A Flat Gap man died after an accident near his home on Buffalo Hollow Road on Monday morning. According to Kentucky State Trooper Jason Vanhook, Roy Lee Roberts Jr., lost control of the above 1992 Toyota around 9:30 a.m. as he was apparently trying to get to his home. City buys more property for park located on Williams St.

By: Richard Anderkin

The Mt. Vernon City Council voted Monday night to buy more property for the city park located at Williams Street and Hwy. 150, from a local businessman.

With almost no discussion, the four council members in attendance at the meeting voted to purchase the property where Perry's Auto Body is located for $185,000.

Perry Mink, owner of the business, said there was approximately one acre of land and three buildings on the property and that he had decided to relocate his business.

Mink, who has been in business in the county for 27 years, said he was also leaving two air compressors for the city.

Mayor Clarice Kirby said the city could use the buildings for the city's maintenance department and some of the property could be used for a much-needed skateboard park.

The property lies adjacent to the present city park at the end of Mill and Locust Streets.

Kirby and Mink agreed that it would take about 90 days to complete the transaction.

The Mayor said she wasn't sure where the city would get the money, but that she was positive the city could come up with some interim financing for the purchase.

"It sounds exciting to me - I think it will pay off in the long run," said Mayor Kirby.

The Mayor said the city would use culverts to fix a drainage ditch which runs between the two properties in order to connect them.

Mayor Kirby also told the council that the Pongo Fire Department was going to give the city the 1985 Ford Summit Fire Truck, they had recently loaned them.

The Mayor said Pongo only wanted the city to pay $3,000 for the equipment that is on the truck.

The council agreed that the offer by Pongo was a good idea and a very gracious gesture.

The Mayor said the county would have to sign off on the donation, but told the council that Pongo Asst. Fire Chief Tony Bullock, said he had talked to the Judge (Carloftis) and it wasn't going to be a problem to transfer the truck.

The Mayor also reported to the council that the city's own fire truck was still at Wynn's Fire and Rescue in Corbin and that the owner, Charlie Wynn had dropped the price for fix-

Wreck probably did not kill Flat Gap man

A Flat Gap man died only minutes after an auto accident on Buffalo Hollow Road Monday morning.

Rockcastle County Coroner Bill Dowell, pronounced Roy Lee Roberts, Jr., dead at the accident scene, at approximately 9:45 Monday morning, but said the single vehicle accident most likely did not kill him.

Dowell said Roberts, 62, probably had a heart attack, which caused the wreck.

"There wasn't a mark on him, I'm certain his death was natural causes," said the coroner, who did not order an autopsy in the case.

The coroner said Roberts suffered from sugar diabetes, high blood pressure and had previously had a heart attack.

"He was carrying nitroglycerin pills and apparently trying to reach his home because the flashers on his vehicle were turned on," Dowell said.

State Trooper Jason Vanhook said Roberts' 1992 Toyota flipped over on its top in a ditch in a relative's yard and that Roberts had been able to crawl partially out of the vehicle after it turned over. (A complete obituary appears on Page A-3).

Historic Cemetery in Mt. Vernon gets facelift

37 students from Berea College's Black Student Union and African Student Association, accompanied by two professors, Dr. Jacqueline Burnside and Dr. Andrew Baskin, co-researchers of the Kentucky African-American Encyclopedia Project, came to the county Friday to provide 'sweat equity' to the Rockcastle Fiscal Court's historic cemetery preservation project.

The team of students and professors met at the historic Newcomb Cemetery on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon on Friday evening, with Mt.

Vernon Lions Club president Mike Deborde and member Billy Dowell along with Dr. Joe Henderson and wife Ann, Judge Carloftis and others. Everyone was there to help clean the cemetery and help the county erect a narrative monument describing the origins of the historic black cemetery.

The monument states, in part, "This burying ground for fellow ex-slaves was donated and dedicated by Walker Newcomb, a slave who bought his freedom and that of his wife's. Within this boundary lie three 119th U.S. Colored Infantry Troops: Sgt Samuel Smith; Pvt Andrew Bussell; and Pvt Jonathan Smith..."

County Judge-Executive Buzz Carloftis and the magistrates formed a county historic cemetery board several years ago for the preservation of a number of historic cemeteries within Rockcastle County. Members of the board are Juanita Davis, Juanita Witt, David Owens, Bernice McHargue, and Willetta Owens.

The fiscal court, on behalf of the board, applied for and received a historic cemetery

The Mt. Vernon City Council voted Monday night to agree to buy approximately one acre of land, adjacent to the city park on Williams Street, for additional space for the park. Some of that additional space will be used for a skateboard park. The property is currently occupied by Perry's Auto Body, which is relocating to another location.

37 students from Berea College's Black Student Union and African Student Association were in Mt. Vernon on Friday to help clean the Newcomb Cemetery and help other local people erect a narrative monument describing the origins of the historic black cemetery. Vanhook selected to serve on school board Jeff Vanhook, 40, of Hwy. 150, is the newest member of the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

Last week, Kentucky Commissioner of Education, Jon E. Draud, appointed Vanhook, after interviews on July 8th at the local central office.

Vanhook, Russell Poynter of Copper Creek and Mary Jo Hunt of Ottawa applied for the position, after longtime board member and chairman Terry Burton stepped down, from his division two seat.

Vanhook and Poynter were interviewed, but Hunt was unable to be available for her interview.

"I am very honored to have the opportunity to serve on the local board of education," Vanhook said.

"I realize that I have to step in and fill the position of a quality individual in Mr. Terry Burton, and I want to thank him for his valued service to the school board and our community," Vanhook said.

"We are very fortunate and greatly blessed to live in Rockcastle County that has an abundance of caring, quality teachers and administrators. In addition to the quality educators and administration, we have the technology and the facilities to provide great educational opportunities for our school age children and for adults of our communities as well," he added.

Vanhook works for Elmo Greer and Sons, where he serves in the capacity of Assistant Controller and Cost Accountant.

Vanhook, his wife Sonya and children, Courtlyn, 9 and Jackson, 4, live in the Brodhead school district.

Vanhook, a 1990 graduate of Transylvania University, is also a member of the board of directors of the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum.

Vanhook will serve until the November 4th general election.

He has already filed to run for the seat and whoever wins the seat will serve the remaining month of Burton's unexpired term and then serve another full four year term.

by: perlina m. anderkin

It has been years since I have written this column and some of the younger generation are probably wondering why I don't know my punctuation but, if they read long enough, they will no doubt discover that that's not the only thing I don't know.

Writing this column once again was brought on by our country's current dire economic squeeze. It has caused me to sit back and take stock of my frivolous ways regarding the use of money, time, energy, etc. -- I waste them all. And, I profusely apologize to my parents who raised me not to waste. We simply didn't have a lot of material things and what we did have we had to take care of them.

Mom especially repeated the phrase "use it up, wear it out, throw it away, do without" -- it was right up there with her oft repeated phrase "whistling women and cackling hens both usually come to no good end."

I obviously didn't heed the first one and, since I couldn't whistle anyway, the second had no meaning for me.

But, I'm wasteful. When I got my electric bill for June and saw how many more kilowatt hours my husband, Jim, and I use than the average residential customers, I was embarrassed. Embarrassed enough that I began cutting off the TV in the living room that had been inadvertently left on for about three days with nary a soul in the room, embarrassed enough to begin turning off lights in rooms that I was not in -- always a pet peeve of dad's, embarrassed enough to begin freezing the rest of the hamburger I didn't use instead of waiting a couple of days and throwing it away -- you get the picture?

I first began thinking about this recently when our youngest daughter Allison's car needed washing and we were trying to figure out a convenient time to take it to the detail shop on Richmond Street. A light bulb suddenly went off and I suggested that perhaps we, Allison and I, could wash the car at home thereby saving a few bucks. Allison wasn't real enthusiastic and, by the time I couldn't resist spraying her and she retaliated, we may have used more water than it would have cost us to go to the shop. I recounted the story to a friend and added that this was the way I was raised. My dad never paid for anything that he could possibly do himself. The friend said that he and his wife had had the same conversation recently and decided that we used to use time to save money and now used money to save time.

I believe that but then I got to thinking about how I used the time I saved. I decided that I was primarily using it to be lazy.

I have developed a sense of entitlement in my old age, especially with the household empty of children. I have the right not to mop my kitchen floor when it's dirty -- to instead play another few games on Pogo on the computer. I have the right to ignore my flowers and vegetable garden when I would rather read or quilt. After all, I put my time in. I worked hard raising seven children. These are my arguments and they're actually not very valid.

I have the right to do the aforsaid things but I also have the responsibility to conduct myself in a manner that uses mine and others and, yes, the planet's resources in the best possible way.

The upcoming presidential election has me in a quandry. I have always admired John McCain -- a war hero, a responsible statesman, most of the time, and he has a wonderful relationship with his mother, based on one television interview I saw with both of them.

However, I am dissatisfied with the way things are going. I was appalled when we went into Iraq and I decided at that time to vote against Bush in the next election. But, the Democrats, who have the far, far, far left for leadership could only come up with John Kerry for a candidate and he didn't ring any bells for me so it was back to Bush -- rather the devil...

Obama has struck some enthusiasm from me but, some of his baggage has turned me off -- Rev. Jeremiah Wright, his wife, his association with violate revolutionists, etc. But, I think this country may need a fresh approach to our problems. Don't get me wrong, I know there is a Washington point of view about the nature of our problems -- and the point of view of the rest of the nation but maybe the two would intersect a little more with Obama -- and maybe not, I don't know. I may go into the voting booth in November and toss a coin - now that's responsible isn't it?

Keeping you informed about your county government

By Buzz Carloftis, County Judge-Executive

This is the second in a series of articles to help you, as a taxpayer and citizen, better understand the requirements of the state upon and the expectations of the citizens of your local county government (the fiscal court) and its responses to those requirements and expectations. It is hoped that these articles will provide useful information to those who want to be informed of the fiscal court's actions and the reasons behind those actions taken.

Last week's article discussed the fiscal court's Road Fund and the department it maintains for the construction and maintenance of public roads in Rockcastle County. It is one of the easiest of the County's nine separate funds (separate bank accounts) to understand. Now let us look at a minor -- yet far more complicated -- fund of the fiscal court: the Local Government Economic Assistance (LGEA) Fund.

This year's LGEA fund totals $215,135.00, quite a bit more than in most years, although not as much as last year's total of $231,250.00. In some prior years the entire LGEA account totaled as little as $24,000. I bring this to your attention so you will better understand why the fiscal court's General Fund (to be discussed at a later date) has been 'bled' for so many years.

LGEA is funded by the tax on coal and minerals. Because Rockcastle has recently had an operating coal mine, the severance tax this year totals $160,000, while the mineral severance totals $30,000. In addition, $2,500 is being carried over from June 30th, and the County can expect to earn $500 in interest. This brings the total to $193,000 in income, but the expenses required are $215,135. Because of the shortfall in revenue for this fund, the General Fund will be required to place $22,135 of its tax revenue into the LGEA fund account. You are now getting an understanding of how the General Fund helps to maintain other funds whose revenues don't meet their expenditures.

The LGEA fund is designed to be broad in its allowable expenses. This 'broadness' has enabled many counties in Kentucky to use coal severance taxes of the LGEA fund to meet normal and routine local government requirements. That means the coal-rich counties of Kentucky can usually have a prosperous local government without their fiscal courts needing to raise new taxes. Some counties receive many, many millions of dollars in their LGEA funds alone compared to Rockcastle County's entire nine funds combined. They are the 'lucky' counties. Counties without such coal production are forced to raise taxes in order to meet the demands of the state and expectations of the local citizens.

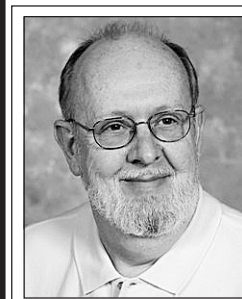

There are 'allowable' and 'non-allowable' expenditures from the LGEA account, and the restrictions are statutory; compliance is mandatory. Coal impact counties must expend 100% of funds in transportation (roads). Thirty percent (30%) of all coal producing funds must be expended in transportation, while 70% of the remaining funds and 100% of mineral producing funds must be directly related to the remaining categories:

County Coroner, $6,000; coroner deputies, $6,000; coroner workmen's comp, $410; coroner's expense account, $3,600; autopsies (transportation of bodies), $1,500; official communications, $660. Fire Departments (fuel and vehicle parts), $24,800; insurance, $2,000; and radio dispatch communications, $4,500. Solid Waste wages, $28,000; workmen's comp, $2,300; fuel, $1,000; office supplies, $2,500; printing costs, $350; telephone, $1,500.

Health Programs (substance abuse program) utilities, $500; Cumberland Valley Area Devel-

Rockcastle Memories

View from the Mountain "Hi-yo, Silver, away!"

A few days ago a new restaurant opened in Stanton, and my friend Hayden Johnson informed me that it would be offering cereal as one of the menu items for breakfast. He and I had formerly discussed that we both love a bowl of cereal with our morning coffee, so this was good news to me.

Our conversation reminded me of the countless times that my mother (Bee) purchased a variety of cereal types for my approval when I was a very young boy. Of course, my choice was the cereal brand that contained the newest toy that came inside the box or that could be purchased at a nominal price from the cereal company.

At that time in my youthful life, my favorite toys were small cars or anything that pertained to cowboys. I remember opening a box of General Mills Cheerios and finding an announcement that offered a Lone Ranger ring if you would send in the coupon and a small fee.

The ring was an ugly gold with a small "bump" on the top of it and a hole in each end. The cereal offer asked the consumer to send a photo of a child, and it would appear when looking through the hole that he or she was standing next to the Lone Ranger and Silver, his horse. I hounded my mother to send in the coupon with my picture, and finally she agreed to give me the money for the ring.

The ring arrived to my utter joy in just a few weeks! When I looked inside the hole on the ring, there I was standing next to the Lone Ranger and Silver. I showed it to all my friends and that silly plastic ring became one of my most prized possessions.

Because of my ring, the Lone Ranger also became one of my especially favorite western heroes. I made a black mask out of an inner tube, and I painted my "stick horse" silver so that I could tame the West in our section of Rockcastle County.

My grandparents even bought me a Lone Ranger set of guns and holsters. I had about a dozen silver bullets on the back of my belt.

For those who do not remember, the Lone Ranger was an early television star. The usual opening announcement on the show was, "A fiery horse with the speed of light... a cloud of dust... and a hearty 'Hi-yo, Silver, away!'" The character was a Texas Ranger in the American Old West, who galloped about righting injustices with the aid of his clever, native Indian partner, Tonto. His horse, a beautiful white stallion, was called Silver; his faithful dog was Bullet.

The back story to the show was that a Texas Ranger had been wounded by outlaws, but he was found by an Apache Indian who nursed him back to health. Together they decided to form a team to fight crime and keep the identity of the Ranger a secret.

The Lone Ranger's use of only silver bullets was supposedly symbolic. The costly metal was to remind him that life, too, is priceless and, like his silver bullets, not to be wasted. During their adventures, Tonto often referred to the Ranger as "kemo sabei", a word meaning "faithful friend" in his tribe's language.

My neighborhood soon noticed that there was a new cowboy hero riding a silver stick horse who was there to protect

I get the blues, big time, in late July and all through August now..

Because the hottest weeks of summers are when my dearly departed fishing buddy, Junior Helton, could relax for a spell after he'd laid by his tobacco crop and dug out all the weeds he figured might aggravate his garden before picking time earnestly set in.

Junior left the putting up of stuff--the hard work of making kraut and canning beans, beets, blackberries, tomatoes, jams, jellies and relish mostly just to Molly, his wife, who served, with him, as surrogate parents and grandparents to Loretta and me and our own little brood throughout the nearly-three decades we lived in Garrard County before they passed on over to the other side.

I'll never figure out just why the Heltons adopted us when we first moved to Harmon's Lick in Garrard County in the early 80's.

Maybe it had something to do with ties to Harlan County and maybe it was just that magical, magnetic thing that enables mountain people to find one another here in the flatlands of Kentucky after we leave the high country in search of that elusive better life. Suffice to say that we met and we bonded. I simply can't remember just how it happened. The kinship was, apparently, just one of those natural things that happen like the weather or perhaps it was simply meant to be.

But, by 1984, we were fast friends, Junior and me, and we had discovered that we had much in common. We both loved to fish and hunt and work in the garden. And Loretta and our kids, by then, actually thought that Molly Helton had hung the moon. Loretta was as bonded to Molly as I was to Junior and everybody, the entire Helton Clan and us were bonded to Molly's chicken and dumplings--her pot roasts and corn bread and God-given talent to make anything, absolutely anything, taste just so that you knew that Molly Helton had prepared the dish.

Junior is the only person I've ever known who could make his eyes twinkle on the phone. His sense of humor was such that he was always pulling the legs of anybody around

by: Tonya J. Cook

Dear Journal:

The car has indoctrinated itself into the fabric of America quite unintentionally. It's become a rite of passage for teens, a must for those who are going out, and a thing of desire for the rest. Later in life, it's almost a necessity for holding down a job or running a household.

There is a mystique about the older classic cars. People usually make a big hoopla in even going to the classic car shows. I know that I really love to see older cars, and so does Stanley. He has a 1969 Camaro, but it's not ready to put on the road yet. Maybe if he could ever get the time, he could do some of the work on it, and have her on the road before long.

Just about everybody can remember the first car they ever owned. It may be fifty years ago or more, but we can remember. In my case, it was a 1972 Oldsmobile Cutlass, four-door, medium blue in color, with a vinyl roof that was so popular at the time. I kept that car for a long time, until I almost drove the wheels off of it. It was a very good car. Then I owned a "big ole" silver 1979 Buick Electra Park Avenue. It was like a battleship on wheels that had all the "extras." I'm still kicking myself for letting that car get away. It had absolutely nothing wrong with it the day I traded it in for a charcoal gray, two-door 1984 Chrysler LeBaron. I guess we can remember the order that we owned our cars, as well.

However, there are two negative things about cars other than requiring expensive gasoline. They are certain to break down sooner or later, and then we have to get them fixed, or go out and look for another one to buy. If you are a woman, you can usually expect to be taken advantage of in either case, unless you really, really know with whom you are dealing.

Car shopping can take a long time, unless you take the first thing that comes along. We have been car shopping for an elderly lady friend of ours in Lexington for a few days now, and really haven't found anything suitable in her price range. Another friend of hers in Lexington had found a possible suitable car there, and we were to go look at it with her. The friend in Lexington was quoted a price on a 1998 Lincoln Continental Town Car, that was about half of the book value. It was a larger car than we were trying to find for this lady, but since it was such a good deal, we might have been persuaded to take it anyway. About the extent of her driving was to be to the grocery store, the drugstore, the doctor's office, the beauty shop, and to church, none of which is no more than two miles from her apartment.

To make a long story short, when I asked about the final cost of the car, even before test-driving, they couldn't, or should I say, wouldn't even give me an answer...just the runaround. Finally, we learned that the price had gone up exactly a thousand dollars than the original price quoted, plus various taxes and expenses added in here and there to make the final cost almost equal to the book value. This was the good deal we had gone to Lexington to see? We were so disgusted that we didn't even test-drive the car. I figured why waste their time, and mine as well. It was like pulling teeth to get a final price, and let me tell you, we never did get an actual dollars-and-cents price, nothing but how much this or that was going to cost. I had just been reminded of why I hated car shopping so much.

Females should be ideal car shoppers. Car shopping is like labor and delivery. We sweat out the pain, turmoil, and expectations of finding the right him but the dead give-away was that his eyes twinkled while he tried to hide his grin.

He'd call me at the office, this time of year, and ask what I was doing. Then he'd tell me about someone who knew someone who'd caught a big mess of catfish out of the Kentucky River. Or he'd heard tell that you couldn't fight the bass off in the lower end of Silver Creek. Or he knew a man who knew a man who'd let us drive right down to the creek on a Godforsaken place on Paint Lick, that hadn't been fished in 20 years. I could hear, if not see, his eyes twinkling, as he reeled me in but he knew I was a sucker.

I'd sneak off right after lunch and we'd catch bait with a minnow seine on Fall Lick, Back Creek, or some other little watershed with a knee-deep hole full of chubs and crawdads and, invariably, we'd come home with heavy strings of small mouth bass or catfish or white perch. It may have happened, but of the hundreds of times that Junior Helton and I fished together, I can't remember ever coming home empty handed.

On weekends we'd tow my bass boat, sometimes over a hundred miles, way down the River, or to Laurel River, Woods Creek, Herrington, Green River, or Cumberland Lakes or even into Tennessee to fish after whatever was biting. But more often we just sneaked off to someplace close to home on hot July and August evenings where the shade was deep and dark under the willows and the water was still and deep out there in the creek where we fished off the bank..

I would listen as Junior told me a "One time me and-----" tale and know that I would one day be telling "One time me and Junior----" tales to another younger generation.

I just wish that generation would hurry along. I have hundreds of fish tales to share with a kid or young person willing to catch the bait and dozens of places we can go where the fish are always biting..

"One time me and Junior were sitting right here and he tossed out a big hard crawdad. Last one in the bucket and so mean it could pinch you and bring the blood. He threw it right over yonder under the roods of that old sycamore and it never slowed down. Something grabbed it and kept right on going and Junior set the hook!!"

It would take me all the space in this paper to tell you that whole story but Junior caught that flathead catfish on that old hard shell and it weighed over fifteen pounds.

Junior Helton has been on the other side for nearly five years now. And my summers just turn more and more into melancholy. I desperately need a fishing buddy.

When you realize that the County used to receive only around $24,000 each year to support the programs in the LGEA account (some of which are absolute requirements of the state), and that the County can fully expect its present revenues to shrink considerably when we have no working coal mines, you can begin to understand the tremendous pressure of meeting these requirements from the General Fund account (the account most tax revenues flow into), and why the fiscal court's members are under oath to make certain that taxes are available to the County to meet these expenses.

While this appears to be complicated, what you have just read is actually a very simple outline governing LGEA uses. For example, if some funds from this account are used for the Office of Sheriff, the sheriff cannot use a single penny of it for office administration or tax collection. Nothing can be expended from this fund to assist the Fiscal Court or the Law Library, Circuit or County Clerks, County Attorney, the state's PVA office in the courthouse, the County Surveyor, Trial Commissioner, Elections, Courthouse Annex, District Court, or Treasurer, just to name a few of the restrictions.

Next time we will look at the much larger - but quite simply understood - Jail Fund account and how it can have a great effect (either positively or negatively) upon the local government and fiscal court.

I could just see me at the bottom of that mountain with a waffle iron atop my head

Someone asked if traveling throughout Kentucky and writing feature stories was making me a lot of money.

"Hardly," I said. "But if memories were money, I'd be a multi-millionaire."

The memory-making began in my youth when Sunday afternoon drives were a family tradition. Most of those trips began with anticipation of new sights and ended at the familiar Dairy Queen.

Soon after we were married, I took my wife to Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes. That unique institution of higher learning has always held a special fascination for me. We spent the night in nearby Wayland. We enjoyed walking around the mountain community that was home to King Kelly Coleman, a Kentucky high school basketball legend of the 1950's.

It was fun checking out the old store fronts, the long abandoned railroad tracks and iron bridges, imaging what life must have been like there when King Kelly ruled.

Later, I would take my mom to Breaks of the Interstate Park near Pikeville where we stood in awe of what is sometimes them from "rustlers" and other bad men. And I was diligent in my pursuit of crime.

My mother had to ask me to remove my mask when it was time for dinner. My faithful silver stick horse waited patiently for me beside the kitchen door. I did not even have to tie him to the screen door; he was dedicated to assisting me in eliminating crime in our locality.

I slept with my guns and holsters. I was even known to put Silver under my bed on occasion in case I had to rush out to fight crime in the middle of the night. I even tied a red bandana around his neck to identify him from other silver stick horses.

The television episodes usually concluded with one of the characters lamenting the fact that they never learned the hero's name. Someone would say, "Who was that masked man?" - only to be told, "Why, he's the Lone Ranger!" The last new episode of the show aired on September 3, 1954.

The Lone Ranger continued to fight crime in comic books for many years after his final television show. I probably had every edition under my bed in a cardboard box. I read them over and over until I had them memorized.

Often I would take out my ring and wistfully stare at me and the Lone Ranger standing side by side. Then we would proceed to determine where we would fight crime this week. There were no bad guys hanging around my neighborhood - that masked man and I had it covered!

called the Grand Canyon of the South.

A weekend in Hazard was spent on another mountain top at a motel some locals referred to as the La Citadel.

For years, we planned but never got around to taking a drive while the hills were at the peak of greenness.

Finally, last week, we threw the dog in the car and headed out, leaving central Kentucky about 7:30 a.m.

The trip was rather uneventful until we got to Frenchburg in Menifee County and Carol spotted the Dollar General Store.

Some women get all giddy over jewelry stores and fancy shopping malls, but all it takes is a Dollar General to excite my wife.

Just call me lucky, I guess. With two dishpans, a broom, mop, waffle iron, three extra large bath towels added to the backseat, we got back on the road and headed toward Hazard.

In case you haven't noticed, every wide spot in the road is home to a Dollar General. It wasn't long before we simply had to make more room. We're going to miss that dog.

Somewhere just north of Cumberland, we heeded the advice of a local barber that taking Ky 160 would be the best route for getting us to our next planned destination, Kingdom Come State Park. After driving forever along the narrow roadway, seemingly going in circles, it became increasingly obvious the barber just wanted to keep us around long enough to need haircuts.

At long last we came to a sign directing us up the most narrow of paved paths to the park.

Now I'm not one to be all that afraid of heights, especially when in a vehicle on a solid roadway. But when I looked over the side of that mountain all I could visualize was us at the bottom in a crushed car with a waffle iron on my head.

This is the Kentucky version of Pike's Peak. Trust me.

When we finally reached the top of the mountain, there were overlooks aplenty, all offering spectacular views. The perfect place to reflect on the beauty of nature while enjoying a couple of snack cakes and an Ale-8

It was nearly dark when we pulled into Pine Mountain State Park to spend the night.

Romance was in the air as we stood on the deck outside our room, drinking in the beauty of our surroundings and the views in the valley far below.

Ordinarily my wife is not all that enraptured by scenic vistas, so it did my heart good to see her smiling as her eyes scanned the valley.

"Look," she said. "There between those two big rocks. Isn't that a Dollar General sign?"

And so it was. (Please note: No animals were injured nor abandoned during the making of this column).

Lighthouse Assembly of God was est. 35 years ago

By: Richard Anderkin

As many small congregations, The Lighthouse Assembly of God on Hwy. 1004 at Orlando has had its up and downs throughout the years. But as of late, the members of the church are going strong in their efforts to be a light to the community and lead lost souls to Jesus.

Lighthouse Assembly of God was founded by Marvin Hensley, who brought his family to Rockcastle from Laurel County in 1973.

The first services at Lighthouse Assembly were held in a store building on Williams Street on April 3, 1973. The services were moved to the home Hensley built at Burr in October of 1974.

Services were held in the Hensley home until the church he was building near his home became usable in November of 1974.

Hensley pastored at the church until 1979 when he was called to pastor at Williamsburg.

However, in 1984, Hensley returned to the church and pastored until his death on February 22, of 1989. Hensley was murdered while at work at his service station in Laurel County.

And, in 1996, the congregation suffered another setback when arsonists burned the church in the early morning hours of Sunday, July 28th. Officials said the church burning, which was at the time the third in a week in Kentucky, was racially motivated. At the time, Lighthouse had several black teenagers enrolled in their Teen Challenge program -- a drug rehabilitation effort.

However the congregation worshiped at other locations, including members' homes and Our Lady of Mt. Vernon Catholic Church, until another church building was built. The first services in the new church building were on November 2, 1997.

Throughout the years, Lighthouse has had several preachers and, as early as five years ago, the congregation had only seven members.

But in June of 2003, Tim Hampton took over as pastor at the church and many things have changed for the better.

Lighthouse has a church membership of about 75 and an average Sunday attendance of around 50.

During a period of turmoil at the church, before Hampton's arrival, the church had severed its affiliation with the General Counsel of The Assembly of God in Springfield, Missouri. But that relationship has now been restored and Lighthouse is again a member of the Kentucky District of the National Fellowship.

The work at Lighthouse extends far beyond the boundaries of Rockcastle County.

For the past two years, Hampton, and a few others from Lighthouse, have joined other Assembly of God members from Kentucky on crusades to Mexico where they share the Word of God to non-believers, who live in extreme poverty.

Hampton says the team of people from Rockcastle County drive 30 hours one way into Mexico where they take food, clothes and the Word of Salvation to people who have made colonies in dump sites.

"People actually move into large dumps where they set up a colony and live off the garbage that is dumped. You have a new respect for the illegal immigrants in this country and understand why they want to be here," Hampton said.

Hampton also said that on both trips he has been on, 150 to 200 people have been saved.

Besides the trips to Mexico, the church supports missionar-

“Our congregation is so giving and knows how important it is to spread the word of God worldwide and to help so many people who aren’t able to help themselves because of the situation they have been forced to live in,” Hampton said.

The 44-year-old Hampton was ordained into the Ministry in March of 1988 at the Philadelphia United Baptist Church. He was an intern pastor at Clear Creek Baptist in the late 1980s and he preached at Maple Grove Baptist Church for approximately 10 years before going to Lighthouse.

In Loving Memory
Rebecca Marlene Smith
July 19, 2007

It has been a year since God called you home But it seems like yesterday. It broke our hearts to lose you,

But you did not go alone For part of us went with you The day God called you home.

You left us peaceful memories,

Your love is still our guide, And though we cannot see you,

You are always at our side. Your beautiful daughter, Lindsey,

Loves and misses you. You are her special angel in Heaven.

We Love and Miss You,

Doxie Blanton

In Remembrance of My Mother, Doxie Lorene (Brock) Blanton whose Birthdate was July 25th, 1915 and who went to be with her Lord on August 21, 2006:

If you should go before me dear one, walk slowly

Down the ways of death, well-worn and wide,

For I would want to overtake you quickly and seek the journey's ending by your side.

I would be so sad not to meet you Down some shining highroad when I came,

Walk slowly, precious one, and often look behind you

And pause to hear if someone calls your name....

Remembered by Daughter, Irene Blanton Watson

Alexander is Rogers Scholars graduate

Joanie Alexander of Rockcastle County was one of 30 rising high school juniors from Southern and Eastern Kentucky to graduate from Rogers Scholars, a youth leadership program, in July.

Alexander, a student at Rockcastle County High School, was selected from approximately 300 applicants in a 42-county region to attend one of two summer sessions of Rogers Scholars. She was among the second group of Scholars to participate in the program during the week of July 6-11 at The Center for Rural Development in Somerset, Ky. A graduation program was held on the last day of Rogers Scholars for the final group of graduates with former Kentucky Gov. Paul Patton delivering the keynote address.

Rogers Scholars, sponsored by The Center, a non-profit economic development organization, provides opportunities for some of the best and brightest students in the region to learn leadership and team-building skills. The program emphasizes technological skills development and fosters an entrepreneurial spirit, leadership and commitment to rural Kentucky.

"We want to teach young people of Southern and Eastern Kentucky confidence and skills, as well as inspire a deeper commitment to their hometowns and this region," said The Center for Rural Development President and CEO Lonnie Lawson.

Alexander said Rogers Scholars inspired her to step up and become a leader. She said she faced her fear of heights on the ropes challenge course in the team-building exercises and learned a valuable life lesson: "to fight for something that you believe in and strive in every way possible to achieve your personal goals and dreams."

Scholars are encouraged to pursue their interests and explore a program major. Each Scholar receives 12 hours of professional instruction and hands-on experience working in one of three majors: information technology, engineering or digital video production.

Alexander studied information technology. The Rockcastle County student said she selected this subject because she wanted to learn more about technology so she could help others. The 2008 Rogers Scholar is the daughter of Jack and Sandy Alexander.

Band Director Greg Daugherty sits high above on the scaffolding giving direction to the RCHS Marching Rockets.

Band season begins

Submitted
The scaffolding is up. The lines are drawn on the front lawn. The microphone is in Mr. D's hand. The competition season for the Rockcastle County High School Marching Rockets has begun!

There have been weekly practices all summer consisting of the fundamentals of marching, such as proper roll stepping. And as in other physically demanding sports, one starts with fitness and endurance training. The band began with arm circles ...for hours ... in the sun.

Last Monday, July 12th marked the beginning of band camp. All week the students put in long, hot days at the high school, starting at 9 a.m. and lasting until 4 p.m.. This rigorous training seems as bad as it can get until the following week ...this week. This week they attend Camp Crescendo in Lebanon Junction. The days are much longer there, with marching drills starting before breakfast and not ending until after dark. This is where they will bond together in their pain and misery and become a unified force ready to face their competition.

These students compete in precision choreography set to music. They not only have to march as one unit but also play music or work flags at the same time. When not playing music they have to carry or hold their instruments in a specific manner, not necessarily comfortable. One person out of sync or one flat note impacts the entire performance. This is a team sport where all must be as one. Judges at the competitions score the team, not individuals.

Under the direction of Mr. Greg Daugherty and Ms. Cassandra Smith the Marching Rockets have been steadily improving over the past years and are now among the top scorers in their class. And this season promises to be the best yet.

In the lineup this year are seniors: Samantha Bullen (guard/flute), Morgan Harper (Baritone), Reanna Hasty (trumpet), Meghan Nation (Horn), and Tony Potter (Percussion); juniors: Johnna Ballard (guard/clarinet), Richard Barron (trumpet), Michael Browning (flute), Anjelica Craig (trombone), Devin Davidson (baritone), Andrea Gonzalez (flute), Kyle Hayes (percussion), Nicole McFerron (flute), Regina Rice (clarinet), and Andrew Robbins (trombone); sophomores: Tara Baldwin (clarinet), Matt Fields (percussion), Mallery Harper (percussion), Rachel Hemsley

We look forward to seeing you!

To: Parents and Guardians of Brodhead Elementary students

From: Brodhead Elementary School staff and PTA

We are beginning to get things ready for the upcoming school year. We look forward to working with you and your child. I am sure that together, we can give your child the best education possible.

We will be conducting "Back to School" night on Tuesday, August 5, 2008. Back to School will be just like it was last year. We will have specific times to meet with students in each grade level. At that time, you will meet all of the teachers in that particular grade level. They will go over information that you will need to know about how the school works, the curriculum that will be taught, what your child will need to know before moving on to the next grade and who your child's teacher will be.

After this brief meeting, you and your child will be able to go to your child's classroom and spend some time with your child's new teacher. The purpose of this is to help your child be ready for the first day of school. This is your opportunity to see your child's class, meet many of their classmates and their teacher. On the first day of school, parents are not allowed to accompany their child to the classroom.

The PTA will be having a cookout during Back to School night and many other activities will be going on. We look forward to a future working together to provide your child with a great education. Please arrange now to attend Back to School Night during your child's grade level meeting. If you have questions, you may call the school at 758-8512.

National, state and local speakers are invited to share their success stories with Scholars. Many of the Scholars were inspired by a message delivered by Kenny Davis, captain of the 1972 U.S. Olympic basketball team. While Davis and his team were in Munich, Germany, eight Palestinian terrorists broke into the Olympic Village, killed two members of the Israeli team and took nine hostages. He also shared the story of the U.S. basketball team's controversial loss to the Soviets in the gold medal game. The American team had been undefeated in the last 62 Olympic competitions.

Scholars also are encouraged to make their communities a better place to live. In conjunction with PRIDE (Personal Responsibility in a Desirable Environment), Scholars participated in a community service project. Scholars picked up 239 bags of trash and 48 tires along the shores of Lake Cumberland.

Rogers Scholars was founded by The Center in 1996 in cooperation with U.S. Congressman Harold “Hal” Rogers' efforts to promote youth development in this region of the state. Each year, The Center selects 60 high school sophomores or rising juniors – 30 students per session – to attend Rogers Scholars. During the last 12 years, 599 Scholars have graduated from the program. Graduates are eligible to apply for scholarships from 13 participating colleges and universities.

“Being selected as a Rogers Scholars is an honor for the student, their school and their community – it is a highly competitive process,” said Jessica Melton, associate director of education and training for The Center. “These students truly represent the best and brightest minds in our region.”

car (this would be the labor) and then we deliver the check, which is the most painful part of all, and then we get to take out new little “bundle of joy” home. We'll pitter-pat around on it, customize every little detail until it's uniquely ours, and treat it just like a member of the family. We'll take it all around to show off to our friends and neighbors, and then call the ones that we've missed, even if it is a used car and fifteen years old. Down here in the south, we've even been known to develop such an attachment to our vehicles that when they are beyond repair, they are drug or pushed to the “cemetery.” You know, around by the barn or such a place, and left there to rust next to grandpa's 1939 Ford that he couldn't bear to part with either.

NOTICE To Parents With Children Enrolled in Rockcastle County Schools

Have you turned in a family meal application for this school year?

A new meal application is required every school year and must be dated after July 1. Students can eat meals based on last year's meal application until a new application is received and processed at the Board of Education central office or until September 19. However, on September 19, all students who have not had a new meal application processed, as free or reduced-price for this school year, will be required to pay full price for their meals. Be sure to turn in an application for processing before the temporary status ends.

All students who were enrolled in a Rockcastle County School last year and received food stamps last year are already in the system and will continue to receive one free breakfast and one free lunch each school day IF they are still receiving food stamps. Otherwise, you will have to pay full price after September 19 unless a new application has been received and processed for free or reduced-price meals. All new school students should fill out an application and turn in to the school upon enrollment.

If you are not sure about your child's meal status, either call the school and talk with the lunchroom staff or call the Board of Education and ask to speak to Jeannine or Nell (606-256-2125).

Kentucky Utilities Company proposes the following new tariffs and/or charges: Retail Transmission Service Rate RTS, Lighting Energy Service Rate LE, Traffic Energy Service Rate TE, Supplemental/Standby Service Rate SS, Meter Pulse Charge, Meter Processing Charge, and a Late Payment Charge.
With this filing, KU proposes to charge a Late Payment fee, applicable to the following rates: Residential Rate RS, Volunteer Fire Department Rate VFD, General Service Rate GS, All Electric School Rate AES, Proposed Power Service Rate PS, Proposed Time-of-Day Service Rate TOD, Proposed Large Time-of-Day Service Rate LTOD, Proposed Retail Transmission Service Rate RTS, and Proposed Industrial Service Rate IS. KU's due date for bills will remain 10 days from date of bill; however, the Late Payment Charge will be applied if the bill is paid more than five (5) days after the bill due date. The Late Payment Charge will be 5% of a bill's net charges (including net minimum bills when applicable) for the following rate schedules: Rate RS, Rate VFD, and Rate GS. The Late Payment Charge will be 1% of a bill's net charges (including net minimum bills when applicable) for the following rate schedules: Rate PS, Rate TOD, LTOD, Rate RTS, and Rate IS.

electric tariffs: Residential Rate RS, Volunteer Fire Department Rate VFD, General Service Rate GS, All Electric School Rate AES, Large Power Service Rate LP, Large Commercial/Industrial Time-of-Day Service Rate LCI-TOD, Large Industrial Time-of-Day Service Rate LI-TOD, Small Time-of-Day Service Rate STOD, Street Lighting Service Rate ST.LT, Private Outdoor Lighting Rate P.O.LT, Net Metering Service Rate NMS, Curtailable Service Rider 3 Rate CSR3, Excess Facilities Rate EF, Temporary and/or Seasonal Service Rider TS, Demand Side Management Cost Recovery Mechanism DSM, and Environmental Cost Recovery Surcharge ECR.

In addition to the foregoing proposed changes in rates and text, KU is proposing numerous changes in the terms and conditions of providing service to its customers. These changes include, but are not limited to, the scope, applicability of service, and rate structure for each of the rate schedules and classes identified above. The changes also include numerous substantive, form or both changes to the terms and conditions for providing services to every customer class. These changes, if approved, may, among other changes, cause certain customers presently served under the General Service, Mining and Public Lighting classes to be assigned to a more appropriate rate schedule which reflects their load and operating characteristics, nature of the use, quality and quantity of service used, time when used, purpose for which used and other reasonable considerations.

Copies of the proposed tariffs containing text changes may be obtained by contacting Lonnie E. Bellar, Kentucky Utilities Company at 220 West Main Street, Louisville, Kentucky, 502-627-4830.

The foregoing rates reflect a proposed annual increase in revenues of approximately 2.0% to Kentucky Utilities Company.

The estimated amount of the annual increase, or decrease, per customer class is as follows: Residential: $17,329,356, 4.27%; General Service: $446,784, 0.32%; Large Power: $(70,621), (0.02)%; Large Commercial/Industrial Time-of-Day: $(38,022), (0.02)%; Small Time-of-Day: $88,707, 0.92%; Mine Power: $675,586, 6.32%; Large Mine Power Time of Day: $34,295, 0.19%; Lighting: $785,809, 4.22%.

The average monthly bill for each customer class to which the proposed electric rates will apply will increase, or decrease, approximately as follows: Residential: $3.50, 4.27%; General Service: $0.48, 0.32%; Large Power: $(0.63), (0.02)%; Large Commercial/Industrial Time-of-Day: $(69.77), (0.02)%; Small Time of Day: $139.48, 0.92%; Mine Power: $1,387.24, 6.32%; Large Mine Power: $283.43, 0.19%; Lighting: $0.40, 4.22%.

The filing of KU's base rate application will cause the Value Delivery Team ("VDT") Surcredit Tariff and associated billing credits to be withdrawn from service effective August 1, 2008, pursuant to the Commission's March 24, 2006 Order in Case No. 2005-00351. The VDT Surcredit is a 0.293% monthly credit to customers' bills. In its base rate application, KU is proposing to include all savings associated with the VDT initiative in the calculation of its proposed base rates. When the new base rates become effective, customers should receive the benefit of all, including the shareholders' portion, of these savings through base rates.

The filing of KU's base rate application will also cause the Merger Surcredit Rider ("MSR") Tariff and associated billing credits to be withdrawn from service effective with the change in base rates pursuant to the Commission's June 26, 2008 Order in Case No. 2007-00563. The MSR Surcredit is a 0.868% monthly credit to customers' bills. In its base rate application, KU is proposing to include all MSR savings in the calculation of its proposed base rates. When the new base rates become effective, customers should receive the benefit of all, including the shareholders' portion, of these savings through base rates.

The rates contained in this notice are the rates proposed by Kentucky Utilities Company. However, the Public Service Commission may order rates to be charged that differ from these proposed rates. Such action may result in rates for customers other than the rates contained in this notice.

Notice is further given that any corporation, association, body politic or person with a substantial interest in the matter may request leave to intervene by motion within thirty (30) days after notice of the proposed rate changes is given. The motion shall be submitted to the Public Service Commission, 211 Sower Boulevard, P. O. Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, and shall set forth the grounds for the request, including the status and interest of the party. Intervention may be granted beyond the thirty (30) day period for good cause shown. Any person who has been granted intervention may obtain copies of the application and any other filing made by the utility by contacting Lonnie E. Bellar, Vice President – State Regulation and Rates, Kentucky Utilities Company, c/o E.ON U.S. LLC, 220 West Main Street, Louisville, Kentucky, 502-627-4830.

A copy of the application and testimony shall be available for public inspection at the office of Kentucky Utilities Company, 100 Quality Street, Lexington, Kentucky, or the Public Service Commission, 211 Sower Boulevard, Frankfort, Kentucky.

A copy of this Notice and the proposed tariff, once filed, shall also be available for public inspection on Kentucky Utilities Company's website at www.eon-us.com.

"WHAT IS WRITTEN"

We have been discussing the name of Jesus. We have seen he is called: Jesus, the Word, Messiah or Christ, Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. Now all this tells us the exalted nature of his name. "Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father." Phil.2:9-11. Have you bowed your knee in submission to this great King? We should bow to him, which says that we have a choice. If we bow in submission now, it will be to our salvation! If we do not, we shall bow in the day of judgment. "For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God. So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God." Rom.14:11-12. But if we wait until that day to bow the knee, we will confess to our damnation. You have a choice while you are living and the world is still standing. Can we help you in a study of the word?

Hot Rods complete successful season

By Doug Proctor

On July 12th, the Hot Rods t-ball season ended with our yearly picnic. All totaled, including 33 Hot Rods and their family and friends, there were around 100 people in attendance.

This year we had 48 Hot Rods sign-up and 22 with perfect attendance.

I started collecting money for perfect attendance prizes, and the response by businesses and personal donations was good. Every child got a prize ranging from bicycles, scooters, t-ball bats, pools, bike helmets on down to smaller prizes. The Hot Rods with perfect attendance got to pick first by drawing names out of a hat. On top of a prize, every Hot Rod received a trophy sponsored by Foster Trophies (for past 15 years).

We would like to thank all those who gave (hoping to not leave anyone out): Vicki Lynn Martin, Buzz Carloftis, Movie Warehouse, James Miller, Mt. Vernon Signal, Cox Funeral Home, Dowell and Martin Funeral Home, Billy Reynolds, Jack's Pro Hardware, Morgan's Plumbing, Tobacco Barn, Austin Ramsey (10 year old), Whispering Crankies, Roger McGuire, Dusty Burdette, Gary Leigh, Doug Horton, Mark's Pro Hardware, B.P. Renfro and others who asked not to be recognized. Thanks to all again for making this possible. K-Mart in London knocked prices down unbelievably to $10 to $20 per bike.

I would also like to thank the parents, grandparents and Hot Rods for the gas grill, cover, and plaque that was presented to me.

Last and not least, thanks to the yearly sponsors for their support: Mt. Vernon Drug, Rockcastle Professional Pharmacy, Kwik Mart, Inspired Image Hair Salon and Day Spa, Karen King Tax Service, Godfather's Pizza, Subway, KFC, Chevron, Wendy's, Renfro Valley Boat Dock, Foster Trophies, Galaxi of Berea and the city for use of the field at the lake.

#08-07-08 An Ordinance Establishing A Cross Connection Prevention Program

WHEREAS, the Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet has enacted administrative regulations which require every public water system to determine if or where cross connections exist and to eliminate them; and

WHEREAS, the officials of the City of Brodhead, Kentucky realize that they have a responsibility to protect the public health by providing a safe source of drinking water and that cross connections could affect the health and economic growth of the community;

NOW, THEREFORE be it ordained by the legislative body of the City of Brodhead, Kentucky:

SECTION 1. PURPOSE AND AUTHORITY

(A) It is the purpose of this ordinance to establish a program to assure that the public water supply is protected from any auxiliary water supply which may cause contamination due to backflow or cross connections. The City recognizes that contamination of the public water supply presents an imminent health hazard to the residential and non-residential users of the public water system; the threat of significant economic loss due to disrupted water service to such residential and nonresidential water users and the potential liability to the City.

(B) It is the further purpose of this ordinance to meet the requirements of 401 KAR 8:020 as enacted by the Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet.

(C) This ordinance is enacted under the power vested in the City by KRS 82.082 and pursuant to requirements of KRS 65.03.

SECTION 2. DEFINITIONS. As used in this ordinance, unless the context clearly requires a different meaning:

(A) "Auxiliary Water Supply" means any water supply on or available to the premises other than the City's public water supply. These auxiliary waters may include water from any natural source such as a well, spring, river, stream or body of water or any water or other substance of unknown or questionable quality that may present a health or system hazard to the potable public water supply.

(B) "Backflow" means the reversal of the normal flow of water caused by either back pressure or back siphonage.

(C) "Backflow Prevention Assembly" means an assembly or means designed to prevent backflow. A listing of acceptable backflow prevention assemblies and degree of hazard is available in the Kentucky State Plumbing Law, Regulations and Code.

(D) "Contamination" means an impairment of the quality of the potable water supply by any waste product, fluid, substance, compound or other material to a degree which creates an actual or potential hazard to the public health through poisoning or through the spread of disease

(E) "Cross Connection" means any physical connection or arrangement of piping or fixtures between two otherwise separate piping systems one of which contains potable water and the other nonpotable water or substance of questionable quality, through which, or because of which, backflow may occur into the potable water system.

(F) "Thermal Expansion Tank" means a device installed on the cold water supply line near a water heater to compensate for the expansion of water within a water system when such water is heated.

SECTION 3. REQUIREMENTS. The city shall provide protection to the public water system against backflow by implementing the following requirements.

(A) "Residential" - Buildings used for habitation or occupancy shall be considered as residential buildings. No new water service connection to any premises shall be installed or allowed to be installed by the City unless such service connection is protected by a backflow prevention assembly. Residential service connections shall be considered as low hazard applications and all such connections shall have at a minimum a dual check valve backflow preventer installed between the water meter and the residence. The City may require additional or alternate backflow prevention assemblies if the degree of hazard constitutes a higher level of protection for the public water system.

(B) "Non-Residential" - No new water service connection to any non-residential facility shall be installed or allowed to be installed by the City unless such water service connection is protected by a backflow prevention assembly. The type of protective device required shall be determined at the time of installation of the service connection and shall be commensurate with the degree of hazard at the point of such service connection. At a minimum, the service connection shall be installed with a dual check valve backflow preventer. In the event activities to occur within a non-residential facility change and creates a higher degree of hazard, then the backflow prevention assembly shall be replaced with an assembly which provides acceptable protection.

(C) "Inspections" - The customer's water system shall be open for inspection at all reasonable times to authorized representatives of the City to determine whether cross connections or other structural or sanitary hazards, including violation of this ordinance, exists. When such a condition becomes known, the City shall deny or immediately discontinue service to the premises by providing a physical break in the service line until the customer has corrected the condition in conformance with the State and City Statutes relating to plumbing, water supplies and the regulations adopted pursuantly thereto. Water service to any premises shall be discontinued if it is found that a backflow prevention assembly required by this ordinance has been removed, bypassed or if an unprotected cross connection exists on the premises. Service will not be restored until such conditions or defects are corrected.

(D) "Existing Service Connections" - All existing water service connections which do not have backflow prevention assemblies or existing water service connections which have less than the minimum required backflow prevention assemblies, shall, except for the inspection requirements, be excluded from the requirements of this ordinance so long as the City is assured that the public water system is satisfactorily protected. However, if the City determines that a hazard to health exists, then a backflow prevention assembly meeting the requirements of this ordinance may be installed on such existing service connection. Backflow prevention assemblies shall not be installed on existing service connections until after the property owner of such residential or commercial property has been informed of the actual and potential hazards that may be created as a result of such backflow assembly installation. Notices provided to such property owners shall include the following language as adopted in 815 KAR 20:120 Section 2. Item (6): When cross connection control devices are properly installed, they create a closed water system. A properly sized thermal expansion tank shall be installed in the cold water supply located as near the water heater as possible.

SECTION 4. SEVERABILITY. If any provision of this ordinance is deemed by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unenforceable or unconstitutional or in conflict with applicable laws of the Commonwealth, the remaining provisions of this ordinance shall continue in full force and effect

SECTION 5. EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance shall take effect upon the second reading and subsequent publication as required by KRS 83A.060.

Family Room

The state of Kentucky saves $4.98 for every $1 it spends on drug and alcohol treatment for its residents. This finding comes from a new study recently completed by the Center on Drug and Alcohol Treatment at the University of Kentucky. Dr. Robert Walker, a professor at UK and author of the study, says, "It suggests that treatment services not only benefit the individual but serve society at large." [Information for this column comes from "Study: Drug, alcohol treatment succeeds." Lexington Herald Leader (July 16, 2008), Section D Page 1.]

The study looked at a random sample of 906 participants from different types of state funded treatment. The services provided included detoxification, inpatient treatment, outpatient treatment and case management. The average cost per person was $2,300.

What are the costs if drug and alcohol addiction is not treated? The biggest cost to the state comes from the crimes committed by addicts. The decrease in crimes committed by the individuals in this study saved the state $9.2 million in arrest costs alone! Other costs of addiction include medical expenses and lost wages.

The study could not measure the intangible costs of addiction. Those of us who work with domestic violence victims see the damage that addiction can do to families. While I would not claim that addiction causes abuse, it certainly makes abuse worse. Abuse and addiction together bring violence and destruction to many Kentucky families. Treatment for addiction helps not only the addicts but also their families. Their children benefit tremendously from having a mother or father who is clean and sober.

The University of Kentucky study found that one year after entering treatment:

- 72% of the participants had not had a drink in the past thirty days and 86% had not drunk enough to become intoxicated.
- 88% had not used illegal drugs in the past thirty days.
- 15% more participants had a full time job than did prior to treatment.
- Average income increased from $440 per month to $933 per month.
- Only 30% reported being arrested after beginning treatment. In the year prior to treatment, 57% reported being arrested.

Drug and alcohol treatment works. We have the proof. Now is the time for us to make the commitment to provide this treatment to those who can benefit from it. While not everyone with a substance abuse problem wants help, many are being "encouraged" to seek treatment by being allowed to enter diversion programs rather than go to jail. These diversion programs, such as Drug Court, are tough and require regular, random drug screens as well as participation in a treatment program. Diversion programs work for some participants, thereby keeping them out of jail, gainfully employed and paying taxes rather than being incarcerated at tax-payer expense.

Treatment makes sense financially and for the families of Kentucky. If you have a drug problem and need help, call the UNITE Treatment Hotline at 866-90-UNITE (866-908-6483) or Comprehensive Care in your county. Don't wait until you are arrested to ask for help. If you are a victim of domestic violence, call Family Life Abuse Center at 800-755-5348.

CRRC golfer Jake Woodall, right, who is headed to Union College to play college golf, won the first flight of the CRRC Invitational golf tournament over the weekend in a play-off, with a two day score of 150. At left, CRRC golfer Tommy Payne finished third in the first flight with a score of 151.

Bobby Marcum, right of Manchester, finished first in the third flight of the CRRC Invitational golf tournament over the weekend with a two day score of 160. CRRC golfer, Babe Daugherty, left, finished second in the third flight with a score of 163.

Spoonamore sentenced in Christmas burglary

A Berea man was sentenced last Friday in Rockcastle Circuit Court for a December, 2007 burglary of a residence in Brodhead.

Circuit Judge Jeffrey T. Burdette, following the recommendation of Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Jeremy Bartley, sentenced Christopher Spoonamore, 28, of Berea to 10 years in prison for burglary, second degree. A co-defendant in the case, Terry Montjoy, 34, of Hammonds Trailer Park, Mt. Vernon, was earlier sentenced to eight years for the burglary.

The two men were charged with breaking into a home of a Brodhead family and stealing Christmas gifts valued at over $2,000.

Following the hearing, Bartley acknowledged KSP Trooper Jason Vanhook for his investigation of the theft. "Trooper Vanhook did an excellent job investigating this case and preparing it for our office to prosecute."

Commonwealth Attorney Eddy F. Montgomery praised Bartley for his prosecution of the case. "Both of the defendants in this case have a significant criminal history. That, plus that fact that someone's home was invaded and their family's Christmas gifts taken, warrants significant prison time," Montgomery said.

In another recent Circuit criminal case, Mark Miller, 23, of Woodland Place, Mt. Vernon was sentenced on June 16th, to one year in prison, after pleading guilty to rape, third degree.

Miller, who was indicted in September of last year, will also be required to register as a convicted sex offender in the state of Kentucky.

Christopher Spoonamore was sentenced to 10 years in prison for burglary second degree.

ing it to $13,000 from $23,000.

Mt. Vernon fireman Brian Bullock, who presented the council with a list of equipment needed in order to better equip the fire trucks now being used, said the city could certainly use the equipment that was on the old truck and everyone agreed to wait and see what might be worked out with Wynn's Fire & Rescue before the city bought any new equipment.

Fire Chief David Bales said Wynn had rebuilt the truck seven times, but was unable to fix it. Wynn will not release the truck to the city because he says they (the city) owe the repair bill, even though the truck has not been fixed. The Mayor contends that the city owes nothing because the truck has not been fixed. The Mayor said the entire matter concerning the fire truck was still up in the air.

In other business, a motion by councilman Wayne Bullock to extend the regular work week for city office employees from 35 to 40 hours per week, died for lack of a second. Councilwomen Sharon Saylor, Lonetta Daugherty and Willametta French all declined to second the motion without comment.

Mayor Kirby had placed the matter on the agenda and told council members it would not effect her because she was paid a salary, based on a 35 hour work week, which would not be changed.

The council voted to pass a resolution entering into an agreement with the Governor's Office of Local Development for seven projects.

The projects listed in the resolution will be funded by the state next fiscal year and in fiscal year 2010.

Those projects this fiscal year are: $50,000 to construct restrooms and replace sand at the city park on Williams Street at a cost of $50,000.

$100,000 to the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum for general operation and promotion; $10,000 to the city's fire department and $8,000 to the county fire department, which is operated by the city fire department.

Projects slated to be funded by the state in 2010 are another $95,363 for the Hall of Fame and $8,000 more for both the city and county fire departments.

The council also accepted high bids of $310 for a 1998 Ford Crown Victoria and $310.10 for a 1999 Ford Crown Victoria, which have been used as police cruisers, from Rocky D. Lear.

The Mayor also announced that U.S. Congressman Hal Rogers was scheduled to be at Lake Linville at 10 a.m. on August 18th, for a ribbon cutting ceremony for the recently completed $170,000 sewer line project, which was funded by a federal PRIDE grant, through Rogers' office.

preservation grant from the state. Cemeteries included for preservation by the grant are the Newcomb Cemetery, the Chesnut Cemetery on Pleasant Valley Road (near the old Sparks Quarry), and the Buckeye Cemetery located near Renfro Valley.

When interviewed Friday evening at the site and asked why it was important to have a preservation effort for the Newcomb Cemetery, Judge Carloftis stated, "This is a part of Rockcastle County's heritage. The men and women who lie at rest in this ground were slaves in Rockcastle County. They toiled the fields, helped clear the land and helped provide other labor for the improvement of this community from which we, today, are still benefiting. Almost any time we look at the beautiful farm land here in Rockcastle County, we should recognize the human labor that it took to improve the land. The men and women - both free and slave, black and white - were the ancestors of this community who laid the foundation for us today. We, on the fiscal court, are very concerned that our local history be not forgotten."

The judge went on to say that he realized how little younger people here know of our rich history. He said that two black gentlemen came to his office a few years ago looking for family history in the county clerk's office. One of the young deputy clerks told the judge that they would not find any family history in this county because Rockcastle had never had a black population. Judge Carloftis pointed out that the county did, indeed, have an African-American history. Not only did they find family history but, later in the day, Dr. Joe Henderson spent about three hours escorting the two gentlemen to houses where they had lived as young toddlers, showed them where their parents worked and visited a number of black cemeteries in and near Mt. Vernon.

Carloftis said that had it not been for the work of local historian David Owens and the county's cemetery preservation board, this would not have been possible.

The Mt. Vernon Lions Club initially cleared the cemetery in 1986 and the state grant has provided funding for the monument, new greenery, and fence work that local contractors Chester "Butch" Blevins and Jackie McLemore provided as stone work and metal fencing and gates, respectively.

Prior to the departure of the students, Bro. Bruce Ross of the Mt. Vernon Christian Church led the group in prayer, giving thanks for their labor and of those whose memory is being recognized. Dr. Baskin of Berea College then told the students, "You, as African-American college students, need to thank the good citizens of Rockcastle County for making this possible on behalf of your brothers and sisters whose memory was almost forgotten by this community. You also need to remember that far too often we use differences in race to divide and separate us from the love that is capable within us all. By doing this, Rockcastle County has extended a hand of respect and love to its ancestors and to you."

Among other cemetery sites of historical significance in Rockcastle County include the gravesite of one of the county's first settlers, James Dysart in the Chesnut Cemetery on Pleasant Valley Road. He and his family immigrated from the Northeast shortly after the American Revolution. Dysart was a colonel who served under the nation's founder, General George Washington.

The county's cemetery board and Judge Carloftis intend to make certain this, too, is not lost.

RCHS head assistant coach Tony Saylor, left, gives instructions to defensive players at Monday's practice. Saylor is heading into his 25th year of coaching at RCHS and has had a major hand in putting RCHS on the state high school football map. Above, center, is new assistant coach William Blair and at far right, is new assistant coach Derrick Bussell. The Rockets are coming off a six and six season and will travel to Somerset to face Pulaski County in the season opener on August 29th.

Parkey era of Rockcastle football gets underway

Summer football practice is underway at the Rockcastle County High School and, for the first time in 23 years, there is a new man at the helm.

34-year-old Scott Parkey was hired in February to replace Tom Larkey as head coach of the Rockets, after Larkey accepted the head coaching job in Harlan County.

Parkey, who served as an assistant under Larkey for five years, has high hopes for his first Rocket team, but he is also very cautious about his win/loss record.

"You never really know until you get on the field, where your strengths and weaknesses are, but these players have really worked hard to adjust to the changes that we have made," Parkey said.

Parkey said the biggest change for the 2008 season will be on offense. "It will definitely be a different look for us this year." Last season the Rockets finished at six and six.

Thanks to Sonny and Mary Napier, residents at Signature Rockcastle Health and Rehab, on June 10th enjoyed an early father's day present that including sitting on the bank of a wonderful pond catching catfish. Resident Everett Thomas asks to have the man that owned the pond to be pointed out because he stated "I want to shake his hand". He concluded by saying "I really enjoyed today and this is a beautiful place". The residents truly enjoyed the trip fishing. The next day at the rehab center, resident Charles Ringler ask, "When are we going back fishing"? He was ready to go again. Sonny and Mary Napier provide all the necessary fishing poles and bait. All we must do is bring ourselves. We had special entertainment that day also by Sonny's brother Country Charlie. He was on hand to help residents fish and provided some good country music that the residents thoroughly enjoyed. One resident threw down his pole and starting clapping his hands and tapping his foot. Paul Napier and Wayne Wright were also in attendance to assist residents with baiting their hooks and reeling in the fish. Several of the resident's family members attended the fishing trip which made it even more enjoyable. Resident Jack Graves had his niece Patty Niceley to enlarge the picture taken of him with his big catch of the day. This picture along with others taken helps residents to tell the stories of the fish they caught.

Careful planning can save money on food

As food prices continue to rise, many of us are pinching pennies and looking for ways to make our money go farther at the checkout counter. With basic nutrition knowledge, wise purchasing practices and proper planning, you can prepare nutritious meals that your family will enjoy eating while saving money at the grocery store.

To start this process, analyze your current food purchasing habits and look for unnecessary purchases. Consider how much fast food, take out, restaurant and pre-packaged frozen meals you eat. While these items may be more convenient for families or individuals on the run, they are not necessarily the most cost effective or nutritious. A significant amount of money can be saved by preparing meals in your home, and it's easier to control the nutrient and caloric content.

While home food preparation may seem unrealistic for some people, it is not unattainable with proper planning. Planning is the key. Meals can be planned in advance using the Food Guide Pyramid. Consult family members for meal ideas so everyone will have something they like to eat. Getting the children involved may be easier than you think. Preparing a menu for upcoming weeks could make your family look forward to certain dishes and help you make a grocery list. Consider what ingredients you already have that you can utilize before making the list.

Watch grocery sales, and prepare meals based on them. In season fruits and vegetables are always wise purchases. The local farmers market may have just what you are looking for. When fruits and vegetables are out of season, compare canned and frozen prices. Frozen items allow you to use smaller portions and save the rest for later. Typically, store brands are cheaper than national brands. Purchasing items you regularly use in bulk may help you save money but always check the unit price to make sure. Larger cuts of meat can be separated and used for several meals. It may be time to get out the old bread machine or Crock-Pot again.

Some meals can be prepared ahead of time and frozen for later consumption, but always remember to follow food safety guidelines when reheating. Consider making one-dish meals a couple times a week. Dishes that require little preparation and cooking times, such as stir-fry, fish, salads and stews, are quick, nutritious options. Use leftovers as ingredients for other meals such as casseroles or soups. With a little planning, you can save a little dough and eat more nutritiously.

For more information on meal planning, proper nutrition or wise purchasing practices, contact the Rockcastle County Cooperative Extension Service at 256-2403.
