Board amends calendar for this school year

The Rockcastle County Board of Education amended this year's school calendar on Tuesday night, which will require students to attend school on President's Day, which is next Tuesday, February 15th, a scheduled professional day on March 19th and Good Friday, April 2nd.

The calendar was amended because of the number of days school has been dismissed this year because of bad weather in the county.

School was called off in the county on Wednesday and school Superintendent Larry Hammond said Wednesday afternoon that it was very likely that school would also be cancelled on Thursday, (today). With Thursday's dismissal, the closing date for the 2009-10 school year is now May 27th.

Just like many other Rockcastle County business owners, Dale Winstead, owner of Appliance Service Center in Mt. Vernon was busy cleaning his parking lot on Wednesday morning after the county was hit by another winter storm. Snow amounts were expected to reach at least two inches in the county before Old Man Winter decided to move on. The temperature dropped to 12 degrees on Wednesday morning and precipitation, including over two inches of rain has been recorded at the Cox Funeral Home Weather Station, five of the first ten days in February. Angry residents complain about roads at court meeting

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court found itself trying to deal with some angry residents at Tuesday's regular meeting of the fiscal court. The anger came from feeling that roads were not being maintained properly and, in one case, had been closed illegally.

Roscoe Kirby, a resident of Limestone Hollow Road, asked the court who supervised work on the road and asserted that no one was paying any attention. Kirby charged that the gravel being used on the road was "90% dirt" and the county was "wasting money" putting it down. Kirby said he hated to complain but "after 20 years you get tired." He also alleged that the road crews, when sent to work on the road, would stop for lunch at noon and the equipment "would sit for two hours and then be driven off."

County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis told Kirby that "it all comes down to how many roads you can fix for the amount of money you have," and that roads were worked, according to which one needed it the most. "We can only do with what we have. They are not easy choices," he added.

It was left that Kirby would meet with Carloftis to look over the situation to see what could be done.

Michael McGuire, a candidate for 5th District Magistrate, asked the court why four roads had been closed in his area and taken off the maintenance schedule. The roads involved include Saw Mill Lane, Hensley Lane and another road, all off Hwy. 1004.

According to Carloftis, and Magistrate for the area Ralph Allen only one of the roads - Hensley Lane, was ever designated a public road. However, when the new map of the county was made for implementation of Enhanced 911 by the state, the road was designated a private road.

McGuire asked the court what had to be done to get the roads on the county maintenance schedule and was told that easements would have to be obtained and they would have to meet certain length and width requirements.

The most contentious part of the roads segments of the meeting came when Gary Mason and Alan Cromer once again came before the court to question why the court allowed a gate to be put across Eagle Creek Road.

The two men had brought the matter up to the court in other meetings and were told once again that the part of the road blocked by a locked gate is a private road and has not been maintained by the

Kirby arrested on four counts of intimidation

Mt. Vernon Mayor Clarice Kirby has been arrested again.

Around noon on Wednesday, Kentucky State Trooper Darren Allen arrested the Mayor and charged her with four counts of retaliating against a participant in a legal process.

According to the arrest citation, the Kentucky State Police Post in London received a call from an employee at Mt. Vernon City Hall asking that a trooper come to City Hall as soon as possible.

In his arrest citation, Allen wrote that when he arrived on the scene the office staff were "noticeably upset about the Mayor becoming confrontational with them in reference to her ongoing criminal investigation. One of the victims stated that the Mayor had questioned her about her individual involvement in the case telling her she was not loyal to her as Mayor for not answering her questions. The Mayor also stated to the office staff that she would not allow them to receive their pay raises for their lack of loyalty".

Shortly after the Mayor's latest arrest, asst. Commonwealth Attorney Jeremy Bartley entered a motion to

Mt. Vernon Mayor expected to resign

According to sources close to the criminal case pending against Mt. Vernon Mayor Clarice Kirby, the embattled mayor is expected to enter a guilty plea next Tuesday in Rockcastle Circuit Court to violating public trust.

Kirby was indicted on December 11th by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury on five counts. Those charges were: two counts of violating public trust, bribery of a public servant, fraudulent insurance acts and official misconduct.

Through a city of Mt. Vernon employee, Kirby said on Wednesday that she was still on the job and had no comment on the case.

A former city employee, Nick Parsons and current city employee Eddie Stewart, who were both indicted at the same time as the Mayor, agreed to cooperate with prosecutors last month and charges against them were dropped by the Commonwealth Attorney's office.

If the Mayor does enter a guilty plea to violating public trust, sources say she will be required to resign her present office, to not run for public office again and be put on probation for one year.

At Western Water Association meeting Several show up to question water rate increase

By: Richard Anderkin

Several people showed up at a special called meeting on Tuesday morning to question a rate increase by Western Rockcastle Water Association and to question the changing of the term limits of board members from the current two and three year terms to five years.

Most of the water users in attendance are members of the Concerned Citizens For Fair Government and they attempted to use proxies they had collected in an earlier election to stop the rate increase. However their attempt failed, because of proxies from other members who voted with the association.

Western Water Association manager Paula DeBorde said the recent rate increase was required by the state's office of Rural Development who is working with the local association on a project that calls for the construction

Points East

By Ike Adams

For as back as I can remember, my Dad did not consider a pair of shoes or boots worn out as long as they could be heeled and half soled a couple or three times. He called Keds and Converse basketball shoes and similar sneakers the biggest waste of money ever known to mankind because they were worn out and ragged before they were even broken in.

And not a penny of his hard earned money would ever pay for foolishness like that. But Mom always figured out a way to get me a pair of Keds, maybe used a bit, to play basketball or horse around the playground when I was in grade school. She admonished that I should always wear my "good shoes" most of the time even though it was difficult, peer-group-wise, not to show off your Keds.

Ours--, mine and my younger brothers'--, "good shoes" were normally ordered from the Spiegel or Montgomery Wards mail order catalogues back in the fifties and early sixties. Stout leather. Thick heavy heels and soles and meant to last mean winters. And they actually looked pretty good and wore well if you kept them caulked up with tallow and mink oil.

But about this time of year, the tacks where the soles had been hammered on would start working up into your feet and start gouging the bottom of our feet. At which point, Dad would take us to Mr. Back's cobbler shop there in Whitesburg and have our shoes re-shod.

All the tacks would be removed and new, hard leather soles SEWN onto our shoes or 6 inch boots. And the shoes and boots we had broken in over the last months suddenly felt as comfortable as we thought Heaven ought to be because no tacks were involved in the process.

Dad would sometimes make us re-sole in the spring-time when the winter lasted long. But that never happened often. We usually just went about our business bare footed.

At least that was the norm until I entered high school in 1963. I showed up at Letcher High School in my brand new brogans along with a couple other of my grade school class mates and we promptly caught the stares and giggles of the rest of the student body. We had been advised that we would have to have gym shoes for mandatory Phys. Ed. and Mom had found me a nice pair of used Keds that were a size too large but they still looked good.

I shared a locker with an upperclassman because there were not enough to around and, come lunch time, he advised that I stash my brogans and change into my Keds. That stopped the stares and giggles but it did not solve my dilemma. We had also been advised that gym shoes were just that. They were not to be worn outside the gym.

My mentor advised that I do it anyway because hardly anybody ever got caught and the worse thing that could happen was that the teacher would make me pull them off and do jumping jacks, squat thrusts and push ups in my socks. Turned out that about half of my PE class did that anyway.

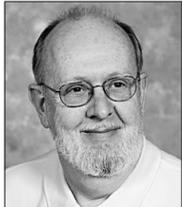

I managed to get through the week that way.

In the meantime I had stashed away about $12 in profits from my GRIT newspaper route that I was saving to buy a shotgun. All of a sudden dress shoes took on a level of importance that far outweighed a squirrel gun. With Mom running interference, Dad finally agreed to take me to Hoover's Bargain Basement in Whitesburg where I purchased my first pair of penny loafers which looked as sharp as anything at Letcher High.

I'd hoof the mile and a half to and from the bus stop in my brogans with my loafers in a flour sack. As soon as I got on the bus, I'd change shoes and stash the brogans in the locker. On the bus ride back to the mouth of Blair Branch, I'd change back into my "good shoes" as Dad called them, and hoof it up the holler.

Rockcastle Memories

Echoes from the Mountain

The aroma of a wood-burning fire

Ever since I was a child living in Mt. Vernon, I have always loved the smell of a wood-burning stove, a fireplace, or even an outdoor fire pit. For that reason, I was glad that the groundhog saw his shadow. I hate to think about cold weather slipping away and the temperature elevating into the hot and humid days of summer.

As a little boy, I loved following my grandfather (Pop) as he gathered wood for kindling for his huge Warm Morning stove. Pop had a knack of creating a fire that would last the entire night—even when the weather outside was frigid. We needed it, too, as the winds whipped around our small house atop a hill in Rockcastle County. The task seemed to be an art to him, and I would watch closely. All the while, he would narrate the hows and whys of what he was doing so that I would learn to build such a fire.

My knowledge of fire building was put to use on many occasions when as a boy I joined my young friends in the woods near home. Kenneth Hansel and I often took night walks and selected a rocky place in the woods near Big Fill Cave to build our campfires. I think he loved to sit around a fire as much as I did. For some reason, I recall one night when several other boys who lived in the area joined us. That time we were on a ridge near the Carter home, all of us watching the dancing embers fly away into the night sky.

On another occasion, I can remember being in the cave area with my older brother, Al, and lots of his friends from Mt. Vernon First Baptist Church. They built a huge fire and spent the evening telling ghost stories for the younger children who were also in attendance. I sat on a cold rock near the fire, listening to the eerie stories. I was proud of my big brother that night because he, too, could build an awesome fire. I suppose Pop must have also taught him the fire-building skills.

I still love to build camp fires within our woods on Furnace Mountain. We have around 21 acres and have built a large, stone fire ring to accommodate ourselves and several friends. We love to sit around the fire visiting with one another, with the sights and sounds of a good-sized fire amongst us.

One night several years ago, we were sitting next to a fire on an extremely cold night in late February. Upon hearing the sound of rustling leaves off in the distance, I carefully turned on my trusty flashlight—only to be startled by a wildcat strolling in our direction. Of course, he then turned and headed back into the woods. I don't know who had been more surprised, the cat or me! I suppose his curiosity about the smell of our fire must have drawn him, although that seems unlikely. Maybe he was young. Or maybe he just loved the smell as much as I do.

We have several friends that live in Lexington and in Nicholasville and they love to be in my woods also. Several times each winter about five couples find their way to Furnace Mountain to spend the night sitting around one of our fires. Because they live in the "big city" they react to our woods and our fires just like they would if they were in the Smokey Mountains. One of the men often refers to my woods as the "Gatlinburg of Powell County." His name is David and he has been known to visit my campground on his own just to sit by a fire in the woods contemplating the wonderful environment in the area.

My wife and I were camping once near Lake Cumberland when we decided to build a fire, even though it was not really cold. I took a short walk into the woods, found a hollow log, and used Pop's instructions to lay a foundation of embers, placing the hollow log on top. As the fire began to blaze sparks, smoke, and embers passed up through the hollow log and created a fireworks show second to none. We both were spellbound for a long time, quietly watching the dazzling flames before us. It was still smoking the following morning.

The first time I lived in a home with an actual fireplace was when Kathy and I lived in Lexington in a townhouse. It was a small, wood-burning fireplace, but each winter we burned as many fires as much as we could. There is just

Postmaster's career got off on a rocky start

The phone rang in the early evening hours of January 31, 1964 at the Powell County home of Miss Stella.

The 28-year-old was informed her tenure as Slade postmaster would begin early the next morning.

It was to be a day she would never forget.

Braving the cold and overnight snowfall, the made her way to a vacant, concrete block building near where the Shell station now stands.

"It had not heat and the bathroom was outside," says Stella, noting she also went into the job with no training whatsoever.

She hadn't been at work long when she returned from a visit to the bathroom and found she had locked herself out.

Knowing she had a registered letter inside from Bill Swope to his wife, Minnie, she solicited the services of a neighbor to remove a window and help her get back inside.

Things didn't get a whole lot better the next day.

A neighbor brought her a kerosene heater, but by the end of the day her face was coal-black.

She continued to operate out of the tiny rented structure for 17 years.

Today, Stella Brewer (Miss Stella to most of her 60 patrons) has her post office tucked away in a corner of Porter's Grocery and Chevron, a building she purchased in the early 1970s.

At age 74, she's not sure how much longer she'll serve, but fears Slade could be without a post office when that day comes.

She has seen offices at the nearby small communities of Waltersville, West Bend, Roslyn, Bowen, and Lombard (Nada), close during her tenure.

Born at Nada, she was raised in Slade by her late grandmother, Lena Dunn, following the death of her mother at age 22 in a vehicle accident.

The widow of Roscoe Miller and Arthur Brewer, she "had fun" rearing twin daugh-

Are we losing the war on drugs?

KSP Reports All-Time High in Meth Labs Discovered in 2009

Kentucky State Police released the 2009 methamphetamine lab statistics January 14, 2010 and say there were 716 meth labs discovered, which is an all-time high for the state, increasing sixty percent over the 2008 totals.

The majority of the people feel we are losing the battle on the misuse of drugs. Illegal use and the sell of drugs are the root cause of many other crimes in Rockcastle County. The majority of burglaries, thief cases, abuse, shoplifting and even homicide are directly related to drugs.

I fully support the "Operation UNITE" and want to hear your concerns and ideas on other ways to fight illegal drug use and how to save those already on drugs.

One of the first things on my list is to create an anonymous "Crime Tip Telephone Line" that will assure confidentially because I will never endanger someone wanting to help.

This is the second in a weekly series of my beliefs, values and commitments.

Our Readers Write

Thank you City of Mt. Vernon...

On February 2nd, my husband, Police Officer William Barrett, better known as "Colorado Bill" was promoted by Mayor Kirby, through an Executive Order, to the position of Deputy Chief of the Mt. Vernon Police Dept.

I am very proud of him and his accomplishments and I know that he will serve the people of Mt. Vernon with honesty and dedication, as he has always done in the past. He has been in law enforcement for over 30 years.

This position was formerly held by our dear friend, Deputy Chief Eddie Delaney, who passed away two months ago. Bill know that he has some really big shoes to fill.

Mason responds to letter from Coffey...

Dear Editor,

In response to a letter written last week by Bob Coffey, I agree that there are good people all across this great land who will lend a hand in time of need.

I also agree that our jail houses and prisons are running over. Is it any wonder when they have better housing than some working class citizens especially citizens in the inner cities? Not to mention the fact that an empty jail cell pays nothing so of course we here in the states prefer to have tenants.

Also here in this great land our judicial system is too soft. Criminals don't fear the consequences and have no need to. Countries such as Mogadishu Somalia just recently severed the hands and feet of 4 thieves. Who would want to commit a violent crime there???

Is it any wonder that other countries house fewer inmates than the USA! We have gas chambers. Why don't we use them?

And what in God's name makes you think robberies are down? Go talk to the people along Calloway who can't even go to worship the Lord for being robbed! Go out into the Red Hill area and talk to all the people. A continuous span, house after house for miles, nothing but robberies. Some people didn't even bother to report it because they felt Sheriff Mike Peters nor the Commonwealth would do anything about it. Talk to the people in Mt. Vernon robbed in broad day light or the lady who had to retrieve her own items. Mt. Vernon where we have both the Sheriff's dept and the Mt. Vernon Police Dept. Are they all going to the donut shop on the same day? Good grief!

And to say that illegal drug use is down among young people? The drug use for the elderly at the nursing home may be down since Jeremy Bartley failed to indict Steve Coy but definitely not down with our young people. Our children are being sold 'legal drugs' everyday from Florida and dying on them. Simply legalizing a drug doesn't mean its not being abused only that our legal system is failing the country. We fail ourselves as well by sitting back and doing nothing when we should be screaming from the house tops.

To address the last paragraph of your letter you said 'just believe'. Well Bob faith without works is dead. And you also stated that we are all guilty. I agree, for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God, but I'll tell ya something Bob, While I was sinning I didn't kick my neighbor's door in and I never hurt anyone! I worked for what I had. My Father and Mother worked their fingers to the bone on wash boards and in coal mines to raise a house full of kids, 13 to be exact. Plowing from daylight to dark, working hard everyday. My Dad served his country during World War II all for what? The shape that these politicians have let our land succumb to sickness me. Who do they protect? Mike Peters has an unlisted number plus a gate across his drive. Now does that sound like a man who takes his job seriously? Does that sound like a man who wants to serve or protect us the 'public'?

The Roots of Rockcastle

by: Tonya J. Cook

I've been looking for information about the portion of the county known as Wabd for several days. I've been especially interested in how this name came to be. Quite unexpectedly, I ran into a brother and sister, Don and Nancy Cummins, from this area who could answer that question and provide even more information.

I interviewed Nancy Cummins-Meadows by phone, who gave me quite an insight into the area as she remembers, and some of her information had come from Rockcastle County and its people. My mystery was finally solved. Wabd was named for the first postmaster, William A. B. (said to be "Augustus Ballard") Davis. The first Wabd post office was established June 17, 1886. The postmaster during Nancy's childhood was Bradley Saylor. The post office, which was located in an old white two-story house, Denny's store, two schools, and two or three churches made up the hub of Wabd.

Denny's store sat on the corner of old Highway 461 and Spiro Road (I've heard there was an earlier store in the same location that housed the post office.) It supplied goods to the local families that didn't want to go the long distance to Mount Vernon.

At that time, the old 461 was unpaved and considered no more than a wagon trail. (It probably wasn't even considered a highway at that time.) If you wanted to go to Mount Vernon, you followed Spiro Road to what is now Highway 150, past Skaggs Creek- and Freedom Baptist Church. These were the two churches in the area. Nancy can remember that there was a Holiness church for a short while on the Denny's store site, too.

There was an Old Somerset Road that ran by way of Wabd to Somerset. Bits and pieces of it still remain. The old wagon path that became 461 was finally paved, and ran on through to Mount Vernon about 1950. The approximate same year, electricity came to Wabd. The electricity came through about the same year that Nancy was in the fifth grade at the Cummins School.

This small community had two schools: the Norton School and the Cummins School. Each were one-room schools. Nancy's first teacher was her first cousin, Bessie Louise Scott, followed by Bessie's sister, Ruth. Later, Nancy was taught by her aunt, Fern Cummins-Godby. Finally the schools were consolidated, and the children went to Brodhead, before Nancy graduated.

Nancy and her brother, Don, grew up as the children of Wabd did in a rural farming community. The countryside around Wabd was dotted with family farms that raised crops like tobacco and corn, along with vegetable gardens. They also raised an abundance of cows, pigs, and chickens. There were a lot of family names from that era that can still be heard in the county. Some of the Cummins' neighbors were the Nortons, Sowders, Paynes, Saylor, and Livesays.

Next week, we'll feature comments and memories by Don Cummins.

(Remember, I'm always looking for a bit of Rockcastle history. If you have a story to tell, and all of us do, please contact me through the Mount Vernon Signal, or therootsofrockcastle@windstream.net) something special about watching a fire as it crackles and pops while consuming the logs. I have no idea how many nights I fell asleep just watching the fire and smelling the wonderful aroma.

We now have a small fireplace in our home where we like to sit in the morning, drinking our coffee and Ale 8's while reading the morning paper. Our little house fills with warmth quickly. I am older now but I still love to watch the flames.

I am so glad that Pop taught me the simple things of life - such as the pleasure of sitting before a fire. I'll be cherishing my fires just a bit more over the next several weeks because spring will be here before we know it. And frankly, I'm just not ready yet.

(You can reach me at minnman@mis.net or you can drop me a line at P.O. Box 927 - Stanton, KY 40380. I appreciate your suggestions and comments.)

ters Carolyn Sue Ledford and Linda Lou Porter. Both work in the store.

She recalls the post office having been in several different locations in Slade over the years.

"When I was a child, Minnie Faulkner ran it just down the road in the curve. Then it was moved over to where the rest area is now and run by Bertha Hoskins.

"It was being run out of Rose's Restaurant by Wilbur Rose, just down the road below the church, when I took over," she recalls.

Stella had spent 11 summers working as a waitress and hostess at Natural Bridge State Park prior to become postmaster.

She says lots of odd items have come through her office over the years, including bees, crickets and lots of chickens.

She thinks there may have also been a snake or two along the way. "But I didn't know for sure and I didn't try to find out."

Not a lot has changed about the job over the years, but she isn't fond of having to put numbers on her customer's boxes instead of using names.

"I'd do better if they'd just let me put their names on the boxes because I know them all, but I can't remember all the numbers, she says.

The Family Room
By: Dr. Roy Don Whitehead

How should we respond to one of the greatest humanitarian crises of the modern era? What will we do when people are dying only a short plane ride from Miami, Florida? What can we do?

Most of the people in Haiti are poor. The poverty is widespread, deep and ancient. The island was ruled by the French for many years and the natives were treated as slaves. It was only when the slaves rebelled against French rule that they won independence. Napoleon sent thousands of troops but eventually the natives of Haiti triumphed.

Last year Haiti was hit by several hurricanes that caused severe damage. On January 12, 2010, Haiti was struck by a devastating earthquake. CBS News reports that the death toll could reach 200,000 with 1.5 million homeless. This in a country whose total population is under ten million.

The capital city of Port-au-Prince is in ruins as buildings and homes were destroyed. Food and water are in short supply. Truck convoys and trucks are having trouble getting supplies to where they are needed. To watch on television is to be dragged into another world of suffering and pain.

Medical supplies are in particularly short supply, as are medical personnel. A physician interviewed on 60 Minutes (Jan. 17) described surgery performed with non-sterile tools, and the tools were those found in a garden shed. He told of an amputation performed with a rusty hacksaw, because those were the only tools available. The horror of Haiti is hard to comprehend.

Former Presidents George Bush and Bill Clinton have united to raise money for earthquake relief. President Barack Obama has directed millions of dollars and thousands of U.S. soldiers to Haiti to help. Secretary of State Hilary Clinton is currently in Haiti to help with relief efforts.

Experts in international relief say the best way to help is to send cash and send it to organizations that are expert in dealing with disasters. The American Red Cross is one of the first agencies that comes to mind. Call 800-733-2767 to donate or text the word "Haiti" to 90999 on a cell phone and $10 will be given to the Red Cross and billed on your next cell phone bill.

You may donate to the Clinton-Bush Haiti Fund at www.clintonbushhaitifund.org or send a check to the Clinton Bush Haiti Fund, c/o William J. Clinton Foundation, Donations Department, 610 President Clinton Ave., Little Rock, AR 72201.

On a personal note, my cousin's son is now in Haiti to build water purification systems. His group Edge Outreach plans to build 100 systems, each of which can make enough water for 25,000 people. You can find more information about this group and donate to them at www.edgeoutreach.org.

If we all do a little, it will help a lot.

An encouraging word:

After The Rain

By Howard Coop

It was an unusually unpleasant morning in mid-January. The air was saturated with a cold and penetrating dampness that was bone chilling. Gray and foreboding clouds, like dense fog, hovered low over the landscape, and an icy cold rain was beginning to fall.

It was not a pleasant day to be out. There was a strong desire to stay inside where it was warm and dry, but a scheduled appointment demanded that desire be ignored. So, in spite of the unpleasant weather conditions that existed, we drove to a neighboring town for a previously scheduled appointment.

As I sat in the reception room of the rehab facility waiting for the appointment to end, I picked up a familiar magazine and, to pass the time, casually leafed through it. About mid-way through the magazine, I came upon a page of poignant quotes. One of the quotes, highlighted on the page, caught my attention. Dolly Parton, the well-known country music singer from Sevierville, Tennessee, was quoted as saying, "If you love the rainbow, you must endure the rain."

That, I thought, is the epitome of life, and that epitomization was driven home to me dramatically on Sunday morning, November 15, 1970. After boarding a bus at the Mt.Scopus Hotel in Jerusalem, we crossed the Mount of Olives and headed down the Jericho Road toward the Dead Sea and entered the Judean Wilderness. The landscape was nothing more than a barren wasteland, a desert where only a trace of rain falls each year. So, there was no green grass or other vegetation.

It's not every day that a smile like yours comes along. Rare as the angels singing you a lullabye song, Precious as the rarest stone you have ever seen, As beautiful as the mountain stream, Like a child's love for his mother everlasting and strong, Never once blaming or pointing out wrong, Our love is one as pure as the snow is white, On a windy day it comes in deep and light, And reminds us that our fights are washed away, The same as the way the blue replaces the gray, So remember when life is tough and true, I will forever be standing here to work it through.

As I observed that barren wasteland as we made our descent down that ancient road, a thought formed in my mind: All sunshine is not productive. Rain, unpleasant at times, is an absolute necessary. By providing moisture to the earth, it changes the landscape and makes beauty and pleasantness possible. If taken in the right context, things that hurt can help us to appreciate and enjoy the pleasure that comes after the pain.

What Is Written

We continue our study of the beatitudes by looking at Matt.5:6, "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." The term here does not suggest a mild hunger pain that we sometimes get when it gets close to meal time, but a very intense desire that we would have after doing without food or drink for a day or 2. I read one time where one liken this desire by the following illustration. If a person were to hold you under water; after about 60 seconds what would be your desire? Paying off your car? Getting another job? Painting your house? Getting rid of a few wrinkles? Or would it be the desire to get a breath of air? Yes, this would be our burning desire! Even so, we must have this burning desire for righteousness. Peter said it this way, "As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby;" 1 Peter 2:2. One thing about a little baby, when they are hunger they will let you know, and no, is not the answer they want. We must want the truth, desiring it more than anything, and we will not anything get in the way. Human wisdom will not satisfy; the doctrines of men will not satisfy; the vain reasoning of false teachers will not satisfy; but only the righteousness of Jesus Christ found in his word will satisfy! Yes, those who seek shall find, and shall be filled.

“Roads”

Mason contended Tuesday that in July of 2002, the county closed the road but did not advertise it thereby making the closing of the road illegal. However, McKinney and Carloftis told Mason that the road in the 2002 order was not the road with the gate but another one that ran along Eagle Creek and a silt pond was built in the middle of it during a coal strip mining operation years ago.

Of course, Mason and Cromer disputed this and the discussion finally led to a heated exchange between Mason and Carloftis and County Attorney Billy Reynolds interjecting that Mason needed to take the matter up in Circuit Court.

The court adjourned the meeting following the exchange.

As one of the first items of business, Corey Craig, chairman of the Rockcastle County Industrial Authority, had some good financial news for the court -- $518,499 worth. The board secured three grants to help with infrastructure costs at the South Industrial Park Project but funds for the various projects had to be expended by the county first and then reimbursed by the state.

Craig had two checks for the county, one for $338,000 which was the total of one grant received for the access road from B&H Tool to the new SourceCorp plant and the other was for $180,000 as partial reimbursement of a grant for water and sewer lines. The IDA still has $1.3 million in grant funds to construct turns lanes and the road into the park from 150.

Carloftis said the money will be used to repay a $250,000 short term loan the county had to acquire to keep up with expenses of the project and the rest will be used to draw down the $2.5 infrastructure loan the county obtained from KACO for the infrastructure part of the project.

The court also approved a contract with Advanced Correctional Healthcare for $98,000 a year.

Under the terms of the contract, the jail will be provided with a local doctor one day a week, who will also be on call 24/7, and a local nurse 30 hours a week. The jail currently has a nurse for only a few hours a week.

County Treasurer Joe Clontz told the court that approximately $70,000 had been paid out in medical expenses for inmates through December, 2009 and this figure did not include several unpaid medical bills. At that rate, Clontz said the county would pay at least $140,000 in fiscal year 2009-10.

The $98,000 covers the doctor and nurse and up to $20,000 in other medical costs. The next $10,000 is split 50/50 with the county and the county is then responsible for everything over $30,000. However, Mike Coffey, Client Services Coordinator for Advanced Correctional Healthcare said that other counties using their service rarely saw the outside medical expenses (hospitals, pharmaceuticals, etc.) go over the amount allocated by his company for the expense.

Magistrate Billy McKinney expressed some concern that the company would be able to keep expenses down that much over what the county now pays but agreed to vote yes because there is a clause in the contract which provides for a thirty day notice cancellation.

Jailer James Miller told the court that he would monitor the expenses closely and keep the court apprised.

The court also approved a $30,000 allocation to the Mt. Vernon Fire Dept. and Rescue Squad toward the purchase of a new 2009 F550 rescue vehicle. The cost of the vehicle is $75,000 and the squad is trading in an old pumper truck belonging to the city and its present rescue vehicle and assuming $23,000 of the expense to be paid off over several years from the state aid money the fire department receives.

Mt. Vernon Fire Chief David Bales told the court that the department could not carry adequate equipment to rescue scene with the present truck, which is 15 years old, and they needed a crew cab in order to get more members of the squad to an emergency in a hurry.

The magistrates expressed some hesitation with the expenditure but Ralph Allen, saying he could see both sides but knew there was “no one who wouldn’t pay $30,000 to save a child,” made a motion which was seconded by Jan Stevens with all voting yes.

In other action, the court approved Carol Sigmon and Roy Reynolds as new board members to the Cooperative Extension Board, approved accepting a $138,351 grant from the state and providing the 25% matching funds of $118,000.

Carloftis also informed the court that the Fairgrounds Board had received a $93,750 grant for aluminum bleachers for the fairgrounds and the court approved payment of $7,817.06 for the state audit of County Clerk Norma Houk’s office and $23,074.42 for the fiscal court’s 2008 audit.

The court also approved paying $1,788 as matching funds for a $35,760 grant the Livingston Fire Department has received. The money will be used for turnout gear for firefighters, according to Sam Stallworth, chief.

Wish List

Carloftis informed the court Tuesday that he had compiled a “Wish List” for projects in the county after attending a meeting in December in London. At that meeting Sen. Stivers spoke about the possibility of new funds that might become available for counties and cities in Kentucky for the purpose of creating new infrastructure.

Carloftis said he later received a call from the Cumberland Valley Area Development Director requesting that he provide proposals for projects in the county.

Carloftis has submitted nine projects beginning with one for a Rockcastle Emergency Operations Center in Mt. Vernon on property owned by the Sheriff’s Department, behind the courthouse. The multi-purpose building would house: CSEPP, the Rockcastle Emergency Operations Center, 911 operations and the Rockcastle Ambulance Service.

The estimated cost of the 14,000 sq. ft. building would be $1,500,000 and, of this amount, CSEPP would be expected to expend up to $750,000, leaving $750,000 needed from the state, Carloftis said.

The judge’s second proposal is for a Livingston City Hall in a renovated section of the county-owned Livingston School property. Besides city hall, this would include a mayor’s office, city council chambers, conference room and tourism support for Rockcastle river activities and Red Hill Horse Camp. Estimated cost: $175,000.

Proposal number three: completion of the renovation of the 1880s historic design Jones Building on Main Street in Mt. Vernon for housing offices for economic development initiatives at an estimated cost of $250,000.

Project four: Rockcastle County Courthouse Facade Construction/water damage prevention at a cost of $300,000.

Lake Linville Marina Renovation/Reconstruction comes in at number five. The boat dock, as it is known locally, would be renovated to separate the food service area from the bait shop and a deck constructed over the water to make it more attractive to tourists and fishermen at an estimated cost of $225,000. The property is publicly owned.

Dix River Park at Brodhead is project number six and would involve construction of walking trails, a pedestrian bridge over Dix River, shelter house, restrooms, lighting, playground and multi-purpose community building on property owned by the City of Brodhead at an estimated cost of $250,000. $40,000 of that is available from Brodhead city-accessible funds.

An Outdoor Performance Center at Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum would be constructed, including a covered stage area, dressing rooms, seating, lighting and restrooms at a cost of $140,000.

The Coach Parrett Gym would see the construction of a new roof and rehabilitation of the historic and last standing WPA structure in Rockcastle County. There would also be new HVAC, insulation and flooring included in the estimated $150,000 project.

The last project included is for the Livingston Volunteer Fire Department and is for the construction of a new fire department at an estimated cost of $140,000 and bringing the total cost of all projects to $2,380,000.

Carloftis cautioned that any or all of the projects might or might not be funded with a decision coming by the end of the current legislative session.

“Rash”

According to the complaint, Rash and Mahaffey had an altercation in Rash’s Livingston General Store last Saturday, Mahaffey claims Rash grabbed him by the throat during an altercation.

Rash was released shortly after his arrest on a $1,000 unsecured bond. He is due back in Rockcastle District Court on February 22nd.

Rash was also arrested on August 24th and charged with a felony, second degree assault after he was accused of assaulting a local woman with a bull whip in front of his general store on August 2nd.

In that complaint, Tiffany Daughtery also claimed Rash assaulted her by hitting her in the face and pulling out some of her hair.

Rash posted a $7,500 cash or property bond in that case and the charges against him were eventually dropped in district court because it was not presented to the Rockcastle County Grand Jury within 60 days.

Rockcastle County Attorney Billy Reynolds said the August case against Rash could still be presented to the Grand Jury.

“Resign”

When Stewart was indicted, as part of his bond release requirements, he was not allowed to work for the city but, after the charges against him were dropped he was allowed to return to work.

According to Kentucky State law, if the Mayor does resign next Tuesday, the council will have 30 days to appoint an interim Mayor, who would serve until the November General Election.

The Mayor of Mt. Vernon is paid $36,000 per year and the city pays the Mayor’s health insurance and all expenses involved with the office.

Mayor Kirby has filed for re-election as has councilman Don Jones and local residents Nathaniel Price and Mike Bryant, Sr.

Those wishing to run for non-partisan races, including the office of Mayor in Mt. Vernon, in the November General Election have until August 10th to file as a candidate in the office of County Clerk Norma Houk.

Time to prepare for annual county 4-H Variety Show

4-H/Youth Development

John McQueary

Rockcastle County Extension Office

Now is the time for all 4-H'ers to begin their preparation for the County 4-H Variety Show. This event consists of specialty and club acts and is held annually on the county and area level. It provides an opportunity for large numbers of 4-H participants to gain poise and confidence and develop character and sportsmanship while working cooperatively with others.

Clubs planning to participate need to carefully read over and follow the rules and guidelines.

1. Specialty Acts shall consist of four (4) 4-H participants or fewer and have a time limit of four minutes. A 4-H club may have up to 2 specialty acts. Specialty acts will be divided up into junior and senior divisions. Anyone in a specialty act who is 14 years of age by January 1, 2010, will be in the senior division.

2. There must 5 participants or more for a Club Act. Club acts have a time limit of 8 minutes.

3. Only one person other than 4-H participants, such as a pianist, may accompany the act. Other than the one accompanist, only 4-H participants may appear on the stage during the act.

4. Variety Show participants may only represent one club and must participate within their own grade and home room.

5. There shall be absolutely no pantomiming in any act, club or specialty.

6. Please use good judgment on dance routines.

7. An act exceeding the time limit should be permitted to finish but cannot be awarded Champion.

8. Since participation is of the utmost importance, the combination of clubs for the purpose of presenting a club or specialty act is not permitted.

9. Dramatic readings can be entered as a variety show act.

10. All acts must use the same P.A. system. No act will be allowed to provide their own system.

11. Leaders must take care of their own music. (Have CD set at starting point.)

12. Each school will sit together until time for their acts. Club leaders are responsible for keeping their group together and quiet. Parents should be recruited to help as chaperones.

13. Admission will not be charged.

14. Clubs must register their act by calling the Extension Office at 256-2403. Acts that fail to register will not be allowed to perform. Registration information will include:

- 1.) Name of Act
- 2.) Type of music that will be used (CD, piano, etc)
- 3.) Number in the Act
- 4.) Names of participants if it is a Specialty Act

Ribbons Awarded
All acts will receive either a Red or Blue Ribbon, according to their score. (No green ribbons will be given). The First Place Specialty and Club Acts will also receive a Champion Ribbon. First and Second Place acts will receive plaques.

Additional Facilities: Company may furnish the required facilities at an additional charge based upon the application of the monthly rate set forth in the Excess Facilities Rider applied to the current cost of the facilities as periodically updated.

Kentucky Ag poster deadline is extended

Agriculture Commissioner Richie Farmer has announced that the deadline for submitting entries to the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's Poster and Essay Contest has been extended to Feb. 19.

"Many Kentucky students have been out of school for extended periods of time because of the winter weather," Commissioner Farmer said. "Extending the deadline will give more children the opportunity to participate in this year's contest."

Commissioner Farmer invited Kentucky students to create posters and write essays based on the theme "Kentucky Proud: Growing a Healthy Kentucky." Participating students in grades kindergarten through 12 will create posters and write brief essays describing their posters and the theme. A winning entry will be chosen in each grade level, and each winning student will receive a $100 savings bond. The winning posters and essays will be printed in a 2011 calendar with Kentucky Proud recipes.

The students who create the winning entries will be honored at the Agriculture Day Luncheon March 9 at the Thomas D. Clark Center for Kentucky History in Frankfort.

Entries must be mailed to Kentucky Department of Agriculture, Poster and Essay Contest, 100 Fair Oaks Lane, 5th Floor, Frankfort, KY 40601. For more information and contest rules, contact Elizabeth McNulty at (502) 564-4983 or email at elizabeth.mcnulty@ky.gov or go to www.kyagr.com/marketing/ageducation/agday.htm.

College Access Month to help students and parents plan for college

High school students who are planning to attend a higher education institution next fall can find information and assistance on paying for college and applying for financial aid at more than 80 events that are being held statewide through the end of February.

Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) workshops include details on financial aid, how to fill out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and financial literacy. The workshops will take place during and after school hours. To search for an event near you, go to <http://www.khea.com/pdf/goto/accessactivities.pdf>.

Gov. Steve Beshear has declared this February College Access Month and announced the launch of a new one-stop Web site to help students of all ages and their parents plan for college.

The website address, www.gotocollege.ky.gov, is a single gateway to connect students to existing online planning resources and also provides the ability to compare college costs. The Web site, which was developed with no additional costs or resources, provides helpful information ranging from high school curriculum to guidance on how to pay for college.

The Web site has special sections specific to military families, transfer students, adults returning to school and online course offerings.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's student financial aid programs and provides free college planning and financial aid information.

For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.khea.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602-0798; or call (800) 928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

Several Western Rockcastle Water Association customers, and members of the Rockcastle Concerned Citizens for Fair Government, showed up for a special meeting on Tuesday morning to question a recent rate increase. Shown above, at left is Doug Brock, chairman of the CCFG and Joanne King an employee at Western Water counting proxy votes. The rate increase, which averages about $10 a month, was approved by the Kentucky Public Service Commission on January 6th. Protesters did not have enough proxies to stop the rate increase. The Western board also approved an amendment to their by-laws to increase term limits for board members to five years. (Front page photos by: Richard Anderkin) of a new 50,000 gallon ground storage tank at Scaffold Cane, and a new 250,000 gallon tank at Brindle Ridge.

DeBorde said the project also includes replacing 24,000 feet of four inch line, 15,000 feet of three inch line and construction of a new booster station. DeBorde said the projects will be paid with a $575,000 loan and a $365,000 grant.

DeBorde said that Rural Development had conducted an assessment of Western's finances and determined that a rate increase was needed.

The average bill of the 4,100 Western customers will increase $9.37 a month, after the Public Service Commission approved the rate increase on January 6th.

DeBorde said that they Western board had also cut costs to help pay for the project. DeBorde said she had taken a $3,000 a year pay cut and that her hourly employees had taken a 50c an hour pay cut.

DeBorde said that the Western board had lowered their legal fees and begun doing their own lawn work and office maintenance.

DeBorde also said that board members' pay had been reduced from $600 a month to $300 and any newly elected members would be paid only $100 a month with no benefits.

"We've done everything we can to cut costs so we can still provide quality water to our customers and pay off our loans," DeBorde said.

DeBorde said that anyone with questions about the rate increase or the service they receive should call the Public Service Commission at (502) 564-3940 or the Western Water office at (606) 256-8283.

Western serves more water customers in the county than any other association for city government.

tectural firm, CDP Engineers last Thursday to discuss visions for a revitalized Livingston.

The Livingston Revitalization Committee selected CDP Engineers to prepare a Master Strategic City Plan that will guide short and long term improvements to the community.

Mayor Griffin applied for and received Transportation Enhancement funds in the amount of $312,000 that will enable Livingston to begin a streetscape program this summer, according to Tatum.

Kentucky State Representative Danny Ford and Senator Ed Worley were advocates for the approval of these funds, Tatum said.

The funds will be used to build and/or improve sidewalks on Main Street and some back streets and streetlights, and to start a Rockcastle River canoe launch.

The Development Board applied for an ARC - Appalachian Region Grant which will cover the cost of paint for the Main Street commercial buildings, landscaping at Memorial Park and a portion of the master plan.

Rockcastle County Judge Executive Buzz Carloftis and Magistrates William Denny and Ralph Allen have attended meetings and support the efforts of Mayor Griffin and the committee, according to Tatum.

Architects Scott Southall and Scott Thompson spent last Thursday afternoon collecting inventory information and that evening met with residents to hear their visions of a revitalized Livingston.

Ideas discussed included traffic flow, creating a focal point at the bridge and Memorial Park, new uses for the old school, recreation, themes, materials to use, etc.

When Spring arrives, work will begin to clean up and paint commercial buildings on Main Street. Anyone interested in participating in this program should call Mayor Griffin at City Hall or Committee Leaders Glenna Robinson, Tonya Cook or Gene Philbeck. The Livingston City Hall number is 453-2061.

Noble has taken five teams to the state tournament in her tenure.

The Lady Rockets host Southwestern on Friday night and South Laurel on Friday, February 19th, which will be their final regular season game.

Quick and Easy Tips to Trim Your Energy Bill!

TEMPERATURES AREN'T THE ONLY NUMBERS THAT FLUCTUATE WITH THE SEASONS....

$o can your electric bill!

By signing up for Jackson Energy's Levelized Billing program, you know within a few dollars how much your bill will be every month. Here's how Levelized Billing works -

"What IS Levelized Billing and why is it better for me?"

Levelized Billing takes the highs and lows out of your monthly electric bill by using a rolling average of your most recent 12 months' bills and varies by only a few dollars each month.

It differs from the old "Budget Billing" program, which used the same payment amount each month based on your last 12 bills. Then once a year, a settle-up amount had to be calculated to factor in weather fluctuations and other changes. Levelized Billing eliminates the settle-up payment because it is a constant rolling average of your electric bill!

"Great! So how do I sign up OR ask a question?"

Sign up for Levelized Billing by calling 1 800-262-7480, or download a Levelized Billing Sign-Up Form by visiting us at: www.jacksonenergy.com and clicking on the "Paying Your Bill" button on the home page. All you need to do is fill it out and mail it to us to enroll!

Mail to: Jackson Energy, Attn: Levelized Billing, 115 Jackson Energy Lane, McKee, KY 40447.

"As a Jackson Energy employee and customer, I guarantee we will do everything we can to keep our costs as low as possible and show you how to save energy dollars at home!"

Cooking with kids

Family and Consumer Sciences

Hazel Jackson

Rockcastle County Extension Office

When it is cold and damp outside, there is no better time to go into the kitchen and cook up something warm and cozy. Including your children in cooking is a great way to help them learn. Cooking gives children the opportunity to experience the world first hand. Make sure that children are directly involved in the food activity. Adults are there to assist the children, not the other way around.

Cooking is especially enjoyable for children because it gives them the opportunity to use all five of their senses. They see the foods and have the chance to touch them. They can also hear foods popping or sizzling and smell the aromas. Finally, the best part of all is that they get to taste their finished product.

Food activities help foster children's creativity. Cooking gives parents the opportunity to help children use descriptive vocabulary such as "bitter," "steamy," or "delicious." Cooking should be an open activity where children can set their own pace and learn from their mistakes. Cooking lends itself to a lot of variety. There are various recipes and ingredient combinations with which children can experiment, with an adult's suggestion.

Cooking gives children the opportunity to engage in an activity that is new and challenging, but not too difficult. A child might be comfortable scooping flour out of a bag, but she might need help with a more difficult task, such as pouring milk out of a gallon jug. Whisking, cutting, or measuring with teaspoons and tablespoons give wrist and finger muscles practice. Stirring, pouring, and ladling use shoulder and arm muscles associated with gross motor skills. Cooking tasks like these give children the chance to build upon both fine and gross motor skills. It is important for parents to stay close and gently guide children in the process.

Cooking also creates a chance to practice math and science skills within your own home. Children are able to engage in simple math skills such as learning amounts and the concepts of more and less and measurements. Children can hypothesize about what might happen next, or if a recipe gets changed. They also have a front row seat to watch changes as they occur.

Another special learning benefit is increasing children's interest in tasting new or different foods. They may be more inclined to try a greater variety of foods if they have had the chance to prepare it.

Children of almost any age can help in the kitchen, as long as there is enough parental supervision. Sharp knives should not be used, but a plastic, serrated knife may be safe for children. Ovens and electric burners should never be used without adult supervision. Take the time to talk with children about hot appliances, when they should and should not be used, and how long appliances stay hot even after they have been turned off. Cooking is also a good opportunity for children to practice with safeguards such as health, safety, cleanliness, and germs.

Remember; don't keep kids out of the kitchen just because it can get messy at times. Cooking is a great opportunity to bond with children. It opens the door for discussion, creativity, and learning.
