School Board discusses plans for building renovations

By: Doug Ponder

The school board discussed a proposed list of facility renovations at the monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Superintendent David Pensol said he had met with district staff to prioritize which facility renovations need to be first on the list. He said the first three projects on the proposed list were: Mt. Vernon Elementary School, Rockcastle Adult Education Center and the athletic fieldhouse and restroom facilities at the football field at Rockcastle County Middle School.

"We created this list based on things like timing, limiting the amount of disruption for students and which projects were the most urgent," Pensol told board members. "We will have more specific details at the next meeting when we will have a presentation of the architectural drawings."

According to the facilities plan list, improvements at Mt. Vernon Elementary School include upgrading the parent pick-up loop at a cost of $187,310, a new roof, $505,262, HVAC renovation, $2,378,276, ceiling replacement, $300,939 and lighting replacement, $465,948.

Renovations at the Rockcastle County Academy and Adult Education Center include an entrance canopy, $8,250, ramp access with steps, $13,750, new entrance to the parking lot $82,379 and repaving the middle school driveways and parking lot, $205,016.

Improvements at the RCMS football fieldhouse and restroom facilities include home fieldhouse renovation, $161,875, home fieldhouse addition $296,400, visitor locker room renovation, $84,263 and visitor locker room addition, $91,260.

"We all realized that the first thing desperately needed was a roof at Mt. Vernon Elementary School," Pensol said. "It's also not a PR (public relations) issue that we are proposing renovations of the football field instead of school buildings. Those fieldhouses are in desperate need of repair. If we don't have fieldhouses we won't have football programs."

Pensol recommended the board approve the N3D Group of Lexington as the architectural firm to design the projects. He said the company's owner Scott Noel has been involved in other past facility projects for the district and knows the facilities well.

Pensol went on to say that if the board approved the N3D Group, there will be a special meeting next week to discuss and approve the architectural drawings.

The board approved hiring the N3D group as the ar-

No new business at monthly Brodhead Council meeting

By: Doug Ponder

The agenda for the monthly Brodhead Council meeting Monday night was blank.

With the exception of paying the monthly bills, there was no old business or new business on the agenda.

However, Clerk Becky Bussell had information for council members concerning the city being approved for a grant/loan from the Kentucky Infrastructure Authority (KIA) to repair the city's sewer system. The city will receive $1.2 million with $600,000 of the funding as a grant and the other $600,000 of the funding as a loan with a three quarter percent interest rate.

The city filed a project profile with the Cumberland Valley Area Development District in October 2010 in order to be able to seek loan and grant funding for repairing their sewer system.

The city's project profiles addresses their sewer and wastewater systems by completing sewer line and manhole repairs/replacements, wastewater pumping station replacement, construction of wet water flow equalization at the treatment plant, city hall lift station maintenance and a new state mandated influent meter that has to be installed at the city's sewer plant.

The second and last phase of the project profile includes doubling the city's 150,000 gallons a day sewer plant processing capacity to 300,000 gallons a day.

Bussell went on to say that construction and repairs on the city's sewer system are expected to begin in the spring of 2015.

Mayor Medley reports on sewer plant; water leaks

Livingston Mayor Jason Medley and commissioners had two meetings with the Kentucky Infrastructure Authority (KIA) last week and said, at Monday night's regular meeting, that the city had managed to get to first on the list for financial help from KIA for the city's sewer system.

Medley said it wasn't clear at this time whether the city would go for funding for a new plant or funding for improvements to get the present plant "up and running."

"We have different options but we have to be careful about the amount of any loan involved," Medley told the commissioners. "It is definitely not an option to raise water or sewer rates to finance the project," he added.

KIA had told Medley that the city's sewer rates needed to be raised from 80% of the water bill to 110% but the mayor said that was not an option.

Medley also told the commissioners that the city had been losing 47% of the water purchased from Wood Creek due to leaks. However, he said that two major leaks had been fixed in the last two weeks and that next month's bill from Wood Creek should reflect a "drastic decline." The mayor said repairing the leaks had been a "major focus" for the past several months but there was still a major leak to be repaired at the foot of Gauley Branch, as soon as weather permits. All meters in the city are also being checked. According to Medley, normal loss due to leaks is 12%.

The mayor also noted that the city has drug test kits available for parents. The kits are part of UNITE's "Give Me A Reason" program designed to help children combat peer pressure

The Way I See it

By Doug Ponder

The ideal death
Many people across the country have been broadcasting their opinions on social media about whether or not assisted suicide should be legally allowed as a choice for terminally ill people.

In a more blunt and less politically correct form, the question is should people with untreatable life-ending illnesses have the choice to legally kill themselves?

There are two terminally ill people who are being used as examples in this debate. Both people were diagnosed with terminal illnesses that doctors said couldn't be treated and both of them were only given a few months to live after being diagnosed.

Both of these people have now died but the main difference between the two was one committed suicide and the other one didn't.

The first person was a 29-year-old woman named Brittany Maynard who was diagnosed with stage 4 glioblastoma (brain tumor). She was only given six months to live after she was diagnosed with the terminal illness in the spring.

Maynard decided to move to Oregon where assisted suicide with lethal medication prescribed by a doctor is legal under the states "Death With Dignity Law." She told reporters that she decided to take her own life after she discussed with experts how her body would deteriorate and was told it would be a "terrible and painful way to die."

Hundreds of terminally ill people have chosen assisted suicide in Oregon and other states where it's legal, but Maynard's case made headlines when she launched an online campaign in hopes of expanding the "Death With Dignity Law" nationwide. Maynard said she launched the campaign to represent other terminally ill patients who "wish to die on their own terms."

Maynard's decision to take her own life has sparked a debate with some viewing it as suicide and others as "death with dignity."

The other side of the issue is 18-year-old Clayton McDonald who was diagnosed with leukemia when he was seven-years-old and was successfully treated with chemotherapy.

Unfortunately, the leukemia returned in 2008 and doctors told McDonald that the disease had become terminal, ultimately meaning there was no cure and that there was nothing they could do to save his life.

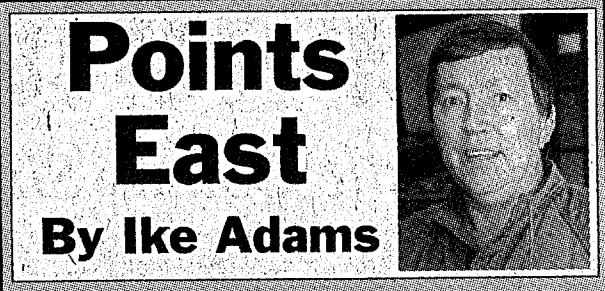

However, McDonald didn't choose to take his own life instead using his story to spread the Gospel of Jesus Christ to people by speaking at churches, schools, etc. His video testimony is on YouTube and should be a must watch for everyone.

Of course we all know how a lot of human beings handle such a debate as millions of people have judged other peoples' opinions on the issue and argued with those who don't agree with them.

Judgment has been handed down on both sides of the issue as Maynard's family members and McDonald's family members have received "hate mail" and emails condemning their decisions.

There have also been social media posts from thousands of people, mocking both Maynard and McDonald for their respective decisions. I'm not going to get into the details of all this because it could be a separate column in and of

Points East

By Ike Adams

I've been looking for a place to use this quote in a column for some time now and finally decided it's never going to fit just anywhere so I'll just make an entire column of it.

Last summer I was at a little league game where I struck up a conversation with one of my favorite preschoolers who was still too young to be out there shagging flies and we started talking about fishing because I was wearing a tee shirt emblazoned with a huge, silk-screened bass.

The young man said he loved to go fishing with his grandpa in the lake just around the bend from the ball park. I asked where his grandpa worked. Said grandson replied, "Oh he don't work at nothing 'cept his garden. Now that he's old, he's just retarded."

I tried not to laugh too loudly but I thought to myself that the late Art Linkletter would have paid good money to have my little pal on his tv show if he'd been around back in the 1960s or at least he would have used the quote in one of his "Kids Say the Darndest Things" books.

As an adult I was a huge fan of The Bill Cosby Show, particularly when he interviewed little people. Here are a few quotes made by the younger set that I recall from either a Linkletter book or from Cosby.

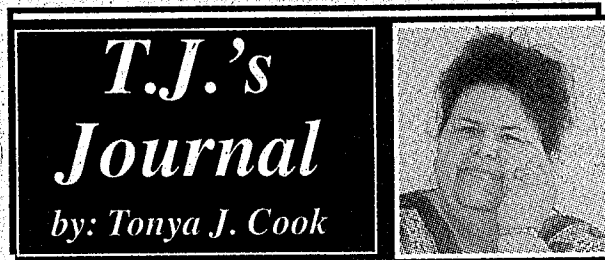

A kindergarten student told her teacher that her dad was in the hospital having an operation. The teacher asked what sort of operation? The young lady said she didn't know for sure but it was really bad and she thought "the doctors were taking out his terectomy."

"I love my Gramma because she smells like the good old days."

"Gramma did you know your underwear won't flush down the toilet?"

Asked what he learned in Sunday School that day, one little fellow said he'd found out that God named all the animals, "and guess what,

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

The Fall Foods
Dear Journal,

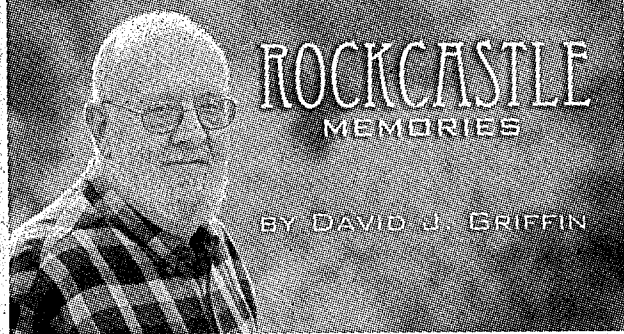

As you know, I just love this time of year. Nature seems to be preparing for a long winter's nap. The leaves always put on a spectacular show and the gardens give us some of the most delicious offerings of the year.

I remember as a child my grandma would keep a bowl of baked sweet potatoes on the table. We thought they were delicious hot or cold and made a dandy snack, with a little salt and real butter.

The pumpkins and various squash of the season are delicious, as well. What is Thanksgiving without a pumpkin pie or so? I attempted to raise some pumpkins a few years ago. I think I harvested about three or four out of a whole row. I can't grow anything but weeds.

My mom would make popcorn balls about this time of year. She often gave them out at Halloween. I can almost taste them now. She would pop several pans of the old-fashioned popcorn in a "dab" of grease, usually lard, and put the popped corn in a huge stainless steel pan she usually used for canning fruit and vegetables in the summer. She would make a syrup mixture with some fresh molasses in it. When it was done cooking, she would pour it over the popped corn and stir it around. Butter was applied to her hands, and she would make some of the best popcorn balls out of the fresh molasses anyone ever tasted. I've looked for the recipe but I can't find it anywhere.

This is the time of year

Familiar Fragrances
Isn't it amazing how certain aromas can immediately call forth memories from another time?

In a recent column written by Byron Crawford, he brought up a familiar fragrance that I remembered from my childhood. He describes a classroom of his youth: "... I remember the toasty, warm fragrance of freshly oiled pine floors and heat from old steam radiators that hissed and clanged along the walls..." The description perfectly fit the classrooms and school hallways that I experienced at Mt. Vernon High School.

As soon as I read his description, I remembered the smells of my own high school days. Those rooms and halls were kept pristine by our custodian, Charlie Hines.

As I began to consider other aromas of my youth, this topic became very personal to me. A few days ago, I was entering a local restaurant and immediately noticed the smell of freshly cooking pinto beans on the kitchen stove. In a flash I was transported back to my elementary days when my mother, Bee, cooked pintos with a ham-hock in our kitchen. Oh, the smell of those beans takes me back to my own youth.

Actually, there are several fragrances that always remind me of my mother. On a daily basis, Bee slathered Jergens lotion on her hands to keep them soft. I cannot walk into a room where that particular lotion is being used without thinking of my dear mother. Also, she probably used enough Vicks salve during my elementary years to fill a wash tub. Every time any of us had a cold, out came the Vicks. She even made us swallow a dollop when we had a sore throat, even though it distinctly said on the bottle that it was to be used topically and not to be consumed internally.

On occasion, I use Right Guard deodorant. If my wife (Kathy) is around, the next thing that comes out of her mouth is: "Junior High PE!" I understand her association with the smell in physical education classes because most of the guys at MVHS also used this particular brand of deodorant. The entire locker room smelled of this scent.

My wife and I have a rock fire-ring in our yard next to our woods. Every time we build a fire outside, I am reminded of my grandfather (Pop) because of the fires he tended in our garden when I was a youngster. He was the keeper of the fire, and I loved to assist him. That wood-burning smell will always remind me of

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Still time to help the homeless...

Dear Editor,

I have been helping my daughter collect coats, hats, gloves, scarves, blankets and socks for several months now to bring to the Homeless Shelters in Lexington on December 15th. We have decided to deliver on December 3rd. We moved the date up a couple weeks earlier.

Many good people have donated items since we started this project. We still need blankets, gloves and socks. We will be sharing with the Ashley House in Mt. Vernon for the homeless. They are in need of queen size sheets, wash cloths, towels and furniture. You still have time to give. Please call if you want someone to pick up any clean and barely used winter clothes or furniture. You may bring what you have to Daniel Boone Development in Mt. Vernon if you prefer. Please help us make this project big enough to help all who have a need. You can call us at 606-758-0277. Thanks to all who share a little and care a lot. God bless you.

Kathy Bretz
for Betsy's Project.

Thank you for Halloween on Main...

Dear Editor,

I want to take this opportunity to thank the town of Mt. Vernon for hosting the Halloween on Main event and inviting us to participate.

Yes, it was a very cold and rainy night but it was also great for me and my staff. We saw an amazing turnout of ghosts, goblins and a variety of other scary, beautiful and just downright cute trick or treaters. There was great music to go along with handing out the treats as well as martial arts demonstrations to entertain us.

The warmth of the residents really shown through as well as the pride in their home town.

A big Thank You for those who organized this event and we look forward to seeing you again next year.

"I See It"

itself.

Before I jump head first into discussing whether or not one is right and the other one is wrong, I think it's important that we all pause for a moment to realize that the topic of assisted suicide is deeper and more complicated for those who are either terminally ill, currently have loved ones who are terminally ill or have had loved ones terminally ill.

I have stumbled across several condemning comments online that fellow Christians have made in reference to Brittany Maynard's death. These people label themselves as Christians at the beginning of their comments but go on to say people who choose assisted suicide are cowardly, weak, selfish, etc. That's it, that's all they had to say in their comments.

Truth is, terminally ill people who are contemplating assisted suicide actually don't want to die. However, they know they will eventually die in a short time and are afraid of burdening their families, they are afraid of the amount of pain they might endure, etc.

These people aren't suicidal for the typical reasons such as depression, financial problems, marriage problems, drug addictions, etc. If people thinking about assisted suicide could have it their way they would all want to get better, go home and go on to live a long and healthy life.

So my question is this, should Christians witness to terminally ill people, who are thinking about assisted suicide, by just simply condemning them?

Should we walk into the hospital rooms of terminally ill people who are thinking about committing assisted suicide and throw McDonald's story in their face, insinuating that they are all selfish and cowards for not being like McDonald? What kind of message will that actually send to a lost terminally ill person that is thinking about assisted suicide?

In the end, do I personally think that assisted suicide is wrong? Yes I do. Do I think Christians should just simply condemn those who are thinking about assisted suicide and chastise their families who would be left behind in this world grieving their deaths? NO I DON'T!

I thank God for Christians who view assisted suicide as not only wrong but heart-breaking.

I thank God for Christians who are witnessing to those who are suffering terminal illnesses and encouraging them to choose medicines like morphine to ease the pain or sedate them while they die naturally instead of making the decision to take their own life.

I thank God for those Christians who are reaching out to their families with love as they grieve with them and also share the Gospel of Jesus Christ with them in the hope that they themselves will accept Him as their Savior.

Now for those Christians who are just condemning those who are thinking about assisted suicide and condemning their families. The only thing I have to say to you can be found in the lyrics of one of my favorite country music songs... "You say it best, when you say nothing at all."

"You can get away with the best stuff when we have a substitute teacher."

After getting a rose bush scratch on her cheek, a little girl was heard to say, "Oh no! My face is ruined and now I'll never get to be on American Idol because Simon will say I'm hideous".

"I didn't know ladies could have a mustache. Very cool!"

"Mommy, if those trees are naked, how come I can't see their butts?"

"Memories"

Each Thanksgiving and Christmas, I am tempted by the scent of sage being used in my brother's home. Eva now prepares our special holiday meals, and that aroma reminds me of Bee and my grandmother, Mommie Katie. They first introduced me to the use of sage as they made their famous turkey dressing. I have to admit, Eva's homemade dressing is just as delicious as any that I remember. As far as I am concerned, if she had nothing more than dumplings, dressing, and "shuck" beans, I would be completely satisfied. Those items are the staples for a holiday meal for me.

There is one more aroma that immediately takes me back to my early days: the brewing of a pot of coffee on the kitchen stove. From the time I was born, either Mommie Katie or Bee began each day with a pot of strong coffee brewing in the kitchen. Mommie Katie drank coffee all day long, so she made a huge pot as soon as her feet touched the floor in the morning. That smell permeated the entire house all day long. I think that is why I love coffee so much. I grew up with that fragrance, and it is very "homey" to me.

The sense of smell is a tremendous influence in our lives, whether we realize it or not. And it is certainly one of the things that can most capably bring our minds to another time and place. Our sense of taste is also able to bring flashes of memory - but we will leave the discussion of that observation for another day.

If you see it, report it: Help stop poaching in KY

Modern gun season for deer opens this Saturday, Nov. 8. Outdoors enthusiasts who witness any illegal hunting activity are encouraged to report it to the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

"If people have any complaints or see any violations such as trespass or poaching, they are encouraged to call 1-800-25ALERT (1-800-252-5378)," said Hank Patton, director of law enforcement for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Patton explained these calls now go through the Kentucky State Police dispatch system and are then routed to conservation officers in the field.

Poaching a deer, elk or bear is a serious crime in Kentucky. Poachers may be fined up to $1,000 and spend up to a year in jail upon conviction. Violators must also pay restitution costs for the animal poached.

"You can be assessed civil penalties in addition to restitution costs and fines," Patton said. "Poaching a deer, elk, bear, turkey or bobcat in Kentucky is a big deal."

Convicted poachers also forfeit their hunting privileges for as long as 3 years. "Kentucky is a member of the Interstate Wildlife Violators Compact," Patton said. "Loss of hunting privileges in Kentucky results in the loss of privileges in 41 additional states."

Those who witness and report someone poaching an elk may receive an award as well. "We have a program for those who report an elk poacher," said Gabe Jenkins, deer and elk program coordinator for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "They will receive a $1,000 reward upon conviction of the elk poacher."

If you see someone poaching or committing other wildlife violations, don't hesitate to report it. Actions that you take now can make for better hunting for everyone in the future.

Rockets beat Marion County in first round of playoffs

By: Doug Ponder
The Rockcastle County Rockets made it through the first round of the playoffs last Friday night beating the Marion County Knights 28-7.

Last Friday's win was the Rockets first playoff win since 2011 when they also played Marion County and won 39-8.

The Rockets were first to get on the scoreboard when freshman tailback Brent Lovell broke free for a 69 yard touchdown run. The extra point by senior kicker Tyler Langford was good giving the Rockets the early 7-0 lead.

The Rockets scored again on their next offensive drive when freshman fullback Holdan Barnett found his way into the end zone on a 5 yard touchdown run. The extra point by Langford was good extending the lead to 14-0.

Toward the end of the first quarter, Marion County finally answered when their running back Lincoln Hayden scored a 76 yard touchdown run on a sweep play. The extra point was good cutting the Rockets lead to 14-7.

Neither offense put any points on the scoreboard in the second quarter, as it proved to be a defensive battle between the two teams.

After halftime, Barnett again scored on a one yard touchdown run. The extra point attempt by Langford was no good making the score 20-7.

The Rockets put the game away in the fourth quarter after wide receiver Dylan Rowe scrambled into the end zone on a 16 yard touchdown run. The two point conversion by Lovell was good making the final score 28-7.

The Rockets were led on offense by Lovell with 11 carries for 148 yards and one touchdown. Barnett also had a big night on offense with 12 carries for 71 yards and two touchdowns.

Other Rockets picking up rushing yards were sophomore running back Devon Robinson with 25 rushes for 126 yards; Rowe with seven carries for 60 yards and one touchdown; senior fullback Isaiah Adams got two carries for 15 yards and senior fullback Chance Ansardi had three carries for 4 yards.

Sophomore quarterback Dakota Bishop was 4 out of 6 passing for 22 yards and he also had four carries for 20 yards. Lovell also attempted one pass that was intercepted by the defense.

Adams caught two passes for 11 yards and senior wide receiver Kyle Denny had two catches for 11 yards.

The Rockets defense was led by Ansardi with five tackles and two sacks. Sophomore defensive lineman Logan Coffey had four tackles and Robinson had two tackles and one sack. Senior defensive lineman Levi Coffey, Denny, junior defensive lineman Hunter Hines, sophomore defensive end Lucas Jones, sophomore defensive end Isaiah Mercer and sophomore linebacker Austin Mills were all credited with three tackles each.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said that he was pleased with both the offense and defense during last Friday night's game.

“Special teams were great, the offense dominated and the defense shut them down,” Parkey said. “The ‘filthy animals’ on the line completely dominated and set the tone early in the game. Devon Robinson also had an outstanding game on both offense and defense.”

The Rockets next game is this Friday night when they travel to Lexington to take on the Lexington Catholic Knights at 7:30 p.m.

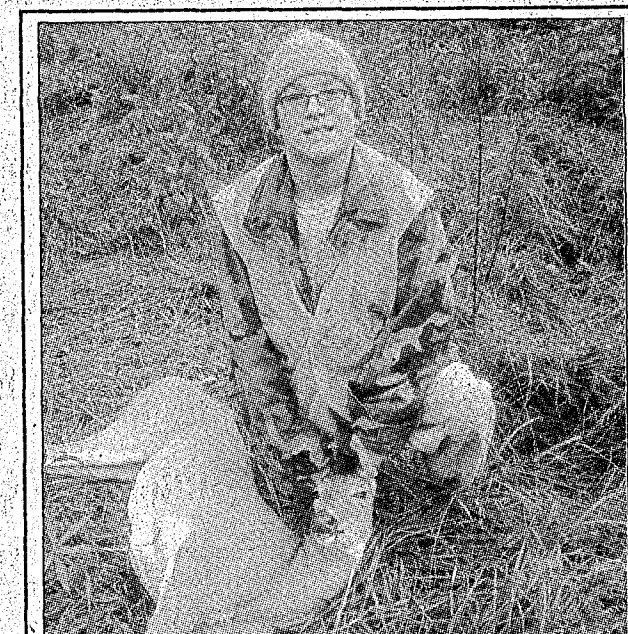

Parkey said Lexington Catholic's offense is very good and that the Rockets will have to control the ball on offense with long time consuming scoring drives in order to win the game.

“They are versatile in their ability to use their players in both the running and passing game. They are a great team but we like this matchup because our style of play will give them problems on both sides of the ball,” Parkey said. “We would like to see a big crowd follow us to Lexington. It would be a huge boost for our team to hear our fans being louder than the home crowd.”

On Saturday morning, November 8th, Sherman Cook took this 8 point during the Modern Gun season in Rockcastle County.

On Sunday, October 12th, Jacob Cook took this doe during the Youth Only hunt in Rockcastle County.

Fishing remains productive during deer season

This is the fourth installment of a series of articles titled "Fall Fishing Festival" profiling the productive fishing on Kentucky's lakes, rivers and streams in fall.

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky offers some of the finest deer hunting found anywhere, and the modern gun deer season stands as one of the most anticipated opportunities each year.

Its allure draws many anglers away from the water in November. "A lot of people start to put up their fishing gear this time of year and head for the woods," said Dane Balsman, urban fisheries research biologist with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "There are a lot of good fishing opportunities in the fall and a lot less pressure. You can have some of your best fishing this time of year."

Anglers don't have to travel far to find a productive spot.

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife started the Fishing In Neighborhoods (FINs) program in 2006 as a way to expand fishing opportunities for anglers living in the state's largest cities.

Initially limited to a handful of lakes in central and northern Kentucky, the program took off and now includes 40 lakes across the state.

In October and November, Kentucky Fish and Wildlife stocks a total of 57,000 rainbow trout in FINs lakes.

These 9- to 11-inch trout, reared at the Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery, are eager to bite and put up a fight that often belies their size. A small in-line spinner or a 1/8-ounce spoon in silver or gold are good bets. Brightly-colored dough baits formulated for trout and corn fished on the bottom or suspended under a bobber also are consistent producers.

"Pretty basic: small hook, small bait," Balsman said. "It doesn't take much."

The newest addition to the FINs lineup is the 11.6-acre lake at Reysville-Mason County Recreation Park. It joined the program this year and received its first stocking of catfish this past summer.

"It's a pretty lake with great access all the way around it," said Balsman, who added that the lake would receive its stocking of trout this month.

FINs lakes are stocked with channel catfish and hybrid sunfish in spring and summer. The bass and bluegill populations are monitored and supported with stockings as needed.

"Those other fish are still feeding pretty heavily in November trying to pack on some pounds for the cold winter months when they're not as active," Balsman said.

Daily limits for FINs lakes are five rainbow trout, four catfish, one largemouth bass over 15 inches and 15 bluegill or other sunfish.

Anglers ages 16 and older will need a statewide fishing license, unless exempt. Licensed anglers who intend to keep their trout also must purchase a trout permit. The permit is included in the Sportsman's license and Senior license.

"If you're going to catch and release trout, practice good techniques," Balsman said. "Don't use a dry towel or step on the fish to get the hook out. Try to keep it damp with your hands. If it swallows the hook, you're probably better off cutting the line."

Feeling more adventurous?

The tailwater below Lake Cumberland's Wolf Creek Dam is a year-round fishery renowned for trout, striped bass and walleye.

"The tailwater is always good," said John Williams, southeastern district fisheries biologist for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "The upper part of the tailwater from the dam to Helm's Landing or Winfrey's Ferry is better in terms of numbers of trout. As you go downstream from there you usually get some big fish. I always like fishing Helm's to Winfrey's. You have good numbers and some nice-sized fish, too."

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife biologists sampled the area within the past week and found mostly rainbows around Helm's Landing and mostly brown trout down around the Burkesville area near the KY 61 bridge. Crankbaits that imitate crawfish and minnows are effective for trout. Work either with a steady retrieve or quick jerks to entice strikes.

"We also saw some nice stripers below Hatchery Creek," Williams said, "and several walleye pretty close to the dam."

Anglers should consult the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers website at www.lm.usace.army.mil for the water release and generation schedule.

"If you like a big fish, it's probably the best place to catch a huge striper because they've got plenty to eat and the water conditions are nice and cool," Williams said. "You never see a skinny striper in the tailwater. They're always bruisers. The walleye always look nice down there. I wouldn't say there's big numbers of either one of those but there's some and they're always in good condition. The brook trout are coming on, too."

The license year doesn't end until Feb. 28, 2015, so get out this deer season, enjoy some great fishing and get your money's worth on your fishing license.

Diabetes: It's heart-felt National Diabetes Month

More than 29 million Americans—or about 9 percent of the U.S. population—have diabetes, and it is estimated that one in every four people with diabetes does not even know they have the disease. In Kentucky alone, diabetes affects more than 370,000 people. If left undiagnosed or untreated, diabetes can lead to serious health problems, including heart attack and stroke.

This November, the National Diabetes Education Program (NDEP) and are encouraging people with diabetes to "Be Smart About Your Heart: Control the ABCs of Diabetes." This is a critical message because people with diabetes are nearly two times more likely to die from heart disease or stroke than a person without diabetes.

The good news is that people with diabetes can lower their chance of having diabetes-related heart problems by managing their Diabetes ABCs:

- A is for the A1C test (A-one-C). This is a blood test that measures your average blood sugar (glucose) level over the past three months.
- B is for Blood pressure.
- C is for Cholesterol.
- S is for stopping smoking.

"Managing the Diabetes ABCs can help prevent diabetes-related heart problems such as heart attack and stroke," said Lynnett Renner of the Cumberland Valley District Health Department. "Many people with diabetes do not understand that having diabetes puts them at increased risk for having a heart attack or stroke. The NDEP has many practical resources that can help people with diabetes understand how to manage their disease, which includes managing blood sugar, blood pressure and cholesterol, and stopping smoking."

If you have diabetes, ask your health care team what your A1C, blood pressure, and cholesterol numbers are, and what they should be. Your ABC goals will depend on how long you have had diabetes and other health problems.

Please visit www.YourDiabetesInfo.org/DiabetesMonth2014 for more information about the link between diabetes and heart disease, and visit <http://cvd.healthdept.com> to learn more about activities that the Cumberland Valley District Health Department have planned throughout National Diabetes Month.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' National Diabetes Education Program (NDEP) is jointly sponsored by the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) with the support of more than 200 partner organizations.

Renfro Valley hosts 2014 Alumni Show

The Old Barn at Renfro Valley rang loudly with memories and music recently when performers from the past met once again for the 2014 Renfro Valley Barndance Alumni Show held Saturday, November 1, at Noon.

These musicians performed for many years on the Barndance and, each year, thanks to the staff at the Renfro Valley Entertainment Center, they come together once again for a show filled with fun and entertainment for the audience and filled with memories of the past for the alumni members.

The Level Green Band unselfishly donated their time and shared their excellent musical talent with the Alumni Show audience by performing for the audience and providing backup music for the alumni members. Performers from the past who were on stage included John Cosby and the Bluegrass Drifters, Earl Barnes, and Darla Cosby of Berea; "Country Charlie" Napier of Brodhead; Cathy Lavender and Vicki Simmons of Richmond; Pete Stamper, Betty Lou York, Kathee Staton, and Gwen Flannery, all of Mt. Vernon; and Hank England of Lady Lake, Florida.

The Barndance Alumni Show included special guests Courtney Arnold and Jake Vanover (current Renfro Valley cast members) of Mt. Vernon who gave outstanding performances. A note of appreciation was extended to John and Julie Enneking and the Hubert Family, owners of the Renfro Valley Entertainment Center, and to Doris Sanders, CEO, for their assistance in making the show possible.

This year's show was held in conjunction with the Anniversary Show and, therefore, the Alumni Show was dedicated to John Lair, founder of Renfro Valley whose dream came true when he opened the first Renfro Valley Barndance back in November 1939. Kathee Staton, Alumni Coordinator and Show Emcee, expressed appreciation to the audience members for "walking down memory lane" with these previous performers who spent many years on the old stage at Renfro Valley.

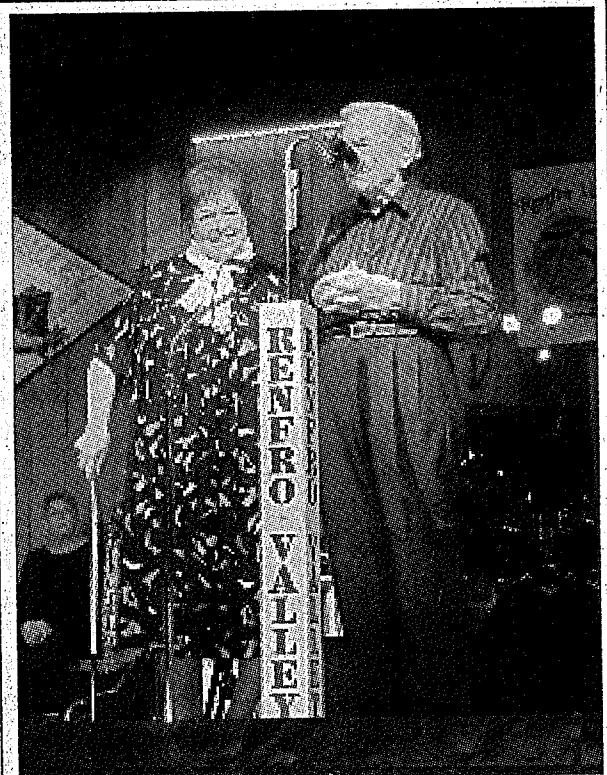

Plan now to attend next year's special weekend of events at Renfro Valley. Contact Kathee at 606-256-3776 for information on attending next year's event.

The RCHS Teenage Republicans recently had a Red, White and Blue Veterans Day 5K Run/Walk to raise money for the Wounded Warrior Project. They were able to raise $600 for the club, and $600 for the Wounded Warriors. They would like to say thank you to all the sponsors, runners, and workers who helped make the event a success. Pictured from left to right are: Teenage Republicans Club Sponsor Marcus Reppert, Club President Hope Dull, Rocket Battalion Commander and Cadet Lieutenant Commander Addison Atkin and Sergeant First Class Doug Monday.

Christopher Robbins creates brooms at Artisan Center

Christopher Robbins, of Berea, will demonstrate broom making on Saturday, Nov. 22, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

At the age of 14, Robbins began working in the Broom Shop at the Bittersweet Cabins in Renfro Valley, where he developed a love of broom making. There Robbins had the good fortune of meeting master broom maker Jim Harmon, of Springfield, who helped Robbins refine his skills and acquire the equipment needed to produce brooms.

Robbins makes all of his brooms totally by hand with the assistance of broom making equipment that is 100 or more years old. He uses a 100-year-old winder, constructed with wooden pegs, which is used to attach the broomcorn to the broom handle. His vise, which is used to hold the broom while it is stitched and tied, is dated Sept. 10, 1878.

The broomcorn that Robbins uses to make his brooms is a member of the millet family. This tall plant has woody stalks and little foliage, but looks a bit like sweet corn. It produces bristles laden with seeds rather than an ear. These bristles are processed and dried in various ways, depending on whether they will be used to produce brooms, brushes or floral arrangements.

In 2002, Robbins was juried into the Kentucky Crafted Marketing Program - one of the youngest craftsmen ever to be awarded this honor. He is also a juried member of the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen and the Sheltoewe Artisan Guild. "It feels good to be knowledgeable and able to carry on the art of such an old craft," Robbins said.

In 2010, Robbins was hired by Berea College to supervise the college's Broomcraft Program. The College Student Crafts Program is one of many labor departments and learning environments in which Berea College students work as part of their liberal arts education. Broomcraft has been a part of the Berea College Student Craft Program since 1920, when equipment from a broom factory was given to the college.

Brooms by Christopher Robbins are regularly available at the Kentucky Artisan Center, located at 200 Artisan Way, just off Interstate 75 at Berea Exit 77. The center's exhibits, shopping and travel information areas are open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and the cafe is open from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Admission is free.

The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea currently features works by more than 700 artisans from more than 100 counties across the Commonwealth.

Special exhibits on display include "Put a Lid on It: Containers by Kentucky Artisans," through Feb. 28, 2015. For more information about events call 859-985-5448, go to the center's website at www.kentuckyartisancenter.ky.gov or visit us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/kentuckyartisancenter.

The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea is an agency in the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

DEBBIE'S CHEESE SQUARES

2 boxes (8 ounces each) cream cheese, very soft
1 egg, separated
1 cup of sugar, divided 3/4 for cheese mix and 1/4 for topping
2 rolls of crescent dough
1/4 cup of cinnamon
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Preheat oven to 325° degrees. Mix together 1/4 cup of sugar and 1/4 cup of cinnamon - set aside for topping. (I like a little less cinnamon because it can get too harsh) Microwave cream cheese for 1 minute, stir. Repeat to get soft enough. Mix together softened cream cheese, 3/4 cup sugar, egg yolk, and vanilla until smooth. Grease a 9 x 13 pan (I prefer glass, I also use cooking spray to grease the pan because it's easy) Roll out 1 package of crescent dough smooth to the edges of the pan. Pour in cheese mixture and spread smoothly over dough. Roll out remaining package of crescent dough over top of the cheese mixture. It will be too small but only stretch it a little to almost fit to the edges of the pan without disturbing the cheese mixture. Take the separated egg white and beat it with a basting brush for 1 minute or until slightly frothy. Brush over the top of crescent dough. This will make the dough soft and now you can stretch the dough to the edges of the pan using the basting brush without messing up the cheese mixture underneath. Take the sugar and cinnamon topping and sprinkle evenly over the top of your cheese squares. Cook for 25 minutes at 325°. Cool and slice into squares.

Operation Christmas Child brings joy and hope to children in desperate situations worldwide through gift-filled shoe boxes and the Good News of God's love. Here is how you can pack a shoe box and make a difference in the lives of those children:

Pack A Shoe Box: Use an empty shoe box (standard size) or plastic container. Determine whether your gift will be for a boy or girl, and the child's age category: 2-4, 5-9, or 10-14, then fill the box with gifts. Some suggestions are:

- Toys (small cars, balls, dolls, stuffed animals, yo-yos, jump ropes)
- Hygiene Items (toothbrush, toothpaste, mild soap, comb, washcloth)
- Other: hard candy and lollipops, mints, gum, T-shirts, socks, ball caps, sunglasses, hair clips, toy jewelry, watches, flashlights with extra batteries

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet? Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Local singer Joey Cromer gaining more fans

Her idol is country music star Miranda Lambert, and she loves to sing along with her on "Automatic", her favorite song on Lambert's latest CD. Right now, however, she sings mostly religious songs in any venue she can.

The shy blonde who can imitate Taylor Swift and whose aim is to be a country music star is 14 year old Joey Cromer, an eighth grader at Rockcastle Middle School and who lives in the edge of Rockcastle with her parents Tom and Verna Cromer.

Joey's introduction to the world of church music began when she was a toddler. She would often be carried in the arms of minister Dewayne Carpenter while he held a microphone in one hand and sang the special music or led the congregation. From there, she grew to love the music and to perform in churches and gospel music stages. She actually began singing for customers at her dad's garage, then moved on to sing whenever she gets the chance, at churches and familiar local places like WRVK, Dari Delight and Livingston. But her dad gets animated when he tells about her singing at Ernest Tubbs' place in Pigeon Forge, the Grand Ole Opry and at Dollywood, where she was filmed.

Somehow, he thinks, the film got to Branscom, because following her performance, she received a phone call inviting her to travel there, expenses paid. However, she could not be released from school.

Joey is well known to Buddy Mullins, Michael Smith, Charlie Clontz and several other local musicians who regularly play back-up guitar for her. Joey's dad says, "She could sing somewhere every night. Everywhere she sings, she gets invited back."

One of Joey's next singing engagements is this Friday night at the RCHS auditorium where she will be one of the participants in the Rockcastle's Got Talent Show sponsored by the Livingston Lions Club.

FCCLA attend National Cluster Meeting

Last week, 19 students from the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) student organization at RCHS traveled to New Brunswick, New Jersey for the 2014 National Cluster Meeting.

This group was accompanied by their advisor, Mrs. Tammy Camel, RCHS staff member, Sherri McKinney and one parent, Megan Noel.

Students had the opportunity to network with other

FCCLA students from across the nation while attending general sessions, leadership workshops, and college/career exploration tours.

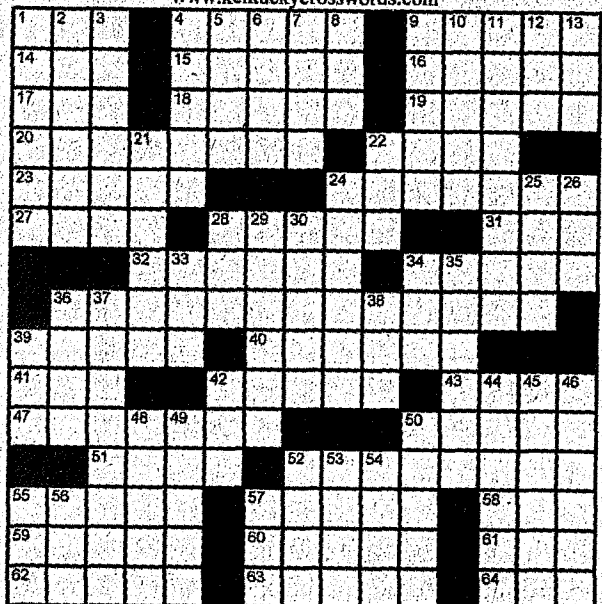

Keynote speaker, Daniel Seddiqui, shared his experience working 50 jobs, in 50 states, in 50 weeks. With his venture across America, he learned to embrace rejection and with that, made some great discoveries, and found direction he would never have imagined.

Finally, the trip was completed by sightseeing for a day in NYC!
