Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet? Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
Rain In Due Season

Truly it's a blessing to life of all kinds when there is sufficient rainfall. This is especially true to the farmers and gardeners who hope for rain at the best times.

Rain provides water for the butterflies and birds, and ultimately to the springs and rivers we draw drinking water from, and ultimately the oceans.

When there's been a long dry period, then the rain and storms come; the whole environment seems to react with relief. Trees get greener, grass grows overnight, seeds sprout and grow, and in the desert the cactus begin to bloom.

Timely rain is of much more use than long periods of too little or too much. Fertile lands planted in crops can wither and dry and produce very little when it does not rain during the growing season. On the other hand, it has to be dry enough to plant in the spring in the first place. Then it has to be dry enough to harvest—for molding corn or wheat in the fields from too much rain at harvest time cancels out even a bumper crop.

Large corporate farms are more at risk than backyard gardeners, for a good gardener will be successful in growing something useful to eat (or some pretty flowers) even if the weather did not cooperate when he or she wanted to plant some particular seeds. Transplants can be put in the ground even in muddy gardens if one needs to do that. I've planted tobacco, sweet potatoes, strawberries, tomatoes and such in soggy conditions with the mud squishing between my toes.

Droughts have been a fact of life as long as there have been written records. It is thought by some that the Mayan Civilization starved from drought-induced failures of crops like corn (maize) which led to extinction.

A seven year drought in Palestine resulted in the ancient Israelites going to Egypt (where they were eventually enslaved until the famous crossing of the Red Sea). Weather indeed changes history.

Rain that falls too fast or in too great amounts causes flooding as it comes down faster than the soil can absorb it. In modern cities and towns this is exacerbated because so much native vegetation has been replaced with concrete, asphalt, short-cut grass and shingled buildings. The result is record-breaking flooding from a rain event that may have happened a dozen times before and not caused such bad damage.

To the folks with lawn sprinklers, rain means they can cut the watering, and the water bill. Rain may mean a person does not have to water their new plants. (Too much water can kill more new plants than dry weather actually, especially with clay soil that does not drain but lets a small pond accumulate in the hole where the new plant was placed.) Raised beds can eliminate most of the problems associated with ponding around roots of new trees and shrubs.

As I write this, the current growing season has been abnormally wet. Some, fearing drought, didn't plant trees or grow a garden this year. And some have planted and had floods or hail damage their gardens or crops.

As a final thought. Rainfall is much better than irrigation for our yards and gardens. The cloudiness is helpful, but it's the nitrogen from the air that a thunderstorm mixes with the water naturally that really is the magical ingredient that turns lawns green overnight as grasses, flowers and plants get both water and fertilizer in the rainstorm water.

Financial Aid Tip of the Month A good admissions essay may mean more money for college

Some colleges, especially private schools, require an essay as part of their admissions process for college freshmen. That essay may also help when it comes to paying for college, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

Generally, the more exclusive the college, the more important the essay may be in admissions and financial aid decisions.

Essays let schools learn more about students than just what the application shows. That gives writers a chance to set themselves apart.

Students should put time and effort into an admissions essay. Colleges want students who can express themselves clearly, using proper spelling, grammar and punctuation. It may take several drafts to get it right, but the essay needs to be well written and free of errors. Students should have a teacher, school counselor or parent review the essay before submitting it to the college. The better the essay, the better a student's chance of being accepted at a top school.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's student aid programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES).

Money Tips for Students

Federal government offers student loan forgiveness programs

The federal government may forgive all or part of your student loans if you meet certain requirements. The forgiveness options for federal student loans, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA), include:

- Teacher loan forgiveness. To qualify, you must teach at least five full years in a low-income school in an eligible district. Depending on your field, you may have up to $17,500 in student loans forgiven.

- Public service loan forgiveness. You must work full time in a public service job and make 120 monthly payments to qualify. You also have to be working in public service when you make the 120 payments and when you apply for loan forgiveness. All of your remaining loan balance may be forgiven.

- Nursing loan forgiveness. You must be at least a registered nurse and agree to work two years in a critical shortage facility at least 32 hours per week. If you fulfill your agreement, 60 percent of your loan balance will be forgiven. Another 25 percent will be forgiven if you work a third year.

For complete details on these and other programs, visit www.ed.gov.

At RCIDA meeting

Report on county food hub given by Hopkins

Rockcastle County Industrial Authority Executive Director Holly Hopkins, told the IDA board, at their regular meeting Monday, that a project she has been working on for two years is about to come to fruition.

Hopkins said a Rockcastle Food Hub, which will benefit local farmers, and those within a two hundred mile radius, and create about 40 jobs, should be in existence by next Spring.

The food hub is expected to be housed in the former IGA building in Brodhead. Hopkins said the hub would be a place for farmers to market their excess produce and to have that produce turned into canned/frozen food items for market through the hub. The executive director said that the partnership, between the

School starts next Wednesday

The first break for students and employees will come on Labor Day, September 2nd.

School will be dismissed on September 3rd, October 4th, November 4th, November 27th-29th for Thanksgiving break and December 19th-January 1st for Christmas and New Year break.

School will also be dismissed in 2014 on January 20th-21st, February 17th, March 21st, March 31st and April 7th.

The final day of school is scheduled for May 14th.

"We expect the store in Brodhead to eventually be a full service grocery stocked with foods and meats grown within the 200-mile radius," Hopkins said. She said an estimated 14 additional jobs would be created when the grocery store is in operation.

Hopkins also reported that she had received a draft of the amended lease with SourceHOV and would have to call a special meeting of the board after she had time to go over it. She said the main difference from the original lease was that the rent payment would be a flat rate, and eliminate additional payments based on the number of employees. Hopkins feels that the $25,395 monthly lease payment to RCIDA will increase significantly under the terms of the amended lease. The lease payment is paid directly to Community Trust Bank for repayment of the $2.5 million loan for

Jury convicts London woman in Bullock murder

By: Doug Ponder

A Rockcastle County jury convicted the fifth and final defendant last Friday in connection with the shooting death of Jackie Bullock, 34, of Mt. Vernon.

The jury convicted Jessica Hailey Robinson, 22, of London in Rockcastle County Circuit Court and found her guilty of wanton murder, complicity to first degree robbery and complicity to manufacture methamphetamine.

Robinson was sentenced to 22 years for wanton murder, 15 years for complicity to first degree robbery and 22 years for complicity to manufacture methamphetamine. However, Robinson will only serve 22 years in prison as the jury recommended that the sentence for the three counts be served concurrently.

Robinson's verdict came after a long five day trial that started last Monday with the jury selection. During the trial, Commonwealth Attorney Eddy Montgomery presented the jury with evidence, provided by police, from the murder investigation.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Bullock was at a home on Lone Oak Drive on December 1, 2011 before he was murdered. He was later found dead in the driver's seat of his vehicle, after it had rolled approximately 300 yards down a hill off Lone Oak Road near the residence where he was last seen.

Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant, who was in charge of the vehicle accident investigation, later determined that Bullock's death was a homicide after discovering a gunshot wound in his side.

In December of 2011, Bryant originally arrested and charged Mt. Vernon residents Gary Lee Kirby, 19, Joshua Duane Cameron, 25 and Bobby Peters, 36 with the murder of Bullock. After further investigation, Bryant later arrested Mary Hannah Hunsucker, 24 of Mt. Vernon and charged her with murder as well. Robinson was later arrested on a warrant after she was indicted by a grand jury.

Upon further investigation, Bryant determined that all five people allegedly murdered Bullock during an attempted robbery of his prescription medication. Bryant also found a meth lab at Peters' home during

Police make arrests following reckless driving complaint

By: Doug Ponder

A woman was arrested for DUI and her passenger was arrested for drug possession last Saturday, after police made a traffic stop on Hwy 25 in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Mindy Renee Dugger, 30 and Lois Ann Maxwell, 41, both of Corbin.

According to state police reports, Trooper Adam Childress received a complaint of a reckless driver traveling northbound on I-75 near Mt. Vernon.

Childress located the vehicle near the 59 exit in Mt. Vernon. He made the stop after observing the vehicle swerving back and forth across the center line before taking the 59 exit and turning onto Hwy 25.

Once Childress approached the vehicle, he noticed Dugger, the driver of the vehicle, had slurred speech and dilated pupils. He also noticed that Dugger appeared extremely intoxicated while performing field sobriety tests. Dugger would later tell Childress that she had been taking Suboxone.

Upon receiving consent to search the vehicle, Childress found a small change purse in the glove box that contained an uncapped syringe and one oxycodone tablet. Childress could also see another syringe sticking out of Maxwell's purse, who was a passenger in the vehicle.

After searching Maxwell's purse, Childress found two used syringes and an unmarked pill bottle containing 37 Alprazolam (Xanax) pills. Maxwell

Since taking office in 2011, Comer has focused on expanding markets for Kentucky's agriculture products, enhancing rural economic development, adding transparency to the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and promoting the Kentucky Proud Program.

Comer will also join Meade for a radio program on WPBK FM 102.9. The 30-minute segment will feature the two leaders discussing a wide-range of issues including Comer's recent launch of the milk "Udderly Kentucky" which is entirely produced and processed in Kentucky.

The radio program will air live at 11:30 a.m. and will stream live at www.WPBKfm.com.

Listeners can also use the social networking site, Twitter, to ask questions of Comer and Meade which they will answer on the air.

"I appreciate Commissioner Comer's willingness to visit our community," Meade said. "He has proven to be a great leader in our Commonwealth and I look forward to talking about agriculture and other issues important to this area with him."

*The Flying Dutchman:
The Phantom Ship
Part II*

In last week's column, the Flying Dutchman was discussed. It is known to be a phantom, or ghost-ship that sails the seas, never to reach port. It has a crew of cursed dead men. Whoever encounters this ghostly sight will be cursed, too; usually meeting doom on the sea.

The name of the ship is the Flying Dutchman according to legend. However, there is another legend that begs to differ. The "Flying Dutchman" was the captain of what became a phantom ship. The story begins along the Cape of Good Hope in the Atlantic Ocean on the coast of South Africa. There was this Dutch captain and his ship that met a fierce storm with gale force winds as they were trying to sail around the cape. The gale was threatening to sink the ship with all aboard. The sailors and passengers begged the captain to turn around but he refused to change course. He went below deck to his cabin, either mad or drunk.

Soon, there occurred a mutiny on board. The captain awoke and shot the leader of the mutiny and threw his body overboard. Upon his body hitting the water, the clouds parted and a shadowy figure materialized on deck. The shadow told the captain, "You're a very stubborn man." The captain replied, "I never asked for a peaceful passage. I never asked for anything. So clear off before I shoot you, too."

The shadow didn't move, so the captain shot as he said, but the gun exploded in his hand. The shadow told the captain that he was accursed. This was the curse to follow the captain: "As a result of your actions, you are condemned to sail the oceans for eternity with a ghostly crew of dead men, bringing death to all who sight your spectral ship, and to never make port or know a moment's peace. Gall shall be your drink and red hot iron your meat," said the shadowy figure. "Amen to that!" said the captain.

The Flying Dutchman's ship and crew have been seen through the centuries. Sometimes the ship lures other ships to jagged rocks where they are smashed in the churning sea. If the food aboard a ship goes bad, the ghost ship usually gets the

Cummins Grocery

Recently I stopped in a country grocery store just outside of Mt. Sterling to pick up a Coke. I instantly noticed the owner in the back cutting up pork to carefully place in his meat display. The site of him wielding a large meat cleaver reminded me of my uncle, Jesse Cummins. Uncle Jesse owned a quaint grocery on Main Street in Mt. Vernon when I was in high school. His store on Saturdays overflowed with elderly couples purchasing their weekly supplies.

The main reason so many folks chose this particular store was because Uncle Jesse was known for his home delivery. When I was just getting my driver's license, one of my friends, Penny Nunnelley was the delivery boy. Penny was a friend of mine, and he let me ride with him on Saturday afternoons. After a few weeks, Uncle Jesse asked if I would be interested in taking Penny's job after he graduated and left for college. I was thrilled to be considered for this fun job and accepted without hesitation. I think I was paid a whopping one dollar per hour. That was actually a good salary at that time.

After Penny's graduation from high school, I was allowed to work with him during the summer in order to learn the routes that were used for the deliveries. Uncle Jesse owned a 1956 Chevrolet Nomad station wagon that we used to transport the groceries.

Most of the time, customers would simply call in their orders. We then took the groceries to their homes. When we answered the phone, we were ordinarily told to "jot down the order." That meant that Uncle Jesse would charge the supplies to an account, which were paid once a month. I believe the term "jot 'em down store" must have come from this practice. Some families, especially those who lived far out in the county, caught rides to Mt. Vernon in order to go to the bank, to the Post Office, or maybe the drug store. The last stop they made was at the grocery for their weekly supplies so that Uncle Jesse would take them back home. It was an arrangement that worked well for everyone involved.

Uncle Jesse was noted for his wonderful cuts of fresh meat. In the very back of the store he had a chopping block on legs, and I loved to watch him cut up pork chops, steaks, and ribs.

He even ground his own hamburger, and it was the freshest in town. On many occasions, my mother, Bee, would call me just before I was to get off work to tell me to bring home some of his pork chops or a couple pounds of hamburger. I think my family shopped there because Uncle Jesse was so good to me as well as because the groceries were the freshest in town.

My routes took me all over Rockcastle County. It was normal to drive to Livingston, Brodhead, and many other places in between. Occasionally, a single delivery could take over an hour. The back of the Chevy Nomad might have 15-20 paper bags of groceries. When I was discussing this article with Bud Cox, he mentioned a site that I remembered called Lamero. That was approximately 12 miles from the store on a very narrow, gravel road.

During the summer between my junior and senior year at Mt. Vernon High School, I was dating a girl that lived in Dayton, Ohio. She moved away when we were juniors. But her family came to visit on a regular basis, so we had to spend time together whenever we could make the time. One Saturday, Barbara called the store and said, "I am in town; could you come by my grandmother's house?" I asked Uncle Jesse if it would be alright if she rode with me on my home deliveries. His answer was, "We will give it a try, and see if it affects your work." That particular Saturday was unusual and interesting. Barbara saw for the first time

By Ike Adams

For decades my wife has been telling people that she has been getting stuff out of "her garden." "Her" tomatoes are getting ripe, "she" has an abundance of cucumbers and zucchini and yellow crook-neck squash and "her" peppers and eggplant are all coming in all at once and, "what on earth do you do with all that stuff", she inquired of colleagues, friends and neighbors.

The truth of the matter is that after seeing a little garter snake there among the bean vines many years ago, Loretta did not set foot in "her" garden unless it was to pick a big tomato where the vine had inadvertently fallen onto mown grass and the fruit was lying there like a big, lost, red, croquet ball there on the edge of the lawn.

And sometimes, when the vines got away from me, she might find a straight-8 cucumber in her parking spot there at the end of the drive, twenty years ago, when we were living in a big rented house up on 52 that had the best, big, vegetable garden spot I've ever seen or ever will unless I get to Heaven and St. Peter is passing out garden plots and all the seeds and stuff you have to have to grow one.

But this year has been remarkably different. Because of my ongoing disagreement with Mr. Parkinson and the residual effects of a stroke more than a year ago, Loretta came to realize that "her garden" was not going to happen unless she got right out there with me in the dirt and clay we call a garden. I should have taken pictures because we seeded the garden together and have hobbled through it with Ralph's Miracle Hoe and sort of kept the weeds down.

So we've had a ton of veggies throughout the spring and early summer and Loretta can give stuff to all her family and buddies and legitimately claim that it came from "our garden."

And then, two weeks ago, the two, 100-ft. rows of Bodacious sweet-corn commenced getting full and the silks dropping off and the kernels started bursting to roasting and boiling perfection and we'd had corn on the cob three nights in a row and the ears were more than 18 inches long and bigger around than my wrist because wet weather agrees with sweet corn

Almost every stalk had one huge and one smaller ear on it and we were bragging and sharing with everybody we knew for three or four days when the black winged devils discovered what Loretta can truly call "her" corn patch because she planted every hill.

The winged vermin moved in at dawn on Thursday, a nasty, allied drove of evil, feathered bodies, consisting of starlings, grackles, regular old black birds and common cowbirds, and bent on destruction.

By Saturday morning, half of our, (and Loretta can legit it call "hers") sweet corn crop was destroyed so we picked it and commenced hauling it by the dozen-ears or more to our friends and loved ones but there was a big bunch still left in the garden and Loretta maintains that she put up enough last year to last for several and that it'll keep for years so we might as well give this crop away cause we sure can't eat it.

On Call

By:
Rick Branham

This week's edition of On Call comes to you while I am heavily involved in helping with the 132nd annual Little World's Fair. Last week I asked you how many hours it took to become a level 3 firefighter in Kentucky. The answer is 400 hours. This may not sound like a lot of hours but getting these hours will working another job and getting the hours in the category you need is very challenging.

If you want to become a paid or career firefighter you will become 400-hour certified and beyond. Most paid departments send you through their version of a firefighter academy. An academy can last between 14 to 18 weeks but can be longer according to that particular department. Just getting to the academy is a trial in itself. The process can be long, lasting up to a year before you are hired.

The testing process begins with an aptitude test with general questions. A score of 75% or higher must be achieved to proceed to the next step. Next a physical test is performed with various stations that must be passed. After which an interview, background check, polygraph and mental evaluation is done. If you pass all this then you are ranked according to your score. The higher the rank the better chance you have of getting accepted into the academy. However, if you rank low on the list there is a chance you will not get hired and would have to restart the process all over. Generally career departments only hold on to the applicant list for one to two years before restarting the process. Passing all of the hiring process does not guarantee you a spot in the academy.

So you made it to the academy, now what. Training, lots and lots of training accompanied by testing. A lot of information is thrown your way in a short amount of time. At the end of the academy is the final testing process. The fire department will most likely have a final exam for their course but also you will need to pass Level 1 and Level 2 IFSAC exams.

IFSAC stands for International Fire Service Accreditation Congress and consists of both written and practical exams for both level 1 and level 2. The practical exam consists of several different skill stations. You must pass each station in order to complete the practical exam. By passing the exams you become an IFSAC certified firefighter. What does this mean? First, most career departments in the state require this IFSAC and secondly you can be a firefighter anywhere. IFSAC is recognized on a global scale and is a great achievement in the fire service. Not only have you become a 400-hour certified firefighter but you also achieve IFSAC level 1 and level 2 standing.

Now you may ask, can a volunteer achieve IFSAC and if so how? The answer...will be revealed next week. Now that you know how to become a firefighter, I am going to fill you in on the gear that we wear and why we wear it because it's not for the look...although some firefighters may disagree.

Until next week, I hope you have had the chance or plan on attending the fair this year. Remember the proceeds go to support the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department.

The ship has been seen in 1835, one of the earliest sightings on record. It vanished before the eyes of the seafarers just as a storm was approaching. As noted last week, King George V of England is said to have seen the ship on July 11, 1891.

In March 1939, dozens of beach-goers saw the phantom ship off the coast of South Africa and gave detailed accounts of the vessel. However, no one there had ever seen a 17th century craft. The following is a portion of reports in a local newspaper: "With uncanny volition, the shipped sailed steadily as on the Glevcairn beach, as folk stood about keenly discerning the whys and wherefores of the vessel. Just as the excitement reached its climax, however, the mystery ship vanished into thin air as strangely as it had come." The last recorded sighting was in 1942 off the coast of Capetown. The ship was said by witnesses to sail into Table Bay and then vanish.

The series about the Flying Dutchman will conclude next week.

"Memories"

how time-consuming the job really could be as I drove all over the county. After we dropped off our customers, she's slide across the big bench seat, positioning herself right by my side.

Uncle Jesse's oldest daughter, Patsy, was not only my first cousin, she was one of my closest friends. When neither of us had a date on a weekend, we usually were together. Because she was a couple of years older than I was, I could get her opinion on a lot of interesting ideas. After she left for UK, I missed her very much. One weekend, she came home and presented me my first UK sweatshirt. I loved it so much that I wore it until it was in threads. I think one of the reasons I decided to attend UK was because of her.

My times with Uncle Jesse and his grocery store were good ones indeed. I got to work doing something that I loved (driving), and he taught me how to be a reliable worker and delivery boy. Uncle Jesse was a lot of fun to be around. He was a huge cut-up with a wonderful sense of humor. He loved to play jokes on me while I was working for him. I will always be grateful for the part of my life when I worked with him. It was quite an experience.

"Points East"

So one of my cousins told us to hang old aluminum pie plates or old computer cd's in the garden where they would twist around and reflect light and that would scare the black winged vermin away. And I had a big stack of old, blank, slow speed cds laying around cause I didn't know how to recycle them.

So I spent two hours with an old spool of fishing line and making big loops through the middle holes of the CDs and I hung more than a dozen of these reflectors off the stiff tassels of my sweet corn so that they would twist and turn and shoot rays of multicolored light and scare off birds.

Sunday morning looked out and the black birds had discovered that my CD's made excellent mirrors and they were sitting in the tassels, using their reflection, to see how to pick the sweet corn out of their teeth.

BEFORE CONSOLIDATION

The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball

David Owens and M.T. Publishing Company, Inc. are joining forces to bring you Before Consolidation: The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball. This history/pictorial book will explore times before consolidation, when the county had three high schools, Mt. Vernon, Livingston and Brothead.

The 1950s was known as the Golden Age of Basketball throughout Kentucky, which was probably when the county rivalry was at its height. This extraordinary book will take you through intense rivalries, when 36 players instead of 12 represented Rockcastle County or when passion was so strong that local police had to come to prevent hostilities from breaking out between Red Devil, Blue Devil or Tiger fans!

Only a limited number of books will be printed, therefore it is necessary to take all orders in advance. The pre-publication price is $37.50* for the deluxe standard edition and $64.95* for the genuine bonded leather edition if ordered by the pre-order deadline of August 30, 2013.

This 8 1/2" x 11" hardbound book will have a full color dust jacket and contain a minimum of 128 pages. You may have your copy personalized with a name stamping on the cover for a nominal charge. All pre-ordered books will contain the wording "Commemorative Edition" on the cover and a printed personal note from the author. These commemorative edition books are numbered as they are sold.

Complete the order form below and remit with payment no later than August 30, 2013. To order with credit card, go online to www.mtpublishing.com or call toll free 1-888-263-4702. Credit card orders will be kept on file and charged 30-60 days before shipping.

Make sure you order one for yourself and your family members too! The price will increase after publication, so don't hesitate, order your copies today!

An encouraging word:

Have A Nice Day

By Howard Coop

It happens often. Friends meet, and after a pleasant greeting and a bit of light-hearted conversation, they go on their way. Often spoken, their parting words are: "Have a nice day!" But the question is: Is that something one determines, and how does one go about having a nice day?

Sometimes interesting things may be found in unusual places. Recently, I picked up a Bible that belongs to Kathryn, my wife. When I did, it fell open to a place where she had used an old piece of paper, yellowed with age, as a bookmark. I looked at that piece of paper, and I was surprised. It was headed a "Recipe for a Wonderful Day." After looking at it for a moment, I said to myself, "That's an unusual recipe. If one follows the instructions, it will work."

The basic ingredients called for in that recipe are amazingly simple, and they are readily available to everyone: Just take one cup of friendly words, two heaping cups of understanding, two full cups of the milk of human kindness, and four heaping teaspoons of time and patience. To these, add a pinch of warm personality, a dash of dry humor, and a bit of the spice of life.

The directions for mixing the ingredients are just as simple, and they are easy for anyone to follow. Just measure the ingredients carefully before adding them to the other ingredients. Stir all of the ingredients together after adding a pinch of warm personality. Then, season well with dry humor and the spice of life. When the directions are followed, there will be a difference, and that difference will be amazing.

Life is given to us one day at a time, and that day is ours to use as we choose. It can be wasted, or it can be used well. We make the choice, and our choice makes a tremendous difference. By using the right recipe and following the instructions, anyone can have a nice day.

Pastor Appreciation Day - August 11, 2013 at the West Brodhead Church of God

We want to thank God for our Pastor Terry Orcutt and his wife, Geneva, and for all they do for our Church and it's people. They have been at the West Brodhead Church of God for four years and are wonderful people of God. We will be having an appreciation dinner after Sunday Morning Worship service on August 11, in their honor and everyone is invited. We love and appreciate them both very much! Come and join us!

Support for Community Garden has been great

The Mt. Vernon Community Garden provides plots of land for families to grow food. These families built their plot by hauling topsoil and compost and piling it up in a ridge that they use to plant their produce. The families spent many hours working on preparation of land, planting, weeding, and general maintenance of the plots. The vegetables that are growing and ripening belong to the people who have worked to grow the food.

Applications now being taken for Grandparent Program

The Cumberland Valley Area Agency on Aging will be taking applications for the Kentucky Grandparent Program on August 26th from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Rockcastle Senior Center on US 25. Interested grandparents must bring the following information: proof of all household income, social security cards for all people living in the home, birthdates and picture ID. For more information, contact Kyle Swafford or Candice Henson at 1-800-795-7654.

A lot of organizations and businesses have been involved in supporting the Mt. Vernon Community Garden. It takes many people backing up this idea of Community and Rockcastle County has come through with tons of support in Partnerships. To make this garden spot exist and provide an oasis for families who garden within. Pictured here are a few of the members of the Kiwanis Club. They are shown sitting at the picnic table they had built for the garden. Already people have enjoyed having lunch under the nice shade tree, listening to the birds while relaxing and eating.

Community Partners for the project include: John Paul Dejoria through Grow Appalachia and Berea College, Centre College, the college interns, Youth Summer Intern Program, ASPI, the families that maintain their garden plots, volunteers, Holly Hopkins and RCIDA, Nancy Keber and the Health Department, Harvest Family Ministries, Mt. Vernon Signal, Kiwanis, City of Mt. Vernon, City of Livingston, Mt. Vernon City Maintenance Crew, Jill Medley and Mayor Bryant, Rockcastle County Healthy Communities Board, MACED, Sigmon Farm, Dogwood Gifts and Gardens, Lone Star, Talt and Benda Hall, JR Kimsey, Robert Lawson and KY Music Hall of Fame, James Renner and Rockcastle Recycles, Octavia and Ellis Sexton, and Bud and Shirley Cox. The Mt. Vernon Community Garden exists because people in the community care one for the other. It would not be possible to have such a nice place if it were not for the outpouring of support from these partners. My gratitude is not nearly enough but I am humbled by those who do well in and for the community.

“Murder”

Kirby, Cameron, Peters and Hunsucker all pled guilty to murdering Bullock, during their respective trials in 2012. Hunsucker was sentenced to 20 years in prison while Kirby, Cameron and Peters were sentenced to 25 years in prison, due to separate charges for manufacturing methamphetamine. However, Robinson pled not guilty to the charges of murder, first degree robbery and manufacturing methamphetamine during her court appearances in 2012.

During Robinson's jury trial last week, the jury listened to several different taped recordings of Robinson giving her testimony about the murder to Bryant and other law enforcement officers. Bryant told the jury that during the investigation, Kirby didn't provide any statements about the incident but that Cameron, Hunsucker and Peters did provide statements. In their interviews, Bryant said that there were several inconsistencies between their testimonies and Robinson's testimony.

Montgomery also called Cameron, Hunsucker and Peters to the stand last Thursday as prosecution witnesses to further support their testimonies they made to Bryant during the investigation. Kirby chose not to testify in court last Thursday.

During closing arguments, Robinson's attorney Bobby Amburgey insisted that if it wasn't for Robinson's testimonies to police, they wouldn't have had the information to incriminate the other four defendants. He said that the information Robinson provided to police led to all four defendants pleading guilty in 2012 and put them in prison and away from the community.

“Robinson gave Jackie justice and his family justice with the information she provided,” Amburgey said. “But what do you do with a tool you don't need anymore, you throw it away.”

Amburgey went on to say that Robinson admitted to setting up the robbery and that she admitted to being “high” at the time of the incident. But Amburgey said that she never intended for Bullock to be killed.

“In no way did this guy deserve to be murdered and in no way did Robinson want it to happen,” Amburgey said. “We know she was high but we also know that she didn't intend for Bullock to die.”

However, during Montgomery's closing statement, he said that Robinson's first testimony on December 2nd was very inconsistent. He said that after Bryant interviewed the other defendants, Robinson changed her story on December 8th when Bryant interviewed her again.

“All three hours of Robinson's testimony on December 2nd was a complete lie,” Montgomery said. “She played innocent the whole time but changed her story after further investigation.”

Montgomery insisted that all the evidence presented to the jury pointed against Robinson and that she was “in on the whole thing.”

“I don't think we can have any clearer facts than the confessions presented in court this week,” Montgomery said. “Everything points to Robinson. She is the one behind this whole thing.”

Montgomery went on to say that it is his job as a prosecutor to see that justice is served. He insisted that this trial is not about an apology to the Bullock family but that it is about justice instead.

“When your son is dead an apology doesn't mean squat,” Montgomery said. “Robinson is cute and young but that doesn't matter. Everyone else involved got 20 years or more in prison and we got everyone except the last one. It is my job to make sure people who commit these crimes get put in jail.”

After hearing the closing arguments, the jury deliberated last Friday to determine the verdict for approximately two hours before returning to the courtroom to announce the verdict of guilty for wanton murder, complicity to first degree robbery and complicity to manufacture meth.

Robinson will be formally sentenced on Friday, September 13th and will not start her sentence until that date. Until she formally becomes a state prisoner, Robinson is currently being held at the Rockcastle County Detention Center without bond.

Hopkins also said that current employees (more than 350) of Source HOV are working six days a week, 10 hours a day and, since the hiring freeze by the Veterans Administration has been lifted, the number of employees are expected to be 480 soon. The director also said that SourceHOV is looking at the possibility of constructing a storage building for the Veterans Administration's records which will add an additional 30-40 jobs.

As to Anchor Packaging, the number of employees there is at 50, Hopkins said, but that Anchor has “gotten the bugs” out of the manufacturing equipment and that they still expected to employ 150 people. She said that the four million given in tax incentives by the state will not come into play until the goal of 150 jobs is met.

Livingston Leap extended to 5K

This year's Livingston Leap will see some changes that runners and walkers are going to appreciate. For one, because some of last year's Leap participants said the 2-miler was a bit too short, this year's race has been extended to 5K, or 3.1 miles, for both the run and the walk.

The race, which will be held Aug. 31 at 8 a.m., will still start at the trailhead at the intersection of Hwy. 25 and Hwy. 490. After crossing the bridge, participants will turn right, staying on Hwy. 490, same as they always have. But this year they'll turn around at the 1.55-mile mark instead of the 1-mile mark.

Another change: Until now registration has been at the fire department, a few blocks away from the trailhead. But this year it will be more conveniently located at the new Livingston Trail Town Visitors' Center, across the street from the starting line.

Mayor Jason Medley is embracing the Leap. He'll participate in the 5K and do the first-ever Mayor's Challenge, and has recruited safety support to help with traffic control.

"Our goal is to create a community that promotes fitness and good health," Medley said. "Events like the Livingston Leap are great motivators as we stride toward that goal. We want to welcome the participants and we hope they'll stick around and visit for a while."

The Leap is always held on Livingston Homecoming weekend, so there is a lot going on. A pancake breakfast will be held until 10 a.m., and the parade starts at 11 a.m. Plenty of booths and vendors also will be set up on Main Street.

Livingston has made progress toward becoming an increasingly active community in recent months. Among the town's new features, trails have been marked for walking, running and riding, and the town has been designated a "Trail Town" by the Governor's office. Trail maps are available at the Visitor's Center. Livingston Leap 5K participants are encouraged to explore what Livingston has to offer after the race.

For more information about Livingston, go to www.livingstonky.com.

Livingston Leap Mayor's Challenge

On August 31st, Livingston Mayor Jason Medley is taking the fitness leap. He invites his neighbors in Livingston and all around Rockcastle County to do the same at the 4th Annual Livingston Leap. The names of those who finish ahead of Medley will be placed in a drawing for $50 cash to be given away at the awards ceremony. The Livingston Leap, which has been a 2-miler in years past, is now a 5K (3.1 miles) and is part of Rockcastle Regional Hospital's Countywide Stride series. More than 150 runners and walkers are expected to participate. To register or find out more, go to rockcastleregional.org.

August 17th at Lake Linville 4th annual Rockcastle Run, Bike or Hike

The fourth annual Rockcastle Regional Hospital Run Bike or Hike will be held in Rockcastle County Aug. 17.

The event, which will begin and end at the Lake Linville Recreational Area (near I-75 exit 62), will feature a 2-mile walk, 5K run, and a duathlon.

The duathlon is a 3.1 mile run followed by a 16.8 mile bike ride and a 2.2 mile run.

The event attracts athletes from across Kentucky and some from other states. Organizers expect more than 200 to participate this year.

Pre-registration for runners and walkers ends Aug. 12 at 12 noon, but they may also sign up on race day. The duathlon is pre-registration only (Aug. 12 at 12 noon).

The Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce and UK HealthCare is co-sponsoring this year's event. Proceeds go to the American Cancer Society's Hope Lodge in Lexington.

Fall squirrel season opens August 17th

Kentucky's fall squirrel season is a 196-day split season that kicks off the calendar of fall hunting.

The first segment of the fall squirrel season opens Aug. 17 season closes on Nov. 8. The season opens again Nov. 11 and runs through Feb. 28, 2014.

The daily bag limit is six squirrels.

"I'm predicting this fall's squirrel season will be as good as last year, maybe better," said Ben Robinson, small game biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "In the limited time I've been afield, it looks like we're going to have a good mast year."

There's a close relationship between a year's nut production and the following year's squirrel population levels. Last fall's mast survey rated white oak and hickory nut production as average, red oak as good and the beech nut crop failed.

"I've heard that beech trees in eastern Kentucky are loaded with nuts this year," said Robinson.

The department's annual mast survey, held since 1953, begins on Aug. 15 and runs through Sept. 1.

Biologists survey the foods that are most important to Kentucky's forest wildlife such as squirrels, white-tailed deer, wild turkeys and bear. They walk the same route every year and estimate the year's mast crop based on what they observe.

"After this information is compiled we'll have a clearer picture of the year's mast crop and the likely impact on wildlife populations," said Robinson.

Weather extremes, such as late frosts and heavy rains in spring and summer droughts, can limit the amount and quality of mast.

Hickory nuts begin to mature in August and acorns and beechnuts in September and October. Late winter is the time when food availability becomes most critical to squirrels and can impact their body condition heading into the breeding season.

Squirrel hunters can help management efforts by taking part in the Squirrel Hunting Cooperator Survey. The voluntary program, which started in 1995, supplies information that biologists use to monitor squirrel population trends in Kentucky.

Hunters record information about their hunts as the season progresses, including the county hunted, hours spent afield along with the number and species of squirrels seen and harvested. Hunters also document how many hunters were in the party and the number of dogs used to find squirrels.

When hunters are finished hunting for the season they simply mail in their survey. Logs are available online at fw.ky.gov by clicking on the Hunting, Trapping & Wildlife tab or by calling 1-800-858-1549. Logs must be returned to Kentucky Fish and Wildlife no later than May 31, 2014.

Each year, after the survey information is compiled and analyzed, a report is mailed out to squirrel hunters who shared the details of their hunting activities from the previous season.

Last season, the survey detailed 1,123 squirrel hunts in 69 Kentucky counties. Hunters reported they saw 5.5 squirrels per hunt and bagged 1.9 squirrels per hour.

Hunter effort was greater towards the beginning of squirrel season as 69 percent of the hunts took place in August, September and October. About five percent of the squirrel hunts and harvest occurred during both January and February.

Statewide, 81 percent of the harvest was comprised of gray squirrels, suggesting gray squirrels are more abundant. The data also shows Kentucky squirrel hunters prefer to hunt in forests rather than woodlots and fencerows, the habitat where fox squirrels are most often found.

"Over the years both gray and fox squirrel numbers have remained fairly stable," said Robinson, "with cyclic ups and downs in population based on weather and mast availability."

This fall, hit the woods and enjoy the hunting that started many down the path of the outdoor life.

Local artist to demonstrate oil painting at Artisan Center

On Saturday, Aug. 17, Mount Vernon artist Carl Von Fischer will demonstrate oil painting from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

Von Fischer grew up in Cincinnati, and absorbed creativity directly from his parents. Von Fischer's mother was a basket maker and weaver and his father was a painter and a designer for Gibson cards. Von Fischer can remember taking a bus or streetcar to the Cincinnati Art Museum as a youngster.

"Almost every week, I would spend hours going from painting to painting. The ones that really caught my eye were the great Western paintings. I knew early on - that one day I would paint - where and when I didn't know," he said.

At age 16, he worked in Glacier National Park and his love of the Western landscape became a reality.

After graduating from high school, Von Fischer joined the military and was deployed to Germany.

Upon his return to Cincinnati, he attended the Central Art Academy, studying commercial art, and graduated with top honors. Von Fischer then worked for several advertising agencies in Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Denver, and Greenville, S.C., before opening his own advertising agency. After five years running his own business, he sold it to his partner and moved out west to Missoula, Mont. There he began to teach himself to paint in earnest, often painting in the open spaces of the west.

In 2003, Von Fischer moved to Kentucky to be near his son and grandchildren and began painting full-time.

"You name it - I had to paint it. They say it's never too late and you are never too old. I agree to both. I let my paintings speak for themselves" he said.

Von Fischer likes to paint landscapes and animals and he uses a palette knife often to layer and apply the oil paint and delineate grasses, foreground and trees in the background.

Paintings by Von Fischer are regularly available at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, 200 Artisan Way, just off Interstate 75 at Berea Exit 77. The center's exhibits, shopping and travel information areas are open daily, year-round, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and the cafe is open from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Celebrating 10 years in 2013, the center currently features works by more than 650 artisans from more than 100 counties across the Commonwealth. Special exhibits include, "The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea: Celebrating 10 Years," on display through Aug. 24; and "The Founding of the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea" and "Highlights of the First 10 Years," on display in the lobby through Nov. 17, 2013. For more information about the center's events call 859-985-5448, visit us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/kentucky.artisan.center, or go to the center's website at www.kentuckyartisancenterky.gov.

The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea is an agency in the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.
