Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet? Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

FFA hosts annual cookout at Ottawa Baptist Church

Submitted by Tiffany Bowman

On Tuesday, September 24th the FFA hosted the annual fall cookout. This year, the cookout was located at Ottawa Baptist Church instead of Quail Park. As usual, everyone had a great time meeting the alumni, members, and competing in the various activities. As is custom, the Ag. Olympics took place, along with the bow shoot. The Ag. Olympics were a variety of competitions including hay bale stacking, throwing, and hurdles, tire rolling, and a sack race. In the Olympics there is a male and female division. The male division winners were: third place Matt Alexander; second place Caleb Ballinger; and the overall first place winner was Will Martin. Then, for the female division Hannah Prewitt received third, Tara Mink second, and Brittany Long took the overall first place. In the bow shoot, there was a great turnout, and tough competition, but Curtis Miller stood out with second, and Lance Isaacs dominated for first place overall.

After all of the competitions took place, and dinner was served, members and guests gathered together for a round of volleyball and corn hole. It was a great time. Thanks to everyone who came out, a special thanks to our cooks for the night, and congratulations to the winners!

Lance Isaacs, and Curtis Miller took first and second in the bow shoot.

Caleb Ballinger, Matt Alexander, and Will Martin were the Ag. Olympics male division winners.

Brittany Long, Hannah Prewitt, and Tara Mink were the Ag. Olympics female division winners.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet? Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

School Board adopts Rowan Resolution

At Tuesday night's regular meeting of the Board of Education, board members voted to support a Resolution of the Rowan County Board of Education.

The Resolution challenges the state House of Representatives and Senate to take action regarding funding for the legislation known as "Unbridled Learning" (Senate Bill 1). According to the Resolution, the bill was passed to "ensure that Kentucky's students would have the tools they need to compete in a global society..."

However, the Resolution asserts that "the mandates of Unbridled Learning con-

Local artist displays county in paintings

By: Kelsey Mattingly

Rockcastle County native artist Mark McFerron is continuing his talents and showcasing the beauty of Rockcastle and Eastern Kentucky in his most recent paintings.

Currently residing in Louisville, with his wife and three children, McFerron said he will always consider Rockcastle a wonderful place and enjoys capturing its beauty.

"I feel like I have lived all over the county," McFerron said. "I certainly know it like the back of my hand."

McFerron said he started painting when he was four-years-old. He said that it wasn't until his time at Rockcastle County High School that he discovered art and the subjective power of painting.

"I knew then that I would be an artist regardless of my career direction," McFerron said. "I currently work as a Consumer Experience Visualizations Designer at Humana."

McFerron noted that he is primarily a painter of landscapes and ordinary scenes which he said makes Rockcastle County a perfect place for him to paint. He said that he is an artist of the land which is reflected in his various works.

McFerron went on to say that there are countless areas of landscape for him to paint in Rockcastle County. He said that the Rockcastle River had a major influence on the work he has done and he is so happy to have had the chance to grow up around it.

"I've always loved the outdoors, woodlands, creeks and rivers of the county," McFerron said. "So I would naturally choose those subjects to paint. It was during ramblings...

Crossed an item off my "bucket list" last week -- took a trip to Branson, MO with daughter, Allison. Okay, so my bucket list doesn't contain items such as climbing Mt. Everest or seeing the pyramids of Egypt. Mine are more commonplace but attainable.

It's a long trip. From Springfield, it was at least 9 hours and, on the return trip, we got held up by an accident on I-65 which cost us an extra hour. We stayed three nights but only actually had two days to see shows, hit as many restaurant as possible and just explore the landscape in general.

In my mind, the place should have been a big Renfro Valley. But it wasn't. Think of Pigeon Forge and multiply by five. It is obviously a preferred destination for senior citizens. They were everywhere. We went to a "Price Is Right" entertainment show and one of the contestants was older and pretty hefty. You had to go up steps to get onstage and she needed quite a bit of help. Then she got to play Plinko and the steps were steep and it was touch and go for a while if she would make it.

Allison, who's seven months pregnant, was a little young for the crowd but she was a trooper. And, she got to see an Eagles Tribute which she enjoyed. Of course, the first show we saw was an Elvis impersonator. He was good. He came in third on an "America's Got Talent" Show. But, I told Allison later that, with the same stage props, backup singers and costumes, Will Reynolds would have been just as good.

It's worth the trip. You need more than two days however to really explore all the activities available...

The government shutdown is still going on. It doesn't affect me personally, except that I'm always happy when Washington goes dark.

The Repubs probably overreached with their attempt to defund Obama Care but they should certainly hold out for undoing the provision that exempts members of Congress, their staff and the IRS, which is overseeing the over trillion dollar program. As one commentator said, beware of the food if the chef doesn't eat his own cooking. How dare they take over the health care system in this country for us plebians but exempt themselves from participation.

So far, I haven't had any notification of a change in my supplemental insurance but son-in-law Spencer, who

The Great Saltpetre Cave

All throughout my life in Rockcastle County, I was enthralled by caves. As a young boy, I began my spelunking adventures by playing in and around Big Fill Cave, which was located near my mother's house in the Pine Grove section of the county. Many of my friends and I spent numerous hours investigating the miles of rooms and caverns in that old cave. It would be hard to name all of my friends who have explored that cave with me.

The awesome beauty of Kentucky's rolling hills is more than meets the eye. Once you scratch Kentucky's surface, you will find an incredible underground world just waiting to be discovered. According to the internet, there are more than 130 caves located in Kentucky -- four of which I have spent a great deal of time exploring. They are: Big Fill, Carter Caves, Mammoth Cave, and Saltpetre Cave.

One of the most attractive features of caves in Kentucky is the constant temperature, which is approximately 58 degrees Fahrenheit. I have also always been enamored by the vast rock formations located in caves. The formations that hang from the ceiling are called stalactites, and the stone developments from the floor to the ceiling are referred to as stalagmites. I first learned of these stone monuments from my brother, Al, when he initially introduced me to cave structures.

Al taught me the names and how they were formed. It was he that initially took me to the "secret room" inside Big Fill Cave. When we first entered the room, Al showed me his initials that he had burned into the wall when he was a young boy. He also assisted me in putting my own mark on the wall there.

I have also been interested in the wildlife found in Kentucky's cave system. Al first showed me the bat population that was found in Big Fill. I have also seen several animals that use the cave for their homes.

My second cave that we explored was SaltPetre Cave just a few miles from Livingston in Rockcastle County. I cannot recall who first introduced me to that particular cave, but I remember that I was only a young boy when I first explored its huge caverns and passageways.

My wife and I were watching a program on KET recently, and we learned that occasionally Saltpetre Cave is used for shows from Renfro Valley. The cave has a storied past. It was originally discovered by Robert Baker in 1798 not far from Livingston. By 1804, the cave was used for mining saltpetre, which was shipped to powder mills where it was blended with sulfur and charcoal to produce gunpowder. By 1815, it became uneconomical to commercially mine there. The cave settled back into obscurity and was only visited on a limited basis. I believe that it is occasionally opened for

The 2013 garden growing season is not over yet but it's winding down fast herein the Paint Lick suburbs at 249 Charlie Brown Road. And it has been, easily so, the best growing season that I have experienced this young century.

Late last Sunday afternoon I hustled through the garden trying to beat the approaching rain storm but I still got drenched. Even so, I brought in a five gallon bucket full of stuff -- a big mess of Bufford Caudill fall beans, Bodacious sweet corn, Brandywine and Molly Helton tomatoes, a couple of English cucumbers and half a dozen huge, thick-walled, bell peppers.

So I said to Loretta that I believed these were the best peppers we've had since we've lived here and she said, "Nope these are the best bell peppers you've ever grown since I've known you and please don't be putting how long that's been in the paper because some people think I still look young."

My wife is becoming vain in her old age but please don't tell anybody I said that cause it might get back to her. Meanwhile, let's get back to the garden.

We are eating on and sharing our third crop of sweet corn of the year this

The Way I See it

By Doug Ponder

This past week I had a friend come up to me seeking advice about some things he was going through in his life. But I am not going to list his problems for the sake of his confidentiality and fear that some people might identify him.

While he was explaining his problems, it made me look at a bigger picture of life in general. We're all going to have tough times in our life and go through trials of some kind. It might be the loss of a loved one, sickness, financial problems, divorce, losing a job, etc. Some of these tough times are caused by our own personal decisions as we make mistakes in life and some of them are just simply out of our control as they are unavoidable.

Needless to say, some bad things have happened to my friend recently that were out of his control. He went on to say that he didn't know how to handle them and move on with his life as a result of these bad things happening.

I could relate with my friend to a tee and he knew that which is why I think he decided to talk to me. I've already had several "huge" bad things happen to me in my life that were out of my control. My dad passed away when I was ten-years-old, both of my grandmothers died from lung cancer while I was in college, one of my uncles, who was like a second father to me, was killed in a tragic accident while I was in college and I struggled with finding a job out of college and spent months living with an uncertainty about my future. All of these things happened to me before I had turned 22, which is old enough to barely even be considered an adult in the world.

As I was explaining these bad things that have happened to me, I could see an astonished look start to come across his face before he asked me "how in the world have you learned to live and love life with all of those bad things that happened to you?"

My answer to him was a simple one word answer that I told him before he could even finish his question. That answer was "God."

The discovery of that answer didn't come easy for Old house on Richmond Street...

Dear Editor,
Please notice the overgrown and falling in house at 180 Richmond St. The Mayor and City Council members are supposed to "take care" of situations such as this.

I will bet if it was a poor person, a misfit, or someone they did not like, then those members of OUR government would be on it like flies on a cow patty. If I found out who the owner is/was then can I be that much more intelligent they are? I reckon I am just a genius.

A corny poem for the Halloween season- Halloween on Main is drawing neigh and the most frightening thing is close by. The house at 180 Richmond St. Oh what a pity According to law of our lawful city. The owner should be made to clean and trim

If only the city officials can find him. It must be top secret that's for sure 'cause a trip to the PVA would be the cure.

In case you cannot walk, even a call should solve the problem once and for all.

At my last check the owner is in Richmond KY Now you officials done got lucky

There is no difficult job of visiting the PVA You can ALL just sit on your duffs 'cause that is your way.

Is the owner an ol' buddy, relative, or friend perhaps that is why you will not get off your rear end.

me but when it came, it came in a big way! I explained how nothing is guaranteed in our lives except one thing. I told him "people can die on me and people can let me down. But there is one thing in my life that I can never lose or have taken away from me and that is my God."

I don't make it through life because I am a strong-willed person, that's not the case at all. I make it through life because of my God. Words can't describe the "peace" that comes with this realization when a person realizes this and accepts Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior. I constantly pray that my friend and others who are going through bad things in life will find the same peace.

visitors these days but not on a regular basis.

When I became an adult, I was still interested in visiting caves in Kentucky. My wife and I began camping in the early 1980's and chose Carter Caves State Park for our first camping site. There we took a few tours of the caves and loved spending time in the heavily wooded campground. It was even possible to hike to the lake in the park and spend time fishing from the bank. That was an added attraction for me in the park at Carter Caves.

Because Mammoth Cave National Park is so popular, it is hard to secure a camping permit unless reservations are made ahead of time. Kathy and I were able to spend one long weekend and enjoyed our time there immensely. With over 350 miles of passages, the Cave is the longest known cave system in the world. It is hard to believe, but explorers have not completed the mapping of the vast underground passages to this time. Many of the trails are as deep as 400 feet underground. The park itself covers more than 52,000 acres of land.

My introduction to caving influenced me for most of my life. I am so glad that my brother and several of my friends in Rockcastle County also had an interest in visiting these underground marvels. Every time I enter one of these cool habitats, I am transferred back to the days of my childhood, and my memories are extremely heartfelt. The habitats found in caves are so fascinating -- especially to a man with a science background. Spending leisure time in these sub-terrestrial environs is simply rewarding and worthwhile. Take a Saturday afternoon and visit one of Rockcastle County's caves, then you will understand what I mean.

Paige has her coverage with Humana and it is only catastrophic coverage -- all she could afford with very high deductibles. She was told that she was "grandfathered" in with that coverage and could add Spencer, who had had much better insurance with Ky. Access, albeit with a much higher premium. However, if she chose to upgrade her coverage, which she wanted to do, it would involve being "compliant" with 10 requirements for the policy which included paying for a maternity clause for both her and Spencer!!! All this at a much much higher premium, of course. And, they did not qualify for any subsidy to help pay for this increase.

I keep waiting for the other shoe to drop on the 40% smoking penalty that is supposed to be imposed. I have begun going through the smoking cessation classes at the hospital but, if you have smoked in the last five years, the penalty is still levied.

than one. That's not to suggest that Tom is not also a reliable witness, but that Keeter will believe anything a woman tells him while he doubts most men if they claim to be friends of mine.

Which is why I also took our biggest watermelon of the season to Loretta's sister, Barbara Thomas, last week. Said mellon was a Charleston Grey -- one of those long, pale green jobs that the seed pack says can reach up to forty pounds even though they seldom do. I'm not sure how much this one actually weighed but it was more than either Loretta or I could handle because Lo has a bad back and Mr. Parkinson has essentially rendered one-handed and the mellon was way more than I could manage with just my good right arm.

So I had son Christopher fetch it from the garden, load it in Loretta's car and Barb unloaded it when we got to her place. Barb has a host of kids and grand kids but I'm betting that she still has leftover watermelon in her fridge.

This wonderful growing season has been the result of an abundance of rain and the coolest summer we've had in decades. The only thing that more or less failed me this year was tomatoes. And we've had more than enough maters to eat on but not enough to share with everybody and his brother on both sides of the road the way we normally do. I could have fattened a couple of hogs this year on rotten tomatoes and the ones that simply burst open on the vine because they got too much water.

We also had hundreds of cucumbers and squash that got too big too fast but Keeter swears that a hog won't eat a cucumber and he's not about to put something in his mouth that a hog won't eat. I figure it's the other way around -- that a hog won't eat anything that my brother turned down.

The biggest downside to this garden season, however is a huge one. Along with all the veggies, lamb's quarter, hog weed, horse weeds, morning glories, hickory dock and probably a dozen other varieties of devilish weeds have also persisted and thrived in spite of my best efforts.

At times, when it was dry enough to cultivate, it seemed like I could hoe a row of anything, glance over my shoulder and see weeds coming up behind me. Morning glories now cover my dead corn stalks and both hog weeds and lamb's quarter are taller than I am in places. They've reached the point that my one handed miracle hoe is useless against them and they are going to seed.

I'm already dreading the fight next year but we all know that this is not a perfect world. Still, when we can get a growing season like the one that's winding down, we can at least get some idea of what perfection might look like.

district and districts across the Commonwealth to make significant cuts to their budgets and to personnel, compelling school boards to increase property taxes in order that districts might continue to operate and serve the students.

The Resolution ends by challenging the House of Representatives and Senate to "take action, putting the students of the Commonwealth of Kentucky first, reinvesting in their future and fully funding the mandates of Unbridled Learning to ensure that Kentucky's public education system can offer students the path to college and career readiness."

Dr. Tina Cain Hasty brought the matter before the board saying that the Kentucky School Board Association was considering adopting the Resolution, or a similar one that other school boards have written, and she wanted the local board to consider its adoption. Dr. Hasty is a member of the state school board.

The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Also during the meeting, the board went into closed session to discuss the sale of some board property. After about a half hour, members returned and voted unanimously to sell land in Houston Point to Jason Wood for $7,000. The land had been donated to the board by Ed Buis.

The board heard an update from finance officer Melanie Lyons. Ms. Lyons began by telling the board that the fiscal year began with $234,000 less in the general fund, and expenses had been more in September than in September of last year but finances were "holding their own" even though the general fund has $627,000 less than at the same time a year ago. "Revenue should pick up in November," Lyons said when revenue from property taxes begins coming in. She said the board had received less in the food service fund in September and that the federal government needed to pass a budget soon because their inaction was beginning to "trickle down" to local boards. The finance officer said that the local board receives $60-$70,000 monthly from the federal government.

Supt. David Pensol gave the board an update on the progress toward district delivery targets, including student proficiency for combined reading and math, college and career readiness, graduation rate and closing the achievement gap.

According to hand-out to the board, the elementary schools surpassed their target of 45.7 with a 47.5 for student proficiency for combined reading and math primarily because of Brodhead and Roundstone schools exceeding their target goals. However, the middle and high school fell short of the target goal.

According to information in the handout, the district is working with elementary schools to unify and improve reading and math instruction and a new math series, aligned to state standards, has been purchased to unify and improve math instruction across the district.

The high school fared well on the college and career readiness rate, exceeding the target of 52.4 by 10 points. The school also met the target goal of 92.1 for the graduation rate. Pensol said it was due to a plan implemented during the 2012-2013 school year to improve the graduation rate. The plan involves working with students at risk on an individual basis to address specific issues impacting the student's ability or decision to stay in school. The rate of 92.1 is based on the number of incoming freshmen and has improved over 10 points from the rate for 2012 of 81.3.

The elementary schools improved their achievement gap by almost 10 points from 34.1 in 2012 to 43.3 in 2013 and surpassed their target of 40.7 for 2013 because of Brodhead and Roundstone elementary schools exceeding their target goals for the gap group. However, the middle school and high school both missed their target goal. The middle school's target was 38.9 and they achieved 32.1 and the high school had a target goal of 41.1 but achieved only 30.7.

The board has held workshops focused on a balanced budget during which a line by line analysis of expenditures and revenue has been completed to ensure a balanced budget and inform decision making. Available funding has been prioritized to maximize student instruction and learning, according to the handout.

During the meeting, the board also voted to hold the November meeting as a Special Meeting at 4:30 p.m. on November 12th, in order for the board to attend the Fall Regional Meeting at East Bernstadt Independent. Pensol said the regional meeting would cover such issues as superintendent evaluations and contracts, ethics, etc.

The Superintendent's Personnel Actions Report for Sept. 11 thru Oct. 8th, showed certified personnel hirings including Herbie Brock as Head Academic Coach at RCMS and Hannah Weckman as substitute teacher.

Retirements included: Janice Davidson and Leon Davidson's retirement, as teacher and principal, respectively.

In the classified hirings, Cole Abney was hired as an assistant football coach at RCHS, Courtney Brock as an assistant academic coach at RCMS, Trina Bustle as a substitute teacher and Morgan Smith as an assistant basketball coach.

Hopkins told the board that ways to use the remaining $116,000 of a Department of Transportation grant were still being discussed. $100,000 of the grant has already been used on improvements on the CSEPP site and Hopkins suggested that one use of the remaining funds be used to finish the parking lot, begun originally for additional parking for SourceHOV. Anything remaining could be used toward the $120,000 changeorder involving needed electrical lines for the CSEPP building, she said.

Hopkins also reported that the government shutdown had not affected operations at SourceHOV and subsidiaries because funding had already been allocated by the federal government. "Unless the shutdown lasts a lot longer, work on the backlog of veterans claims should not be affected," Hopkins said.

As to Anchor Packing, Hopkins said that Anchor was "very happy," with their facility and that she was confident that a new $5,000,000 piece of machinery would be installed in the Mt. Vernon plant although Anchor has not made an official announcement as to its placement as yet. She said that Jackson Energy was "working hard" with Anchor to get their electrical rates cheaper.

As to the food hub, scheduled to be installed at the former IGA building in Brodhead, things are "moving along very well," Hopkins said. A $150,000 contract has been awarded to the distribution center which will be located in the IGA building. She also said that a $350,000 grant to the Growing Warriors/ASPI high school until 1972. After the consolidation of Rockcastle County High School in 1972, the building was used as an elementary school until 1990 when Livingston students were assigned to Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

Food Hub through the Kentucky Department of Agriculture was virtually assured though the grocery part of the project was "three years down the road." The distribution center is expected to open in the spring of 2014.

Livingston Mayor Jason Medley said it means a lot to him that the reunion is being held inside former rooms of the school building.

"This school building is very special to me because I am an LES graduate myself," Medley said. "The graduates are very excited for it to be back in the school building and they are also excited to tour the building as well. Things couldn't be better."

Peggy Snyder of Roundstone Missionary Baptist Church and Joyce Gabbard, not shown, were busy Saturday selling homemade goodies to benefit their Adopt A Basket program. The program provides food baskets for Christmas to needy families. Mrs. Snyder is founder of the project.

Adopt-A-Basket project underway

Members of Roundstone Missionary Baptist Church work most of the summer to provide Christmas baskets for needy families in our area.

On Saturday, the group set up a tent on Main Street during the Bittersweet Festival to sell homemade goodies with the proceeds going to the Adopt-A-Basket project.

Peggy Snyder, founder/executive director of the project said that proceeds from bake sales during the summer goes to buy food and hygiene products. In 2012, 150 families benefited from the program. Ten families in Madison County, four from Jackson County, two in Estill County and the remainder in Rockcastle County (an estimated total from records of 586 people) all received a basket which included a ham, canned vegetables, dried food, potatoes, bread, eggs and hygiene products - toothpaste, soap, shampoo, etc. Children also receive a new toy from the program and the families get to choose what they can use from donated shoes and clothing, including outerwear, Bibles and school supplies.

After determining how many families can be helped with the revenue collected during the summer, vouchers for baskets are printed and given to school counselors, local Shop-With-A-Cop representatives, Christian Appalachian Project liaison for families and other organizations who give them to families they consider to be in the most need which can be redeemed at the church for a basket. "I do not choose any family to receive a basket," Snyder said.

Mrs. Snyder said that since she has been working 6 or 7 days a week at Hitachi in Berea, her work in bake sales has been limited and she has come to have to depend more on donations. "With today's economy, more and more families are in need of food and clothing. Your donation, large or small, can help continue to feed and clothe as many people as possible," Mrs. Snyder said.

If you would like to donate to this worthwhile project, contact Mrs. Snyder at 606-256-0685 or 859-582-4657 or church pastor Rick Reynolds at 606-256-0306 or 606-308-0112. Donations can also be sent to Adopt-A-Basket, P.O. Box 708, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456.

LOIS'S CHICKEN MARABELLA

After moving to Pennsylvania, I got a job at SYNTHES, working as an administrative assistant to Lois. For Christmas, she invited her department to her house where she cooked dinner for all of us. This was the entrée, and everyone loved it. I have since given it to my sister-in-law who also enjoyed the dish. There are some strange ingredients, but believe me, when all cooked together, they are wonderful.

- 6 whole boneless chicken breasts
- 1/2 cup red wine vinegar
- 1 cup pitted prunes
- 2 tablespoons capers (with a little juice)
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 6 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 tablespoon oregano
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 1/2 cup pitted Spanish olives
- 6 bay leaves
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup apple juice
- Remove skin from chicken breasts; discard. Cut meat into bite-sized pieces. In a one-quart zippered storage bag add all ingredients EXCEPT the chicken, brown sugar and apple juice. When marinade is mixed well, add the chicken. Place the bag in a large bowl and refrigerate overnight. Pre-heat oven to 350°. Remove bay leaves from marinade. Pour chicken and marinade in a lasagna dish or 13 x 9 baking dish. Sprinkle with 1 cup brown sugar and 1 cup apple juice. Bake 60 minutes or until done.

those times of painting that I realized a lot of folks love the simple scenes that I capture.”

The Tobacco Barn painting is one of McFerron’s best examples, he pointed out, as well as his previous paintings of Burdette Farm, Cleft Rock, and the Brodhead Café. He said he strives to capture a moment in time that reflects the lives that have existed in Rockcastle County.

Not only is McFerron using his passion to bring out the beauty in Rockcastle County but he says he is also using his talent to partner with Citizens Bank of Mt. Vernon to benefit Relay for Life.

“I just finished an illustration of the old Mt. Vernon Depot and have partnered with Citizens Bank to sell it. 35% of the proceeds will go to Relay for Life via Citizens Bank,” McFerron continued.

Along with sharing his skill with a great cause, McFerron added that he is also working on two paintings of a Native American Indian and what he would have looked like existing in eastern Kentucky in the late 1700s. It’s no secret that he will continue to produce great works that represent not only Rockcastle but eastern Kentucky as a whole.

McFerron said he always hopes to preserve and display the true beauty of Rockcastle County. He even noted that he will be continuing this venture happily, for many years to come.

“I believe I will always paint and be influenced by the areas of Rockcastle county to my last days.”

Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue responded to a head-on collision last Thursday on Old Brodhead Road in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say Jeremiah Caudill, 17, Brodhead was traveling north on Old Brodhead Road when he hydroplaned on the slick roadway and collided head-on with a Chevy Impala driven by Stephanie Ross, 17, of Livingston. Ross and her passenger Nicole Hatton, 17, of Mt. Vernon were transported by ambulance to Rockcastle Regional Hospital where they were treated for non-life threatening injuries and released. Caudill refused treatment at the scene. Officials say all three were wearing their seatbelt at the time of the collision.

Strange... But True?

by: Tonya J. Cook

Cursed Car Kills Actor, James Dean, Part II

James Dean lived much less than an ideal childhood, with his mother dying when he was only nine years old. This forced his father to send him to live with an aunt and uncle where soon he was sexually abused by a minister. Dean came back to California after high school graduation to attend UCLA, majoring in Drama, after deciding against pre-law.

Dean registered as a homosexual, avoiding the draft, and was said to have had relationships with men as well as women during his brief but iconic days as an actor. He also dabbled in the occult and is said to have been cursed by a girlfriend that was involved in black magic, whom he spurned.

This briefly recaps the background of actor James Byron Dean as noted from last week's column of "Strange But True?". This week, we will look at his love of fast cars and racing, and his untimely death.

Dean loved to race and bought fast sports cars. The most famous car being a rare 1955 silver Porsche Spyder, one of only ninety ever made. The car is now almost as famous as James Dean, himself. Dean had a rather explicit nickname around Hollywood, as it was said by some directors that he was difficult to work with. His nickname was "Little Bastard", which he had painted on the back of his Spyder, and the number 130 on the front.

Several of his friends said that the car was trouble, and actor Alec Guinness even went so far as to say that it would probably be his death. "Giant", Dean's last film, had just been finished filming, so James Dean and his racing crew headed for Salinas, California, for an upcoming race. A Porsche factory-trained mechanic, Rolf Wutherich, rode along with Dean.

The morning of the day of his death began simple enough. They all had coffee and donuts in Hollywood, with James Dean wearing his favorite red jacket, as he wore in "Giant". The day wore on, with Dean being stopped for speeding at 3:30 PM by Officer O.V. Hunter. By 5:45, James Dean would be fatally injured.

About 5:45 PST, the Spyder was going an estimated 85 miles per hour when a Ford coupe driven by 23-year old Donald Turnupseed made a left turn, and the Ford and Spyder collided almost head-on. The Spyder flipped, but landed on its wheels. The Ford was 39 feet away as a result of the impact.

Donald Turnupseed was only slightly injured with a few bruises. The other passenger in the Spyder, mechanic Rolf Wutherich, had some broken bones. James Dean was extracted from his car yet alive, but he had internal injuries and a broken neck, along with other fractures. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Paso Robles War Memorial Hospital at 6:20 PST by Dr. Robert Bossert. James Dean's last words are thought to be, "That guy's gotta stop...he'll see us."

Both drivers, Turnupseed and Dean, were neither charged with any crime. Turnupseed granted one interview after the crash, and has remained silent concerning the incident since. He did say that he had killed Dean and lived with a lot of remorse. Donald Turnupseed died from cancer at age 63 in 1995. James Dean is buried in Fairmont, IN, in Park Cemetery, about a mile from where he grew up on his aunt and uncle's farm.

Now, for the fate of the silver Porsche 550 Spyder. To stress the importance of safe driving, the California State Highway Patrol had the car taken to various high schools. The transport wrecked, throwing George Barkhuis from the vehicle and the Spyder landed on him, killing him.

On the one year anniversary of Dean's accident, a fifteen year-old boy looking at the car on display was run over by the car. The bolts securing the vehicle suddenly snapped as if by unseen hands, crushing the boy's legs.

In transportation again, the car slid from the bed of a truck, causing a fatal accident. A boy stole an emblem from the car, resulting in a serious gash on his arm. Two tires from the car were bought by a doctor, and both tires blew out at the same time resulting in a non-fatal accident. Another accident occurred when parts of the engine were used in another car. Death, accidents, and a trail of bad luck follow this car.

The most mysterious of all is that the car was en route from California to Florida, but seems to have vanished "into thin air".

Famous car customizer, George Barris, has built a replica of the Spyder. He said, "The car took off by itself and ran into a building. It hit the wall and broke a light. I don't know how it happened. It's mystifying."

Structural Collapse Technician Course Brodhead Fire Department completes technician course

Five members of the Brodhead Fire Department recently completed an 80 hour course to become structural collapse technicians. These members spent eight 10 hour days at the Lexington Fire Academy training with responders from all over the Commonwealth. The class was hosted by the Lexington Fire Department and the Kentucky Office of Homeland Security. Brodhead FD has been working with several agencies in the state to become part of the Kentucky Heavy Search and Rescue Initiative known as Kentucky Task Force 1. This group is organizing to respond to disasters such as tornadoes, earthquakes, and floods in the State of Kentucky.

The class was broken into several parts including Heavy Lifting & Moving, Breaching & Breaking, Cutting, and Shoring. Everyday the students were different with practicing different skills in each of these disciplines. The last day of this class all the students were given a final exam scenario that required proficiency in each of the skills. "This class has been one of the best classes I have ever taken in the fire service. It was very challenging class that provided everyone with a vast array of skills. I hope we never have to use what we have learned but we are better prepared if the need arises." According to Asst. Chief John Dyehouse.

With the equipment received in a grant this past spring and training the Brodhead FD can now better serve our community, county, and region. The skills learned are for accessing trapped victims in a collapsed structure no matter what causes the collapse. Brodhead FD was the only volunteer fire department represented in the class. Other departments in Rockcastle, Laurel, Madison, and Pulaski Counties have shown interest with the Brodhead FD to provide trained man power and equipment for this endeavor.

Angela DeBord receives White Coat at ceremony

Angela DeBord of Brodhead, received her white coat at the White Coat Ceremony for the Class of 2017 at Lincoln Memorial University-DeBusk College of Osteopathic Medicine (LMU-DCOM) in Harrogate, Tenn., on September 21, 2013.

DeBord is a first-year osteopathic medical student at LMU-DCOM. Prior to enrolling at LMU-DCOM, DeBord attended Eastern Kentucky University. The White Coat Ceremony is a special ceremony designed to mark a student's entrance into medical school. The first White Coat Ceremony was held in 1993 at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons and is now a standard ritual in institutions of both allopathic and osteopathic medical education across the country. During the Ceremony, each medical student is presented and "robed" with his or her short white laboratory coat, formalizing and welcoming the student's entrance into the study of medicine.

The DeBusk College of Osteopathic Medicine is located on the campus of Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tennessee. LMU-DCOM is an integral part of LMU's values-based learning community, and is dedicated to preparing the next generation of osteopathic physicians to provide health care in the often underserved region of Appalachia and beyond. For more information about LMU-DCOM, call 1-800-325-0900, ext. 7082, email dcom@lmunet.edu, or visit www.lmunet.edu/dcom.

Tiger Pause

On Monday, September 30, the students of Brodhead Elementary were able to experience an exciting, entertaining, and educational program, "The World of Reptiles," by Scott Shupe. Students were able to view and learn about the characteristics and habits of various reptiles from Kentucky and around the world. Mrs. Caroline Graves braved and successfully passed the "snake test," as she carefully held the Corn Snake while the students counted down 10 long seconds. As the study of science was brought to life, the students gained knowledge and respect for these animals and had a great time.

Brodhead Elementary School held a monthly "Leadership Spotlight" ceremony. During the ceremony, recognition was given to students who have exhibited outstanding leadership characteristics in the classroom and throughout the school building. Pictured are students who received this acknowledgement for the month of September.

Rockcastle Middle held the Annual RCMS Book Give-Away on Thursday. Jordan Smith, Shyann Reynolds, Cameron Cornelius, and Levi Gentry had a tough time choosing from all the great titles. All students selected a brand new book of their choice. Thanks to Gear-up for helping to provide the books.

Minds in the Middle

The Unite Toilet Paper Drive has begun. We are in competition with the schools from Clay County to see who can donate the most toilet paper for some local drug rehabilitation facilities. The drive will run through October 25th.

Students should have brought their report cards home on Thursday. Most students also took home results from last spring's K-Prep assessment.

Remember to be collecting your Box Tops for Education. The teams are in competition to see who can bring in the most. The current contest will run through October 25th.

Congratulations to 6th graders Katherine Coffey, Valerie Franklin, Shakeitha Kates, and Emily Ponder on being added to the RCMS Yearbook Staff.

Thursday we had our annual book give-away and every student was able to select a new book of their choice to keep. We thank Gear-Up for helping to sponsor that event.

We also thank all of the students and staff who purchased "Candy for a Cause." $201 dollars was raised to help support local cancer patients through Rockcastle Regional Hospital's Hope Fund. Congratulations to the Enterprisers team on having 100% attendance on Thursday!
