Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and bleach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

An encouraging word:

Just Make Lemonade

By Howard Coop

On a beautiful spring morning, the telephone rang. I was expecting a call, but I was totally unprepared for the disappointing message that call brought. I was informed that I had been transferred to a new situation, which I expected, in a place I had not expected. It was a bad way to begin a new day.

For a period, I had lived and worked in a stressful environment in which an entire community was torn apart by a bad situation in the local school system. I was hoping to be moved to a more pleasant and more peaceful environment, but I was informed that I was to move to a community that had an even greater notoriety. Because of that notoriety, it had received an abundance of national publicity. The county seat of the county to which I was scheduled to move had just been dubbed "Sin city USA" by LIFE magazine. I had no desire to live and work in that kind of environment, but that was where I was assigned to work.

With a heavy heart and many doubts, I spend the next few days preparing for the move. When the time came, the move was made. When we arrived at our new home, we were warmly greeted and graciously received by a wonderful group of caring and supporting people.

For four years, we lived and worked in that pleasant community. After fifty years, I remember the warm friendships that were established, and I look back upon those four years as one of the more pleasant and rewarding experiences of my career.

Life does not always give us what we want. Sometimes it gives us experiences that are unpleasant and faces us with situations we do not like. But it isn't what life gives us; it's how we react to, and what we do with, what life gives us. The old adage I have heard repeated all of my life says it well: "If someone gives you a lemon, just make lemonade."

Mamaw's Kitchen

By Regina Poynter Hoskins

DEBBIE'S POTATO SALAD
5 lbs. red skinned potatoes (chopped in large pieces)
3 or 4 stalks of celery (finely chopped)
1 or 2 small bunches scallions (green tops only - finely sliced)
16 oz. container sour cream
1 to 2 cups mayonnaise (depending on how wet you like it)
2 tablespoons whole celery seed
Salt to taste

Bring large pot of water to boil. Leave skin on potatoes, clean and cut off any bad spots, chop in large pieces and boil for 25 minutes. After potatoes cook, cool them either in the refrigerator or under cold water (water is much faster). Drain and place potatoes in very large bowl; slice up any large pieces while combining all ingredients well. Refrigerate for at least one hour then enjoy!

REGINA'S POTATO SALAD
5 medium-sized white potatoes
1 tablespoon dill pickle juice
1 to 2 tablespoons yellow mustard
1/3 to 1/2 cup Miracle Whip®
1/2 cup chopped sweet pickle
1/3 cup chopped onion

1/2 cup chopped dill pickle
2 hard boiled eggs, chopped
Salt
Scrub potatoes and place in large pan. Cover with cold water, add one teaspoon salt and boil their jacket about 20 minutes or until fork tender. Drain and let cool until you can peel them without burning your hands. In a large bowl mix the dill pickle juice, mustard and Miracle Whip®. Dice the potatoes into the dressing. Add rest of ingredients and stir.

JEFF'S POTATO SALAD
8 medium white potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup white wine vinegar
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup shredded parmesan or cheddar cheese
Wash potatoes. Cook the whole potatoes in boiling salted water until tender but still firm, about 20 minutes. Peel the potatoes while still warm and cut into slices. Place in a large bowl. In another bowl, combine the salt and vinegar. Mix until the salt dissolves. Add the oil and parsley and mix well. Pour over the potatoes and toss gently, but thoroughly, until all the liquid is absorbed. Sprinkle with cheese. Serve warm or room temperature.

KU offers tips to beat the heat, save energy

As temperatures continue to rise across the Commonwealth, so can customers' energy use.

Although Kentucky Utilities and Louisville Gas and Electric Company's power system continues to successfully meet customers' increased energy demand, the companies encourage customers to take simple energy efficiency steps to help lower energy consumption during a heat wave.

While record-breaking energy demand isn't forecast this week, KU reminds customers that taking steps to reduce energy use - particularly during the hottest parts of the day - can help the utility better manage peak load on its electric system.

"We always request that customers think about using energy wisely, but this becomes even more important during high energy use periods," said Chris Whelan, Vice President of Communications for LG&E and KU. "Our employees work hard to safely and reliably meet customers' energy needs around the clock, and we ask customers to partner with us in managing overall energy use during the continued heat wave."

As always, it is important for customers on critical life support to maintain a back-up source of energy at all times. Industrial customers should also take high temperatures into account when planning their production schedule.

Customers can help better manage energy demand by taking the following actions:

- Set air conditioners to the highest comfortable setting during the day: 78-80 degrees works for most people. In addition to helping LG&E and KU manage load, raising your air conditioner setting by one degree can save you 4-7 percent on the cooling portion of your energy bill.

- Turn off all unnecessary lights.

- Turn off all unnecessary appliances. If you must run your dishwashers, dryers and washing machines, do so during the evening hours (after 7 p.m.) when energy consumption is lower.

- Use ceiling fans to circulate the cool air. Fans do their jobs by cooling you - not the room, so turn them off when you leave the room. Window fans, ceiling fans or whole-house fans use much less power and are an alternative to air conditioners.

- Cook outdoors on your grill; use a microwave oven or crockpot or prepare cold meals.

The all-time LG&E and KU system peak energy use record occurred on Aug. 4, 2010, at 3 p.m., when customers demanded more than 7,175 megawatts of electricity. (One megawatt can power up to 720 households using an average of 1,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity each for one month).

Visit www.lge-ku.com/savingenergy for additional tips and information concerning energy efficiency programs.

Fiscal Court loans funds to Livingston for building purchase

At a special called meeting of the fiscal court Wednesday, Livingston Mayor Jason Medley asked the court to loan the city $35,000 to purchase the Forster Mullins building and make it "structurally sound."

Purchase price of the building, located on Main Street, is $20,000, Medley said and an estimated $13,500 will be used to replace the back wall of the structure.

Medley said the city plans to generate revenue from the over 5,000 sq. ft. building with possibly a coffee shop, retail store and renovating part of it for a hostel/inn for visitors to the city which was recently officially designated the second Trail Town in Kentucky.

The mayor said the town could repay the county at the rate of $300 a month.

Medley told the court that, to date, the city has received about $5,400 in donations, primarily from alumni of Livingston School. "The energy is very positive in Livingston from both alumni and local residents," Medley said. Much of the renovation of the Mullins' building will be done by volunteers Medley told the court.

Magistrate Ralph Allen made a motion to approve the loan to the city. It was seconded by County Judge/Executive Buzz Carlotis and Magistrates Bill McKinney and Lee Earl Adams voted yes. Magistrates Gary Burdette and William Denny were not present for the meeting.

The court also approved an application by the Livingston Volunteer Fire Dept. for a Homeland Security grant, through the state, to purchase water rescue equipment.

In other business, the court approved a list of roads to be submitted for approval by the state for FLEX fund usage. The county currently has $367,000 to spend on these roads.

Carlotis told the court that estimates of the cost of repaving sections of each of the roads will have to be made by Greer Bros. before the list can be submitted to the state.

The list of roads include: Wildie, Anglin Falls, Freedom School, Hummel, Wind Chime, Grace Loop, Smallwood, Lear Lane, Possum Kingdom, Chestnut Grove, Brushy Ridge, Wolf Creek, Sand Hill, McCollum, Doc Adams, Cane Branch, Copper Creek, Grassy Branch, PurrRigsby, Buffalo Branch, Bloss, Foggy Hollow, Poppy Lane, Stallsworth Branch and Sweetwater.

Jury Trial next Monday for remaining woman charged with Bullock murder

By: Doug Ponder
The fifth and final defendant, in connection with the shooting death of Jackie

Bullock, 34, of Mt. Vernon will have her jury trial next week.

Jessica Hailey Robinson,

22, of London is charged with murder, manufacturing methamphetamine and first degree robbery. Her trial will be next Monday at 9 a.m. in Rockcastle County Circuit Court.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Bullock was at a home on Lone Oak Drive in Mt. Vernon on December 1, 2011 before he was murdered. After he left the home, he was later found dead in the driver's seat of his vehicle after it had rolled approximately 300 yards down a hill off Lone Oak Road and smashed through a fence.

Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant, who was in charge of the vehicle accident investigation, determined that Bullock's death was a homicide after discovering a gunshot wound in his side.

In December of 2011, Bryant originally arrested and charged Mt. Vernon residents Gary Lee Kirby, 19, Joshua Duane Cameron, 25 and Bobby Peters, 36 with the murder of Bullock. After further investigation, Bryant also arrested Mary Hannah Hunsucker, 24 of Mt. Vernon and Robinson, charging them with the murder of Bullock as well.

Upon further investigation, Bryant determined that all five people allegedly murdered Bullock during an attempted robbery of his prescription medication. Bryant also found a meth lab at Peters' home during the investigation.

Kirby, Cameron, Peters and Hunsucker all pled guilty to murdering Bullock, during their respective Police arrested Ryan Edwards Peters, 33, of Knoxville Monday afternoon, after he was involved in a two vehicle accident on I-75 southbound at the 54 mile marker in Rockcastle County. Authorities say Peters was traveling in the middle lane when he reportedly hydroplaned and drove into the path of another vehicle driven by Priscilla Bernhold, 66, of London who was traveling in the right lane. After the two vehicles collided, both cars ran off the roadway and hit a rock embankment, eventually coming to rest approximately 25 yards from the point of collision. Bernhold, as well as Peters and his passenger Mary Elizabeth Wilson, 36, of Knoxville, were transported to Saint Joseph London Hospital where they were treated and later released. Peters was later arrested on numerous endangerment, theft and drug charges after police found drugs and another woman's purse in his vehicle. The case is still under investigation by the Kentucky State Police and Trooper Scottie Pennington is in charge of the investigation. Further charges are pending.

Mom had an old Stromberg Carlson radio sitting on top of the Maytag refrigerator in our kitchen when I was a little boy. She had a piece of copper wire run through the kitchen window out to her steel clothes line to use for what she called an "aerial" to pick up faraway stations. We later found out that it was really called an antenna.

We could get several local daytime stations without hooking the aerial up and even a few of the big city AM stations at night when they turned their broadcast power up. WCKY from Cincinnati, WSM from Nashville, WNOX from Knoxville, WJJD from Chicago and maybe a dozen others whose call letters I don't remember and who mostly didn't play anything worth listening to.

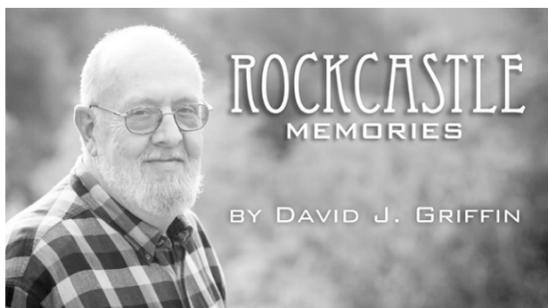

But with the aerial plugged in, we could sometimes pick up radio stations in Canada that played country music on clear nights. The Canadians liked to record and replay last week's Grand Ole Opry and it got us boys standing in kitchen chairs and reaching for the top of the appliance again because we thought that Grandpa Jones and Roy Acuff and Cousin Jody and Minnie Pearl, and Patsy Cline, And Mama Maybelle Carter had collectively hung the moon.

It was always hit or miss with those stations out of Toronto, Montreal, Windsor and Quebec because they might have the power turned up one night and the next night you couldn't get a thing. One station even had an announcer who only spoke French so you couldn't understand a word he was saying but all the records he played were USA top 40 country hits.

I've forgotten what the station was but it was out of

American Graffiti - The Soundtrack and Video of My Youth

I watched the movie American Graffiti again.

I don't have any idea how many times I have seen it, but I am always just as spellbound as I was the first time I saw the 1973 film. Set in 1962 Modesto, California, American Graffiti is a study of the cruising and rock-and-roll values popular among the baby boom generation. It is a nostalgic portrayal of teenage life in the early 60's, spun out in a series of vignettes, featuring the story of a group of teenagers and their adventures within one late summer evening. Nominated for the Academy Award for Best Picture, it has become one of the most profitable movies of all time.

The movie was directed by George Lucas and produced by Francis Ford Coppola. It starred Richard Dreyfuss, Ron Howard, Paul Le Mat, Charles Martin Smith, Candy Clark, Mackenzie Phillips, Cindy Williams, and (my favorite) Wolfman Jack. Interestingly, I have discovered that in 1995, the United States Library of Congress deemed the film "culturally, historically, or aesthetically significant" and selected it for preservation in the National Film Registry.

Lucas used his own early 1960s teenage experiences - cruising and listening to rock music - to document the entire experience. He also used the character of Wolfman Jack and his radio show to carry the music throughout the film relying on the popular hit songs of the day. It begins with the hit Rock Around the Clock and includes forty-one songs that were chart toppers around 1962 (my senior year).

On Call

By: Rick Branham

Last week I left off with this question, what two founding fathers of America were volunteer firefighters? The answer is Benjamin Franklin and George Washington.

Benjamin Franklin is credited with forming the Union Volunteer Fire Company in 1736 in Philadelphia. His fire company was often referred to as Benjamin Franklin's Bucket Brigade. Now doing some further research on Wikipedia, because you can find all kinds on information on Wikipedia, I discovered some interesting facts about the department. Each member agreed to have six (6) leather buckets and two (2) linen bags. These items had to be purchased at their expense and they were expected to have these items at every fire. The buckets were used to shuttle water to the fire, hence the name bucket brigade. The linen bags had to be sturdy in order to place and hold property that was in danger of the fire. The department was limited to 30 members and met eight (8) times per year. There meetings were important and you were fined for being late or missed a meeting. By the end of 1791 the fire department had in their possession 250 buckets, 13 ladders and 2 hooks.

George Washington volunteered for the Friendship Veterans Fire Engine Company in Alexandria, Virginia. Not much is known about Washington's volunteer career but in 1774 he purchased a new fire engine for the town, which was their first fire engine.

There is so much of American history revolving around these two gentlemen, which is hard to believe that at one point in their lives they were volunteer firefighters. The history of the fire service is fascinating and knowing that two of our founding fathers were a part of that history is amazing.

Some other historical parts of the fire service that is worth mentioning, is that the first horse drawn steam engine was invented in 1829 but was not accepted in structural firefighting until 1860. In 1907 the arrival of internal combustion fire engines led to the decline of the steam engines by 1925.

Earlier this week Mt. Vernon and Brodhead worked together to contain a structure fire in a trailer. Both departments did an outstanding job and were able to save much of the property. That was not always the case. During the early to mid-1800's New York City fire companies, responding to a structure fire would often break out in a brawl to determine who would fight the fire in order to get paid the insurance money. Often times they would send a runner out with a barrel to cover the closest fire hydrant so the opposing fire company would not have a water source. Even to this day there are disagreements between departments about the territories they cover. However, that is not the case in Rockcastle. Each department works together to provide the citizens with the best possible protection.

That is all for the history of the fire service. Next week I am going to start into actual firefighting. What the duties of a firefighter are and tools we use? Later I will get into the science of fire and fire behavior. The question I leave you with is, there are certain goals that firefighters strive to achieve when fighting a fire, can you name them?

Strange... But True?

by: Tonya J. Cook

The Pooka

Anyone who knows me very well can tell you I'm a classic movie fan. As Stanley always says, "If it's in color, you'll not like it." It's true, most of my favorite movies come from the "golden age of Hollywood", the 1930s, 1940s, and early 1950s. One of my favorite classic movies is a movie called, "Harvey", from 1950. It's a movie (in black and white) adapted from a Pulitzer prize-winning play that had a very successful run on Broadway. It stars James Stewart as Elwood P. Dowd, whose best friend is a huge 6'4" rabbit-a "pooka" named Harvey. Elwood and Harvey manage to surprise, embarrass, exasperate, and charm everyone they meet, even Elwood's sister that shares a house with the two. She admits in a moment of weakness, "Sometimes I think I see him (Harvey), too."

Harvey is a pooka. What is a pooka you may ask? It is an impish spirit, especially in Irish folklore; a mischievous spirit that takes on the form of an animal. They usually appear as horses, goats, rabbits, dogs, or goblins, but always dark in color. They are said to be the bringer of good or bad fortune, and may either help or hinder a situation. They have their roots in northwestern European cultures such as Welsh mythology, where they appear as fairies and live near stones. The old people of Ireland said that the pooka were plentiful long ago, and they were "wicked-minded, black-looking bad things..."

It is said that even having the form of an animal, the pooka has the power of human speech. They have been known to give wise advice, although they enjoy causing confusion and terrifying humans. The pookas have a reputation of never causing any serious harm.

The pooka is closely associated with Scottish or Irish harvest festivals that are held on October 31-November 1. When the last of the crops are brought in, a portion is always left as "the pooka's share" to feed them through the winter ahead. November 1 is the Pooka Day, the day all pookas are on their best behavior. Any food left out after November 1 is spoiled by the pookas making it not fit for human consumption. Wild berries, such as blackberries, that spoil on the bush are said to have been ruined by the pookas, even in the summer. This is closely related to Halloween and All Saints Day.

On November 1, the pooka may appear and offer prophecies and warnings to those who inquire. They are nature's folk, and live in the hills and mountains, or bogs and marshes. Don't be sur-

Tennessee and two or three nights a week a preacher named Garner Ted Armstrong came on with a 15 minute program called The World Tomorrow. He predicted that time was going to end in the 70's and listeners needed to send him money so he could get the world ready for it.

Garner Ted also sold books and offered a free subscription to The Plain Truth magazine which my Mom read like it was another version of the Bible. The radio show wouldn't have been so bad if I hadn't had to listen to it. The only way it would come in loud and plain enough to hear and understand was if somebody stood in a chair and kept their hand on top of the radio. Guess who got stuck with that duty.

Then on another night of the week there was a preacher with a 15 minute faith healing show on the same station who claimed that he could cure anything if you'd just hold your hand on the radio and let him pray for you. He always had testimonials from deaf people who started hearing, blind folks that started seeing again, crippled up people who started walking again and stuff like that.

There wasn't much cancer going around back in the 1950's but every once in awhile he'd cure a case or two of cancer or maybe TB. Anyway, I'd have to stand up there and hold my hand on top of the radio until the testimonials were all done and it came time to do some serious healing then Mom would let me get down so she could reach up and touch the radio and get cured. She could reach it from the floor without having to stand in a chair and I was always glad to get down because there was hardly ever anything wrong with me except for a touch of tonsillitis every now and then.

I'd have felt pretty stupid having that faith healer working on tonsillitis when he had all those deaf, blind, crippled-up and heart patients to deal with. Not to mention the occasional case of cancer and TB.

"Strange"

prised if they appear as a disfigured goblin who demands a share of the harvest (Trick-or-treat).

There is also a Pooka curse. It is a spell caused by the Crystalline Cauldron, an apocalyptic weapon created by the insane King Valentine prior to his death that works through the power of crystals. The victim is turned into a small rabbit-like creature and is also given immortality. Along with the immortality, the victim must spend their life searching for the Valentinian coins in order to receive one wish.

Until recently, I had no knowledge of a pooka until I looked it up as a taxi driver did in the movie, while at the mental institution where Elwood was taken. If you see the movie, you will see that Harvey has a lot of fun at the expense of everyone except Elwood. Youtube has a few clips from the movie...it may be as close as we'll ever get to seeing a pooka.

"Memories"

Jack's radio show) used in the motion picture were actual calls made by real people. Information released by Lucas notes, "Wolfman Jack's radio show was the backbone of the film. The Wolfman was an ethereal presence in the lives of young people, and it was that quality we wanted and obtained in the picture."

It has always amazed me how many themes in the film were actually part of my life personally as well as the lives of most Rockcastle County teenagers. With the exception of the population of Modesto, California, the cars (58 Chevy - Deuce Coupe - 55 Chevy and a variety of Hot Rods), the Drive-in restaurant, drag racing, high school dates and sock hops, dances (Jitterbug - The Twist - waltzes), parking, and going steady - those were the things that occupied our time and attention in those days.

Lucas accurately used some of the most popular, customized hot rods of the era. Even the climactic drag race at the end of the movie was so perfectly filmed that it took me back to the days of drag racing in Rockcastle County. A character known as "Toad" used a flashlight to start the final drag race. I can remember several of my friends waving a handkerchief to initiate the beginning of races of our day. Another teen would stand at the end of the marked quarter mile race on US 25 highway in order to determine the winner of the race. It is amazing how accurately the filmed scenes were portrayed. I felt nervous just watching that deuce coupe line up against the "souped up" 55 Chevy. It reminded me of so many of my friends trying to decide who had the "badest" car in the county.

I don't think we ever determined a county-wide winner. One week Charles Hensley would be on top, while the next week it might be one of the Fain boys. Sometime later, it would be a totally different teen who claimed to have the hottest ride in the county. Oh, how we loved those competitions!

Even the high school "sock-hop" appeared identical to the days at Mt. Vernon High School. So many of the guys were too nervous to "jitterbug" but would crowd the gym floor as soon as songs like The Great Pretender, I Only Have Eyes For You, or Only You began to play. Many of us gathered in the corners of the gym to hold our dates close as the Platters serenaded us.

Any old-timer like me will be transported to another era when watching this film. It can make you feel like you are sitting in one of those cars, cruising and listening to our radios. Time magazine wrote, "American Graffiti reveals a new and welcome depth of feeling. Few films have shown quite so well the eagerness, the sadness, the ambitions and small defeats of a generation of young Americans." Variety observed, "The movie was a vivid recall of teenage attitudes and morals, told with outstanding empathy and compassion through an exceptionally talented cast of unknown actors." I couldn't agree more!

If you get the chance to catch the film (or better still to see it in a theater), I highly recommend that you do so. I fail to see how anyone could improve on this depiction of that magical time and its charming, almost naive, youngsters and their way of life. I'm one of the lucky ones - I got to live it.

(You can reach me at themtnman@att.net or you can drop me a line at P.O. Box 927 - Stanton, KY 40380. I appreciate your comments and suggestions.)

Reporting 2013 Losses
Excessive rain across the state have damaged some crops and slowed development of others. USDA reminds producers faced with questions on crop losses to contact their crop insurance companies and local USDA Farm Service Agency Service Centers, as applicable, to report damages to crops or livestock loss, and not to destroy or discontinue care for your crops.

Farmers are reminded to report any loss within 72 hours of discovery to their insurance company. Farmers must report prevented planting acreage to their insurance company, in writing, within 15 calendar days after the final planting date.

Losses must be reported and an insurance adjuster must view and release the crop before the crop is destroyed.

Farmers are also reminded to contact their insurance agent if they have any questions about coverage, prevented planting, or for reporting and processing a claim.

Producers who have not purchased NAP insurance may report losses within the 15 day time period and file the FSA Notice of Loss form for reporting purposes only.

USDA reminds livestock producers to keep thorough records of losses, including additional expenses for such things as food purchased due to lost supplies.

For additional information and updates about USDA's efforts, please visit www.usda.gov/disaster.

Direct and Counter-Cyclical Payment Program (DCP)

The American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012, enacted on Jan. 2, 2013, amends the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 and provides for a one-year extension of the Direct and Counter-Cyclical (DCP) program. To be eligible for direct and counter-cyclical payments, producers must enroll their farms in DCP during the sign-up period which began on Feb. 19, 2013 and ends on Aug. 2, 2013. Please call 606-256-2525 to schedule an appointment.

Crop Acreage Reporting Extended

Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds agricultural producers of the acreage reporting requirements that must be met prior to receiving program benefits. Filing an accurate acreage report for all crops and land uses, including failed acreage and prevented planting acreage, can prevent the loss of benefits for a variety of programs. Has been extended to August 2nd which now is the final date to certify all crops, except small grains.

Producers must report acreages to maintain eligibility for Price Support Programs, Noninsured Crop Assistance Program (NAP), Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) and Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP). All cropland on farms must be certified to remain eligible for these programs

Ben "Cooter" Jones to be at Renfro Valley

Ben Jones from Dukes of Hazzard fame is performing at Renfro Valley with his band called Cooter's Garage Band on August 10 at 8 p.m. Jones has had a long and distinguished career in entertainment and politics. He grew up in a railroad shack in Portsmouth, Va., and he began acting professionally in theatre while attending the University of North Carolina.

He has appeared in more than 80 theatrical productions, 25 feature films and hundreds of television programs. He became internationally popular as one of the stars of the Dukes of Hazzard TV series, which is still a hit today in more than 50 countries. Jones played the role of 'Cooter,' the mechanic who was always busy fixing up cars, including the General Lee. The General Lee, an orange Dodge Charger, has been named one of the most popular cars in TV and film history.

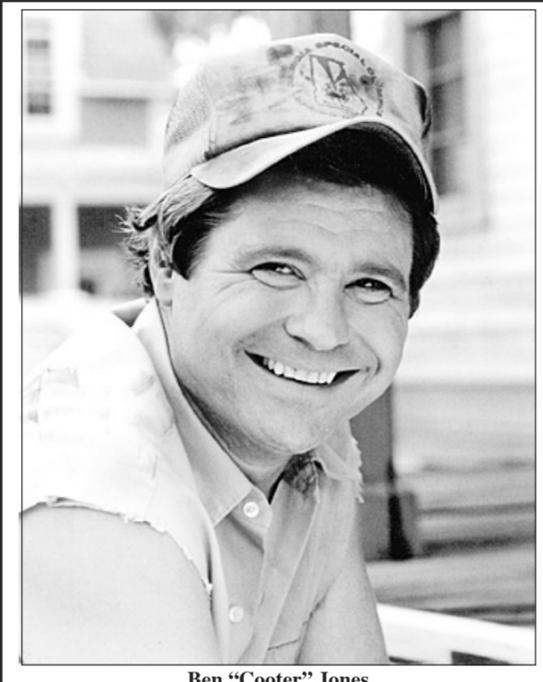

From 1989 to 1993, Jones served in the U.S. Congress, representing Georgia's fourth district, and as a political commentator, he has appeared on many national television programs.

The Dukes craze is still alive today, thanks in part to Jones and his wife, Alma. The couple is planning "Dukes of Hazzard Fan Fair", a Dukes of Hazzard themed festival in June 2013 in Nashville.

In addition, Jones and his wife are the proprietors of two Dukes themed stores/museums called Cooter's Place. The two locations are Nashville and Gatlinburg, TN.

In 2008, Jones released his first book titled Redneck Boy in the Promised Land. In the book, Jones shares his inspiring story and improbable rise to fame.

Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue and Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department responded to a trailer fire Sunday night on Barnett Road in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say the trailer was owned by Harriet Griffin of Mt. Vernon and no one was home at the time of the fire. The trailer was a total loss and the cause of the fire remains unknown.

court trials in 2012. Hunsucker was sentenced to 20 years in prison while Kirby, Cameron and Peters were sentenced to 25 years in prison, due to their separate charges for manufacturing methamphetamine.

Commonwealth Attorney Eddy Montgomery is reportedly recommending either life without possibility of parole or life with possibility of parole in 25 years after taking the death penalty off the table as a possible punishment for Robinson, during her motion hearing in Rockcastle Circuit Court last Wednesday.

Robinson currently remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $500,000 cash/property bond.

Individuals contact the number purporting to be for their financial institution, they receive an automated message asking them to enter their account information in order to stop any fraudulent activity. Once the victim enters their account information, Peters said it allows the con artists to use the victim’s account for unauthorized purchases.

“These messages are very sophisticated and tricky,” Peters said. “These con artists pose as the individuals’ banking or credit card company to make it appear to be real. Once you give them your information, they’ve got you over a barrel.”

Peters said it is hard for his office or any other law enforcement agency to track down the con artists because the messages are always traced back to areas outside the United States.

“The messages are almost always traced back to another country overseas,” Peters said. “They make it hard for us to track them down and they are really good at covering their tracks.”

Peters went on to say that his office encourages people to be wary of unsolicited messages asking them to input their personal information such as account numbers, social security numbers, etc. He said people can always determine the validity of the messages by calling their financial institution.

“People need to simply call their financial institutions to find out if the messages are real or fake,” Peters said. “Of course, people need to call the correct phone number for their financial institution and not the fake phone numbers provided in the messages.”

were added to the list: Halcomb East, Cove Branch, Derby Lane and Mullins Station. Two roads included on the list, Ford Hollow and Calloway Branch, will not be worked on until logging operations currently using the roads are completed.

As the final item of business of the special called session, County Treasurer Joe Clontz presented the court with the final settlement for all funds for fiscal year 2012-13.

The settlement showed a total of $856,661.23 as a cash balance for all funds with a balance of $702,132 in the general fund. This fund includes the balance in the occupational tax fund. The county’s financial statement for all funds, and a list of the county’s liabilities, will appear in an issue during August.

marijuana cultivation, including potting soil, triple 19 fertilizer and Miracle Grow.

Officers also found two unlabeled pill bottles containing several Percocet and Clonazepam tablets.

During an interview, Deborde told officers that the marijuana plants belonged to him. Officers also found a firearm belonging to Deborde during their search. Upon further investigation, officers found that Deborde was not allowed to possess any firearms after being convicted of a felony in 1996.

Deborde was charged with two counts of possession of a controlled substance, cultivating marijuana (five plants or more), possession of marijuana, drug paraphernalia advertisement and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center and later released on a $5,000 unsecured bond.

pital where they were treated and later released.

After the three were transported from the scene, Deputy Sheriff Shannon Franklin found several drug-related items inside Peters’ vehicle, including marijuana, suboxone strips and a pill bottle containing Xanax and Vyvanse tablets.

Franklin immediately informed Kentucky State Police Post 11 in London about what he had found and they dispatched Trooper Scottie Pennington to the hospital. While in the hospital, Peters told Pennington that he had smoked marijuana the night before the accident. Pennington also noticed that Peters appeared nervous and had slurred speech.

Upon further investigation, Pennington found an Ohio woman’s purse inside Peters’ vehicle. Both Peters and Wilson gave Pennington conflicting stories about how they obtained the Ohio woman’s purse. Pennington later learned that the couple had stolen the purse from a concert in Ohio.

After being released from the hospital, Peters was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, possession of a controlled substance, DUI, first degree wanton endangerment, receiving stolen property and operating on a suspended license. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $2,000 unsecured bond.

The case is still under investigation by Kentucky State Police and Trooper Scottie Pennington is in charge of the investigation. Further charges were pending at the time of publication.

Three generations of native's family serves in the military

Ed's Note: LaMar Doutaz, a former resident of Spiro, and his descendants were the subject of a July 6th feature article in the News and Record in Greensboro, NC. Mr. Doutaz, the son of the late Roy and Cleo Gentry Doutaz, joined the Navy when he was 17 and served in WWII. He returned after his service and married Elizabeth Hunt, daughter of Virgil and Mary Hunt of Mareburg, who was a teacher at Poplar Grove at the time. They moved to Richmond, Indiana in 1948 and he now lives in High Point, NC. This article, by Harry Theford, is reprinted below.

Unusualness does not stop with La Mar Doutaz's name. A street-level glance at his High Point lawn, garden, landscaping, garage and workshop signals he takes unusual neatness to a new level. His idea of pre-memorialized could be covenanted out in lesser neighborhoods.

Once past the neatness crevasse, Doutaz grades out as an unusually wonderful and terribly compatible neighbor. Disarmingly humble, he is trim and fit, dresses neatly, converses engagingly and offers you the best chair on his shady and friendly front porch.

That is not to say Doutaz is unexcitable. He can become unusually freed when it comes to freedom, patriotism and cross-generational members of his family who have answered the call to serve their country.

Suprisingly, Doutaz's personal World War II Navy story begins at Glenn High School with Matthew Gentry Seman. Seman is a ROTC student and La Mar's great grandson. Seman is "leaning Air Force upon graduation," his great grandfather said.

Tyler Manning, another Doutaz great grandson, is an Army medic now serving in Japan after completing a one-year deployment in Afghanistan.

The zip in Doutaz's conversation continued on the grandchildren level, too. Grandson Jeffrey Doutaz and granddaughter Angela Beth Seman Nance, both served in the Navy.

Keith Doutaz, the only son of La Mar Doutaz, served in the National Guard during the Vietnam era. Karol Seman, the only daughter of Doutaz, was a Navy reservist.

July 4th is a 365-day event for Doutaz households. Ever the neatnik, La Mar has one son and one daughter, two granddaughters and two grandsons, five great granddaughters and five great grandsons. Doutaz, and his wife, Elizabeth, were married more than 63 years when she died in 2009.

Since three generations of military Doutazes had been covered, I almost forgot the purpose of our visit -- to vet the military story of La Mar Doutaz. Surprises continued to come up void.

La Mar Doutaz presented a museum-level book that chronicled his World War II Navy career from start to finish. "My daughter did all this," he said.

Doutaz was 5 years old, and living in Kentucky, when his father was killed in a car wreck. Years later, Doutaz recalled seeing a family photo of his father in a Navy uniform. He suspects his father was in the Navy during the World War I era, but that remains unconfirmed.

At any rate, his mother gave approval for her oldest son to enter the Navy in 1943 at age 17. Twenty-one of his buddies dropped out of school and did likewise. Many years later, their school awarded honorary diplomas to each of them.

"I served all my Navy duty aboard a destroyer escort, the USS Doherty. I was a cook," Doutaz said. "We stayed at sea all the time, escorting convoys and performing antisubmarine operations." Doutaz has quite an unusual cache of military memorabilia to show for his duty as a cook.

"Oh, when you are a ship's cook, other crew members look out after you; they want to stay on your good side," he said, justifying his souvenirs, many of which are handmade and one-of-a-kind.

Even though the Doherty did not earn any battle stars, she constantly patrolled in dangerous waters from 1943 until the war ended.

Doutaz particularly remembers May 15, 1945.

"One of our B-29 bombers was struck by enemy fire and forced to ditch in the Pacific," he said. "By the time we reached them, two of the crew members had died, but we were able to rescue the other 11. The next day, we sunk the damaged aircraft with our 3-inch guns to keep it from coming into enemy hands."

Doutaz is proud to have served his country during World War II and proud of at least three other generations of his family who have chosen military service.

After World War II, Doutaz returned to Kentucky and married his high school sweetheart, who had become a schoolteacher. He took advantage of the GI Bill, with farming as his major. The marriage outlasted farming by 40 years. Doutaz retired in 1987 and in 2001 moved to High Point to live near his daughter.

Doutaz is a busy guy with many interests. Besides keeping his premises immaculate, he plays bingo at McDonald's on Tuesdays and canasta at the Senior Citizens' Center on Thursdays. He attends Thomasville Church of Christ.

News from the Rockcastle Courthouse

Risk Management deadline unchanged FSA reporting deadline extended to August 2nd

John W. McCauley, USDA Kentucky Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director, announced an extension of the FSA acreage reporting deadline. Farmers and landowners have an additional 18 calendar days to submit their annual report of acreage to their local FSA county office with the deadline extended from Monday, July 15, 2013, to Friday, Aug. 2, 2013. Only the FSA reporting deadline has been extended. The acreage reporting requirement for crop insurance has not changed and remains July 15.

"We want to ensure our producers maintain their program benefits by filing their reports accurately and in a timely manner for all crops and land uses, including prevented and failed acreage," said McCauley.

Accurate acreage reports are necessary to determine and maintain eligibility for various programs, such as the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP); the Average Crop Revenue Election Program (ACRE); the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP); and the Non-insured Crop Disaster Assistant Program (NAP).

Acreage reports for FSA are considered timely this year when filed at the county office by the new applicable final crop reporting deadline of Aug. 2, 2013. Producers should contact their county FSA office if they are uncertain about reporting deadlines.

While FSA is able to extend its deadline, Risk Management Agency (RMA) Administrator Brandon Willis emphasized today that RMA's acreage reporting date remains July 15, 2013, for most spring planted crops in the country. Farmers are reminded to report any loss within 72 hours of discovery to their insurance company. Farmers must report prevented planting acreage to their insurance company, in writing within 15 calendar days after the final planting date. Losses must be reported and an insurance adjuster must view and release the crop before the crop is destroyed. Farmers are also reminded to contact their insurance agent if they have any questions about coverage, prevented planting, or for reporting and processing a claim.

Crop insurance is sold and delivered solely through private crop insurance agents. Contact a local crop insurance agent for more information about the program. A list of crop insurance agents is available at all USDA Service Centers or on the RMA web site at www.rma.usda.gov/tools/agents/.

Producers also should visit their USDA Service Center to complete acreage reporting for FSA. For questions on this or any FSA program, producers should contact their FSA county office or seek information online at www.fsa.usda.gov.

Don't let a speech delay interfere with your goals

By: Shelby Newland
Kids who have speech delays, I want you to listen carefully to me. This speech is about how you can speak out, work hard in school and do activities in order to accomplish your goals. I know it will be hard, and you might have trouble, but you can make lots of friends and achievements. You have got to trust me, because I have a speech delay and I know how you feel.

Some kids are afraid to speak out. Speaking out is especially challenging for a kid with a speech delay. For example, when I was in first grade, I used to hide and not talk because I was shy about talking. I was shy because I was afraid someone might not understand me or make fun of me. I used to not have any friends because I would hide. When I realized I had no friends, I stopped hiding and made some. When I had a rough time, my friends would help me get through it. Finally, at the end of my first grade year, my friends gave me the courage to not be afraid and, most importantly, to do my best. It took me a while but I realized that I was not the only person in the world to have a problem speaking. In the Old Testament of the Holy Bible, it states that Moses was slow at talking. Moses had a speech impediment! He went to the Pharaoh of Egypt and said, "Let my people go!" He was not afraid to speak out. Also, Julie Roberts had a stuttering problem. She is a very successful female actress. Do you think she was afraid to speak out? Kids don't be afraid to speak out either!

Kids who have speech delays, why not work hard in school? In second grade, I was afraid to read out loud or talk to my friends. My first reading fluency test, I didn't get too far but when my friends gave me courage, through a pep talk, I did better. During my next fluency test, I got much farther. A person in history that proved working hard in school helps accomplish your goals is Helen Keller. She was a blind and deaf woman who studied hard in order to learn how to communicate with adults and children. She was 13-years-old before she learned how to speak, but when she was an adult, she went around the world (to 39 different countries to be exact) visiting disabled, deaf and blind children. She became a role model for those children and even for us today.

Some kids are afraid of doing activities like a speech contest or singing. When I was in fourth grade, I was afraid of doing the 4-H Speech Contest. I was afraid the judges wouldn't understand me. When I asked my friend if I should have done the speech contest, he said, "Shelby you should have done the speech contest. You can talk just fine. They could have heard you." I said, "I know, but I was just nervous." He replied, "After you work hard in school you can do anything." It is because of his encouragement that I am participating in this speech contest today.

Another activity I do is playing basketball. Guess what? You do have to talk in basketball! I have to call out the plays so my team will know where to go on the court and how to work together. If we don't work together, we can't win games. This a great activity, win or lose!

If you are not into sports, maybe you want to sing. Just work hard in school, speak out and you got it! Mel Tillis is a well-known country singer, who, you guessed it, has a speech problem. He stutters, but he also sings. He has performed in front of large groups of people on stage and on TV. He was not afraid to do an activity he enjoyed, so you don't have to be afraid to do activities either.

I have made many accomplishments by speaking out, working hard in school and doing activities. That makes me feel awesome and proud. Who knows, you may finish speech lessons before I do. Kids don't let a speech delay interfere with your goals! One more thing -- keep trying!

Ed's Note: Shelby received a blue ribbon in the 11 year old division of the recent 4-H State Communications Speech Contest with the above speech.

Cain graduates from 2013 Rogers Scholars program

Rockcastle County High School student Rachel Cain graduated this summer from The Center for Rural Development's 2013 Class of Rogers Scholars.

Cain attended a one-week summer session of Rogers Scholars held for the first time on the campus of Lindsey Wilson College in Adair County. "Rogers Scholars has helped me develop leadership skills that I can use to better serve my community," said Cain. "The program also has given me the opportunity to get to know some amazing people that I now consider some of my closest friends."

The Rogers Scholars program provides leadership and exclusive college scholarship opportunities for rising high school juniors in Southern and Eastern Kentucky to realize their full potential as the region's next generation of leaders and entrepreneurs.

"This year's class of Rogers Scholars is an exceptional group of young leaders," said Delaney Stephens, community liaison and youth programs coordinator for The Center. "I have high hopes for all of them as they return to their hometowns in Southern and Eastern Kentucky. There is no limit on what these Scholars can do, and I look forward to seeing them develop into future business and civic leaders this region needs."

Rachel is the daughter of Lee and Marcia Cain. For more information about Rogers Scholars, contact Delaney Stephens, community liaison and youth programs coordinator, at 606-677-6000 or email youth@centertech.com. The program, started in 1998, continues to pursue a goal set by U.S. Congressman Harold "Hal" Rogers (KY-05) that "no young person should have to leave home to find his or her future."

Graduates of the Rogers Scholars program earn access to exclusive scholarship offers from 18 partner colleges and universities.

USDA announces results for Conservation Reserve Program General sign-up

John W. McCauley, USDA Kentucky Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director, today announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will accept 1.7 million acres offered under the 45th Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up. The Department received nearly 28,000 offers on more than 1.9 million acres of land, demonstrating CRP's continuing appeal as one of our nation's most successful voluntary programs for soil, water, and wildlife conservation. Under Vilsack's leadership, USDA has enrolled nearly 12 million acres in new CRP contracts since 2009. Currently, there are more than 26.9 million acres enrolled on 700,000 contracts.

plantings prevent soil and nutrients from washing into waterways, reduce soil erosion that may otherwise contribute to poor air and water quality, and provide valuable habitat for wildlife. In 2012, CRP helped to reduce nitrogen and phosphorous losses from farm fields by 605 million pounds and 121 million pounds respectively. CRP has restored more than two million acres of wetlands and associated buffers and reduces soil erosion by more than 300 million tons per year. CRP also provides $2.0 billion annually to landowners—dollars that make their way into local economies, supporting small businesses and creating jobs.

enhancement, (2) water quality, (3) soil erosion, (4) enduring benefits, and (5) air quality.

CRP is a voluntary program that allows eligible landowners to receive annual rental payments and cost-share assistance to establish long-term, resource-conserving covers on eligible farmland throughout the duration of their 10 to 15 year contracts.

In addition, CRP sequesters more carbon dioxide than any other conservation program in the country, and also reduces both fuel and fertilizer use. Yearly, CRP results in carbon sequestration equal to taking almost 10 million cars off the road.

USDA selected offers for enrollment based on an Environmental Benefits Index (EBI) comprised of five environmental factors plus cost. The five environmental factors are: (1) wildlife
