Work on the Newcomb Street - School Street project is beginning its final stages, with the rough coat of blacktop having been recently layed, and the final coat along with the striping set for next week. According to Mayor Gary Cromer, the state still has to put in two of the poles for the lights, and the hospital will soon begin erecting a new sign at the corner of Richmond Street and Newcomb Street.

The sheriff's Department state police, Mt. Vernon Police and Lincoln County Sheriff's Department, have been looking for the two men for the past five to six weeks, as suspects in several burglary cases in bth Rockcastle and Lincoln counties.

The criminal activities of Holden picked up this past week when he was identified as a person who forcefully entered the home of Matthew and Mercedes Burkhart of Brindle Ridge last Wednesday night, while the couple and their newborn were at home.

At the time of the incident, Holden tried to flee after Burkhart walked in and found Holden in the living room. Burkhart attempted to detain Holden and caught him by his head with the door, but the suspect was able to get away. Burhhart later identified Holden in a police lineup.

Late last Thursday evening, Mt. Vernon Police Officer Jeffery Parker spotted a white van on West Main Street that local law enforcement had been looking for in connection with Holden and Johnson.

When Parker turned to pursue the van, it sped up and eventually ran the red light at the intersection of West Main and Hwy. 461 traveling onto the Old Brodhead Road.

While in pursuit, the driver of the van stopped his van in front of the officer and when Parker slowed, the suspect reportedly made a crude gesture at the officer and then took off again. It was at this time that Parker identified the driver of the van as Holden. When Parker sped up again to pursue, he lost control of his cruiser, due to very slick road conditions, and wrecked. Officer Parker was not injured.

After the suspects were picked up Saturday night, Holden was charged with one count of burglary 1st ter wrecking his cruiser while in pursuit of a suspect in the recent rash of burglaries that have plagued the county. Parker wrecked on the Old Brodhead Road. According to police, wet, slick pavement was a contributing factor in the wreck.

Phillip Hinton: My service in the Navy during World War II

By: Phillip D. Hinton, Jr. I joined the Navy on Oct. 23, 1943, at the age of 18. I took basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, near Chicago Ill, and had more training at the Armed Guard Training Center Gunnery School at Norfolk Va.

After graduation, I was assigned to duty on the SS Laughton B Evans, a merchant marine vessel with five cargo hatches, two forward and three aft. I was part of the 25-30 man naval gun crew, and it was our job to maintain and operate all guns on board ship.

We put out to sea from Norfolk Va. in Jan. 1944, and sailed to Charleston S.C., where we were loaded with a cargo of hand grenades, bombs, and all kinds of ammunition and supplies. We then sailed to Oran in Africa and after delivering the supplies, went back across the Atlantic to Brooklyn NY., then in April to Avansmouth England with more supplies.

The next time we left New York, we weren't told where we were going. Things seemed a little more secretive this time. As it turned out we were loaded with supplies for the D-Day invasion. There were 53 ships in our convoy.

We pulled out of New York harbor and headed north up the coast past Halifax, and Newfoundland Canada, and entered the cold icy waters of the North Atlantic. Next we went by the coast of Greenland. We could see the shoreline covered with snow and ice. It was raining and ice formed on our clothing, when we moved the ice would chip off and fall on the deck. Our regular scheduled watch was four hours, but since it was so cold, our Captain changed it to two hours. We changed our course from north east, to south east, and sailed past Iceland. We were headed for the British Iles. It was about then that we got a warning that there was a pack of German Submarines headed our way. The race was on for Oban Scotland where we took refuge in an inlet large enough to hold all 53 ships. We made it without incident, and the entrance to the inlet was closed with a large net to keep the subs out. 2 or 3 days later the subs had been run off and we left the inlet and headed down the coast of England and between Wales and Ireland, past Liverpool and into the English Channel. We were headed for France. The fog was so thick in the Channel it seemed you could cut it with a knife. I was on watch and standing about 30' from the bow and you could not see the bow of the ship. Then suddenly the fog lifted, just in time for me to see a mine dead ahead. I turned to the man on watch with me and yelled, MINE DEAD AHEAD, He must have thought I was joking because he only laughed at me. I put my hands up to my mouth and yelled again as loud as I could, MINE DEAD AHEAD!!! Thank the Lord the third mate heard me and gave the command for a hard right rudder. I stood there and held my breath and prayed. We passed so close to the mine I think I could have spit on it. The mine was a big one with horns sticking out all around. We were loaded with ammunition again, and if our ship had hit that mine it's not likely any of us would have survived. Just after we passed the mine we were right back in the fog. It was then that I remembered what my saintly Grandfather said to me the day before I left home for the Navy, "Son I'll be praying for you every day.' Surely God heard his prayers that day.

On June 6, 1944 we arrived off Normandy beach head France. We were not part of the landing party, and were kept a good ways off shore. We were nothing but a floating ammunition dump, and if we got hit the explosion of our ship could damage other ships. While we were off shore we saw the bodies of our soldiers floating past, face down. We would call the beach patrol and they would come and pick them up. After the landing we pulled up so close to shore we could have swam to shore. The amphibious craft came along side to receive the ammunition and took it up to the front lines and came back for more. This convoy of amphibious craft, jeeps, trucks, and tanks, looked like a line of ants as they went back and forth. Finely we let down the last cargo net and headed to Belfast, Ireland where we waited for a convoy to form, then it was back to Charleston S.C. where we went on a short leave.

After the leave I was reassigned to the South Pacific and boarded a troop ship bound for Honolulu, Hawaii. Now, it's every Having completely steam-rolled down the middle lane of the political highway last week, I have been pondering more on the political climate and, unlike Forrest Gump, that's not all I have to say about that.

I promise, though, that this will be it for awhile on my political soap box.

I've decided that being an elected official is a lot like being a school administrator or teacher. All have to make tough decisions in a world where everything isn't black and white, but there are a lot of gray areas.

First and foremost, all have to try any make everyone happy, and we all know how that goes 99% of the time. You cannot make everyone happy, and it seems

Aging and the Skin

Presented by Dr. David Brabon

It is often the skin that tells us we're getting older. Wrinkles develop in predictable areas at predictable times, age spots develop, and the skin becomes drier.

vent sun-induced damage to the skin. It causes skin cancers, thickening of the skin, and the loss of elasticity which leads to sagging and wrinkles. Most of the unnecessary aging of the skin can be prevented by using sun screens with an SPF of 15 or higher during the summer months, especially during the middle of the day when ultraviolet light is

The scaly precancerous lesions which commonly occur on the temples and forehead can be treated with retinoic acid, freezing, or a topical anti-tumor medicine. Retinoic acid is also a useful treatment for wrinkles and other sun-induced damage to collagen and elastic fibers.

Age spots, or "liver spots," are caused by chronic damage to the pigment cells. Their appearance can be improved with freezing procedures or bleaching lotions which peel off the superficial layers of the skin.

Another sign of aging is dry skin. The oil glands decrease with age and the skin becomes dry, scaly and itchy. Washing only makes it worse, so bath oils should be applied to the moist skin after a bath. Moisturizers are useful in drawing water into the skin and keeping it there. They work very well to make the skin feel soft, pliable and less itchy.

If you take good care of your skin, it can remain young and healthy even as you age.

Autumn never fails to bring its own glory

Every autumn we delight in the beauty of the fall colors, and this year was no exception. The brilliant red, orange, yellow, and purple colors drew us to areas where we could visually take in the splendor of the changing leaves. Each year when the color phenomenon begins, I am transported to the small farm in Rockcastle County where I lived as a child.

In the early 50's our yard was covered with poplars, oaks, and maples. At the beginning of the fall season, the yellow poplar leaves led the upcoming parade of colors in the yard. Soon the red and orange maple leaves joined the show, followed by the stately oaks. Each fall I became mesmerized by the splendid colors, and I have been addicted to autumn since that time.

Before the colors began their transformation this year, I listened to the voices of pessimistic onlookers who thought that the summer drought would prevent a colorful display. I kept quiet and anxiously awaited the oncoming conversion of the green hues in local forests. I'm glad that I didn't join the pessimists – they were wrong.

I am reminded each fall that the brightest autumn colors are produced when dry, sunny days are followed by cool, dry nights. These changes take place because of the length of daylight and moderate changes in temperatures.

In addition to the colors, fall brought many changes to our small farm just outside the city limits of Mt. Vernon when I was a boy. One of the first necessary chores was to assist my grandfather (Pop) with his raking and burning of the leaves that were covering our yard. He had a specific spot in the garden where we carried the leaves and burned them over a period of a few days. To transport the leaves to the site, we raked them onto a small tarpaulin then dragged it to the spot. The aroma of the burning leaves filling the fall air resulted in my loving the season even more.

I can see Pop now dressed in his bib-overalls and long sleeved, flannel shirt. Positioned on his head was his fall felt hat that he wore every day. On his hands were leather gloves worn as protection from whatever tool he might be using on a particular day. Pop took great pride in his yard and the surrounding farmland around the house.

When the leaves had been removed from the yard, other chores were undertaken each fall. Next on the agenda was to order a large dump-truck load of coal for the winter months. The coal was dropped into the same spot in the back yard near the garage. Each time the coal was delivered, I was amazed at how large the pile became.

However, Pop knew very well how to judge the amount of fuel needed for the winter months. And I knew that I had to fill two buckets of coal each afternoon to sit behind the coalburning cook stove in the kitchen. It was simply my job. In those days, families truly did share the chores – summer, winter, fall, or Mommie Katie also had some fall odd jobs that had to be completed before the cold temperatures arrived. First was to change the straw in the laying nests of the chicken house. She usually removed the old straw on the same day that Pop was burning leaves from the yard. It just made sense to do all the burning at one time. When the straw had been removed, she proceeded to line the wooden nests with new bedding for our laying chickens. I can hear her now as she went about her task, "Here you go little chickens – you have new warm beds for the winter." She considered them to be her babies so hearing her talk to them was not un-

Mommie had one other chore that I remember taking place in the fall. She spent a couple of days in the cellar cleaning out the cans and jars of outdated fruits and vegetables, making room for this year's crop. I never saw a storage cellar as complete as Mommie's.

Points East

By Ike Adams

I'm not sure what year it was, just that it was back in the 90's and that it was a weekend in early November when Junior Helton and I decided that the thing to do was go fishing on Saturday morning.

Junior and Molly were at our house on Friday night for supper and I told him about the hundred or so night crawlers that I still had left over from the normal season and stashed in a five gallon bucket full of moss in the old Philco refrigerator that I only use for bait and beer in my garage.

And Junior allowed that it would be a shame to let them go to waste and that it was too late in the year to get them back in the ground unless we used post hole diggers and messed up our yards so we might as well go fishing. Molly and Loretta looked at each other and grinned and knowingly shook their heads as though we had come up with yet another ill-conceived scheme to avoid any number of chores on their "Honey do" lists.

But Junior showed up at daybreak the next morning and I threw my fishing rods, my tackle box and the bucket full of crawlers in the bed of his truck and Junior asked, "Where we gonna

We hadn't talked about that the night before because we had been so enthused about wetting lines in November that the actual place we might do that had not crossed our minds. So we sat there in the old Ford truck with the heater growling and blasting warmth upon our feet as best it could as we studied on the matter.

We finally settled on Owsley Fork Lake there where Madison and Jackson and Rockcastle Counties sort of come together because we could drive right up to the dam and not have to walk more than ten steps to the water.

But is was drizzling rain and by the time we got to the lake it had turned to snow that was coming down in huge drops like pop corn and sizzling when it hit the

Irene Reynolds

The family of Irene Reynolds would like to say thank you to everyone who showed kindness to us during this difficult time. We have always known our mother was a special lady but we also learned she was special to so many others besides her family. Mom was always more interested in her children, grandchildren, family and friends than herself.

We would like to thank Dr. Karen Saylor and Dr. David Bullock for their many years of kindness and care for Mom. She thought you were the greatest. To all the staff at Rockcastle Hospital, you were always so caring and each of you was special to our mother. No one could have ever showed more kindness and concern for Mom or us than Dr. Campbell. You spent so much time trying to save Mom and then the many phone calls and waiting with us at the UK hospital. We will be forever grateful to you.

Thank you Cox Funeral Home, you went above what was required in caring and service for Mom.

Thank you, Jack Weaver for the inspiring words you spoke at Mom's funeral. We know how hard that was for you because you were just like a son to our Mom and she loved you dearly.

We also would like to thank each of you who brought food, sent flowers or gifts, sent cards, sent up a prayer for the family, stopped by to visit and to the hundreds that came through the line at Mom's visitation. You have been a blessing to

We will always have a void in our lives with losing our dear mother but each of you have made the burden a little lighter. Words cannot express how thankful we are for everything you have done, whether for Mom while she was living or for us after her passing. We will be eternally grate-

Carloftis ran a clean campaign...

Dear Editor,

This past election gave us the best example ever of the difference between a positive campaign and a low road negative campaign.

The failed opponents of Buzz Carloftis gave us a case study of all that we hate most about our elections: the mud slinging and name calling of those who have never had to lead.

Did you notice Buzz's campaign- it was all positive, never sinking to his opponents' level. I have watched Judge Carloftis' behavior over the years; whenever he is attacked by someone who feels they aren't getting what they want he always treats that person (and everyone else) with re-

A good leader will spend his time running after good ideas to help his county. Bad leaders will spend their time running down anyone who gets in their way.

What do dirty candidates learn from their hoo-phlungpoo tatics? If they are ever successfuly elected by our voting for them, they will learn that that what works in a campaign will work when they are in office. When that happens our county will be locked on the all filthy all the time channel. What we want in our government is not more drama, but quiet and peaceable lives, working for the good of us all.

> Sincerely, Bob Coffey

Allen: A man of integrity...

Dear Editor:

Concerning the recent campaign for 5th District Magistrate, we would like to commend our brother Ralph Allen for the character he displayed while facing the strong oppositiion he so quietly endured.

Week after week, he, and his wife, Sue, tolerated untruths and the deliberate misleading of the people. But, he kept the faith that the people would believe in truth. Fortunately, for the district, the majority did believe in honesty and integ-

Thanks you for support for spaghetti supper...

Dear Editor,

The Wayne Stewart Adult Health Center would like to thank everyone who participated in Fundraising Event and Spaghetti Supper held recently. This event was a huge success and is estimated to have had over 350 in attendance!

The Wayne Stewart Center staff and clients chose two local charities in July of this year for which to raise funds. As we recognize the importance of supporting local charities and realize the effects that a slow economy can have on organizations of this kind, the Wayne Stewart Center began actively fundraising in August by making handmade hair bows, "Rocket Scarves," "UK Scarves" and assorted jewelry. After Saturday night's Spaghetti Supper, our total amount raised reached $4,300.50, as well as 80 pounds of food collected!!

All proceeds from this will be equally divided between Ashlee's House and the Grateful Bread Food

None of this would have been possible if it had not been for so many people who were so gracious to give, not only a monetary donation, but also their time.

First of all, to Pam Burdette who organized nearly every aspect of this event! She gave so much of her time to this, from donating items for auction, going door-to-door selling tickets, oganizing the meal with the help of Pizza Hut, scheduling the entertainment, calling candidates, driving outof-town to pick up donations, selling scarves and hair bows for us and so many phone calls made! Pam, from the bottom of our hearts, thank you so much!!

We also want to especially thank RTEC for transporting our clients the night of the event. Without you, they would not have been there to see all of their hard work pay off. To the drivers

Row after row of canned half-runner green beans, beets, grape juice, a variety of jams and jellies, tomatoes, kraut, and other delicious staples lined the cool, dark cellar.

In one corner, Pop had placed slats in order for him to position sacks of potatoes that he had recently brought in from his garden. Near the front door he saved room for his huge "pickle crock" which he had just filled and was saving for the coming winter. I can distinctly remember the aroma of that little cellar behind the kitchen door. How I wish I could taste one of the quarts of half-runners – my favor-

Even though this year's leaves have been shed, I continue to enjoy the season. That cool nip in the air somehow makes a person feel more alive. This season is by far my most favorite, and I cannot imagine it being otherwise. I love taking my Sheltie, Shiloh, on our early morning walks through the woods next to our house. He has so much fun trying to catch the falling leaves. His little nose is constantly working as we feel the cool morning air. I think he loves our walks as much as I do during this sea-

The path that we take each morning is covered with yellow, red, orange, and brown leaves that have recently been dropped from the trees. A few days ago, I saw a large buck deer standing near our woods that seemed to be enjoying the cool temperature as much as Shiloh and I were. Notice of Meeting

Regarding status of Cedar Rapids Recreation Complex and the Potential Sale of the Property

At a board meeting conducted on November 8, 2010 various options were discussed in order to avoid the potential of foreclosure on the property. Discussions have been conducted stating that this complex is one of the listed selling points for Rockcastle County in attracting new industry and the fact that it plays a major role in providing for good health and recreation facilities within our county. One of the options discussed was the possibility of selling shares of ownership in the property. This would allow for all debts on the property to be paid in full plus maintaining some operational funds. Inquiries have been made regarding the details of this option such as the cost to purchase a share, how many shares would be available, etc. It was decided that a membership meeting will be conducted on Monday, November 22, 2010 at 6:30 p.m. at Cedar Rapids to discuss details and receive inquiries regarding this option. Also, at this meeting there is the potential for the authorization of the sale of the property to the members and possibly any others that may be interested in the purchase of shares of ownership. Therefore, if you are interested in the potential to purchase any share(s) of the Cedar Rapids property it would be necessary that you or an agent be present at this meeting.

NOTICE ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

INCLEMENT WEATHER SCHOOL CLOSINGS EARLY DISMISSAL

Every effort will be made to keep parents and concerned citizens informed as to school closings, early dismissals and possibly a delay plan.

The number one concern is the safety of students. After an extensive evaluation of road conditions in the county, taking into consideration all roads, a decision will be made in regard to closing school.

School closings will be announced on radio stations and four television stations. They are as follows: Radio - WRVK (AM 1460), WVLK (FM 93), WBUL (FM 98.1), WMXL (FM 94.5), WLAP (630 AM), WRSL (FM 96.3), WLKT (FM 104.5) WKQQ (FM 100.1) WKDP (99.5). Television - WKYT (Channel 27), WLEX (Channel 18), WTVQ (Channel 36) and WDKY (Channel 56). If possible, the closing will be announced the evening before the closing date. If a determination cannot be made the day prior to the closing date, every possible effort will be made to reach a decision by 6:00 a.m. The announcement will be made no later than 6:30 a.m.

Early dismissal of school due to inclement weather will be announced on the above mentioned radio and television stations. Roads will be closely monitored as school is in session to determine if there is a need for early dismissal. If the need for early dismissal does occur, parents should make arrangements to meet children as they arrive safely.

Parents and students should not call any radio or television stations to inquire about school closings. This could delay the information distribution to the necessary channel by tying up the phone lines.

There may be a time when a few isolated bus routes may not be made or may be delayed for an hour while the rest of the bus routes will be made on the regular schedule. These bus routes will be announced only on WRVK radio station.

Rockcastle Cultural Foundation hosts guests newly-formed Rockcastle Cultural Foundation recently hosted Trish Clark of the University of Kentucky Opera Theater; Joe Artz, and Joe Ferrell, both of the Kentucky Classical Theater Conservatory at the Foundation's regularly-scheduled monthly meeting. This session was held at the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame Museum in Renfro Valley on Tuesday, October 19th, 2010. The objective was to explore avenues to gaining a community theater and/or dinner theater in Rockcastle County.

Tonya Cook, the founder and president of the Rockcastle Cultural Foundation, and the Cultural board have established this organization to promote culture in the area, enhance tourism, attract new business, better the lives of the citizens, and eventually employ a small staff. This effort is a result of the study program, Leadership Rockcastle, in conjunction with the Brushy Fork Institute of Berea College.

The community theater is only one aspect of the RCF. The Foundation has already discussed working on a music program. It will focus on the youth of the area learning how to play an instrument, and learning to appreciate a better quality of music. Hopefully, this will lead to Rockcastle County having a community orchestra to perform concerts periodically.

A Rick Anderkin Memorial Literary Society is in its infancy. Pam Chaliff, director of the Rockcastle County Public Library, has been elected by the RCF board to be the director. It will be directed to the discussion of various literary works such as novels, short stories, and poetry. This may even spark a Creative Writing class.

Other programs scheduled to follow in the future are: an Art League to explore art appreciation, a hands-on workshop, and an art show for local artists to display their work. Future projects include a dance company, to be formed from local talent. Hopefully, there will be tap, ballet, and modern dance classes to be offered at some point in the future. A Behavioral Enhancement Program will educate its participants in etiquette.

An encouraging word:

Freedom is a Precious Possession By Howard Coop

For 92 years, November 11 has been observed throughout the United States as a day with special significance.

For 46 years, November 11 was known as Armistice Day. The day was observed as the anniversary of the cessation of hostilities between the Allies and Germany and the signing of the armistice that ended World War I.

Then, on June 1, 1954, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, in the second term of his presidency, signed a bill enacted by Congress that changed the significance of that holiday. That bill designated November 11 as national holiday known as Veterans Day and set that day apart as a time to honor veterans of all wars.

From Bunker Hill in 1775 to Afghanistan in 2010 and a lot of places between them, men and women, serving in the armed forces of this country, have risked their lives while defending and preserving the lofty principles of liberty and justice upon which this nation was founded. Many of them paid the supreme sacrifice. When duty demanded, those men and women, ignoring the risk involved, made whatever sacrifices were necessary and responded without hesitation to that demand of duty as true patriots always do. Every citizen of this country, known as the land of the free and the home of the brave, owes a tremendous debt to those brave and heroic men and women, for each citizen is a direct beneficiary of the service they rendered to our country.

The national holiday we celebrate on November 11 is more than a day to relax and get away from work. It should be a somber time to pause and, for a little while, think about the fact that there are in our midst those fought---and some died--that we might enjoy those unalienable rights declared in the Declaration of Independency and guaranteed by the constitution: life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. While those brave and patriotic citizens do not seek honor for the service they rendered to their country, they are, nevertheless, reminders that freedom is a precious possession and its cost is beyond calcula-

The Roots of Rockcastle by: Tonya J. Cook

Three Links: One of Rockcastle's Oldest Communities, Part III

Before the L&N Railroad, Dixie Highway, and Interstate 75, there was a stagecoach that traveled the back roads of Rockcastle County. Today, there stands a reminder of an era longgone: the stagecoach stop at Three Links.

The stage was the major link to the outside world in rural areas such as this. It not only carried passengers, but mail and freight, as well. Quite often, the stage stop served as an inn so that the weary travelers could spend the night and eat a meal.

This week, the Roots of Rockcastle will take a look at the stagecoach stop through an article that appeared in the Mount Vernon Signal on Thursday, June 5, 1986. It was written by Jennifer Clark and features an interview with current owner, Wally Phillips.

Stage Coach Stop-A Part of the Past Still in the Future

The Historical Society presented three awards to students in the Challenge class for essays on Rockcastle county history.

The top three place essays were by: Jennifer Clark, first; Cindy Gregory, second; and Mike Linville, third.

The first place essay is reprinted below: Stage coach travel is a subject that is seldom mentioned or even thought about anymore, with our modern ways of transportation, but back in the 1700's and early 1800's, stage coaches provided the best transportation for passengers and mail between American cities. One of the main stage coach routes (and probably the first) in Kentucky went through the edge of what is now called Rockcastle County.

The "Old State Road," which was part of the first major road through Kentucky, doesn't seem very important anymore; as a matter of fact, it's considered a secondary road, but back in the 1700's and 1800's it was part of the main route for travel from north to south. This road began north in Cincinnati, Ohio and ran south to Cumberland Gap, Tennessee. It came through Big Hill in Jackson County, through the southeastern edge of Rockcastle County and crossed the Rockcastle River at Cruse's Ferry. The road goes through Lone Oak, and runs directly in front of the house that was once a stage coach stop. The property was originally owned by Stevens and Gilbert. According to Mr. Wally Phillips, who is present owner, they may have owned as much as 6, 000 acres of land. The later sold (or maybe traded) the land to a man called "Devil" Bill Adams. He owned around seventy-five slaves to help him work the land. These slaves lived in a place called "Sugar Camp," which was on "Devil" Bill's property. He sold or traded some of these slaves, even the children. It sounds like his name fit him well! Later on, Jim Tom (J.T.) Ballard gained ownership by making an expensive purchase or a fine trade on "Devil" Bill's part for I'm sure a man of Adam's kind wouldn't settle for anything ordinary.

J.T, as he was commonly called, made and sold whiskey here (legally). Since women and children were often guests at the tavern, alcoholic drinks were not sold there, but across the road in a saloon, which was built of logs. This structure was later moved to the Saltpetre Cave area for display by the late John Lair, a very prominent person in Rockcastle County. Regretfully, it was destroyed by fire few years ago.

The Phillips' bought part of the property about sixtyseven years ago, including the log structure that was used for a stage coach stop. The log structure has been covered with more modern materials, but according to Mr. Phillips, there was a large open space going through the middle part of the house, through which the stage coach pulled to load and unload passengers on either side. Above this sheltered drive were guest rooms for the passengers. The huge logs that the original house was constructed of can only bee seen up the stairwells; the rest of them have been covered with paneling on the inside and prime siding on the outside. The long beams across the ceiling, which are hand sewn, came from Virginia. The house had (and still does have) two very large fireplaces with chimneys constructed out of sand stone; one at each end of the house. One of the fireplaces has the date 1808 carved in it. The log stage coach was actually built in Virginia. That area didn't become part of Kentucky until 1810.

A cedar bugle hung by one of the front doors to announce that the stage was approaching or that the meals were being served.

Stage coach passengers weren't the only guests; many people riding through on horseback also took lodging and meals here. There were facilities on the property for repairing wheels, horse shoeing, etc. Even men taking their herds of cattle through to market would sometimes stop for a night's rest. There were facilities on the property for feeding and caring for the

One very famous person stopped here for a rest on one of his travels during the Civil War. It was Ulysses S. Grant. Mr. Phillips' grandfather, John Rose, fed and watered his horse during the

through about every two weeks. This route ran between the old Seventh Street Coach House in Indianapolis, Indidna and Cumberland Gap, Tennessee. In Indianapolis, Indiana, there was an old stage coach on display that is said to have traveled this route. Mr. Philips hopes that some day his home in Lone Oak will be designated as a historical landmark, and it should be, since it is one of the very few stage coach stops in the world today, that is still intact.

This is part of my interview with Mr. Phillips:

Jennifer: About what year was it built?

Mr. Phillips: Oh, I'd say it was built around 1805. It's about 180 years old. It's the oldest house in existence in Rockcastle County.

Jennifer: How many rooms were in the original structure?

Jennifer: Tell me a little bit about the original struc-

Mr. Phillips: It had very long fireplaces; about 8 feet long. One of the chimneys has the date 1808 on it. The house was built out of fabricated materials, in what was then Virginia.

Jennifer: Who were some of the previous owners?

Mr. Phillips: The original owners were Stevens and Gilbert. The later sold or traded it to "Devil" Bill Adams. This man owned about seventy-five slaves. Jim (J.T) Ballard was the next owner. He is the one that the Phillips' bought it from . We bought it about sixty years ago.

Jennifer: How much were the passengers charged for spending the night, including care for the ani-

Mr. Phillips: Oh....just about $1.00. You know tax bills back then were just around $18.00.

Jennifer: Could you tell me some of the stories that have been passed down to you about the house and property?

Mr. Phillips: Well, once at a ballroom dance a lady and a man were dancing in the back room by themselves. The lady's boyfriend saw them through one of the windows from outside and got real mad. He came inside and started a fight. One of the men was killed in the kitchen. Julian Cranberry died upstairs while she was having a baby in 1837. There's a small cliff here called "Dog Drop." It got its name when a stagecoach went over the drop. A woman and her dog were

Jennifer: Was there any kind of entertainment for passengers during a night's stay?

Mr. Phillips: Well they sometime held ballroom dances in the big living room, and because women and children stayed here a lot, they didn't sell strong drinks here, but there was a saloon across the road that could be bought.

That will conclude the study into the historic stage coach stop in Rockcastle County. Next week we will visit the area of Three Links again.

water. And Junior insisted that we prevail because his old truck was 4 wheel drive and so, we did.

We were not actually expecting to catch a fish as much as we were intent on drowning worms and making sure that they had served their purpose on this earth. But we scrambled down the rip rock, baited our hooks and cast out there off the back of the dam into the green water that Bereans drink and before Junior could find a rock to sit on that suited him, his line took off and his rod went to jig-

He set the hook and went to reeling and then my pole behaved the same way. And Junior said, "I think I've got a good bass." And I said, "Me too." And with drags slipping and rods bent, we reeled them in to discover that we had caught half pound, identical twin, red eared sunfish that were none too happy about having had night crawlers for breakfast.

So Junior asked whether or not we should keep- them and I told him to take them off the hook while scrambled back up the bank that was slick and white with snow to get a fish basket out of the truck . "We catch two more like that and we got a mess," I yelled back to him. "if we don't we'll turn them two loose."

And so we baited up again and the action was almost instant. Our worms would hit the water as the snow fell and be taken by a bream of relatively humongous proportions. And this went on for two hours or so until they stopped biting and Junior said, "I think we finally caught em all."

"Yep." I said to him," and we're also out of bait".

Rockets end season with loss at Lawrence County

The play-offs are often called the second season, an opportunity for a new beginning. It is a chance to begin the quest for a state championship. You are 0-0 and it doesn't matter what has happened the previous 10 regular season games. Whether it was blow out wins or heart breaking losses, all is erased and everyone is on equal ground.

But unfortunately for the Rockets, their second season tragically resembled their first 10 games in which they saw turnovers be transformed into a short field and easy points for the opponent. Lawrence County turned two Rockcastle turnovers into 14 points as the host Bulldogs cruised past the Rockets 40-20. The first round play-off loss for Rockcastle was their earliest exit since the 1998 season.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Bulldogs drew first blood by converting on a 4th and 13 as Hayden Kiser connected with Caleb Bentley from 27 yards out with 8 minutes left in the second quarter. On the very next possession by the Rockets, a low snap turned into a recovered fumble by Lawrence County giving the Bulldogs excellent field position at the Rockcastle 19 yard line. The Rocket defense had the Bulldogs in extra point and the Rockets had closed the gap to 12-7 with 3:08 remaining in the second quarter.

Rockcastle appeared to be in great shape when they got the ball back with less than two minutes to go in the second. But another turnover proved costly as Lawerence County's Kyle Crum intercepted a Rocket pass and returned it to the Rocket nine yard line. Hayden then found Crum in the back of the end zone and, after a two point conversion, the Bulldogs extended their lead to 20-7 at the half.

Rockcastle came out of the halftime locker room roaring as they again put together an impressive five play, 77 yard drive that ended with a 28 yard touchdown run by John L. Saylor who had 51 yards on eight carries, to put Rockcastle within striking distance at 20-14 with 9:37 left in the third. But that would be as close as the Rockets would get and their chances of advancing to the second round of the play-offs would soon be put out of reach as the Bulldogs scored 20 unanswered.

Rockcastle did add a late touchdown as freshman quarterback Corey McPhetridge, who was 8 for 12 passing for 71 yards, found sophomore Tyler Smith from four yards out to make the final 40-20. Rockcastle finished the season 4-7 while Lawrence County improved to 9-2 and will take on Bell County on Log Mountain Friday night.

John L. Saylor runs for a touchdown in Friday night's first round playoff action against Lawrence County. The Rockets traveled to Louisa only to come up short, 40-20.

Sophomore Chris Wren pass blocks for the Rockets in their 40-20 first round playoff loss to Lawrence Co.

Senior Corey Baker prepares for a stop against the Lawrence County Bulldogs in Friday night's first round playoff action. The Rockets fell to the Bulldogs 40-20.

Rocket Notes

- Five of the ten teams on the Rocket schedule have advanced to the second round of the play-offs.
- Rockcastle rushed for 2,340 yards and passed for 553 yards on the season.
- Junior Middle Linebacker B.B. Bradley had 44 solo and 37 assisted tackles in eleven games this season.
- Junior tailback Clarke Rowe averaged 6.8 yards per carry and gained 1,799 yards this season.

a third and 12 situation only to see Kiser again hook up with Bentley, this time from 29 yards out to go up 12-0 with 5:22 left in the second.

After being blindsided

After being blindsided by giving up two touch-downs within three minutes, the next drive was paramount for Rockcastle. Coach Scott Parkey's offensive unit responded by marching the ball down the field in a seven play, 58 yard drive that ended with a 28 yard touchdown run by Clarke Rowe. Rowe, who had 79 yards on 19 carries, added the

2007 RCHS graduate and Rocket football standout, Brad Durham, will be playing his final home game in Commonwealth Stadium this Saturday Nov. 13 at 12:30 p.m. against the Vanderbilt Commodores. Brad is the starting right tackle for UK. After celebrating senior day activities, UK will be taking to the field hoping to gain bowl eligibility. While at UK, Brad has played in every game while maintaining his GPA. He has been on the SEC honor roll for three years and is a nominee for Academic All-American. Brad is the son of James and Amy Durham of Mount Vernon.

Audy Faulkner, of Copper Creek, finished first in the walking division of the Jerry J. Cox Bittersweet 5K Run and Walk during the Mt. Vernon Bittersweet Festival.

sailors dream to pass through the Panama Canal but only the crew was allowed to go ashore. All of us passengers had to stay on the ship. Likewise, when we reached San Diego, Cal. I didn't get a pass there either. Next stop was Honolulu and everybody got After about two weeks in the Navy barracks there, I was assigned to Destroyer #515 the USS Anthony in Jan. 1945. We did a lot of training maneuvers around Hawaii, and I finely got a pass at Pearl Harbor. We joined the 7th. Fleet and headed for the Iwo Jima invasion.

On Feb. 19, 1945 around daylight we pulled up so close you could have swam to shore, turned the ship broadside, dropped the anchor, and began to deliver all the fire support we could muster. Occasionally we could see Japanese trucks crossing a clearing; some got across and some didn't. After a while we were given the order to cease fire for all but our 5"3/8 guns and we began to fire at targets we could not see. All that day and that night we stayed at G.Q. "general quarters." Just after daybreak our sister ship, #513 came into our place. As we were pulling out the Japanese rolled out a 6"gun and hit our sister ship three times, killing all three of the 20mm gun crew. This was the same gun I manned on the Anthony. We returned to our position and once again began firing on the enemy. After a few more days at Iwo Jima, we pulled up anchor and headed out to sea where we joined other ships doing maneuvers in preparation for the invasion of Okinawa.

April 1, 1945 we arrived in Okinawa bay with all guns blazing. Landing crafts were heading for the beach. After the initial landing the Kamikaze planes were coming from all directions. This continued for several days and we threw everything we had at them. I have no idea how many of them we were able to shoot down, but it was a considerable number. As strange as it may seem, two of the kamikaze planes got so close to us, before we were able to shoot them down, that when the planes exploded the bodies of the two pilots landed on the ship, one on the bow and one landed in the 40mm gun turret behind me at midship and a piece of the plane landed in my 20mm turret. The kamikaze that was shot down close to the bow blew a 12" hole in the side of the ship just below the anchor. Later the Anthony and several other ships were assigned as fire support vessels and radar pickett patrol between Okinawa and Japan. Our duty was to alert those on Okinawa of enemy planes approaching. While on pickett duty there, three Kamikaze planes attacked us. We managed to shoot down two of them, and one hit the USS Braine. Men were jumping overboard, some with life jackets, some without. The battle for us now was to rescue those in the water and those still on board the Braine. As we moved closer we saw men in the water and sharks were everywhere. We began to fire our rifles at the sharks to keep them away from the men in the water. Men were still jumping overboard and the sharks got some of them as soon as they hit the water. Other vessels came to help and we went to the Braine to help out there. We came along side and tied to her. Wounded were brought on board and placed in the officers mess hall and anywhere else we could find room. Some were suffering from burns and shock, dead bodies were on the main deck, and many were calling for help. They brought in a young black sailor on a stretcher, he asked me for a cigarette. I put one in his mouth, but I had no lighter. I went and found some matches and came back, but he was dead. Later I was standing on deck and I heard someone screaming "I can't see I'm blind". I turned and saw it was a young sailor that was being led onto our ship. I will never forget the things I saw there as long as I live.

When we finely secured the Braine and towed her back to Okinawa, we found plenty of evidence that the kamikaze planes had been at work there also. A destroyer that been hit was broken in half and both ends were floating. We counted 22 sailors floating face down in the Back out on pickett duty between Okinawa and Japan one night our radar picked up enemy aircraft headed for Okinawa. Our gunnery officer opened with all our 5"38's on these planes and they dropped flares on us and it was so light on deck that you could have read a newspaper, but when it was over there were five of their big Betty bombers burning on the water.

Then we got the good news that Japan wanted to surrender. The Anthony went back to Okinawa. The time and place was set for the signing of the treaty. Everybody had their mind on going home. Then all at once the air was filled with kamikaze planes and every ship in the harbor was in full action. I was at my gun station firing my 20mm at a kamikaze flying at low altitude from my left to my right, I knew I was hitting him but he would not go down. Then I saw his target. He was headed for the USS New Mexico, a battle ship that had already been hit. I had to stop firing because the New Mexico came into my line of fire. All I could do was watch as he hit her midship. Other kamikaze planes were still coming; we would pick out a target and fire on it until it hit the water. After it was all over we had no way of knowing how many were shot down, but some had hit their targets. The New Mexico was on fire to my right and the Pennsylvania had to have five or six tug boats to keep her from sinking. She had a large hole in the starboards side and the tug boats were fighting the fires and pumping water from the hole. The war ended soon after the bombs were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

After Okinawa was secured, the Anthony and several other ships were sent to Yokahama for the occupation of Japan. On our way we passed by Hiroshima, and Nagasaki where the atom bombs had been dropped. We pulled into Nagasaki and I had the opportunity to take a tour. We filled two or three trucks with sailors and drove into the city. The people we saw were either very young or very old and very few in between. They had everything they owned tied up in sheets which they carried on their backs. As we passed one old man, one of the sailors in our truck snatched his hat from his head, and the old man was running down the road behind the truck with his hand stretched out begging for his hat. This was a bad move for the sailor. Several of us in the truck told him that old man didn't hurt anybody, and if he didn't give the hat back he was in for the whipping of his life. He decided to throw it back. What few buildings were still standing looked like they were deflated or had all the air sucked out of them. The factories sides and roofs were made of metal. The fire trucks they had were so small they looked like toys. I have never in my life seen such a pitiful sight as I saw there.

When we arrived in Yokahama we were given shore leave. I was surprised at how friendly the Japanese people were. The adults were constantly bowing to us, little kids begging for candy and cigarettes. Just plain folks caught up in horrible circumstances.

Finally we received the message we had been waiting for, and soon we were headed back to the good old U.S.A. Homeward bound for my "Old Kentucky Home".

My wife Wanda and I just celebrated our 64th anniversary Oct. 21. We live at Livingston. We have two children, Danny Hinton of Livingston and the late Debra Cranford as well as five Grandchildren and 15 Great Grandchildren. We are members of the Central Baptist Church in Mt Vernon.

Roy A. Beasley - United States Army Vietnam 1965-1966

A Personal Tribute

In Honor of our Veterans at home and everywhere

By: Bernice Beasley

Across the ocean in a land called Vietnam, thousands of military men were faced with trials that none of us today even understand. The Vietnam War raged turmoil throughout our country. We, and most of our nation, watched the two TV channels we could pick up back then for reports on the War, its protestors and its controversy. Many families asked for prayer for those brave men serving our country (remember, some chose to flee to Canada rather than serve). The War seemed clouded with protests and complaints.

In the 35 years or so since the War, we have seen movies depicting the disgrace and despair the soldiers of that horrific War faced. my husband, Roy Beasley, was among those brave men who fought and was spit upon when he returned home.

I wish to say a special thank you to him and to my nephew, Bill R. Sowder, and to all the men and women who served and sacrificed. Many of us have veterans in our family who have served in these wars, past and present. Thanks to all of you.

We all should pray every-day for these brave men and women and their families and be so thankful we have the freedom we have because of them. We, too, should support and led a helping hand to all the families who carry the burden of their spouse being there and them being here and to all those family members whose loved ones never got to come home.

I am a very patriotic person, so is Roy. We fly our American Flag year round. It is very important to show that we believe in our country, despite all its faults. My personal opinion is that we should be proud of all our troops and support them, regardless of the War, they were just doing their job.

I was inspired to write this after we were invited to attend the Welcome Home Parade for Vietnam Veterans and The Vietnam Era on Saturday, October 9, 2010 in London. Prior to this, only 18 other events in these United States have taken place. This Welcome Home for Vietnam Veterans was long overdue for the men and women who were treated so terribly after serving their country and sacrificing their lives. I wonder how we let this happen and I wonder how, we as a Christian Nation, are accepting what is happening to us

Remember they are there instead of us and they are fighting the War there instead of here in "The Land of the Free" and, to all those who complain about things that should be and could be, it is easy to sit back and criticize. Our military men an women face horror and experience emotional trauma today just like our Vietnam Veterans did then. I am honored to know that Roy and I participated, with thousands of other families from all over, to honor heroes in these wars. Thank you to all Veterans and your families. Thank you Mt. Vernon for including Veterans in your parade which was the same day. I was interviewed at this event as the wife of a veteran and I know, from experience, how hard it is for my husband to even talk of his experience there. He, like most that were there, does not want to talk of the trauma that affected him there and the health effects he has suffered since. I do think (just a suggestion to our hometown tourism) that it would be a worthwhile event for us to have the "Special Veterans Era, including the Wars of Past and Present Veterans." This fourday event included "The Wall - a fly over - Candlelight -Motorcycle Clubs - Antique Cars - Shriners - Walkers -Runners - Historical Events - Veterans Reunited Gatherings - Clubs of Historians of War - Special meals for Military Branches and Families -Honor Guard - Scout Clubs -Bands - National Guards -Special Military trucks that gave all veterans and their families rides and flags to wave - The Welcome Home Parade - Free Aaron Tippin Concert that brought in five to eight thousand people. This was all a great success for London and could work for us as we have the perfect location. Thank about it Renfro Valley Tourism. And, again, many thanks to all vet-

Over 200 attend LHS Reunion

A crowd in excess of 200 former students, teachers and friends were glad to be back in the Preston Parrett Gym in Livingston for the annual school reunion on Saturday, October 30th.

Rockcastle School Superintendent Larry Hammond presided over the evening ceremonies honoring the classes of 1950, 1960, and 1970.

One graduate of the class of 1950, Dorothy Ball Bond, attended with her husband Raymond. Dorothy's sister and brother, Kathryn and Jim, who also went to school at Livingston, were present with their spouses.

The class of 1960 had the largest turn out with more than half of the surviving graduates present.

The class of 1970 was also well represented with more than a dozen of their classmates participating.

Larry Hammond introduced the newest member of the Livingston School Hall of Fame, George M. Poynter, former member and Chairman of the Rockcastle County Board of Education. George is one of six children born to Charlie and Lydia Arvin Poynter. He grew up in the Sand Hill area near Livingston and attended grade school at Victory School. He graduated from Livingston High School in 1956.

Immediately following graduation he moved to Greensburg, Indiana to take his first job. George later moved to Richmond, Indiana and married Icie Owens (class of 1957).

He worked in manufacturing in Indiana and Ohio for several years before returning to Rockcastle County in 1971. Upon his return he went to work for Okonite Company where he rose to the position as Production Control Manager prior to his retirement in 2000

The extensive leadership and management skills he honed in industry helped prepare George for his role on the Rockcastle County School Board. He was elected to the Board in 1978 and served a total of 16 years; seven as Chairman of the Board.

He describes his time of service as a volatile period of tremendous change in the school system culminating with a centralized middle school for the County. It was also during this time that a new Rockcastle County High School facility was constructed at its current location. George participated in the awarding of high school diplomas to more than 2000 graduates of the Rockcastle County High School. He is particularly proud of the improvement in attendance and graduation rates during his tenure on the Board.

George's faith is a central focus in his life. In the early 70's he accepted a calling to the ministry and was ordained in 1978 at the Livingston Pentecostal Church. He has served as the pastor at the Colony Holiness Church for the past 31 years. In addition, since 2001 he has served as president of the Full Gospel Ministerial Association of America.

George and Icie celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last year. They are the proud parents of Mark, Greg, Joan, and David and three grandchildren Adam, Sarah, and Zachary.

Mr. Hammond concluded the evening activities by expressing the appreciation of the group to J.C. Griffin, Mayor of Livingston and County Judge Executive Buzz Carloftis for all their work to repair the Preston Parrett Gym so that it can be used for the reunion and other community activities.

Money Tips for College Students

Repaying student loans

If you finished college in May and have student loans, your six-month grace period should be up soon. That means it is time to start repaying your loans. These tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) may help.

One of the smartest things you can do is pay more than your scheduled payment amount. The extra is applied to the principal, so you will pay less interest over the life of your loan.

As a student loan borrower, you should let your lender know if you change your name, address or phone number; if something changes your status, such as going back to school; or if you have problems making your payments.

You have several repayment plans from which to choose. The standard repayment plan calls for equal monthly payments over 10 years. The minimum monthly payment is usually $50. Other options are:

•Graduated repayment, which starts with lower repayment amounts that get higher over the maximum 10-year period.

•Income-sensitive repayment, with monthly payments based on gross income.

•Income-based repayment, with monthly amounts based on income and family size. The maximum period is 25 years, with any balance remaining at the end of 25 years forgiven.

•Extended repayment, which lets you take up to 25 years to repay your student loans if you borrowed more than $30,000 and none of your loans were made before October 7, 1998.

You will pay more interest over the life of the loan

if you use any option other than standard repayment.

If you are having trouble making payments, contact your lender immediately. You may qualify for a deferment or forbearance, which can let you stop making payments or temporarily make lower payments.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to website address www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit website www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602-0798; or call (800) 928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

Eagle Echoes

Mrs. Peavie's fourth grade class recently celebrated fall with a Halloween reading party. To prepare, each student chose his or her favorite storybook character to research. They conducted their research by reading or rereading books about the character they chose. Then they wrote a short character analysis containing information about the character's physical and character traits. Students chose characters from many genres, including fairytales, biographies and historical fiction. One example was the report written by Sebastian Poynter. He chose 'Stanly Ylnats' from the novel "Holes" by Louis Sachar. Sebastian wrote that Stanly was, "courageous and friendly, and had black curly hair and wears a jumpsuit to dig holes." He also wrote that he chose to write about Stanly because "Holes" was the most interesting book he has ever read.

Students also dressed as the character they had chosen for school on Friday, October 29. Stanly (Sebastian) wore an orange jumpsuit and 'dirt' on his face. Other students dressed as Lucy from the Narnia series, Dorothy from "The Wizard of Oz" and of course, Junie B. Jones!

Mrs. Peavie commented, "It's really exciting to see students excited about reading! They want to learn more about their characters for their reports and costumes, and can't wait to share about their characters to their classmates. It's a fun way to encourage kids to think about the characters in the stories they read."

Before Halloween, the RCMS Leadership Team sold M&M boograms. Thanks to the generous staff and students, $182 was raised to help patients at the local Rockcastle Hospital Markey Cancer Center. Our compassionate side showed up again last Tuesday as $1,020 was raised in the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society Pennies for Patients effort. Mr. Abney's homeroom is the winner of the popcorn and movie party with a grand total of $216.03 donated to Pennies for Pa-

The Spooky Concert was greatly enjoyed by students and staff. We send thanks to choir director, Miss Cassandra Smith and band director Mr. Greg Daugherty for their hard work. The concert was also shown on Thursday night with the addition of Mrs. Jennifer McGuire's students'exhibits. Thanks to 8th grader Jon Kemper for helping set that up and for showing his skills on the pottery wheel.

Apparently vampires and a werewolf kidnapped our lunch ladies. Students received a treat and entertainment from the Awesome Lunch Bunch during lunch at the Twilight Café on the Friday before Halloween.

Our next Box Tops contest will end on December 15th. Again, the team who collects the most Box Tops will receive a special incentive to be provided by the administrative staff. As of today, the Enterprisers are ahead in our new Box Topsrace with a total of 127 Box Tops turned in. In second place is the Voyagers team with 76 Box Tops. The Challengers are in a close third place with 73 Box Tops collected. Keep bringing in Box Tops. Your team could be the winner of the next free incentive!

Rockcastle County Recycling Trailer Schedule Changes

The Rockcastle County Recycling Center is now providing recycling drop-off opportunities in outlying areas of Rockcastle County. Due to the purchase of two new recycling trailers, beginning June 1st, the recycling trailers will be left permanently at the following locations: City of Brodhead (gravel lot across from Citizens Bank), City of Livingston (gravel lot across from old Livingston Gymnasium), Brindle Ridge Volunteer Fire Department (at Conway), and at the Pongo Volunteer Fire Department The trailers will only be pulled out to empty them and will then be taken back to the same location.

The following items may be put in these trailers: mixed paper, mixed plastic #2-7, #1 plastic bottles, clear milk jugs, steel and aluminum cans, glass bottles and jars, and cardboard.

Please help us make this a successful venture by being clean and/or neat with our recycling habits. Do not put anything in the individual bins except what is labeled on them. If you drop something on the ground, pick it up. Absolutely no trash is to be put into the bins! Remember, camera surveillance is utilized in Rockcastle County and it is illegal to improperly to dispose of trash.
