A Monticello man was killed last Thursday morning after he crossed the center line of Hwy. 461 around 10 a.m. in the GMC Sonoma pickup shown in the top photo. After crossing the center line, the driver of the Sonoma, John M. Crank, 47, hit a tractor-trailer in the side and then struck the 2006 Dodge pick-up, at right, which was pulling the travel trailer, left. A member of the Rockcastle Rescue Squad and Mt. Vernon Volunteer Fire Department hoses down the truck, as a Rockcastle Ambulance leaves the scene with Crank. Members of the Rescue Squad had to use the Jaws of Life to remove Crank from the wrecked vehicle. Rockcastle Coroner Bill Dowell pronounced Crank dead at the Rockcastle Hospital about an hour after the wreck. (Front page photos by: Richard Anderkin).

As result of wreck on Hwy. 461 Monticello man dies Thursday

A Monticello man was the second person to lose his life on a Rockcastle roadway in a span of four days, when he died as a result of an auto accident on Hwy. 461 last Thursday morning, in the southern part of the county, near the School House Hill Road.

According to Kentucky State Police, John M. Crank, 47, was killed when his 2000 GMC Sonoma pickup crossed the center line and hit a tractor-trailer driven by a Morrison, TN., man.

Crank's truck then hit a 2006

Dodge pick-up, which was pulling a large travel trailer and being driven by Scott D. Lynch, 38, of Richmond.

Lynch, his three passengers and the truck driver were not injured.

Rockcastle County Coroner Bill Dowell pronounced Crank dead at the Rockcastle Hospital about an hour after the accident.

Rockcastle Sheriff Mike Peters said Lynch and his family were traveling to Lake

Hillary Clinton, Lunsford McConnell win here

There were no surprises in Tuesday's Kentucky Primary Election in Rockcastle County and there was very little interest.

Only 17 percent of all Rockcastle voters went to the polls on Tuesday, however almost half of those voters were Democrats.

Of the 1,929 voters who went to the polls on Tuesday, 780 were Democrats and 1,079 were Republicans.

In Rockcastle 8,838 people are registered Republican and only 2,277 are registered Democrats.

Percentagewise, 34.61 percent of registered Democrats voted and only 12.21 percent of registered Republicans went to the polls in the county.

Obviously Democrat voters went to the polls to vote in the Presidential Primary, where New York Senator, and former First Lady Hillary Clinton, won all 14 Rockcastle Precincts over Senator Barack Obama. Clinton tallied 664 votes to Obama's 106.

In the race for the Democrat nomination for U.S. Senate, Bruce Lunsford won 13 of the 14 precincts in the county. He,

Work to repair and renovate the swimming pool at CRRC had already begun when the state stepped in and shut down the renovaton project a few weeks ago. It is not known when or if the pool will be ready to open this summer.

CRRC Board calls special meeting to discuss renovations, cost of pool project

By: Richard Anderkin

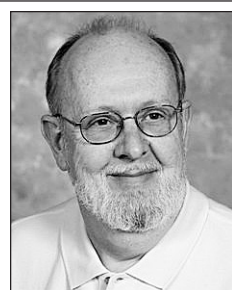

For the first time in 40 years the pool at Cedar Rapids Recreation Center will not be open for the Memorial Day Weekend.

Memorial Day has always been the opening date for the pool, which opened in 1968, but because of major renovations that are being required by the state for safety reasons, the pool will be closed this weekend and possibly well up into the summer.

A special meeting of the members of the Recreation Center has been called by the board for next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Center.

Except for smoothing down dirt in the fairways, work on a new irrigation system for the golf course at CRRC has been completed.

My UK Trunk

As a junior at Mt. Vernon High School, I was already anticipating going to college. Some of my friends had already enrolled at UK and were living on campus in Lexington. Penny Nunnelley and Patsy Cummins, who had been close friends of mine, were among those who were already gone.

The three of us had developed a close friendship ever since I started driving in 1960. Patsy is actually my first cousin, and we spent lots of time riding around Rockcastle County just killing time. I missed them and looked forward to the time when I too would be living the campus life.

The idea of living in a dorm room caused me some concern. I have always been a collector of lots of "stuff." My anxiety about how to protect my collections became a real sense of apprehension in a 17-year-old boy. The thought of how to secure my 33 rpm albums, photos, coin collection, tools, and other personal items began worrying me. I would never have considered leaving them at home.

When I told my mother (Bee) about my unease, she simply replied, "David Joe, we will have to drive over to Lexington and get you a trunk." It was the perfect solution. My mother was brilliant. I loved the idea!

A few days later, she asked me to drive her to Lexington Luggage to see about addressing my problem. She was thinking about me leaving home, and I am sure she wanted my college experience to be as positive as it could be. When we arrived at the store, she explained to the gentleman that she was interested in purchasing a large trunk for her son to take to college.

He knew exactly what we needed and showed us a large trunk with a sturdy lock. It was even blue - to match UK's colors. Bee made the purchase, and I proceeded to carry it to my car which was parked on the street. It was a great relief to me that I would be able to protect my valuables.

When we got back to Mt. Vernon, I carried the blue trunk to my room and began trying to fit all of my stuff inside it. The trunk was quite large, with a tray that sat on top just under the lid. At the bottom I placed my 33 rpm album collection and a small box filled with 45 rpm records. There was plenty of room for my coin collection, some necessary tools, my Bible, my favorite photo albums, and my high school yearbooks. In the top tray I placed a small box containing my knife collection and my camera.

My grandfather (Pop) provided me with a padlock to keep my personal items under lock and key. As soon as I packed the trunk, I snapped the lock on the lid and felt secure that my special items would be safe. For the rest of my high school life, the trunk sat at the foot of my bed. My mother covered it with a red, white, and blue quilt that she had made. That key never left my side. It gave me a sense of security knowing that my favorite things were protected with Pop's heavy duty padlock.

When I finally graduated from high school and packed my belongings to take to UK, the "treasure chest" was neatly placed inside the trunk of my '58 Chevy. It was the first thing that I carried into my room when I arrived on campus. I carefully positioned it at the foot of my bed in my dorm room.

For the next four years it was used nearly every day, holding my most valuable possessions. At one point I carefully placed a quart Mason jar in the corner to hold my loose change. Whenever I needed some funds for a special purchase, out came the jar full of coins. The trunk also doubled as a snack table between the beds.

After I graduated from college, the trunk served as a coffee table in the first apartment that I rented. As always, it held my most valued items and was always secured with Pop's padlock. The items inside the trunk kept changing over the years as I grew older. At one time, I kept my Smith and Wesson 38 special there.

By the late 60's I had moved to Mt. Sterling to teach at Mt. Sterling High School. During my career there, I purchased a small house and the trunk became a seat in the den of my home. It was covered with a blanket, but still housed my favorite stuff. That old trunk has moved with me into every home in which I have lived.

My youngest son, Todd, who was killed in an automo-

Kentucky takes a clear choice for learning how to scuba dive

As a youngster, Herb Booth dreamed of the day he could trade his fish bowl for an aquarium.

There aren't a lot of oceans in or near his hometown of Carlisle, Kentucky, but since 1992, the route to becoming a deep sea diver has passed through this tiny town in the hills of Nicholas County.

As the resident scuba diving instructor here, Booth's interest in the sport began with watching Seahunt on TV in the 1960's.

Now, as the owner and sole employee of Reefline Scuba, he travels near and far, exploring underwater worlds and teaching others how to share his passion.

Recently, the 57-year-old conservation officer with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife was at Cave Run Lake near Morehead introducing two members of Rowan County Fire & Rescue to skills that could one day help them save a life.

"This is my biggest thrill, taking people into the water for the first time," said the ruggedly handsome outdoorsman, watching over his rubber-suited students like a mother duck protecting her ducklings.

After growing up on a tobacco farm and graduating from Nicholas County High in 1969, Booth decided to pursue a career as a game warden in 1974. He started diving in 1980 and qualified to be an instructor in the sport 13 years later.

He received his certification through Lexington Dive Shop, a service he now provides through the business he operates out of his home in Carlisle.

Reefline Scuba offers recreational scuba training in levels from scuba diver through dive master and also technical diving in nitrox through full cave diver.

A trip to Carlisle isn't necessary as Booth takes his classes on the road to such locations as the YMCAs at Maysville and Paris, to Morehead State University and Georgetown Pavilion. "I am one of very few instructors who travel to conduct classes," he said.

National Association of Underwater Instructors (NAUI) class size is limited to 10 students receiving pool and classroom time.

Training normally consists of six sessions, once per week for six weeks.

Following successful completion of classroom and pool training, students must do five dives in an open-water location. These can be completed in locations such as Cave Run Lake, Joe's Quarry near LaGrange in Oldham County, or at locations in Florida.

Typical cost of classroom and confined water sessions is in the range of $160 to $200, depending on the facility used. Open water dives are around $200 if done locally, or $265 if done in Florida.

Reefline provides all scuba equipment necessary for completing the classes and Okay, before you read past the end of the next sentence, I want to run some items by you and see just how smart you really are. If you were shopping for a Jovey Caboose Organizer, a Gracko Pack and Play (It. blue) or a Sage Crate, in what store would you most likely be and what exactly would you be looking for?

Stew on that for a minute and then I'll tell you all about it. If you are a man of any age or a woman past childbearing age but still to young to be a grandmother, you probably don't have a clue. I, on the other hand, spent over two hours in Babys'R'Us last Saturday with soon-to-be-grandma-again, Loretta, shopping for those very items because our daughter, Jennifer Och's, baby shower was scheduled for Sunday afternoon and she had registered at the store in Hamburg Place there in Lexington.

Silly me decided to tag along with Granny and help shop for some of the items on the list. Of course I'm thinking disposable diapers, maybe a nice bag to pack them in, some bottles, bibs, rattles or one of those things with trinkets on it that hangs over a crib and spins around making bird calls. In other words, regular old baby stuff so how difficult and time consuming could that possible be?

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

Dear Journal:

Last night, Stanley and I were watching a little TV before turning in. By accident, we came across a show about the ten greatest UFO sightings. Right at the top of their list was the sightings over Phoenix, Arizona about a month or so ago. It was a grouping of about six to eight bright, mysterious, lights that hovered over the city. Later, it was discovered that it was only an elaborate hoax. Incidentally, and for the sake of argument on the side of those "true believers" the same thing was seen over a city in Florida during the same time. Coincidence or not?

I suppose a great many of us have seen something in the sky at one time or another that didn't quite add up. I'm sure there was no doubt in seeing it, but I will never believe these "flying saucers" are being piloted by beings from another world.

Stanley said that, as a boy, one night he saw what would have been known as a UFO. He saw it in the early 1970s when he was living on his family's farm. He saw this object with a strange light that turned colors, and appeared to draw closer, and then fall back. It obviously wasn't a plane or like anything he had ever seen before.

My earliest experience was a decade earlier when I was probably about six years old. It was a warm summer day, and my grandpa Roscoe and I were in his front yard enjoying the weather. We were sitting in a swing that hung from a big silver maple tree when we noticed a commotion coming from across the road.

There was a pasture with several horses grazing near a pond that had been spooked by something on the ground near the pond's edge. Grandpa and I wondered what it could be and the horses seemed curious, too.

The thing that caused so much curiosity seemed to be no more than about two or three feet in diameter, and had about six or eight sides to it...something about the size of a stop sign. We were about a hundred yards away, so we couldn't pick up on a lot of detail. The object didn't look very thick; not more than a few inches at the most, and seemed to be the thickest in the center.

We continued to watch, and the next thing we knew, this object began to lift itself off the ground without making any noise, whatsoever. By this time, we were beginning to think that it could be a piece of paper of some kind being blown by the breeze except we

"What Is Written"

Jesus was asked this question, "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause?" Matt.19:3b. They did not ask, Do people divorce for every cause? The answer then, as now, would be yes. The question is, is it lawful, is it right to divorce for every cause. The answer Jesus gave in verse 9 states, "And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery." Thus Jesus said that there is just one cause for divorce and remarriage, and that is the cause of fornication. To divorce and marry another, for every other cause, without lawful grounds Jesus said those who do such, commit adultery in this relationship, "Whosoever shall put away his wife...and shall marry another, committeth adultery. John the Baptist said to Herod, "It is not lawful for thee to have thy brother's wife." Mk.6:18. It cost him his head, for boldly proclaiming the truth. But to compromise and say anything else would not have helped anyone. And repentance is the solution to the sin of living in adultery, Luke 13:3, Acts 17:30. You can quit the sin!

space for new cars in their show rooms as this place devotes to strollers. And I bet you didn't know that Jeep makes two models of strollers. Actually the Jeeps are pretty cheap compared to some of the really high priced stuff.

Almost any stroller company makes a model for twins, at least two can accommodate triplets and one even has a model for quadruplets! You can get a plain old single baby stroller for as little as $39.00 but if you really want to splurge, you can spend over $700.00 on something to cart junior around in.

Jennifer has settled on a stroller called a Jovey Tandem Stand On. Which means that grandson Braden, who won't be 3 until September, can stand or sit in the back while new little brother occupies the cradle section. For a number of reasons, the major one being that I can't imagine Braden standing still, I have my doubts about this actually working out. But with Jennifer keeping a close eye on him, he probably won't be able to sneak and pull the new kid's ears without getting caught in the act.

So now I will tell you that a Jovey Caboose Organizer is nothing more than a little canvas tote that snaps on the stroller handles for bottles and any number of other items required to keep the modern baby adequately supplied. After walking about a mile through the aisles I finally asked a clerk for help but mostly they were overly involved with young women who looked like they were going straight from the store to the delivery room and I didn't want to be a nuisance or take a chance on slowing them down. Turns out the organizers were right there beside the strollers and I felt like an idiot for not realizing that your modern stroller is not complete without a caboose.

So while I had the clerks attention, I told her that I couldn't imagine why it was on the list and why they might have a crate for sage in a baby store but it did seem affordable and I'd take one if they had it.

She giggled and told me it was a “koala baby” item (this turns out to be a brand name for many, many things babyish). It was actually a little canvas tote bag and sage was the color. You take stuff out of your caboose organizer and put it in the absolutely, totally misnamed “crate” during those times when your stroller is parked.

The “Gracko Pack and Play” (lt. blue) turned out to be a fitted sheet that goes in the bottom of a playpen. The new kid on the block will inherit Braden's playpen but apparently his old sheets are pretty much done in.

One neat thing about Babys'R'Us is that after you check out, they provide a counter with free gift-wrapping paper, tape and scissors. So while Granny wrapped stuff up, I browsed a book entitled 100,001 Best Baby Names. That is not a typo. 100,001 names. I looked for Dolittle, Earnhart, and Fosdick and neither were on the list. I thought about penciling them in and changing the number on the cover to 100,003 but I figured I'd get caught and I didn't want to spend $25.00 on a book of names.

Instead, I found a bib, which is what I'd really had in mind all along. It is navy blue with bold white embroidered letters. It says, “Baby Brother aka TROUBLE”. I bought it on the spot. I'd be willing to bet that's not on the list of best baby names but I'll also bet that Braden makes it stick.

realized there was no breeze, and it was lifting straight up.

The top of the object looked white while it was still on the ground, but as it ascended, the underneath was intermittent red and white striped in a “bull's-eye” design. We watched as it drifted higher and higher. When it reached a certain altitude, about to the top of the trees, the red and white design had turned to a solid silver color, and it was glowing in the sun to produce a very metallic glow.

This object kept ascending until it became a small dot, finally disappearing out of sight. It left us both wondering what it was. I remember asking my grandpa about this unusual sight, and he said that he had never seen anything like it. For years to follow, I would always look over in the horse pasture when I would be in the front yard to see if I could see any more of that mysterious “flying paper”.

In years to come, when I was a teen, one winter Mom and I started noticing strange lights in the western sky just above the horizon. We liked to watch the sun set together, and one evening we noticed a group of about three to five strange lights. They were stationary, but soon they would regroup and make another little design, or group. They would maintain these various formations for a period of two or three minutes each. In the days ahead, we could see these lights at least one or two times a week on various nights. They were constant in hovering in the western sky above the horizon for about an hour, anywhere from six to nine o'clock. This lasted for about a month or longer, until they finally stopped coming. We have never seen these bright round white lights before or since.

In most cases, UFOs can be explained very easily, and turn out to be nothing more than a hoax. In other cases, there is room for debate. I don't suppose we'll ever know for sure just what these mysterious lights are which may be a good thing. Life needs a little mystery. Just think how dull life would be if we knew all the answers. It's good to experience things that make you go, “Hm-m-m.”

open-water training. Students must furnish mask, fins, and snorkel by the second night of class. These items are for sale or rent at Reefline.

Besides an ability to swim, students should be free of certain medical conditions such as diabetes, asthma and seizure disorders.

“We can't stress enough that divers must be in good condition.” said Booth. “Having a healthy circulatory and respiratory system is vital.”

Although a lot can go wrong in diving, safety is stressed, and the sport is best practiced in teams or as a family.

According to Booth, his wife, along with his son and daughter-in-law who now live in Shelbyville, have become certified divers. Giving gives you a good reason to go places with your family,” he said.

Among the best Kentucky locations for diving are Dale Hollow Lake, Laurel Lake, and the aforementioned Joe's Quarry.

“We do a lot of our open dives at Dale Hollow due to the clarity of the water there. Sometimes we see bass come right up to our face masks and stare at us,” he said.

Three or four trips per year are made to Florida for cave diving, and excursions to the Caribbean are frequent.

“The ocean waters are so clear for observing all types of fish, turtles, and eels. They're all really friendly, too, because they're so used to seeing divers,” said Booth.

Sometimes it feels like you're swimming inside an aquarium.”

bile accident at the tender age of 15, had been an avid collector of baseball cards. When I was faced with the dilemma of what to do with his collection, my mind turned immediately to the “old faithful” chest. I carefully placed his entire card collection inside the trunk that had been at my side since high school.

To my amazement, his baseball cards completely filled it. Somehow it seemed a most fitting container for my son's collection. Occasionally, I open my old trunk and go through those baseball cards that were so much a part of Todd's life. Now, whenever I open that old trunk, I feel like he is watching me.

Who would have ever thought that a trunk purchased to protect my treasured items would become a treasured item in itself.

May is Skin Cancer Awareness Month

Summer means fun in the sun. When you enjoy the outdoors, it's important to protect your family from the sun's harmful rays. Kids in particular can suffer severe, painful sunburns, and in the long run, these burns can increase their risk for skin cancer as an adult. Fortunately, skin cancer is the most preventable form of cancer. Just follow a few simple steps to keep your family safe.

May is Skin Cancer/Melanoma Detection and Prevention Month. According to the American Cancer Society, more than 1,050 people in KY will develop melanoma – the most serious form of skin cancer – this year. Sadly, many of these cases could have been prevented.

"The best way to avoid sunburn and skin damage is to adopt a year-round safe-skin regimen," said Melissa Brock, Rockcastle County Relay Co-Chair. "Important sun protection methods include effective use of sunscreen, hats, protective clothing, sunglasses and staying out of the sun when ultraviolet (UV) rays are most dangerous, generally between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m."

Slip! Slop! Slap!®, the American Cancer Society's skin cancer awareness campaign, is designed to teach kids and their parents how easy it is to protect themselves while in the sun. Slip! Slop! Slap!® is a quick way to remember the most important sun protective behaviors:

•Slip! - Slip on a shirt. Wear protective clothing when out in the sun. Choose clothes made of tightly woven fabrics that you can't see through.

•Slop! - Slop on sunscreen. Wear sunscreen with a sun protection factor (SPF) of 15 or higher on any exposed skin. Apply sunscreen 15-20 minutes before going outdoors, and be sure to reapply as necessary, especially after swimming, sweating or toweling off.

•Slap! - Slap on a hat. Wear a wide-brimmed hat that shades the face, neck and ears.

Lyons graduates

Air Force Airman Rebekah M. Lyons has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Lyons earned distinction as an honor graduate.

She is the daughter of Melanie Lyons of Scaffold Cane Road, Mt. Vernon and Jeff Lyons of Kings Cross Drive, Berea.

ety also recommends protecting your eyes and the surrounding skin with sunglasses. Sunglasses with 99-100 percent UV absorption lenses provide the best protection.

"Children require special attention, and parents should protect them from excess sun exposure," said Mary O'Connell, Director of Skin Cancer Initiatives for the American Cancer Society. "And older children need to be cautioned about sun exposure as they become more independent. It's important to develop the habit of protecting your skin whenever you go outdoors and may be exposed to large amounts of sunlight."

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives and diminishing suffering from cancer, through research, education, advocacy, and service.

For information about cancer, call toll-free anytime 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit the American Cancer Society Web site at www.cancer.org.

Senior Living Celebration held at Northside

Nearly 300 people attended a "Senior Living Celebration" held recently at the Northside Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon. One of three similar events sponsored at different sites by the Kentucky Baptist Convention, the day-long event drew senior adults from across the state.

Celebrating God's faithfulness, generation to generation, participants experienced a time of worship, fellowship and laughter. Keynote speaker Dr. Lincoln Bingham gave an inspirational testimony and a Gospel message, sharing what it means to believe God, trust and obey Him.

Musical Humorist Joe Mason entertained the group through his piano artistry, humorous impressions and original songs.

Participants were offered a series of workshops which included topics such as financial planning, crafts, missions, travel, and music.

"We are thankful to be part of such a jubilant worshipful celebration centered around the love of God," said Bro. Chad Burdette, pastor of Northside Baptist Church. "Every time we honor His faithfulness and celebrate His goodness, we experience Him."

Several Kentucky Baptist Convention displays were on hand at the recent "Senior Living Celebration" held at Northside Baptist Church.

43 states have enacted booster seat law

With the enactment of four new state booster seat laws, Safe Kids is proud to announce that there are now a total of 43 states (including Washington, D.C.) with some form of a child passenger safety law that protects older children.

On April 14, 2008, booster seat legislation was signed into law by Kentucky Governor Steve Beshear.

Approved by the state legislature on April 2nd, Kentucky's booster set legislation requires that children, under age seven and between 40-50 inches in height, use an appropriate child safety seat.

According to the national Highway Traffic Safety Administration, a properly installed, belt-positioning booster seat lowers the risk of injury to children by nearly 60 percent, compared with seat belts alone.

The bill requires law enforcement officers to issue "courtesy warnings" for violations until 2009, after which there will be a $30 fine with no court costs. In addition, violators will have the option to purchase a booster seat instead of paying the fine.

Booster seats will be available for children who need them at the Longest Day of Play at MVES on June 18th from 4 to 8 p.m.

Leaving a Legacy

In April, Mr. Herbert Smith of Brodhead donated a 1997 Chevy Tahoe to Hospice Care Plus, Inc., in memory of his wife, Ila Margaret Smith. Mrs. Smith, who passed away under Hospice care in March, had asked her husband to donate both her vehicles to charity. "This donation is a beautiful way to honor the memory of Mrs. Smith," said Shelley Rhodus of Hospice Care Plus. Hospice Care Plus plans to sell the vehicle and use the proceeds to benefit the needs of patients and their families. Hospice Care Plus, Inc., is a non-profit organization serving Estill, Jackson, Lee, Madison, Owsley and Rockcastle Counties since 1981.

Rockcastle FFA Chapter Banquet is huge success

By Alexis Brown
Rockcastle County FFA
Chapter Reporter

Every spring the Rockcastle County FFA holds their annual awards banquet to honor the chapter's many achievements throughout the year. This year their annual banquet was held on the evening of Thursday, May 1st. As always, it was a huge success with over 250 members and guests attending.

The evening began with a wonderful meal prepared by Tom Mills, our county Extension Agent for Agriculture, and our local FFA Alumni chapter. The program began with our chapter Chaplain Jeff Albright delivering the invocation. Then the 2007-2008 Officer team opened the meeting for the final time.

There were many awards presented to various members that went above and beyond for our chapter. Some of the awards given were proficiency awards, speaking awards, and many team awards.

Our advisors, Mr. Jeff Hayes and Mr. Roy Reynolds, present special awards at each annual banquet. This year, as always, those awards went out to an outstanding group of FFA members. Brittany Adams received the Star Greenhand award, Nikki Wilson received the Outstanding Assistant Officer award, Joel Lakes received the Outstanding Committee Chair award, Lewis Mink received the Outstanding Officer and Star Farmer awards, Andrew Laswell received the Outstanding Leader and Star in Agricultural Placement award, Dustin Johnson received the 110% award and the Dekalb award, Zach Stephens received the Most Dedicated award, and Darrin McKinney received the Outstanding Service award.

FFA members weren't the only ones to receive a plaque. Appreciation awards were presented to people who have gone above and beyond to help our chapter. This year's recipients were Derek Adams and Karen Mink.

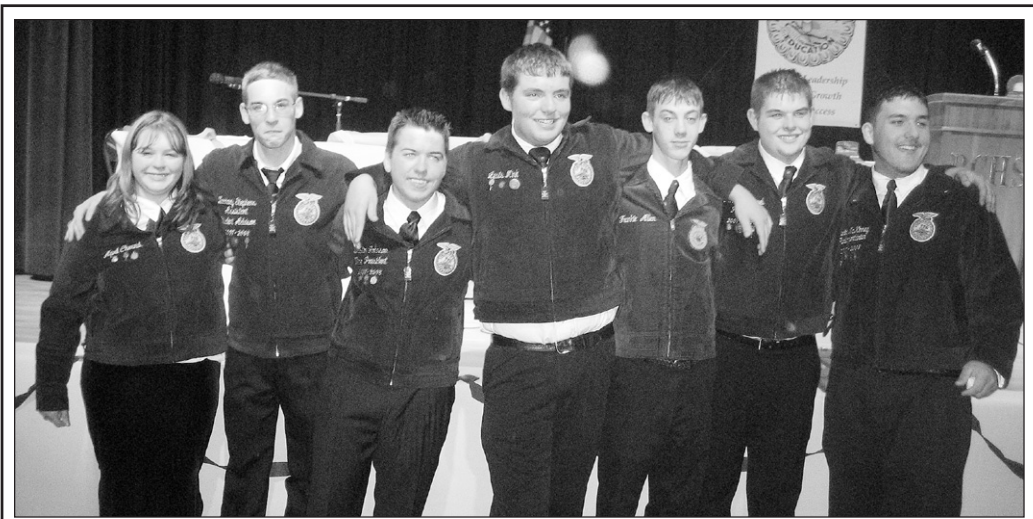

Our Alumni also recognized the following seniors and presented them with $500 scholarships: April Chesnut, Dustin Johnson, Andrew Laswell, Darrin McKinney, and Lewis Mink.

The senior FFA officers and Assistants presented their parents and Mrs. Jennifer Mattingly, the RCHS Principle, with honorary degrees to show their appreciation. The highlight of the evening was the Newscast, performed by Mr. Hayes' Agriculture Communications class. The big anticipation of the night for a select few was the installation of the 2008-2009 Officer team. Banquet night came to a close with a tribute to our departing senior members.

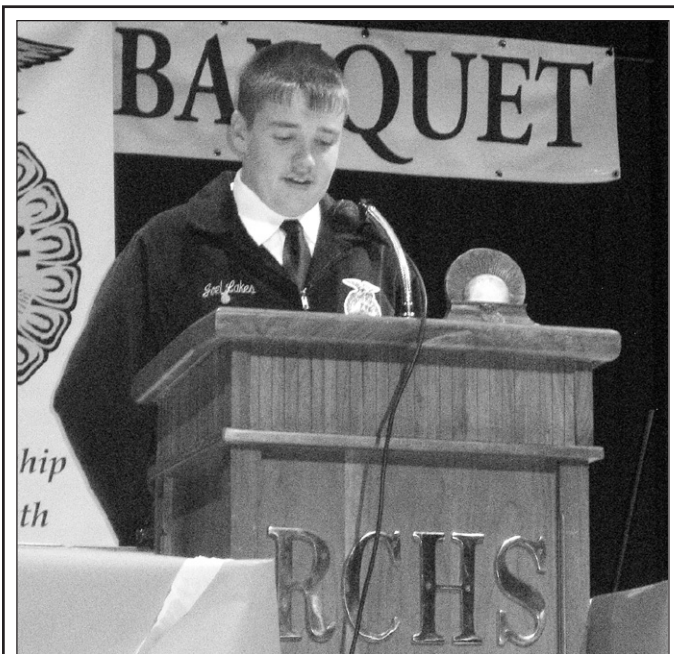

Every year the FFA looks forward to holding their annual Banquet. Without the hard work of the Agriculture Communications class, along with other current and former member as it is today.

I would like to give a special thanks to Tom Mills and the local Alumni chapter for the wonderful meal. I would also like to thank the sponsors who made the awards program possible. Congratulations to everyone who was recognized for their great success. Good luck to all of the senior FFA members who will be off to bigger and better things in their lives.

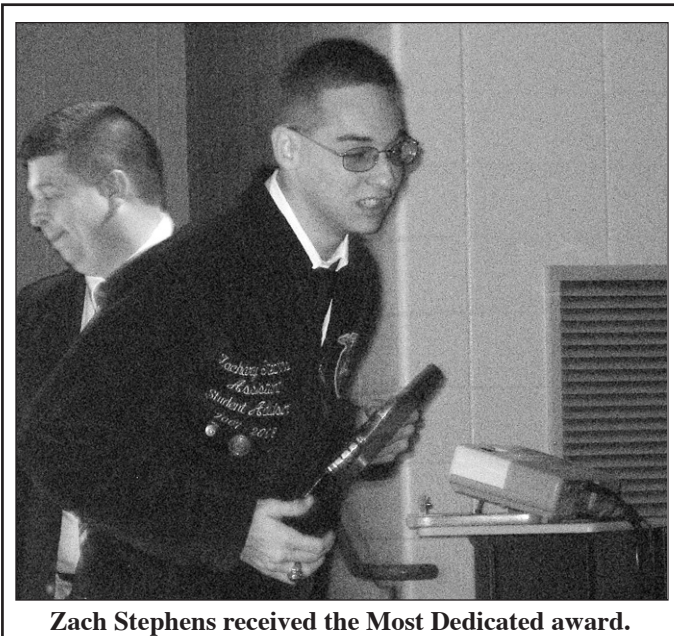

Senior FFA members.

Joel Lakes received Outstanding Committee Chair.

Dustin Johnson received 110% award and the Dekalb award.

Zach Stephens received the Most Dedicated award.

Holly Brown awarded Honors Scholarship

Holly Brown of Brodhead has been awarded a Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship to help pay for her college education. This scholarship award is $1,500 a year for four years of college.

Brown, a 2008 graduate of Rockcastle County High School, will attend Transylvania University. She hasn't decided on a major yet but is considering English or chemistry.

"The Byrd Scholarship is certainly an honor," she said, "and will be a great assistance in covering my expenses as I pursue a college education."

While at RCHS, Brown was a member of the academic team, French Club, PRIDE Club, Honors Club, Chess Club, Book Club, Key Club, HOSA, Math Club, FCA and Creating Writing Club.

She is one of only 84 seniors in the state this year to receive a Byrd Scholarship, a federally funded program administered by the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA). KHEAA also administers other student aid programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship, where students earn money for college by making good grades in high school.

Brown is the daughter of Michael and Patricia Brown of Brodhead. She is the granddaughter of Leroy and Carolyn Brown and Kathleen Brock, all of Brodhead.

The Byrd Scholarship is named for longtime U.S. Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, who authored the legislation establishing the program in 1985. Kentucky receives enough funding to award scholarships to 84 high school seniors each year, with 14 chosen from each of the state's six congressional districts. Recipients are chosen by an independent panel, based on academic achievement, community service, school involvement and counselor recommendation.

KHEAA and its sister agency, The Student Loan People, administer student financial aid programs to help Kentuckians pay for college. They also provide free college planning and financial aid information to students, parents and counselors.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, visit www.GoHigherKY.org. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602-0798; or call (800) 928-8926, ext. 7381.

Two Rockcastle teens named Rogers Scholars

Devin Davidson and Joanie Alexander, both sophomores at Rockcastle County High School, are among 60 students selected to participate in The Center for Rural Development's Rogers Scholars program.

Rogers Scholars is a unique and exciting learning opportunity for a select group of juniors from 42 counties in Southern and Eastern Kentucky that was first envisioned by the program's namesake, Congressman Hal Rogers, KY-05. During each of the intensive, one-week sessions in June and July, 30 students will participate in hands-on learning in engineering, video production, or information technology majors. Scholars also take part in entrepreneurial training sessions and get the opportunity to interact via videoconference and in person with some of the nation's most renowned speakers and business professionals.

During the week, scholars will be involved in exercises designed to build leadership and cooperative skills. "There will be serious instruction, but it will be presented in a fun, exciting, learning environment," says Lonnie Lawson, president and CEO of The Center. "Students will develop bonds and relationships they can carry through-their lives."

According to Lawson, one of the most exciting aspects of the program is the individual action plan. Brainstorming about the needs of their communities, scholars develop projects they take home and implement in their county. Previous successful projects include presenting a safety fair, beginning an entrepreneurial library and organizing drug-free post-prom activities.

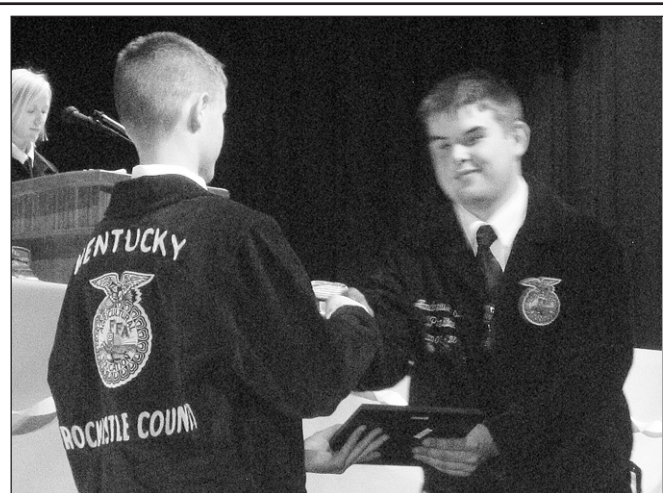

"We want to teach the young people of Southern and Eastern Kentucky confidence and skills, as well as inspire a deeper commitment to their hometowns and this region," explains Lawson.

Being chosen for Rogers Scholars involves a highly competitive process. "An essay, community and extra-curricular involvement, grade point average and reference letters are all used in a blind scoring process that conceals the name, gender and county of the applicant allowing their achievements to rise to the top," said Jessica Melton, associate director of education and training.

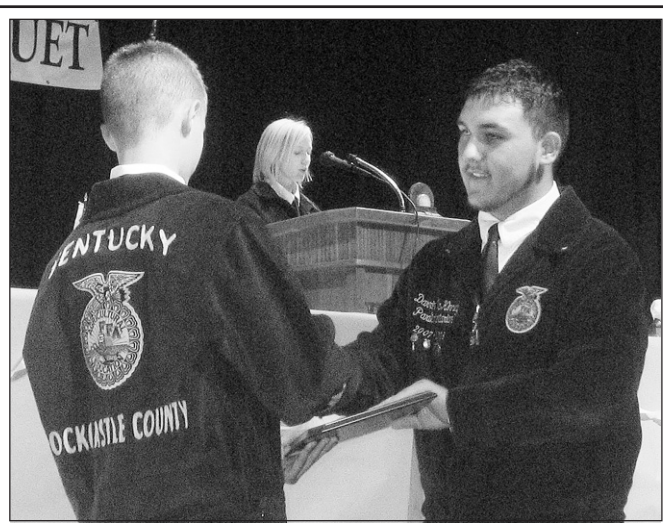

Devin is the son of James and Janice Davidson of Mt. Vernon. Joanie is the daughter of Jack and Sandy Alexander of Brodhead.

Brittany Adams received the Star Greenhand award.

Andrew Laswell received the Outstanding Leader and Star in Agricultural Placement.

Darrin McKinney received the Outstanding Service award.

Lewis Mink received the Outstanding Officer and Star Farmer awards.

Nicki Whitaker Bussell was seriously injured Saturday afternoon in a two vehicle collision on U.S. 25 as she was delivering mail in the Ford Taurus shown above.

Local woman injured while delivering mail

A local woman, who was delivering mail from the Mt. Vernon Post Office, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon in a two car collision.

Substitute mail carrier Nicki Whitaker Bussell, 28, who lives on Hwy. 1505, was carrying Rt. 6 mail and had only three stops left on her route when the 2:15 p.m. accident occurred, according to Mt. Vernon Postmaster Chris Anderson.

Family members of Bussell said a family from Pennsylvania turned left in front of Whitaker as they tried to get on Northbound I-75 at Exit 62.

All four members of the Pennsylvania family were injured as was Bussell, who received a badly broken right arm and breaks in both of her hips.

All five people injured in the wreck were treated at Rockcastle Hospital. Bussell and two members of the Pennsylvania family were then transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

Bussell was released from the hospital on Tuesday.

Overall in the county Lunsford beat Fischer 425 to 181.

Lunsford will face four term incumbent Republican Mitch McConnell, who carried all 14 precincts in the county, getting 881 total votes. McConnell is the current Republican Leader in the U.S. Senate.

President Jessie Mahaffey said the board planned to discuss renovations and improvements to the facility and hopefully take a vote on the anticipated repairs, renovations and expense involved in required work on the pool.

Last year the original debt on the recreation center, which had been financed by FHA was paid off, and the board voted to borrow up to $350,000 to put an irrigation system on the golf course, repair and renovate the pool and blacktop the parking lot and cart paths, according to Mahaffey. Mahaffey said PBK Bank in Mt. Vernon was handling the loan, which is a draw note.

A bid of $68,000 to do the work on the pool had been received, but contractors ran into problems when they tried to acquire work permits from the local health department, according to Mahaffey, who said the state then stepped in.

“They told us the pool had been in noncompliance for several years and that plans for work to bring the pool into compliance would have to be completed and then approved by them before we could do anything,” he said.

“Those plans have been approved, but it is going to cost much more than $68,000 to fix the pool,” he added.

Mahaffey said one local company had estimated it would cost $150,000 to $175,000 to do the repair work on the pool, which has some major leaks and another local contractor had said he would work with the board to complete the dozer and backhoe work, although he did not give a price.

The board has already spent approximately $200,000 on the new irrigation system with blacktopping and work on the pool still to do.

“We are going to lay out everything to the membership next Tuesday and go from there,” the President said.

Currently CRRC has 138 family and single members. A family membership cost $550 a year and a single membership is $450.

Members needing more information on the special meeting can call (606) 256-4112.

died for lack of a second.

The council also voted to require Tommy Mullins, operator of the Renfro Valley Boat Dock, to bring his lease payments up to date and clean up the area before the next meeting or his lease will be declared void. He is currently $1,400 behind in his rent but has brought his liability insurance up to date.

Mullins told Mayor Clarice Kirby several months ago that he intended to quit operating the dock but later changed his mind.

Chamber of Commerce President Jerry Pensol was before the council to ask them if they could possibly “tweak” their ordinance dealing with transient businesses selling good in Mt. Vernon.

Pensol said a furniture truck recently parked on Main Street in Mt. Vernon, bought a privilege license, which is the only requirement of the city, but used a fictitious name and false federal ID number.

“We are not trying to prevent others from coming into our town to sell their goods but they should have to follow the same rules as our local businesses,” Pensol said in a letter he presented to council members at the meeting.

Pensol told the council that a business wishing to operate in this manner are required to procure a Transient License through each local County Court Clerk’s office and, in order to get this license, must have filed an application with the state attorney general’s office 10 days beforehand. The penalty for not following this procedure is a $500 fine and up to 30 days in jail.

Pensol said that County Attorney Billy Reynolds made the furniture truck leave but they just went to another location in the city and began selling again.

“Transient businesses do not help the city whatsoever, they only take out,” Pensol told the council.

The council then went into executive session with members of the fire department but no action followed that meeting.
