Construction on the new Hwy. 150, between Crab Orchard and Brodhead, began a few months ago. Employees with the Allen Company from Winchester were hard at work on Tuesday building the new roadway, about a mile west of Brodhead. Phase One of the project is expected to be completed in early 2010 and bids on Phase Two, between Brodhead and Hwy. 461 near Mt. Vernon, are set to be let in November. The total project for the 15 mile stretch of road from Crab Orchard to Hwy. 461 is $58.6 million. (Front page photos by: Richard Anderkin).

Hopkins home one of many broken into in past week

By: Richard Anderkin

Over the past week in Rockcastle County, numerous homes and vehicles have been broken into, according to Rockcastle Sheriff Mike Peters and Mt. Vernon Police Chief Terry Jackson.

One of the break-ins occurred Sunday night at the home of Tony and Donna Hopkins in Hunter Ridge Subdivision.

According to the Hopkins' son, Ken, police think thieves entered the front door of his parents home around 10:45 p.m. and took a "fair" amount of cash and jewelry, some of which Ken Hopkins said carried sentimental value.

Ken Hopkins said his parents had left on Sunday for a short vacation with their travel trailer and that someone must have been watching the house.

A neighbor noticed the front doors had been broken down around 9 a.m. on Monday and called police.

Except for breaking out the storm door and main door to the house with flower pots,

Hopkins said the thieves did not do much damage, except for making a complete mess of the house, while they searched through drawers and closets. "We think they were in the house about 15 minutes," Hopkins said.

"A neighbor knew someone was in the house, but they did not know mom and dad had left for a couple of days and they thought it was them inside," he added.

Hopkins said neighbors saw a strange vehicle in the neighborhood on Sunday, but apparently no one got a license plate number.

"They went through everything and it was pretty upsetting to my parents, just the fact that someone would go through everything they had in the house," Hopkins said.

Several police officers helped with the initial investigation at the Hopkins' home.

Mt. Vernon Police Chief Terry Jackson said the men were apprehended in the Renfro Valley area after they attempted to steal a Corvette owned by Cary Stallsworth a manager at Dennys.

Both men were ordered to make restitution of $500 and received a one year sentence and placed on the pre-trial diversion for one year.

Planning and Zoning; good/bad for County?

By: Richard Anderkin

There has been a lot of discussion in Rockcastle County in the past few months about whether or not planning and zoning would be good for the county.

The Concerned Citizens for Fair Government has mounted a campaign against planning and zoning and say they have obtained over 4,000 signatures from county residents against any implementation of planning and zoning by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court.

And, except for a special publication by the Rockcastle Development Board which was inserted in the Signal recently, very little has been released about a future plan for any type of planning and zoning.

However, land developer and excavator Harvey Whittemore, who is originally from Madison County, said in a recent interview that he thought there should be more positive comments made about Land Use Management in Rockcastle County.

Whittemore, who is currently developing over five acres at Lake Linville and who has already built a home there himself and sold a lot where another beautiful retreat home has been built, says some type of rules and regulations really should be put in place.

Whittemore said he did not think that Madison County did their planning and zoning in the best way possible to benefit the entire county when they implemented P&Z several years ago, but Rockcastle could learn from their mistakes.

Whittemore said several of the rules and regulations that were put in place in Madison County were "not needed" and caused problems that could have been avoided for landowners and possibly caused potential homeowners not to buy. He said Madison County wanted to be more of a metropolitan area, which carries more regulations and makes it difficult to get "things exactly right," but, in his opinion, Rockcastle wants to be more of a rural environment with some more restricted regulations for the cities.

"I'd be the first to tell you I am against a bunch of government regulations and I hope that if anything is ever done about planning and zoning in Rockcastle there should be tremendous research and planning," Whittemore said.

But for Whittemore the bottom line is that he thinks some type of rules and regulations would bring better building codes and make structures

Local man dies in wreck in Tennessee

Funeral services were held Tuesday for a Mt. Vernon man who died in a single car crash near Sweetwater TN, on Tuesday, August 18th.

Family members said Brian Lovell, 40, apparently fell asleep around 6 a.m. and lost control of his Jeep Grand Cherokee, which flipped in the accident.

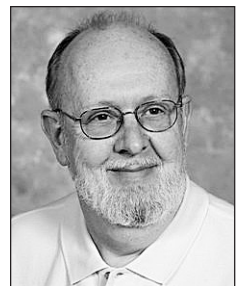

Lovell, who was thrown from the vehicle, died from massive head injuries. His wife, Stephanie was hospitalized for several days because of internal injuries. Both Lovells were airlifted to the University of Tennessee Hospital where Brian Lovell died.

These two structures are only 400 feet apart near Lake Linville and at least one local man thinks some type of planning and zoning in Rockcastle County should be put in place, after tremendous research and sensible planning. (Front page photos by: Richard Anderkin)

Rockcastle Memories

By David J. Griffin

'69 Beetle was a little bundle of joy

In the summer of 1969, I was lying on the beach in Daytona when a "snazzy" Volkswagen Beetle drove slowly down the sandy path. I had never seen a Beetle as fancy as it was, and it totally captured my eye.

A few days later while making my way back to Kentucky, I noticed a VW dealership along Interstate 75, and I stopped in to ask a few questions concerning the Beetle that I had spotted on the beach. The salesman gave me a brochure detailing the features of the "Super Beetle," and I resumed my return trip home.

I studied the pamphlet until I was familiar with virtually every feature of this little car, and a couple of weeks later I visited the Don Jacobs VW dealership in Lexington to learn more about this unusual automobile. That was where I first met Randy Dunigan, who was the new car manager. Randy and I talked at length about the car, and he suggested that I become a sales representative for Don Jacobs.

He ordered me the most completely equipped VW Beetle ever so that I could use it as a demonstrator. I agreed to pay for the basic car if he would equip it with all the extras. A regular Beetle cost approximately $1,700 at that time. The sticker price of mine was over $5,800. Randy said it was the most expensive Beetle he had ever ordered.

Several weeks later, the Super Beetle arrived. It was bright yellow with every chrome accessory available, over-sized wheels, and racing tires. The interior was walnut, and it had the best AM-FM/Tape radio to be found. The floors were covered with Coco mats, and behind the rear windows were scoop vents to better cool the engine. The air-cooled engine was the standard 1500 cc, and it delivered 53 horsepower. It had an automatic (clutch-less) transmission that could be shifted like a standard tranny.

But the most unusual feature of the car was the suspension system. Randy had ordered the European Motor Parts Incorporated (EMPI) Suspension package. That included EMPI shock absorbers to improve control and handling. EMPI explained to Volkswagen customers that the car would handle like a sports car and would not lean into corners.

It was possible to be traveling at a speed of 60 mph and make a direct 90 degree turn without losing control. Can you imagine how I felt when Randy first demonstrated this feature to me? I was totally freaked out when he drove down New Circle Road and suddenly turned right onto a side road doing 60 mph. He said, "You should have seen the look on your face, Griffin!"

Randy taught me the features that I needed to know when showing the car to prospective customers. It took longer than we expected, and he asked me to come back the next day. Finally, he considered the lesson to be complete, and he sent me on my merry way.

I ran an ad in the Mt. Sterling Advocate and instantly began to receive calls about VW Beetles. I always took my customers on a ride demonstrating the EMPI suspension system. I made my first sell in less than a week.

Most of the friends I taught with wanted to take a ride with me so they could see the features of the unusual ride. The remarkable accessories and unique suspension system actually sold the car itself. In a few weeks, I was placing orders for friends and other customers. Randy was pleased at his decision to make me a Don Jacobs representative, and so was I.

The Beetle was one of my most favorite automobiles. The features were "eye catching," and the car turned heads wherever I drove. Because the space inside the automobile was so small, the air conditioning was awesome. Also, the sound system saturated the inside of the vehicle, making any tune sound better than ever.

I decided to drive down to

The Roots of Rockcastle

by: Tonya J. Cook

The town of Livingston will be visited again this week through information that Dell Ponder has given me, as compiled by the Livingston Homecoming Committee in 1985.

The first church to be built in Livingston was a Presbyterian church by the Reverend B. B. Van Nuys from New Jersey. After several years, he died. Later, when his wife died, he was exhumed and they were both taken back to New Jersey for burial. The bodies were accompanied by Judge Jacob Sambrook. When Highway 25 went through the town, the Presbyterian church was torn down.

George Sambrook was the first hotel keeper. D. W. Moore ran the boarding house for the coal company. Judge Champ Mullins moved to Livingston March 16, 1884. He was a hotel operator, as well. Uncle George Pope had a hotel where the C. J. Rice home is located. Mrs. Henry Mullins ran a hotel just opposite to the Livingston Motors. Mrs. W. G. Nicely bought the Eight Gables Hotel from Sam Pennington and ran it for several years. The Eight Gables Hotel was known as "The Railway Hotel", and was located where the Tasteefreeze once stood, and is currently the Billy Medley property. [I'm not sure if all of these hotels were in business at the same time.]

Joe Shrievers mined the first coal in Livingston, and brought it across the Rockcastle River in large buckets attached to wires. Charley Phillips was the clerk for the coal company. Dan Adams was the tip boss.

James Smith shipped the first tanbark from Livingston. [Tanbark is a natural wood product derived from the tanbark oak tree, and was once used in the process of tanning leather.] His son, Ed Smith, later edited a paper in Livingston, known as "The Kentucky Colonel".

G. D. Brownlie was the first postmaster. He kept the post office in the depot. J. C. Hacker and Sharon McKinney ran the first drugstore. Hugh Hagan was their clerk. Mack Moore, a black man, was the first barber in Livingston.

A. R. McLain and a Mr. Falkner ran a sawmill at the mouth of Roundstone Creek about 1890. Joseph Coffey was one of the pioneer merchants of the town. He later moved to Stanford. Champ Mullins, who died June 23, 1898, has a large monument in front of the Denver Mullins home. Joseph Rian operated a butcher shop in Livingston. John Pope was the next butcher, who later moved near Brush Creek. Felix Mink was the first blacksmith in the town. Andy and Bill Kincer put down the first concrete sidewalks.

The first doctor in memory in Livingston was Dr. Cooper. He was followed by W. J. Childress, Dr. Amyx, and Dr. Joyner, in that order. The last doctor was Dr. Webb.

Livingston once had a bank. It was located in the Bingham restaurant building. [I've been told Lil's Restaurant is there now.] There was also a casket factory, started by Dr. R. G. Webb. The casket factory was destroyed by fire. There was also a Webb Theater.

The following postmasters served in Livingston: G. D. Cook, Judge Champ Mullins, W. C. Mullins, Samuel Ward, W. R. Ward, W. H. Cottongim, J. F. Dees, Mrs. Georgia McClure, Miss Flora Pennington, George Murphy, Dora E. Pike, Lee Mullins Jr., Arnel C. Taylor, and Mrs. Mollie Scoggins.

Dock Calloway and Mrs. Sussie Mullins ran a store near where the L&N coal bins are. [As of 1985.] Later, the house was moved up to Main Street, and Fred Baker sold goods in it. David Griffin was one of the oldest settlers in Livingston. He later moved to Florida. On Au-

Points East

By Ike Adams

A couple of weekends back I was invited to come to my new good friend, Totsie Noe's family reunion there in the back of Hysinger Holler on the far edge and perhaps the best kept secret of Mount Vernon, Kentucky.

It would be interesting to me to know the names of any roads that call themselves "hollers" and actually have a street sign so denoting themselves as such. For the record, there off West Street in Mount Vernon there is the typical green sign on the typical cast aluminum pole identifying the entrance to "Hysinger Holler".

And almost immediately upon turning into the road it becomes obvious that you really, really need some dire purpose to proceed. Suffice to say that Hysinger Holler is not the most populated place on the face of Rockcastle County once you get past the first few houses, but the road just keeps on going back there into yesterday and after you get out and open up a cattle gate and make sure you're not gonna drag a muffler off, you begin to see what little may be left of what once was Heaven in the heart of Rockcastle County.

You see the fields grown over with dense brush and saplings on the slopes where mighty fields of corn once grew or where pastures once were fenced to keep the horses and the mules and milk cows safe from wandering. You dim your eyes, taking in only the outline of the landscape and you see a lush green valley and you know, at once, why people have to return to this place every year, however grown to ruin it may be.

Soon after turning into the dirt road of Hysinger Holler, you come upon a cattle gate, the passing through of which is more easily accommodated if you have Loretta driving and all you have to do is hop out the passenger door then open up the gate and wave her through.

But open it very wide and show her that the metal chain is slick and shiny from recent sweaty hands because Loretta is a cautious woman and she likes to know that someone has passed this way before. She'd feel better if the most recent traveler was still in sight but far enough ahead to not be throwing up a bunch of dust because she just washed this car and why on earth, she wonders, do I have her in a place to deliberately make it dirty.

And I tell her that it is only because I am so good at doing so and to prove my point we come upon some short ruts full of black clay and muddy water. My wife is so beautiful

Curing Heartburn

Presented by Dr. Kevin Rowe

Heartburn is a very common and troublesome symptom. Nearly everyone suffers from it occasionally. It is almost always caused by just one thing—too much acid backing up from the stomach into the esophagus.

The pain is usually a burning sensation in the lower chest region. Heartburn is usually not related to ulcers although the two may occur together because they are both caused by excess acid and both can be made worse by using alcohol and tobacco. Hiatal hernias are often blamed for heartburn symptoms, although they do not contribute to it as much as doctors used to think.

Heartburn can usually be treated quite well by a number of appropriate steps. One important step is losing weight, which will decrease the pressure on the stomach when a person lies down. It is also important not to lie down after meals and not to eat or drink before going to bed. Food and acid will easily be forced from the full stomach up into the esophagus. It is very helpful to elevate the head of the bed about 4-6 inches on blocks of wood.

As with all acid-related problems, alcohol and tobacco should be avoided. They increase the acid secretion by the stomach, as well as relax the sphincter at the top of the stomach allowing acid to reflux more easily. Any foods that worsen the pain should also be avoided. Chocolate, mints, and spicy or greasy foods are common offenders.

There are many extremely effective non-prescription medicines, such as omeprazole, that reduce the amount of acid secreted by the stomach. Antacids can be used in addition to neutralize any remaining acid. See your doctor for a prescription if these conservative measures do not work.

Legislation could directly impact electric bills...

Dear Editor,

Climate change legislation is moving forward in Congress, and Jackson Energy, along with other electric cooperatives across the nation, is standing up to fight for fairness. Decisions will be made in the coming weeks that will directly impact our electric bills, and none of us can afford to sit this one out.

We stepped up early in the debate to fight for fairness and affordability as this legislation—which included a cap-and-trade system to reduce carbon dioxide emissions from power plants—was considered in the U.S. House of Representatives. Backed by more than 375,000 consumers taking part in the Our Energy, Our Future campaign, electric co-ops had a major impact, securing more than $3 billion in rate relief from initial U.S. House proposals.

But the legislation passed by the U.S. House in June still has major flaws. The debate has now moved to the U.S. Senate, where another version of the bill is being drafted. Here we have another opportunity to fight for more improvements and to minimize the impact this Congressional action may have. Here we all have an opportunity to shape the outcome.

We must urge members of the Senate to keep climate change legislation fair, recognizing regional differences in how electricity is produced. It must be affordable for all Americans. And its goals must be achievable—when they take effect, the technology needed to reduce carbon dioxide emissions should be commercially viable at each step of the way.

It is time we all step up to the plate and make a stand for the interests of consumers. Your senators as well as members of the U.S. House need to hear from all of us—their voting constituents—for direction.

Visit HYPERLINK "http://www.ourenergy.coop" to send a message to Capitol Hill about the need for fair, affordable, and achievable climate change legislation. We must ensure that when they vote on a bill, it's done with America's best interests in mind.

Sincerely,

Water rate increase should be rolled back...

Dear Editor,

Several months ago, your mayor and council passed a water rate increase.

The city's fiscal year ended in June and the water dept. had excess funds of over $500,000.

The new budget reflects an excess of over $200,000.

I ask all city residents to attend the next city council meeting and demand the council repeal the last rate increase.

The city "DOESN'T NEED" the money! The mayor didn't even put the new rate revenue in her new budget.

Remind the mayor and council we're still in a recession.

Sincerely,
Rick Courtney

gust 25, 1928, the Livingston Chamber of Commerce voted on a new school structure. The structure still stands today.

Mt. Vernon to allow my friend Bud Cox to take a ride with me in my new car. He was amazed at the handling of this Volkswagen! Time and again he found streets that he could corner around at speeds of at least 60 mph. Most people were unaware of the suspension, but Bud had experienced the ride of a Porsches before, and this suspension system was very similar.

I also found this ride to be fun when taking a female for a spin. The seats were very close together, and the car had lots of exciting features. The lights of the dash were a warm shade of amber, casting a romantic mood in the car. When you added a tape of some group like the Temptations or the Platters, you had traveling atmosphere all around you. The girls liked the car very much. I will never forget my "special Beetle."

when she glowers.

"It will was right off," I tell her. "In fact I just read that it's good for you tires to get them muddy with mineral like this. Makes the rubber last," I tell her as she gingerly crawls through a puddle that probably didn't slow another person down.

And then, there we were, at the shelter where the old Noe Homestead once stood greeted by our new friend Virginia (Noe?) married to Ricky Bullock who introduced us to forty or fifty people, including her beloved Uncle Totsie, and led us to the dinner table.

The way they used to cook in the old days of Hysinger Holler when an occasion was so special. It would take a column just to list the contents of that table. Suffice to say green beans and sweet corn were in abundance and chicken, chicken and a huge ham and we won't even talk desert here because we'd hurt somebody's feelings if we left one out.

And at the end of the day, Totsie Noe, 6' 4", 87 years old, and looking like he could be a starter on name your favorite basketball team (I swear I am not lying) showed us around his old farm place.

"The old home place was built in 1903 and stood where the gathering shelter is now, but come and look in the Spring House," he invited.

He opened the door and we walked down a couple of ancient rock steps into instant coolness where water seeped a healthy stream beneath a huge rock wall from deep inside the mountain and flowed across a channel on the floor. The original oak walls and roof, constructed in 1903, are still sturdy.

It was like walking into a refrigerator.

"We always had cold water," said Totsi, "and never had a problem having milk and butter served just right. It stayed this way around the year and I can remember coming to the Spring House to get warm when the weather got real cold."

I used a plastic cup to dip a drink of water from the spring, savored its sweetness and thought to myself that we might not be able to keep Totsie forever, but it sure would be nice to keep this spring house around forever. The latter is probably doable.

Notice to Parents

Meal Applications For SY 2009-2010

We have now processed all meal applications that have been received (8/24/09) for students enrolled in the Rockcastle County Schools.

A new meal application must be turned in every year, updating your financial situation and the number of people in the household.

If you have not yet turned in a new meal application for this school year or if the first year that your child is going to school, please get the application turned in as soon as possible. Children who were enrolled in school last year can eat at the approved status from that application until September 17, 2009. If no new application has been processed by September 17th, the student's status will go to full-pay.

We are still working on getting notification letters out to the parents. This should be complete by the end of the week (8/28/2009).

If you have not yet turned in an application, please turn it in before September 15th so that there will be enough time to get it processed before the deadline (September 17th). Parents will be expected to pay any charges that have incurred because the temporary status expired or before the application was processed.

Applications can be gotten at the school or at the Board of Education on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon.

If you have any questions, please call 606-256-2125.

An encouraging word:

The Power of Words

By Howard Coop

One day recently the mail brought a small check from a denominational publishing house. It was payment for an article I had written for one of its publications. So, without delay, I went to the bank to cash the check.

At the bank, the gracious lady working as a teller, as she always does, greeted me cordially. Before handing her the check, I jokingly said to her, "Haven't you always heard that words are cheap?" When she answered affirmatively, I handed her the check to be cashed and said, "Here is irrefutable proof that, indeed, words are cheap. The church that sent this check pays four cents for a word. But your church is much better; a short time ago it paid me eight cents a word for the same article."

Blaise Pascal, the French mathematician and philosopher who lived during the seventeenth century, has been quoted as saying, "Though (words) do not cost much, they accomplish much." This is true because the words we speak are powerful. Sometimes they accomplish far more than we intend them to accomplish.

Like a two edged sword, words spoken can cut two ways. Spoken one way, they can hurt, and the hurt they inflict can be exceedingly deep and painful. Over the years, I have known numerous individuals who have been hurt deeply by unkind or untrue words that were spoken to or about them. But when spoken in another way, words can help, and the help is significant. Likewise, I have known many persons whose lives were forever changed for the good by kind, helpful, and encouraging words of another person.

For centuries, the power of words has been recognized. A far back as twenty-two hundred years ago, it had become proverbial that "The tongue has the power of life and death." Put another way, that ancient proverb says, "What you say can preserve life or destroy it." Therefore, use words wisely. There is no end to their effect.

"What Is Written"

Jesus was asked by the disciples, "Why speakest thou unto them in parables?" Matt.13:10. His answer was that it was a fulfillment of Isaiah 6, which he quotes in Matt.13:14-15. "And in them is fulfilled the prophecy of Esaias, which saith, By hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand; and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceive: For this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them." The nature of the gospel is that those who want to see it, will; and those who don't want to see it, wont. The fault is not with God, but with men. Jesus prayed and said, "At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes." Matt.11:25. Now the "wise and prudent" are folks who think they already know; arrogant, haughty people who are not going to listen to Jesus, they will never be taught the truth, with that attitude. They are blinded to the gospel message. But to the "babes" people who are willing to learn, they will see the truth and obey it. What is your attitude about Jesus' gospel?

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
Including Service Areas for a Functional Landscape Design

For the most part, landscape designers are geared towards showcasing the home and giving it curb appeal in the front. Then, there's the consideration of private areas for play, entertainment, relaxation and so on. But, there is also a need for organized areas for storage, work, utilities and such. These are the service areas. Service areas need to be designed, not just "happen".

We are talking about more than an AC unit or a electric or gas meter. We are talking storage of vehicles, boats, mowers. We are talking garbage cans or bins, and maybe a composting area. We may be talking about a garden tool shed, a garden, and a potting shed or greenhouse. There may be a sandbox or a horseshoe pit or tree house (not that these are traditional service areas but may need to be thought of that way in design.) Maybe it is a mud room, a pool chemical storage area, a clothes line, or a propane tank. Screening or partitioning undesirable sights, smells, sounds, activities from the pool or patio or deck or outdoor kitchen could all be thought of when considering service areas and how they need to be separated. (Who wants to trip over sunbathers while bringing in veggies from the garden, and who wants to relax beside the garbage?)

Another way to break down and describe landscape design would be:

- A) Design of Public Areas,
- B) Design of Private Areas, and
- C) Design of Service Areas.

Today I want us to just get the point in mind that service areas need to be given consideration in the landscape plan, and how to compartmentalize a yard for practical reasons and not just the aesthetics. Efficient placement of storage in relation to where the stored things will be used, balanced with the need to hide or screen away things that we don't want to be dwelling on and looking at all the time.

We don't want service areas to detract from a cookout, from relaxing by the waterfeature, from watching the kids play, etc.

Most private areas are in back...but side yards can be private. (And in times past, people actually sat on the front porch and hollered or waved across the street at neighbors.) Alas, today, people seem not even to know all the people who live on their street or in their apartment building. Anyway, before I get off subject, we need to consider efficient placement of storage and service areas.

I would suggest not putting garbage or mower gas cans near seating or picnic areas for instance.

And getting to the garden should not take one across the middle of the lushest portion of the lawn.

Those are just two very obvious conclusions I offer up. If you want to hang some linens on the clothesline, do you want it to be seen by passers-by? Or for it to keep the kids from tossing balls?

Speaking of kids, some service areas like play areas, swings, tree houses, may need to be changed over time.

Putting all these things into a thoughtful plan would be wise. Whether you are a do-it-yourselfer or hire contractors for this type design work, it does not need to come down to "Oh, I forgot, where are we going to put the garbage cans now that we have this new landscaping where they used to be located?"

Dream a bit, imagine a bit, and allow for orderly and out of sight service needs in the landscape plan and it's installation.

A Tribute

James H. Cox - "Super Great and Getting Better"

By Matt Chaliff

"Super great and getting better," was not the response I expected that Sunday afternoon at Kastle Inn. Words spoken in hushed tones at church that morning had included "Jim Cox has cancer," "inoperable," "not long," and "experimental treatments." The implication had been that my former neighbor, photographer, bus driver, assistant principal and employer was not long for this world. So, his answer to my question of "How are you?" came as a bit of a surprise.

I learned later, at the hardware store, that the prognosis was not good, but there were options. Jim and Martha were going to see another doctor, he was trying experimental treatments and, of course, he had the right attitude about it. The next time I was in the store, Jim and Martha were both upbeat. A man from North Carolina, who had the same kind of cancer, had been in. He had tried the experimental medicine and it had worked. Again, I hear, "Super great and getting better," and I left thinking that if anyone could beat this, it was Jim Cox. Twenty some years of experience told me that if anyone had the determination, faith and stubbornness to outdo cancer, it was him.

Jim, Martha and the girls were our neighbors when we lived in the white house overlooking Elmwood Cemetery. One of my earliest memories is going to their house on a Sunday afternoon to have pictures taken -- I was mad for a week that Josh got his picture taken in a barrel and I didn't. Mom only believed in trick or treating at the homes of people we knew so, for years, we depended on Jim and Martha, Henry and Ms. Marie, and a handful of other close by folks, for our Halloween candy. One year, they had a ghost rigged to scare people when they opened the door. As a five-year-old, it was downright spooky...

Until he became assistant principal at the high school, Jim drove our school bus. Even as a teacher, he wore a suit to school and was, unquestionably, the best dressed bus driver in the Rockcastle system. Most of the students got off at Valley View Apartments and only a few of us were left for the ride on up old 25. Each day, as we rounded the sharp curve at Shepherds, he said, "Windows up!" That was our sign to put up the windows in the vacant seats. At the time, I thought it was kind of odd. Years later, when I drove a substitute bus route, and had to spend 20 minutes putting up bus windows, it all made sense to me.

As assistant principal, Mr. Cox was fair, efficient and consistent. The years of training with Fire Chief John C. Cox paid off as he talked on his radio, directed traffic in the parking lot and even walked down the halls with a bull horn saying, "Please walk to your right." He, Ronnie Cash and Connie Hamm ran a tight ship where both discipline and morale were good. In my current job, I get to visit a lot of high schools across the state. Few are run as well as RCHS was during my time in high school.

Early in my senior year, Jim and Roy Reynolds came to get me out of Ms. Allen's College English class. A girl in Mr. Reynolds' class said that a $100 bill had been stolen from her purse and she had seen me leaving the room. "Now you know I trust you or else you wouldn't be in my money at the store, but can I check your billfold?" he asked as we stood in the hallway. As I handed it to him, he said, "You don't have a $100 bill do you?" Of course, I didn't. The two of them looked through my billfold and determined that I was not the thief. Looking back, I would have given a $100 bill if I had been quick enough to say, "No, I don't have a $100 bill, I work for you."

Working at the hardware store was one of the great blessings of my life. Of course, I had been going to the store my entire life. Dad always told us that if John Cox didn't have it, you couldn't get it and probably didn't need it anyway. When Martha asked Dad if Josh and I would be interested in working there, we jumped on the opportunity. We took turns working from 3 to 5 after school. Although we were always in a rush to get to the store, the assistant principal never gave us special treatment in exiting the parking lot.

During the year I worked at the store, I learned more about plow bolts, casket screws, pressure cooker rings, steel pipe, plexiglass and keys than I ever though possible. I also learned from John that you always asked, "What else?" before you wrote a ticket and that anytime you couldn't find something, you said, "it used to be right here but Martha Sue has moved things around again." I learned from Martha that if you didn't have something, you called Appliance Service Center, Jack's Hardware, Elmer Burdette, Jimmy Cromer, and/or the Wildie General Store to see if they had it before you sent a customer away. Jim was there less than the others but he contributed, "Stay as long as you want to. Talking is a quarter but the dirt is free, take all you want." Mainly though, I learned how to treat people the way you want to be treated and bend over backwards to help them.

Jim's full time at the store began about the time mine ended. The full time employee quit on a Friday afternoon and, in a few days, it was decided that Jim was retiring to sell hardware. Soon after Jim went full time, the price of a Coca-Cola went from 50 to 60 cents. Then a few weeks later, it went to 70 cents. When I asked about this, Jim said, "I realized we were breaking even on the Cokes and losing money running the cooler, so I raised the price a dime. Then I realized how many Josh and Daddy were drinking and decided I had to raise the price another dime to stay ahead."

Jim and Martha managed to bring the store into the 21st Century, while keeping the things that have made it a fixture for 100 years. Today, a flat screen computer monitor sits on the desk beside a copy of the poem, "If I knew you and you knew me," which was cut out of a hardware catalog and stapled to the desk before Jim was born. A credit card scanner sits on the counter a few feet away from the Cole's Hot Blast Stove which has been the center of activity in the store since 1914. Like his father and grandfather before him, Jim managed to earn a gold hammer for 50 years of service to the hardware industry.

As time progressed, Jim became somewhat of a sage - a role he enjoyed very much - and gave out a great deal of advice at the store. Once I went to buy weather-stripping during a cold snap. He told me which kind he preferred and then chastised me for "waiting until the wolf was at the door." On more than one occasion, he reminded me that, "It is easier to get permission than forgiveness." He observed about my brother that, "When Josh's level of ability equals his level of confidence, he will be able to do anything." My all time favorite though was, "Sometimes, it's better to be happy than right."

Although Jim worked at the store nearly every day of his retirement - including the week before he died - he seemed to genuinely have the best retirement of anyone I've ever known. He drove his golf cart to work to protest high gas prices. He and Martha traveled and saw the sights of Europe - while there they took flowers to the grave of his uncle who was killed in World War II. He enjoyed his family and was especially proud of his five grandchildren. He supervised construction of Martha's lakeside cottage, which I was told had "grown well beyond the reasonable definition of a cottage. But, of course, I'd rather be happy than right."

You might say that Jim Cox was born to be a teacher. As a school teacher, he taught lessons about science. As a hardware store owner, he taught lessons about weather stripping, key making, pressure cooker lids and glass installation. As a human being, he taught lessons about respect, enjoying the little things in life, finding humor in every situation and living a life of integrity. But, perhaps the greatest lesson he ever taught anyone was to be positive. Throughout his illness, he continued to work and never complained. He always replied that he was, "Super great and getting better," and he said it like he meant it.

When Jim Cox died, in the room that he was born in, he didn't lose his battle with cancer. After all, he always reminded us that he would "be a winner either way." I might say that he was a winner both ways. Because of his positive attitude and his determination, he was able to do the things he loved and continue making a difference in the lives of other people until the very end. Then, when the end came, he was able to leave this world without any doubt that he had fought the good fight, kept the faith and finished his race well. Now that he has entered his reward, he is truly, "Super great and getting better."

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150* degree) soapy water containing lye and bleach to help dissolve stains.

B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.

The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.

D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.

E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.

The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

State will rework intersection of Old Brodhead and Purr Rigsby

At a special called meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court Tuesday, County Judge Executive Buzz Carloftis brought several topics to the attention of the magistrates for discussion.

One concerned the reworking of the intersection at Old Brodhead and Purr Rigsby Road. Carloftis told the court that he had met with the Department of Transportation and that it had been decided that the grassy median needed to be taken out at the intersection and that part paved, making it a little safer for drivers turning onto Purr Rigsby from Brodhead and onto Old Brodhead from Purr Rigsby going toward Mt. Vernon.

Carloftis said Wednesday that the state would provide stripping to help keep drivers from turning onto Purr Rigsby, as they have in the past, and "this should extend drivers' line of sight of oncoming traffic on the Old Brodhead Road."

The Judge said he hoped to get the project completed shortly, while Greer Bros. is still in the county paving.

Carloftis also brought up, for the magistrates' information, the fact that he had been asked by the city of Mt. Vernon to help with paving the lot at the new fire department building on Old U.S. 25. Carloftis said it would cost $29,000 for the lot to be blacktopped and he felt the court should help since they did not pay 90% of the city fire department's utilities (nor for Brodhead) as they do for fire districts in the county.

The judge said he had talked with Mt. Vernon Mayor Clarice Kirby about the project and Kirby had asked if the county could pay $19,000 of the cost. However, Carloftis said he had offered half of the cost but then decided to ask CSEPP, who houses their emergency vehicles in the same building, if the cost could be shared three ways and had not heard back from them.

The other item for discussion brought to the magistrates concerned an additional $175,000 which the county will receive from the state transportation cabinet. Its use is restricted, Carloftis said, to resurfacing of previously paved roads and "strip" paving is not permitted.

He said the $175,000 would pave about four miles and asked the magistrates to decide which road in the county qualified for the money and needed repaving the most. Both magistrates Jan Stevens and Bill McKinney made suggestions quickly concerning Flat Gap Road and the Glenn Cromer Road and the Buffalo Hollow Road was also mentioned.

Also during the meeting, Jailer James Miller told the court that the minimum jail standard for a nurse to be at the jail from one day a week to two. Miller said that Lisa Smithern was presently at the jail one day a week, and was on call the rest of the time, and was being paid $650 a month. He said she had agreed to do the required two days at the jail for $1,000 a month and the court approved the change.

The court also approved the 2010 tax rates for the Extension Service, Rockcastle County Schools and the library and a $4,755 payment for 10,000 stamped envelopes for mailing this year's tax bills.

And, money had to be moved around to pay half of the year's insurance premium to KACo, around $100,000.

The court decided to take $100,000 from the road fund, which had been electronically deposited there, in error, by KACo from proceeds of the infrastructure loan and put it into the general fund and then transfer $30,000 to the jail fund to help them pay their share of the insurance premium.

The balance of the premium can be paid in three installments.

The insurance tax the county receives was also discussed and the fact that the tax paid by county residents, with addresses of, Berea, Crab Orchard and McKee, were probably, by and large, going to Madison, Lincoln and Jackson, instead of Rockcastle.

Carloftis said it was important that the county attempt to collect this tax revenue since the county's share of the insurance tax was going to be lowered this next quarter when the city of Mt. Vernon will begin receiving the tax for residents inside the city limits. "I don't have a problem with the city (Mt. Vernon) receiving their share of the tax, as long as the tax they collect is on property within the city limits," Carloftis said.

Clontz also mentioned that many residents, who live outside the city limits, have a post office box address and that tax also may go to the city instead of the county.

Both Carloftis and Clontz asked that residents in both these situations, contact their insurance agent and make sure their insurance tax is going to the county.

The court also discussed passing a resolution asking post offices outside the county, to relinquish their routes in Mt. Vernon to the respective post office in the county which services the areas.

Whittemore said it was somewhat frustrating that he is attempting to develop a very nice five acre parcel at the lake with nice homes or cabins and other land owners, about 400 feet away, are allowed to park a travel trailer and attempt to do remodeling that looks bad,” Whittemore said.

“It is a real eyesore and to me it depreciates my property. Anyone wanting to develop a nice area would feel the same,” Whittemore said.

Whittemore said that no rules and regulations are alright until that process is not effective anymore. “Maybe it is a time for Rockcastle to have some type of planning and zoning with sensibility as the main focus,” Whittemore said.

Whittemore is a member of Leadership Rockcastle and he is also a member of the Rockcastle Development Board’s Land Use Development Committee.

At no time has the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court entertained a motion for planning or zoning and the only discussion by the court has been brought up by members of Concerned Citizens for Fair Government.

but Rockcastle’s new KSP Detective Millard Root, who replaced Gary Lane is in charge of the investigation.

Besides the breakin at the Hopkins home, at least seven other home break-ins have occurred in the county in the past seven days.

Last Thursday, a home on McClure Street in Livingston was broken into, while the residents were not home. A neighbor reported that break-in to the Sheriff’s office.

Then last Saturday, around 7:30 p.m., someone entered the home of William Pillars on Dailey Street in Mt. Vernon and stole a television. Mt. Vernon Police Chief Terry Jackson said fingerprints were retrieved from the scene and have been sent to Frankfort for analysis. “Someone knew Pillars was a truck driver and out of town a lot,” Jackson said.

Then on Sunday, besides the break-in at the Hopkins’ home, five other homes in the county were burglarized

At 2:44 a.m., a report was received that thieves had broke into the home of Brandy Gambrell on Quail Road.

At 3 p.m. thieves hit the home of Kenneth Cope on Little Clear Creek.

At 6:49 p.m. Shannon McFerron’s home on Lake Cumberland Road was broken into.

At 8:30 p.m. thieves broke into the home of Irene Collins on South Wilderness Road, while she was at church.

At 9:30 p.m. the home of Priscilla Napier on Calloway Loop Road was also broken into, while she too was at church.

Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue Activity Report

August 18 - Received report of fire alarm activation at Mt. Vernon Greens Apartments. Two fire units on scene advised no fire, tenant accidentally activated alarm.

August 20 - Dispatched to a structure fire on Cox Lane. Upon arrival, fire units found that homeowner had extinguished fire with extinguisher. Units used a portable fan to ventilate smoke from house.

August 20 - Dispatched to a vehicle accident with entrapment on I-75 at exit 62. Upon arrival, units found no entrapment and the accident vehicle had been unoccupied and was being towed at the time.

August 20 - While on scene of previous accident, received report that a tractor trailer had gotten on I-75 southbound and was on fire. Units drove to exit 49 in Laurel County and were unable to locate anything on fire and received no more calls

Police said other homes in the Livingston area, including that of Cleo Bryant and Dennis Elliott were also broken into last week, but no other details on those break-ins were available.

Chief Jackson also reported that several vehicles in the Poplar Street/Ferguson Street area were entered and personal items taken. Jackson said all of those vehicles were unlocked.

Sheriff Peters also said his department had worked thefts from unlocked vehicles.

Both officials cautioned every Rockcastle Countian to lock their vehicles and not leave any items, such as purses in plain sight where they can be seen by thieves.

Chief Jackson said that he had had several reports of dogs barking or loud noises around 2:30 to 3 a.m., but that his department had not been notified until after the fact. “We have officers on duty 24/7 and if people think anything is going on out of the ordinary they should call us,” he said.

Peters said because of the varied locations of the break-ins he did not think the same person or persons were responsible for the thefts.

“This rash of break-ins is the worst I’ve seen since I have been in office and the public should not be afraid to let us know if they have any information about them. Neighbors have got to look out for each other and we can certainly do our job much better with a little cooperation,” Peters said.

Anyone with any type of information on these break-ins is encouraged to contact the Sheriff’s office at 256-2032, the Mt. Vernon Police Department at 256-5372, Kentucky State Police at 606-878-6622 or the county’s 911 center.

about this vehicle.

August 21 - Dispatched to alarm activation at new SourceCorp building in Industrial Park South. Upon arrival, maintenance crews advised there was no fire they were working on alarm system.

August 24 - Units were requested to assist EMS on Stephens Road in Northern Rockcastle with locating a 14 year old male lost in woods. The boy called 911 himself and was in constant contact with 911 as he found his own way out, within minutes and rescue didn’t proceed on to the scene.

Aaron D. Purcell has book published

The University of Tennessee Press has just published a new book by Aaron D. Purcell. Purcell is a native of Rockcastle County and 1990 graduate of RCHS.

His book White Collar Radicals: TVA's Knoxville Fifteen, the New Deal, and the McCarthy Era (2009) explores the lives of fifteen people coming to grips with the New Deal and the McCarthy Era. They came from all corners of the country—fifteen young, idealistic, educated men and women drawn to Knoxville, Tennessee, to work for the Tennessee Valley Authority, one of the first of President Franklin D.

Roosevelt's New Deal projects. Mostly holding entry-level jobs, these young people became friends and lovers, connecting to one another at work and through other social and political networks.

What the fifteen failed to realize was that these activities—union organizing and, for most, membership in the Communist Party—would plunge them into a maelstrom that would endanger, and for some, destroy their livelihoods, social standing, and careers. White Collar Radicals follows their lives from New Deal activism in the

The Family Room

By: Dr. Roy Don Whitehead

The modern world is tremendously different from the world of fifty years ago. For those of us who remember back that far, we remember those days when modern conveniences did not exist. Many of these are things we now take for granted. They are so much a part of our lives that I wonder how we got along without them.

1. When I was a child, we did not have air conditioning in our house. All we had were a few shade trees, and yet I do not remember fretting about the heat. Perhaps this was because kids just do not notice these sorts of things or perhaps I just did not know any different. It may be true that "you can't miss what you never had." Today, I would give up a lot of things before I would part with my air conditioner.

2. Computers are a daily part of many people's lives in the modern world. I can remember learning to type on a manual typewriter. (For you youngsters, that's the kind of thing you see in movies made in the forties and fifties.) It took a firm key-stroke just to make the key strike the paper. In my high school typing class we even had one electric typewriter! Yes, we were uptown! Students took turns typing on it, just so we would know what it felt like.

3. And what about copy machines? We continually run to the copy machine these days. If the copy machine breaks, whole offices come to a standstill. In the old days we used carbon paper. If you missed the experience of making five carbon copies on a manual typewriter, be thankful. Making a mistake meant that you had to stop and individually erase the mistake on each page before you could continue. It took awhile.

4. We had never heard of video cassette recorders, CDs or DVDs. Records were played on the stereo with the old LP record albums. These gradually wore out and would skip and hiss as they aged. If you wanted to watch a movie, you had to wait until it came to the local movie theater. There were no DVDs to rent.

5. How many storage buildings are in your town these days? Where I live it seems there are thousands – and almost all of them are rented. In the old days only businesses had warehouses. Now individual families rent warehouse space. What did we do before storage buildings? Did we have more room at home to store stuff then? Do we have more stuff now?

6. Does your car have air conditioning? Can you imagine traveling without it? When I was a child, my grandparents lived in the southern part of Georgia. My dad always got his vacation in July. Do you know how hot it is in an un-air conditioned car in Georgia in July? In the days before I-75, the drive took sixteen hours. My sister and I barely avoided doing bodily harm to each other. I can only imagine my parent's misery.

7. Talked to anyone on your cell phone lately? Cell phones have both advantages and disadvantages. You can call from anywhere, anytime, which is especially helpful if your car breaks down or you are lost. The disadvantage is that you never have a moment's peace. Anyone who carries a cell phone is always at someone's beck and call. If you younger folks can imagine this, when I was a child, we had no phone at all! We walked to the neighbors to use the phone. That was quite a chore but, on the positive side, no tele-marketers ever called us either.

Remember that microwave ovens and crock pots require up to half the energy to cook than the typical oven; PLUS they do not heat up the living space to the same degree – great summertime cooling news!

Pets Hate Reruns, too! Many people leave the TV on for the family pets when they leave for work, but did you know that the typical TV uses 8-TIMES the energy of the typical radio?

"But it's OFF...Right?"
The term "Energy Vampire" applies to many popular electronics such as TV's, DVD Players, VCR's, Computers, Cell Phone and Cordless Phone Chargers, MP3 players, Stereo's and more. These are items that typically operate in "standby mode" even when "turned off"! According to ehowto.com, the average home has as many as 20 such items that can add as much as $200 to an annual bill. When possible, plug these items into a common power strip and flip the "off" switch when not in use!

Is Your Water Heater Working Overtime? Placing an affordable timer on your water heater can be an effective energy-saving tool. Remember that when you are away at work or sleeping through the night, your water heater is constantly re-heating AND using energy unnecessarily. A timer can turn the unit off and on at selected times, greatly reducing the hours it is "on duty"!

Good habits ease transition to school

The sun is still shining and the weather is warm, providing perfect distractions for students and their families as the school year begins. However, the beginning of a new school year also provides the ideal time to create good study and communication habits that will help students meet their academic goals. Everyone in the family can be a part of this.

While studying is the student's responsibility, parents can help by working with children to create family habits that foster energy, enthusiasm and support for studying students. Begin the day by getting out of bed early enough to get dressed and to eat breakfast. Starting the day with a meal that includes a good source of protein (eggs, meat, cheese, nuts), will help students stay alert until lunchtime.

Students are on their own while they're at school, but parents can learn about what the school day is like for students by encouraging them to talk about their classroom experiences. Ask specific questions about classes, such as, "What about that class do you find difficult?" or "Why do you think you enjoy that class so much?" Besides learning more about how your child is reacting to academic challenges, asking such questions can also help reveal potential areas of interest or talent that your child might want to pursue as a career or for further study.

If a student is having an especially difficult time with a class, encourage him or her to ask for extra help or tutoring from the teacher or other school resources. Teachers who know students are willing to work harder to understand something difficult will likely be glad to provide additional learning resources.

When students won't talk about what's happening in class, parents can check in with teachers and other school personnel to find out how their child is doing. School personnel appreciate parents who care enough to check in from time-to-time on a student's progress.

At the end of the school day, students need to think about completing homework and studying. Help your teen with this facet of learning by creating a homework space free of distractions. Work with your child to learn what atmosphere works best for him or her. Although most students do best by following the basic guidelines of minimizing distractions, tackling the most difficult work first and having all the tools (paper, ruler, pen, calculator, etc.) readily at hand, there are also personal preferences for the study atmosphere.

Does your child work better in silence or with music? Studies have shown that classical music that mimics the natural rhythm of the body can be a study aid will music like rock and hip hop provide a beat that is disruptive to brain activity.

What is the best time for your child to study? While some do well late in the afternoon when they return from school, others need a break from studying and maybe a meal before they are ready to sit down and open a book. Students who don't know what works best for them can experiment until they find the best routine.

One of the most difficult things for many teenagers is getting to bed early enough to get enough sleep. Medical studies have shown that teenagers naturally feel sleepy later in the evening than most adults but need approximately nine hours of sleep to function at their best. The National Sleep Foundation calls sleep "food for the brain," making it especially important for students. The Foundations suggests making sleep a priority and provides sleep tips at www.sleepfoundation.org.

For more study tips, go to <http://www.studygss.net/>. Discuss the tips with your family and enlist everyone in making this a productive school year.

"Purcell"

1930s through the 1940s and 1950s government investigations into what were perceived as subversive deeds.

Aaron D. Purcell shows how this small group of TVA idealists was unwillingly thrust from obscurity into the national spotlight, victims and participants of the second Red Scare in the years following World War II. The author brings into sharp focus the determination of the government to target and expose alleged radicals of the 1930s during the early Cold War period. The book also demonstrates how the national hysteria affected individual lives.

White Collar Radicals is both a historical study and a cautionary tale. The Knoxville Fifteen, who endured the dark days of the McCarthy Era, now have their story told for the first time—a story that offers modern-day lessons on freedom, civil liberties, and the authority of the government.

Aaron D. Purcell is an associate professor and director of special collections at Virginia Tech in Blacksburg. Previously he served as University Archivist at the University of Tennessee and is the author of The University of Tennessee (Charleston, S.C.: Arcadia Publishing, 2007).

The book is now available through the University of Tennessee Press's website, other online booksellers including Amazon and Barnes and Noble, and at local bookstores.

In our race to see which homeroom can bring in the most Box Tops, the Adventurers placed first last week bringing in 311 Box Tops! School wide, our students raised $87.40 during the first week! Keep up the good effort!

September 4th will be mid-term at RCMS. Mid-term reports will be sent home to update parents on how well students have been doing during this first four weeks of school.

RCMS was proud to have the top attendance in the district for the first two weeks of school. Mrs. Ballinger's 6th grade Enterpriser homeroom won our attendance battle last week with 99.2%. Mrs. Franklin's Enterprisers came in second, followed by Mrs. Davis' 6th grade Voyagers homeroom.

The Unite Club membership drive is continuing this week. Dues are $1 or a package of toilet paper to be donated to an area drug treatment facility..

The Student YMCA elected officers last week. This year's president is Kellan Coffey. Vice-president is McKinzie Todd. Serving as secretary is Rebekah Ponder and treasurer is Jacob D. Taylor. Chaplain will be Callie Asher. Serving as Media Corps is Kelsey Mattingly and Kayla Reynolds. Historians are Ashley McCoy and Shelby Ponder. Service Chairs will be Anna Poynter, Amelia Eversole and Cheyenne Gilliam and John Hughes and Addison Atkin will serve as the leadership committee.

The opportunity for 20 of our middle school students to participate in job shadowing here in Rockcastle County is going to be made available through a grant funded by the Appalachian Regional Commission and Forward in the Fifth. The job shadowing will take place in five areas: Education, Health Care, Banking, Entrepreneurship, and Vocational interests. Students will be selected from the 8th grade based on an essay written by the students. The rules and writing prompts were given to all students on Friday by their teachers. Essays must be turned back in by Friday, September 4th. So, students, if you are interested in spending a couple of days job shadowing here in Rockcastle County to learn more about a career, be sure and submit your essay!

This Friday was our annual book give-away. Students were able to select a new book of their choice to keep. The Leadership Team also sold M&M's in their Candy for Cause effort. RCMS students bought over $200 worth of candy. The proceeds will go to benefit cancer patients.

During the RCMS media center's Book Give-away, eighth grader Brandon Jones bought M&M's from Leadership Team members Corey McPhetridge and Mackenzie Craig. The RCMS Leadership Team is continuing their efforts to raise money to help cancer patients and their families. The raised over $200 at the event.

The Hupa Tribe received the "Flag Spirit Award" for the girl's tribe at the third annual Camp UNITE, held July 28-31 on the University of the Cumberlands campus in Williamsburg. The award was presented to the team that showed the most spirit during camp, waved their flag with dignity and honor, and had the best decorated flag. Pictured with team leaders Michelle Pratt (Russell Springs) and Sarah Haynes (Elkhorn City) are campers Rebecca Lawson (Corbin), Scherrie Newman (Brodhead), Brianna Reynolds (Williamsburg), Millie Ashleigh (Wellington) and Hannah Williams (Means). A total of 182 youth from 22 counties in Southern and Eastern Kentucky participated in camp.

Marching Rockets gear up for 2009 season

With the first competition just over three weeks away... the pace at rehearsal is picking up as the finishing touches are being put on the 2009 Marching Rockets show Casino Royale 007. The Rockcastle County Marching Rockets will be ready to steal the show on September 19 at the North Laurel Marching Invitational. This local competition is a favorite on the season tour for students, parents and fans alike as they are able to come out and support the Marching Rockets on familiar turf that is close to home. The 2009 line-up is not yet posted, but competition is sure to be stiff as the Invitational typically plays hosts to over 23 bands from the surrounding region. Bands compete according to Class which is decided by school size. Winning a Class competition in marching band competition is fun, but what really matters is the score. Bands compete against themselves in the regular season as they strive first for a proficient score which entitles them to move on to Regional Quarterfinals. After that goal is reached, a collective sigh of relief can be heard from the band as they put that hurdle behind them only to focus on the next challenge—perfecting and enhancing the show to get it ready for the finals.

But it is not only the students who are working hard this time of year; booster parents are also gearing up for the new season with unmatched zeal—working hard to fit students with uniforms, design and build props, and plan for upcoming fundraisers. Putting on a show of this caliber takes the combined efforts of lots of people. Director, Greg Daugherty, Assistant Director, Cassandra Smith, and Percussion Instructor, Josh Ott deserve much praise for their dedication to this complex program.

Annual Car Wash at Mt. Vernon IGA this weekend

Vernon IGA on Saturday to show your continued support of this great group!

Library News

Pam Chaliff

During the previous year the Rockcastle County Public Library has checked out 40,214 books. 3,430 videos/DVD's have circulated along with 749 books on tape. The nine public access computers have been used 8,249 times. 597 magazines have been taken from the library or the bookmobile. You may be surprised to know that the total of these items is 53,239. We average 103 library visits per day. The library regularly receives best sellers in adult fiction as well as numerous titles for the children's and teen areas of the library.

The library is able to access books and other materials from other public libraries and academic libraries throughout the state with our inter-library loan service. We make copies and offer FAX service for a small fee. The library also provides federal and state tax forms when that dreaded time of year rolls around. Bookmobile service is available (weather and the bookmobile cooperating).

Pre-school story hour has recently moved to Friday at 1 p.m. Crafts for age 4-10 (older children may attend) is Tuesday at 5 p.m. and movie day is every other Friday at 4 p.m. Library hours are 10-6 Mon.-Fri. and 10-4 on Sat. The library is located at 60 Ford Drive in Mt. Vernon. For more information on library services call 606-256-2388.

Fall Sports Preview 2009

Parkey says ROCK will be better later in 2009 season

By: Richard Anderkin

When one of Rockcastle County High School's leading rushers, Casey Hayes, graduated head coach Scott Parkey knew he had to come up with somewhat of a different game plan.

And, the second year coach thinks he has the players and game plan to do what any good high school football team has to do to win -- score points.

Parkey said his offense will rely on his quarterback Dustin Bishop, who has started three years, to run the offense and make good decisions. "A lot of our success this season will depend on how well Dustin plays, it is just that simple," Parkey said.

"He has got to get the ball to wide-out Jamie Todd, who has to be involved in our offense in a major way for us to be successful," Parkey said.

Parkey also said that junior John L. Saylor and Clark Rowe would get the football a lot and that both running backs were up to the task. "John L., especially, has a lot of experience carrying the ball and he is also a great blocker. Rowe, who is just a sophomore, has a lot of game experience from last year and he also has worked hard to make himself a much better player this season."

"Our biggest concern will be injuries, but we have 18 returning letterman, so if one of our players does get hurt we should have somebody ready to take their spot," Parkey noted.

Besides Todd, senior receiver Matt Bullens is also expected to get a lot of catches from his tight end position. “He is good size, quick and smart and he also has to be involved in our offense for us to be successful,” Parkey said.

Parkey also said that Bullen would be “all over the place” on defense.

Besides Bullen, Parkey and defensive coordinator Josh Martin are looking for a big year from senior Dalton Dillingham. “Dalton will be blitzing a lot and we plan to have him where the action is. He is one tough player and he is a good example to our younger players that “size doesn’t matter,” Parkey said.

Parkey also said that Cole Abney and Derek Thacker, among other linemen, would be the defense’s anchor. “We’ve got at least five guys with a lot of experience returning on defense and it will be difficult for most teams to block us up front.”

Parkey said his biggest concern was the secondary, where every starter from a year ago graduated. Steve Trimble, Casey Hayes, Jared Smith, Dustin Bullock and Cody Mize are all gone. They will be replaced by Todd, Rowe, Bishop, Cory Baker and numerous others.

“We will probably struggle in the secondary in the first half of the season, but by play-off time, with the hard work of coach (Tony) Saylor and coach Martin, combined with the efforts of our players, we will have consistent play in the secondary,” Parkey said.

The Rocket’s season begins on August 29th when they travel to Danville for a contest with the Boyle County Rebels, who were 13-1 last season. The Rockets and Rebels play in the first game of the Bob Allen Pigskin Classic.

The Rockets are ranked sixth in the state in Class 4A. District rival Bell County, who won the 4A district championship last year, is ranked number one in class 4A.

The Rockets first home game of 2009 is against Lincoln County on September 11th.

“We’ve got a lot of hard work ahead of us if we are going to be able to live up to a sixth place, statewide ranking, but I think our players are dedicated and 2009 should be a good season for us,” Parkey said.

Rockets have very tough 2009 schedule

The 2009 Rockcastle County High School Football team is expected to have another successful year this season, even though their schedule has them facing seven playoff teams from the 2008 season.

This year, Rockcastle will play six teams with a winning record from 2008 including Boyle County, Wayne County, Pulaski County, Knox Central, Whitley County and Bell County, who won the 4A State Championship last season with a perfect 15-0 record.

Rockcastle faced Bell twice last year, losing both games in blow out fashion and the Bobcats are ranked number one in class 4A this season in the Louisville Courier-Journal's pre-season poll.

The Rockets will start the season off by playing in the Bob Allen Pigskin Classic against Boyle County, who made it to the state semifinals last year and ended their season with a 13-1 record.

Besides those two powerhouse programs, the Rockets have the same tough district and region teams that they face each year on their 2009 schedule.

After playing Boyle on August 29th, the Rockets go to Wayne County on September 4th and then will play Lincoln County in their home opener on September 11th.

Pulaski County comes to the ROCK on September 18th and then the Rockets go to Bell County on September 25th.

The Rockets return home on October 1st to play Madison Southern, a team that has never defeated the ROCK.

On October 9th, the Rockets travel to Knox Central a team they have lost to twice during the last two regular season campaigns.

On October 16th, McCreary Central comes to the ROCK and, on October 23rd, the Rockets travel to Somerset to take on the Southwestern Warriors.

The ROCK's regular season ends on October 30th when they host Whitley County, a team who beat the ROCK last year 37-23.

In 2008, the Rockets finished 10th in class 4A and went 8-4 overall, with a region record of 4-3 and a district record of 3-2.

All RCHS home and away games start at 7:30 p.m., except the Bob Allen Pigskin Classic, which begins at 6 p.m.

Lady Rockets look for 7th district title

The RCHS Lady Rockets' Volleyball team has had a very hectic off season, with the departure of head coach Larry Lee; changing of districts, and the loss of half of their starting players due to graduation.

But the team seems to have found their stride and have remained focused since.

New head coach Kayla Bryant said that trusting each other and working hard can be credited to their early success and determined mind set.

The switching of the volleyball teams district is another big change, but one for the immediate good as they will now be competing predominately against the same rivals and foes as Rockcastle does in basketball and baseball, such as Casey County, Southwestern, Pulaski County, and Somerset.

Natalie Haarman, Rachel Nicely and Kara Canterbury are the only returning starters from last year's squad which made it to the second round of the regional tournament before losing to Whitley County in the semifinals.

A few players that coach Bryant said are vital to the teams success this year are, "Natalie Harrman, Beth Guinn... she (Guinn) is probably the best Libero I've seen play at Rockcastle County High School." With that, "The middle hitting will be really important this year of course" says coach Bryant "and Junior Morgan

Marching Rockets present "Casino Royale"

Submitted by A. B. Sharpe

Although it is still early in the competition season, the plans have been in the works for months. Every year an entire new show must be produced. Last spring, the Marching Rockets voted on a theme for this year's show and "Casino Royale" was the winner. Once that decision was made all the other gears started to turn. Music score, drill, choreography, props and special effects had to be designed with the dynamics of the 2009 Marching Rockets in mind. How many flutes, clarinets, saxophones, trumpets, trombones, baritones, tubas, and percussion instruments as well as the number of colorguard are all serious considerations when preparing a new show. The makeup of high school marching bands changes each year and the score needs to showcase the available talent pool. Some years the band has a preponderance of woodwinds and other years the low brass or percussion make up the greater part. A wise team manager or music director will want to play to reflect his strength in specific sections.

"Casino Royale" is a James Bond movie based on a book of the same title written by Ian Fleming in 1953. It has been filmed several times, most recently in 2006. The story is the beginning of James Bond's career as Agent 007. The central part of the plot takes place at a high-stakes poker tournament in a casino in Montenegro. Of course the storyline also includes all the major James Bond elements of high speed car chases, international spy rings and rich, beautiful women.

The 2009 Marching Rockets' show shirt, paired with khakis, is their uniform for travel to and from

RCHS Girls' Cross-Country team looking for 6th Regional Title

The RCCHS girls' cross-country team gets their season underway August 29 and hopes to return to the regional championship tradition that brought them five regional titles in the last seven years. Last season, the girls lacked enough competitors to qualify for state as a team. This season, their chances are looking much stronger with nine varsity members currently on the team.

Senior Laura Dollins, a 1st team all-stater, leads the way for RCCHS once again this season. The two-time defending regional champion finished 8th at last year's Class 2A State Cross-Country Championships and finished with a career best time. Seniors Deana Gabbard and

Cross-Country

Molly Coffey, along with junior Jasmin Johnson, add a great deal of experience to the team and look to return to their regional championship form of two years ago. Most of the team's success this season will be dictated by the performance of these four girls.

Several cross-country newcomers have emerged for RCHS, all of which were members of the RCMS girls' track state champion team from last year. Freshman Bryonna Cromer, 8th grader's Alyssa Allen and Holly Bradley, as well as 7th graders Rachel Cain, Cheyenne Gilliam, and Kira Deatherage, will add a great deal of depth to the RCHS girls' team and have all looked strong in practice so far. Several of these girls will also give RCMS a strong middle school presence, along with additional 6th graders Tori Phillips and Scarlett Eaton, along with 5th grader Maggie Franklin and 2nd grader Valerie Franklin.

The teams will compete in their first meet on Saturday, August 29th in Somerset. With a challenging schedule ahead of them, the varsity team has their sights set on the regional championships on November 7 at Knox Central and ultimately the Class 2A State Championships on November 14th. Elementary and middle school state will be the last weekend in October.

Any girl in grades 1 through 12 who's interested in joining the team can contact Coach Mark Brummett at Rockcastle County Middle School (256-5118) for more information.

Hunt will be our starting middle hitter and she has plenty of potential to play great.”

The holes left behind by last year’s team seemed to be an issue at first glance, however the team has quickly moved forward and picked up where they left off. When asked about anything the team needs to improve on or what could be their weaknesses, coach Bryant said, “Nothing really stands out to be honest. We are a well rounded team with a solid defense so there’s a lot of potential for this team to go far.” The Lady Rockets will be seeking their 7th straight district title this year and a trip back to the region tournament.

With a solid team that has a lot of potential, it’s hard to see the Lady Rockets not accomplishing their goal again this season and being a serious contender in the region, Bryant added.

The Lady Rocket Varsity team is currently 3-0 on the season.

competitions. This year the shirt is bold red and features the well-known silhouette of James Bond and playing card designs in black and blue. The seven senior band members’ names are each marked with a spade.

The program “Casino Royale” itself is also dynamic and bold. The Drill and Music that is being presented this year was arranged and written by Andrew Hall, the music was composed by David Arnold and Chris Cornell and promises an exciting competition season. The 2009 Marching Rockets are competing in the AAA East division this year pitting us against Estill, Garrard, Rowan and Bourbon Counties as well as many others in the same division. Prior to the beginning of the season, the schools participating in the KMEA (Kentucky Music Educators Association) Marching Band Competition are divided into five classifications based on school population: A, AA, AAA, AAAA, AAAAA; and these are then geographically divided into East West. We will compete only against those in the AAA East until after the quarterfinals. The semifinal competitions bring the East and the West together in the battle for state title.

While the band is busy learning the drill and the music, several parents are involved in creating props that will enhance the show’s visual effect. The props not only need to amplify the visuals but also need to be portable and easily situated on the field. The marching band has only a few minutes to assemble on and then depart the field. There are penalties for going over the time limits and manpower capabilities are also a restrictive factor that is given much consideration.

The first competition of the season for the Marching Rockets will be at nearby North Laurel High School on Saturday, September 19th. This impressive field is always filled with many well-known bands engaged in innovative and incredible contests. Come show your support for the Marching Rockets as they start on the road to a winning season: Go Rockets!

"If you think you are beaten, you are. If you think you dare not, you don't. If you would like to win, but think you can't, it's almost a cinch you can't. If you think you'll lose, you're lost. For out in the world we find that success begins with a person's faith. It's all in the state of mind. Life's battles don't always go to the stronger or faster hand; they go to the one who always thinks, 'I can'."
