A bridge on Wildie Road was closed to traffic Monday by order of the state Department of Transportation. The state determined that the bridge was deteriorating so rapidly that it was unsafe. Bids for the replacement of this bridge, the third bridge on Wildie Road from U.S. 25, and another bridge nearby have been let. Construction on this bridge should begin in August.

Anchor exercises option to terminate lease as of Sept. 10th

County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis has officially been notified by Anchor Packaging that the company intends to exercise its right to terminate their lease as of September 10, 2014.

Carloftis said he was first notified by a phone call early Wednesday morning that the lease was being terminated and the operation would be moved to Arkansas. He received the official termination notice last in the day.

Anchor's spokesman said that following a restructuring of the company it was determined that higher rail transportation costs of raw materials and higher electric rates were the determining factors. In Arkansas, Union Pacific and Burlington North rail lines are available to the company at a lower rate than CSX and utilities are owned by the town they will be relocating to.

The Anchor spokesman expressed appreciation for the county's efforts to locate them here, including all the work the county did to get the physical plant up to federal standards for food packaging products. They also noted that Jackson Energy had worked hard to get the company a lower, more competitive electric rate but unless they (Anchor) got into much heavier production, the rates would not decrease noticeably.

The company's 29 full-time employees will be

Wildie bridge closed to traffic as of Monday

Residents along Wildie Road, especially beyond bridge #102C, will have to deal with the closure of that bridge for some months, according to County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis. The bridge is the first one from the Lowman Hill Area and the third off of U.S. 25.

Carloftis told the fiscal court, in their regular meeting Tuesday, that he had received a phone call on Monday from Bruce Neeley with the state Department of Transportation, telling him that the bridge had to be closed to traffic and, if it wasn't, the county would be liable for any accident that might occur.

The county was originally ordered by the state to close the bridge on January 24th. They complied but the barricades were immediately removed by residents and traffic over the bridge resumed. Carloftis said that hot rock had now been placed at both ends of the bridge.

He also said that bids had been let and construction should begin in August on the closed bridge and on the other one afterwards. Both bridges will not be taken down at the same time, Carloftis said.

The judge said that a temporary bridge was not an option because of the expense, permits needed because of the stream bed and the added process of obtaining easements from landowners.

Total cost for replacing the two bridges will be $500,000 and will be paid by the federal government.

The court awarded bids during their meeting for several items. Hi-View LLC was the low bidder for crushed limestone. The court accepted both Hi-View's and Hanson Aggregate's bid so they could purchase from Hanson if Hi-View did not have the grade of crushed limestone needed. Elmo Greer was the only bidder for asphalt of $71 a ton - up from $67 last year. Beng

Farm Supply received the bid for tiles.

The court also took the low bid for a New Holland tractor for the road department, submitted by Southeast Farm Supply of London. Southeast's bid for the used tractor was $25,600.

The county also paid claims by Kenneth E. Dyehouse for $6,000 and $3,377 for some of the work at the Brodhead ballfields.

The project began about a month ago and includes renovating existing restrooms, bleachers for the School Board gives Pensol great evaluation

By: Doug Ponder

Superintendent David Pensol received a great evaluation from the school board at their monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Board members went into closed session during the meeting to evaluate Pensol's performance during his second year as superintendent.

When board members returned from closed session, Board Chairman Tina Hasty handed Pensol his evaluation form. The form congratulated Pensol on his outstanding performance in his second year as superintendent.

The form stated that the board applauds his vision for staff and students. It said the board also applauds Pensol's willingness to make tough decisions now to benefit Rockcastle County Schools in the future such as all-day kindergarten and budgetary management. The evaluation form also noted that the board thanks Pensol for his high expectations for student achievement, focus on early childhood education and for leading Rockcastle County Schools in ensuring that the district's students graduate ready for college, careers and life.

Pesol has two years left on the contract he received when he replaced former Superintendent Larry Hammond, who retired in July 2012.

Arrest made in copper theft at Anchor Packaging

By: Doug Ponder

Police arrested a local man Sunday night for the theft of several pieces of large copper wiring from Anchor Packaging on Industrial Park Road in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested was Raymond Joseph Carpenter, 32, of Brodhead. According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Deputy Matt Bryant responded to Anchor Packaging on Sunday, March 16th, after receiving a complaint of a supervisor catching another employee stealing copper wiring from a large assembly line.

Once Bryant arrived, a factory manager told him that a maintenance supervisor caught Carpenter cutting copper lines from an assembly line. The manager said the maintenance supervisor had been called to fix the assembly line after it wasn't functioning properly.

Carpenter confessed to the maintenance supervisor that he had cut the copper wiring and that he was going to resell it. After being caught, the manager told Bryant that Carpenter was immediately terminated from his position.

During the investigation, Bryant found three pieces of heavy 600 volt copper wires lying on the ground in the area where Carpenter was caught by the maintenance supervisor. Bryant also noticed that the copper wires

Points East

By Ike Adams

When I was growing up it was not uncommon to see fathers and sons along creek banks fishing together or in the woods hunting squirrels or pitching horse shoes or even shooting marbles late in the afternoon in the cool hours before dark. Dads were teaching kids to play the games they grew up with. Little girls, learned from mothers, how to skip rope, play with jacks or play hopscotch. There was a fine line between being called a sissy or a tomboy but, truth be told, both genders frequently crossed the line into the others games.

Still, thirty years ago, when those little hand-held video games, Zelda, Pac-Man and what-not, that seemed to fascinate all the 9 to teen-year-old set to the point of total distraction, came on the market, I never thought I'd see the day when grown men would sit around on porches or in living rooms, even in city parks and restaurants with their kids and be mutually amused with similar devices.

Yet it's very common, these days, when you see parents actually taking some time to spend with their kids, to see a dad and two or three young ones, sitting around in relative oblivion, gripping pads, cell phones, androids or whatever they call those things, biting their tongues, muttering to themselves, grimacing, doing body contortions, fist pumping, occasionally yelling, "Yes", and apparently enjoying life to its fullest.

I blame my generation for the fact that the kids of today never discovered the sheer joy of packing around a pocket full of cat's eye marbles and learning how to play Christmas Tree and rolley holey, and how to log to see who gets to shoot first. How to stage a corn cob fight or how to throw a ringer or even what one is or how to run their fingers back under a flat stone there in the creek and feel out a soft crawdad that will catch the biggest smallmouth bass in the big hole.

We are the ones who let technology rob our grandchildren of the riches of our own youth. We are the ones who muttered and mumbled and let our own kids be kidnapped by Zelda and Pac Man and that ilk as long as we were assured their homework was done because the truth of the matter is, we were to caught up in our own inflated opinions of ourselves to pay much attention to what was happening to our kids. My generation was the first one to start blaming the school systems when their kids kept getting in trouble and discovered drugs. And it's way too late to worry about it now.

Nor does sitting around and whining about it, like this, serve any useful purpose. Call it opinion for opinion's sake and thank Heaven for The First Amendment.

People keep asking me all the time, when I'm going to publish a collection of my columns. And the answer is that I'm not going to because I honestly believe that if they're worth it, they will just about publish themselves. To the extent the project needs some help, I'm leaving it to my grandson Mazzen.

As soon as The Maz gets his drivers license in about three years, I'll fly him in for a couple weeks vacation from Houston. He can drive down to London where every column I've ever written

Rabbit-Ear Television

I'll bet that many of you remember the "rabbit-ear" antennas that were sitting on top of the black-and-white television sets that we watched in the late 1950s. In the beginning, TV programming was limited to the stations that were located near our homes. If you were living in a rural community, you probably could only receive one or two stations — three if you were very lucky.

Television in those days could sometimes take a bit of imagination to determine what was actually appearing on the screen. By slightly adjusting the two wire prongs reaching toward the ceiling, the "snow" disappeared, and a moving picture came into view. Oh, how far we have progressed since those early days of network broadcasts!

Just think about when TV first came onto the market. Before that time, we relied completely on radio for our entertainment and for our news. With the advent of television, we could actually see our favorite announcers and even some actual news footage. Initially, it all seemed like a miracle.

I was only eight years of age when my mother (Bee) purchased our first TV set. It was a rather large wooden box with a small, 13-inch, black-and-white screen. Sitting on top was a smaller box with two antennae pointing toward the ceiling of our living room. Our family was quite fortunate because we lived on a mountain top and could receive two stations all the time. Occasionally, a couple more might be able to be tuned in if the weather conditions were just right.

On a regular basis, we could pick up Lexington stations WLEX and WKYT. We were feeling truly blessed on the days that we could sporadically receive WHAS in Louisville or WATE in Knoxville. WBIR in Knoxville came on line in 1956.

Bee was actually good at adjusting the antennae on the TV. She had a knack of knowing exactly how to move the "rabbit-ears" in order for the picture to be at its best. I was not allowed to "fiddle" (a southern term if I ever heard one) with the antennae. When I wanted to change channels, it was always necessary to have her complete the adjustment. All of this seems pretty ridiculous now, but in those days getting the television properly tuned was a serious matter — and virtually no one wanted a kid fooling around with it.

My grandparents lived a short distance from our house, and they visited frequently to witness the amazing spectacle of moving pictures in a box in our living room. Pop loved the wrestling shows, and Mommie Katie adored the prime-time variety shows like Perry Como, Ed Sullivan, or Art Linkletter. They occasionally had heated discussions about which program we were going to watch. Bee and I usually gave in to their wishes because they were "visiting" in our home. (Back in those days, any visitor — family or not — was given our "best.")

After a couple of years with the "rabbit ears," Bee decided to have a real antenna mounted on the roof of our house so that we were able to receive several more stations that could not otherwise be viewed. (The

T.J.'s Journal

A Life Cut Too Short

Dear Journal,

I slipped on a pair of bright blue gardening gloves. As I did, thoughts of my niece, Sandy, came to mind. She loved to work in her yard, planting and plucking. She had a "green thumb", so she naturally had a showplace.

As I worked here and there in my yard, I thought about Sandy. I thought about the first time I saw her: I was at my grandpa and grandma's house. Sandy and her mother, Bernice, were going to be staying there for several days, so my mom and grandma could help with their care. Just a little before noon I heard the ambulance pull into the drive. Bernice and her new baby girl, only three days old, were home. The ambulance driver carried Sandy inside and placed her, still inside a clear basket-like container, on the dining room table.

She grew, and a year later on this very dining room table there was set her first birthday cake. Later that day, she took her first steps from the living room to the dining room. A few years passed, and it became necessary for my brother, Don, to move his family which now included two more baby girls to Detroit to find work.

I'm getting kind of tired now; yard work can be tiring. I think I'll sit and rest for a moment. My thoughts turned to Sandy again. Although she grew up mostly in Detroit, she and her sisters, Karen and Rosemary, would come and stay the summers here in Kentucky with us. These, as it turned out, were very special times for us all. We would take little trips to Beech Bend, Mammoth Cave, Gatlinburg, and various places in Florida. Oh, the memories of these.

Sandy loved animals. We always had a dog or so on hand for her to pet. One summer she got a big rabbit, "Mr. Bun", and she took him back to Detroit. He turned out to be a she, and lived long enough to return to Kentucky a few years later when they all moved back.

I should be getting back to work. I think I'll do some landscaping with decorative rocks. They are a natural, yet a decorative addition to any yard. Oh my, do I ever remember all the dress-up and make-believe plays that were staged on our front porch, the ice cream socials, Preschool kick-off a success...

Dear Editor,
Anyone that attended the Head Start funded Preschool Enrollment Kick-off held recently would probably agree that it was a success.

All three schools came together at the MVES playground and invited preschool aged children and their families to come enjoy the school playground structures, inflatables and a free meal. Each family was given a bag including enrollment information and a hard back book to read with their child.

The Rockcastle County Adult Education Center and Rockcastle College Readiness Center were both there to offer information to parents needing to obtain their GED or prepare for college. They also held a drawing for a gas card. Nurses from the health department were in attendance with helpful information and to answer any questions parents may have.

Mrs. Willametta French brought her school bus for the to children climb aboard and see. She went over school bus rules and safety precautions with the children and their parents.

Mrs. Tammy Camel brought students from the high school's FCCLA to help with supervision. The students were very helpful and interactive with the children.

The Rockcastle County Preschool Staff would like to thank everyone that attended or volunteered their time to make this event possible.

is on file and in print in one form or another. Within three years he will be able to use a hand-held device to scan all the early stuff I typed on a manual Royal typewriter. The whole thing won't take him more than half a day at the rate technology is advancing.

The first 800 or so columns I wrote have never been digitized or anything else related to a computer except maybe for the press motor that printed the papers. I figure the whole project will take him about half a day at the newspaper, and that his mother, my daughter Geneva Marie (Genny), can help him sort it out when he gets back home. They should have well over 1,800 columns to work with and maybe there is a book or two in that pile of papers.

And even though The Maz (an avid reader) and his younger siblings Ramzy and Isabel do most of their reading on Kindles and other digital tablets, Genny (who's favorite hobby is reading) is savvy enough to know that a lot of folks her age and older still prefer their books on paper and bound between hard covers.

I don't want my grand kids wasting their time with me on technology though. I want to teach them how to catch nightcrawlers and crawdads and wade the lower reaches of Silver Creek and experience the thrill that only comes when they entice ole Dollar Eye to come out from under that big sycamore root and latch onto a well-cast crawler. I want them to feel that jolt of adrenalin that starts where the wrist connects with the ultra light rod, goes up the arm and then all the way down to their ankles when a big smallmouth bass lets them know that its ready to give them all the fight they can handle.

And I'm willing to bet a substantial amount of money or a pocket full of marbles that I can take their minds off their tablets for at least a few afternoons and give them some memories they'll keep awhile.

Wanna bet?

power of the signal was the determinative factor.) Television in the Griffin household changed dramatically after that technological move. Bee also had a rotor installed on the roof, and we could actually move the antennae by turning on an electrical device on top of the TV to adjust the broadcasts. To use another southern expression, we were "in high cotton" after that wonderful device came into our home.

I remember that Bee loved to watch Queen for a Day and the Ed Sullivan show most of all. I don't think we ever missed either of those programs. I suppose that Queen for a Day would be viewed by some as reality TV in this age. That program had 3 lady contestants who each gave her own personal sob story in order to determine (by audience applause) which they would win a new washing machine or some other modern convenience.

Those were also the days of the "Test Pattern" that came on at midnight, signaling that regular programming had ceased for the day. There were no overnight programs; you couldn't stay up all night watching TV because there was nothing to watch. Many stations aired the poem about "slipping the surly bonds of earth" and then played our national anthem. That was it - the test pattern remained on screen until programming began again the next morning.

I always hated to see the test pattern appear because that was the defining moment in our house, as it was in many others, that it was now time to retire for the evening. I recall that as soon as I turned off the TV and walked into my bedroom, I immediately tuned on my transistor radio, and it remained on until I was just about to fall asleep. Sometimes I actually dozed off before turning it off, meaning that by morning the battery had to be replaced. I have always wanted (or needed) some noise in the background. I am the same today. There is a radio playing in my kitchen 24 hours a day, and we use the sleep timer on our television so that it will turn itself off after we are asleep.

It is almost implausible how TV and radio have changed during the past sixty years. Now my Dish Network allows me to watch over 250 channels in my home with no stopping at the end of the day. I also receive over 100 stations in my automobile using Sirius XM subscriptions. If someone had told me this in 1952, I would never have believed it would be possible.

While television viewing has improved in numerous ways over the past decades (such as the screens, the viewing quality, and the amount of programming), there is one thing that definitely has not: paying for the privilege. In my day, our form of "payment" was watching the commercials. Now we have to pay princely sums for the cable or satellite programming (in addition to all of those fees), yet we still have to watch the commercials at about triple the rate that used to be required. I suppose that may be one of the reasons that those times became known as the GOLDEN days of television.

and trips to Mary's Café for pop and candy. Then there were the trips to see the Reds, playing tennis all day, and another thousand things...such as going to county fairs. Every day was an adventure.

Sandy graduated from high school and even attended Cumberland College, my grandma's and mom's alma mater, for a while. She was an exceptional student, excelling in art, business, and writing.

She met and married a local boy, who unfortunately was very cruel and abusive with her. She and their two children were forced to leave home. Sandy was now a single mother, but she was a good provider, working as an office manager, then a postal worker.

That's it for the day, I'm getting too hot, and I need a cold drink...air-conditioning, here I come! Sandy was doing well. She bought her grandparents' "old home place", and did some remodeling. She even met and married a very good man who helped her raise her daughters. Her daughters graduated high school, with one, Sarah, going to the University of Kentucky, and going into teaching. The other, Angie, went into the Navy, and served in the Persian Gulf.

Angie married and gave Sandy two grandchildren, whom she loved very much. These and the rest of her family were her life. We had many special family occasions back at the "old home place", and Sandy was the glue that held us all together, but she did it in a way we didn't suspect a thing.

All was going well until the wretched day came that Sandy was diagnosed with breast cancer. The cancer spread, and Sandy put on a brave fight for almost twelve years. The living room was turned into a hospital room with an adjustable bed and all that she would need. She had around the clock care and nurses coming almost daily. She only went to the hospital for surgery and other times that became necessary. She spent her final days at home surrounded by family, friends, and all of the things she loved. The last Christmas she was with us, her daughters put up the tree and tried to make it look like the ones Sandy fixed. She really knew how to decorate a tree. Sandy liked to look at the tree so much that we couldn't take it down and it stayed up until mid summer, even after she was gone. Just a little after midnight on March 6, 2011, she was heard to say in a whisper, "Not just yet, not just yet". Realizing what she was meaning, the each daughter and her husband told her that it was o.k., she could go on. When she was at peace about leaving, Sandy quietly left us with her family at her bedside, there at the "old home place". She drew her last breath in the same room where she took her first steps only forty-five years before. A life cut too short indeed.

Fit Family Run scheduled

Many people are interested in running or walking for exercise, but the idea of participating in an organized "race" doesn't appeal to them. Some might wonder, "What if I come in last?"

If you are one of those people, mark your calendars for June 19 - it's the third annual Fit Family Run at the track at Rockcastle Middle School. The event, part of the annual Longest Day of Play festivities, is designed to showcase just how fun exercise can be, whether or not you're a competitive person.

The evening does begin with some friendly competition. At 6:15, dozens of youngsters age 10 and under will assemble to sprint around the track one time to determine who is the Fastest Kid In Town. Awards will be given to all participants, and the winners of each division (7 and under, 8-10; male and female) have their photo made for the newspaper.

At 6:45 the always-popular Family Fun Relay Race will begin. For this event, four-person teams consisting of families (we prefer families, but if you need to recruit a neighbor or friend to fill out your roster, that is fine) will complete a 4-by-1-lap relay. Eight to 10 teams usually participate. Some can be seen huddling before the race begins to talk strategy; others aren't serious at all, but all of them have fun at this unique event.

Then, at 7:15, the run/walk begins. That's when anyone who has signed up takes to the track for a 1, 2 or 3 mile run or walk. You choose your distance, and no official time is kept. The idea is to provide an atmosphere of fun, to celebrate running and walking as an effective, inexpensive form of exercise. There is no last place.

Rockcastle Regional Hospital is partnering with the Grateful Bread Food Pantry for this event, which is the sixth in the 12-month County-wide Stride run/walk series. Admission is 2 non-perishable food items.

For more information, contact Susan Turley at 256-7746.

Rockcastle River Trading Company, near Livingston, has been designated as the first Proven Winners Botanical Trail in the nation. Proven Winners is the nation's #1 plant brand. The public is invited to a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Friday, June 13th at 2 p.m. for the trail at the Rockcastle River Trading Company. On Saturday, the public is also invited to hear the history of the location and the plants that make up the trail.

“Trail”

emphasizes a property that successfully integrates Proven Winners plants as a complement to the natural landscape, while respecting local landscape tradition and indigenous plant material.

Rockcastle River Trading Company is the popular home and garden store, located on the family property and boyhood home of Jon Carloftis. Author of Beautiful Gardens of Kentucky, Beyond the Windowsill and First a Garden, Jon is an award-winning garden designer, garden writer, television guest, author and lecturer.

Rockcastle River Trading Company's beautiful gardens, designed by Jon, surround the Carloftis home and store and have been featured in BMW Magazine, Country Home, Garden & Gun, Outdoor Rooms and Southern Living.

Complementing the grounds is a newly-created series of walking trails that meander along the Rockcastle River and that were part of the Wilderness Road, once traveled by Daniel Boone.

Intended to be somewhat of a plant adventure, many of the newest selections of Proven Winners plants are effectively designed and integrated into focal points along the trail. Jon notes, "I grew up with a tremendous respect for the beautiful native Kentucky landscape. Using so many Proven Winners plants in my landscape projects and seeing their exceptional performance, I was attracted to the Proven Winners Botanical Trail concept as a way to showcase their beauty and yet still maintain a respect for the native surroundings."

Beginning this spring, the existing gardens on the Carloftis property will be complemented with many of the latest introductions from Proven Winners, including some of Jon's favorites...Baptisia 'Blueberry Sundae,' Ligularia 'Bottle Rocket,' Monarda 'Jacob Cline,' and Amsonia 'Blue Ice.'

As the first designated Proven Winners Botanical Trail, the Rockcastle River Trading Company property joins six additional prestigious properties with special designations from Proven Winners: Mackinac Island's Hotel Iroquois, Charlotte's Duke Mansion, the Grand Tradition Estate and Gardens in California, Meadow Brook Hall in Michigan, the Governor's Mansion in Illinois and Kentucky's Governor's Mansion. Each of these properties are all designated as Proven Winners Signature Gardens with impressive display gardens, significantly landscaped as a showcase of the newest selections from Proven Winners.

It is the collaboration with Carloftis that brought the Proven Winners Signature Garden designation to Kentucky's Governor's Mansion. Adds Jon, "And now, visitors to the Mansion have another Kentucky must-see destination - a Proven Winners Botanical Trail at Rockcastle River Trading Company."

were approximately thirty feet long and that he had also cut some smaller internal copper wiring from the assembly line. He also learned that Carpenter had removed similar copper wiring on three other assembly lines in the factory.

The maintenance supervisor went on to tell Bryant that if the copper wires Carpenter removed had the power switched onto them, it could have caused an explosion which might have injured or killed employees. They said several employees also noticed Carpenter was often unaccounted for on several occasions during the work day for approximately one hour at a time and not during their regular breaks or lunch break.

After further investigation, Bryant discovered that Carpenter had been selling some large copper wiring to a local recycling center. Bryant said that Carpenter had sold the copper wiring on twelve different occasions between November and February.

The estimates for repairing the four assembly lines was almost $42,500. Rockcastle County Attorney Billy Reynolds said Carpenter's arrest was delayed because the arrest warrant couldn't be issued until his office received an estimate of the damages to the property which is owned by both the county and Anchor Packaging.

Carpenter was charged with theft by unlawful taking between $10,000 and $100,000. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $7,500 unsecured bond.

According to the Rockcastle County Detention Center's Jail Tracker website, Carpenter's recent arrest was the eighth time he has been arrested since April 2002. Reynolds said that he was extremely disappointed with the results of Carpenter's bond decision with his criminal record.

"Carpenter's bond was set at $7,500 unsecured and he simply signed himself out of jail. In light of Carpenter's criminal history, this sends a poor message to our citizens and the businesses in Rockcastle County," Reynolds said. "Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant plans to present the case to the Rockcastle County Grand Jury next week and I feel sure the bond in circuit court will be much better suited for the crime."

Reynolds went on to say that repeat offenders being constantly released on low bonds are putting the citizens of Rockcastle County in dire danger.

"The district judges are going to have to start keeping bonds higher and quit the culture of the revolving door," Reynolds said. "Our release statistics are awful compared to Laurel and Madison counties. This mentality must change."

T-Ball field, with a concession stand, storage building and restroom beneath, new fencing and new backstops built. The fencing alone cost the county $46,000 and the red field mix for the ball infields was $5,500.

Altogether, Carloftis estimates that final cost of the renovation will be around $70,000. "I began this project as soon as I was asked, by David Sargent, Corey Craig and other Little League board members, for the improvements and the fiscal court concurred with me. Besides the $70,000, which will all come from occupational tax funds allocated for recreation in the county, the court also spent $70,000 on the Depot Park in Brodhead, of which $30,000 of that amount was recovered from a federal grant," Carloftis said.

During the meeting, the court also approved the budgets for the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority, the county extension service, the conservation district and the Rockcastle Development Board.

The court also lowered the speed limit on Buffalo Hollow Road to 35 mph and Big Sinks Road to 25mph at the request of the magistrates for those districts.

Two members were appointed to the library board, Cloia Collins and Carolyn Collins were both appointed for terms ending June 30, 2018. Appointed to the extension board was Phil Thompson.

The court will meet in special session next Thursday mainly to approve the 2014-15 budget.

given a severance package and the chance to relocate to Arkansas.

Bottom line for the county is that Anchor will have to pay a $288,332.45 early termination penalty to the county. This will make the payment on the county's note with KACO of $3,000,000, for purchase of the building, for 18 months which gives the county some breathing room to find another tenant for the building. The note presently has a balance of about $2,750,000.

Carloftis said Wednesday, "This building is an asset to the county and the fiscal court made an absolutely correct decision in purchasing and renovating it. The funds we spent were from occupational tax monies and were what it possible to get this building ready to go."

A statement by Corey Craig, RCIDA member, Wednesday said, "We are terribly disappointed by Anchor's decision but we will work tirelessly to find another occupant."

Two people arrested for trafficking

By: Doug Ponder

Two people were arrested for trafficking methamphetamine last Friday night after police made a traffic stop near the intersection of Hwy 150 and Maretburg Road in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Joey Lea Chattelle, 41 and William Keith Bullen, Junior, 55, both of Mt. Vernon.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, Assistant Chief Barry Adams and Deputy Todd Caudill responded after receiving a complaint of a possible DUI driver in a silver Nissan car traveling toward Mt. Vernon on Hwy 150.

Officers spotted the vehicle at the intersection of Maretburg Road and Hwy 150. When officers attempted to make a traffic stop on the vehicle, the driver, who was later identified as Chattelle, turned onto Cedar Rapids Road in front of head-on traffic before parking her vehicle across the double yellow line on the road.

When officers approached the vehicle, they noticed Chattelle had slurred speech and dilated pupils. Officers also noticed Chattelle and her passenger Bullen both appeared intoxicated while performing field sobriety tests.

After searching the vehicle, officers found a plastic grocery bag containing two rolled bags of marijuana, a plastic bag containing eight rolled marijuana cigarettes, a small plastic bag containing suspected meth and a small drug ledger notebook that contained names of people and whether they had paid or not paid.

Officers also found a small plastic bag containing fifteen Clonazepam pills and a glass pipe on Chattelle at the time of her arrest.

Chattelle and Bullen were both charged with trafficking marijuana and trafficking a controlled substance (methamphetamine). Bullen was separately charged with public intoxication and Chattelle was separately charged with DUI and trafficking a controlled substance.

Both Chattelle and Bullen remain lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $20,000 cash bond.

Another local woman arrested for bank robbery

By: Doug Ponder

Another Rockcastle County woman was arrested last Wednesday for her involvement in a recent bank robbery in Jackson County.

Arrested was Mary Reed, 46, of Orlando.

According to state police reports, Reed and Sabrina Nicole Hensley, 29, of Orlando worked together as a team to rob the Jackson County Bank in Sand Gap on Thursday, May 29th.

Hensley walked into the bank around 3:30 p.m. and demanding money from the teller. She then left the bank with an undisclosed amount of cash and fled in a car driven by Reed.

Hensley was previously arrested for her participation in the bank robbery on Saturday, May 31st after officers received information about some dye-marked money that had been exchanged at a Mt. Vernon business. Officers traced the currency back to Hensley and discovered the original dye pack that had exploded in a stack of stolen cash.

After further investigation, officers learned that Hensley reportedly volunteered to steal the money from inside the bank. However, officers noted that Reed was just as guilty as Hensley and that they operated as a team in the bank robbery.

Both Hensley and Reed have been charged with second degree robbery, tampering with physical evidence and theft by unlawful taking from a building $10,000 or more but under $1,000,000. They both remain lodged in the Jackson County Detention Center on a $100,000 cash bond.

Coyle back in custody

By: Doug Ponder

An inmate at the Rockcastle County Detention Center, who escaped from authorities last month, is now back in custody.

According to Rockcastle County Detention Center CIO Nathan Carter, Ruby Elizabeth Coyle, 32, of Richmond was arrested last Saturday morning at a McDonald's restaurant in Berea after an off-duty Berea police officer recognized Coyle and Carrie Ann Gross, 32, of Richmond at the restaurant.

Once officers arrived, Coyle and Gross gave them false information about their identity. But after further questioning, they finally admitted to the officers who they were.

Coyle originally escaped from authorities while on work release at the Little League baseball fields in Brodhead on Thursday, May 22nd when Gross picked her up in a car and the two escaped before authorities could catch them.

Coyle was initially arrested for a felony offense probation violation on January 31st and she was 112 days into her five year jail sentence when she escaped. Gross was originally lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center as a state inmate on February 25th and she was released to a halfway house on May 1st.

Both Coyle and Gross now face new charges. Coyle is charged with second degree escape and remains in the Rockcastle County Detention Center without bond.

Gross is charged with second degree robbery after police found electronics in her possession that she had reportedly stolen from a family member. She remains lodged in the Madison County Detention Center also without bond.

Appliance Service Center has closed its doors

One of the longest serving businesses in Mt. Vernon closed its doors Saturday, May 10th.

Appliance Service Center has been a fixture in Mt. Vernon for 57 years, always operated by members of the Winstead family.

We have two histories of the business - one written by its founder Roy Winstead, and the second from the perspective of Laverne Winstead, who, along with her husband, Dale, worked in the business for 42 years.

A History of Appliance Service Center

Written by: Roy Winstead

I received a letter from my father, James Winstead, in 1945, asking if I would go into business with him when I got out of the service. I had saved a small amount of money while I was overseas. I wanted to be a mechanic but, with only a sixth grade education, I agreed.

I had planned a three month vacation with my wife, Virginia (Dillingham), instead we started to work the next day after I came home from the Army.

Mt. Vernon Hardware was formed. Almost everything was still rationed when we first started and merchandise was hard to buy. Dad, being an old timer and his love for horses and mules, his purchases were things like harness, wagon spokes, skeins, Bura Vista saddles. We never made money in the hardware business, but survived. We took on John Deere farm equipment. Dad wanted to buy horse drawn equipment, but things were changing. We began buying tractors and all the equipment to go with them - hay balers, rakes, manure spreaders and that cost a lot of money. We stayed broke trying to pay for inventory.

Competition was keen and John Deere with the popping engine, was not very popular in Rockcastle County, so I began to work day and night, sometimes twelve or fifteen hours a day.

We did plumbing, built new bathrooms, sold and installed oil furnaces, sold Porter Paint and Maytag wringer washers, with their gasoline motors. I did all the repair and bookkeeping mostly at night. I thought we had it made.

Virginia and I had a daughter, Judy, in 1946 and a son, Dale, in 1948. In 1955, I developed ulcers. I could not get rid of them. I hemorrhaged with a bleeding ulcer, half my stomach had to be removed. I was in the hospital twenty days. This is when the thought of Appliance Service Center came into my mind.

When I got out of the hospital, I talked it over with my Dad. I wanted to sell him my half of Mt. Vernon Hardware at cost and buy a small place to do his repairs and other brands of appliances. I just wanted a place where I did not have to work day and night. He did not want to buy my half, so we split the merchandise in half. I took all the plumbing and John Deere. I hated the farm machinery business.

I purchased the old pool hall building on Hwy. 150 and went to the bank to borrow the money, they said no. The bank said it was a bad business deal and advised me to forget it. My in-laws loaned us the money.

I moved the old pool room building back and built the building that is there today. I sold all the John Deere equipment and this helped me over the hump financially. Our business has increased each year. As for taking it easy, it did not work out that way at all. We worked harder. We bought a bulldozer and dump truck and backhoe. We did plumbing and heating for years.

When Mt. Vernon Hardware sold out, we took on Porter Paint. Maytag already had Frigidaire and Speed Queen and we delivered bottle propane until fuel when up then we quit. We also stopped plumbing and heating.

My son, Dale, graduated from EKV in 1970 and was drafted into the U.S. Army. He, and his wife, Laverne (Chasteen), and seven-month-old son, Jeffery, moved to Alexandria, Virginia for 18 months. Laverne became a head teller for Bank of America, working in Falls Church, Virginia.

Upon returning to Mt. Vernon in 1972, Dale and Laverne came to run Appliance Service Center.

Their son, Jeffery, came to work in 1989 to do service and delivery. Scotty started to work in 1995 as salesman and computer operator.

Total sales are larger and the store has expanded to take care of the increased merchandise we carry. We work hard to please people. We service everything we sell which keeps people coming back.

(Roy died in May of 2001. His wife, Virginia, died in July of 2001).

2nd Generation of Appliance Service Center

By: Laverne Winstead

Roy Dale Winstead was born in Stanford on June 21, 1948. His parents, Roy and Virginia, reared their two children, Dale and his sister, Judy, in Mt. Vernon. Dale is a graduate of Mt. Vernon High School, Class of 1966.

In school, he was a student athlete and trumpet player in the band. That training would prove invaluable later in life when he completed his service in the Army and was often asked to play Taps at military funerals.

During his senior year, Dale began dating Laverne Chasteen, who was two years younger. According to former teachers and fellow classmates, Dale was considered quite the "Romeo" at Mt. Vernon High.

Many of his friends said the relationship would last six weeks, if that long. However, on June 22, 1968, Rev. Ray Cummins united the couple in marriage and they will celebrate their 46th wedding anniversary in just a few days. So, it has lasted!

After Dale's graduation from MVHS, he enrolled at Eastern Kentucky University, majoring in Business Administration. He was also in the ROTC program at EKV and graduated December 22, 1970 with his BA degree. That same week, he received his induction notice from the United States Army. Just a few days later, his first son, Jeff, was born and, six weeks later, on February 2, 1971, Dale left for Fort Knox and active duty.

After completing basic training and AIT at Fort Knox, where he became a squad leader, he was shipped to Fort Myer in Washington, D.C., the stopping place for Vietnam. However, because of his ROTC experience, his Business Administration degree and typing skills, Dale was assigned to serve in Washington, D.C., working for the Defense Department at the Four Stall Building.

With the Vietnam War winding down, Dale was discharged and he, and his family, returned to Rockcastle County in November of 1972, just in time for Thanksgiving. Although he was never asked to serve in combat, he would gladly have done so because he believes strongly in his country, democracy and protecting our God-given freedoms.

So, 42 years ago, Dale, Laverne and their young son, Jeff, came home to help run the family business, Appliance Service Center. On April 12, 1975, their second son, Scotty, was born and came to the family business.

Among the business community, Dale is known for having a "big heart." Many times, he makes his service calls and comes back to the store with tomatoes or corn as his payment. Most of us may not realize that such situations still exist in 2014, but they do with Dale Winstead.

Dale has also been very active in our community, through civic organizations and as a volunteer fire fighter. He has paid his dues in the Little League program, helping to coach when Jeff and Scott were younger. He is also known as a "die-hard Chevy man" and, when not at work or church, enjoys working on cars and attending car shows.

In the course of the last 45 years, Dale and Laverne's family has grown to include two sons and their families, Jeff and Scott, four precious grandchildren, Roy Scott, August Isabella, Tristan and Conner Dale, and two step grandchildren, Brianna and Hunter McClure. He treats all of them as if they are his own children, praying for them daily and serving as a role model of a Godly father and grandfather. His family is extremely important to him - just as important as his church family or his "big family" as he calls the congregation at First Baptist.

Many people who have known Dale most of his life have numerous stories - like chopping the can of artificial snow in half with a hatchet and thinking he had blinded himself because it totally covered his face and glasses. But, every single person also said the same thing, that Dale Winstead is one of the most giving, encouraging, kindest, merciful and tender-hearted person that they have ever known. They each say that his faith has never been shaken, even when going through some pretty rough storms of life. That unwavering faith is what encouraged him when facing difficult situations like the loss of our son, Jeffery, in 2013.

Appliance Service Center is closing its doors on Saturday, May 10, 2014. Dale Laverne, Scotty, along with our wonderful grandchildren, who have all grown up in Appliance Service Center, want to thank you, our loyal customers, who are also our friends, for the 57 years you have given us.

a long process of disengagement," Isaacs said. "The majority of the time a kid doesn't get up one morning and decide they are dropping out of school, it's a process that happens over years and as those issues mount up over time the process of disengagement sets in."

Isaacs went on to say that some of the students who drop out of high school go on to get their GED.

"For some students we have seen the circumstances surrounding their lives impact the decision to drop out," Isaacs said. "One person we dealt with was really intelligent and had to drop out because they had no financial support from any of their family. They went on to get their GED and are taking college classes while working."

Pensol agreed with Isaacs and said every situation is different and that certain procedures and interventions with students throughout their education career will help eliminate the process of disengagement.

Coordinator Jenny Sweet said The Rockcastle Area Technology Center was ranked number one among all Kentucky area technology centers in ACT Work Keys.

The RATC tested 69 students with the ACT Work Keys Assessment with a 94.2% pass rate which included 19% of students earning a gold certificate, 75% of students earning a silver certificate and 6% of students earning a bronze certificate.

Sweet said the gold certificate means students demonstrated the skills needed in 90% of today's jobs and the silver certificate means students demonstrated the skills needed in 65% of today's jobs.

The Superintendent's Personnel Action Report showed two certified hirings with Morgan Emery as RCHS assistant volleyball coach and Letica Talamantes Burns as the RCHS head volleyball coach.

Classified hirings included Justin Houk as lawn care/mower, Brooke Bishop as RCMS head girls basketball coach, Eric Pheanis as RCHS custodian, Retha Bussell as RCHS custodian, Lisa Durham as MVES food service manager, Tina Hodge as substitute cook/baker, Crystal Brooks as a substitute bus monitor, Pamela Wright as a substitute cook/baker, Amy Nicely as an instructional assistant and Angie Carpenter as a substitute cook/baker. Resignations included Susan Coffey as a mid-day bus driver, Angela McQueen as a RCMS instructional assistant and Connie Meckley as a BES instructional assistant. Those who retired were Carolyn Napier as MVES food service assistant, Jeannine Parsons as food service director and bus drivers Tommy Adams and Paula Cobb.

tion Chris Cornelius asked the board for their permission to advertise bids for six surplus school buses and vehicles.

The surplus school buses and vehicles include a 34 passenger 1996 International bus, a 66 passenger 1998 international bus, a 34 passenger 1998 International bus, a 66 passenger 1998 international bus, a 70 passenger 199 international bus and a 1990 Jeep Cherokee.

Cornelius said some of the buses were used on routes this school year but he said all six vehicles have "outlived" their time of service. The board agreed unanimously to advertise for bids for the six vehicles.

Director of Pupil Personnel Becky Isaacs shared the updated dropout rates with the board. Rockcastle County Schools only had 12 total dropouts during the 2013-2014 school year as opposed to 14 during the 2012-2013 school year, 26 during the 2011-2012 school year and 24 during the 2010-2011 school year.

Isaacs said she believed the recent decline in the number of dropout rates are due to the district's philosophy of how they handle students or parents who are considering dropping out of school.

"In the past we viewed dropping out of school as an event but studies show dropping out is the result of

Mayor Jason Medley, center, accepts a $1,500 Operation Round-Up grant check from Jackson Energy Rockcastle County Director Phil Thompson, left. The City of Livingston will use the funds to purchase equipment for a community kitchen. Also on hand for the presentation was Livingston City Clerk Trisha Doan.

Livingston receives $1,500 grant from Jackson Energy

If cooking up a meal is the universal sign of hospitality, look for the City of Livingston to be even more welcoming to visitors with the addition of a community kitchen.

The city was awarded a $1,500 Jackson Energy Operation Round-Up grant to purchase equipment for a community cafeteria and kitchen. Mayor Jason Medley said the project will provide the city, which is also a designated Trail Town, with a space to host community functions, as well as benefit dinners and private gatherings. Medley and City Clerk Trisha Doan accepted the check from Jackson Energy's Rockcastle County, Director Phil Thompson.

"Operation Round-Up is an easy way for co-op members to give a small amount each month to deserving individuals and organizations in their local communities, like the City of Livingston," said Rodney Chrisman, Jackson Energy's Manager of Economic Development and Community Relations.

Operation Round-Up works when co-op members voluntarily have their electric bill rounded to an even dollar amount. For example, if a bill was $222.62 and the member had volunteered to participate in Round-Up, it would automatically be rounded up to $223.

The additional 38¢

would go directly into the Round-Up account. The average contribution over time is approximately 50¢ per month.

The donated funds go directly into a trust account that can only be used for grant funding. This account is administered by a seven-person Board of Trustees which meets quarterly to review grant applications. Any individual or community group with a worthwhile project can apply for funding.

More than $180,000 has been donated to area community service projects since Jackson Energy began this program in 2003.

For more information on Operation Round-Up call 1-800-262-7480, or log on to Jackson Energy's web site, www.jacksonenergy.com. Jackson Energy is a Touchstone Energy Cooperative serving more than 51,000 homes and businesses in Southeastern Kentucky.

The American Revolutionary War Patriots of Rockcastle

By Karen Hamm Adams

To celebrate and honor the county's American Revolutionary War Patriots and to enlighten the community about the service and sacrifice of these brave men, on behalf of the Rockcastle Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have compiled highlights of the service of the known patriots living in the county and who applied for a pension between the years 1818 and 1842. All information was taken from the patriot's own account from his pension application and other historical documents. More information can be found on each patriot at the local library or the Rockcastle Historical Society. (Copyright pending). If you are interested in joining the Daughters of the American Revolution, please contact Debbie Brown (606) 758-8659 or Iris Young (606) 256-2851.

John Ham

North Carolina-Virginia
John Ham was born 30 April 1759 and died on 22 September 1839 in Pulaski Co. KY. According to his pension application, John gave the following account of his service on 2 April 1824 in Rockcastle Co. KY at the age of sixty five:

John enlisted to serve three years in the Regular Army of the United States in the month of April in 1778 in the state of South Carolina at Bacons Ridge about six or seven miles from a town called Dorchester in the Rifle Company commanded by Captain Morgan and about one year afterwards Captain Morgan joined the Regiment commanded by Colonel Daniel Morgan in the line of the state of Virginia on the Continental Establishment and under the command of General Lincoln, that he continued to serve in the said Corps until the expiration of his term of enlistment when he was discharged from the service in Winchester in the state of Virginia by Colonel Daniel Morgan. He was in the Battles of Cowpens, Guilford Courthouse and at the Siege of Yorktown.

There is a discrepancy in John's pension application file. He clearly states that he entered service in Bacon's Ridge, South Carolina and in the Virginia Line. There is a letter dated 1923 with a summary of John's service which states he was in Surry Co. NC served in the militia under Captain Salathiel Martin's NC Company and then in Colonel Morgan's VA Rifle Company. It also states he was at the Seige of Charleston, SC. He mentions nothing in his pension application about this North Carolina service and there is nothing in the pension file except for the 1923 summary and the cover sheet of his application shows NC and VA. Either there was a mistake written in the summary, or there are papers missing from his pension application. Regardless, John received a pension at the rate of eighty dollars annually commencing February 23, 1833 for his service as a private in the VA Continental Line. Upon his death, his wife, Happy applied and received a widow's pension.

John mentions his wife and eight children in his pension application. He and Happuth "Happy" Ryan (1760VA-30 September 1854) were married on 12 August 1782 in Surry County, NC. John and Happy moved their family from Surry Co. NC to Rockcastle Co. KY in 1815. John is buried on the farm now owned by the Ford family. A dedication of the grave marking of this patriot will be on June 22, 2014 by the Rockcastle Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The children of John and Happy: Mary Polly Ham (1784). I believe that May married a Ham as she is listed in the 1840 and 1850 Census with children with the last name Ham: Ellen, Emily and Josephine. Josiah Ham (1788NC-3 September 1858 Pulaski Co. KY) married Betty Jane Thompson. He served in the War of 1812 as a Sergeant in the 11th Regiment Williams Mounted KY Volunteers. He was a school teacher by trade and died from kidney troubles. They had nine children: Sally, John, Lucinda, Jesse, William, Daniel, Joseph, Johnson and Ezekiel. John Ham (1792-1840). Ezekiel Ham (1795-1870 Pulaski Co. KY) married Kezziah Jett (1796-1898) in 1818 Pulaski Co. KY. He was a farmer by trade. They had eight children: William, Melinda, John, Lucinda, Daniel, Joseph and Isaac. Martha Ham (22 December 1799VA-22 March 1892 Rockcastle Co. KY) married William Collier (1798

High school library hosts signing event

Rockcastle County High School students, faculty, staff, and community leaders held the "Declaration for the Right to School Libraries" signing event on Friday, May 16th, at the conclusion of the third annual Spring into Reading Event. Library supporters added their signature to the initiative organized by American Library Association President Barbara Stripling. The Rockcastle County Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution joined in the signing. The text of the proclamation follows:

School libraries change lives

Declaration for the Right to School Libraries

In the spirit of the United States Declaration of Independence and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, we believe that libraries are essential to a democratic society. Every day, in countless communities across our nation and the world, millions of children, students and adults use libraries to learn, grow and achieve their dreams. In addition to a vast array of books, computers and other resources, library users benefit from the expert teaching and guidance of librarians and library staff to help expand their minds and open new worlds. As school libraries are essential to 21st-century education, we declare and affirm our right to quality school libraries.

School libraries empower the individual. Whether developing skills to succeed in school, looking for a job, or exploring possible careers, members of the school community turn to libraries for instruction, support, and access to computers and other resources to help them lead better lives.

School libraries support literacy and lifelong learning. Many children learn to read at their school libraries via story times, research projects, summer reading, tutoring and other opportunities. Others come to the library to learn the technology and information skills that help them answer their questions, discover new interests, and share their ideas with others.

School libraries strengthen families. Students and their families find a comfortable, welcoming space and a wealth of resources to help them grow, play, and share lifelong learning experiences together.

School libraries are the great equalizers. School libraries serve members of the school community of every age, education level, income level, ethnicity and physical ability. For many people, school libraries provide resources that they could not otherwise access, resources they need to live, learn, and work.

School libraries build communities. School libraries bring people together, both in person and online, to have conversations and to learn from and help each other. School libraries provide opportunities for students with diverse educational and cultural backgrounds as well as for those with special needs.

School libraries protect our right to know. Our right to read, seek information, and speak freely must not be taken for granted. School libraries and school librarians actively defend this most basic freedom as guaranteed by the First Amendment.

School libraries strengthen our nation. The economic health and successful governance of our nation depend on people who are literate and informed. School libraries support this basic right for the next generation of voters and civic activists.

School libraries advance research and scholarship. Knowledge grows from knowledge. Whether doing a school assignment, seeking personal enrichment or learning how to share and create information ethically, scholars of all ages depend on the knowledge and expertise that school libraries and school librarians offer.

School libraries help us to better understand each other. Students and teachers from all walks of life come together at school libraries to discuss issues of common concern. School libraries provide programs like book clubs and author visits, carefully selected collections, meeting spaces, places to gather with friends and safe havens to help us share and learn from our differences.

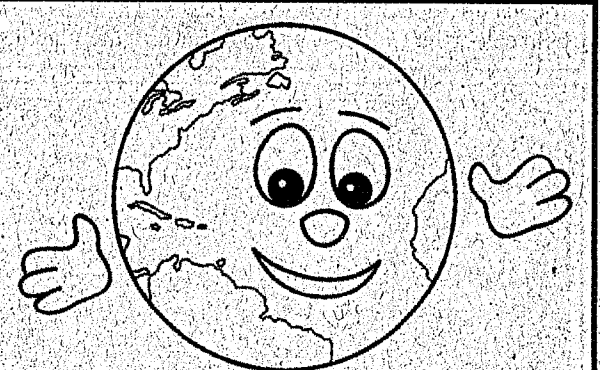

School libraries preserve our nation's cultural heritage. The past is key to our future. School libraries provide instruction, strategies, and practice in using the essential learning skills needed to help us better understand our past, present and future.

Mrs. Laura Durham, DAR Member and the first Rockcastle County High School Librarian, signs the "Declaration for Libraries" poster to show her support for school libraries.

ASPI is looking for a few good hunters. Got your attention? We are renovating the nature center and would like to add to our display of pelts and mounted animals. If you have any prepared skins, whole animals, or animal parts (antlers, hooves, a mounted head) and would like to donate them to the nature center, we will make a plaque or tag (for the pelts) with your name, date, and county where the animal was killed to display with your donation. School children and even visiting adults will learn a lot about our local woods with your help! (Use the contact information below if you have questions or would like to arrange a donation – it is tax deductible.)

If you would like to schedule a field trip (for a school or community organization) to the nature center, please contact ASPI at 606-256-0077 or naturecenter@a-spi.org. Water - Essential for Life

This report is designed to inform the public about the quality of water and services provided on a daily basis. Our commitment is to provide our customers with a safe, clean, and reliable supply of drinking water. We want to assure that we will continue to monitor, improve, and protect the water system and deliver a high quality product. Water is the most indispensable product in every home and we ask everyone to be conservative and help us in our efforts to protect the water source and the water system.

We treat surface water from Lake Linville. Activities and land uses upstream of Mt. Vernon Water Works' source of water can pose potential risks to your drinking water. Under certain circumstances contaminants could be released that would pose challenges to water treatment, or even get into your drinking water. These activities, and how they are conducted, are of interest to the entire community because they potentially affect your health and the cost of treating your water. Activities immediately upstream of your water supply intake are of special concern because they provide little response time to the water system operators. An analysis of the susceptibility of the Mt. Vernon water supply to contamination indicates that this susceptibility is generally moderate. Areas of concern are agricultural activity, septic systems, highways. An assessment of the watershed can be obtained from City Hall (606) 256-3437, Kentucky Division of Water (502) 564-3410 or Cumberland Valley Area Development District.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects may be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and may pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water include: Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria (sewage plants, septic systems, livestock operations, or wildlife). Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, (naturally occurring or from stormwater runoff, wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming). Pesticides and herbicides, (stormwater runoff, agriculture or residential uses). Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, (by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, or from gas stations, stormwater runoff, or septic systems). Radioactive contaminants, (naturally occurring or from oil and gas production or mining activities).

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water to provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health-care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Some of all of these definitions may be found in this report:

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL) - the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG) - the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

Below Detection Levels (BDL) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.

Not Applicable (N/A) - does not apply.

Parts per million (ppm) - or milligrams per liter (mg/L). One part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) - or micrograms per liter, (µg/L). One part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Parts per trillion (ppt) - one part per trillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000,000.

Parts per quadrillion (ppq) - one part per quadrillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000,000 years or one penny in $10,000,000,000,000.

Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - a measure of the radioactivity in water.

Millirems per year (mrem/yr) - measure of radiation absorbed by the body.

Million Fibers per Liter (MFL) - a measure of the presence of asbestos fibers that are longer than 10 micrometers.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity has no health effects. However, turbidity can provide a medium for microbial growth. Turbidity is monitored because it is a good indicator of the effectiveness of the filtration system.

Variance & Exemptions (V&E) - State or EPA permission not to meet an MCL or a treatment technique under certain conditions.

Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements that a water system shall follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Spanish (Español) Este informe contiene información muy importante sobre la calidad de su agua beber. Tradúzcalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

The data presented in this report are from the most recent testing done in accordance with administrative regulations in 401 KAR Chapter 8. As authorized and approved by EPA, the State has reduced monitoring requirements for certain contaminants to less often than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Some of the data in this table, though representative, may be more than one year old. Unless otherwise noted, the report level is the highest level detected.

Four students named 2014 Rogers Scholars

Rockcastle County Middle School students Carlee Cash, Rebekah Lake, Maggie Franklin, and Jackson Cromer have been selected by The Center for Rural Development to build their math, science, and technology skills this summer at the 2014 Rogers Explorers, youth leadership program.

One hundred and fifty middle school graduates from Southern and Eastern Kentucky will converge on the campuses of five Kentucky colleges and universities for this year's Rogers Explorers program. It is the largest class ever in the history of the eight-year-old program.

"Rogers Explorers gives students a one-of-a-kind learning experience to explore different career opportunities and possible career paths in the fields of math, science, and technology," said Delaney Stephens, community liaison and youth programs coordinator for The Center. "The program also encourages creative thinking and teamwork and builds leadership skills as the region's next generation of leaders and entrepreneurs."

Rogers Explorers is presented by The Center for Rural Development in partnership with Lindsey Wilson College, University of the Cumberlands, Eastern Kentucky University, Morehead State University, and the newest host site, Asbury University.

Students spend three days and two nights on the campuses of one of these Kentucky colleges or universities. The program is open to eighth-grade students within The Center's 45-county primary service area who have a strong interest in developing skills in leadership, technology, math, science, and community service.

For more information about Rogers Explorers, call The Center at 606-677-6000, email youth@centertech.com, or visit www.centeryouthprograms.com.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and bleach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum. The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Castle Village grand re-opening

Representatives from Senator Mitch McConnell's office, the U.S. Department of Agriculture - Rural Development, Kentucky Housing Corporation and Ohio Capital Corporation for Housing, executives from Carrollton Village Apartments' owners Wallick Communities, residents and others marked the grand re-opening of Castle Village Apartments with a ribbon cutting on May 12.

"We all know, home is about family. And for almost 50 years, Wallick has been a family-owned business, providing families and people of all means a safe and decent place to live," said Wallick CEO and Co-Owner Tom Feusse.

Constructed in 1982, Castle Village Apartments have undergone a complete $8.2 million renovation using federal Low Income Housing Tax Credits. The 70 homes for low-income seniors and families have undergone complete rehabilitations from new siding and roofs, to updated kitchens and bathrooms.

The resident community building was expanded to include an on-site meeting room, recreational space and community kitchen; and the computer room, resident laundry facility and offices were renovated. The community has 30 one-bedroom apartments, 30 two-bedroom townhouses and 10 three-bedroom townhouses. Exterior improvements include a new picnic area with grills, tables and benches, and renovated playgrounds and sports courts.

"Since moving into Castle Village, I have wanted to improve my life. Thanks to Community Manager Missy Lepore and others, I feel that I am on track doing that by taking online classes toward my degree in the technology center. I did not feel this way before," said Castle Village Resident Deanna Childress.

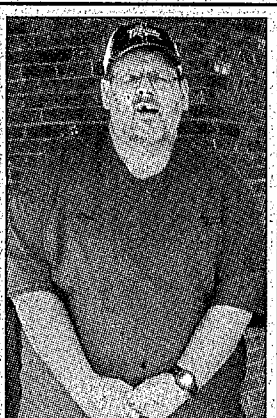

Project partners include: Kentucky Housing Corporation, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, USDA Rural Development, HOPE of Kentucky, Citizens Union Bank, Lancaster Pollard Mortgage Company, Alliant Capital, Berardi + Partners, Inc. and Wallick Communities.

Based in Columbus, Wallick Communities (wallickcos.com) is Ohio's largest owner-manager of affordable housing, operating four business divisions: Wallick-Hendy Development, Wallick Construction, Wallick Asset Management and Wallick-Hendy Properties. The company, with 700 employees, specializes in affordable multifamily housing in the Midwest. Through its various operations, Wallick has developed and built hundreds of communities and currently manages 14,000 apartments in more than 200 locations. Founded in 1966 by Jack Wallick, and currently owned by his children Howard Wallick and Julie Wallick and CEO Tom Feusse, the family business adheres to its founder's ideals of integrity and consistent quality.
