Several road construction projects underway in county. . .

The new Hwy. 150 construction project has reached its destination at the junction of Hwy. 461 and Hwy. 150 above. According to the Kentucky Department of Transportation, 60-65% of the project is complete, with the most complete section from the county line to Hwy. 70 only needing guardrails installed. The contractor, L&M Asphalt of Lexington, says they are on schedule, with heavy work being done on the diversion shown above. Motorists will take the diversion to the right while the rest of the rock is cut away for the new road. Below, if you are a resident of the Wildie area, construction began on your main thoroughfare, Hwy. 1786, Tuesday. The Department of Transportation is taking off the existing replacement beams on the bridge, and will be replacing them with permanent ones. The road will be closed, except for local traffic, for up to 30 days.

Court approves raise for employees; opens bids

During a five hour regular meeting Tuesday, the Rockcastle County Court approved a 50c per hour raise for county employees. The discussion began at $1.00 an hour but the court reconsidered when they realized that they still did not know how much of an increase in employee health insurance premiums would be coming. For the past two years, the court has absorbed a 35% increase in premiums.

The court approved the 50c an hour for 45 employees at a cost of $74,000 annually with an additional 50c an hour to be considered November 1st after the costs of employee health insurance for another year is known.

The court also opened the three bids for various size culverts needed by the road department. Bengé Farm Supply of London was the successful bidder.

Elmo Greer and Sons was the successful low bidder for surface blacktop with a fixed price of $63.75 a ton, just below K&K's bid of $64 per ton. The court accepted the fixed price instead of the lower index price of $62.75 a ton since that price can fluctuate with the market price of oil.

The court also directed County Attorney Billy Reynolds to write a letter to former County Clerk Norma Houk asking that she remit her excess fees for 2010. County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis told the court that state law mandated that excess fees be paid by March 15th each year.

Reynolds complied, even to dictating the letter to his secretary, but it turned out to be for naught since the court learned after the meeting that Houk had taken a check for just over $40,000 to the accounting office of County Treasurer Joe Clontz in payment of her excess fees for 2010.

The court also heard a report from RCIDA Executive Director Holly Hopkins who told the court that the company would know September 1st if the National Oceanic Atmospheric Ad-

Derby City attendant foils robbery plans

By: Sara Coguer

An attempted robbery of the Derby City Truck Stop last Thursday night did not go as the would-be robber had planned.

According to Mt. Vernon police, a man entered the truck stop wearing a hood and mask and demanded all of the money from attendant Jessica Riddle Bowling. After the demand, the assailant pulled a small knife and opened the flip top counter door when a quick-thinking Bowling grabbed a tire tool and began striking the assailant on the hand causing him to flee.

The assailant was identified as a 5'5" to 5'7" white male with a possible hand injury obtained during the robbery attempt.

Mt. Vernon Police is leading the investigation. If you have any information about this assailant or the attempted robbery, you are asked to call 256-5372.

Mt. Vernon receives new ISO rating

By: Sara Coguer

Residents in the city of Mt. Vernon should see lower insurance premiums come September 1st. Mt. Vernon Mayor Mike Bryant received word at the end of May that the city had improved their Structural Fire Suppression Delivery System Rating, or Public Protection Classification Program (PPC) from a Class 6 to a Class 5, which will result in the lower insurance premiums.

ISO is a company that provides insurance companies with information about a city's ability to suppress structural fires and then the insurance companies use the PPC information as part of their decision-making when deciding what business to write, coverages to offer or prices to charge for personal or commercial property insurance.

PPC is important to communities and fire departments because those communities whose PPC improves may get lower insurance prices. PPC also provides fire departments with a valuable benchmark, and is used by many departments as a valuable tool when planning, budgeting and justifying fire protection improvements.

Mt. Vernon Fire Chief David Bales and Dennis McClure, Mt. Vernon Water Superintendent, helped ISO with all of their information gathering, enabling the city to receive the lower rating.

Board receives update on food service program

By: Sara Coguer

The Rockcastle County Board of Education met for their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, with only a few items on the agenda.

The most time-consuming portion of the meeting was a food services update by Food Services Coordinator Jeanine Parsons. Parsons updated the board on proposed changes to the food service program, including adding more leafy green vegetables and beans to the school menus, using only wheat and whole grain products and the proposal to drastically reduce the use of processed food products.

Parsons reminded the board that these changes are only proposals and the would not be approved or made permanent until December 2011.

In other action, the board approved contracts for the 2011-12 school year with Hands on Therapy from Lexington.

By Spencer Bengé

Last Friday, Mrs. Irene Bengé passed away at her home. She dedicated her life to the Lord and will be missed by so many. She was my Mamaw Bengé and last surviving grandparent.

I have been so blessed throughout my life with a wonderful family. Especially so when it comes to grandparents. I've known and loved all four of my grandparents and one great grandparent.

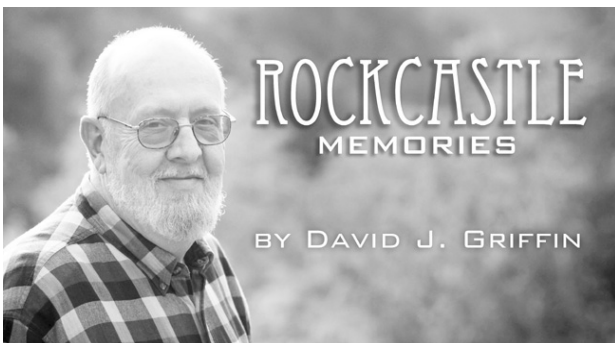

Mamaw Bengé was a very kind and gentle person. She was loving and caring, never spoke a harsh word and found the good in everyone. She was so giving that she always worried about someone else, not herself. I think that speaks volumes of her character.

those that loved her. I know I loved her very much and always will.

But most importantly, she loved the Lord, and as I said before, dedicated her life to Him.

I have many fond memories of Mamaw Bengé. Too many to write anyway. But there is one thing that always stands in the forefront of my mind. I think of it often. Mamaw was in the hospital at the time when I heard her say, "you can be the richest person in the world, but if you don't have the Lord, you don't have anything."

I'd like to leave everyone with that thought. Because even though she is no longer with us, maybe Mamaw Bengé can help guide someone to their Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

The "Uncola" Returns

Only a few days ago, I was casually strolling down the aisle at the local Kroger store to pick up a few items for the weekend when I noticed a display that caught my attention. I could hardly believe my eyes. The sign above the stack of familiar green glass bottles said, "Try the latest soft drink - 7 Up Retro!" Small print on the display declared, "This 2011 formulation uses sugar rather than high-fructose corn syrup as its sweetener and contains no caffeine. This product is available only in test markets." I quickly grabbed a few cartons before heading home. Then I got to thinking about the fact that it was being test-marketed, so I went back and bought several more.

7-Up was (and remains) my favorite soft drink. I was a very young boy living with my mother (Bee) and grandparents (Pop and Mommie Katie) in Rockcastle County when I became a fan. It was the "Fresh Up" drink of the 50's. When I was about 5 or 6 years old, I came down with a very bad case of a stomach bug that was accompanied with a high fever. Bee used her usual methods of treating such a condition, but when my fever did not subside, she called Dr. George Griffith.

That afternoon, Dr. Griffith made a house call after his regular office hours. He found me lying on the couch and gave me a thorough examination, followed by a "shot" in my behind. Bee had told the doctor that I was unable to keep anything on my stomach, and he instructed her to "Get some 7 Up and let David Joe drink as much as he wants. It will help to settle his stomach and will not hurt him in any way." Now that was the kind of medicine that any young boy wants to receive!

Bee did as the doctor suggested and allowed me to drink 7 Up's almost constantly for the next few days. I did not become nauseated anymore after beginning my regimen of the soft drink. I continued to be a fan of the 7 Up brand of soft drinks. I still am!

The history of 7 Up is very interesting. C. L. Grigg spent two years testing over 11 different formulas in search of a soft drink that was refreshing enough to prove irresistible to the people of Missouri and the world at large. In 1929, his bubbliest drink was born. The public quickly developed a taste for Grigg's caramel-colored, lemon-lime soda. However, the original name was not quite as popular as the drink itself - it was called Bib-Label Lithiated Lemon-Lime Soda (what a mouthful - pun intended).

Shortly thereafter the name was permanently changed to 7 Up. Can you imagine asking some store clerk where the Bi-Label Lithiated Lemon-Lime Soda is located?

The pop (as we called it) began to sell and to sell well. The original ad copy explained, "7 Up is a glorified drink in bottles only. It has seven natural flavors blended into a savory, flavory drink with a real wallop." By the late 1940s, the 7 Up brand had become the third best-selling soft drink in the world. In 1967, the company decided to separate its popular drink by declaring it the UNCOLA. That name caught on and has remained popular with 7 Up aficionados. The latest advertising slogan for the drink is: "America is turning 7 Up!" The company was purchased by the Dr. Pepper Snapple Group in 2008.

Points East

By Ike Adams

As most of my readers advise, I should be spending a lot more of my spare time writing instead of reading. I've been told several times recently that if I need to get totally engrossed in a book, I should be writing it.

But it doesn't work that way for me. In the first place, I only turn the television on anymore to watch the local news. I don't even watch the national news because it's too depressing. When I'm out and about, I listen to an MPR station, either WEKU or WUKY on my truck's radio and learn more than I really want to know about world affairs through that media.

I also subscribe to NETFLIX and either get a DVD in the mail or watch a movie now and then on my computer monitor. For $9.99 a month you can easily get a movie delivered to your mailbox and another one two days after you send that one back. They pay postage both ways. On top of that, you can watch your choice of thousands of movies or old tv shows on your monitor 24 hours a day. I have no idea how this company is making money.

The bottom line is that you have a selection that dwarfs even the largest rental stores. No late fees, no making two trips the store, and you can easily get at least 12 movies per month for about what you'd have to pay for 3 at the rental places and do so with infinitely more convenience. Our family canceled all the movie channels on our satellite service many months ago. And I doubt that any of us will ever set foot in a movie rental place again. Just check em out at netflix.com and I promise that you can believe every word in their advertising.

Still the ultimate entertainment for me is a good book and I probably go through about 100 a year. I admit, without apology that the larger portion of what I read is fluffy and trite, but once in a while I run across something that will stick with me for the rest of my life.

More and more I find

Ann Clark-Hampton Remembers Rockcastle

Although the lifestyle is simple here in the county, during the era in which Ann grew up, she remembers those simple days with fondness. It was something, perhaps this fondness, that drew her and her husband, Cecil, back to the county to settle down after fifty years of living in Cincinnati.

Ann was the daughter of Ernest and Lauviece Holman-Clark. She had a brother, who is deceased, and a sister Gladys Roberts, of Brodhead. Ernest attended Berea College. Later, he was diagnosed with almost a terminal illness for the era, tuberculosis. His health became so bad he and the whole family moved cross-country to Arizona for his health. It was 1934, and the hot, dry air of the desert aided those who were affected by the illness. The desert southwest became the destination for thousands with tuberculosis during the early to mid-part of the 1900s.

The hot, dry air didn't cure Ernest of the tubercu-Volunteers Needed for River Sweep..

Dear Editor,
The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court in conjunction with the Kentucky River Authority would like to ask for your help in cleaning up our rivers and streams. June 18th 2011 is River Sweep 2011 in Rockcastle County.

We will meet at the sewer plant at Livingston, at 9 a.m. and will work until 1 p.m. Anyone who wants to volunteer, can call the Rockcastle County Solid Waste Office at 606-256-1902 for more information.

Volunteers, be prepared to get wet and muddy! We will be concentrating on tires and trash that are in the Rockcastle River and along its banks. If you have a small boat or canoe, bring it! We may be able to use it to haul stuff to a point where we can access the riverbank with a truck to haul off the stuff that gets picked up. Free t-shirts will be available while supplies last!

Rockcastle County Solid Waste Coordinator

stomach ulcer. For some time, I treated the symptoms over the counter without seeking the advice of my physician. Over the next few months, my stomach pain and discomfort increased, and I decided to ask for advice. Dr. Don C. McFadden ran several tests to confirm my diagnosis. He then placed me on a special diet, prescription medications, and (to my surprise) 7 Up. He said, "Dave, you can drink all of the 7 Up you want because it will not affect your ulcer. It also does not contain caffeine, which sometimes adversely affects ulcers." He was the second physician who told me that I could drink all of that particular soft drink that I wanted.

Since then I have loved the taste of 7 Up and the idea that it was approved by my physicians. It has such a clean taste and no after-taste. Even my children grew to love 7 Up during their years at home. However, in recent years, it has become harder to find. And when you do, it is only in cans or plastic bottles – which is not the same at all! Years ago, it was the staple non-caffeine drink in restaurants and fast food places. Alas, it has been replaced in both of those venues by Sprite or by Sierra Mist. Both of those have been produced to appeal to our taste for sweets. 7Up is not sweet, it is just refreshing and clean-tasting.

If you haven't tried the "new" Retro 7 Up, I beg of you to go to the store and get some and just give it a chance! Old-timers like me recognize the look of the bottle and that wonderful taste; it's the young people that worry me. (Grandparents – buy a bottle of it for your grandchildren.) If the company is test-marketing this drink, that means that, depending on the results they get, it will likely decide to mass produce the new formula and its advertising campaign. I want to be a steady customer until I pass into everlasting life. (I figure there is plenty of the stuff in heaven.)

(You can reach me at mtmnan@mis.net or you can drop me a line at P.O. Box 927 – Stanton, KY 40380. I appreciate your suggestions and comments.)

myself reading history because fact is often as entertaining as fiction. Let me share with you a couple of recent reads that I found difficult to lay down.

"Harry S. Truman" by Margret Truman. Truman is, by far, my favorite president since Lincoln. I've read several other works, some critical and some worshipful, but this one is written by his daughter and only child. It is essentially an account of his political career and it is documented with a thousand or more pieces of correspondence that President Truman wrote to both national and world leaders as well as to members of his family. I already knew a lot of the political stuff but what makes this book so wonderful is the account of his absolute love and devotion to his family. You don't even have to have an interest in politics to enjoy this amazing biography which was a Number 1 National Best Seller when it was published in the mid 1970's.

"A Stillness at Appomattox" by Bruce Catton. I also have a strong interest in the Civil War but the historical accounts are often so contradictory that it's difficult to know who to believe. I don't pretend to be a scholar of this horror, but this account of the last year of that terrible war is easily the best documented, best written and most believable piece I've yet to read. It focuses more on the Union Army and its lack of leadership and maintains that war would not have lasted nearly as long had there been more than three or four generals who had an inkling about waging war. But what makes this book such an easy read is the writer's style. What makes it so interesting is the incredible level of detail. It made me cringe every other page or so but I still found it difficult to lay down because of the emotions it aroused. The book is 438 pages, the last 64 of which are source documentation. It won the Pulitzer Prize for History in 1954. Read it and you will know why.

As I said before, if you want to take a break from fiction and get into facts---if you have the slightest interest in history---head to the library and check these two out or down them to your Kindle for nearly nothing.

In Loving Memory

In Loving Memory of Frank and Wanda Mason

On June 12th, Dad would have been 76 and on June 21st, Mom would have been 75, but this year there will not be a birthday cake for Dad or Mom. But we will still remember birthdays past when we would go to Dad and Mom's for their birthday. Last year all the little grandchildren surrounded Mom trying to help her blow out her candles, they didn't know I had put magic candles in the cake and they would not go out.

We sure do miss our Dad and Mom and the grandchildren sure miss their grandparents. Let me tell you a few of the sweet things the grandchildren has said or done since Dad and Mom have passed away.

Tanner had his backpack on and his mom asked him "Tanner, where are you going?" He said, "Going to see Pappy". Logan came home from vacation in Tenn. with a card he had bought that said "If you don't believe in angels you haven't seen my grandmother."

At our family reunion, Jacob welcomed everyone. He said, "Pappy and Mammy would be happy that everyone came. When we go to heaven we will get to see each other every day". Brandon had tears in his eyes and said "Pappy" when our grandmother was singing in the Sweet By and By.

Our children are so special and so smart, parents and grandparents should not take them for granted. You think they are not listening and watching what we do. But everything we do can affect our children even after we are gone. So I beg you to love your children and grandchildren. Tell them you love them every day. They want to hear it. Talk kind to them. When they make mistakes correct them with love. Our children grow up so fast and before you know it have families of their own.

In July, our Dad will be gone two years, our Mom has only been gone nine months, it only seems like yesterday. I never thought I would miss them so much. No one told me how much it would hurt.

We think of them every day, remembering the good times as well as the bad times. But I can say there were more good times than bad. Dad worked hard. Our sweet precious Mother made sure there was always food on our table, a clean bed to sleep in, and shoes on our feet. We always ate at the kitchen table together as a family. She never left us behind. She taught us of God and His great love for us. We are so thankful for our parents and their love. We take pieces of them with us wherever we go. Their love lives on....

The pain of losing you is still intense. It reminds us of the depth of our love for you.

Your leaving has changed our lives forever. Your precious memory reminds us of the times we laughed, the times we cried, the silly things you did, and the caring and joy you gave us.

Day by day we cherish the special place in our hearts that will always be reserved for you. We thank you for the gift your living brought to each of us. The love and memories of you are ours forever. It has been our source of hopefulness now and forever. We love you.

losis, and he died in Arizona, leaving a wife and two children. Lauviece was pregnant with Ann, so therefore, she never had the chance to meet her father. A church where they lived helped the family get back to Kentucky and back to their home where they could bury Ernest. It was a long and sad trip for the family. It took about four to five days by train. The casket was carried in the baggage car.

Some time later, Lauviece married Sam Roberts, and they had a small farm. They settled down in the county, in the area of Brodhead known as Chestnut Grove. It was located about three miles down a road near the current nursing home.

Ann grew up on that farm where life was much as it was for many in rural America: simple and uneventful, except for hard work, school, and the occasional trip to town. There wasn't much in the way of entertainment, except for church on Sunday. There has been generations, some of which are still living, who loved those days and would give all they have to return to them. These were the days of the Great Depression, and those days produced children that had what it took to survive. I heard a sermon this past weekend, and to use a quote from it gives a lot of insight to the times in which we're living: "The weakest generation is about to face the toughest time ever known to man."

Ann went to school at Brodhead until she was sixteen, and a junior in high school. She had met a local boy there, Cecil Hampton, and they married fifty-eight years ago today, June 13. He had a job in Cincinnati at the Fox Paper Company. They soon moved there, where they lived for about fifty years. Jobs were scarce in the area, much as they are today, and many of the county's young people had to leave the area to find a good-paying jobs. Ann finished school, and even took classes at the University of Cincinnati. Soon she was a real estate agent, selling property all over the area. If something didn't sell right away, Cecil would buy it and use it for rental property. I guess you could say that he was one of her best customers.

Now those days in Cincinnati are only a memory, as the Hamptons have returned to their roots here in Rockcastle, where the shadows of their youth are plentiful, life is a little less stressful, and they are busy making new memories.

(Remember, I'm always looking for a bit of Rockcastle history. If you have a story to tell, and all of us do, please contact me at therootsofrockcastle@windstream.net)

Protecting your family from the summer sun

Now that summer is quickly approaching and days are getting hotter, it is important to protect our families from the sun. Sun exposure is important. It helps plants and flowers grow, and it helps us too! The sun actually provides us with vitamin D, which helps build stronger bones. It does not take a lot of time in the sun to get the needed amount of vitamin D.

If we do not protect our skin from the sun, we may get a sunburn.

Unprotected sun exposure can lead to:

- Skin damage (sunburn)
- Eye damage
- Skin cancer

If you have ever had a sunburn, you may remember it being itchy or even painful. Certain skin types tend to get sunburn easier than others. If you or someone in your family has light colored skin, eyes, or hair, it is more likely that a sunburn may occur to that person.

The sun's rays are stronger during certain parts of the day. The sun is the highest overhead and therefore the strongest from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. During these times, extra care should be taken to prevent sunburn. However, most sun damage comes from day-to-day exposure, not being out in the sun at the beach, pool, or lake. Remember that you and your family could still get a sunburn when the day is cool or cloudy!

Wearing sunscreen

You may notice there are many sunscreens made for kids. Some have scents, some have colors, some spray on, and some are water and sweat proof. These are great if your child does not have sensitive skin. However, what matters most is the amount of protection against the sun's rays that the sunscreen provides.

When choosing a sunscreen make sure to get a SPF or Sun Protection Factor of 30 or higher for children. Choose a "broad-spectrum" sunscreen that protects against two types of the sun's rays — UVA and UVB.

To get all of the benefits, sunscreen must be used correctly.

• Use sunscreen whenever you and your family will be out in the sun.

• Put the sunscreen on at least 15 to 30 minutes before going out.

• Put sunscreen on any uncovered skin. Do not forget the hands, ears, feet, shoulders, and the back of the neck.

• Reapply sunscreen about every 2 hours or after swimming or sweating.

Remember, the sun is strongest from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. It is important to protect you and your family from the sun's rays during this time. Taking a break from the sun is a good way to protect the skin. Go inside for lunch or a nap. You may also choose to do some indoor activities. If you are at an all-day outdoor activity, make sure to sit in the shade to get a break from the sun. If your family has a big umbrella or a tent that can give shade, bring it along.

Proper clothing shields the skin from the rays. Even though you may not be outside all day, wear light colored long pants and shirts if possible. Sunglasses are important for protecting the eyes from the sun. For more information on protecting your skin this summer, call the Extension Office at 256-2403.

Governor reappoints Hamilton to second term

On June 6, 2011 Governor Steve Beshear reappointed Dana Hamilton to a second three year term on the Kentucky State Advisory Panel for Exceptional Children. This panel advises the Kentucky Department of Education regarding issues related to special education. Hamilton was first appointed to the panel by Governor Ernie Fletcher in 2007. Beshear states, "I diligently strive to appoint individuals who will be fair and honest and who will act in the best interests of the Commonwealth." Beshear further states, "I have every confidence in Mrs. Hamilton's abilities to continue to serve our fellow Kentuckians with the honor and respect they deserve."

Mike Miller, program consultant for the Office of Next Generation Learners, comments, "Hamilton's enthusiasm toward work and her genuine interest in the welfare of students have illustrated her commitment toward the high ideal of betterment of the present educational systems." Miller further comments, "I consider Mrs. Hamilton to be one of the state's most valuable resources."

Hamilton is a graduate of Rockcastle County High School and received her Masters and Rank 1 from the University of Kentucky. Hamilton received her Director of Special Education Certification and Principal K-12 Certification from Eastern Kentucky University. She has been a teacher of special education at Rockcastle County High School since 1994. She served as Department of Special Education Chairperson for 12 years. In her tenure at Rockcastle County High School, Hamilton has served in many capacities including, Site Based Decision Making Council Vice Chairperson, ACT Testing Accommodation Coordinator and as a member of the Dropout Prevention Task Force just to name a few. Mrs. Hamilton's personal qualities of dependability, cooperativeness, and courtesy have earned her a great deal of respect and admiration from state administrators. Hamilton's commission will expire on August 2013.

Free GED testing ends June 30th

Free GED testing in Kentucky will end June 30, but prospective GED test-takers still have time to prepare for and pass the test. Kentuckians taking the test before June 30 will not have to pay the usual $55 fee, which is being paid by Kentucky Adult Education, a unit of the Council on Postsecondary Education.

Free GED classes are available through local adult education programs in all 120 Kentucky counties. To be eligible to take the GED, students must first successfully complete the GED Official Practice Test to make sure they are prepared for the actual test. In 10 years, 105,848 Kentuckians have earned a GED, ranking Kentucky 13th highest in the nation in the percentage of non-high school completers earning a GED.

On July 1, the test fee will increase to $60 for the full five-part test. The new fee leaves Kentucky well below the $75 national average GED test fee. Official GED test centers receive no state or federal funding. Test centers must operate on the test fees and contributions from their contracting entity — primarily boards of education and community colleges.

The GED tests provide adults who did not finish high school with the opportunity to certify their attainment of high school-level academic knowledge and skills. The GED consists of five parts — reading, writing, mathematics, science and social studies. Completing the entire test battery takes just over seven hours.

The GED tests are currently offered only in a paper-pencil format at official GED Testing Centers — the tests cannot be taken online. State GED administrators often receive reports from adults who have spent time and precious resources pursuing what they believe are accredited high school equivalency credentials online. Consumers find, after spending $200-$1,200, that these dubious credentials are not accepted by either employers, colleges or universities.

Those interested in taking advantage of free classes and the free GED testing should contact Rockcastle Adult Education at 256-0218.

“Court”

ministration (NOAA) jobs would be returning to SourceCorp. Hopkins said that the 93 employees who had been furloughed would be returning at that time if a final budget, for April 1, 2011 through March 31, 2012, was approved by Congress and if there were funding put into the budget by the House of Representatives. There is presently $4,000,000 in funding for NOAA in the President's budget but the funding by the House is necessary to fund the program for the remaining six months of the 2011-12 budget.

Hopkins also told the court that SourceCorp was expected to be able to hire an additional 90 employees because of a new contract from a merger of SourceCorp and HVO, which is awaiting federal approval, and seven new employees had already been hired because of another contract acquired by SourceCorp. All in all, there is a possibility that SourceCorp could have around 200 employees by September 1st. Meanwhile, SourceCorp will fulfill their contractual obligation to pay the county occupational tax, beginning August 1st, for 200 employees, Hopkins said.

As part of the program support for RCIDA, an additional $100,000 will be paid on the SourceCorp construction loan to Community Trust Bank. SourceCorp presently pays $25,000 a month as a lease fee and this money is applied by RCIDA directly to the loan. The additional $100,000 pledged by the court from occupational tax money will allow the principal of the loan to be reduced so that when the seven year contract is up with SourceCorp, the principal owed will be of manageable proportion in case the county has to assume the balance.

Hopkins also told the court that there had been some interest shown in the former Plasticware building and that the contract with Fender/Siemens had been completed.

The company will construct a building on the acre of land they have purchased and will hire five employees initially to repair turbine engines.

RCIDA has joined Blue Grass South, a consortium of 10 counties, which allows Rockcastle better access to site selectors who help companies find sites and allows the counties to pool resources such as labor pools, etc, Hopkins also reported.

County Attorney Billy Reynolds told the court that he will file for an interlocutory judgement in the Lambert Road condemnation suits. The judgement, if granted, will allow work to begin on the road while two cross claims are being adjudicated.

A motion by Magistrate Lee Earl Adams to accept the part of Chestnut Grove Road which is in the Brodhead city limits into the county road aid program died for lack of a second.

As one of their final items of business, the court approved the transfer of $125,000 from the occupational tax fund to the general fund to pay the $100,000 on the principal for the SourceCorp construction loan at Community Trust Bank and $50,000 from the occupational tax fund to the jail fund for payroll and some current expenses. The jail transfer is contingent on the monthly check from the state being received before the funds are needed. To date, the general fund has transferred $446,000 to the jail for the 2010-11 fiscal year. The jail's bills for June totaled $91,530 and a portion of the transfer will be used to pay the most pressing debts.

The court will meet in special session Thursday (today) at 1 p.m. to hear a report from the three civilian commissioners appointed to redistrict the five magisterial districts, in order to bring the population represented more in line in each district. The action is required following each census.

Receives another state honor

Sara Hammond shines as All-Star

Kentucky pulled off the upset in the girls' game of the Kentucky-Indiana All-Star series on Saturday night at Knights Hall with Kentucky winning the game 64-57.

There were two McDonald's All-Americans on the floor for the girls' game but it was clear that Kentucky Miss Basketball Sara Hammond was the best player on the court for this night. Hammond, a Louisville signee, played well throughout and took over down the stretch.

She finished with 21 points, 14 rebounds, 14 assists and four blocked shots. Hammond scored on a hook shot, several putbacks, a three-pointer and a couple of jumpers. She also had a massive block on Indiana Miss Basketball Bria Goss - a Kentucky signee and McDonald's All-American - with less than 1:00 left in the game to seal it.

Hammond is going to fit in and be a star in the Big East with her size, strength and work ethic. Several people within the All Stars program said she has been one of the best leaders the Kentucky side has ever seen. She's going to be fun to watch over the course of the next four years at Louisville.

Goss, who is from Indianapolis, Ben Davis, didn't have her best night but she's a big-time player and will step in and play right away at UK. She was 7 of 21 and had 23 points and didn't take the ball to the basket as hard as she did in the McDonald's game but the Kentucky defense did have something to do with that on this night. It's going to be fun to see Goss in Matthew Mitchell's system at UK.

Hammond was the only player on the Kentucky roster with more than two made field goals but 11 of 12 players on the roster scored and the Bluegrass stars won the second-chance battle 18-2. Kentucky picked up nearly every loose ball and just won the hustle stats, which turned into a win on the scoreboard.

The Kentucky team lost to the Indiana All Stars in Indianapolis Saturday night. Splitting the series 1-1.

This past week was very busy for Hammond, in addition to playing for the Kentucky All-Stars she also has started her college career.

Hammond enrolled at the University of Louisville on Monday, began classes on Tuesday, has played in two exhibition games with the All-Stars and was honored as the female athlete of the year statewide on Wednesday.

Sara was honored as the female 2011 Dr. Rudy J. Ellis Sports Medicine Center High School Athletes of the Year during the Kentucky Athletic Hall of Fame 2011 Induction Banquet on Wednesday evening, June 8, 2011 at the Crowne Plaza Louisville.

"It's been a busy week for sure," Hammond said. "But it's been great. I'm having so much fun with (the All-Stars) and at school."

Hammond said she's had a lot of her high school friends calling and texting her asking about what college life is like.

"It's a lot different from high school," she said. "I am an adult now and I have the freedom to do what I want to do. It's going to be a big adjustment but I'm lucky to have the coaches and my teammates there to help me through it."

Hammond set a new standard for girls' high school basketball players in the state of Kentucky with some elite honors. The Rockcastle County star was not only named Miss Basketball but she was ranked in the top 20 nationally and became the first female basketball player ever from the Bluegrass State to play in the prestigious McDonald's All-American game.

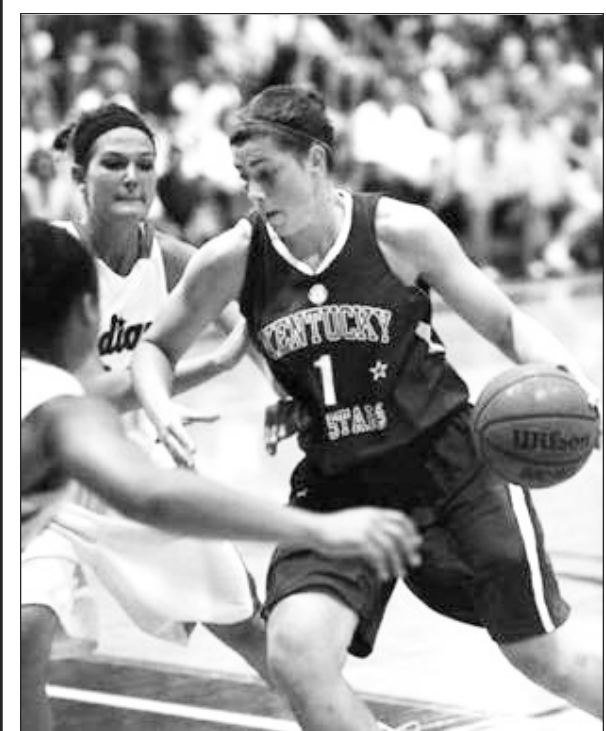

The 6-foot-2 Hammond was a two-time, first-team All-State pick and helped lead Rockcastle County to the school's first-ever girls' Sweet 16 title. Playing for the Rockets, she averaged 16.3 points, 12.4 rebounds, 3.9 blocked shots, 2.2 assists and 1.6 steals per game. Hammond also won the state's Gatorade Player of the Year award and the Associated Press Player of the Year Award. She was named as a third-team All-American by USA Today and in the McDonald's game with five blocks - the third most in history. ESPN's HoopGurlz ranked the University of Louisville signee No. 12 in the Class of 2011 nationally, which is the highest national ranking for any player statewide for more than a decade.

Hammond averaged 10.5 points and 8.2 rebounds a game as a sophomore and 15 points and 10.8

rebounds as a junior. During her high school career, Hammond finished with 2,121 points, 1,584 rebounds and 523 blocked shots. The rebound total ranks her No. 9 all-time in state history while the blocks total ranks No. 4.

Hammond also ran track during her early days, giving up the sport after a few years of running because of AAU basketball. She placed at several state meets, including winning the 1,600 relay Class AA state championship team as a sixth grader.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet?

Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150* degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.

B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.

The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.

D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.

E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.

The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

RCHS student selected to attend ELI program

Rockcastle County High School student Jared Lake has been selected to attend The Center for Rural Development's Entrepreneurial Leadership Institute (ELI) summer youth leadership program and will grow his business and entrepreneurial skills as a representative of the region's next generation of leaders.

Lake will attend ELI during the week of June 12-17 held on the grounds of The Center in Somerset, where he will work with business professionals to receive the tools to launch a start-up business.

"ELI focuses on creativity, teamwork, and the development of business skills, and encourages participants to consider starting their own business as a career option," Lonnie Lawson, president and CEO of The Center, said. "As a team, they work together to develop a business plan and present that plan to a panel of potential investors in a business concept competition on the final day of the program."

Members of the first-place business concept team are eligible to receive a Presidential Scholarship from Eastern Kentucky University (EKU) in Richmond, Ky. The winning team also will be recognized at the 10th anniversary celebration of 2011 Excellence In Entrepreneurship Awards (EIEA) "Decade of Distinction" awards luncheon program on Sept. 12 at The Center.

"The Entrepreneurial Leadership Institute (ELI) program is a rewarding experience for these students," youth programs coordinator Lauren Hayes said. "They have the opportunity to learn how to develop a business, work on product, marketing, and financial plans and see firsthand the benefits of being an entrepreneur by meeting with local and state entrepreneurs."

"I look forward to watching these students' creativity," she added. "I know many of them will succeed, and I wonder how far they will reach with the knowledge they learn during this program."

High school freshmen, sophomores, and juniors within The Center's 42-county primary service area are eligible to apply for ELI. Program expenses (excluding transportation costs to and from the host site) are provided free of charge to participants and their parents.

Lake is the son of Scott and Karla Lake of Berea.
