijuana clinics are supposed to only dispense to seriously ill people and may only seek reasonable compensation. Yet evidence exists that many of these "compassionate use" facilities are nothing more than fronts for what can be characterized as illegal trafficking. DEA agents report seizing enormous amounts of cash and pot. And some clinics were apparently buying pot from street dealers and then reselling it to their "patients" at twice the street price. Not surprisingly, when compassion meets avarice, greed most always prevails.

If you accept that marijuana can be a viable and effective treatment option for some extreme medical conditions despite conflicting medical evidence, then you might also argue that medicinal marijuana might ought to be legalized in those unusual and rare circumstances. But that's not what most who advocate legalizing marijuana want. Instead, they advocate for widespread decriminalization and despite existing bans, they cultivate, possess and traffic illegally. By doing so, they not only expose themselves to arrest and prosecution, but they undermine the claims of those patients who have legitimate and sometimes horrendous medical conditions which beg for relief.

Maybe the blame for this conflict doesn't always lay with a heartless uncaring government so much as with those who utilize other people's suffering to justify their own criminal conduct.

CRIT LUALLEN
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The Honorable Buzz Carloftis, Rockcastle County Judge/Executive
Honorable Darrell Doan, Former Rockcastle County Sheriff
Honorable Michael E. Peters, Rockcastle County Sheriff
Members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the former Sheriff of Rockcastle County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2005. This financial statement is the responsibility of the former Sheriff. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As described in Note 1, the Sheriff's office prepares the financial statement on a regulatory basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the laws of Kentucky, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the former Sheriff for the year ended December 31, 2005, in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated March 16, 2007 on our consideration of the former Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.

Based on the results of our audit, we have presented the accompanying comments and recommendations, included herein, which discusses the following report comments:

- The Former Sheriff's Office Lacked Adequate Segregation Of Duties
- Internal Controls Should Be Improved Over The Federal Drug Forfeiture Account

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the former Sheriff and Fiscal Court of Rockcastle County, Kentucky, and the Commonwealth of Kentucky and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these interested parties.

Respectfully submitted,

began showing the movie at midnight, all because these excited fans felt they must be the first to get the book, or see the movie. I want to know one thing: Wouldn't it have read just as well, been just as entertaining or as exciting the next morning or afternoon during regular business hours?

I know the debate has been raging ever since the first Harry Potter book came out several years ago. Some parents feel that it's harmless, and is all just clean fun. They are even pleased that their children are reading, instead of playing video games or watching TV. Between the two, the TV and video games may very well be the lesser of the two evils. I can't even believe I said that.

There is a lot of harmless reading that can get caught in a child's conscience or subconscious, for that matter, that can stick with them for a lifetime and influence adult behavior. I know that, for the most part, this book won't affect most children, considering all that they are subject to, anyway. I do have to wonder, who of us would really want to take the gamble with our children's young, impressionable minds?

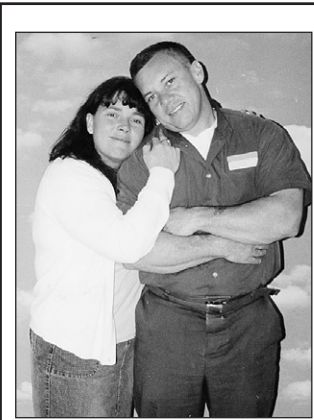

I guess I'll get down off of my stump and quit preaching. Sometimes I get all agitated and have to let off a little steam every once in a while, or go crazy.

Good night, J. K., wherever you are. At least we know, all is well with Harry. (That's concerning the last line of the final book.)

Origins of Blue Springs church of Christ date back to the 1930s

By: Marcus Reppert
 The Blue Springs church of Christ traces its origins back to 1930. At that time, Joe McClure began having services under a big oak tree at the home of Nathan McClure. Several were baptized and a building was erected for services. The building became known as the Highdry church of Christ. In the 1940s, the WPA (Works Progress Administration) started construction of a graveled road (Hwy. 1249) to the southern end of Rockcastle County. Brother Swan Bullock of the Highdry congregation donated land adjoining this new road and the congregation built a new building at Blue Springs in 1948. This is the current location of the church, approximately seven miles south of Mt. Vernon.

 Early preachers in the church were, Joe McClure, Henry Rowe, Jim Haug Cromer and Henry Cromer.
 In 1963, Zade McClure was baptized and soon began preaching. Bro. Zade took an active leadership role in the congregation that is maintained to this day, some 44 years after his conversion.
 In 1998, evangelist Doug Hawkins moved to Mt. Vernon and began to work with the Blue Springs church. From 1999-2002, Blue Springs sponsored a television program that aired every Sunday morning on WKYT in Lexington with Brother Doug preaching. Last year Doug moved to Richmond, but still occasionally preaches at Blue Springs.

 Currently, there are four teachers at Blue Springs: Zade McClure, Gary Reppert, Coy Cromer and Marcus Reppert.
 The congregation financially supports preachers of the gospel in Lexington, Texas, and West Virginia, as well as two African preachers in the nation of Togo. Blue Springs publishes a monthly bulletin and sponsors two gospel meetings a year to proclaim the gospel. The average Sunday morning attendance is 120 and the congregation has plans to expand the parking lot and shelter in the near future.
 Blue Springs is also excited to be hosting the 2008 Eastern Labor Day Meeting that will take place in September of 2008 at Rockcastle County High School.

The Lord has blessed our efforts in a tremendous way in the past and we pray for His continued blessings as we strive to do all we can for Him in the future!
An Introduction To Our Services
 Many people are hesitant to visit a church without knowing something about it. Hopefully, this article will help you understand more about us.
 When you attend our services, you will find them conducted in a simple, dignified and orderly way. You will see in the members a deep respect for God's Holy Word. We recognize the Bible as our only rule of faith and practice and our services are observed in "spirit and truth" (John 4:23-24; 17-17).

 Our singing is done as a congregation, without the aid of a mechanical instrument of music. In accapella singing, we praise God making "melody in our hearts to the Lord" (Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16). The songs we sing are selected with care so that they convey our feelings of devotion and worship.
 In our public worship services, the men do the instructing in truth and righteous living. The women keep silent as learners, along with other men and children (I Cor. 14:34; I Tim. 2:11,12). You are welcome to bring your Bible and follow the teaching as we study from God's Word.

 The prayers of our service are led by one man at a time. The minds of all other worshippers are directed on the one leading. We seek to pray with spirit and understanding in a decent and orderly way (Acts 2:42; I Cor. 14: 15,40).
 In prayer, we speak to God to thank Him for His goodness toward us and invoke His mercy on us and His Blessings on our service and efforts for Him.

No Pass/No Drive Law now in effect for students

Don't look for teenagers to pass you on the road if they don't pass their high school courses in the classroom. The No Pass / No Drive Law (KRS 159.051) is now in effect. The law states that all students ages 16 or 17 can be denied a driver's license or have a license revoked for academic deficiency. The statute only affects drivers who obtain a permit or license after August 1, 2007.

A student is considered academically deficient when he or she has not passed at least four courses or the equivalent of four courses in the previous semester, has accumulated 9 or more unexcused absences, or has dropped out of school.

Students will be required to present a school compliance verification form, which is issued from their school, and a parental consent form when applying for a driver's license or permit.

If a student becomes academically deficient, the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet will be notified by the school, and that student's license will then be revoked. Students may reapply for a license once compliance is met.

"I'm sure this will not be a popular law with some students," said Transportation Cabinet Secretary Bill Nighbert. "But education serves as a foundation for success in life. If this measure keeps kids in school then the extra work involved for the Transportation Cabinet, Department of Education, and school districts will be worth it. Part of the process of becoming an adult includes accepting responsibility for your actions and this law holds teenagers accountable."

The original No Pass / No Drive Law (HB-43) was enacted in 1990. In 2003, the law was ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, and a new version was created. The new No Pass / No Drive Law will affect students in public and private schools as well as students being schooled at home.

Blue Springs

Each Lord's Day (first day of the week) we strive to observe the Communion in the same way it was instituted by Jesus and bound by the Apostles (Acts 20:7; Matt 26:26-28; I Cor. 10: 16,17; 11:1,2, 23-28). A man serves at the Lord's Table. He takes bread (unleavened) and gives thanks, breaks off his portion and eats, and then all other Christians partake in the same way. Then he takes a cup containing the fruit of the vine (grape juice), expresses thanks, drinks a portion and then gives it to the other communicants who also drink. This is a joint participation in the body and blood of Jesus, a memorial of His great sacrifice on the cross (Matt. 26: 26-28; Luke 22: 17-20; I Cor. 11:26). Thus, we follow the simple pattern given us in the Bible.

The only service in which a collection is taken is on the first day of the week (I Cor. 16:1,2) in the Lord's Day worship service. At this time, the members of the church are permitted to give of their means as the Lord has blessed them, purposing in their own hearts how much to give (II Cor. 9:7,8). These contributions are for the work of the church. No one but a member of the church is expected to give.

At each service, an invitation is extended to all that are not Christians to obey the Gospel and become followers of Christ (Rev. 22:17, II Thes. 1:8). The backsliders, likewise, are also urged to return to the Lord (Gal. 6:1, Jas. 5:19, I John 1:9). This is done in such a way so as not to embarrass those present, but to allow anyone the opportunity to obey the Lord.

We wear the name "Christian" as disciples of Christ (Act. 11:26; 4:12), and we understand that those who obey the gospel are added to the church by the Lord (Act. 2:47). Christ we honor as the head of the church and the savior of the body (Col. 1:18, Eph. 5:23).

Our doors are open to all who are interested in salvation. Please come soon and be with us! Our worship times are Sundays at 10:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m.

The Rockcastle Middle School Fire: "Like it never even happened"

By: Gabe Guilfoil

When I first heard about the fire at the middle school, I wanted to help restore the building because I have fond memories of that school. I came home from college with no summer job then met some Servpro workers at Subway. They seemed like they needed more help at the school. I asked the manager that day and was hired immediately.

I have been working at RCMS with Servpro of London & Pulaski County since mid-May. When I first entered the school, it looked like an abandoned warehouse because the ceiling was torn down and you could see up to the rafters. The floor tiles were gone and the burned rooms appeared like Hell upon earth.

After we cleaned them, however, they looked incredible. We then helped move furniture out, which was easy until we got to the principal's office. The wooden cherry cabinet put up a good fight but we managed to get it out. The second heaviest pieces of furniture to move were found in the kitchen. The marble and stainless steel tables in the kitchen were at least 800 pounds each and took many people to move.

Besides just moving furniture, there were also box cleaning. Every item in the school had to be placed in a box which was stored in pods on the parking lot. Our crew drove most all of these boxes to London. Most of the box-cleaning took place in London because we had to stay out of the way of the contractors.

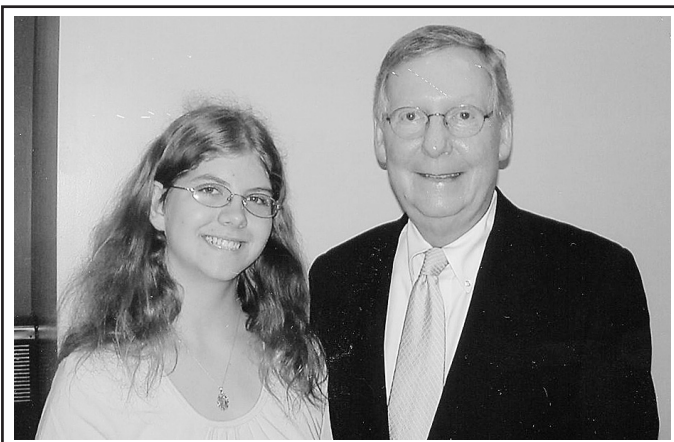

After the rooms were cleared, our group went back to the shop in London and cleaned items from a vast number of boxes. This was the most interesting part of the job because we found all sorts of things from the middle school.

One article was a band photo from 1983 (nice hair styles by the way). I found a mummy my mom painted while she was teaching a unit on Egypt in the 90s. I even found a book that contained my name, it was a purple math book. The best part was cleaning the library books. I found so many books I have read, but forgotten. Even though I had fun cleaning them, I made sure to clean them properly. After cleaning contents in boxes for about a month, we returned to the school to clean rooms and more contents.

Cleaning the middle school was something else. Some days we would clean walls and floors. The dirtiest room we tackled was the music storage room. Dust was out to get me everywhere. After we finished cleaning rooms, we would clean furniture. All the filing cabinets and metal storage closets to move were found in the kitchen. The dust and soot from the fire turned our white cleaning tools to black.

We are almost through cleaning the middle school and hope to get it finished in time for the school year to start. I want the students to be happy about attending this great school. The best part about the fire and our restoration is that students and staff will enjoy having a brand new look, smell and feel to their school environment. I never thought I would spend my whole summer ... in school ... cleaning!

April Johnson with U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell

Johnson attends Washington Leadership Conference for Presidential Classroom Scholars

By April Johnson
RCHS Senior

I was overwhelmed by the students I met in Washington, D.C. at the Presidential Classroom Leadership Program. I was extremely humbled when I was told that the nominees were chosen from the top 1% of the complete U.S. student body.

Overall, there were four students from Kentucky, including myself, with three of the students being from the Louisville area. I felt very privileged to be the only student from outside the Louisville area to have attended the conference.

Our group had 160 students from the U.S. and foreign countries. When we arrived in Washington, we were broken down into four smaller groups, called caucuses, which stayed together the entire week. Overall, there were 37 students in my caucus, with two volunteer instructors in charge. One of my instructors was a major in the Air Force and a congressional liaison between the Capitol and the Pentagon.

During the week, we visited many locations that I have never dreamed of being able to visit. These included Capitol Hill, the State Department, the Brady Center and the Embassy of Australia. While on Capitol Hill, we toured the Supreme Court and the Library of Congress. I also had the opportunity to sit on the floor of the House of Representatives, to speak to our Congressmen about important issues being debated on Capitol Hill and figure out which ones I would vote for in the future, based on their comments. We had many speakers at seminars during the week which introduced us to the world of leadership and politics. Some of the speakers included Ralph Nader, representatives to the State Department, Mickey Edwards and numerous other speakers.

We also toured the Vietnam Wall, Korean Memorial, Lincoln Memorial and the Jefferson and FDR Memorials. We toured the Smithsonian Museums and Arlington National Cemetery where we watched the changing of the guard. We also saw the Air Force Memorial, the WWII Memorial and the Iwo Jima Memorial monument. All these made me realize that we live in a blessed country that has stood strong in every conflict.

I really enjoyed my trip and hope to use what I learned in Washington to help the community and country.

I want to thank my past teachers and staff for all the encouragement I have received. The educational professionals have always been there for me and have helped whenever I needed help.

Thanks to everyone for the donations to make my dream of going to Washington come true. Thanks to: Conway Missionary Baptist Church, Billy Reynolds, Katie Woods, Marlene Lawson, Burkman Feeds, Ford Brothers, Jeff Burdette, Billy Dowell, Marvin E. Homes Funeral Home, Cox Funeral Home, Elvin Bowman, Lee Stokes, Kiwanis Club, Bobby Owens, Dr. Sutherland, Paul Robinson, Sammy Ford.

The leadership was a very influential learning experience. Thanks again and God bless.

Ed's Note: The following letter was received by Ms. Johnson from Sen. Mitch McConnell following her trip.

"Please allow me to extend my sincere congratulations to you on being selected to attend the Presidential Classroom.

You should be proud of the achievement and recognition you have earned.

April Johnson with U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers.

August 2007 has been declared Breastfeeding Awareness Month in Kentucky. The World Alliance for Breastfeeding Action (WABA) has declared August 1-7, 2007 as World Breastfeeding Week. The theme for this year is "Breastfeeding: The 1st Hour- Welcome Baby Softly." Throughout the month of August, there are many activities promoting and supporting breastfeeding in Kentucky such as the Rock and Relax Room at the State Fair.

Breastfeeding the newborn provides the skin to skin contact and warmth that babies need most, especially premature and low birth weight babies. New scientific evidence reveals that if all women started breastfeeding within one hour after delivery it could prevent one million of the four million deaths of babies worldwide who die during the first month of life.

Early initiation of breastfeeding reduces the high neonatal mortality worldwide, protects infants from early ex-posure to bacteria and viruses, increases maternal oxytocin important for milk production and attachment and helps prevent maternal blood loss.

Pre-term infants benefit from breast milk because of the greater amounts of protein, fat, sodium, iron, chloride and other nutrients than milk from mothers of term infants. Breast milk changes as the baby grows to meet their ever-changing needs.

Skin to skin contact is another important component of breastfeeding. When a mother is nursing her infant, the warmth of the mother's body helps regulate the baby's temperature and heart rate. Skin to skin contact also serves as a pain analgesic, reduces infant crying and lowers stress levels in mothers.

To: Parents and Guardians of Brodhead Elementary students From: Brodhead Elementary School staff and PTA

We are beginning to get things ready for the upcoming school year. We look forward to working with you and your child. I am sure that together, we can give your child the best education possible.

We will be conducting "Back to School" night on Tuesday, August 2, 2007. Back to School will be just like it was last year. Instead of coming anytime during the evening, as we used to do, we will have specific times to meet with students in each grade level. At that time, you will meet all of the teachers in that particular grade level. They will go over information that you will need to know about how the school works, the curriculum that will be taught, what your child will need to know before moving on to the next grade and who your child's teacher will be.

After this brief meeting, you and your child will be able to go to your child's classroom and spend some time with your child's new teacher. The purpose of this is to help your child be ready for the first day of school. This is your opportunity to see your child's class, meet many of their classmates and their teacher. On the first day of school, parents are not allowed to accompany their child to the classroom.

The PTA will be having a cookout during Back to School night and many other activities will be going on. We look forward to a future working together to provide your child with a great education. Please arrange now to attend Back to School Night during your child's grade level meeting. If you have questions, you may call the school at 758-8512.

The following is a list of the classes and times they will meet on August 2nd.

Kindergarten/Preschool 4:00	Third Grade 5:30
First Grade 4:30	Fourth Grade 6:00
Second Grade 5:00	Fifth Grade 6:30

If your child is a new student to Brodhead, either through moving to Brodhead or being a preschool or kindergarten student, you will need the following items before you can attend BES:

- Immunization Certificate
- Physical (Ky. form)
- Social Security Number
- Eye Exam (Ky. form)
- Copy of birth certificate (not hospital copy) trophy.

This year, there were eight Hot Rodders with perfect attendance and each received a free bike. They were: Kaden Fletcher, Laurel Yates (two years each), Xander Fletcher, Hunter Spivey, Rylee Denny, Jason Puckett and Dillan Cromer, Silas Durham. Besides the new bicycle, each received a trophy for perfect attendance. Sponsors of the bicycles were: Citizens Bank, Mt. Vernon Signal, County Attorney Billy Reynolds, Attorney Jerry Cox, Rockcastle Farm Bureau, Richmond Street Eye Care, Jack's Pro Hardware and an anonymous donor. Thank you all.

Thanks to all the parents for getting their children to the Saturday session. Thanks to all the sponsors for this year: Wendy's, KFC, Chevron, Subway, Godfathers, Renfro Valley Boat Dock, Foster Trophies, Galaxi of Berea, Mt. Vernon Drug, Karen King Tax Service, Young's Pharmacy, Tobacco Barn and Dr. Carie Shaffer -

Also thanks to Dennis Williams for his help again this year, the city of Mt. Vernon for use of the field and the men who kept it mowed, to all the folks who stepped up and announced for us, Shannon Mink and Dakota Williams for their help and, most importantly, to our wives for putting up with us again.

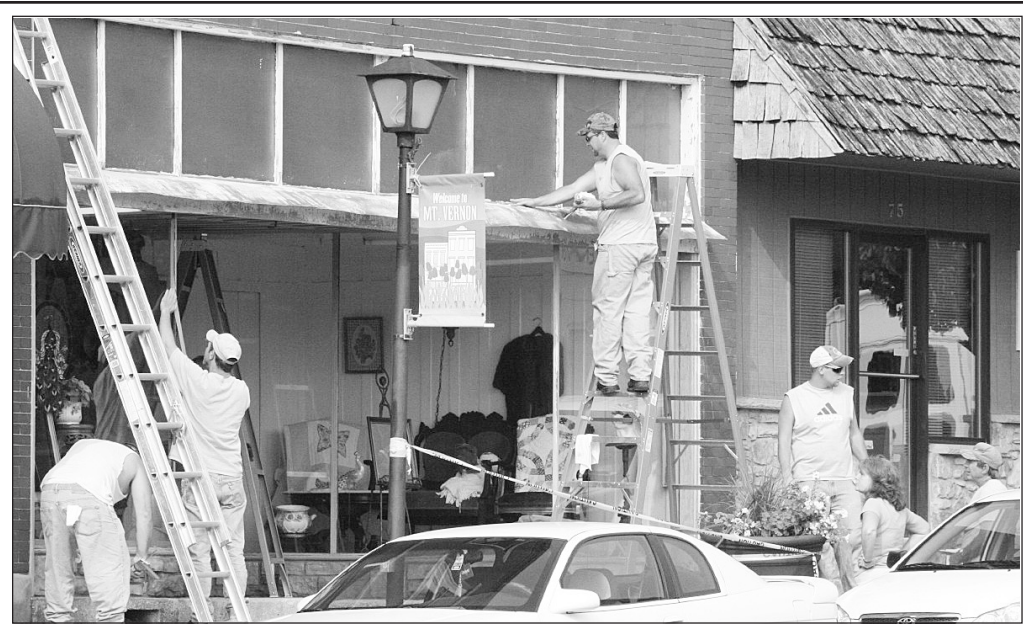

Because of the number of participants, we divided the children into three groups and, this year, we added an instructional element, playing ball one Saturday and teaching the basics - fielding, running the bases and batting - the next.

"What Is Written"
 Jesus Christ has all authority, Eph. 1:22-23. Jesus has the right to teach us what we are to believe and practice. As John says, "Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son." 2 Jn.9. We must abide in the doctrine of Christ if we want to have the Father and the Son. There is a grave consequence of going beyond the doctrine of Christ, we will not have God! Jesus said the Holy Spirit would come upon the apostles and guide them into all truth, Jn.16:13. All that I am to teach is found in the complete textbook, the Bible. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." 2 Tim.3:16-17. I have no catechisms, creed books, church manuals, church traditions, additional revelations, decrees of the popes, prayer books, to proclaim to the world, only the Bible, the word of God. This is my sole guide in religion, is it yours dear friends?

Josh Logan presents gold record to KY Music Hall of Fame

By Bill Robinson
Register News Writer
"Seems every time I make my mark, somebody paints the wall," from "Somebody Paints the Wall"

Country music veteran Josh Logan has had a mark in Renfro Valley since 2002, when the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum put some of his memorabilia in a display case.

Nobody has painted over it in the past five years, and a gold record will soon join the display.

Logan, who was born in Cartersville and has called Berea home for most of his life, had his biggest hit in 1989. Its title was "Somebody Paints the Wall," and, 18 years later, it is still selling. You can buy it on amazon.com and ebay.com.

Earlier this year, Logan's recording company, Curb Records of Nashville, calculated that accumulated sales had surpassed 50,000. That is enough for a gold record on an independent country music label. In late June, Curb Records recognized Logan's sales' milestone by presenting him a framed golden disc at the Nashville offices of Earthwide Music Service.

On Wednesday, Logan loaned the gold record to the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum to add to a display case already dedicated to memorabilia from a career of more than 33 years.

The display sits next to one highlighting another music act from Madison County, Exile.

The gold record will join the hat, boots and jacket that Logan wore on his first of three national concert tours. The display also includes guitars, album covers and signed photographs.

Logan also loaned a framed set of his three biggest singles and a mounted silver plate presented by the Guantanamo Naval Base officers' club.

While he also has had four concert tours abroad, Logan sticks close to home these days, playing clubs and events in the region. He performed for Richmond's July 4th Extravaganza at Lake Reba Park.

"I'm selling more records and getting played on the radio more in Europe than in the United States," Logan said. "I've had offers to go on European tours in recent years, but I don't like to be that far from home for extended periods."

"Somebody Paints the Wall" was released at a time of transition in the recording industry, Logan said. It came out in four formats: as an LP, a 45 rpm single, a cassette tape and as a video. Later, it was released on compact disc.

"My version of 'Somebody Paints the Wall' was among the first country music videos and rose to No. 34 on the Country Music Television channel's popularity list," Logan said. It also was shown on The Nashville Network.

George Jones, who Logan cites as one of his greatest influences, recorded "Somebody Paints the Wall," but had little success with the song. Later, Tracy Lawrence recorded the song, and it rose to No. 4 on the country music charts.

Conway Twitty took a song that Logan recorded, "I Made You a Woman for Somebody Else," and used it as the flip side of his hit single "Tight Fittin' Jeans."

These stories seem to follow the lyrics of Logan's biggest hit. After he made the marks, Lawrence and Twitty painted the wall.

However, Logan said he was flattered that artists such as Jones, Lawrence and Twitty would use a song he had introduced.

"I opened for George Jones several times," Logan said. He also preceded Garth Brooks at a concert in Alexandria, La., at which Ronnie McDowell had the top billing.

Logan has no regrets about his career.

"A lot of people have helped Josh Logan over the years," he said. "Many people put in a lot of hard work and effort to make my career happen," he said at the Nashville presentation. "I accept these awards in their honor."

The late Earl King of Richmond "was with me in the very beginning," Logan said. "He took me to Memphis, Tenn., to cut my first record in 1974. 'Mitchell Tate has stuck with me for a lot of years and helped me through some difficult times.' It was Tate who would come to the rescue 'when I was broke down on the road somewhere,' he said. Logan also thanked Charles Miracle who "co-wrote a number of songs with me and supported my endeavors for years.

"I thank the good Lord above for giving me a voice to sing. I'm very lucky to still be singing after all these years."

Logan's granddaughter, Hayley Nikole Saylor, who turned 9 years old July 13, accompanied him for the presentation to the hall of fame and museum.

"This gold record and these other items are hers if ever she wants them," he said.

Josh Logan of Berea, who in late June received a gold record from his recording company, is loaning it to the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum in Renfro Valley. From left, are: Logan, his granddaughter, Hayley Nikole Saylor and Robert Lawson, executive director of the hall of fame and museum. Bill Robinson/The Register

Boy Scout activities

By: Shanna Lawson and Donna Brewer, Leaders

Boy Scout Troop 256 has been very busy this summer, starting with a three day campout at Cedar Creek and followed by two one night campouts at the home of our Scoutmaster, Donna Brewer.

In June, we attended summer camp at Camp McKee in Jeffersonville with eight boys and four adults from our troop attending. We had a blast. The boys participated in swimming, rifles, archery and crafts, among lots of other things.

On July 10th, we held a Court of Honor. This is held to award rank advancement and merit badges. We also installed our officers at this event. Each of the eight boys attending received several Merit Badges which they earned during the spring and summer.

Jay Lawson, Michael Brewer, Brandon Hatcher and Matthew Reynolds received their 2nd Class and 1st Class Rank Badges and Lucas Witten, Adam Ramey, Zachary Gadd and Kojack Sizemore received their Tenderfoot Rank Badge.

We would like to thank all the speakers who have visited our meetings lately to help with Merit Badges. Forest Ranger Marvin Stone came on July 17th to help with the Forestry Badge and, on July 24th, Veterans Harvey Hensley, who served in WWII and Jerry Payne, who served in Vietnam, helped us with American Heritage.

Our meetings are on Tuesdays at 6 p.m. in the back of the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum in Renfro Valley. If you are 11 years old, or in the 6th grade, come join us. For more information, call Shanna at 758-0050 or Donna at 758-4721.

This Saturday, we will be having a car wash at the Rocket Car Wash, next to KFC, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thanks to Mr. Keith Bussell for helping us with the car wash.

Please come by and help support your local Boy Scout Troop.

Gear Up

High school education leads to future success

While all education prepares students for the future, the high school years are especially important in helping students develop the skills they need for college and a career. In order to assist high schools in preparing students for the future, the Kentucky Department of Education (KDE) has developed a new initiative aimed at refocusing high school curriculum.

GEAR UP recently posed questions about the importance of secondary education (high school) and post-secondary education (college) to Debbie Powers, Secondary Program Consultant in KDE's Division of Secondary and Virtual Learning, and Lisa Gross, director of KDE's Division of Communications. Powers and Gross agree, “Students who are well-prepared, no matter which path they take, are more likely to be successful. Adequate preparation leads to overall success in college, work or the military.”

There are many reasons why a college or some type of post-secondary education is necessary. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, an individual without a high school degree is likely to earn an average of $19,169 per year. A high school graduate, however, will earn $28,645 per year on average. Students who complete a Bachelor's degree earn, on average, $51,554 and individuals who go on to complete a Master's degree or higher earn an average of $78,093.

The Kentucky Board of Education decided to refocus secondary education when it became evident that although Kentucky was making gains in certain areas the gains were not enough to compensate for other apparent weaknesses. For example, the dropout was decreasing, but not very fast. In addition, Kentucky's high schools were not giving students adequate opportunities to participate in higher level courses. Also the need for remedial classes for college freshmen was increasing. Colleges and universities place incoming freshmen in remedial courses when the student cannot demonstrate basic understanding of reading or math concepts. The increased need for Kentucky high school graduates needing remediation revealed that Kentucky students need to be better prepared in high school in order to succeed in college.

A major component of KDE's “Secondary Agenda” is the Individual Learning Plan (ILP). The ILP is a tool that helps students explore career interests which acts as a guide that enables the student, their parents and their high school guidance counselor to develop a plan of study that includes the classes needed to meet their career goals. According to Powers, the ILP, available via the Web, helps middle school and high school students better focus their coursework on individual goals as they prepare for college and career.

“It's never too early to start planning for the future,” says Powers. “Setting goals as early as middle school provides students with opportunities to map out their remaining years in high school to maximize their experience.”

The Kentucky Department of Education strongly recommends that students use the Web enabled ILP. Teachers, parents and guidance counselors should also use the tool to make the secondary educational experience the best it can be, says Powers.

“It's important for students to be successful, no matter what their chosen path,” Powers says. “Higher education has become increasingly important to business and industry, and new employees are expected to have a level of knowledge that many believe can only come from attending a college or university.”

Ultimately, educational attainment affects more than one person. Communities that have individuals who are employed in high-paying jobs benefit from increased tax revenues and the amount of income spent in the community. When a student is adequately prepared in high school to be successful in college and beyond, everyone wins: the student, their parents and their community.

Rain dampens track but not spirit

Community support adds to success of Relay For Life

The Relay For Life on Friday was truly a success, despite the rainy weather conditions.

"We (the Relay for Life committee), sincerely thank all of the cancer survivors and their families, team captains, team members, sponsors and the army of dedicated volunteers for their generosity. The rainy weather may have dampened the track, but certainly not the spirit of the Relay—your dedication to the fight against cancer was as strong as ever," said Melissa Brock, Relay for Life co-chairperson.

Brock said the Relay For Life of Rockcastle County raised over $36,000 for the American Cancer Society.

"We have an incredible, giving community," said Brock.

"On behalf of all the cancer survivors and their families, I want to personally thank everyone who played a role in our community's success this year. Many supporters battled the rainy weather Friday night to honor our cancer survivors and remember loved ones lost to cancer," she added.

"Cancer touches more than just the person diagnosed—it impacts everyone around them. That's why the American Cancer Society strives to assist those fighting the disease through various venues, including research, advocacy, education and patient services. Relay For Life brings together communities like ours to raise needed funds to help prevent cancer, save lives and diminish suffering from this disease. The American Cancer Society has made great progress against cancer and Relay For Life contributors like you have fueled this progress," Brock continued.

By 2015, the American Cancer Society aims to prevent almost five million additional deaths from cancer, avoid six million new cancer diagnoses and measurably improve the quality of life for those with the disease.

"Your support is bringing us closer to realizing these challenging goals and without all of you this could not be possible," Brock said.

SCHOOL BUS RULES AND REGULATIONS

The privilege of any pupil to ride a school bus is conditioned upon their good behavior and observance of the following rules and regulations. Pupils violating these rules and regulations shall be reported to the principal of the school which the pupil attends for necessary corrective action.

Safety is the primary concern in the transportation of pupils. In order to assure proper safety, it is vital that pupils and parents understand the rules and regulations of school bus riding. Following is a list of basic rules and regulations adopted by the Rockcastle County Board of Education and the Kentucky Department of Education:

1. Arrive at a bus stop on time. The bus has many scheduled stops and cannot be delayed.
2. Never stand in the road while waiting for the bus. Parents should encourage safety measures for pupils as they wait for the bus and walk home from the bus.
3. Cross a safe distance (10 feet) in front of the bus so the driver can see you.
4. Take a seat upon boarding the bus and do not change seats while the bus is in motion.
5. The driver is in charge of the bus and pupils and has the authority to assign seating arrangements.
6. Keep noise to a minimum so that the driver's attention can be devoted to driving.
7. Do not extend arms, legs or head out the bus windows.
8. Obey the rules posted on each bus.
9. Do not block aisles in any way.
10. Knives/other sharp instruments are not permitted on the bus.
11. Never run toward the bus. Always load and unload when the bus has come to a complete stop.
12. Apply the above rule (No. 11) when transferring buses.
13. Never use the rear exit unless an emergency exists.
14. Ride only your assigned bus unless you have a signed note from the principal. Parents must write or call the principal to obtain permission for pupil to ride another bus or to exit at a different stop.
15. Report any damages to the bus.
16. Do not occupy more space in a seat than required.
17. Open and close windows in compliance with the driver's instructions.
18. Pupils and parents are to accept the responsibility of listening for dismissal announcements on the radio on days when inclement weather disrupts the regular schedule.
19. The following rules are of particular concern and the activities mentioned are prohibited at all times:
 - a. Use of profane/foul language.
 - b. Smoking or other use of tobacco on the bus.
 - c. Fighting on the bus.
 - d. Destruction of bus property.
 - e. Defiance of driver's authority.
 - f. Throwing objects on or from the bus.
20. Disciplinary Action: Violations of the above stated rules and regulations shall be reported to the appropriate school principal. The principal shall record the incident and determine the appropriate disciplinary action. Should any pupil persist in violating any of these regulations, it shall be the duty of the driver to notify the principal and, after due warning has been given to the pupil and such violation persists, the principal and/or board of education shall then forbid such disobedient pupil the privilege of riding the bus. Written notice of the action of the principal shall be furnished to the parents and the superintendent.

Ride only your assigned bus unless you have a signed note from the Principal.

Parents must write or call the principal to obtain permission for pupil to ride another bus or to exit at a different stop.

Parents & Teachers School Bus Safety Alert

A child's clothing can be dangerous when getting off the bus. A number of children have been injured or killed when their clothing became caught when exiting the bus.

Dangerous clothing that can get caught in handrails, doors or other areas include:

- Jackets or sweatshirts with drawstrings
- Backpack straps
- Scarves or other loose clothing

Please talk with your children about these Safety Rules:

- Stay away from Danger Zones around the bus
- If you drop something near the bus, don't pick it up. The driver may not see you. Tell the driver and follow his/her instructions.
- Remember that motorists don't always stop for the school bus. Use extreme caution when getting on or off the bus.

Closing of FSA offices

FSA is in the process of downsizing FSA offices in Kentucky. Included in this process to close county FSA office; public town meetings are being held in counties which are scheduled to be closed.

FSA realizes county office closures may create a significant disadvantage for some producers in obtaining reasonable availability and accessibility to services. However; producers on farms in County Offices that close will have a 60 day time frame in which to request with the office to select a new administrative County Office and transfer the farm records.

Rockcastle County FSA's public town meeting will be held Thursday, August 2nd, at Roundstone Elementary School (located on US Hwy 25) with the meeting beginning at 7:00 p.m. We encourage all producers and public to attend this meeting.

If you have any questions contact Rockcastle County FSA Office at 606-256-2525.

Persons requiring reasonable accommodations to attend this meeting should contact the KY State FSA Office at 859-224-7601.

The COC members are vital to the day-to-day operations of FSA. The COC members help FSA at the local level by deciding the kind of program their county will have and how they will operate. It's back to school time

Drivers Be Aware

With students heading back to school soon in most locations across the state, the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KYTC) is reminding drivers to use extreme caution once school buses return to local roads.

"We cannot over-emphasize how important it is for motorists to watch out for stopped school buses," said Secretary Bill Nighbert. "There is always an adjustment period for drivers when classes resume, as they get used to school bus routes and stops that haven't been there for the past few months. Drivers need to be extremely attentive as they share the road with school buses."

Kentucky law requires all traffic, both oncoming and following, to stop for a school bus loading or unloading passengers when the bus' stop sign is extended and its red flashers are on. The only exception is for four-lane divided highways, where oncoming traffic is not required to stop. Modern school buses are also equipped with yellow flashers that serve to warn following or oncoming drivers that a stop is imminent.

"Our law enforcement officials and judicial system take violations of this law very seriously," said Tim Hazlette, who is Chairman of the Governor's Executive Committee on Highway Safety and Commissioner of the Transportation Cabinet's Department of Transportation Safety. "By being observant, drivers not only help keep our schoolchildren safe, but they save themselves the cost and inconvenience of an expensive traffic citation."

Many mornings during the first few weeks of school are foggy, and the sun rises later each day as the days get shorter. These factors can combine to reduce visibility on the Commonwealth's school bus routes.

"The strongest piece of advice we can give drivers is to slow down and allow yourself more time to get to your destination if you are traveling while buses are running. This is especially important during the mornings when darkness and weather conditions can make buses and students less visible," added Deputy Secretary of Transportation Crystal Ducker.

Drivers who are familiar with school bus stops along their normal routes should not count on that familiarity, as the location of these stops may change from time to time. The Transportation Cabinet places some signs alerting drivers to the location of school bus stops along state-maintained highways, but not all stops are marked.

Students who live in urban areas and walk or bike to school should use sidewalks, and cross streets only at designated crosswalks. Although pedestrians have the right of way at crosswalks, they should always look both ways before crossing a highway, even at crosswalks controlled by traffic lights.

The Transportation Cabinet administers a Federal Highway Administration grant program called "Safe Routes To School," which encourages children to walk or ride bicycles to school when possible; to make walking and bicycling to school safe and more appealing; and to facilitate the planning, development, and implementation of projects that will improve safety and reduce traffic, fuel consumption, and air pollution in the vicinity of schools.
