Vernon Fire Department was assisted by Brodhead Fire Department. In the bottom photo, an unoccupied home on Davis Lane was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Occupants of the house reportedly moved out the day before. Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and Livingston Fire Departments all responded to the scene. ## Rockcastle Schools above state average

By: Sara Coguer

Although the Rockcastle County School District continues to rank above the state average in reading and math, test score averages for the district dipped slightly for the 2010-11 school year.

Reading scores in the district showed that 77.28 percent of students scored proficient or distinguished, which was a slight decrease from the 2010 percentage of 80.2. Math scores also showed a decrease in the percentage of students attaining a proficient or distinguished, with a score of 69.7.

However, the district is still well above the state average in both reading, at 71.99 and math at 65.99. The district continues to make adequate yearly progress, which is the measurement tool used by the federal government through the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB).

The Rockcastle County High School increased both their reading and math scores. In reading, RCHS scored 65.55, increasing from 63.18 last year. This year's score in math is 43.75, which is an increase from the 2010 score of 36.84.

Rockcastle County Middle School continues to score above the state average in both reading at 76.32, and math, at 69.4. Their scores

Ramblings . . .

Guest Editorial by RCMS Principal Jason Coguer

Despite the fact of a lack of funding and budget cuts, courtesy of the state legislative body, Rockcastle County schools maintained a high level of achievement. But I have to question how long we can keep this pace up without the tools and resources needed to prepare students for the 21st century skills that they will need.

Our best resource is our teachers and they do an exceptional job day in and day out helping children succeed in the classroom. They do all of this without adequate funding from the state and the fact that they are asked to not just teach what children need to know but are asked to deal with additional, constantly, changing mandates.

Schools have not had new textbooks for several years. Money for cutting-edge technology, such as computers for students and teachers alike, has been non-existent. Teachers' salaries have remained frozen, but the cost of health care has grown on average three percent annually. So in essence, teachers have had cuts to their salary.

The legislature passed Senate Bill 1 with the new mandates in accountability but has, to date, not come up with any ideas to fund the mandates. Teachers have been constantly asked to do more with less. When was the last time a member of the legislature was asked the same -- not when it comes to their state pensions. Many of our teachers provide supplies and items conducive to learning out of their own pocket.

Rockcastle County Schools has always been good stewards of money but it is disheartening when neighboring districts seem to have a better cash flow to spend on students. The playing field has to be leveled. When you can drive 14 miles north and see the growth of new schools and instructional resources, it can make one down right angry that we cannot afford the same opportunities for our students. I understand the local tax base is greater to draw from, but the state has to address this problem and make it priority one.

I am proud of the teachers and staff at my school at RCMS. They are proven educators who put kids first on a daily basis. But I also see and feel the stress and pressure of high stakes accountability without the high stakes funding. All that I ask is to give these professionals the resources and opportunities to prepare our students to chase their dreams. We have been the best value for taxpayers over the years providing results that are state renowned, but you can only get so much blood from a turnip.

The Roots of Rockcastle

by: Tonya J. Cook

Verna Mae Houston Remembers Life in Mount Vernon and Livingston

Verna Mae Fields-Houston was only two years old when she first came to live in Rockcastle County, living in Livingston until she was fourteen. She had been born in Covington, Kentucky, to Clarence and Mabel Fields. They also had Bob and Clara Ann, along with Verna Mae. The couple divorced, and Verna Mae came to live with her grandparents, William Bluefield and Kizzie Cummins. Mabel later married William Kelley, and had three children, John Bluefield, Charles Dewayne, and Brenda Lou Saylor.

The Cumminses had a store on Main Street (about the center of town where most recently the Teacup Cafe was located). It was the old Jess Cummins' store.

William Cummins later bought an old two-story store in Livingston to the right of the bridge, across from the school. While he was the proprietor of each store, he had an experience with huge spiders. On shipments of bananas from South America, huge tropical spiders would hitch a ride. Once at the store in Mount Vernon, he captured a spider that filled the bottom of a gallon jar. He punched holes in the lid for

Silhouettes in music

In 1955 and 1956, my brother Albert was hired to be the Band Director at Mt. Vernon High School (MVHS). In addition to the band, he was also given the responsibility for teaching public school music and conducting the Glee Club. The band was made up of a variety of students from both elementary and high school.

The band practiced a couple days each week after school and, in addition, one night was reserved for practice. Martha Cox was in the band at that time, and she has fond memories of the band. "Al was so young at the time, and his class was so much fun. He even came to our houses to pick us up for night practice. He had so many students in his car that several of them had to ride in the trunk. If he did that today, he would be arrested! I just loved his classes."

I was only eleven at the time, but I distinctly remember his public school music class. He introduced us to many styles of music using his 33-rpm record player. On some days, he played songs by famous artists of the day, such as: Perry Como, Frank Sinatra, Tony Bennett, and Rosemary Clooney. Occasionally, he would choose one of these artists and play a particular song, and he then would have us sing along.

On some days after his class, we would repeatedly sing the song that he had taught us all day long. We really enjoyed his class and learned a lot about different forms of music. I remember him having us listen to Porgy and Bess on one occasion, and that was not my "cup of tea." I also recall listening to some of the big bands that were so popular at that time, such as Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Artie Shaw, and Tommy Dorsey.

Al was a clarinet player himself, and he loved to make us listen to Benny Goodman. He would come home at night, get out his clarinet, and play many of Goodman's hits that were currently popular on radio. I thought he was a really good clarinet player.

Since Al was my older brother, I spent a lot of time in the band room of the high school. One afternoon when I walked into the room, Al was sitting in a chair with one of the band members sitting in front of him and a very bright light was shining on one side of the student's head. I asked, "What in the world are you doing?" He explained, "I have decided to make silhouette portraits of each band member and hang them on the walls of the band room."

He proceeded to cut out a silhouette of the student's head from a piece of white

Points East

By Ike Adams

Sunrise out the window facing due east here in Lowell Valley at the moment is what I'm watching. The sky is every color of the rainbow, and all the colors in between but leaning heavily on hues of red. Rain is coming. I feel it in my knees and elbows and the proof that it is coming is there on the north horizon.

It's gonna be a stormy time before the day is out.

We have had tornado warnings all through the early morning but the weather has not hit here yet.

The real proof of bad weather coming is that the Angus cows in the fields around me are lying down. Like any soon-to-be-mother, they would just like to get this stuff over and feed a baby calf or calves, but they don't know exactly what to do so they just lie down and wait for the storm because they can't do anything to stop it.

Sometimes I just walk out to the fences and offer a carrot or a stick of celery to which ever curious cow comes over and sticks her head across the wire and I rub her on the head and pet her silky ears. It's the price she pays for my affection and I sometimes wonder why I eat beef. I've always wondered why I eat chicken.

Loretta says that I love sea food so much because I have never had a pet shrimp or a crab that I could tame and get attached to. Not that I haven't tried. And, yes, I have had pet shrimp and crabs in the aquarium. We even had a pet lobster but I had to feed him to the cat because he was killing Loretta's fish.

For the record, I have never had, even though I've tried, a pet hog. Which may be why I probably love pork sausage mixed with gravy and poured over three over-light eggs with a couple of biscuits better than anything in the world. Don't tell me that I don't have taste. I have been to northern Pennsylvania and tried scrapple. It is not something you really want to do unless you want to increase your appreciation for eggs and gravy. Scrapple tastes much, much worse than it sounds. And the papers won't let me tell you what it looks like. Or maybe they will if I get creative.

Change the Grandbaby's diaper after she has eaten a mild piece of sausage, a cup of cream of spinach with grape jello and, presto. Scrapple happens. My pal, Fred Beste, says it goes down really well if you use enough ketchup. They do serve scrapple at the Wind Gap Diner and I have seen Fred eat it. I've tried but it came back up in the parking lot, diaper and all.

The wind is picking up and the sky just got dark. The colors are all gone. I hear thunder in the distance. Three cows just got up and headed for the patch of woods there on the backside of the back forty. I wouldn't do that but it is hard to talk sense to a cow. Lightning is apt to strike and somebody may blame my dog for killing a cow that God, Himself, decided to slaughter because she was fool enough to lean upon a maple tree in the middle of a thunderstorm.

The storm is getting closer by the minute. Light-

Doctor was unprofessional...

Dear Editor,
In reference to Paige's letter -- your doctor was not only unprofessional but also impugned your integrity. (From personal experience, try having your vitamin D level checked).

No matter what others think of us, 90% of Rockcastle countians are among the best that can be found anywhere. We have, though, learned from Mr. Obama's "transformation" tactics, the need to wisely and strongly analyze all government proposals from many angles.

The proposed wellness center, with the possibility of including Cedar Rapids land, should be analyzed using these parameters:

- (1) Is the project needed and/or wanted by citizens (wellness is a good thing and "a few good things in our county" are needed).
- (2) Who benefits from the proposal? All citizens and those whose signature are on a Cedar Rapids note due in October, 2011 for a reported $385,000.
- (3) Potential financial cost? $1.4 million is the amount being mentioned around town. Compare that with a Berea City Park for $600,000 and the Richmond City Park which cost $900,000.

Asking questions and analyzing information do not impugn anyone's integrity. Rather, it sharpens enlightenment. As you can see, this is both a "for" and an "against" the proposal. Hopefully, our magistrates will make a balance judgment after they have all available information.

The Good old U.S.A....

Dear Editor,
There are many good people in Rockcastle County on both sides of the wellness park issue, proposed by our county judge, people from the Cedar Rapids Recreation Center and many others.
Listen folks, whether we get it (the wellness park) or not, it's not the end of the world one way or the other. Life goes on.
Without a true poll taken, who knows who holds the majority -- the yeas or the nays?

Now let's all stand our ground (moral high ground) and speak our mind whether we are for or against it (the wellness park). Thank God we live in America and this is still the American way.
Many thanks Mrs. Editor, Respectfully,
Michael P. McGuire
P.S. Hope some of you (us) don't get misconstrued for cave men and women, because of your (our) many concerns regarding this wellness park.

Daniel Boone National Forest available for recreation...

Dear Editor,
County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis' cavemen rhetoric was sort of cut but I don't believe you came up with this on your own. 'Fess up, Buzz, was it a new task force or your troops that came up with the idea.
As for recreation, we have 1100 plus acres of Daniel Boone National forest to be used for horseback riding, swimming, fishing, camping and hunting. It borders Rockcastle River and has been used for over a century but you let one person block a public road and stopped such public use.
Our children would benefit much more by having good safe state and county roads with such safety items as guard rails, stop signs, etc.

You have spent 5.2 million, in your own words, in white elephant valley, aka Industrial Park South, and we still don't have those 200 jobs that you and Jim Holton guaranteed in two years which has long passed. No real jobs, just ghost employees so you can collect occupational tax to spend. You have put more taxes on Rockcastle citizens than all the previous judge executives combined. And what do we have to show for it - debt!

One giant park is a waste of tax dollars. We feel that several smaller parks as we can afford them, spread throughout the county without annual fees would make much more sense. Because with only one giant park, a lot of our folks - the young and the old - would have to spend all of their money for gas to get to the giant park and would not be able to purchase a hot dog, hamburger, etc. once they reach the giant park.

22.6 percent of Kentuckians are at poverty level and below so sounds like cave dwellings might be harder to locate than ever before.
By the way, Buzz, when are you and your troop coming down out of your trees and becoming modern cavemen?

Signal disappoints; NEED people want your money...

Dear Editor,
In addition to my disappointment with the Signal's increasingly editorialized news stories - especially about Mayor Bryant - and the Signal's refusal to have their phone buddies held accountable for their actions, I was sorry to see the editor and Judge Buzz derisively label those who disagree with them Citizens Against Virtually Everything instead of talking about the merits of an actual issue.
But how about NEED people who Need Everyone Else's Dough for virtually everything.
They NEED you to pay for their golf game, donate to their favorite charity, pay for their children's activities, and bail out their apparently nearly bankrupt country club.
Upon closer look CAVE people are actually for many "progressive" "forward thinking" "insert other good sounding but meaningless babble here" purchases that NEED people are against.

CAVE people are for you buying a used sea-doo jet ski.
NEED people are against it.
They'd rather force you to pay for 3 Music Hall of Fames and the roughly $23,000,000 Corbin Arena.
CAVE people are for the family next door having a Wii tennis game.
NEED people are against this but require everyone to pay for the nearly $250,000 empty lot on Richmond Street.
CAVE people would like the family in the trailer to be able to buy their young son a new baseball glove for Christmas.
NEED people are against this.
They'd rather confiscate this money for a roughly $243,000 gutted, empty Jones Building.
CAVE people are for building ball fields based upon demand on the 3 roughly 15 acre tracts largely donated to our 3 cities.

NEED people "oppose our children". (Or maybe they just claim this about others.)
And NEED people are for being on a task force that recommends buying a rumored $1.4 million in land, including not only their own country club, but apparently their personal property as well.
Did anyone check into the legality of this?
Anonymous, freely chosen personal transactions aren't sexy but they beat any other system.
How are the Music Hall of Fame, quarter million dollar empty lot, and the stray cats in the Jones Building doing these days, anyways?
Sincerely,

paper. Then he glued the white outline on a black piece of construction paper. They were then placed inside a small frame and hung on the wall. Under each frame, he carefully lettered the student's name.
I vividly recall the look of the room with the portraits displayed all around. The band students loved seeing their likenesses on the walls. The fact that our portraits were exhibited in such a manner gave us the feeling that we belonged there. Frankly, I thought it was a very classy idea. Looking back with the hindsight of a teacher, I understand what an excellent motivating tool it was for an instructor.
I can still envision those silhouettes hanging on the walls now. I have no idea who all the students were who played in the band during the time that Al was the director, but I do recall a few: Penny Nunnelley, Martha Cox, Howard Coffey, Jim Cox, Raymond Kirby, Nanette Milen, Charles Bennett Ferris, Helen Cummins, Jim Barton Nunnelley, Bud Cox, and Patsy Cummins.
Al was only 21 years old when he took up the position of Band Director at MVHS. I was only 11 and in the fifth grade. I thought it was cool having my brother as a teacher in the school where I attended. Even though elementary students were in a different section of the building, I did get to see Al on a regular basis. Occasionally, I hit my big brother up for some change to purchase a candy bar or something to drink during recess.
I did not stay with the band for very long because it became quite apparent that playing a musical instrument was not one of my talents. I imagine that I was not very willing to practice for the time necessary to even make a mediocre player. However, I do remember Al's public school music class and the enjoyment that it brought to me.
I am also glad that he exposed us to such a wide variety of music and musicians. Having that experience probably made me much more aware of music in general. When rock and roll burst onto the scene and began its 50-plus year reign in 1956, I was certainly ready. But I guess I owe my big brother for more than that because I have been a lover of all kinds of music ever since. Little did I know that those days of band and silhouettes were affording me the educational foundation for a lifetime of music appreciation. Thanks big brother!

ning is way overhead, above the clouds but the thunder grumbles and literally shakes the earth and makes my windows rattle and I figure that any second now, my juice is gonna go off. I am surprised that it is still on. We are on the RECC and usually when a cow passes gas, the juice goes off for a minute or two out of due respect.

And here it comes. Hail. Big as marbles and messing up my new shingles. Oh Lord, I do feel sorry for the farmers who do not already have their tobacco in the barn. And I feel sorry for the Angus cows out there in the weather.

Happy Birthday Larry Hubbard!

As we remember all the times we shared, We all can agree that without you here Things just aren't the same. While your body is no longer with us Your spirit is all around and Your love can surely be found.

Your kindness and strength You held it all within your hands.

While you left us so quickly With so many things left unsaid,

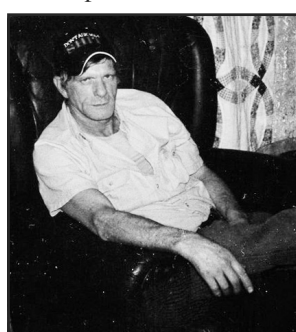

We all miss you but know Heaven

Was rejoicing when the Angels

Started singing your name.

We will all remember Your bravery and your love. The caring and watchful eye That now watches over all of us

Katie Mackey, cousin of the bride, was a blessing as Maid of Honor. The bridesmaids were Whitney Fry, Stephanie Daugherty and Alyssa Cope, all friends of the bride. Robert wore a traditional black tux. He chose a black shirt, white vest and tie. Anthony Lunsford, friend of the groom, served as Best Man. Groomsmen were Greg Farthing, Tommy Lamb, friends of the groom, and Johnny Mackey, cousin of the bride. Ushers were Bryan Snood and Boyd Durham. Ashley Marcum, friend of the bride, sang "From This Moment" after the unity candle was lit. Guests were greeted by Alyssa Davis, friend of the bride, who attended the guest book. Alyssa also served the wedding cake at the reception. Photography was a gift from Harry Mackey, of Chattanooga. A special thank you to him and Mt. Vernon Fire Dept. who provided fire engine for the photos. Family and friends blew bubbles as the couple left the church reception, headed to a weekend honeymoon in Gatlinburg, Tn. ## “Murder”

ics about what transpired Saturday night except that Hazelwood shot Johnson four times. Family members of Johnson say that Hazelwood had no business being at Johnson's home. According to a statement made to WKYT television, Johnson's brother George, stated, "Hazelwood and Byron didn't get along. He was asked before to stay away."

According to a statement to police during his arrest, Bobby Hazelwood said that Byron Johnson had been threatening him and was coming toward him when he shot him. Court records also showed that Hazelwood blamed Byron Johnson for stealing his keys.

According to a statement to WLEX, Tiny Johnson, Byron Johnson's wife, said, "That man was told to leave three weeks earlier, not to show up. We've got signs posted, no trespassing."

After Hazelwood's court appearance Monday, Hazelwood's family would only say that "there is another side to this story."

Bobby Hazelwood was lodged in the Rockcastle

Detention Center under a $75,000 cash/property bond, which he met and was released from jail on Tuesday.

During Wednesday's court appearance, Hazelwood waived his right to a preliminary hearing. His next court appearance will be January 30th, 2012 at which time a decision will be made as to whether to indict Hazelwood or dismiss the charges.

“Scores”

dropped slightly from last year's of 83.6 in reading and 75.4 in math.

The three elementary schools in the district continue to rise above state averages, with Brodhead and Roundstone increasing their scores from last year in reading. All the elementary schools dropped slightly in math this year. Brodhead scored 89.58 in reading and 90.1 in math; Mt. Vernon scored 74.85 in reading and 70.18 in math; and Roundstone scored 89.66 in reading and 73.10 in math.

Although Rockcastle County Schools exceeded the goals for all students, in other data released on Tuesday, the district failed to make overall adequate yearly progress related to individual subgroups of students. The District met 8 of 13 goals under the federal NCLB Act.

Only 22 of Kentucky's 174 school districts met 100 percent of their target goals. Of the 152 districts that did not meet all of their goals, 30 met 80 percent or more of their goals, including Rockcastle with 84.6 percent of goals met.

Rockcastle Superintendent Larry Hammond told the Signal Wednesday, "As the state continues to be in a time of transition, I believe we, as a district, are going in the right direction. I'm optimistic that as the state mandates the new "College and Career Readiness" standards, that we are as prepared as anyone to tackle what really counts, which is to prepare students for college or the workforce."

The 2011-2012 school year begins the new accountability cycle. Reading and math scores will be based on the new state coalition standards that are currently being implemented in classrooms this fall. The new assessment in the spring will be a combination of a norm referenced and criterion referenced assessment.

Schools will receive both individual student and school-based reports in grade 3-8 in math, reading, writing, science and social studies. High schools will administer End of Course exams as well as the ACT Plan and the ACT that will be part of the accountability cycle.

“CSEPP”

ceive federal dollars through CSEPP, which is administered through Kentucky Emergency Management (KYEM). Besides Rockcastle, the counties include: Clark, Estill, Fayette, Garrard, Jackson, Jessamine, Laurel, Madison and Powell.

"Communication and preparation are two critical cornerstones of emergency operations in these central Kentucky counties located near the Army depot," Gov. Beshear said. "This federal funding will improve how counties communicate and manage their emergency operation centers."

In one project, Kentucky received a $2.1 million grant to bring its CSEPP counties into compliance with the United States Department of Homeland Security and the United States Department of Defense. The agencies require that all federally funded communications systems meet federal requirements which enable public safety responders to better communicate with each other.

The grant funding will help purchase mobile and portable radios, consoles, repeaters and other equipment in accordance with a plan developed cooperatively by FEMA, the Commonwealth and effected CSEPP jurisdictions.

The second grant, funded at $2.5 million, will pay for all or portions of county emergency operation center projects identified by the Commonwealth in cooperation with FEMA. The funding will support creating or improving centers in the 10 CSEPP counties.

We're back...for another year of fright...

Rockets are undefeated; face district foe Russell

By: Jason Coguer

It has been said that if you want to find out about one's character then all you have to do is watch how they handle adversity. If anyone has questioned the character of Coach Parkey's team all you had to do was witness the intestinal fortitude exhibition on display last Friday night against Perry County Central.

Minus two starters and 66% of their offense, the Rockets came up with a total team effort in knocking off the undefeated Perry County Central Commodores 22-0. Parkey talked to his team before the game about having defining moments and how everyone had to step up their level of play with the absence of senior captains Curtis Causey and Clark Rowe, both out for injuries.

As it turned out, the Rockets gave the coach several defining moments to choose from. Special teams played a huge role in the win by forcing the Commodore punter to run and giving Rockcastle the edge in field position.

Then there was the defense that held the high powered passing attack in check. Parkey took notice of the fact that his defense kept Perry Central out of the end zone, "Coach Martin and Coach Saylor did an outstanding job of getting the kids prepared and had a great game plan. Our secondary did a great job of covering their fast receivers. The D line and the linebackers were able to keep tons of pressure on their quarterback."

Parkey was also pleased with the play of his offense even though they were unable to break any long runs. "We really held our composure after getting stopped for a short gain. That was a sign of maturity that we were able to battle through some tough situations all night and still put up three scores. We kept expecting a better result and the kids showed great resiliency."

Several players had big nights including B.B. Bradley, who had only two carries all season and garnered two touchdowns on the night and a two point conversion. The first score came with 2:04 left in the first with a seven yard run and then he added the two point conversion to put the Rockets up 8-0. Bradley would score from three yards out in the second half to give the Rockets a 15-0 lead after three quarters of play.

Chris Luna who went over 100 yards rushing for the first time this season, had 26 carries for 108 yards, added another touchdown in the fourth to help seal the win and give his team a solid 6-0 start, the best since the 2001 season. Eli Haddix had two big time catches for 42 yards, including a fully extended diving grab that help set up a Rocket score. Zach Reams was 2-2 on extra points and had a big night from his safety position including an interception.

The Rockets will face another undefeated opponent this Friday night at home as they host the 6-0 Russell County Lakers who average over 500 yards of offense per game. The game will be the first district opponent for the Rockets. It will be a top 10 match-up in Class 4A as the #4 Rockets may have to go against #6 Russell County without the services of their leading rusher Clarke Rowe for the second straight week. Kick-off is at 7:30 and it will be homecoming night.

Quarterback Corey McPhetridge led the offense for the Rockets to a 22-0 win over Perry County Central. He passed for 70 yards on the night.

Making Music a Family Affair

Penningtons perform at Rockcastle Regional

Exile frontman JP Pennington, as well as his daughter Jessie Rose and son James recently spent time at the Rockcastle Regional Hospital, entertaining the residents of the Respiratory Care Center. The special outdoor concert was arranged by Robert Lawson and the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum.

Besides having eleven No. 1 records as well as many top-five and top-10 hits with the award-winning band Exile, JP Pennington has also enjoyed much success as a songwriter with other country and pop artists. Alabama had chart-topping hits with "Take Me Down" and "The Closer You Get," which JP was a writer on.

Along with Alabama, his songs have been recorded by Kenny Rogers, Travis Tritt, Tracy Lawrence, The Forrester Sisters, Juice Newton, Rita

Coolidge, Dave and Sugar, Bill Anderson, Engelbert Humperdinck, Tupac Shakur and Jagged Edge.

Exile's music has been used in movies including "Happy Gilmore," "Employee of the Month," "Wild Hogs," "Thunderheart," "Man on the Moon," "Big Momma's House" and "Zookeeper."

JP was named a BMI Songwriter of the Century and BMI Songwriter of the Year. He's toured the world with Exile and has sold millions of albums worldwide. So what's left to do in a career that has spanned five decades and achieved so many career highlights along the way? Start a trio with his two talented kids, of course!

Inheriting his musical talent is his daughter Jessie Rose Pennington, who has become a formidable songsmith in her own right. Jessie is a much sought-after singer in her hometown of Lexington and has gained many fans from her appearances there.

In the family trio shows she performs many of her own songs as well as collaborations with her dad and her mom, Suzie, who is also a songwriter. Add to Jessie's songwriting skills an absolutely incredible voice and you have a very special talent.

JP's son James Pennington, who also inherited the family's gift of music. James' musical background includes competition quartet and group a cappella singing and his many awards reflect his undeniable talent. James' ability to deliver a silky smooth vocal blend completes the sound of this group so well known by many fans for their impeccable harmonies.

For information or bookings please call (859)333-8780.

Marsha and Glen Vanwinkle will be exhibiting some of their glass creations at the historic Indian Fort Theatre in Berea October 8 and 9, 2011.

Primary 2 Visits the Courthouse

Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Cowan, Mrs. Gentry and Mrs. Floyd's classes recently visited the Rockcastle County Courthouse after studying a unit about community government in Social Studies. On our trip we got to take a tour of the courthouse and even had a mock trial in the courtroom with a real judge! Thanks to Judge Katy Wood and "Butterscotch" the teddy bear for helping us learn about how a trial really works. Also, we learned about the jobs of some of our local community government workers. We got to meet circuit court clerk Teresa Vanzant, PVA Margret Offutt, and county clerk Danetta Allen as well as Judge Katy Wood. We had a great trip and learned a lot about local government.

Three local schools are central figures

Kentucky's Energy Education efforts receive national recognition

Kentucky was recently recognized as the distinguished 2011 "state of the year" by the National Energy Education Development (NEED) Project for its state energy education program. The state's program partnered with the Kentucky Utilities Company and Louisville Gas and Electric Company's Children's Energy Education Program to help incorporate energy education into local schools.

Since 2009, the KU and LG&E Children's Energy Education Program has reached 1,900 teachers in more than 600 schools within 66 Kentucky counties and 80,000 students throughout the service territory.

Three schools in Rockcastle County are central figures in the state receiving the award. They are: Mt. Vernon Elementary, Brodhead Elementary, and Rockcastle County Middle School. "Without the schools' active participation, this program would not have impacted such a large number of students," said Kelly Couch, LG&E and KU Children's Energy Education Program Manager.

The program's versatility and various elements enable customization to meet each school's needs. NEED Regional coordinators, who partner with the KU and LG&E Children's Energy Education Program, support the schools to provide energy efficiency and conservation education that complements Kentucky's core curriculum. In addition, the program also facilitates professional development workshops for teachers, as well as hands-on kits, equipment and resources for teachers to use in the classrooms.

"We support integrating energy education within the schools because as students develop energy knowledge, they take this information home to share with their families and community. Gaining this knowledge now will help them make wiser decisions about energy use in the future," said Couch.

Money Tips for College Students

Repaying student loans

If you finished college in May and have student loans, it's almost time to begin repaying them. These tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) may help.

One of the smartest things you can do is pay more than your scheduled payment amount. The extra is applied to the principal, so you will pay less interest over the life of your loan.

As a student loan borrower, you should let your lender know if you change your name, address or phone number; if something changes your status, such as going back to school; or if you have problems making your payments.

You have several repayment plans from which to choose. The standard repayment plan calls for equal monthly payments over 10 years. The minimum monthly payment is usually $50. Other options include:

- Graduated repayment, which starts with lower repayment amounts that get higher over the maximum 10-year period.

- Income-sensitive repayment, with monthly payments based on gross income.

- Income-based repayment, with monthly amounts based on income and family size. The maximum period is 25 years, with any balance remaining at the end of 25 years forgiven.

- Extended repayment, which lets you take up to 25 years to repay your student loans if you borrowed more than $30,000 and none of your loans were made before October 7, 1998.

You will pay more interest over the life of the loan if you use any option other than standard repayment.

If you are having trouble making payments, contact your lender immediately. You may qualify for a deferment or forbearance, which can let you make lower payments or stop making payments temporarily.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers

Kentucky's student aid programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES).

Graves takes National trapshooting title

Nathan Graves, 17, of Bourbon County, was named the 2011 Grand American National AIM Youth Trapshooting Champion at the World Shooting Complex in Sparta, IL on August 7th.

Graves was one of only two shooters in a field of 446 junior participants to break 199 of 200 targets, which resulted in an intense tie-breaker shoot-off against Tyler Merry of Nebraska.

In the event of a tie, each contestant shoots targets in increments of 25 until one shooter claims the better score. Graves and Merry swept the first 25, alternating targets, and continued into the second round. Merry missed his target #50, placing enormous pressure on Graves, as he obliterated his final target to capture the individual title.

Graves is the son of Clint Graves and Katrina Graves, both of Paris, and the grandson of Irene Graves of Brodhead, Clint Graves and Lynn Graves of Pinnellas Park, FL and the late Essellen Stewart, of Mt. Vernon.

Graves also competed in team competition with a shooting team based in Flemingsburg, the Kentucky Pigeon Poppers. The Pigeon Poppers, coached by Bill Jolly, consists of Nathan Graves, Laken Calvert, Ross Jolly, Andrew Jolly, and Drew Cropper. The team took first place in Class B competition in Sparta, breaking 967 of 1000 targets, a tremendous score!

Earlier in the summer, in the 2011 U.S. Open in Sparta, Graves cleaned up as High Overall Champion - A Class, High All-Around Champion - A Class, and First Place - Junior Handicap Champion, Nathan Graves was named the 2011 Grand American National AIM Youth Trapshooting Champion at the World Shooting Complex in Sparta, IL on August 7th.
