Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet? Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Direct and Counter-Cyclical Payment Program (DCP) - 2013

The American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012, enacted on Jan. 2, 2013, amends the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 and provides for a one-year extension of the Direct and Counter-Cyclical (DCP) program. To be eligible for direct and counter-cyclical payments, producers must enroll their farms in DCP during the sign-up period which began on Feb. 19, 2013 and ends on Aug. 2, 2013. Please call 606-256-2525 to schedule an appointment.

For more information about this and other FSA programs please visit our local FSA county office or visit www.fsa.usda.gov.

Crop Acreage Reporting

Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds agricultural producers of the acreage reporting requirements that must be met prior to receiving program benefits. Filing an accurate acreage report for all crops and land uses, including failed acreage and prevented planting acreage, can prevent the loss of benefits for a variety of programs. July 15th is the final date to certify all crops, except small grains.

Producers must report acreages to maintain eligibility for Price Support Programs, Noninsured Crop Assistance Program (NAP), Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) and Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP). All cropland on farms must be certified to remain eligible for these programs

CRP General Sign-up

Kentucky Farm Service Agency (FSA) will conduct a four-week Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up beginning May 20, 2013 and ending on June 14, 2013. CRP addresses critical resource issues. In addition to erosion control, CRP provides significant water quality benefits including reduced nutrients and sediment loadings and adverse consequences associated with floods as well as expanded and enhanced wildlife habitat.

CRP is a voluntary program available to agricultural producers to help them safeguard environmentally sensitive land. Producers enrolled in CRP plant long-term, resource-conserving covers to improve the quality of water, control soil erosion and enhance wildlife habitat. Producers that are accepted in the sign-up can receive cost-share assistance for planting covers and receive an annual rental payment for the length of the contract (10-15 years).

CRP Continuous Sign-up

Kentucky Farm Service Agency (FSA) is conducting a Continuous Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) sign up beginning May 13, 2013 and ending on September 30, 2013. The following practices are available under continuous sign-up: CP-8A Grass Waterways Non-easement; CP-9 Shallow Water Areas for Wildlife; CP-21 Filter Strips, CP-22 Riparian Buffers, CP-29 Marginal Pastureland and Wildlife Habitat Buffer, CP-23 Wetland Restoration; CP-33 Habitat Buffers for Upland Birds; and CP-38 State Acres for Wildlife and CP-42 Pollinator Habitat.

Landowners enrolled in the CRP program receive annual rental payments and cost-share assistance to establish long-term, resource conserving covers on eligible farmland. Land that is not currently enrolled in CRP can be offered during sign-up if all eligibility requirements are met. Expiring CRP continuous contracts can be re-enrolled with an enrollment date of October 1, 2013.

The Business Achievement Award is a Leadership Program complementing student's academics while accelerating in their leadership skills. Six of the FBLA members achieved the "Future Business Award" this year. The award focuses on business skills, introduction to community service and FBLA involvement at the local level. These students had to complete a series of activities such as completing community service hours, preparing bulletin boards to promote FBLA and inviting nonmembers to join FBLA in order to earn the Future Award. Danielle Abed completed her Future Award last school year, and was able to achieve the 2nd level; which is the "Business Award." Pictured are, front from left: Danielle Abed, and Hannah McClure. Rep. Rogers tours companies in local industrial parks

Congressman Hal Rogers toured two companies located in the Rockcastle County industrial parks last Wednesday and congratulated them on increased hiring and also sustaining quality jobs for people in southern Kentucky.

Rogers toured SourceHOV with officials from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. Approximately 250 employees are currently working at SourceHOV to reduce the backlog of disability claims with the VA by converting various written documents into digital claims.

Rogers said more than seventy percent of the veterans' claims take over 125 days to be processed while some take more than a year. He said that the SourceHOV employees are providing a great service to our military veterans and he is proud of the effort that is taking place in Mt. Vernon.

"Our military veterans are forced to wait six months to a year before being approved for benefits which is too long," Rogers said. "It was encouraging to see the diligent work of the employees at SourceHOV who are slashing the time veterans have to wait for benefits through their work to transfer millions of documents."

After touring SourceHOV, Rogers toured Anchor Packaging to congratulate them on their progress since their opening in December. The company is a major integrated producer of plastic packaging for the food service retail and food processor industries. The Mt. Vernon plant is expected to employ 150 people once it is fully operational.

Livingston collecting relief supplies for OK tornado victims

The City of Livingston will be collecting food and relief supplies for the victims affected by the recent round of tornadoes in Oklahoma.

The relief supplies and food drive will be held this Saturday at the Livingston Fire Department. The list of needed items include: Ace bandages, Band-Aids, medical supplies, water bottles, canned/packaged food items, diapers, clothing, baby bottles, paper plates, plastic dinnerware, toiletries, feminine care products, tissues and sturdy boxes/tubs.

For more information about the relief supplies and food drive contact Livingston City Hall at 606-453-2061.

The local non-profit organization "Room 4 Me" is still collecting backpacks of school supplies for elementary school students who were affected by the Moore, Oklahoma tornado in May.

For those interested in donating to the backpack drive contact Kelsey Mattingly at www.room4me.org or message her on Facebook at www.facebook.com/room4me.

The backpack drive will end on June 15th and the backpacks will be prepped and shipped on June 18th.

Mt. Vernon man arrested in drug bust

A Mt. Vernon man was arrested for drug trafficking and drug possession last Wednesday after police raided a home on Old Somerset Road in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Melvin Dean Powell, 52, of Mt. Vernon.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, Assistant Chief Barry Adams, Chief Brian Carter and Lieutenant Ed Robinson responded to the residence after receiving numerous tips that Powell was selling illegal prescription drugs from his home.

Once officers arrived at the residence, they were greeted

Memorial Day Decorations stolen from local cemeteries

By: Doug Ponder

A large number of Memorial Day decoration thefts have been reported in cemeteries throughout the county.

Rockcastle County Sheriff Mike Peters said he has received complaints of decoration thefts from several rural cemeteries in the county with the most being reported from Briarfield Cemetery in Orlando. He said the items reported as stolen range from flower headstone arrangements, military medallions, stone statues, etc.

"A lot of the flower headstone arrangements cost over $100 each and thieves could probably resale them for $50 to $75," Peters said. "After a thief steals a couple of arrangements, they are

Hwy. 25 yard sale starts Thursday

The second annual Hwy 25 yard sale will be held this Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

The yard sale is held each year on Hwy 25 from Covington to Corbin via US 25, from Corbin to Lake City, Tennessee via US 25 W and from Corbin to Bean Station, Tennessee via US 25 E.

Those interested in participating must have access to off road parking. Permission to set up on private or public property is the responsibility of the yard sale participant and must be obtained prior to the event.

Job Fair this Friday

Nesco Resource of Berea will hold a job fair on the third floor of the Rockcastle County Courthouse this Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The company is hiring production associates to work second shift between 4:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. The positions are "temp to hire" paying $10.50 per hour plus overtime.

Production associate employees must be willing to work an 8 or 10 hour shift. Pre-employment drug screen and background check are also required.

practically walking out of the cemetery with hundreds of dollars."

Peters said the cemeteries that are stolen from the most are in rural sections of the county. He said it is hard to catch the thieves because there are never any witnesses to the crimes.

"A lot of times it's hard for us to catch people stealing decorations because they steal them at night when no one else is around," Peters said. "These rural cemeteries are also very secluded and not around a lot of homes either. So when family members report the stolen decorations, we don't have much to go on."

Peters went on to say the thieves often resale the Local police request people to be on guard against scams in county

By: Doug Ponder

Local police are asking Rockcastle Countians to be highly skeptical of phone calls that promise prizes or money.

Rockcastle County Sheriff Mike Peters said his office has recently received a high volume of scam-related incidents in the county. He said scams have existed for years but that they have become more prominent within the last few weeks.

"People have told us that the callers said they represent an organization such as Publishers Clearing House or something similar," Peters said. "The caller will then inform the person that they must send some type of payment to an address other than the one from which they are calling. When they ask you to send a payment to a different address, it should always be a red flag."

Unfortunately, Peters said several people in the county have sent checks or money orders to the requested address and have not received their promised prize or lump sum of money. He said the chances of them getting their monetary payment back is very slim.

"The calls are almost always traced back to another state or country overseas," Peters said. "These con artists are ramblings...

by: perlina m. anderkin
 I have some good news to share with my readers -- I'm going to be a grandma again. My youngest, Allison, whom I have teased unmercifully about being too tied up with her pet Yancey to have a child, informed me that she will be producing my 11th grandchild in the winter.

After we came to Mt Vernon in 1966, and I was pregnant with my third child, Jane, I used this column to announce the birth of subsequent children, including Allison in 1985 when I was 43 -- okay I turned 44 the next month. I was concerned at the time that I wouldn't live to see her grown and would have been happy to accomplish just that. But you tend to get greedy because then I hoped to see her graduate college and marry.

When she married almost two years ago, I, of course, began looking forward to additional grandchildren, but she didn't seem in any hurry to cooperate. She first told me about two weeks ago and swore me to secrecy until she was through at least her first trimester and I managed to comply although I felt I would burst at times, wanting to share the information with someone -- anyone.

She was going to make the announcement at our Mother's Day event but when she threw up in her school's parking lot recently, she teaches at North Washington Middle School, she figured the cat was out of the bag and she better tell the family.

Allison is younger than one of her nephews, Aaron by 9 months and one day, and her baby will be younger than Aaron's baby, Avery Richard, who was born in February of last year.

But, it's once again a happy time in the Anderkin family with more than usual to look forward to in early December.

Delray Finally Arrives
 It's here! Yes, my dream '54 Chevy Delray has finally arrived!

For the past week, I have been acting like the teenager that I was when I first drove my grandfather's 1954 Chevrolet. Ever since I notified the owner that we had a deal, I have been so nervous that he might find another "classic" car enthusiast who would offer him more money. However, I can now report that the gentleman kept his word and delivered my car this week. When I saw him pulling into the parking lot in Stanton, I was relieved. My dream of owning a 1950's automobile had just become a reality. It has been difficult for me to believe that this is actually happening because I dreamed of it for the past forty years.

Upon returning home from the car show in Pigeon Forge, I began to spend serious amounts of time searching the internet for information about the '54. My research brought me to the realization that the Delray had many luxury features and a sleeker look than the basic Chevy Two-Ten. When I first took the wheel of my newly acquired vehicle, I noted that the bottom half of the dash was accented with chrome appointments and that the original speedometer was in working order -- in addition to the more recently added accessories. I think my favorite feature is the air conditioner that has been aligned with the bottom of the dashboard. I had seen AC units sitting on the floor hump on old cars before but never a unit that neatly fit the bottom of the dash. It looks like it was original equipment, and it puts out the finest cool air.

I am sure my wife was equally relieved when the car arrived because she has been listening to me dream aloud ever since we met. (Anyone who knows me well knows about my desire to actually own a classic car.) We have been attending old car shows since we married in 1979, and each time I have drooled over hot Chevys.

I can't get over how the '54 sounds when you turn the key and hear the Chevrolet 350 cubic-inch V8 engine. When my grandfather (Pop) purchased his original Bel Air in 1954, the eight cylinder was not available. I was used to driving his car with a six-cylinder engine -- and it did not impress the driver because of its power. My new Delray has ample power to spare. The familiar sounds of yesterday return when listening to the sweet reverberation of the exhaust system.

This morning, I drove my car to Joey's Muffler Shop in Stanton to have him check the underside of my ride. To my delight, Joey said, "In all of the years that I have been installing exhaust systems, I have never seen a 1950 automobile that was in this good shape. I could not find any rust or damage to the car." I cannot begin to tell you how elated this made me feel. He added, "Whoever restored this vehicle knew what they were doing." While my car was in his shop, there were several "old timers" who stopped in to look it over. Each of them wanted to know where it came from and how I acquired this unusual ride. I am rather certain that I was visually beaming with pride.

I will forever be grateful for the folks at Destiny Automobiles in Maryville, Tennessee, for their professionalism and how they treated me with my purchase. Salesmen Bruce and Marc went the extra mile to assure that I was pleased, and they transported my Chevy to Stanton just as they had promised. (If you are ever interested in a classic automobile, give me a call and I can put you in touch.) They are indeed automobile aficionados.

I can't wait until I can drive my Delray to Mt. Vernon to show to my old friend Bud Cox and to my brother Al. I will definitely be taking them for a ride. I am sure Bud will be just about as excited as I am with my classic Chevy.

Kathy and I are already marking our calendars for regional car shows to attend in order to show off my new baby. Several shows are coming up soon, including Renfro Valley, Mt. Sterling, and the Corn Festival in Stanton.

This experience is genuinely a dream come true for me. I look forward to finding the time and opportunity to cruise the roads in my '54 Chevy, all the while listening to old rock and roll music. Yesterday, I inserted a CD into the radio and immediately turned up the volume. Believe me, it feels just right to hear Buddy Holly coming out of the speakers.

As a matter of fact, the entire car has captured my heart -- even with the roll-down windows. And I had forgotten how comfortable a big bench seat could be, plus the vehicle has such a substantial feel -- there is no plastic in this baby! I'm in love, and the way it makes me feel to drive it is as close as I'll ever be to being a teenager again.

Points East

By Ike Adams

Most of the time at sunset and in the early morning fog when the light is just perfect, Loretta and I have cameras handier than most cops have side arms at the ready. You just never know when you're going to need or have the opportunity to shoot something.

In our case it's opportunity and we know that most law enforcement officers don't ever want to pull their guns and only do so when the need arises. But we love to be ready to pull our cameras out and shoot, without warning, the random ray of light on a honeysuckle flower or flock of geese on the wing. Dew on the roses or robins just hatched. Grandsons a grinning or causing mischief. Gardens a growing in weather like this. You get the picture (no pun intended).

The problem is, we don't have holsters and even when we are driving slowly with cameras in our laps out and about actually looking for stuff to shoot, we miss most of the good stuff. And oh so rarely do we get a photo worth keeping when we are out searching. The best ones are the ones we carry in our memories---the ones that got away when we had no camera handy.

I don't know how many times I've been on the front porch late in the day or early in the morning when I have literally yelled back inside the house, something to the effect of "Granny get your gun and hurry up about it."

A chipmunk munching on a peanut hull in the morning mist on the rock wall out front of the yard. Wood peckers of several types and sizes on rotted old fence posts and a mama Bobwhite quail, just last week, hastily herding her brood of a dozen or so chicks out of the garden for unfounded fear that I would do them harm.

And baby and half grown rabbits. Apparently the wettest spring we've had in a while as caused the briars and undergrowth to grow such that rabbits have an abundance of shelter from their predators along with all the sprouts of their favorite foods. Any hour of the day on Old Railroad Grade, which runs five or so miles up Lowell Branch Valley parallel to US 52, a young rabbit will dart across the road every three or so hundred yards right now. Late in the day or in the early morning they literally rule the road and it is amazing to me that so few are being killed by cars. Fast and agile are the rabbits and too fast and common to bother photographing. Even the local beagle hounds are bored.

On the other hand, no camera close at hand, late last Friday I was watering the petunias and geraniums and such on our front porch when I saw what appeared to be a big dog loping down the middle of our road and realized almost at once that it was a coyote. "GRANNY GET YOUR GUN", or something like that, I yelled at Loretta but she only made it outside in time to watch the one on the road meet up with two others coming out of the woods and then they ran the half mile, uphill length of the pasture next door toward the fellow who lives on the other side of the ridge. In broad daylight.

We hear these critters celebrating several times a Strange... But True?

Mysterious Magnetic Fields

Through the decades, the more popular Bermuda Triangle has "drawn" more than attention with its powerful magnetic field. Numerous aircraft and ships have succumbed to the powerful force that seems to pluck its victims from the sky and ocean surface.

What is the cause of these powerful triangle areas? What happens to the ships and planes? How long have these occurrences been in existence? These are only a few of the questions the "Strange But True?" series will discuss in this portion of the series.

The Earth has a great many natural, or perhaps unnatural occurrences. One is the most noted in the Bermuda Triangle. It has been discussed and its mysteries pondered for decades, so that is why the little known Marysburg Vortex and Sophiasburg Triangle will be studied at this time.

Of course, the Bermuda Triangle is located off the coast of Florida and the islands farther south. These other triangles are located in Lake Ontario.

The Marysburg Vortex is located east of Point Petre, in the southern portion of Prince Edward County, Ontario, Canada extending east toward the St. Lawrence River and then north in the direction of Kingston, Ontario.

The Sophiasburg Triangle is west of Prince Edward County at the entrance to Presqu'île Bay. There is a magnetic field there which interferes with the functioning of compasses, making entry to the bay difficult in fog or storms.

Strange reported disappearances of ships go back as far as 1804. The HMS Speedy was the first to be reported. In 1883, the Quinlan's crew who survived a wreck reported "some odd attractions", an unknown force that disabled her compass, slamming the ship on a rocky shore. In 1889, an 8-man crew abandoned a perfectly seaworthy vessel with bread baking in the oven for no apparent reason. Two of the eight were found in a lifeboat and refused to be rescued, and were lost to the storm.

The George A. Marsh sank with 450 tons of coal in a violent storm on an otherwise beautiful day, in 1917. On June 30, 1964, the Star of Suez experienced navigation problems and ran ashore. The ship was freed only to have an undetermined source of fire break out on the ship a year later in the same area.

In these Canadian triangles there have also been noted strange lights, orbs of unknown origin, eerie fog and other abnormal occurrences. There have been numerous UFO sightings as well.

This is where we will pause in the study of these mysterious magnetic fields this week, only to resume this subject again next week.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Cardinal Hill Hospital, Lexington Kentucky. An online guestbook is available at www.stithfuneralhome.net.

Jimmie Cabble Bales

Jimmie Cabble Bales came into this world on May 9, 1934 kicking and screaming and continued this for most of his life. He was the last of the five children born to John Cabble and Mae Kelley Bales. After a long illness, he died May 31, 2013.

He attended Mt. Vernon School and served in the U.S. Army.

When he was shipped overseas one of his fellow passengers was Elvis Presley. After his discharge, he opened a car body repair shop in Mt. Vernon. He and Betty Lou Miller were married in 1959 and had four children. They were married for 53 years when Betty died October 31, 2012.

With no formal education, he ran for county judge in the early 60s and was defeated by a very small margin. It was said he got such a large vote because he was related to most everyone in the county.

In 1965 he moved the family to Ohio where he worked for Conrail Railroad and was president of the union. He argued cases in court against Conrail when union members were brought up on fireable charges.

After his retirement, Jim became an avid visitor to flea markets and a constant "garbage picker." He exasperated Betty with all the stuff he brought home. They had lived in Sharonville then West Chester, Ohio for forty-four years before moving back to their beloved Mt. Vernon in 2009.

Left to mourn his passing are: two daughters, Teresa Reber and Tina Bales and one son, J.C. Bales III (Gina Coyle), as well as his grandchildren, Tommy Reber, Christina McMahan and Nicole Miller and his great-grandchildren, Aaron, Brooke and his beloved Landon. Also surviving are a sister, Loretta Bales Terry and brother, Lawrence (Evelyn) Bales and five nieces and nephews. Besides his wife and parents, he was preceded in death by a daughter, Tammy Leigh Miller and three brothers, John Cabble Jr., Henry Lee and Robert Kenneth Bales.

Funeral services for Mr. Bales were conducted Tuesday, June 4 at Dowell & Martin Funeral Home Chapel by Bro. James Blanton. Burial followed in the Cresthaven Memorial Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Tommy Reber, Eddie Sprandel, Bill Sprandel, Jimmy C. Bales III (Bud), Lawrence Bales and Josh Bales.

NACHO CHEESE BALL
 2 boxes (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
 1/3 cup salsa
 2 tablespoons chopped parsley or cilantro
 2 to 3 tablespoons chili powder
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 4 cups Mexican Blend shredded cheeses
 Extra salsa for serving
 Mix all ingredients except extra salsa. Let chill for 3 hours. Roll into a ball or mold into desired shape and place on large serving platter. Pour some salsa around the cheese mixture and serve with tortilla chips.
 OR place cheese ball in a premade large taco salad tortilla bowl. Drizzle with salsa. Serve with chips.
 OR make into bite size appetizers by placing a teaspoon of cheese mixture on a tortilla. Put a small amount of salsa on each and serve.

PINEAPPLE CHEESE BALL
 2 boxes (8 ounce each) cream cheese, at room temperature
 1/4 cup chopped celery
 1 teaspoon milk or pineapple juice
 1 small can crushed pineapple, well drained
 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
 1/4 cup chopped green onion
 Chopped pecans or walnuts
 Assorted crackers
 Mix all ingredients except nuts and crackers. Divide into two balls. Wrap each in plastic wrap and place in refrigerator. When ready to serve, roll each ball in the chopped nuts to cover. Serve with assorted crackers.

HAM AND CHEESE BALL
 1 pound ham shredded or finely diced, divided
 1/3 cup pecans, chopped
 4 or 5 or 6 green onions diced and use some of the green because it makes it pretty.
 2 boxes (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
 A dash of Accent® or seasoned salt
 A dash or two of Worcestershire sauce
 A dash or two of garlic salt
 Set 1/3 cup of ham and the pecans aside. Mix remaining ham with rest of ingredients; shape into a ball. Top with chopped pecans and reserved chopped ham; chill. Serve with assorted crackers.

Y-Club thanks community...

Dear Editor,
 I am the sponsor of the Rockcastle County High School Y-Club. The Y-Club is a student run club that focuses on civic involvement, leadership, and service. Our students are attending a conference this summer to learn about health issues that target their age group and strategies to combat those health issues in their home area. Community involvement over the years has provided our students with an array of educational and employment opportunities. We would like to thank some members of our community that have made this opportunity possible. Rockcastle Regional Hospital, Brodhead Pharmacy, and Collins Respiratory Care all made generous donations that will enable our kids to further their health and civic education.

Gonzalez graduates from Gatton

Matthew Stefan-Cruz Gonzalez, son of Stephen and Wanda Burdine of Brodhead and Max Gonzalez of Corbin, graduated with honors from the prestigious Carol Martin Gatton Academy of Mathematics and Science on Saturday, May 11th.

As a dual enrollee of The Gatton Academy and Rockcastle County High School's Class of 2013, Matthew earned a high school diploma and 71 college credit hours. He plans to attend the University of Kentucky in the fall, where he will major in Biology.

During his freshman and sophomore years at RCHS, Matthew was a member of the Marching and Concert Band and Y-Club and took part in many activities, including Honors Band, KYA and KUNA. While attending The Academy, during his junior and senior years, he took part in an in-depth research study and presented his findings, concerning nanoparticle and protein stabilization at a variety of informal and formal settings and conferences. In addition to living on campus, and taking classes with WKU students, he was able to travel to England during the summer of 2012.

The Gatton Academy has been recognized by Newsweek magazine, two years in a row, as the nation's top high school. Congratulations to Matthew on his achievements.

Go Bare Root and Save Money on Landscaping

If you've ever ordered a mail-order fruit tree from Stark Brothers or any of dozens of other nurseries, you may have wondered if the three foot long stick with a bunch of roots really would live, and grow to become the fruiting tree you saw pictured in their catalog. I can assure you, most of the time, with proper care, it will.

It is possible to completely landscape a new home with bare root plants if one is not too concerned about how they will look for the first couple years, and you can save a good deal of money on the plants and the digging will be easier at planting time. Even those not quite convinced can plant a few big balled-and-burlapped trees, and fill in the other planting spots with bare root trees and shrubbery for substantial savings.

A three foot tall 'stick' can grow into a ten foot tall silver maple tree within 18 months, for instance. That ten foot tall tree would cost $75 to $175 in a large black spot, and from $45 to $120 as a B&B tree. That little bare root tree will cost you under $10 in most cases, and perhaps under $5 if you buy a minimum order of perhaps $100. So, that would be one big tree with great looks from a local garden center — or 20 three foot tall trees that don't look so great at the moment from a nursery or mail-order company. The choice is yours of course, but I wanted to explain to perhaps that new homeowner that can save a ton of money by choosing to plant bare root trees.

If this all sounds difficult, most nurseries are in the habit of shipping clear and precise planting instructions with diagrams along with your new plants. But, even if you decide to hire a landscaper, it will still be more economical to purchase bare root plants.

Price is a major reason why someone would decide to order and plant bare root trees. Limited funds can go a lot farther. (Even if you bought 20 bare root trees and had a couple not make it, think how much you still saved.)

Diversity is another reason to go bare root. Let's say you want a couple pawpaw trees, maybe some fir trees, perhaps a privet hedge or 5 colors of lilacs. It could be you have thought of a tree you want and no nursery you ever shop at has it: Kentucky Coffee Tree comes to mind. I guarantee you somebody will sell and ship it to you wrapped in plastic and enclosed in a cardboard box. Another example might be some unique dogwood like pagoda dogwood, giant dogwood, evergreen dogwood or Cornelian cherry dogwood. FedEx, UPS and the USPS carry such packages all the time.

Availability is a related subject. A local garden center may carry 20 different kinds of trees and perhaps twice that many shrubs in pots or in burlap. But, when there exists thousands of trees one might easily plant and grow successfully, ordering them with no dirt on the roots can make sense. (In fact, some states won't allow potted plants of certain kinds to be shipped, but may allow bare root plants to cross it's borders. The issue is soil born pathogens that might spread diseases. PuertoRico is an example where they can order bare root from Americans, but not with dirt on the roots.)

The US Forest Service often plants pine trees on areas that have been logged clean or that have had a devastating forest fire. They never use potted trees or balled and burlapped trees. They use little seedling trees maybe a foot or two feet tall. And ten years later...there is a new pine forest! I believe one could obtain additional useful information from the USFS on this subject.

It costs a lot less to ship trees minus the dirt. A tractor trailer load of trees might be 300 with dirt on the roots, but thousands could be shipped for the same freight bill if they were bare rooted.

Planting a small tree with a few roots dangling below the 'stick' sure is easier than digging a hole three feet wide and deep for a $175 tree from the local garden

Kentucky Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

Kentucky named top destination for trophy deer by magazine

Outdoor Life magazine has named Kentucky as the nation's top destination for trophy deer hunting.

The national hunting and fishing magazine based its rankings on trophy deer production, hunter density, fees and how hunter friendly the laws and regulations were in each state.

"The trophy deer hunting possibilities in Kentucky aren't a secret anymore," said Dr. Jon Gassett, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "Last year, we sold deer permits to residents from every state in the country. The word is out that hunting in Kentucky is just that good."

Outdoor Life Editor Andrew McKean noted the magazine looked beyond just the numbers of trophy deer harvested. "When you're considering investing the time and money it can often take to go on a trophy hunt, it's important to consider all the factors to get the most accurate picture - which is what we've done," he said.

Still, Kentucky has recorded some impressive numbers of trophy deer in the past several years. In the 2011-12 season, for example, hunters took 77

Boone and Crockett Club eligible bucks. The department is still receiving scores from the 2012-13 season.

There are multiple reasons Kentucky's deer herd has such high quality: The state provides habitat guidance to landowners through its network of private lands wildlife biologists. Kentucky allows Sunday hunting and has extended seasons for deer, including a 136-day archery season this year.

Kentucky's one-buck rule also plays a major role in the state's trophy deer production. Before this rule, 80 percent of the bucks taken in Kentucky were just 1 1/2 years old - too young to grow into trophy class. However, since the state phased in its one-buck limit from 1989-1991, the number of young bucks being taken by hunters in Kentucky dropped to nearly 40 percent. With age comes larger antler size.

"If you look at the numbers, you'll see that hunters have taken trophy bucks in 116 of Kentucky's 120 counties," Gassett said. "If you do your homework and hunt hard, you just might take a trophy buck anywhere in the state."

center too. Anybody can do it. Ofcourse, some kinds of plants have better success rates than others. Regardless, I usually have close to 100% success myself.

Bare root trees and shrubs can only be dug during late fall and winter. Growers of this type liner or fruit material typically sort, grade and store in special cold storage houses. They can sell until they have sold out, or until hot weather, perhaps in May. Any trees not sold as bare root will have to be potted up or will have to be taken back to the fields and replanted by the nursery and grown for another year. (Otherwise they die and potential profits are lost.) And, for you, it's necessary to order bare root plants during the fall or winter or early spring so that you can plant them before the weather gets terribly hot or dry.

Planting of bare root trees is where some get worried. But, if you're planting thousands like the forest service, you put your tool in the ground, stick the plant in, and remove your tool. That's pretty much it. But, if it's an apple tree or a pear tree that is six feet tall, you may want to go to some more trouble. Just dig a hole like for any other tree, add a small amount of soil amendments to the planting hole, perhaps a fertilizer tablet or two that won't burn the roots, and leave the surface with a bit of a bowl effect to funnel rain or water from your hose towards the trunk of the new tree. Again, there are directions shipped with a package of trees—read them.

Water your new trees until the ground is soupy wet. Most of the time, deciduous trees that are planted bare-root do not need to be staked. (Another savings.)

and plant a big tree from a garden center that is wrapped in burlap, you need to prune some on the limbs.. One reason a large B&B tree does poorly the first couple seasons is because many roots got cut when it was dug, but nobody wants to take their new tree and cut half it's branches off! (They would be happier three or five years later if they did though). So, on your new bare root tree, trim off any broken or mis-placed limbs with sharp pruning shears. The more you remove the faster the little tree will take off growing. I would also add that removing broken roots, or extra-long roots may be desirable before you plant—just don't cut off the taproot if it has one—you know, that big root that goes straight down.

Bare root trees should be planted soon as possible when you receive them. Do not let them get too hot, too cold or the roots too dry. (But, don't think of putting the roots in a bucket of water and leaving them overnight either!)

If it will be days or weeks before you can plant your new bare root stock, "heel" them in somewhere. (This consists of planting the wad or bundle of trees in some soil, preferably in the shade outdoors somewhere in some loose topsoil.) You can take them up and plant when you are ready—hopefully before they leaf out in the spring though, as that will lessen their chances of survival.

The biggest down side to bare root tree planting is that you begin with a smaller size and have to be patient.

Like any other tree, it's smart to wrap the trunks or stems of your new bare root plants to keep the sun and varmints from harming the trunk of the new tree. Adding some mulch is also good...just don't put a bunch of fresh mulch up against the trunk of your new tree, keep it an inch or two away from the stems.

We could elaborate all day on this topic. But what I really wanted to do was to get the reader to think of an option for landscaping on a budget that they may not have considered previously. Bigger plant selections, lower costs: those are two good reasons to consider doing some or most of your plantings without the dirt, and skipping the high costs you'll pay at a garden center.

College students eligible for resident licenses

College students, who are always looking for the best deals in food and entertainment, should consider what fishing has to offer.

For just $20, the cost of an annual resident fishing license, students can spend their free time this semester having fun on the water while catching some "fast" food in the process.

"Fishing is a direct connection with nature," said Brian Clark, assistant director of the Public Affairs Division for the Kentucky

Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "It's a social activity that's easily combined with backpacking or camping."

Fishing is also an economical way to obtain local food. "The culmination of the fishing experience is cooking a meal with your fresh catch," said Clark.

All full-time students enrolled for at least six months in a college or university in Kentucky are considered Kentucky residents and therefore entitled to purchase a resident fishing license. The statute that defines residency also includes military service personnel on permanent assignment in Kentucky.

For those who are also interested in hunting, there are two other license options: the combination fishing and hunting license for $30 and the sportsman's license. The sportsman's license includes hunting and fishing licenses, plus trout, deer, turkey, dove and Kentucky waterfowl permits. The cost of the sportsman's license is $95 - a savings of $50 over licenses and permits if bought separately.

Good fishing waters are found statewide. To find a place to fish, visit the department's website at fw.ky.gov. Click on Fishing and Boating and follow the links.

Kentucky's license year begins March 1 and ends the last day of February.

Money Tips for Students

Managing your money

Students need to know how to manage money and to make it grow. Knowing what to do with your money helps you manage your income and expenses throughout your life. These tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) will help.

Entire sectors of the economy are dedicated to separating you from your hard-earned cash. Here are some tips to help you keep more of your money.

Every time you consider buying something, whether it's a soda or song download, ask yourself, "Do I really need this?" If the answer is no, don't buy it. Follow these tips:

- Don't get in over your head with buying clothes, eating out or living a lifestyle you can't pay for.
 - Buy smart by being a good consumer and researching your options.
 - Avoid buying something on impulse, especially high dollar items.
 - Comparison shop — you might find bargains elsewhere.
 - Always have a budget, monitor your checking account carefully and check your credit reports once a year for accuracy and possible identity theft.
- KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES). It provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon request at publications@kheaa.com.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

“They will often resale the decorations online, at pawn shops or even on the side of the road somewhere,” Peters said. “And they will often resale them in other counties or states to avoid being caught by law enforcement.”

Peters said that out of all the thefts he has worked in law enforcement, Memorial Day decoration thefts are always the most disgraceful to him.

“Memorial Day is a day where people honor those who have died by decorating their graves and it’s a shame to hear of people stealing those decorations off graves after they are placed there by loved ones,” Peters said. “Anyone that will steal from the dead or steal from a church will pretty much steal from anybody.”

by Powell’s wife, who was working outside in the front yard. At the officers’ request, she went back inside the house to get her husband and Powell eventually came to the front door while talking to someone on his cell phone.

After receiving consent from Powell to search his residence, officers found a hand written drug ledger and an Oxycodone tablet lying on the coffee table in the living room.

Officers then noticed a small safe in the living room. After asking Powell to unlock the safe, officers found a zip-lock bag containing $111 in $1 bills, two pill cutters and another zip-lock bag containing five Alprazolam tablets, one Valium tablet and several other pieces of crushed up tablets. Officers also found several hand-written drug ledgers with names, dollar amounts and milligram numbers of pills that were sold.

Officers also found a zip-lock bag containing 13 Oxycodone tablets on Powell at the time of his arrest. Powell told the officers that the Oxycodone pills were his medicine but when officers asked him where his prescription bottle was he told them that he buys his pills “off the street.”

Powell was charged with trafficking in a controlled substance and possession of a controlled substance. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $10,000 unsecured bond.

Peters said his office is advising people to not send any checks or money orders to anyone they do not know personally or have not been in contact with previously.

eral complaints of a possible meth lab at the home.

After receiving consent to search the property, Pennington located several items that were associated with manufacturing meth including a funnel, Coleman camping fuel, lighter fluid, bottle of crystal drain cleaner, two packs of lithium batteries and a blender with an unknown white powder residue. He also observed multiple used needles lying along several worn down paths that led to a storage building.

While Pennington was searching the property, Tillary continued to yell and scream profanities at him. Pennington apprehended Tillary as he was concerned for his own safety due to Tillary’s hostile behavior.

However, after Pennington apprehended Tillary, Kelley came out of the residence and demanded to know why he had detained him.

Kelley continued to yell and scream profanities at Pennington before his arrest. When Pennington told Kelley he was under arrest, he hit the cruiser twice with his fist and told Pennington that “he would get him.”

Kelley and Tillary were charged with manufacturing methamphetamine, drug paraphernalia and disorderly conduct. Kelley was also separately charged with menacing.

Both Kelley and Tillary remain lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash/property bond.

Kentucky Afield Outdoors

Hit some small waters now that summer’s here

It is hard to believe you needed a jacket for an evening outdoor barbecue on the weekend after the Preakness Stakes, but you did this year.

This past spring was one of the coolest in memory. Now that June is around the corner with temperatures finally striking the upper 80s, it is time to hit some overlooked small lakes to catch nice bluegill, redear sunfish, also called shellcrackers, largemouth bass and sunfish.

Smaller lakes grant excellent fishing opportunities to bank-bound anglers. With Free Fishing Days coming this Saturday and Sunday, try some of these lakes with a family member, especially one who doesn’t fish or has fallen out of the habit. On Free Fishing Days, anglers may fish Kentucky waters without a fishing license and keep fish if they abide by the proper minimum size and daily creel limits.

The fisheries division last week stocked several Fishing in Neighborhoods (FINs) lakes with 4- to 7-inch hybrid sunfish. Whitehall Park Lake in Madison County received 1,800 hybrid sunfish and Millennium Park Lake in Boyle County got 1,000 hybrid sunfish.

Lake Mingo in Jessamine County received 750 fish while Waymond Morris Park Lake and Yellow Creek Park Lake in Daviess County each received 1,500 hybrid sunfish. They stocked 660 of these fish in Lusby Lake in Scott County and 625 in Scott County Park Lake.

“These hybrid sunfish are chunky and they grow fast,” said Gerry Buynak, assistant director of fisheries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The 46,429-acre Peabody Wildlife Management Area (WMA) in Muhlenberg, Ohio and Hopkins counties holds dozens of small lakes and strip pits that have 77 boat ramps and 121 miles of gravel roads to access them. You’ll need a $15 user permit, available wherever fishing licenses are sold, to access Peabody WMA.

“A couple of those really clear pits have nice 11- to 12-inch redear sunfish in them,” said Rob Rold, northeastern fisheries district biologist for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. “Most of the clear Peabody pits are really good for redear and bluegill. There are lots of snails for them to eat and quality vegetation. Goose Lake, Musky Lake and Bottom Lake all offer quality fishing.”

The Ken and Sinclair Units of Peabody WMA both have large concentrations of lakes and pits. The Homestead Unit northeast of the Cool Springs community also holds many of these waters. Consult a printable map of Peabody WMA at the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife webpage at fw.ky.gov.

Rold also said 81-acre Mauzy Lake in Union County inside Higginson-Henry WMA is an up-and-coming producer of redear sunfish with strong numbers of fish around 10 inches long. Rold said the redear sunfish are holding in 4- to 5-feet of water and just about on their spawning beds. The lake also has an excellent population of 15- to 20-inch largemouth bass.

Overlooked 38-acre Stanford City Reservoir in Lincoln County rivals its close neighbor, Cedar Creek Lake, in the size of the largemouth bass swimming in its waters. “Our recent population sampling revealed a ton of largemouth bass in Stanford Reservoir with several larger bass over 22 inches,” said Marcy Anderson, assistant southeastern fisheries biologist for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. “We also saw some nice 7- to 8-inch redear sunfish in there as well.”

Anderson also recommends 361-acre Lake Rockcastle near Mt. Vernon in Rockcastle County for families. “There are a lot of bluegill in Lake Linville,” she said. “Linville has excellent bank access, great for family fishing.”

Cedar Creek Lake, 787 acres of water in Lincoln County, is an emerging producer of fat redear sunfish. “We saw many in the 7- to 9-inch class near the KY 1770 bridge that were chunky and large,” she said. “They are about to spawn.”

Get out with your family during the wonderful early summer weather and fish these overlooked waters.

The entire Spring Fishing Frenzy series will be posted at the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website at fw.ky.gov for future access to these articles.

Author Lee McClellan is an award-winning associate editor for Kentucky Afield magazine, the official publication of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. He is a lifelong hunter and angler, with a passion for smallmouth bass fishing.

Longest Day of Play set for June 20th

Mark your calendars and plan to attend one of the most fun and exciting events planned for the whole community. The event is free of charge. The Longest Day of Play and Community Health Fair will be held in conjunction with the Fit Family Run on June 20th, from 6-9 p.m., at the Rockcastle County Middle School track. The event encourages you to rediscover the fun of play and physical activity and provides health promotion and disease prevention education.

All events will be outdoors and stations will be set up with fun activities for all ages. You don't have to be a child to enjoy the Longest Day of Play. It is for the young and the young at heart. Community agencies are planning to not only educate, but also entertain you and your children at their stations. There will also be karate and clogging exhibitions.

Rockcastle Regional Hospital is sponsoring the Fit Family Run, which is event 6 of 12 in the County-Wide Stride run/walk series. The Fit Family Run includes a fastest kid in town race (6:15 p.m.), a family fun relay race (6:45 p.m.), and a 1-2 or 3 mile self-timed run/walk (7:15 p.m.). These races will be located at the Rockcastle County Middle School track. The admission to participate is three cans of food. The food will go to benefit the Project Appalachian Project Grateful Bread food pantry. For additional race info, visit www.rockcastleregional.org/race

"We hope the community will join us for a night of outdoor fun at the Longest Day of Play," said W. Anne Harris, event coordinator. "In an effort to increase physical activity among adults and youth in our county, we invite families to come out and "play" for an evening and encourage the incorporation of physical activity in their daily routines."

The Longest Day of Play and Community Health Fair is an annual event sponsored by Rockcastle Healthy Communities and supported by local community partners. Come join us for fun and games that will activate your body to maintain or improve your health. For more information, please call W. Anne Harris at 606-256-7891 or Nancy Keber at 606-256-2242.

Hospital hosts cancer support group June 18

Rockcastle Regional Hospital and Respiratory Care Center will host a cancer support group on Tuesday, June 18 from 5:30-6:30 p.m. The topic of discussion will be "Keeping Well in Mind, Body and Spirit" with Bro. Luther Allen, Rockcastle Regional Hospital Chaplain and W. Anne Harris, Rockcastle Regional Hospital Social Worker.

The support group will be held in the third floor of the Outpatient Services Center in the Education Center. A healthy meal will be provided. Cancer patients, family members and anyone interested in cancer support should attend this free program.

ditional needs besides the clinical treatment of their cancer. As they go through chemotherapy, radiation therapy or surgery, they may have special nutrition, rehabilitation or other medical needs. Cancer support groups can help deal with challenges associated with cancer and offers the opportunity to learn more about how to cope.

The cancer support group is one aspect of the supportive cancer care provided at Rockcastle Regional Hospital. For more information about any programs or to sign up for the cancer support group, contact Gayle DeBorde at 256-7798 or visit the website at www.rockcastleregional.org.

Hospital sponsors summer Lunch & Learn series

Rockcastle Regional Hospital & Respiratory Care Center will sponsor a series of Lunch and Learn events this summer.

The first event titled "Wellness for all Ages" will be on Thursday, June 27 at Bible Baptist Church with Ginger Mink-Cash, APRN. The second event titled "Cholesterol: Know your Numbers" will be on Wednesday, July 24 at First Baptist Church with Angela Parsons-Woods, MPAS, PA-C. The third event titled "What is Celiac Disease?" will be Thursday, August 29 at Brodhead Baptist Church with Brittany Perkins-Saylor, MPAS, PA-C. All events start at 12 noon.

"We've planned a summer series with our healthcare providers and hope to see our friends in the community join us," said Arielle Estes, Rockcastle Regional Community Relations Director. "We want to raise awareness and encourage proactive behavior and health education."

A healthy lunch will be provided for those who sign up. These events will be similar to "Dinner with a Doctor" events hosted by Rockcastle Regional Hospital. To register (by June 24, July 19 and August 29) or for more information, contact Arielle Estes at a.estes@rhrc.org or 256-7880.

The Rockcastle County Public Library has a display of artwork by local artist Cory Bond. Paintings of Cory's favorite subject, animals are displayed in the children's area and in the main library. Library hours are 9:30-6 Monday-Friday and 9:30-2 on Saturday.

BEFORE CONSOLIDATION

The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball

David Owens and M.T. Publishing Company, Inc. are joining forces to bring you Before Consolidation: The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball. This history/pictorial book will explore times before consolidation, when the county had three high schools, Mt. Vernon, Livingston and Brodhead.

The 1950s was known as the Golden Age of Basketball throughout Kentucky, which was probably when the county rivalry was at its height. This extraordinary book will take you through intense rivalries, when 36 players instead of 12 represented Rockcastle County or when passion was so strong that local police had to come to prevent hostilities from breaking out between Red Devil, Blue Devil or Tiger fans!

Only a limited number of books will be printed, therefore it is necessary to take all orders in advance. The pre-publication price is $37.50* for the deluxe standard edition and $64.95* for the genuine bonded leather edition if ordered by the pre-order deadline of July 31, 2013.

This 8 1/2" x 11" hardbound book will have a full color dust jacket and contain a minimum of 128 pages. You may have your copy personalized with a name stamping on the cover for a nominal charge. All pre-ordered books will contain the wording "Commemorative Edition" on the cover and a printed personal note from the author. These commemorative edition books are numbered as they are sold.

Complete the order form below and remit with payment no later than July 31, 2013. To order with credit card, go online to www.mtpublishing.com or call toll free 1-888-263-4702. Credit card orders will be kept on file and charged 30-60 days before shipping.

Make sure you order one for yourself and your family members too! The price will increase after publication, so don't hesitate, order your copies today!

 Meeting Dates and Time: 3RD MONDAY EACH MONTH 7PM

This report is designed to inform the public about the quality of water and services provided on a daily basis. Our commitment is to provide our customers with a safe, clean, and reliable supply of drinking water. We want to assure that we will continue to monitor, improve, and protect the water system and deliver a high quality product. Water is the most indispensable product in every home and we ask everyone to be conservative and help us in our efforts to protect the water source and the water system.

We treat surface water from Lake Linville. Activities and land uses upstream of Mt Vernon Water Works' source of water can pose potential risks to your drinking water. Under certain circumstances contaminants could be released that would pose challenges to water treatment, or even get into your drinking water. These activities, and how they are conducted, are of interest to the entire community because they potentially affect your health and the cost of treating your water. Activities immediately upstream of your water supply intake are of special concern because they provide little response time to the water system operators. An analysis of the susceptibility of the Mt. Vernon water supply to contamination indicates that this susceptibility is generally moderate. Areas of concern are: agricultural activity, septic systems, highways. An assessment of the watershed can be obtained from : City Hall (606) 256-3437, Kentucky Division of Water (502) 564-3410 or Cumberland Valley Area Development District.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects may be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and may pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water include: Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, (sewage plants, septic systems, livestock operations, or wildlife). Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, (naturally occurring or from stormwater runoff, wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming). Pesticides and herbicides, (stormwater runoff, agriculture or residential uses). Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, (by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, or from gas stations, stormwater runoff, or septic systems). Radioactive contaminants, (naturally occurring or from oil and gas production or mining activities).

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water to provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Some or all of these definitions may be found in this report:

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL) - the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG) - the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

Below Detection Levels (BDL) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.

Not Applicable (N/A) - does not apply.

Parts per million (ppm) - or milligrams per liter, (mg/l). One part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) - or micrograms per liter, (µg/L). One part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Parts per trillion (ppt) - one part per trillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000,000.

Parts per quadrillion (ppq) - one part per quadrillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000,000 years or one penny in $10,000,000,000,000.

Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - a measure of the radioactivity in water.

Millirems per year (mrem/yr) - measure of radiation absorbed by the body.

Million Fibers per Liter (MFL) - a measure of the presence of asbestos fibers that are longer than 10 micrometers.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity has no health effects. However, turbidity can provide a medium for microbial growth. Turbidity is monitored because it is a good indicator of the effectiveness of the filtration system.

Variances & Exemptions (V&E) - State or EPA permission not to meet an MCL or a treatment technique under certain conditions.

Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements that a water system shall follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Information About Lead:

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Your local public water system is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

NOTICE OF INVITATION TO BID CLIMAX VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT BUILDING ROCKCASTLE COUNTY FISCAL COURT

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court invites bids for the following work:

1. Climax Volunteer Fire Department (5,934 sq ft)
2. Footings, foundation, floor (concrete)
3. Framing, including doors, windows, roof
4. Cabinets and associated casework
5. Insulation and Caulking
6. Plumbing
7. Electrical
8. HVAC

Plans may be picked up at the County Judge's office. If bidding the complete package, the County requires an itemized list of costs for the individual components listed above.

The County will also consider bids for individual components listed above.

All bids must be received by the Office of County Judge-Executive by NOON, June 20th, 2013, for review.

Buzz Carloftis - County Judge-Executive

Recycling Center Is Now Open!!!

The Rockcastle County Recycling Center is located at 2528 South Wilderness Rd (US 25 South) next to the Rockcastle County Road Department Garage and is open Monday thru Friday from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. (closed on major holidays).

The following items may be recycled:
 Newspapers w/inserts, magazines, catalogs, office paper, junk mail, shredded paper, books, phone books, cardboard (corrugated and slick), plastics #1-7, plastic grocery store bags, metal cans, aerosol cans, aluminum cans, aluminum foil, aluminum pie plates, glass bottles and glass jars, old cell phones, car batteries, empty printer and toner cartridges, old computers and all related accessories, telephones, radios, digital clocks, televisions, rechargeable batteries (if the battery says rechargeable on it, then it is recyclable), and large bulky metal items.

Clean used motor oil may also be dropped off at the Rockcastle County Road Department.

If you have any questions, you may call the Rockcastle County Solid Waste Office at 606-256-1902

The data presented in this report are from the most recent testing done in accordance with administrative regulations in 401 KAR Chapter 8. As authorized and approved by EPA, the State has reduced monitoring requirements for certain contaminants to less often than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Some of the data in this table, though representative, may be more than one year old. Unless otherwise noted, the report level is the highest level detected.

	Allowable Levels	Highest Single Measurement	Lowest Monthly %	Violation	Likely Source
Turbidity (NTU) TT	No more than 1 NTU*
* Representative samples of filtered water	Less than 0.3 NTU in 95% of monthly samples	0.58	96	No	Soil runoff

Contaminant [code] (units)	MCL	MCLG	Report Level	Range of Detection	Date of Sample	Violation	Likely Source of Contamination
Radioactive Contaminants
Combined radium (pCi/L)	5	0	0.90	0.9 to 0.9	Oct-10	No	Erosion of natural deposits
Inorganic Contaminants
Barium [1010] (ppm)	2	2	0.019	0.019 to 0.019	Jan-12	No	Drilling wastes; metal refineries; erosion of natural deposits
Copper [1022] (ppm)	AL = 1.3	1.3	0.12 (90 th percentile)	0.004 to 0.78	Aug-10	No	Corrosion of household plumbing systems
Fluoride [1025] (ppm)	4	4	1.01	0.8 to 1.23	Sep 2012	No	Water additive which promotes strong teeth
Lead [1030] (ppb)	AL = 15	0	9 (90 th percentile)	2 to 17	Aug-10	No	Corrosion of household plumbing systems
Nitrate [1040] (ppm)	10	10	0.900	0.9 to 0.9	Jan-12	No	Runoff from fertilizer use; leaching from septic tanks, sewage; erosion of natural deposits
Disinfectants/Disinfection Byproducts and Precursors
Total Organic Carbon (ppm) (measured as ppm, but reported as a ratio)	TT*	N/A	1.38 (lowest average)	1.18 to 2.94 (monthly ratios)	N/A	No	Naturally present in environment.
*Monthly ratio is the % TOC removal achieved to the % TOC removal required. Annual average of the monthly ratios must be 1.00 or greater for compliance.
Chlorine (ppm)	MRDL = 4	MRDLG = 4	1.42 (highest average)	0.46 to 2.11	N/A	No	Water additive used to control microbes.
HAA (ppb) (all sites) [Haloacetic acids]	60	N/A	35 (system average)	22 to 54 (range of system sites)	N/A	No	Byproduct of drinking water disinfection
TTHM (ppb) (all sites) [total trihalomethanes]	80	N/A	36 (system average)	3 to 80 (range of system sites)	N/A	No	Byproduct of drinking water disinfection.
