Illegally placed on state right of way KYTC announces removal of yard signs

By: Doug Ponder
 The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet recently announced that they will be removing campaign signs and other yard signs that are illegally placed on state highways in Rockcastle County.

KYTC Information Officer Amber Hale said a large number of campaign and other yard signs have recently been placed on state right of ways in the county. She said those yard signs include anything from campaign signs, yard sale signs, advertising signs, etc.

Hale said that state law and KYTC policy prohibits the placement of any signs on state right of way along state highways. She said the prohibition also includes signs attached to utility poles or fences.

Hale went on to say that state highway crews are beginning their fall mowing operations and that the signs delay the crews. She also said the signs pose a potential hazard to motorists as they distract drivers and also restrict their sight distance in certain areas.

KYTC policy calls for the removed signs in Rockcastle County to be

Mt. Vernon council sets tax rates for 2014

At Monday night's regular meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council, councilmembers approved the first readings of ordinances which set the tax rate for real property and motor vehicles for 2014.

This year's rate will be 16.9 cents per $100 assessment for real property and 16.7 cents per $100 assessment for motor vehicles.

Mayor Mike Bryant told the council the rate was the lowest it could be without losing revenue. Last year's rate was 16.6 cents per $100 assessment but, Bryant said, the city's property value assessment decreased. "We are trying to think about taxpayers but we obviously can't go backwards,"

County Attorney's Office cracks down on those behind on child support

By: Doug Ponder
 Rockcastle County Attorney Billy Reynolds recently announced that his office recently issued 21 arrest warrants for flagrant non-support.

According to KRS 530.050, flagrant non-support is a Class D felony charge that means a person is behind in their court-ordered payments in an amount over $1,000 or they have gone six consecutive months without any payment of support to an indigent spouse, indigent parent, a minor child or a child who is declared mentally disabled.

Reynolds said the total amount of support unpaid by the twenty-one charged with flagrant non-support was over $275,000, which is an average of approximately $13,095 each.

"These people could have reasonably provided the financial support that is required of them but they simply chose not to do it and in these cases it's the

Native Florida couple opens organic food and livestock feed store in Livingston

By: Doug Ponder
 A native Florida couple recently opened an organic food and livestock feed store on Main Street in downtown Livingston.

Matthew and Noelle Green of Tallahassee, Florida bought a farm near Livingston and moved there in 2013. The couple opened their store "The Feed Store by Green Acres" located at the former Livingston Motor's building on Main Street in Livingston.

The store officially opened on Monday and currently has several varieties of Nütrena brand organic livestock feed and pet food for sale such as horse feed, chicken feed, deer corn, dog food, etc. Matthew Green said they will also start selling a variety of organic foods in the spring such as beef, poultry, etc.

Green said he and his wife came up with the idea to open the store after spending the last five years researching about all the harmful ingredients that being introduced into processed and genetically modified foods.

"Our country can't even export our corn to any other country because they banned it due to it being genetically modified. Then there are things being fed to cattle and chickens to increase their weight right before they are slaughtered because more weight means more money. However, a lot of these things that are fed to these animals are not meant for human consumption," Green said. "We have always raised our own livestock and grown our own produce so we got the idea to open an organic food and feed store. We want to help give everyone the chance to eat as healthy as we do and show people where their food comes from."

Green said they started researching online for a place that would be best suited for their store. He said they looked at places in Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Kentucky before finally discovering Livingston.

"We saw the Livingston Trail Town information on the internet and decided to come here to visit. Everyone we met here was really nice and gave us a sense of community feeling," Green said. "We also discovered that they wanted better food for themselves but that there wasn't an outlet for them. So we decided this was the place we wanted to start our operation and raise our children."

Green said their family's motto is "happy animals make happy meat." He said all their livestock is "free range" and not cramped into tight spaces.

"What the USDA considers free range is having livestock outside on a concrete floor for only one hour a week. For the majority of the time large numbers of them are cramped into small spaces which causes them to be stressed," Green said. "If we are stressed it puts a lot of toxins in our bodies. It is no different for livestock and when that happens to them we are eating that."

Green also said he is disgusted with the fact of corporations hiking the prices on organic food as they are trying to make it a commodity. "Food prices have gone up more than half of what it should be and we will have everything available here, organically, at lower prices. Organic isn't a pricy commodity like they are making it today. Actually steak should be cheaper than

T.J.'s Journal

Remembering "Uncle" Paul

Dear Journal,

Isn't it funny how sometimes you'll be sitting around and the thought of someone from long ago, from your childhood, will come to mind. Oh, how I wish I could see some of them again! We'd have so much to catch up on and things to talk about. A lot of things can happen in forty or fifty years.

Just the other day I recalled an elderly gentleman who lived across the road from us there, in the Swiss Colony, west of London. It was a small, tight-knit community where most people were related or it seemed that we were. I suppose every little rural hamlet is the same. All had a few elderly couples who, over the years, had endeared themselves to everybody in the community. This is the case of "Uncle" Paul and his wife, "Aunt" Minnie, as they were known. Today, I'll just focus on "Uncle" Paul.

I never knew him when he was young, but to me he had been old all of my life. He was tall, probably a little over six feet, but due to age he was slightly slumped and walked with a shuffling motion.

Now, Uncle Paul and Aunt Minnie had a big farm with several cows, hogs, chickens, and various crops. I liked to visit them and go to milk with them in their barn in the late evening. They had two or three barn cats that ate mice and drank fresh milk. I petted the cats as Uncle Paul and Aunt Minnie milked.

Then would come the best part. We all would go back to their house and I ate all of the cookies and milk that could hold. Aunt Minnie always had plenty of cookies and homemade cheese.

Uncle Paul was a quiet man who spoke in a reverent tone, always ready to break out in prayer at the drop of a hat. He often spoke with his eyes closed as if envisioning something heavenly or receiving divine messages not of this world. They were religious to a fault, attending every service at the local Baptist church. Uncle Paul always sat on the left side near the aisle, about the second pew back. He was hard of hearing, so he always sat on the edge of his seat with one hand cupped over his ear, always smiling with his gold tooth gleaming and nodding in agreement as the preacher spoke. Not another word was ever spoken except for Uncle Paul's periodic "Amen". He invented the "Amen corner".

I accompanied this old couple to church services many times if no one in our family was attending that day. They always doted on the neighborhood children, usually giving them candy, gum, or a little loose change. They loved Halloween more than the children, always making a big deal over their costume. Uncle Paul even drove me around one Halloween to trick-or-treat when I didn't have a ride. This act of kindness was nothing unusual as they were often the first to respond in the event of sickness or death in a family or when a house burned and a family lost every thing they had. The list could go on and on. They were always good to give little kids like me gifts for their birthday and Christmas, too. I still have many things they gave me.

Uncle Paul had a late 1950s or early 1960s black Ford Fairlane that he drove...at no more than 30 or 40 miles per hour at any given time. It had a red and white interior. I can still see it going up the road at a snail's pace.

One summer evening at dusk I went outside to get in a little more play time. I was about six or seven years old. I looked over toward Uncle Paul's and Aunt Minnie's house and their son, who was known to drink, was beating them unmercifully in their yard. I ran inside to tell my mother. She called the police, and then she called the little local general store about a half mile away. She told them what was going on and to send any able bodied men to come quick. The store was a hang out for locals to talk, play cards or checkers. Well, aunt and uncle had managed to get away and drove to our house. They were covered in mud, dirt and grass. Their clothes were tattered and torn. They were covered in blood and their eyes black. Aunt Minnie's waist length hair she always wore in a bun on top of her head was bloody and hanging in pieces. Uncle was put to bed as he was almost dead. The ambulances, police and neighbor men all arrived about the same time. The

Points East

By Ike Adams

About mid summer, just over a year ago, I got an envelope in the mail with a little packet of tomato seed my pal, Fred Beste, had sent me, along with a heads up on the notion that he might have recently discovered the world's greatest tomato there in Wind Gap, Pennsylvania.

Anyway, I dutifully planted a few seeds, then and there, in peat pots, and poured on the MiracleGro, morning noon and night. But I'd shot up all my leftover firecrackers running rabbits off the place and irritating neighbors before I actually got any "Giant Syrians" set out the garden and the bunnies love nothing better than late green tomatoes.

And, in case you all don't remember, winter started here, right after the first of October last year. Fred's maters didn't have a fighting chance to prove themselves, red, last fall, but they made a wonderful mess in the skillet when I sliced them up, smothered them in yellow corn meal and fried them, green, with a handful of basil leaves and, olive oil, so hot you could light a match on the fumes, in a cast iron skillet.

Or I could pour some wine in the skillet and strike a match to it if I wanted tomato flambeau'. Next time I am at the Wind Gap Diner I intend to order "tomato flambeau a'la scrapple", which, loosely translated, means, "bad lard gone badder with fried tomato" I figure they will give me an extra helping of sausage gravy and an extra biscuit with my eggs if I tell them I know Fred, who is actually better known to them as, "that scrapple-guy who leaves big tips".

As it happened, I only used about half the seed in 2013 and kept plenty for starting early this past April. By the time they were big enough to put in the garden in late May, I had already purchased and transplanted several nursery plants in the garden. One or more of the "brought on" plants carried a fast acting blight which spread like cholera on an 18th century sailing ship, to all the other plants. My baby Giant Syrians were particularly susceptible to the disease and all 8 of them, along with several other heirlooms, died during the first night of the epidemic.

I discovered that I still had three seeds left in Fred's envelope. To make a long story short, I didn't get them planted until about the end of May, nor did I get them into 10-gallon planters, well away from all others, until the first of July, at which point we already had Burpee's Big Boys getting ripe.

If all you have, in the way of maters, are Big Boys, you soon come to realize that they are way better than having no maters at all. Still, during July and August we have enjoyed a variety of maters, including West Virginia Hillbillies, Indiana Heartthrobs, Brandywines, Pineapples, Big Beef and Mortgage Lifters along with the Big Boys.

Loretta and my kids have told me several times this summer that Mortgage Lifters are the best tomato they have ever tasted and I can tell you, for sure, that not a single one has gone to waste.

Of course that was all before I picked the first ripe Giant Syrian on Labor Day. It may well have been the ugliest tomato I have ever seen. Its face looked a lot like that of Winston Churchill's bull dog and its wrinkled shoulders refused to ripen beyond dark green. It also lived up to the "Giant" part of its name. I didn't weigh it but I do know a two pound tomato when I see one and this one was larger than that.

Loretta sliced off its ugly face, dumped it in the garbage, and proceeded to render the rest of it, down to its ugly, withered, shoulders into slabs that would nearly cover the surface of a dinner plate. We each took big

The Thin Thirty

When my grandfather (Pop) purchased his first television set in 1953, I instantly became a fan of football on the small black and white screen. Pop and I loved to watch the Cleveland Browns and especially running back, Jim Brown. Brown is best known for his record-setting nine-year career for the NFL. He is widely considered to be one of the greatest professional athletes in the history of football.

With high school in the rear-view mirror, I drove off to college ready to begin my next adventure. My love of football continued in 1962 when I enrolled as a freshman at the University of Kentucky. I remember well receiving my UK student identification card, which allowed me to attend all UK football and basketball games simply by showing my ID to the ticket takers at the front gate. It was a huge thrill to have "season tickets" to all home games. I could hardly wait for Saturday to roll around. Sitting in the student section of Stoll Field was something that this former student could never forget. Instead of watching football on television, I was able to be a part of the excitement of actual game-day activities.

The 1962 UK football team was called The Thin Thirty. The new football coach, Charlie Bradshaw, believed in brutal conditioning; he had a practice regimen that thinned the squad of eighty-eight players to only thirty. Even though the team's record was 3-5-2, it included a dramatic victory in the season finale against Tennessee in Knoxville, 12-10.

The first game that I actually saw as a freshman was against Florida State, which ended in a tie (0-0). The game was extremely exciting because UK was expected to lose. I had never been part of a student body with that many fans in the stands. When the final horn signaled the end of the game, the student body was on their feet glad that we had not been dealt a loss.

In Lexington, the Cats lost the next two home games to Auburn and LSU before defeating the Vanderbilt Commodores by a score of 7-0. You would have thought that we had won the SEC by the reaction of the fans in Stoll Field. We were defeated by Xavier by a score of 9-14 in front of a sold-out crowd in the next game.

The final game was against the Volunteers of Tennessee, and the Cats were successful with a score of 12-10. As those of you who are UK fans know, wins against Tennessee in football are extremely rare, and it was a topic of student discussion for several weeks. The win was the result of a field goal by Clarkie Mayfield, who was declared the hero of the game. (Mayfield later died in the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire on May 28, 1977.) Other players on that team included Tom Hutchinson; Dale Lindsey, and Herschel Turner - all of whom later played in the NFL.

I will never forget the antics of the home fans in Stoll Field. One game in particular stands out in my mind. Several of the stu-

Card of Thanks

Michael Childress

Words cannot begin to express our sincere thanks to everyone during the recent illness and death of our loved one, Michael Childress. Mike found out he had stage four lung cancer in May and almost immediately help starting pouring in. From "Cold Water" challenges to prayers we were blessed. Mike was humbled by all the attention given to him. Your prayers meant so much to him and prayers were all he ever asked for.

We want to thank everyone who prayed, gave money, brought food, sent cards and flowers. Thanks to Rockcastle Regional Hospital for the good care he received. Thanks to Bro. Ralph Baker for his comforting words spoken at the funeral. Thanks to Brooke Bishop for singing Mike's favorite songs. Thanks to Cox Funeral home for seeing that our wishes were granted. Thanks to Amy Hopkins, and Shay Barnett for taken over and seeing that everyone was fed and cared for. We can't thank everyone individually because there's not enough room in this newspaper for that.

We love this community and wouldn't want to live anywhere else. We can rest at ease knowing Mike is in a better place and also knowing that if we need anything, someone will hurry to assist. Whenever anyone asked Mike if they could help, he would say, "if you have time, just say a little prayer for us." We know that hundreds of you did just that. Again, thank you to everyone. We are truly blessed.

The camp is for the blind, hearing impaired and other disabled children.

The Lions Club of Kentucky sponsors disabled youth for this camp every summer. In May of this year, the Livingston Leo Club went to Camp Crescendo for a weekend to do volunteer work to get the camp ready for the summer.

All proceeds from the recycling project will go toward operation of Camp Crescendo. There are three drop-off locations: D&S Computers, the Sheriff's Dept. at the courthouse and Happy Trails Diner in Livingston.

Fall Color in the Forest

Kentucky's forests are home to one of the most diverse hardwood species mixes in the United States, second only to Florida. With more than 12 million acres of forests, a rainbow of color is on display in Kentucky almost every fall.

The intensity of fall color and time of peak color vary and depend upon complex environmental factors, as well as the genetic makeup of the plants themselves. What happens to leaves in the fall that produces the colors we love so much? In summer, leaves are green because of a group of pigments known as chlorophylls. Chlorophylls are vital to the tree's food-making process, called photosynthesis. Leaves manufacture simple sugars from water and carbon dioxide, using energy captured from the sun by chlorophylls. These sugars are the sole source of carbohydrates needed for the tree's growth and development.

In the food-making process, chlorophylls break down and are continually "used-up." The tree, however, replenishes them all through the growing season. As long as replacement remains high, the leaves stay green. As fall approaches, influences inside and outside the plant cause chlorophyll to be replaced at a slower rate.

Shorter days cause a layer of cork cells to form at the base of each leaf, gradually closing off the flow of water and minerals into the leaf. This is the location where the leaf will eventually separate from the tree and fall to the ground. As the supply of chlorophyll dwindles, other pigments that may have been present in the leaf all along are slowly unmasked and begin to show through.

Unmasked pigments include the carotenoids, which result in brilliant yellows and oranges. Some trees where carotenoids are conspicuous include ash, maple, aspen, birch, black cherry, cottonwood, tulip tree and sycamore.

Another group of pigments, called anthocyanins, are responsible for the reds, purples and blended combinations of these colors. Unlike the carotenoids, these pigments have not been present in the leaf all season. Instead, they develop in late summer in the sap of the leaf cells. Their formation depends on the breakdown of sugars in the presence of bright light while the level of phosphate in the leaf is reduced.

Phosphate is at a high level during the growing season, but in autumn it moves out of the leaf and into the stem of the plant. When this happens, the sugar breakdown process changes and that leads to the production of anthocyanin pigments. The brighter the light, the more anthocyanins are produced and the more brilliant the color. The brightest colors develop when autumn days are sunny and cool, along with cool, frost-free nights. Colors may be less vibrant after an early frost.

Leaf color can also be a helpful way to identify trees. Here's a legend for a few of your favorites:

- Blackgum – bright red, orange or purple
- Birch – bright yellow
- Black Walnut – yellow, yellow-brown
- Scarlet Oak – scarlet red
- White Oak – yellow, yellow-brown, red, red-brown
- Hickory – golden bronze
- Poplar – gold, yellow
- Red Maple – scarlet red
- Sugar Maple – orange-red, yellow
- Sourwood – deep crimson red
- Dogwood – red, burgundy, purple
- Sassafras – yellow, orange, pink, red
- Winged Sumac – Red, maroon, purple couple were taken to the hospital and were alright in a few days. The police had a lot of questions for me. I guess I can remember a lot of bad with the good.

Uncle Paul was truly a good man. I've never known but very, very few people of his character. He had even earned the title of "Apostle" Paul by many who knew him.

Uncle Paul had a bad heart and one day in my sophomore year of high school, his heart gave out and he died. I still regret not attending his funeral. There was an important test that day at school. There have been many important tests since, but only one "Uncle Paul".

bites out of it and simply stared at each other until my wife finally exclaimed, "Now that's what you call a real tomato!"

So, over the last couple of weeks, we have let a bushel or more of all the other varieties rot there in the garden, or we have given them to friends and family while we wait for the next Giant Syrian to ripen.

I have promised Fred that I will get one to our mutual friend, colleague and tomato gourmet, Tom Miller, there in Berea before they are all gone and I certainly intend to let one over-ripen so that I can save a bunch of seed.

In the meantime, if anyone had told me, before this year, that I could be out-tomatoed by a yankee, I would have laughed in his face. But I'm here to fess up. My buddy's Giant Syrian has pulled it off. I still find it hard to believe that anything so ugly can taste so good.

I've looked on the internet for Giant Syrian tomato seed and found nearly a dozen listings, ten of which do not closely resemble the one Fred sent me. If you do your own search, you will get the same result. Only the biggest, ugliest, ones with green shoulders are apt to be the real McCoy. I will find out where Fred found his and pass the word before next year.

dents at Hagan Hall decided to take bags of oranges to eat during the game. After sucking the juice out of the oranges, we responded to a bad call by the referees by tossing the fruit onto the field, directly in his direction. The game was stopped immediately, and we heard the announcement that anyone throwing debris on the field would be promptly removed from the premises. Of course, I refrained from those pranks after that.

I was excited to be a Cat fan during the season of the Thin Thirty. It was a vast difference from watching the Mt. Vernon Red Devils to witnessing the Cats at Stoll Field. Those were the days of students being the prime supporters of UK football. I was there, and the memory will be forever etched in my mind.

And, as always, Go Cats!

PEACH COBLER

This is one of Will's favorites. Whenever Judy knows that he will be coming to Mt. Vernon with me, she usually makes this for him. Don't tell her, but it is one of my favorites also.

- 3 cups canned peaches, sliced, undrained
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 stick butter or margarine
- 1 cup self-rising flour

Pour peaches in medium saucepan. Heat until bubbles form around edges of pan. Do not boil. Turn off heat. Preheat oven to 350°. Put butter into a 9 x 13 cake pan. Put in oven until butter melts. In a bowl, mix sugar, milk, and flour together until smooth. Slowly pour batter over melted butter. Spoon peaches on top of batter and gently pour juice over peaches. Do not stir. Bake for 30 to 35 minutes. As it bakes, batter will rise to top and fruit will be on the bottom and peeking up through the batter.

NOTE: Can also use fresh peaches, hot sweetened blackberries, blueberries, or cherries.

STRAWBERRY CAKE

For most of my young life, Mum bought my birthday cake from Burke's Bakery in Danville, Kentucky. After we moved away from Danville, I started asking Mum to fix this cake as my birthday cake.

- 1 box white cake mix
- 1 box (10 ounce) frozen strawberries, thawed
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 eggs
- 1 box (3 ounce) strawberry Jello®

1 teaspoon vanilla
Preheat oven to 350°. Pour cake mix in large bowl. Chop strawberries, measure out 3/4 cup, add to cake mix along with oil and water, mix well. Set aside remaining strawberries to use in frosting. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add dry Jello® and vanilla, beat well. Pour into greased and floured 13 x 9 cake pan. Bake about 40 minutes at 350°. Cool.

FROSTING:

- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 box (1 pound) powdered sugar
- 1 stick butter, room temperature

Combine confectionery sugar, butter and remaining strawberries in mixing bowl until well blended. Spread over warm cake.

Be careful when buying pets from pet store...

Dear Editor,

My grandson bought an Aussie-Dale puppy from Adventure Pets in Berea on Sept. 3, just last Wed.

The little pup was fine until the weekend when it started showing signs of Parvo and died on Monday morning before he had time to take it to the vet.

A sign at the store states that the dogs have already been given their first shots and have been dewormed.

This particular puppy was not treated for worms or given its first shots until my grandson made the payment.

After speaking with someone from PETA, we were advised to make the public aware of this by use of the media. Please print this so others will not go through what we have. This puppy did not deserve this, and no other pet should either.

Hot Rods season ends

On July 12th, the Hot Rods T-Ball Team closed out their 2014 season with our annual picnic.

Everyone enjoyed hamburgers, hot dogs, side dishes and dessert. Thanks to Delbert Crutcher for being in charge of the grilling.

Every Hot Rod received a trophy and a toy of their choice. Our wonderful sponsors donated funds and every child got to go home with a toy. Choice is determined by attendance, with the children who didn't miss a practice getting to choose first.

Sponsors for this year's picnic were: Dari Delite, Best Little Hair House in Town, Lone Star Farm & Home, Richmond Street Eyecare, Hilltop Produce, Marlene Lawson, Kwik Mart, County Attorney Billy Reynolds, Debra Hembree Lambert Law Office, Jack's Pro Hardware,

New Vision Hair Studio, Marvin E. Owens Home for Funerals, Roberts Barber Shop, Bradley's Barber Shop, Complete Home Comfort, Danetta Allen, Citizens Bank, Teresa Jackson, Cash Express, Mark's Hardware and Cox Funeral Home. If I've forgotten anyone, I apologize.

I would also like to thank our season sponsors:

Rockcastle Professional Pharmacy, James E. Miller, Mt. Vernon Drug, Wendy's, Marathon, KFC, Foster Trophies, Galaxy Bowling, Godfather's Pizza, Subway, Tobacco Barn, Mt. Vernon Signal and Barbara Ann Photography.

The Hot Rods and myself are very grateful for our sponsors, without whom we could not operate.

I would also like to thank my fellow coaches for all their support; Josie Adams, Christian Sagraves; Josh

Martin and Isaiah Bowles. We wouldn't have been able to have the program without your help. Also thanks to our announcer this season, Edie Sagraves, for all your help.

I appreciate you all.

children of our county that suffer as a result," Reynolds said. "I couldn't be more proud of Assistant County Attorney William Leger who spearheaded the effort and my staff who also worked tirelessly on these cases."

However, Reynolds said he is displeased that all the bonds on the twenty-one felony warrants were issued as unsecured bonds, meaning the defendant can bail out of jail by signing a contract agreeing to appear before the court and agreeing that they will pay the bond amount if they break the bond's conditions.

"These twenty-one people that were arrested on these warrants can simply sign themselves out of jail," Reynolds said. "We worked hard on these cases and to simply have these people sign themselves out of jail is disheartening to us and to those who haven't been receiving the required support."

Reynolds went on to say that his office will continue to do their part in investigating flagrant nonsupport cases and issuing arrest warrants to those in violation. "We are always going to do our part to see that justice is brought to those who are not paying the required support," Reynolds said. "My only hope is that the revolving door culture of low bonds comes to an end."

Rockets get third consecutive win over Whitley, 35-28

By Doug Ponder
The Rockcastle County Rockets are now 3-1 on the season after beating the Whitley County Colonels 35-28 last Friday night.

Last Friday night's game proved to be an offensive shootout as both teams combined had over 800 yards on offense in the game.

The Rockets amassed an impressive 431 total yards of offense in the game with 377 yards rushing and 54 yards passing. The Colonels gained a total of 345 yards on offense with 137 yards on the ground and 208 yards through the air.

The Rockets were first to get on the scoreboard when sophomore quarterback Dakota Bishop connected with senior wide receiver Kyle Denny for a 21 yard touchdown pass. The extra point attempt by sophomore Dalton Rowe was no good giving the Rockets the early 6-0 lead.

In the second quarter, Rowe broke free for a 62 yard touchdown run. Senior fullback Chance Ansardi punched the ball into the end zone for the two point conversion making the score 14-0.

The Colonels finally got on the board late in the second quarter with a 7 yard touchdown pass from junior quarterback Luke Woods to senior wide receiver Christian Hamilton. The extra point attempt by senior kicker Alex Conlin was good cutting the Rockets lead to 14-7.

After halftime, the Rockets offense came out firing on all cylinders as Ansardi ran the ball into the end zone for a 1 yard touchdown run. The extra point attempt by Rowe was good to cushion the Rockets lead to 21-7.

The Rockets struck again on their next possession with a 3 yard touchdown run by Rowe. The extra point attempt by Rowe was no good extending the Rockets lead to 27-7.

The Colonels offense answered late in the third quarter when sophomore running back Sean Hickey jumped over the goal line for a one yard touchdown run. The extra point attempt by Conlin was good cutting the Rockets lead to 27-14.

The Colonels got within a touchdown at the beginning of the fourth quarter when Woods scrambled into the end zone for a 2 yard touchdown run. The extra point attempt by Conlin was good making the score 27-21.

The Rockets attempted to put the game away when senior fullback Isaiah Adams scored on a 6 yard touchdown run. Freshman tailback Brent Lovell found his way into the end zone to complete the two point conversion extending the lead to 35-21.

In an attempt to make a comeback, Colonels quarterback Luke Woods connected with junior wide receiver Cameron Johnson on a five yard touchdown pass.

The extra point attempt by Conlin was good bringing them back to within a touchdown of the Rockets. However, the Colonels failed to make it back into the end zone making the final score 35-28.

The Rockets offense was led by Rowe who picked up an impressive 216 yards on 20 carries for two touchdowns. Lovell also had a big night offensively with 113 yards on 17 carries.

Other Rockets picking up rushing yards were Adams with 6 carries for 21 yards and one touchdown, sophomore running back Devon Robinson had 6 carries for 19 yards, sophomore wide receiver Michael Tomlinson had one carry for 4 yards and Ansardi had two carries for 4 yards and one touchdown.

Bishop was 5 out of 7 passing for 54 yards and one touchdown.

Senior wide receiver Kyle Denny led the Rockets in receiving, catching two passes for 33 yards and one touchdown. Adams also caught two passes for 21 yards.

Defensively, the Rockets were led by sophomore defensive lineman Logan Coffey who had 7 tackles and two fumble recoveries. Sophomore linebacker Austin Mills also had a big night on offense with 10 tackles.

Other Rockets picking up tackles and assists were Denny with 6, Ansardi and Rowe with 4 each; Adams, Robinson, sophomore defensive back Isaac McClure and senior defensive lineman Justin Hughes were all credited with 3 each; sophomore defensive back Tommy Bengie, sophomore defensive back Lucas Jones and sophomore defensive lineman Austin Saylor all had 2 each and Lovell was credited with one.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said he was proud of his team for overcoming adversity and showing a sign of maturity that he had been looking for from everyone as a team.

"Our players overcame adversity as a team and answered Whitley County's touchdowns to always stay ahead in the game," Parkey said. "This team has tons of fight and they have a hate-to-lose attitude that is evident when times get hard on the field."

Parkey went on to say that he was pleased with how the Rockets played on both offense and defense. However, he said that several mistakes are being made on both sides of the ball.

"We have players lining up wrong, players jumping offside and some problems with the center to quarterback exchange," Parkey said. "We are going to focus in practice and perfect those issues. Things like that will improve as we go through the season and bring our A game to practice every day."

The Rockets next game is this Friday night when they travel to Somerset to take on the Pulaski County Maroons. Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m.

Parkey said the Maroons are a fundamentally good team on both offense and defense.

"They have a lot of good athletes on offense making

Apply now for quota deer, small game, waterfowl and bear hunts

Hunters may apply throughout September for a variety of quota hunts in Kentucky.

Quota hunts help manage hunting pressure on popular public areas by limiting numbers. The deadline to apply for these opportunities is midnight (Central time) Sept. 30.

Applications for quota deer, small game and waterfowl hunts at state wildlife management areas and other public lands may be submitted online at fw.ky.gov or by calling 1-877-598-2401. Applications and lists of available quota hunts are available on the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' website by clicking the "hunt" tab.

Bear hunters must apply online for the quota hunt with dogs held in the Western, Central and Eastern chase areas.

Approximately 70 percent of hunters who applied for a quota hunt last year utilized the online application system.

"It's easy to use," said Chip Quarles, information systems manager with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "By applying online and providing an email address, hunters will receive a confirmation email. That's an advantage, as well as having access to all of our public lands information on the website."

There are 30 quota deer hunts to consider this season, including a new opportunity Dec. 6-7 at Dewey Lake Wildlife Management Area (WMA) in Floyd County with 150 slots available. For this area's hunt, there is a one deer limit and a 15-inch minimum outside antler restriction for bucks.

Also different this year, the quota deer hunt on Nov. 1 and 2 at Beaver Creek WMA is for antlered deer only with a one buck limit. At Big Rivers WMA, the quota deer hunt has been moved to the first weekend in November. The hunt dates are Nov. 1 and 2.

When applying for a WMA quota deer hunt, hunters may pick a first and second hunt choice, but can only be drawn to participate in one. Antlered deer harvested during WMA quota hunts count toward the statewide bag limit.

Small game hunters may apply for pheasant quota hunts scheduled Nov. 21, 22 and 23 at Green River Lake WMA, Dec. 5, 6 and 7 at Clay WMA and Dec. 12, 13 and 14 at Yellowbank WMA.

Bobwhite quail quota hunts on the Ken Unit of Peabody WMA are scheduled Nov. 25 and Dec. 23, 2014 and Jan. 3, 10 and 20, 2015. A mentor hunt is scheduled Nov. 22.

Upland bird quota hunts at Clay WMA are scheduled Nov. 5, Nov. 16, Dec. 14 and Dec. 16. Hunters may take bobwhite quail, ruffed grouse and woodcock during the upland bird quota hunts, when the seasons for all three species are open. Woodcock season opens Nov. 1 and ends Dec. 15.

Waterfowl hunters may apply for quota hunts at Ballard WMA and the Sauerheber Unit of Sloughs WMA. The hunts at Ballard WMA are held Wednesdays through Sundays (excluding Christmas and New Year's Day) from Dec. 3, 2014 to Jan. 25, 2015. Waterfowl quota hunts are held daily at Sloughs WMA from Nov. 27, 2014 through Jan. 25, 2015, but hunters must apply for a block of dates.

The bear quota hunt with dogs season is Dec. 22-26. Hunters must have a bear chase permit before applying. Applicants may apply as a hunt party of no more than five people. All persons drawn for this hunt must also obtain a bear permit to take a bear. An individual hunter or hunt party drawn for the bear quota hunt with dogs season can take no more than one bear in a license year.

The statewide harvest quota for this hunt is five bears of either sex. If the limit is reached, the season will close 30 minutes after sunset that day.

Results of the drawings will be posted on Kentucky

Fish and Wildlife's website by Oct. 8. Applicants may also call the department at 1-800-858-1549 and provide either their confirmation number, order number, or Social Security number to find out if they were selected.

"Their defense is just as talented. They are disciplined and fast at every position as well as really strong up front on the line."

However, Parkey said that the Maroons don't play many physical and strategic teams like the Rockets.

"Our physical, right at you, running game will cause them some problems both in preparation and game play," Parkey said. "Our pressure defense will also force them to make quick throws. Because of this, we will be focusing on the fundamentals of blocking and tackling this week."

Signs will be kept at the state highway garage for two weeks after they have been removed by state highway crews. After two weeks, all unclaimed signs will be discarded.

County Judge Executive Buzz Carloftis said country road crews also remove signs that pose a potential hazard to motorists or interfere with their fall mowing operations along the right of way on country roads. Those signs can also be reclaimed at the county highway garage on Hwy 25 in Mt. Vernon.

Hundreds of students and staff at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School raised money for a former student who was recently diagnosed with cancer. MVES students and staff raised $427 for Abby Langford and her family. Several students and staff members also wore purple t-shirts in honor of Langford. Students and staff could pay $1 to wear a hat or blue jeans during school last Friday. Shown above are all the students and staff who participated in the event. Langford is a sixth grader at Rockcastle County Middle School.

Rockcastle County said they also follow the state law prohibiting signs from being placed along the right of way on city roads. However, all three city road crews noted that they rarely have any problems but if a sign is placed in a city right of way, they will contact the candidate or yard sign owner in order to resolve the problem.

hamburger, because not as much work goes into processing it but over the years steak just simply became a commodity,” Green said. “Fruit and vegetables aren't vine ripe as they have to be gassed so they can be maintained while traveling to the store. Peaches are like a rock and have to set out a few days before they ripen because of the chemicals on them. It's a shame.”

Green said that everything sold in his store will be organic without the high prices that are inflated by corporations. He said that he also is looking to partner with local farmers in the area that will agree to use organic feeds, raise organic livestock and grow organic produce.

“Our prices will only be around one dollar more, a pound than the cost of raising and processing a livestock animal. Corporations charge $3, $4 or even $5 more a pound than what it cost to raise and process them. That's outrageous and unnecessary. To us, it is not about making as much money as possible, it's about being as healthy as possible,” Green said. “We are also looking for other farmers to join us in the future. We want to make it to where you don't have to go far to get healthy food. We want to bring it back local where farmers care enough about their neighbors to not feed them all the trash that goes into processed foods.”

Green went on to say that they also plan on establishing a farmer's market on the store property where people can set up and sell their homegrown produce free of charge.

“We won't charge them anything to set up and sell their produce and that way they can have a supplemental income for selling the extra produce they have,” Green said. “A lot of people around here grows a garden and they often end up with more than they can eat. Now they have a centralized place where they can sell their extra produce for free. It's our way to give back to the community.”

The store's hours are Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday noon to 5 p.m. For more information about the store call 606-453-0011.

Bryant said. The 16.7 cents rate for motor vehicles is the same as last year's.

During the meeting, Bryant brought the council up-to-date on construction of the new bait/tackle shop at Lake Linville Boat Dock.

The shop, located across from the restaurant, will stock basic camping supplies, drinks and snacks besides bait. “It won't be Bass Pro but will accommodate the basic needs of fishermen and campers,” the mayor said.

Bryant said plans were to open the shop by October 1st but the hours of operation would be experimented with to provide the most service for customers.

The mayor said that Randy Mullins, marina manager, was presently collecting launch, dock and camping fees and selling bait.

Bryant also said that bids for the water tanks and booster pump and water system improvements were presently being reviewed by Kentucky Infrastructure Authority (KIA) and Cumberland Valley ADD board. He said he expected recommendations as to awarding the bids to be brought to the council at their October meeting.

Police Chief Brian Carter presented the council with his department's report for August.

The report showed: 631 total calls for service; 12 non-injury accidents; one injury accident; 52 total arrests; 16 drug charges; 57 traffic violations; 28 other criminal charges; 33 warrants served; one criminal summons served; 3 D.U.I. charges and two grand jury indictments.

Fire Chief David Bales also presented his report to the council, listing:

Two accidents with entrapment; four accidents with injuries; seven non-injury accidents; two non-injury tractor/trailer accidents; one tractor/trailer accident w/injury; three vehicle fires; two fire alarm activations; three smoke investigations; one brush fire; one storm damage incident (tree across power lines); four traffic control; one rescue (subject fell from horse); one search and rescue; two special details; one odor (propane) investigation; one request from KFC to use department apparatus to open gun safe and one mutual aid to Brindle Ridge for structure fire.

The American Revolutionary War Patriots of Rockcastle

By Karen Hamm Adams

To celebrate and honor the county's American Revolutionary War Patriots and to enlighten the community about the service and sacrifice of these brave men, on behalf of the Rockcastle Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have compiled highlights of the service of the known patriots living in the county and who applied for a pension between the years 1818 and 1842. All information was taken from the patriot's own account from his pension application and other historical documents. More information can be found on each patriot at the local library or the Rockcastle Historical Society. (Copyright pending). If you are interested in joining the Daughters of the American Revolution, please contact Debbie Brown (606) 758-8659 or Iris Young (606) 256-2851.

Henry Kilburn Virginia

Henry Kilburn was born 10 November 1763 in Orange Co. Virginia and died 8 July 1852 Pulaski Co. KY. According to his pension application, Henry gave the following account of his service in 17 November 1842 Rockcastle Co. KY: In the month of January 1781 in Montgomery Co. VA, he enlisted as a private during the Revolutionary War and served under Captain James Newell, who was appointed to recruit men for the Continental service. He enlisted in Virginia on Continental establishment. He was stationed about five miles from Fort Chiswell in said county. He remained there in company with the balance and one time on duty in search of Tories and under the orders of Captain Newell until the month of November after the surrender of Lord Cornwallis. He was discharged by Captain Newell and received ten dollars. He was promised two hundred acres of land and two hundred dollars in money when he enlisted. During the time, he remained at the station with Captain Newell. At this point, a section of Henry's pension is missing.

In 1785, Henry came to Kentucky and settled near Danville and served in General Clark's campaign in 1786 as a volunteer in Captain Nathan McClure's Company. (Captain McClure was later killed on Rockcastle River by the Indians, serving in Colonel Benjamin Logan's Regiment but who relinquished his command to Colonel William Barnett.) Henry was marched to Louisville in Kentucky when Logan was to raise troops to go against the Shawnees. This expedition was marched under General George Rogers Clark up the Wabash River above Vincennes (now Indiana). The next fall, Henry went on an expedition under Colonel Logan to Nashville in TN and after marching three or four days, the detachment was ordered to return. He was discharged the same year that Logan went to the Shawnee towns (about 1786). He also stated that he was in no battles.

At the close of the Revolution, Henry moved to Greenbrier, VA and then to Kentucky residing in Pulaski County. The reason why he applied for pension in Rockcastle was that he was crippled and lived twelve miles from the county seat of Rockcastle and eighteen miles to Somerset, the county seat of Pulaski County. Henry's pension application was rejected on the grounds that he did not serve in a regularly organized corps. He did receive land grants on 12 February 1825 of fifty acres on Buck Creek in Pulaski Co. KY and on 21 September 1836 of twenty four acres on Barney's Ridge, Pulaski Co. KY.

There is no mention of a spouse or children in Henry's pension application. He married Charity Pointer (1772-1840) on 19 August 1788 in Lincoln Co. KY. They had at least eight children. He later married Elizabeth Hughes (1795-1860) on 27 July 1840 Pulaski Co. KY. Their burial place is unknown. The known children of Henry and Charity are: Elisha Kilburn (1789-1845) Married Alcey Walker. William Kilburn (1790-1850) married Hulda Estes on 26 May 1814 Pulaski Co. KY. Their children were: Serena, Elisha, James, Elizabeth, Henry, Keziah and David. John Kilburn (6 November 1792 KY- 2 January 1868 MO) married Nancy Griffin (1800-1850) on 24 August 1818 Pulaski Co. KY. Their children were: Henry, Solomon, Thomas, Hiram, Margaret, William and Nancy. Catherine "Cathy" Kilburn (1794) Married John Fisher on 3 May 1813 Pulaski Co. KY. Sarah Kilburn (1796) Married Thomas McWilliams. Mary Polly Kilburn (1798-1874 Rockcastle Co. KY) married Allen Owens (24 December 1793 NC- 28 September 1894 TN) on 9 November 1815 Pulaski Co. KY. Allen served as a private in the 11th Regiment of the KY Mtd. Volunteers under Captain Johnston Dysart in the War of 1812. Mary is supposedly buried at Pine

Emergency responders perform mock drill

Last Wednesday, September 17th, Rockcastle Regional Hospital and Respiratory Care Center and members from several county emergency response agencies, took part in the annual emergency drill as part of the Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program (CSEPP) Community Exercise.

The mock scenario was based on the hypothetical effects occurring where toxic chemicals, stored at the U.S. Army Blue Grass Depot in Madison County, are potentially exposed to the region. During the exercise process, agencies participating in the mock drill will each demonstrate their particular role should an emergency occur.

Other agencies participating in the drill represented all areas of the county, including city and county officials, fire departments, law enforcement, the health department, Christian Appalachian Project (CAP), Rockcastle County Schools, as well as several others.

The exercises were conducted at Rockcastle Regional Hospital and included those to demonstrate the effectiveness to receive and triage patients and to set up and manage a decontamination post, and team - all while maintaining effective communication with other emergency response agencies throughout the entire drill process.

"The CSEPP Community Exercise is extremely beneficial to the hospital, our staff, and our patients," said Patti Halcomb, Rockcastle Regional Hospital emergency department coordinator. "Patient safety is our top priority. Conducting these drills allow us to test our chemical emergency procedures so if an event like this should occur, we are more than prepared to handle it."

"The proper plans and procedures are in place should a chemical emergency occur," said Rockcastle Regional Hospital facilities and environment of care director, Gary Asher. "The likelihood of an emergency like this to occur is slim; however, these drills help us to ensure our preparedness and readiness should we be faced with that situation."

In 1985, Rockcastle County was grouped with nine other Kentucky counties to form CSEPP. The U.S. Congress passed a law to create CSEPP in order to dispose of the country's aging chemical weapons inventory with public and environmental safety as its first priority. These community exercises for preparedness started in Rockcastle County in 1985 and have continued annually since.

Bible Baptist Church Home Coming 2014

Sunday, September 21 we will be celebrating HOME COMING 2014. It is a time of Thanking and Praising our Great God for all He has done for us. His blessings have been abundant and we humbly bow before Him to say Thank You.

We will begin at 10am with the Locust Ridge Gospel Singers. They will lift our hearts to heaven with their wonderful down home singing.

We thank Rockcastle's own Greg Bullock who works with promotion, sales, transportation, and adds vocals on some songs, for bringing to us this wonderful group.

We are excited to have Scott & Lisa Stayton with all 5 kids (Christopher, Ciara, Cameron, Coby & Caliegh Ann) with us that day. Scott will preach in the 11am service.

Scott is now Youth Pastor of the Fall Creek Baptist Church in Indianapolis, Indiana. Scott grew up here at Bible and he & his wife Lisa had a tremendous impact in our church as well as our community. We have been delighted to see God use him in His great work at Fall Creek.

We will serve Dinner in the Family Life Center after the 11am service for all of our members, guests and friends. It promises to be a wonderful day as we sing, fellowship, and feast on the goodness of God. Our entire community is welcome to come and delight in our great God with us. Our prayer is that this great day will encourage all to renewed spiritual strength and vision for the souls of men and the glory of our GREAT GOD.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet!
 Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and bleach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again. Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Yards to Paradise

Landscape Solutions

Berming up a spot or a whole section of a property can offer lots of potential options just not available with a flat yard. Many of my customers live in hilly terrain, but for those with flat yards, installing some humps or little hills in the yard can allow for more creative landscaping possibilities. Other benefits can be obtained with a berm. For instance, lines of sight can be obstructed for privacy, winds can be blocked, sounds can be blocked off, or on the other side of that equation sounds can be enhanced by doing something like putting a waterfall on the side of a berm facing the home or porch or patio or other resting spot. Berms offer many creative possibilities for some lovely landscaping.

A simple definition of a berm is a raised dirt mound. It may be at the crest of a hill, at the foot of a slope, or off to the side of the middle in an otherwise flat yard. Though a berm would not have to be created from soil, one would be unable to plant the berm with lovely trees and shrubs or flowers without the berm being soil covered.

Berms are thought of by industry and perhaps by municipalities as containment facilities quite often. Created to contain run-off water, or to contain a spill in the event of a ruptured storage tank or something. And berms may act as a dike or diversion barrier to keep water out of an area (I can imagine a berm on a slope just above your home to deflect water in a heavy rain for instance).

Berms can simply be a raised planting bed, with good soil aiding in the establishment of new plantings. Such raised beds in a yard planted in suitable plants are lovely creations. But taller berms can not only be planted with hedges, trees and shrubs for a buffer from wind and noises, but the raised area itself can be a barrier to noise and winds. (Such a large berm will take more soil or other materials than you may imagine though, making it quite costly.)

Traffic can be steered by the use of berms. A short cut through the grass to the shed or mailbox may be handy, but may look unattractive, or even wear a path into an otherwise lovely lawn. Crossing a hill and dodging bushes makes cut-throughs less likely to happen.

Raised areas offer terrific opportunity for the landscaper to put in a focal point. A "specimen" tree, a large boulder, anything you'd like to raise up and show off. Flagpoles, treehouses, big rock outcropping could be things one might put on display.

Substantial sized berms can create little microclimates, places you can put in a shade loving item on the side of the berm facing north or in the shadow of a tree that's on top of the berm. From the sun-loving plants to those needing protection from strong winds, there may be ideal nooks created in a berm to use rare or unusual plants and have them thrive in just that specific spot. I love the possibilities; thinking about it gets me to dreaming of trying a plant or two that normally isn't found in my area.

Especially on level lots, adding some raised areas with irregular sweeping edges allows for added interest, and for changes in line of sight without necessarily having to use tall plants to accomplish the changes in height. A layered landscape planting may more easily be obtained with the background plants put on a pedestal, so to speak. Tallest landscape plants would be placed on the back of a berm usually, but for the best landscaped look from the other direction, the back side, it might be that you'd want the tallest plants to be right on top of the berm. The conclusion we can reach is that many interesting things can be done with a berm in the yard.

There are no hard and fast rules, but you'd want a berm to be 4 or 5 times as wide as high to keep it from looking too artificial. Also, flowing edges rather than straight or angular edges will look much more natural in most cases. No rules, but be mindful you don't want to create an eyesore either.

A berm, or series of berms, can divide or partition a landscape. Maybe the veggie garden and outbuilding can be screened with a berm rather than a hedge or fence. A quiet seating area can be created by putting the berm so as to keep others from watching your every move.

Whether your berm is a rolling raised area you can drive the mower over, is planted in pretty flowers and shrubbery, is the stage from which to show off your rock garden or waterfall, or possibly you want to create a forested berm, my hope is you've gotten a new idea or two for your landscape. If you decide to build a berm, try to make it informal, offset from the center of anything, and don't make the tallest part of it be right in the middle. And for those not sold on a major berm, perhaps a little one just at one corner of the home extending out a little and planted in some lovely new plantings would be a fit for your home.

Adoptable Shelter Dogs

Hello. My name is Scout and I am a male, 2 year old Golden Retriever/ Yellow Lab mix. I was an owner surrender to the shelter and I am now looking for a new home. I would make a great pet as long as I could be the only dog. I am very friendly with everyone I meet and I would really like to be a part of a family that would love me forever. If you have room in your family for a companion like me then call the shelter @ 256-1833. (kennel #3)

Hey! My name is Chief and I am a one year old Boxer/German Shepherd mix. I was surrendered to the shelter by my owner because I like to play too rough with chickens and housecats, (if you know what I mean). I am a fairly large dog, about 75 lbs. and I am very energetic so I would need a home where I could get plenty of exercise. If you are looking for a superb watchdog and a loving companion then I am the dog for you! If you are interested in adopting me then call the shelter @ 256-1833. (kennel #4)

Pictured above is a plaster cast mold of a 435 lb. Blue Marlin, caught by Cynthia Alcorn Harms off the coast of Cona in Hawaii. Mrs. Harms has caught several other big fish on two other Hawaiian vacations and said it is a thrill each and every time.

RCMS receives donation to help those in need...

Rockcastle County Middle School Youth Service Center recently accepted a large donation of food from the Richmond Centre's JCPenny's. The donation was made to the school's snack bag program that provides weekend meals for students and families in need. Amber Cruery, pictured second from left, decides what local charity the associates at JCP will donate to each month. Because two of the RCMS's own, Cassandra Smith and Lilly Rader, work part time at this JCP, Ms. Cruery asked them if the Rockcastle County Middle School could benefit from one of these months of charity.

Ms. Smith and Ms. Rader responded with an ecstatic "yes!" Ms. Cruery then decided that some of the charity months the store participates in throughout the year will benefit the middle school directly. The associates at JCP brought in over four hundred food items throughout the month of August to donate to the school.

Each year, students at Rockcastle County High School have the opportunity to enroll in Advanced Placement Courses in order to better prepare themselves for college and to get a jump start on college credits. Students can take A.P. Courses which are quite rigorous in content in social studies, English, math, and science. Each A.P. course concludes with a college-level exam developed and scored by college and university faculty members as well as experienced A.P. teachers. If students earn a 3 or higher on the exams, they can earn college credit at colleges and universities across the country. Rockcastle County High School continues to increase the number of A.P. courses offered to students, and many students have reaped the rewards of their hard work. Last year, R.C.H.S. had a total of 49 students who passed their A.P. exams, and seven who scored at the highest level on the exams. We are very proud of their accomplishments. Pictured are five of the students who earned a score of 5. Front row: Amelia Eversole and Rachel Blair. Back row: Ethan Mattingly, Ryan Martin, and Alex Spragens. Not pictured are Alyssa Allen and Madisan Miller, who graduated in May, 2014.
