ramblings...

by: perlina m. anderkin

When I told my son, Travis, that I was too over the moon to write a ramblings column this week, his suggestion was that I put the title, my by-line and a smiley face to convey my feelings.

Considered it but couldn't resist expressing my happiness at the results of Tuesday's election nationwide. Not going to tell you my feelings about the local elections - won some, lost some but that's the way it always goes. Besides, Alison and I respect the sanctity of the ballot box. (Picture tongue-in-cheek).

For the first time in many years, I am feeling a little more optimistic about our nation. For a while I have been scared, there's no other word for it. Financially, we are in deep trouble and morally it is worse.

I'm still a little scared because I'm afraid Republicans, in an effort to not come across as conquerors, will not provide strong enough leadership to try to right the many things that are wrong in this country.

We need immigration reform, particularly to know who's coming in and what they're doing after they get here. We need tax reform, a much simpler, fairer method (but something that would definitely gut the IRS). We need jobs and people like the surfer "dude" having to work for their food instead of freeloading. We need an energy policy that enables us to be independent of countries that would do us harm in the bat of an eye, i.e., the Alaskan Pipeline for starters. We need a strong military and to keep our promises to our Veterans.

However, most of all, we need honest politicians (how's that for an oxymoron?) in whom we can believe. Who do what is right for our country and not what the lobbyists want.

An axe to many of the programs we are financing in this country that are so unnecessary is needed. Before you get on your high horse, I am not talking about programs such as food stamps (although if our economy is as strong as the Dems tout it's amazing that this program has more than tripled under their administration), housing, social security, etc. I was thinking more of the monkeys on treadmills type.

Obamacare needs to be totally revamped. A news article I read recently said that people are having to get treatment at free clinics because, in order to keep premiums low and sell the program, deductibles are so high that people can't afford to use their plan.

The main worry now is that the Dems will use what little time they have left in control of the Senate to help the President use his "phone and pen" to govern as dictators.

Anyway, it has become much more interesting for our nation. We'll just have to sit back and see how it plays out.

T.J.'s
Journal

It's Just Rude
Dear Journal,

I suppose that here in the south, people, especially the ladies, pride themselves in "good manners". Proper etiquette is taught at an early age with not only "please", "thank you", and "excuse me" and as social situations present themselves. At least that was the case as I was growing up.

I think that I was taught the proper thing to say or do even before I learned to count or the ABCs. When some of the rules of etiquette were broken after being taught, you could expect a spanking or "the lecture". Then, when out in public, it was usually "the look". Every child of my generation knew "the look". My mother was a master of "the look". She had a pair of hazel eyes that could melt holes in steel.

My mother, as well as other mothers of the era, were ladies ahead of their time. They had an answer to unruly children, known as being hyperactive today, and those with attention disorders. It was administered without any medicine and counselors. They could be in total control and get a child's attention and hold it for as long as they thought necessary in only a few seconds. Now, it's a time-out or "I'll have to count..." Big whoop! Back in the day the parents took the time out...time out of their busy

Points East

By Ike Adams

The National Association of Woolly Worm Winter Weather Watchers (NAWWWWW) spent the early part of last week conducting its annual forecast for central Kentucky and Wind Gap, Pennsylvania right here in Paint Lick. The session was cut short because, as one old Woolly told me, "It looked like Summer had finally set in". The temperature, on Monday, had risen to the mid 80s for one of the, seemingly, few times during 2014 but, by Friday, it was back to nighttime freezing.

"So why include Wind Gap", someone asked.

"Because it's almost impossible to get that one wrong", came the terse reply. "Winter in Wind Gap is and always will be horrible. Look for the first big 6-foot snow on Halloween and the last one on Memorial Day, 2015."

In fact there's a rumor floating about in NAWWWWW that, since the polar ice cap has started melting, Santa Clause is moving his headquarter to a building, formerly occupied by a big box store just down the road from the Wind Gap Diner. Seems that reindeer droppings are one of the key ingredients in scrapple and Old Santa is always looking for any source of income to underwrite his habit.

This year's NAWWWWW convention was held under a picnic table directly behind Copperhead Consulting, Mark Gumbert's environmental assessment firm that founds my belief that business in downtown Paint Lick will flourish once again in my lifetime. Mark is already building a Santa act restaurant next door to Copperhead and a Bed and Breakfast is also in the near-future plans. It's just a matter of time, and a pretty short time at that, before Paint Lick, once again, becomes a destination instead of a place you have to slow down for on your way to wherever you're going.

In fact, it was the budding restaurant, to be named Solidago, (scientific name for goldenrod, our state flower) that drew NAWWWWW back to Paint Lick for the first time since Uncle Tom's restaurant closed several years ago. Somehow word had gotten out that Solidago was already open for business because Mark and several Copperhead employees had been seen handing out preview samples of the menu during the Paint Lick Village Fest earlier in October. Figuring that chicken, in one form or another, would day to discipline the children and then resume where they left off.

I think "good manners" are falling by the wayside, so to speak; I'm not sure as to why. It could be the lack of knowledge or that people are becoming lax and too informal...maybe a combination of both.

Recently I've met with a few rude situations. Stanley and I were eating out at a local restaurant about a week after my brain surgery. I didn't have any hair and a 6-7 inch cut held together with staples was obvious. A man in his 60s inquired, "What happened to you?" I explained that I'd had surgery. It satisfied his curiosity. It was my first trip since being in the hospital. I debated about wearing a hat before the outing, but "No", I thought, "I've not done anything to be ashamed of and I'm not defined by my hair. There will be times I'll wear a hat, but just not that night."

For the past few weeks it's become necessary to make several calls, not only personal but business-related. Concerning the business calls, quite often the person I needed to speak with wasn't in, so I left a message. I even called back at other times, with no results and left another message. I have yet to hear from these people. I know people

Heartfelt Email

I want to thank my readers for all the emails, letters, phone calls, and texts that I receive regularly concerning this weekly column. I read and respond to every contact. Although I am truly grateful for each piece of correspondence from readers, I received one recently that truly moved me. It isn't about my writing; instead, it was a thoughtful note from a former student.

I opened my e-mail to discover this message from a former football player at Mt. Sterling High School: "I had a football coach by the name of David Griffin in 1970 that I would like to thank for all he did for me. Among other things, I feared no man on that football field at that time due to him - a feeling of confidence that I still remember clearly. Would you be that teacher and coach?"

I responded to Ed McCullough's message with a lump in my throat. We began to reminisce about our days as Trojans at MSHS. Eddie was a dedicated team player with a huge heart and massive desire to excel. As I recall, he almost never left the field. Not only did he play offense and defense, he was also on several of the special teams. As a member of the kick-off receiving team, he ran back several kicks for touchdowns.

Eddie was an offensive end and had the ability to catch passes with an uncanny skill. When he was not the expected receiver, he could block with a vengeance. His enthusiastic desire was unequalled on that team. With his skills added to the talent of other team members, we won the Central Kentucky Conference during his freshman year. He and the team made my job easy. He was a joy to coach.

After receiving the note from Eddie, I began to ponder over some of my teachers at Mt. Vernon High School who made a difference in my life. I remember spring break at UK when I was a freshman. I decided to visit my high school and thank some of my best teachers.

The first room I entered was a Biology class taught by Dorothy Landrum. Mrs. Landrum stopped what she was teaching and invited me to take a seat in the back of the room until she completed her lesson. As she lectured about the reproduction of bacteria, I was immediately transformed into a student in her class. I recalled how interesting her lectures were on a daily basis; her lab exercises were equally stimulating. She was my favorite high school teacher. During the class break, she discussed with me my major and minor at UK. She was surprised to learn that I was getting my degree in Biology and Chemistry.

The second class that I visited on that special day was Chemistry, which was being taught by Mr. "Tuck" Baker. As I entered his classroom, I noticed that his stu-

In Loving Memory An Angel Came Knocking

An angel came knocking our door one day,

We saw him coming and begged, "Please go away." The angel said, "I won't tarry long, for you already know me,

I've been in this home before, you see.

You see me as the most terrible and worst thing to fear.

I'm here to bring peace and comfort to the one you hold dear.

She's been lying so helpless, sometimes in agony and pain,

I'm here to make her whole and full of life again.

I didn't choose to come here all on my own,

I was sent down from Heaven, from our Father on the throne.

I know how you've loved her, as only a caring family could,

But now let me comfort her, please if you would.

The future won't be easy, I bring loneliness and pain, That's the cross you must bear for her completeness again.

The hurt and the sorrow you'll be feeling each day, I'll transfer from her to you, it's God's will this way.

You've shared so much hurt with her, you've prayed and you've cried, You've done all that you can for her, only God knows how hard you've tried.

The comfort and peace that she's seeking inside, Can only come from Heaven, where with the Father and loved ones she will abide.

The memories that now are painful and hurting to you, Will someday bring comfort and peace in your heart, it's true.

Please don't think of me as an enemy, I'm someone you call Death,

But to your Mom in her suffering, I'm an angel called Rest."

Rockcastle County Community Member,

Mt. Vernon Elementary School is planning our 13th annual Kenna's Kitchen program. Last year we fed over 1,300 nutritious Thanksgiving meals to our focus group of community members which includes the elderly, shut-ins, and families who need assistance for their holiday meal. In the past, local organizations, businesses, and churches have contributed to the costs of this program. The date for this year's event has been set for Tuesday, November 25th and we need your support.

The donations are used to purchase the turkeys and other supplies necessary to feed this large number of fellow Rockcastle County citizens. Our MVES students support this program by collecting cans of corn, green beans, peas, potatoes, and stuffing for the main course. Our MVES staff, various community members, and our RCHS supporters help by providing desserts to complete the meal. Community and school volunteers prepare and deliver the nutritious meals.

We are asking that your organization contribute monetarily to this program again this year. No amount is too large or too small. We do this not only to help others, but also in memory of Kenna Cole Lanham, our school psychologist, who was tragically murdered on October 11, 2001.

We are also in need of volunteers to help with the preparation and delivery of the meals. Please call Mrs. Kay Carpenter, our Family Resource Coordinator Secretary, at 606-256-5173 to sign up to help prepare and deliver the Thanksgiving meal to our community members, and to help in the necessary clean up from such a vast endeavor.

From our humble beginning in 2001 when we fed only 250 community members, our program has grown to feed 1,375 or more.

Thank you for your contribution and support,
J. D. Bussell
MVES Principal

are busy and have various excuses, but this seems to say to me, "I don't even respect you enough to see what you wanted."

Showing good manners to another person, to me, shows that you respect them and is even a display of love to them. Wouldn't the world be a nicer place if we all used good manners?

dents were involved in a lab, attempting to make hydrogen gas. I remembered that lab from when I was in his class. Mr. Baker walked up to my side, and we discussed our history together at MVHS. He, too, was surprised to learn that I was getting a degree in Chemistry at UK.

My third stop was the wood shop class being taught by Mr. Larry Travis. As I entered his classroom, he stopped what he was doing to chat with me. I told him that his class was always one of my favorites. He recalled that I had made a huge walnut stereo cabinet as my woodworking project in his class. I still have that piece of furniture in my present home.

I am so glad that I made those visits. As a former teacher myself, I have experienced how gratifying it is to know, without a doubt, about how many students' lives were impacted in some way by my influence.

I used to have a whole box full of cards, notes, and letters from my students. I had saved them all over the years with the intention of being able to review them following my retirement from teaching. It was a good idea; it just ran into a major snag.

Unfortunately, that box was mistakenly tossed out by the janitors at the end of the school year when I was still in the process of cleaning out my classroom. Of course, I was heartbroken to learn this news. But, on the other hand, whether I still retained the proof or not, I had the experience of knowing that I touched many individual students' lives - which is a genuine comfort to me.

So, thanks Eddie. You gave this old man a moment of pure pleasure. Believe me when I say that I will never forget it.

"Points East" (Cont. from A2)

probably be on the menu, the NAWWWWW site selection committee decided to reverse an old adage and, in effect, demonstrate that it's really the early worm that gets the bird. Unfortunately they didn't learn that Solidago would not be open for business until early next spring. By the time they got the news it was far too late to change plans because the Pennsylvanians were already enroute and it takes a wooly worm several weeks to hoof it from Wind Gap to Paint Lick.

And while we're speaking of chicken and old adages, my good friend and fellow Paint Licker, Glenda McQuerry, just posted on her facebook page that she is going to answer an age old question once and for all. Glenda has gone online and ordered both a chicken and an egg from two different internet catalog mail order places and she promises to let us know which one gets here first.

I was sorta upset when I started this column because, for the first time in decades, I had not been contacted in September for a NAWWWWW scoop by the Louisville Courier Journal. Shortly after firing up the word processor and about the time I was halfway finished the phone rang. Caller Id. Showed it to be the CJ, which also reinforced my belief that ESP is real.

Turned out to be Ms. Kirby Adams who is both a reporter and tv personality for the CJ. I told her essentially what I have to report here so you may have already seen this if you read the big city paper. I am both too old and too disinterested to drive the necessary, 30-mile round trip to get a newspaper anymore. Anyway, here's what NAWWWWW has to say about the coming winter weather.

Contrary to forecasts by The Old Farmer's Almanac and a host of other so-called expert prognosticators who are predicting extreme cold conditions even worse than the winter of 13-14, NAWWWWW says it simply is not going to be that bad and certainly not as severe nor as long-lasting as the last time around. Overall the conditions will be milder than normal but they will also be somewhat wetter.

The most severe weather will happen both early and late in the season, perhaps as evidenced already with our snowfall on Halloween night and the day after. NAWWWWW believes central and eastern Kentucky can expect frequent heavy rains and snowfalls, but, in a nod to global warming, they say the snow will be several degrees warmer than usual in Berea but even colder than normal in Wind Gap.

NAWWWWWW thinks the worst of winter will actually be in late fall, before Christmas and again in the last week of February and the first three weeks of March. Look for several deep snows that will melt off rapidly but they will be the type in temperatures conducive to building snowmen and accommodating snowball fights if you hurry.

I do so hope they're correct but I still am not planning to start my garden until way up in May. In the meantime I can hardly wait to try some lukewarm snow cream.

Incumbent republican Harold "Hal" Rogers won in overwhelming fashion with 4,375 votes compared to his democrat challenger Kenneth Stepp's 579 votes.

Incumbent republican state senator Jared Carpenter easily won Rockcastle County with an almost 3,000 vote margin of 3,948 over democrat candidate Michael Cope's 1,000 votes.

Debra Hembree Lambert won her race for first division court of appeals judge, unseating incumbent Michael Caperton 2,945 to 1,465 votes. Incumbent Court of Appeals Judge James Lambert won his race by a large margin, defeating his challenger Paul Henderson 3,238 to 844 votes.

Incumbent Family Court Judge Marcus Vanover defeated challenger Bruce Wayne Singleton 2,386 to 1,032 votes.

Other unopposed incumbent judges winning their races were: Chief Circuit Judge Jeff Burdette got 3697 votes, Circuit Judge David Tapp 3,162 votes, Chief District Judge Jeff Lawless got 3,032 votes and District Judge Katie Wood 3,456 votes.

Other state and county candidates who were unopposed on the ballot and still received votes were State Representative Jonathan Shell with 3,838 votes, County PVA candidate Janet Vaughn received 4,423 votes, County Attorney Billy Reynolds got 3,976 votes, County Clerk Danetta Allen had 4,410 votes, Sheriff Michael Peters received 4,309 votes and county coroner candidate Marvin E. Owens got 3,343 votes.

All the magistratereal candidates were also unopposed. Magistrate Shannon Bishop received 767 votes, William Denny got 670 votes, Bill McKinney 1,003 votes, Gary Burdette 738 votes and Michael McGuire 815 votes.

The only constable candidate facing opposition was third district constable Frank Maples who defeated his write-in opponent Kevin Begley 817 to 73 votes. Other unopposed constable candidates receiving votes were: Joe Bussell 785, Delno McClure 601, Donnie Cope 737 votes and Chris Mason 787.

to pass the old homesteads, old growth trees and interesting natural features and natural communities.”

The county will be responsible for the trail's design and construction, interpretive signs along the trail, which will educate trail users about the history and ecology of the landscape and its maintenance.

The NFS will be responsible for approving the trail's design, conducting an environmental analysis, approving the construction, routine inspection of the trail and approving the interpretation Education Plan developed by the court.

On question, Asst. County Attorney William Leger told the court that he did not foresee any liability issues for the county. "Since the court will not be constructing anything on the trail and are not the owners of the property there is no liability assumed by the county," Leger told the court.

To get to the trailhead, hikers will cross the bridge at Brush Creek, turn right, go to Ravenwood Lane and follow that to the parking area.

Carloftis told the court that the process for the plans and construction of the trail could take six months to a year. The agreement can also be canceled on thirty days notice by either side.

On a motion by Carloftis, seconded by Magistrate Allen, the court approved the agreement unanimously.

In other business before the court, several fire department representatives presented their wish lists.

A spokesman for the Western Volunteer Fire Department told the court that they needed a brush truck because the one they were using was too big to take off pavement into areas where brush fires occurred.

Chris Mason and ??? representing the Livingston Fire Department spoke of their department's need for a pumper truck, and David Bales, Chief of the Mt. Vernon Fire Department which also administers the Rockcastle Fire Department, needed another tanker truck because their present one was not safe.

The total of the three pieces of equipment at Wynn's Fire Equipment in Corbin is $154,000.

However, the court has also been made aware that the Brodhead Fire Department feels they need another tanker and this could push the total to over $200,000.

No action was taken at the meeting with the decision being made to have magistrates and the county judge review the department's present equipment and travel to Corbin to view the proposed equipment purchases.

The court also discussed the security of the empty Anchor Packaging building. Anchor was paying $18,000 per month for security personnel but the court decided to contact Storm Security and Modern Security for options available to secure the building at less cost.

Sheriff's Department also determined that Evans did arrange meetings with the female juvenile in order to engage in sexual activity and that Evans' intent was to perform a sexual activity with the female juvenile.

The Anderson County Sheriff's Office then issued an extradition declaration to extradite Evans for the felony crime of criminal solicitation of a minor that is punishable by one year or more, according to South Carolina law section 16-15-342. The projected pick-up date was scheduled for Monday, November 3rd.

Evans was arrested last Saturday at the Mt. Vernon Police Department.

Evans appeared in Rockcastle County District Court last Monday and his bond was set at $10,000 surety with conditions of house arrest with no movement except for work release or medical emergencies.

However, the court documents stated that he had to report to the Rockcastle County Detention Center within thirty minutes of being notified that he would be extradited.

During an extradition hearing in Rockcastle County District Court last Wednesday, a motion made by Evans' lawyer to dismiss the charge on "insufficiency" of the South Carolina arrest warrant to comply with terms of KRS 440.180 was overruled. He was once again ordered to report to the Rockcastle County Detention Center.

However, Evans turned himself in to the Anderson County Sheriff's Department on Wednesday morning and is currently lodged in the Anderson County Detention Center in South Carolina without bond.

Aside from being a former RCMS boys basketball coach, Evans was also a middle school boys basketball coach and an Americorp worker at the Garrard County Middle School. He resigned from both positions last week.

Sally J Road after they received complaints of drug activity at the home.

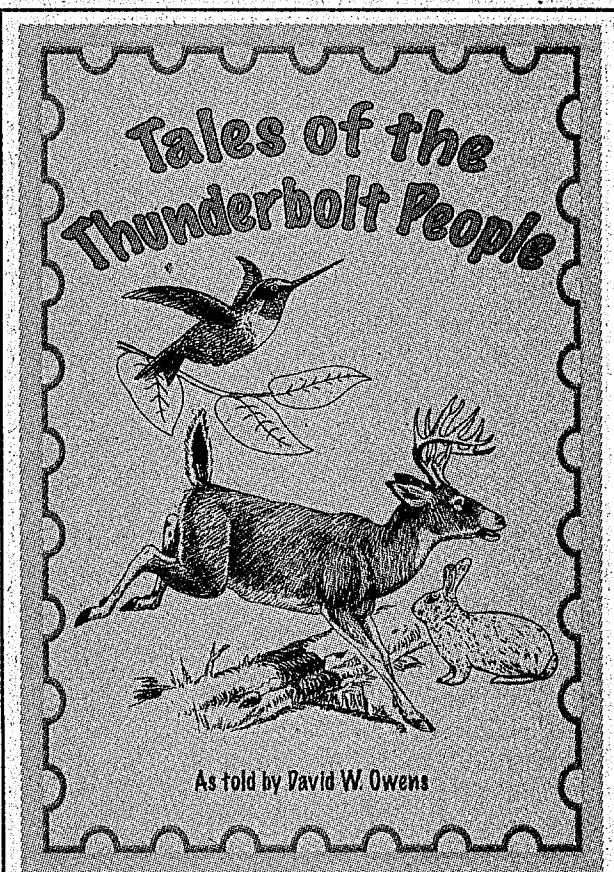

Once officers arrived, Reber told them that she was the only person in the home. However, officers saw Jackson walk out of a bedroom inside the home.

After receiving consent to search the residence, officers found several items used to manufacture meth including Coleman fuel, drain cleaner, rock salt, rubber tubing and a coffee filter containing a white powder residue. Officers also found an active one-step meth lab and HCL gas generator inside the home.

Reber told officers that she rented out rooms at her home and didn't know there was an active meth lab inside the residence. Jackson also told officers he didn't know about the meth lab and that he was only there to ask about fixing a broken door at the home.

Both Reber and Jackson were charged with manufacturing methamphetamine, unlawful possession of a meth precursor and drug paraphernalia.

They were lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center. Reber remains lodged on a $20,000 cash/property bond and Jackson remains lodged on a $35,000 cash bond.

An encouraging word:

More Than Beauty

By Howard Coop

Time passes rapidly, and things change speedily. Summer is almost gone, and autumn, sometimes defined as a period of maturity verging on decline, is just around the corner.

On September 23rd, the sun, in its annual journey south, crossed the equator. That event is the transition of the season that is known as the autumnal, or September, equinox. When that event occurs, day and night will be equal in length, and the season will begin to change noticeably. The hot and humid days of summer will be replaced with the lovely and more pleasant days of fall.

Autumn is a distinctively beautiful time of the year. Because of its beauty, some people say that fall is their favorite season of the year. Albert Camus called autumn "a second spring when every leaf is a flower." The leaves of the deciduous trees take on an array of beautiful colors, for preparation is being made for a period of dormancy. Lauren De-Stephano said it well. Fall is "The time when everything bursts with its last beauty, as if nature had been saving up all year for the grand finale." William Cullen Bryant, America's romantic poet, called autumn "the year's last, loveliest smile," and John Donne, the pre-eminent English representative of metaphysical poets, wrote, "No spring nor summer beauty hath such grace as I have seen in one autumnal face." Helen Hunt Jackson summed it up when she wrote, "By all these lovely tokens September days are here, with summer's best of weather and autumn's best of cheer."

But autumn is more than beauty; it is the time of ripening. The year is almost three-fourths over. Crops are being harvested, and everything is showing signs of aging. For some, autumn is a melancholy time to recognize that the bloom of youth is gone. Samuel Butler, the iconoclastic Victorian-era British author, wrote, "Autumn is the mellow season, and what we lose in flowers we more than gain in fruits."

The Field of Blue

Thirteen stripes of red and white
Fifty stars in a field of blue
Our flag waves on because of you.

I know that I can't relate
But your courage is still in spiration

And your determination to keep your country free
Is true motivation.

I look up to you and see
Someone who fought to keep our country free

Someone who showed courage and strength
In the most pressing times.

The world needs more people
That are as selfless and caring as you

People that keep our flag waving on

And let those stars shine forever bright
In that field of blue.

Roy Arron Beasley
U.S. Army 1964-1967
Vietnam Veteran
Heartfelt Thoughts of Roy as a veteran

Dear Roy,
I think of you when you were so far away
Didn't know you then like I do today!

I often wonder if you were Cold, hungry, tired and afraid
I do know you had to be so very brave!

I sometimes see the sadness
In your loving handsome face

And find myself humbly praying
And thanking God for His Amazing Grace!

You volunteered to serve and protect all mankind
Roy, thank you again for serving-
Bravery is a quality very hard to find!

I see you today as I think of you then,
Lonely, homesick and all the many places you've been

Everyday I'm thankful you were blessed to return
Because today you are with ME and that is my good concern!

You served the Army with your loyalty
And today you serve Jesus, The King of Royalty!!

You are still a brave soldier
And many battles you have won

But the greatest reward is knowing

You have the Love of God's Son!

God kept you safe for very good reasons-
He has kept you serving for many seasons!

Roy, thank you and thank all veterans-

Those that are still with us,
Those who have passed on,
Those of you still fighting
For the red, white and blue,
And may God bless our nation-

And may God bless all those who are-
Brave soldiers to Him and True!!

Watch for deer on Kentucky roadways

Cooler temperatures and shorter days bring out the fall colors that paint Kentucky's landscape in warm hues before winter arrives.

At about the same time, the breeding instinct in whitetail deer stirs, putting them on the move and more frequently into the paths of motorists.

About half of all collisions between vehicles and deer in Kentucky occur over the last three months of the calendar year, according to statistics compiled by Kentucky State Police. More of these collisions are reported in November than in any other month.

"October, November and December make up the main breeding season for white-tail deer," said Gabe Jenkins, deer and elk program coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "The peak is in November."

Deer are most active around dawn and dusk as they look for mates, he said. State police data from 2009-2013 shows most vehicle-deer collisions in November occur from 5-8 a.m. and 5 p.m.-midnight.

"Be aware of the timing and time of day and your surroundings," Jenkins said.

"Think about where you see deer and keep that in mind."

Yellow highway signs identify deer crossing hot spots. Stay alert and be cautious as you drive through these areas. At night, use high-beam headlights when appropriate. High beams can help a driver see twice as far.

Should you encounter a deer in the road, slow down but only steer to avoid hitting the animal if it can be done safely. Swerving can confuse the deer even more and increase the likelihood of a crash, Jenkins said. Allow the deer to leave the roadway but keep in mind that other deer may be in the immediate area.

Above all, remember to wear your seat belt. It's the law in Kentucky. Most people injured or killed in vehicle-deer collisions were not wearing a safety belt, according to state police.

The 2,985 vehicle-deer collisions reported last year accounted for less than 3 percent of all vehicle collisions statewide, according to state police data. There were no fatalities resulting from vehicle collisions with deer in the state in 2012 or 2013, and the number of people injured in these types of crashes in Kentucky has decreased every year since 2008. "We've worked with the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet over the years to identify high-risk areas," Jenkins said. "Transportation crews have cleared areas along the roadways to give motorists a better field of view to see deer and to be more aware of their surroundings."

Biologists estimate Kentucky has about 1 million deer and attribute the increased movement in fall to breeding activity, not hunting pressure. Hunting lowers deer density.

Some of the highest collision rates are found in counties with high deer densities. Boone County led the state the previous five years with an average of 154 vehicle-deer collisions per year followed by Hopkins (116), Campbell (103), Jefferson (100) and Hardin (95) counties, according to state police data.

Of the 10 counties with the highest average of vehicle-deer collisions from 2009-2013, according to state police data, more than half are classified by Kentucky Fish and Wildlife as Zone 1 counties. The department sets deer hunting season dates and bag limits by zone. In a Zone 1 county, a hunter may harvest an unlimited number of does (female deer) so long as they have purchased the appropriate additional deer permits.

"A Zone 1 county is where we're trying to get a reduction in the deer herd," Jenkins said. "We realize there are too many and we're trying to give our hunters ample opportunity to take as many antlerless deer as they can. Does are what drive the population - the more does our hunters can take in Zone 1, the better we do with population control."

It is best to explain everything in a letter so you have a written record. Before writing the letter look at your finances to come up with a payment amount you can handle. That lets your creditor know you still plan to pay what you owe and will pay as much as possible during your financial crunch.

RCHS girls' track team wins Class 2A Region 5 championship

The RCCHS girls' team won the Class 2A Region 5 Championship title at Mercer County on Saturday, dominating the competition and defeating runner-up Casey County by 23 points. Wayne County placed 3rd and Boyle County 4th. A frigid wind chill temperature of 23 degrees and some stiff competition was not enough to keep the Lady Rockets from winning their 7th regional championship title overall. With every RCCHS girl placing in the top twenty, the team automatically qualified for the Class 2A State Cross-Country Championships next Saturday at the Kentucky Horse Park. Team members are from left: Rakhi Patel, Autumn Courtney, Lanna Prewitt, Rachel Cain, Tori Dotson, Kensie Sheffield, Sierra Mercer, and Taylor Bullock.

RCCHS sophomore Lanna Prewitt placed 15th with an exceptional performance at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships in Mercer County on Saturday. Lanna's time of 22:58.71 was just seconds away from another all-time personal best and was by far her best regional performance ever despite the frigid weather conditions.

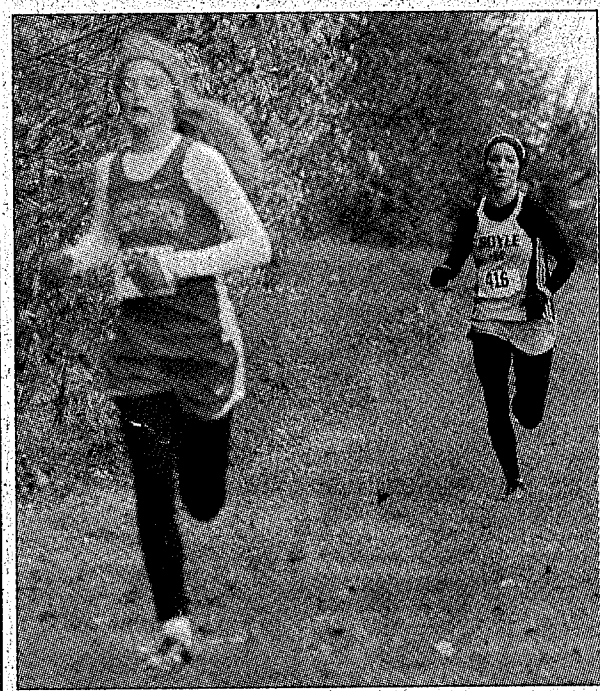

RCCHS sophomore Sierra Mercer placed 14th with an incredible performance at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships in Mercer County on Saturday. Sierra's great time of 22:58.06 was one of her best this season and her best regional performance ever considering the extremely cold weather conditions.

RCMS 7th grader Kensie Sheffield came through with an unbelievable career best performance in her first-ever regional cross-country race on Saturday at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships in Mercer County. Despite the freezing cold conditions, Kensie placed an amazing 10th overall with an awesome new personal best time of 22:30.27.

In her final regional race for the Lady Rockets on Saturday at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships at Anderson-Dean Park in Mercer County, RCCHS senior Rachel Cain came through with an impressive 17th place finish overall and finished 2nd among all seniors. Rachel finished with a great time of 23:36.33 despite the freezing cold weather conditions.

RCMS 7th grader Tori Dotson won the Class 2A Region 5 Championship individual title at Mercer County on Saturday. Tori defeated one of the top runners in the state, senior Nikki Coffey (right) from Boyle County, by 16 seconds. Tori's awesome time of 19:44.03 under the freezing cold weather conditions was easily her best performance this season. Her amazing record-breaking season will continue next Saturday at the Kentucky Horse Park as she begins her quest for her first Class 2A State Championship title and a berth on the all-state team. She enters the Class 2A State Championship meet ranked 5th overall and will be racing the best female distance runner Kentucky has ever produced in sophomore Gabby Karas from Martha Layne Collins High School.

RCCHS sophomore Taylor Bullock placed 7th with an incredible performance at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships in Mercer County on Saturday. Taylor earned a regional medal with an awesome time of 22:18.30, just seconds away from her personal best, but easily a career best performance under the harsh weather conditions.

RCMS 7th grader Autumn Courtney placed 19th overall at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships in Mercer County on Saturday. In her first-ever regional cross-country race, despite the incredibly cold weather conditions, Autumn came close to her personal best with a great time of 23:46.90.

Rockets lose last season game to Wayne, 28-14

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Rockets finished their regular season 6-4 after a 28-14 loss to the Wayne County Cardinals last Friday night.

The Rockets offense produced 288 total yards, 284 rushing yards and 4 passing. 262 yards came from freshman tailback Brent Lovell with the rest of the Rockets team having only 22 yards on offense.

However, several stalled offensive drives, and the inability to get the ball into the end zone, proved to be the deciding factor in the Rockets loss. One of the momentum shifting drives throughout the game came in the first quarter when the Cardinals held the Rockets on the goal line preventing them from scoring on fourth down.

The first quarter proved to be a defensive battle between the two teams as neither offense put any points on the board.

The Cardinals scored first in the game when running back Dalton Garner ran the ball into the end zone on a 16 yard touchdown run. The extra point was good giving the Cardinals the early 7-0 lead at the beginning of the second quarter.

The Rockets answered on their next offensive drive when Lovell broke free for a 74 yard touchdown run. The extra point attempt by senior Tyler Langford was good tying the game at 7-7.

On the Cardinals next possession, tailback Austin Garner punched the ball into the end zone on a 2 yard run. The extra point was good giving the Cardinals the 14-7 lead.

The Cardinals would score again before halftime when running back Dalton Garner scrambled over the goal line from the five yard line. The extra point was no good but the Cardinals led 20-7 at the half.

In the third quarter, Lovell found his way through the Cardinal defense and scored on another 75 yard touchdown run. The extra point by Langford was good cutting the lead to 20-14.

The Cardinals would put the game away in the fourth quarter when Austin Garner found his way into the end zone on a 5 yard touchdown run. The two point conversion was good making the final score 28-14.

The Rockets offense was led by Lovell with 27 carries for 262 yards and two touchdowns.

Other Rockets picking up rushing yardage were sophomore running back Devon Robinson with six carries for 20 yards, senior wide receiver Kyle Denny got 7 yards on one carry, senior fullback Chance Ansardi had two carries for 6 yards and freshman fullback Holdan Barnett got three yards on two carries.

Sophomore quarterback Dakota Bishop was 1 of 4 passing for 4 yards. Senior tight end Isaiah Adams caught the one pass.

The Rockets were led on defense by Robinson with 9 tackles and one fumble recovery. Lovell also had a big night on defense with 10 tackles.

Other Rockets with tackles and assists were: sophomore linebacker Austin Mills and Denny with 9 tackles each; Ansardi had 7; sophomore defensive lineman Logan Coffey was credited with 5; sophomore defensive end Lucas Jones got 4; Barnett had 3 and sophomore defensive end Tommy Benge got 2. Langford and Adams were credited with one tackle each.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said they knew last Friday night's game would be physical and aggressive.

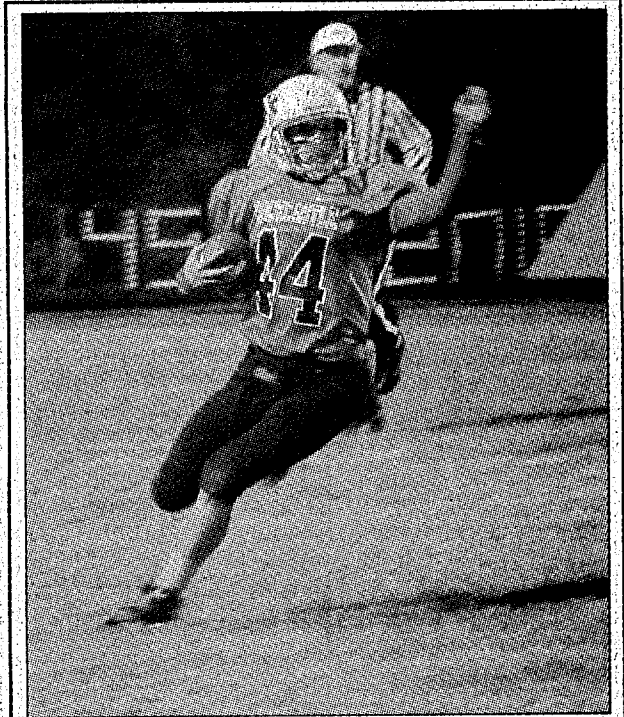

"Our players started the game off great but were held on the goal line from scoring. The difference was they made the plays and we didn't," Parkey said. "We had mistakes on offense and played tentative on defense. We made adjustments at halftime and I thought they responded well which will help going into the playoffs."

The Rockets next game is this Friday night at home when they take on the Marion County Knights in the first playoff game. Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m.

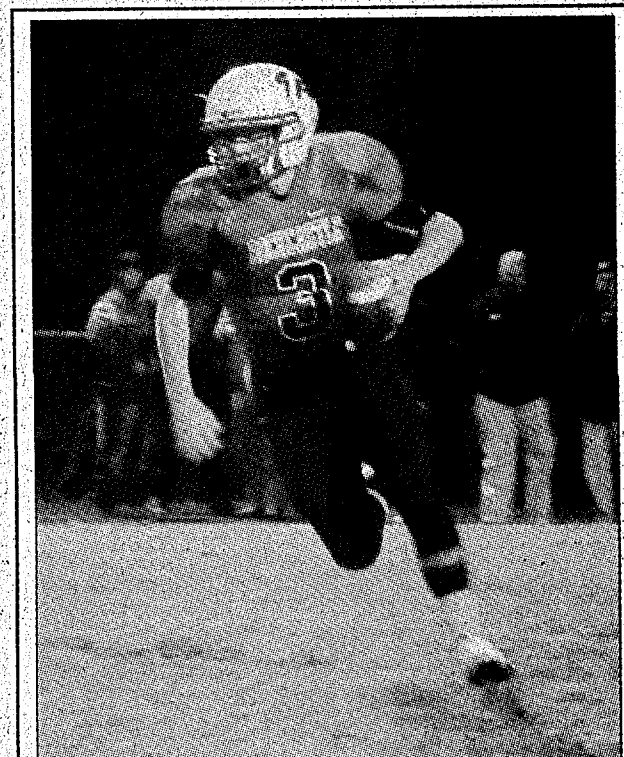

Parkey said Marion County has a good group of athletes who try to get the ball into space.

"They are big and physical on the line of scrimmage."

Five questions with Deer and Elk Program Coordinator

Kentucky’s modern gun deer season opens statewide on Nov. 8. When it does, Gabe Jenkins will have been in his new role as the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources’ deer and elk program coordinator for a little more than a month.

“It’s been exciting,” he said.

An avid hunter, Jenkins grew up on a farm in the small southeast Ohio village of Rutland. After earning his bachelor’s and master’s degrees from Eastern Kentucky University, he was hired by Kentucky Fish and Wildlife in 2007 to work in the deer and elk program.

“All of my predecessors have done a fantastic job and I’m here to continue that course,” he said.

Jenkins, 30, recently sat down for an interview at Kentucky Fish and Wildlife headquarters in Frankfort. The following are excerpts from that interview.

What are the duties and responsibilities of the deer and elk program coordinator?

Jenkins: “The deer and elk coordinator conducts statewide management for white-tailed deer and elk. I oversee and conduct biological research, surveys and inventory work on both species. I work with our program’s deer and elk biologists and others at Kentucky Fish and Wildlife to make recommendations for the promulgation of regulations that address problem issues associated with deer and elk. It’s my goal to manage the deer and elk herds in the state to provide ample hunting opportunity, yet strike a balance between hunters and non-hunters alike.”

How would you sum up the deer season so far, and what are your expectations for the remainder of it?

Jenkins: “Our September harvest has been increasing and we have been breaking our September harvest record every year. Unfortunately, we didn’t break it this year. October’s harvest is right in the middle when comparing it to previous years. Our youth firearms season was good considering the less than ideal weather. It was our second-highest harvest in the past eight years. The early muzzleloader hunt is very weather dependent. The weather was decent across the state and our harvest was average this year.

“We’re coming off of two record harvest years. We have made a dent in some of the deer numbers. I look for our harvest to be down to where it had been prior to 2012 and 2013.”

What is your assessment of the state’s deer herd, estimated to number about 1 million going into this season?

Jenkins: “We stopped stocking deer in 1999. That’s not all that long ago. We have places where the numbers are good. We have places where the numbers are too high. And we have places where we need to grow the herd a little more. Especially in the southeastern part of the state; how can we get that needle to move a little to get a few more deer in that area? I think our hunters would appreciate that. The habitat can’t support a huge increase but I would like to see it bump up some. That’s definitely an interest of mine.”

Can you foresee any potential adjustments to the zone strategy down the road?

Jenkins: “One thing that I definitely want to open up is a dialogue with our hunters. We need to have some discussions about ways to better manage our doe herd in Zone 1 counties, and how we can get hunters to be better managers of our resources in those counties. They are tasked to manage the resource. We could do a better job of management in many places in Zone 1. So how can we encourage, or make it better, for more hunters to take more does? The population needs to come down a little bit. We’re planning to go on the road and talk with our hunters about ways to deal with deer numbers in Zone 1 counties. We’re going to meet with the public and run some surveys. We hope to take what we learn from our discussions and come up with a new strategy to harvest more deer in Zone 1, specifically female deer.”

You’re a biologist but also an experienced hunter. What do you enjoy most about hunting?

Jenkins: “I enjoy going after something new. It could be a new species. It could be a new place. I love to climb up in a tree and shoot a deer, but maybe I want to shoot one with a crossbow this year or go to Colorado and shoot an elk with my bow or tackle turkeys with my bow or a fall turkey with a shotgun. My favorite thing to hunt is whatever’s in season. I might try new tactics, a new place, a new style, but I love to hunt. I’m not one that prefers one weapon over the other. I’ve got a bow. I’ve got a crossbow. I’ve got a shotgun, a muzzleloader, a rifle. I value each one of them. You learn something different and new each time you’re out there.”

Kentucky hunters took a record 144,409 deer during the 2013-14 season, and modern gun season accounted for 72 percent of that harvest total.

This year, modern gun season for deer opens Nov. 8 and continues through Nov. 17 or Nov. 23, depending on the zone. Hunters are reminded to purchase the appropriate licenses and permits and encouraged to review the 2014-15 Kentucky Hunting and Trapping Guide – recently updated online at fw.ky.gov – before going into the field.

Began November 3rd
USDA Farm Service Agency
County Committee elections

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is encouraging farmers and ranchers to make their voices heard by voting in the upcoming Farm Service Agency (FSA) County Committee elections. FSA Administrator Val Dolcini announced the beginning was Monday, Nov. 3, 2014, USDA will mail ballots for the 2014 elections to eligible producers across the country. Producers must return ballots to their local FSA offices by the Dec. 1, 2014, deadline to ensure that their vote is counted.

"The role and input of our county committee members is vital as we implement the 2014 Farm Bill," said Dolcini. "New members provide input and make important decisions on the local administration of FSA programs. We have seen promising increases in the number of women and minority candidates willing to serve on county committees, helping to better represent the diversity of American agriculture."

FSA County Committee members provide an important link between the local agricultural community and USDA. Farmers and ranchers elected to county committees help deliver FSA programs at the local level, applying their knowledge and judgment to make decisions on commodity support programs; conservation programs; indemnity and disaster programs; emergency programs and eligibility. County committees operate within official regulations designed to carry out federal laws.

To be an eligible voter, farmers and ranchers must participate or cooperate in an FSA program. A person who is not of legal voting age, but supervises and conducts the farming operations of an entire farm may also be eligible to vote. Agricultural producers in each county submitted candidate nominations during the nomination period, which ended on Aug. 1, 2014.

Eligible voters who do not receive ballots in the coming week may pick one up at their local USDA Service Center or FSA office. The deadline to submit ballots is Dec. 1, 2014. Ballots returned by mail must be postmarked no later than Dec. 1, 2014. Newly elected committee members and their alternates will take office Jan. 1, 2015.

Nearly 7,700 FSA County Committee members serve in the 2,124 FSA offices nationwide. Each committee consists of three to 11 members elected by eligible producers. Members serve 3-year terms of office. Approximately one-third of county committee seats are up for election each year.

More information on county committees, such as the new 2014 fact sheet and brochures, can be found on the FSA website at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections. You may also contact your local USDA Service Center or FSA office. Visit <http://go.usa.gov/pYV3> to find an FSA office near you.

New Heights is a new church, planted through the call and desire to be rooted in God's Word and relevant in today's world. We are committed to relentlessly and relationally reaching people with the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Our mission is making disciples, and our motivation is our love for God and people.

God recently called Jon Burdette to be our pastor at New Heights Church. Jon is a native of Rockcastle County, and served as a youth pastor for a total of thirteen years - nine in Rockcastle and four in Northern KY. God has used him to impact many lives of all ages, and he is excited about what God is doing in Madison and surrounding counties. "We want to lead people to Christ and then motivate and train them to do the same for others," says Jon when asked about the vision of the church. "Our goal here is to fulfill the Great Commission - making disciples who can make disciples."

Pastor Jon Burdette's love for Jesus and people is contagious and inspiring, and the church is mission-focused and family oriented. If you are not connected to a church, we invite you to be a part of the great things God is doing at New Heights. Come be energized, equipped, and engaged in God's mission of changing this world through the Gospel of Jesus Christ!

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
"Sending Autumn Leaves to Landfill?"

There are positive and useful things you can do with leaves when it comes to disposal of the fallen autumn leaves. In October and November there are always leaves to be dealt with. Even if you have no trees on your property, the wind will distribute some on your yard or parking place anyhow. It may be routine to burn or bag your leaves for the garbage man. However, there are better choices than sending them to the landfill. Some are obvious, but there may be some things you can do with leaves you've not considered. Let's take a look at options.

Throwing your leaves away, then buying organic fertilizer for your plants is a bit akin to buying lottery tickets with grocery money and then asking for charity because you're hungry. Leaves and leaf litter is better for plants than mulch or commercial fertilizers, and cheaper than store-bought organics; it just takes a little effort to recycle and reap wonderful benefits.

So, you have lots of leaves. What are the choices about what to do with them?

Some municipal governments will collect leaves, either in bags or by giant vacuum trucks if you rake them into the street. One presumes they will compost or recycle what they collect this way. Either using on city trees and beds, or selling composted materials back to the citizens at a reasonable price.

With small quantities, a mulching mower can chew up and leave them on the lawn. Consider this if your leaf fall isn't too heavy.

If you feel you must remove the leaves, do you have a compost bin you could put them in? Could you till them into your garden? Could you grind them and put the resulting mulch around your trees and shrubs? And though it causes air pollution, even raking them onto your garden and burning them will kill all the weed seeds and add substantial potash to the spot and raise the pH—thereby saving on chemicals and fertilizers you will need to buy and apply next season.

The very worst use of your fallen leaves is to bury them with household garbage between large sheets of polyethylene for years and years in a landfill. Look for alternatives if you need to get rid of a lot of leaves.

No garden and no compost heap, maybe you have a neighbor or gardener or farmer who would accept a donation of your leaves? Even an ad in the paper or a flyer on a utility pole advising you have "free leaves to a good home" might work!

More thoughts: Make a path of leaves (then top with mulch or gravels) to keep weeds at bay. Ground leaf litter is the best mulch—at least from the viewpoint of your trees and shrubs.

Can you mix and bury leaves in your own soil? Perhaps bag and save some for next season? Could you make a leaf pile for kids to play in? Layering, such as described in Pat Lanza's Lasagna Gardening book is also an option to consider as an option for what to do with your fallen leaves.

One doesn't have to be into extremes like hugging trees to keep bulldozers away—isn't it just sensible that if you recycle aluminum cans or separate bottles and paper at curbside on garbage day that you might want to do something helpful and positive with your autumn leaves other than sending them to the dump?

KY Music Hall of Fame 2015 inductees announced

By: Doug Ponder

The Kentucky Music Hall of Fame announced their 2015 induction class at their kick-off event last Wednesday.

The 2015 induction class consists of: Montgomery Gentry, The Moonglows, Doctor (Doc) Howard Hopkins, Pete Stamper, Larry Cordle, Clarence Spalding and Backstreet Boys.

According to Executive Director Robert Lawson, the country music band "Montgomery Gentry" was formed in 1999 by Kentucky natives Eddie Montgomery and Troy Gentry. The duo went on to release six studio albums that produced more than twenty singles on the "Billboard Hot Country Songs" charts.

Montgomery Gentry's albums also included number one singles "If You Ever Stop Loving Me," "Something to Be Proud Of," "Lucky Man," "Back When I Knew It All," and "Roll With Me." The band is still together and currently performing on tour throughout the country.

The R&B group "The Moonglows" originated in Louisville and lead singer Harvey Fuqua is also a native of Louisville. Fuqua moved to Cleveland in 1951 where he formed a band called "Crazy Sounds" with Bobby Lester, Danny Coggins and Prentiss Barnes.

The Crazy Sounds later evolved into The Moonglows which would also later include Pete Graves and Billy Johnson. The Moonglows famous singles included "Sincerely," "Most of All," "See Saw" and "Ten Commandments of Love."

Country music singer Doctor Howard Hopkins (AKA Doc Hopkins.) whose first name is "Doctor" is a native of Wallins Creek, Kentucky. He performed on the WLS National Barn Dance and the WJJD Supper Time Frolic country music programs.

Pete Stamper, a well-known musician, songwriter, comedian and author, has been featured on and a part of several Renfro Valley shows, Red Foley's Ozark Jubilee, the Porter Wagner Show, Dolly Parton's Road Show, the Grand Ole Opry and many more.

Stamper is a native of Dawson Springs and a resident of Mt. Vernon. He also wrote and published "It All Happened in Renfro Valley."

The fifth inductee will be country and bluegrass entertainer Larry Cordell. Cordell is a native Kentuckian and most famous for his song "Murder on Music Row," which was recorded by Alan Jackson and George Strait.

Cordell has written songs for Garth Brooks, Ricky Skaggs, Loretta Lynn, Trisha Yearwood, Alison Krauss and other notable musicians. He is currently performing on tour throughout the country.

Clarence Spalding, who is a native of Lebanon, has managed well-known musicians including Ronnie Milsap, Eddie Rabbitt, Brooks & Dunn, Rascal Flatts, Jason Aldean and many more. He has also served as president and chairman of the Country Music Association.

Also inducted will be the well-known pop band The Backstreet Boys. The band consists of Nick Carter, Brian Littrell, Kevin Richardson, A.J. McLean and Howie Dorough.

The Backstreet Boys has Kentucky roots as Richardson and Littrell are both Lexington natives. The band has been deemed "the best-selling boy band" in history and has sold 130 million records worldwide. They have also received seven Grammy nominations.

Lawson said the induction ceremony will be Friday, April 10, 2015 at the Lexington Center Bluegrass Ballroom. A VIP reception at 6 p.m. will be followed by the dinner at 7 p.m. and the induction ceremony at 8 p.m.

Lawson went on to say that tickets for the induction ceremony go on sale next Monday at the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame. For more information call 606-256-1000.

A large crowd came out for the announcement of the 2015 Kentucky Music Hall of Fame inductees. Those inductees will be Montgomery Gentry, The Moonglows, Doctor "Doc" Howard Hopkins, Pete Stamper, Larry Cordle, Clarence Spalding and The Backstreet Boys. Shown above is the band "Halfway to Hazard" performing for the crowd and at right is Executive Director Robert Lawson addressing the crowd before the induction announcements.

Thank You!

I have obviously made a large number of friends while in office and those friendships are more precious than gold to me.

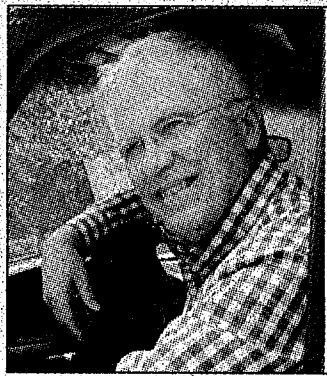

When considering the large number of write-in votes of confidence I received, after only two weeks of campaigning, I can only say Thank You from the bottom of my heart.

Even as the second longest Republican official now serving in Rockcastle County, I knew it was an impossible -- certainly improbable -- climb to keep the office, but a climb worthy of the attempt because it now shows, even by my failure to reach the top, that citizens can cast votes based upon individual merit.

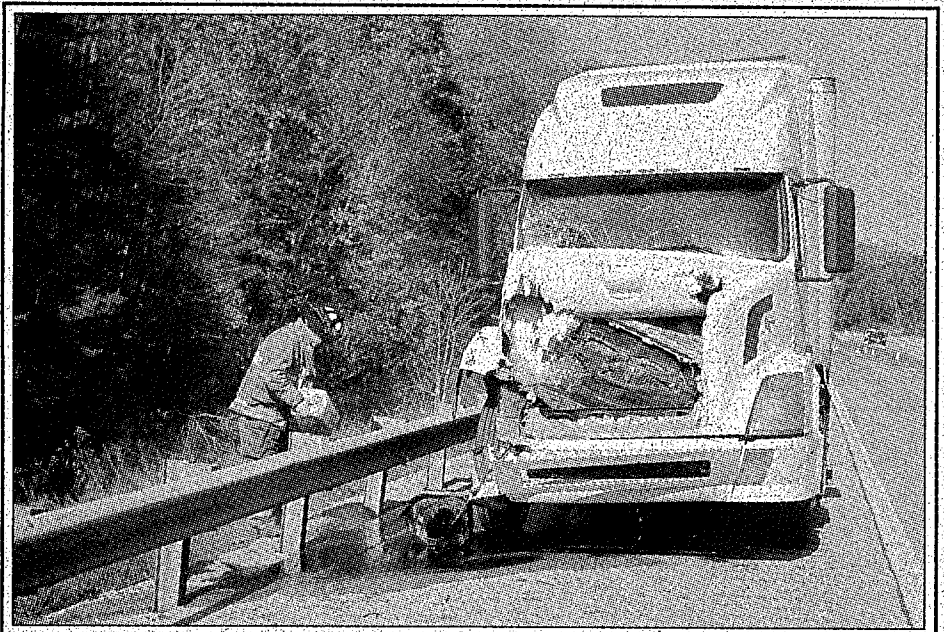

How can I possibly be disappointed with all the successes and progress Rockcastle has had since I've been in office? I am not disappointed.

I've already made history in Rockcastle's 204 years by showing that our county government can be active, bring progress and help our citizens -- and to have served, by far, more consecutive terms than anyone in our county's history. I just wish I could have done more. My best wishes to the new fiscal court in January.

I have really enjoyed my time in this office and hope that I have served both the county and my Republican Party well. I think I have.

Because I don't want our new fiscal court coming into office without basic knowledge of county government, I offer my services to teach a class on our budget, grants, etc. to them and any citizen who might be interested. They need only to call me at 256-2856 to set a date and time here at the courthouse.

Two semi-trucks collided Monday afternoon, causing a large diesel spill, at the 54 mile marker on southbound I-75 near Mt. Vernon. Authorities say a driver for Sharco Express of Rochester Hills, Michigan was traveling southbound when he rear-ended a Produce Fresh semi-truck from Hickory Hills, Illinois. Neither of the semi-drivers were hurt in the accident. The right lane and emergency lane on southbound I-75 near the accident was closed for two hours while crews cleaned up approximately 100 gallons of diesel fuel and 20 gallons of anti-freeze and oil.

Financial Tip of the Month

Avoid these common student financial aid mistakes

Many students spend more for college than they should by making some common mistakes when seeking financial aid. Follow these tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) to make sure you get the help you need.

Some people don't bother to apply for financial aid because they don't think they'll qualify. But they should submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to find out if they're eligible for state and federal student aid programs. Not filing may hurt their chances of getting more free money for college.

Another common mistake is waiting until the last minute to apply for financial aid. Some programs have deadlines, while others have limited funds. Students and families should submit the FAFSA as soon as possible after Jan. 1 of each year.

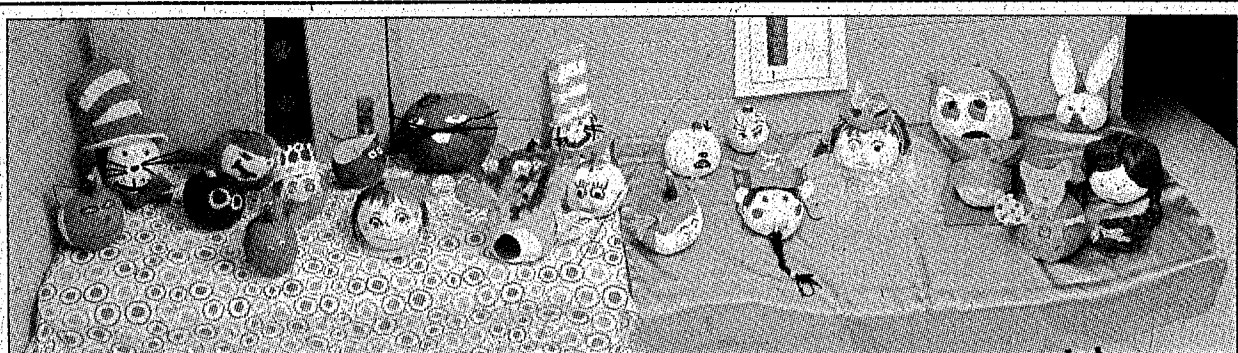

Colleges send each student who has applied for student aid a financial aid package. Students and their families should look it over carefully. They should compare offers if they have received offers from more than one school to see which one is the best deal. Of course, students should also consider other factors, such as whether a school offers the academic program a student wants or if it meets other expectations.

Students who need loans to help pay for college must be good consumers. They should apply for federal student loans before applying for private loans. Not all private lenders offer the same rates and benefits. Borrowers should pay close attention to what lenders call the back-end benefits; the interest rate and principal reductions offered when repaying the loan.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's student financial aid programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES).

tion of $84.00 from businesses in our county. Our school worked together to gather 1,351 rolls of toilet paper. A big thank you to our parents and staff that helped in this effort. After combining the two totals we were able to donate 1,801 rolls of toilet paper.

The Brodhead Family Resource Center supplies students with a change of clothing when accidents occur at school. If you would like to donate NEW, elastic waist, sweatpants (children sizes 5 - 14) or underwear (sizes 4 - 12), for girls or boys, please drop those off at school. We do not re-use socks or underwear, so these items are always needed. Please remember the items must be new, in the package, and we are not currently accepting any other clothing donations due to limited space and need. ## KSP receives reports of scam/fraud on internet

The scam/fraud is being referred to as "Esteemed Secret Shopper". Victims are reporting that they were sent a fraudulent check by mail to deposit in their bank account in order to purchase pre-paid credit cards at various local businesses in the area. Victims are told this is part of a private company that evaluates employee performance and reports back to their supervisors. After the cards are purchased, the victims are asked to text the card information to different phone numbers that were provided to them by "Esteemed Secret Shopper". For the victim's participation, they are told to keep a portion of the money only to find out days later that the original check provided was fraudulent and that they are out all the money they spent on the pre-paid cards.

The Kentucky State Police, Post 11 urges the public to remember several basic guidelines in regards to their personal information and bank accounts.

- Never deposit a check unless you are sure of where it came from.

- Never send money, via PayPal, Western Union or any other money transfer service to receive a prize or reimbursement of any kind.

- Never give personal information out over the phone or internet unless you have initiated contact and know who you are speaking to.

- Immediately call or visit your bank to report suspicious activity on your account that appears concerning or questionable.

- If you are a victim of this type of scam you should contact a law enforcement agency in your area.

Most importantly, remember that scams and frauds increase during the holiday season.

Kentucky beef producers call for referendum to support beef promotion

Farm and Home News

Tom Mills

Rockcastle County Extension Office

Kentucky beef producers have called for a referendum to support the advancement of beef promotion in Kentucky by collecting an additional $1.00 per head sold. The Kentucky Cattlemen's Association, as the certified entity, made an application to the Kentucky Board of Agriculture requesting a referendum to further beef promotion in Kentucky. The Kentucky Board of Agriculture approved the request and a referendum date of November 20, 2014 has been set.

Creating a "uniquely Kentucky" Beef Checkoff will strengthen beef demand internationally, nationally, state-wide and locally. Funding provided by Kentucky beef producers and spent by Kentucky beef producers, the state checkoff can not only compliment the current programs of the Kentucky Beef Council, but will more aggressively confront beef industry chalenges faced by shifting consumer attitudes about beef, rising beef prices and concerns about food safety and animal care.

For over 30 years, Kentucky farmers have invested in their business, knowing that no business, even the beef business, survives without investment, promotion and research. Recent research conducted by Cornell University found that for each dollar invested by farmers into beef check-off activities from 2006 - 2013, $11.20 was returned to beef industry producer profit.

"Funding a Kentucky Beef Checkoff program means providing funding to support the programs of the Kentucky Beef Council, and supporting areas that have the largest positive impact for Kentucky beef and dairy producers," shares Steve Downs, Kentucky Cattlemen's Association President.

Oversight of the funds, if passed, will be the responsibility of the Kentucky Beef Promotion Council. Made up of beef and dairy producers along with industry professionals, Kentucky beef producer Charles Miller is excited to see the impact additional funding of the Kentucky Beef Checkoff can have. Miller shares, "The value of $1 today compared to 1985 is $.44. It's imperative to continue to be forward-thinking, and have the funding needed to support Kentucky beef and dairy producers through beef promotion and education efforts."

Every dollar invested back into the Kentucky Beef Checkoff will go to increase profit opportunities by keeping beef top-of-mind with consumers and by working to ensure a wholesome, safe, and quality beef-eating experience every time.

The Referendum will take place at local Kentucky Cooperative Extension Offices on Thursday, November 20, from 8 a.m. till 6pm. Voting is open to all producers of bovine animals involved in the marketing or sale of bovine animals within the Commonwealth of Kentucky. For more details, visit www.kycattle.org.

Absentee voting is permitted. The absentee ballot request form shall be legibly completed and sent to the Commissioner of Agriculture at least ten (10) days in advance of the referendum date. All absentee ballot request forms must be signed by the County Extension Agent. The request form can be obtained from any Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service office, the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, or the Kentucky Cattlemen's Association. Completed request forms should be sent to Steve Kelly, Kentucky Department of Agriculture, 105 Corporate Dr. Frankfort, KY 40601.

USDA extends Dairy Margin Protection Program deadlines

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack, speaking at the National Milk Producers Federation annual meeting, announced extended deadlines for the dairy Margin Protection Program. Farmers now have until Dec. 5, to enroll in the voluntary program, established by the 2014 Farm Bill. The program provides financial assistance to participating farmers when the margin - the difference between the price of milk and feed costs - falls below the coverage level selected by the farmer.

"We want dairy producers to have enough time to make thoughtful and well-studied choices," said Vilsack. "Markets change and the Margin Protection Program can help protect dairy producers from those changes."

Vilsack encouraged producers to use the online at www.fsa.usda.gov/mpptool to calculate the best levels of coverage for their dairy operation. "Historical scenarios also can be explored to see how the Margin Protection Program would function should poor market conditions occur again in the future," said Vilsack. The secure website can be accessed via computer, smartphone or tablet.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) also extended the opportunity for public comments on both the Margin Protection Program and the Dairy Product Donation Program until Dec. 15, 2014. "USDA is committed to creating strong opportunities for the next generation of farmers and ranchers. When dairy producers bring new family members into the business, these changes could affect safety net coverage," said Vilsack. "If our current rules hinder intergenerational changes or if improvements are needed in these programs, then we want to hear from dairy producers."

Comments can be submitted to USDA via the regulations.gov website at <http://go.usa.gov/GJSA>.

The announcement was made possible through the 2014 Farm Bill, which builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past five years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and bleach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again. Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.
