Livingston Fire Department responded to a house fire last Saturday near the intersection of South Upper River Road and Red Hill Road in Livingston. Authorities say the house was abandoned and belonged to Mike Arnold. The cause of the fire remains unknown. LFD was assisted by the Mt. Vernon Fire Department, Climax Fire Department and Western Rockcastle Fire Department. The house was included in the original purchase last year of land for the City of Livingston by the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court. However, the house was later carved out of the deal and the fiscal court approved the purchase of 43 acres of land, adjoining the home for $40,000. The land was purchased for expansion of Trail Town activities for the City of Livingston.

Gibbs hired as animal control officer

Court adopts Right-To-Work ordinance

A special meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court was held last Thursday afternoon and two main items of business were conducted.

The court held the final reading of the Right-To-Work ordinance and it was adopted unanimously. County Judge/Executive Doug Bishop remarked on its passage, "This is another tool for us to acquire jobs that we desperately need. Half of our workers drive out of the country and this will encourage manufacturers to look at us."

The other main item of business was to hire an animal control officer. The vacancy was created by the retirement of Buck Farthing at the first of the year.

Winter weather issues discussed at monthly RCIDA meeting

By: Doug Ponder

Several items of interest were discussed at the monthly Rockcastle County

Industrial Development Authority meeting on Monday including updates on Rockcastle County industrial park projects and recent winter weather issues affecting the industrial parks.

RCIDA Executive Director Holly Hopkins said that employees at the SourceHOV building weathered Winter Storm Octavia the best they could and only experienced minor delays. She said the Rockcastle County Highway Department fulfilled their obligation of treating industrial park roads and parking lots.

Hopkins said the winter storm did delay the Rockcastle 911 center from moving into the new Emergency Operations building in February. County Judge Executive Doug Bishop, also in attendance at the meeting told the board that the 911 center was expected to be moved in the building by February, 17th but that the original move-in date was delayed because of the winter storm.

Hopkins also provided an update on the former Anchor Packaging building. She said Winter Storm Octavia also delayed several projects and meetings with potential clients who were interested in the vacant building.

"We had to cancel the drone pictures as a result of the winter storm and they will likely be rescheduled in mid-March," Hopkins said. "I still have several inter-

Another major winter storm expected to roll into Rockcastle

By: Doug Ponder

Meteorologists are watching another major winter storm system that is expected to move into the state this week bringing rain, sleet, and snow.

According to the latest report for Rockcastle County from the National Weather Service, there was a 100 percent chance of rain Wednesday with a high of 49 and a low of 18.

The rain was expected to change to sleet and freezing rain around 11 p.m. Wednesday night. The sleet and freezing rain was then expected to be mixed with snow, becoming all snow after 2 a.m. and throughout the day on Thursday (today).

Meteorologists anticipate the winter storm to bring anywhere from 5 to 10 inches of snow to Rockcastle County

Farmers/Business Banquet rescheduled for March 17th

The 55th annual Rockcastle County Farmers/Business Banquet will be held at Rockcastle County Middle School on Tuesday, March 17th at 6:30 p.m. with doors opening at 6 p.m.

The event was originally scheduled to take place last Monday but was cancelled due to the winter storm.

Michael Lewis will be the guest speaker at the banquet. Lewis is the Executive Director of the Growing Warriors Project and vice-president of Freedom Seed and Feed.

Everyone is invited to attend the event. Tickets are $18 each and dinner will be catered by the Limestone Grille.

Tickets can be purchased from the Rockcastle County Conservation District office, Mt. Vernon IGA or Circuit Court Clerk Eliza York's office.

State of the County address rescheduled for March 24th

The annual "State of the County" address has been rescheduled for Tuesday, March 24th at noon at Community Trust Bank on Hwy 461 in Mt. Vernon.

The event, sponsored annually by the Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce, was originally scheduled for February 17th but had to be cancelled as a result of the recent inclement weather.

The event will feature a State of the County address by County Judge Executive Doug Bishop.

There will also be State of the City addresses by Mt. Vernon Mayor Mike Bryant, Livingston Mayor Jason Medley and Brodhead Mayor Walter Cash.

Everyone is invited to attend the free event and lunch will be provided.

Three arrested for meth possession

Three people were arrested for meth possession in two separate incidents this past week.

In the first incident, a Mt. Vernon woman was arrested for meth possession last Thursday night after police responded to a complaint at a local grocery store in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Amanda Bradley, 35, of Mt. Vernon.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, officers originally responded after receiving a complaint of an intoxicated woman at the store.

Once officers arrived, they said Bradley appeared intoxicated while performing field sobriety tests. She also told officers that she

A major snow system is currently moving across the state bringing rain, sleet, freezing rain and snow to the county. The photo above was taken Wednesday morning at the the Town Branch Apartments on Crawford Street in Mt. Vernon and shows leftover snow from Winter Storm Octavia two weeks ago. Local Weatherman Bud Cox had already recorded .96 inches of rain at 8 a.m. in Mt. Vernon Wednesday morning. Meteorologists expect the rain to turn into sleet and freezing rain around 11 p.m. Wednesday night, according to the National Weather Service. The sleet and freezing rain is expected to become all snow around 2 p.m. on Thursday (today). The winter storm is anticipated to bring anywhere from 5 to 10 inches of snow to Rockcastle County.

Points East

By Ike Adams

I learned, yesterday, that one of the newspapers that carry this column is getting a new editor. That news always leaves me a bit apprehensive as to whether or not the new person will continue to carry Points East. I'm not sure why I worry about it because, over the years, the column has survived more editor changes than I can count on all my fingers and toes.

In fact, now that I think about it, not one single paper has the same editor, today, as it had when the column began running in that publication. One paper has had at least 8 changes in the top dog of the newsroom since I've been around and a few editors have not lasted long enough for me to even get acquainted with them.

I was 30 years of age when this thing started as a letter to the editor of the London, KY, Sentinel Echo more than 35 years ago. Then editor, Charles House, ran in his weekly column, in late 1979, a list of ten or so pieces of Appalachian Kentucky slang language and invited readers to respond as to what they meant.

I don't recall the entire list, but I was the only person who responded correctly to the answer for "rocking chair" which is a term old timers used for unemployment insurance payments. In other words, if you got laid off at the mine, and somebody asked where you were working, you simply told them that you were "in the rocking chair right now, and you didn't intend to go back to work until the chair stopped rocking."

As I recall, I used each term in a complete sentence, similar to the last one in the previous paragraph. A couple of weeks went by before Charles called me at my office and asked if I was the guy who had written the letter to the editor in response to his hillbilly terminology piece. When I affirmed my guilt, he told me it was running in the paper that week and asked me if I'd be interested in "writing something like that on a regular basis? We'll even pay you", he said.

I didn't tell Mr. House that I would have done it for nothing, such was my inflated ego way back then. But I did stick my neck out and asked him if I could type it up in the newsroom on my lunch break. I almost always did the first draft in cursive longhand at home, but it needed to be retyped and I didn't have a personal typewriter at the time. Since I am the only living person who can read my cursive handwriting, the column had to be made legible so that another typist at the paper could retype it to fit the layout.

There were no computers or even readily available fax machines in those days. So, for the first couple or three years,

I would dash into the newsroom around noon and whip out the column on an old Royal manual typewriter. There was only one electric typewriter in the newsroom and it was almost always busy. Another person or 3 was in line for it when the current user had his or her task completed.

The paper hit the press on Wednesday evenings and I quickly discovered that Thursday was the best day to find an unoccupied desk with a typewriter on it because the newsroom seemed like a pretty good place to get killed, or at least run over, if I so much as poked my head in any earlier in the week.

For the first fifteen years, "The Sentinel" was the only paper that carried the col-

"Service" Stations

While Kathy and I were headed to Winchester for lunch one day, we pulled onto the Bert T. Combs Mountain Parkway and almost immediately a light on the dash indicated that one of my tires was low. Aggravated, I thought, "Where in the world am I going to find a gas station that will sell me some air?" Since the temperature outdoors was only eight degrees, I was not concerned that my tire was actually going flat. (The pressure sensors in my tires are so sensitive that even a slight change in the temperature may light them up.)

As soon as we arrived in Winchester, I started looking for a gas station that I thought would have an air hose. I drove to three different stations before finding one that even had air "for sale," which, of course, I had to get out into the weather to operate myself. As it turned out, the station charged me $1.00 for ten pounds of air. They also tried to sell me an air pressure gauge for $10.95. Oh, what I would give for a real service station!

Don't you miss them? Do you ever think about how service stations actually provided automobile assistance back in our time? My dad owned and operated a service station on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon when I was a beginning driver. He let me work a few days each week in order to pick up spending money for my '58 Chevy. I began washing the windows while he pumped the gas and checked the oil and water under the hood.

Daddy was what everyone now calls a "people person." He spent a great deal of time talking to his customers while he was pumping gasoline. They loved the attention, and soon he had a thriving business. His station became one of those spots where men would gather to hang out, smoke, chew, and even whittle. Daddy sold cold soft drinks, cigarettes, and a small assortment of snacks.

There were lots of different services available at Daddy's service station. He offered: oil changes and grease jobs, minor tune-ups, new and used tire and repair, mufflers and tail pipes, brakes, and even wash jobs and detailing. He hired one man just for his mechanical skills. Daddy and I took care of oil changes, wash jobs, and tires. We stayed very busy.

I will never forget a particular week in the summer of 1961. Daddy's sister, who lived in Ohio, became seriously ill, and he had to let me run the station while he went to be with her. I took this as a challenge, and I not only ran the business but also decided to clean the place up as a surprise for Daddy. I took all the supplies off the walls and dusted everything in the station. I painted the curbs, cut the grass, washed the windows, and even painted the men's restroom. That was one of the hardest weeks of my young life. I did manage to make some money selling gasoline, and I washed a ton of automobiles. Daddy was extremely surprised when he returned. He had no idea that I was going to "spruce up" the station.

One of the reasons that I always keep my vehicles so clean is because I had a key to the station and could come in late at night to wash and wax my car. One night I pulled my car onto the lift and hosed down the undercarriage. I had the bottom of my car so clean that you could see yourself in the reflection. I simply never got out of the habit of frequently washing my car. I truly miss real service stations, don't you? But the days of pulling your car into a station and just telling the attendant what you need are long gone. Never to return, I'm sure.

As a matter of fact, the entire idea of catering to a customer and doing everything possible to please him seems to have vanished in modern times. No matter what kind of business, the concept of serving one's clientele has gone by the wayside.

It's a shame, really — for all of us, no matter one's age or station in life. It was a way of living that seemed to maintain a general kindness amongst people — a mark of a civilized society. I miss service stations, not just for the mechanical services available but for all of the friendly banter between us that was also a part of the experience. But we have gas stations now rather than service stations. Even though younger people don't know the difference, we old codgers well remember those good old days.

You can contact me at themtman@att.net or you can drop me a line at 2167 Furnace Road - Stanton, KY 40380. I appreciate your comments and suggestions.

SB 76: Helping schools guide our youth

Submitted by Kent Ostrander, The Family Foundation. Clearly, any transgender student deserves all the protection and care to which any other student is entitled, but breaching the right of privacy of all other students in restrooms, locker rooms and shower rooms to satisfy that particular student's request is a step too far.

State Senator C.B. Embry's Student Privacy Act (Senate Bill 76) provides a framework to accommodate transgender students while respecting the rights and safety of all students. Last year, Louisville's Atherton High School embraced a California school policy that allows a transgendered student to choose the restroom or locker room of their choice. One concerned parent concluded the obvious, "The concerns of one student are

Hunting the Elusive Red Osmus Dear Journal,

What a winter this has turned out to be. The last month has been horrid with all of the snow and freezing temperatures. We had about fourteen inches of snow and a few nights down below zero.

I remember when I was a little girl during cold, snowy winter days at my Grandpa and Grandma Norton's house. They always seemed to have a thousand stories from years gone by to tell. I attribute being raised by them, at least in part, to liking old things and lifestyles. I've always thought I was a soul born out of an era that I belonged. Mom, a single mother, my brother and I, lived next door to them so they had a lot of influence on me. On wintry days we would sit around and they would share these old stories. My grandpa would often tell of his boyhood days growing up in Wadd, a section of Rockcastle County.

Wadd was a small community with a great portion of its land being owned by this or that member of the Norton family. From time to time, a new family might relocate there but they were always made welcome.

It seems that one time a new family had moved to the area and there was a young man, probably in his mid-twenties, in this family. My grandpa, some of his brothers, other Norton men and some of the local men decided to welcome this boy to the area. Now, they really didn't mean the boy any harm, but given the era, entertainment was at a minimum.

One day the new boy wandered into the local general store where the other men were already gathered with their plans already half concocted. He walked in and the plan went into effect. "Umm-boy, I'd sure like to have some good red osmus. 'Not had any in a long time," said one of the men. "I saw some red osmus tracks just last week up on the ridge," said another. "We really ought to go up there some night and catch us a dozen or so of them red osmuses." "It's going to be a full moon tomorrow night and with this snow on, it would make the tracking easy." "Them osmuses make some fine eatin'," said a third.

By this time, the new boy was enticed by their plan and didn't require much encouragement to go on this venture. The next night came along with a full moon, and about four or five inches of snow. All the men met and headed out for the ridge with their rifles, lanterns, and a few good hunting dogs.

They hiked a mile or so and sure enough, they came across some red osmus tracks that led into kind of a little cave. "Quick, somebody hand me a stick," one man said. He was handed a stick and hurriedly reached into his pocket, getting a handful of his wife's red hair that he had cut earlier in the evening. Hurriedly, and while the boy's attention was diverted, he poked the stick into the little cave, jabbing, poking, and twisting the stick as he was overcome with excitement.

In Loving Memory

Ralph Thomas

In Remembrance
 In loving memory of my youngest brother Ralph Thomas who went home to be with the Lord
 May 6, 2014.

March 2nd would have been his 46th birthday.
 Dancing In The Sky
 Tell me what does it look like in Heaven?

It is peaceful, is it free like they say?
 Does the sun shine bright forever?
 Have your fears and your pain gone away?
 Cause here on earth it feels like
 Everything good is missing
 Since you left
 And here on earth
 everything's different
 There's an emptiness

(chorus)
 I hope you're dancing in the sky
 And I hope you're singing in the angel's choir
 And I hope the angels know what they have I'll bet it's so nice up in Heaven since you arrived.

So tell me what do you do up in Heaven?
 Are your days filled with love and light?
 Is there music, is there art and invention?
 Tell me are you happy?
 Are you more alive?
 Cause here on earth it feels like
 Everything good is missing
 Since you left
 And here on earth
 everything's different
 There's an emptiness
 (Repeat chorus)

Rockcastle Regional joins effort to promote patient safety awareness

In an effort to raise awareness and encourage the engagement of patients, families, health care providers, and the public, Rockcastle Regional Hospital & Respiratory Care Center announced today its participation in the 2015 Patient Safety Awareness Week campaign, "United in Safety."

Patient Safety Awareness Week, March 8-14, 2015, is an annual education and awareness campaign for health care safety led by the National Patient Safety Foundation (NPSF). Each year, health care organizations around the world take part in the event, creating awareness in their community and among their staff.

In recognition of Patient Safety Week, Rockcastle Regional Hospital will engage staff, patients, and the community through educational and awareness-building activities specific to patient safety science and practice.

This year's theme, "United in Safety," highlights how everyone in the health care process plays a role in delivering safe care and that by uniting together and sharing that common goal, we can make a difference in patient safety. From patients and family advocates to care providers, from the front lines to senior leadership — we are all united in the goal of keeping patients and those who care for them free from harm.

"At Rockcastle Regional, we have built an environment that is obsessed with safety," said Traci Bullens, RN, patient safety coordinator. "A great example of this are our daily safety huddles, which were implemented in January 2014. Every morning, seven days a week, our management team begins their day to discuss any existing or potential safety issues, and then report these back to their departments. By doing this, we are able to anticipate safety issues before they arise, create a solution, and ultimately avoid potential patient harm."

A focus of this campaign is patient engagement and emphasizing the importance of the relationship between providers, patients, and their families. Enhanced communication begins with an informed and engaged patient, which at the end of the day helps lead to safer care.

To promote patient engagement and communication at Rockcastle Regional, nurses round on patients during their stay to ensure all their needs are being met and that they have the best experience possible.

"As a patient, one thing that you can do to promote safety and improve communication is to complete any surveys you receive asking you to rate your experience during your hospital stay," said Cindy Burton, RN, chief nursing officer at Rockcastle Regional. "The information you provide on these surveys is important as it gives us feedback on every aspect of the care we provide — allowing us to continually improve patient care and safety.

Another way Rockcastle Regional promotes transparency and the engagement of their patients is through the online patient portal.

"When patients and their families are engaged in their own care, it leads to better health outcomes. The online portal allows our patients to view health records online both during and after their hospital stay. Ultimately, it helps to empower patients to manage their own health and care plan, along with their physician and nursing team," said Maleigha Amyx, director of information technology at Rockcastle Regional.

If you are interested in learning more about the steps Rockcastle Regional Hospital takes to ensure patient safety, or would like to take a tour of the facility, please contact Traci Bullens at 256-7762 or Jana Bray at 256-7880.

For additional information on Patient Safety Awareness Week, please visit www.npsf.org/psaw.

"Points East"

umn. By 1985, Charles House had moved to greener pastures and I, too, had moved away from London. I purchased a personal IBM Selectric, which to this day, I believe to be the best typewriter ever invented. I commenced writing the column at home and sending it to the paper via US Mail.

In 1986, I began getting inquiries from other papers, offering to cut a deal if I would allow them to run Points East.

I called Al Smith, the owner/publisher of the paper at that time. The paper also owned the title, Points East, because originally I was only one of several writers who contributed to a page that bore that name.

Anyway, Al told me that he didn't care who I sold it to as long as it was not another paper serving Laurel County and he also told me I could keep the name.

Now that I think about it, I have never once tried to sell this column. The papers that carry it all made the initial contact. I've lost a couple along the way when papers changed ownership but never for a change in editors. I'm not going to say which paper is getting a new editor because it is not yet public news. However, if you don't see me here in a week or so, call the paper and tell em you want me back.

He withdrew the stick, and there on the tip was a big clump of red osmus fur. Then he got a lantern and looked into the darkness. "Oh, yes, boys. There must be at least two or three dozen big, fat red osmuses in the nest, but we've scared 'em toward that back." All osmuses have a back door for such occasions, you know.

"Well boys, we'll have to go 'round back and flush 'em out. We'll need one man to stay here and shoot 'em as they come out." They all agreed that the new boy should have the honor to shoot the first one. They left him there to guard the hole and they sneaked back home to hot coffee and warm beds. They didn't know exactly how long the new boy stayed, waiting for the appearance of the first elusive red osmus.

The actual text of the bill lays forth the common-sense reasoning that forms its foundation. It recognizes that "[s]chool personnel have a duty to protect the dignity, health, welfare, and privacy rights of students in their care." It also acknowledges that "[c]hildren and young adults have natural and normal concerns about privacy while in various states of undress, and most wish for members of the opposite biological sex not to be present in those circumstances." These truths are undeniable.

Currently, schools have no legal obligation to open restrooms, locker rooms and shower rooms to biologically opposite-sex students. Senate Bill 76 allows schools to have secure choices — an administrator can do nothing, can provide a single-user bathroom, can provide a uni-sex restroom or can allow the student to use the faculty facilities. The one thing SB 76 disallows is putting students of the opposite biological sex in the same restroom, locker room or shower room at the same time.

While Atherton's desire to respond with sensitivity is admirable, the policy violates other students' privacy rights. Regardless of a student's sexual inclination, the privacy of other students cannot be compromised.

It is time the General Assembly give schools the needed guidance and options to handle such matters. The Student Privacy Act creates a safer environment for transgender students while also honoring the privacy of other students.

To oppose this bill is to place the new gender politics before the privacy of students.

BIG ON COMMITMENT.

had taken a Xanax.

After searching Bradley's purse, officers found a metal tube containing two suboxone strips, one Xanax and a small baggie of methamphetamine.

Bradley was charged with possession of a controlled substance (methamphetamine), possession of a controlled substance, public intoxication and illegal possession of a legend drug.

She was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where she was later released on a $5,000 10% bond.

In the second incident, two people were arrested for meth possession on Tuesday after officers made a traffic stop on West Main Street in Brodhead.

Arrested at the scene were Sabrina Brumagen, 27 of McKee and Charles York, 52, of Crab Orchard.

According to state police reports, officers made a traffic stop on a suspicious vehicle traveling on West Main Street in Brodhead.

As officers approached the vehicle, they saw Brumagen place something in her mouth. Officers said that Brumagen and York were both passengers in the vehicle. The driver was not arrested but was cited for a minor traffic violation.

According to the report, Brumagen and York appeared intoxicated while performing field sobriety tests.

While searching the vehicle, various drug paraphernalia items were found under the seat where Brumagen was sitting in the vehicle. Brumagen admitted to officers that a needle found under the seat contained meth and that she swallowed a pill while officers were approaching the vehicle.

Officers also found marijuana inside York's socks at the time of his arrest. Officers had received information that York had meth on him and he told officers that he swallowed the meth before officers approached the vehicle.

Both Brumagen and

York were charged with possession of a controlled substance (methamphetamine), tampering with physical evidence and public intoxication. Brumagen was separately charged with drug paraphernalia and York was separately charged with possession of marijuana.

Brumagen and York were both lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center and both were later released on $5,000 unsecured bonds.

ested parties for the building. One person had to cancel because his flight was cancelled because of the snow storm. The snow stopped everything.”

Hopkins shared with the board that the fiscal court recently held the second and final reading of the Right-To-Work ordinance and adopted it unanimously. She said Rockcastle County is now one of 10 counties that have adopted the ordinance and several other counties are considering the ordinance or have passed their first reading of it as a result of the state's Right-To-Work law not making it out of the state House.

Bishop said that he had received two phone calls in opposition to the ordinance. Hopkins said that she only received one phone call from someone in the county against the ordinance.

In final action, board member Corey Craig reminded the board about establishing term limits for RCIDA board members. He asked that members think about the issue so they can discuss and possibly vote on it at a future meeting.

The shows in the Old Barn Theatre are also scheduled to begin next month. Rouse said the first show in the Old Barn will be Friday, April 10th with a “Tribute to the Legends” show at 7 p.m.

After the opening show, Rouse said the current weekly schedule for the Old Barn is the “Tribute to the Legends” show every Friday at 7 p.m. On Saturday, she said the “Gospel Jubilee” show will take place at 3 p.m. followed by the World Famous Barn Dance show at 7 p.m. Rouse said the Renfro Valley 50s Show will start on Thursday, May 7th at 7 p.m. and it will take place at the same date and time each following week throughout the season.

Rouse said that tickets for headliner concerts and Renfro Valley shows will go on sale next week. For more information visit www.renfrovalley.com or “like” Renfro Valley Entertainment Center's page on Facebook. For tickets and other information call 1-800-765-7464.

Rouse said Renfro Valley will not be holding their annual open auditions this year. However, she said they might hire more Renfro Valley Entertainers once the season is underway.

Rouse went on to say that the Renfro Valley Shopping Village will be open to the public during the season and that the Historic Lodge Restaurant is currently not open but expect it to open at a later date.

Rumors have also been spreading across the county that Renfro Valley had been sold. Rouse said that Renfro Valley has not been sold and that the owners and staff are excited about opening for the 76th season.

“Court”

There were 19 applicants for the position and 13 of those showed up at last month's fiscal court meeting to introduce themselves to the court.

On the first vote, by written ballot, there were two votes cast for Richard Gibbs, two for Doug Prewitt and one for another applicant. The results of that vote were not made public except to say that there was a tie between two of the candidates. Bishop was then asked to vote to see if his vote would break the tie but, as it was for a different applicant than any of the first three, the magistrates were then asked to vote to break the tie between Gibbs and Prewitt. On that vote, Gibbs got three votes to Prewitt's two.

As with all new hires, Gibbs was placed on a six-month probation period and his starting salary will be $1,000 month.

During the meeting, the court also approved payment of several claims for snow removal during the recent storm. The claims total $9,695 and ranged from one for $60 to Clifford Collins to one for $6,360 to Leger Construction.

“Weather”

depending on when the freezing rain and sleet completely changes over to snow. Rockcastle County was under a Winter Storm Warning at the time of publication.

CSEPP Director Hal Holbrook said that this winter storm has everyone in the county's emergency management department on edge as it includes too many “ifs” and it is simply “unpredictable.”

“We don't know for sure what we will get this time and that's what is scary about it,” Holbrook said. “But we do know we will get some type of precipitation whether it be water, ice or snow.”

Holbrook said that Rockcastle Countians need to make sure they are prepared to stay in their homes for an extended period of time depending on the conditions. He said people also need to be prepared for power outages and water outages.

“People need to have more than enough groceries, packaged water, medicines and all those necessities before this storm hits,” Holbrook said. “Rain and snow is fine but if we get an abundance of ice it will be bad. People need to make sure they have a non-electrical source of heat like fireplaces, kerosene heaters or whatever it may be because there is a possibility we might lose electric.”

Holbrook went on to say that the local volunteer fire departments in the county are always on stand-by to help in their respective communities during winter storms. However, he said nothing can take the place of the preparations made by each person or family.

“It's important for everyone to know their local fire department's phone number as well as 911. Those numbers can be found in the phone book or online,” Holbrook said. “But nothing takes the place of each person or family taking the necessary precautions, staying tuned, planning all they can and staying off the roadways unless it's absolutely necessary.”

The American Red Cross also offers the following tips during major winter storms: Always keep a working flashlight, charged cell phone, battery powered radio or TV, extra food and water, first aid supplies, heating fuel and other emergency heating sources.

“Robbery”

The clerk complied and handed the two men an unknown amount of cash. The two men then fled the store and it's unknown whether they fled on foot or in a vehicle.

Once officers arrived, they searched for the two men in the surrounding areas but could not find them.

One male is described as wearing a black coat, black ski mask, black gloves and armed with a handgun. The other male is described as wearing a brown coat with a black hood, black ski mask, black gloves and armed with a knife.

State Police Trooper Brian Maupin is in charge of the investigation and if you have any information regarding the robbery please call the Kentucky State Police at 606-878-6622 or 1-800-222-5555.

NASA astronaut to speak at Somerset Community

Christopher J. Cassidy, an astronaut with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) will be a guest speaker on the campus of Somerset Community College (SCC) on Thursday, March 19, 2015. The event, which is part of the college's 50th Anniversary Speaker's Series, is free and open to the public. Cassidy will be speaking at 7 p.m. in the Meece Hall auditorium and a free, public reception will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Meece Hall lobby. The title of Cassidy's presentation is "International Space Station Expedition 36."

Meece Hall is located on the SCC Somerset North campus, at 808 Monticello Street in Somerset.

About Christopher Cassidy

Cassidy was born on January 4, 1970 in Salem, Massachusetts, although he considers York, Maine his hometown. He and his wife Julie, are the proud parents of three children.

Cassidy graduated from York High School, York, Maine and completed Naval Academy Prep School in Newport, Rhode Island. He received a Bachelor of Science in Mathematics from the U.S. Naval Academy and a Master of Science in Ocean Engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Prior to his career with NASA, Cassidy served for ten years as a member of the U.S. Navy SEALs Team, achieving the rank of Captain in the U.S. Navy. He made four six-month deployments: two to Afghanistan, and two to the Mediterranean. Cassidy served as executive officer and operations officer of Special Boat Team Twenty in Norfolk, Virginia, and SEAL platoon commander at SEAL Team THREE in Coronado, California. He deployed to the Afghanistan region two weeks after September 11, 2001, served as ground assault force commander for international and U.S. only combat missions in Afghanistan, and led two months of noncompliant shipboardings in the Northern Arabian Gulf. He was SEALs delivery vehicle platoon commander at SEAL Delivery Vehicle Team TWO in Norfolk, VA. He accumulated more than 200 hours underwater as pilot/navigator/mission commander of a two-man flooded submersible SEAL Delivery Vehicle (SDV), which is launched and recovered from a host-ship submarine. He also served as dry deck shelter platoon commander at SEAL Delivery Team TWO in Norfolk, VA.

In 2004, Cassidy was selected as an astronaut by NASA. In February 2006, he completed Astronaut Candidate Training that included scientific and technical briefings, intensive instruction in shuttle and International Space Station systems, physiological training, T-38 flight training, and water and wilderness survival training. Completion of this initial training qualified him for various technical assignments within the Astronaut Office and future flight assignment as a mission specialist. From 2006 through 2008, he served as Capsule Commander (CAPCOM) in the Mission Control Center. During his NASA career, Cassidy completed six spacewalks, totaling 31 hours, 14 minutes and accumulated 182 days in space. He is currently in charge of the EVA branch within the Astronaut Office.

Space Flight Experience
Cassidy was part of the STS-127, International Space Station Assembly Mission 2/JA, aboard Space Shuttle Endeavour which took place July 15, 2009 through July 31, 2009. The mission delivered the Japanese-built Exposed Facility (JEM-EF) and the Experiment Logistics Module Exposed Section (ELM-ES) to the station. The crew completed the construction of the KIBO Japanese Experiment Module, installed scientific experiments on its exposed facility and delivered critical spare parts and replacement batteries to the orbital complex, in addition to transferring 24,638 pounds of hardware and 1,225 pounds of water to the station.

While the shuttle was docked to the station, the mission featured a record 13 astronauts working aboard the station representing all five space station partners: NASA, the Russian Space Agency, the Canadian Space Agency, the European Space Agency and the Japanese Space Agency. Cassidy performed three spacewalks totaling 18 hours and 5 minutes. The mission was accomplished in 248 Earth orbits, traveling 6,547,853 million miles in 15 days, 16 hours, 44 minutes and 58 seconds.

In his second mission, Cassidy and Russian cosmonauts Pavel Vinogradov and Alexander Misurkin launched from the Baikonur Cosmodrome in Kazakhstan to the International Space Station for Expedition 35/36, lasting from March 28, 2013 to September 11, 2013. The three crew members were the first to complete an expedited trip to the station - instead of taking the standard two days to rendezvous and dock, they arrived at the orbiting complex in less than six hours. Cassidy, Vinogradov and Misurkin were welcomed to the space station by Chris Hadfield of the Canadian Space Agency, Tom Marshburn of NASA and Roman Romanenko of Roscosmos. The crew members saw the arrival of the European ATV-4 cargo spacecraft, the Japanese HTV-4 cargo spacecraft and two Russian Progress resupply spacecraft. The trio also worked on hundreds of research experiments and science investigations that will have benefits for future human spaceflight and life on Earth. Cassidy conducted three spacewalks during his 166 days aboard the station. During the expedition, the crew completed 2,656 Earth orbits and traveled more than 70 million miles.

Honors and Awards
Cassidy is a member of several professional and honor organizations, including the following: U.S. Naval Academy Alumni Association; Massachusetts Institute of Technology Alumni Association; Fraternal Order of Underwater Demolition Team (UDT)/Sea, Air, Land Team (SEAL) Association. As a volunteer, Cassidy completed a week-long, 180-mile charity kayak paddle from Norfolk, VA to Washington, D.C. to raise money and awareness for the Special Operations Warrior Foundation.

His special honors include: Honor graduate of Basic Underwater Demolition/SEAL (BUD/S) Class 192; awarded the Bronze Star with combat 'V' and Presidential Unit Citation for leading a nine-day operation at the Zharwar Killi cave complex - a national priority objective directly on the Afghanistan/Pakistan border; Quest speaker at the U.S. Naval Academy Combat Leadership Seminar, 2003, 2004; awarded a second Bronze Star for combat leadership service in Afghanistan, 2004; and NASA Exceptional Achievement Medal.

Cassidy will be speaking on the campus of Somerset Community College on Thursday, March 19 at 7 p.m. in Meece Hall Auditorium. The event is free and open to the public. A special student-focused event will be held at 2 p.m. the same day. To learn more about other events in the SCC 50th Anniversary Speaker's Series, visit scc50.org.

Senate Page...

Evan Hendrickson, an 8th grade student at Rockcastle Middle School, recently served as a Senate Page, after being selected by the Family Resource and Youth Services Coalition of Kentucky. Evan wrote an essay about how his Youth Services Center serves his school. By serving as a page on the Senate floor, Evan was able to get a first-hand view of how government works. Evan has been involved in KUNA/KYA since 6th grade and, this past year, during KYA, he ran for the executive committee and was elected President of the Senate. Besides KUNA/KYA, Evan is involved in the UNITE Club, Leadership Team and RCMS football team and track. He is the son of Chris Hendrickson and Angie Hendrickson of Mt. Vernon.

Rockcastle Community Scholarship Committee Fundraiser

Surprise, YOU HAVE BEEN FLAMINGOED!

A fundraiser is being conducted by the Rockcastle Community Scholarship Committee and Flocks of Pink Flamingos may gather upon your property to roost.

Rockcastle Community scholarships benefit our Seniors of Rockcastle County High School. A donation can be designated to be made to one of the following scholarships: Community, Wayne Stewart, Eric Ponder or Gatliff Craig. These scholarships are possible only because of the generous donations we have received in the past.

Please check the options that apply and call one of the contacts below to remove these pesky, but very lovable, pink birds:

I appreciate the flocking but am not able to donate funds at this time.

I wish to donate $_____ to have the flamingos removed.

Any donations are appreciated. Donations are tax deductible and benefit our own Rockcastle County High School Seniors.

In addition to the above donation (min $25), I would like to suggest the following person as the next surprise flocking victim.

Name _____
Address _____
Phone: _____
Email: _____

Ask about our Anti-Flamingo insurance

Donations can be made to any of the scholarships with checks payable to the Rockcastle Community Scholarship Fund P.O. Box 1046 Mt. Vernon, KY 40456. If you would like to donate by credit or debit card email or text Tammy Clontz at 859-200-5642 or tclontz@b2bcfo.com.

For more information, or to make a donation to have pink flamingos delivered to a specific location, please call or text Tammy Clontz 859-200-5642.

Lady Rockets and Rockets fall in opening round of districts

Both the Lady Rockets and Rockets played in their respective opening games of the 47th District Tournament, and the results were the same with both of them losing out in the first round.

The Lady Rockets, who held the first seed in the tournament, played the Somerset Lady Rockets in the opening round, a team they had beaten twice in the regular season.

However, it was not to be last Wednesday night as Somerset jumped out to an early 18-10 first quarter lead due, in part, to seven turnovers by the Lady Rockets, half of what they had for the entire game.

In the second quarter, the Lady Rockets did manage to get within one at 26-25 but Somerset then outscored the Lady Rockets 7-2 in the final minutes for a 33-27 halftime lead.

The Lady Rockets came back in the third quarter to tie the score at 38 all but turnovers and missed shots by the Lady Rockets spurred the Briarjumpers to a 10-0 run for a 48-38 third quarter margin.

That was as close as the Lady Rockets would get the rest of the game and Somerset advanced by a score of 61-50.

Leading scorer for her team was sophomore Hope Kelley with 12; senior Alaina Coguer had 11; junior Morgan Renner and sophomore Mahala Saylor got 8 each; junior Ashley McKinney scored 6; sophomore Jayna Albright got 3 and sophomore Emme Barker scored 2.

Three Lady Rockets were named to the All-Season 47th District Team. They were: Ashley McKinney, Mahala Saylor and Jayna Albright.

The Rockets were the fourth seed in the tournament and had to play the first seed, Pulaski County, in the opening game of the boys tournament Thursday night.

The Rockets were behind 10-15 at the end of the first quarter but fought their way to within one point at 24-23 in the second quarter. However, the Maroons then went on a 13-0 run for a 36-23 halftime lead.

Late in the third quarter, a basket by senior Sam Pensol pulled the Rockets within 8 but that was as close as the Rockets would get as the Maroons advanced in the tournament by a score of 69-58.

Sophomore Carson Noble led the scoring with 20 points; Pensol got 18; sophomore Lucas Gentry scored 9; senior Dakota Hasty got 5; junior Dylan Rowe scored 4 and senior Blake Mullins 2.

Named to the boys 47th District All Season Team were Sam Pensol and Lucas Gentry.

Senior Alaina Coguer applies the defensive pressure during the Lady Rockets first round loss to Somerset in the 47th District Tournament held last week. Coguer scored 11 points in the losing effort.

Senior Sam Pensol goes for two of his 18 points in the Rockets first round loss of the 47th District Tournament to the Pulaski County Maroons.

Sophomore Hope Kelley works around a Somerset defender in the Lady Rockets first round action of the 47th District Tournament. Kelley led the Lady Rockets in scoring with 12.

Sophomore Carson Noble drives to the basket in the Rockets first round action of the 47th District Tournament. Noble led the Rockets in scoring with 20.

Sophomore Mahala Saylor drives to the basket for the Lady Rockets in their loss to Somerset last Wednesday night.

Sophomore Lucas Gentry works for a shot in the Rockets loss to Pulaski County last Wednesday night.

The RCHS cheerleaders led the student section in cheers and support for the Rockets and Lady Rockets.

RCHS and RCMS Track results at Mason County

The RCMS girls' and boys' track teams both won at Mason County on Saturday. The RCHS girls' track team also won a close meet defeating powerhouse Louisville Central by a score of 80.5-78.

7th grader Victoria Dotson scored 22.5 points to lead the RCHS girls' indoor track team to an 80.5 to 78 victory over a very talented field of teams including runner-up Louisville Central, Bryan Station, St. Henry, and Dixie Heights. Tori won all of her events easily, dominating both the 1600 (5:39.4) and 3000-meter runs (11:35.09) and also running lead leg on the 4 x 800-meter relay team that finished way ahead of the field with a great time of 10:58.36.

RCHS sophomore Sierra Mercer scored an impressive 20.5 points to help lead the RCHS girls' indoor track team to a close victory over a talented field of competitors including many of the best teams in the state. Sierra placed 3rd in the 400-meter dash with the fastest time ever at Mason County for an RCHS competitor in the event. Her time of 1:04.1 was over a second faster than the previous fastest time for an RCHS girl. She followed that shortly after with an awesome back-to-back performance in the 800-meter run, coming from behind to claim first place down the stretch with an awesome season's best time of 2:35.49. Sierra also ran anchor leg for the winning 4 x 800-meter relay team (10:58) and lead leg on the second place 4 x 400-meter relay team that finished with a season's best time of 4:33.71. RCHS sophomore Jennifer Mercer had several outstanding performances for the girls' team. Jennifer placed 3rd in long jump with an awesome leap of 15'0". In the 55-meter dash, she placed 11th with a fast time of 8.01 seconds. Her best performance came in the 55-meter hurdles. After a tough fall during the hurdle race the last time she competed at Mason County, Jennifer bounced back with an awesome new all-time personal best effort, placing 9th overall in 10.02 seconds. She also ran a great anchor leg of the 2nd place 4 x 400-meter relay team that finished with a season's best time of 4:33.71.

The RCHS girls' 4 x 400-meter relay team ran an awesome race placing 2nd overall with an exceptional new season's best time of 4:33. Their exceptional performance sealed the close victory over Louisville Central, giving them the edge in the team standings with a final score of 80.5 to 78. Team members included Sierra Mercer, Autumn Courtney, Katie Hensley and Jennifer Mercer.

RCHS freshman Grant Isaacs had great performances in the distance events for RCHS. In the 1600-meter run, Grant ran an awesome all-time personal best, finishing 11th overall in an impressive time of 5:20.34. His best race came in the 3000-meter run where he finished 5th overall with an awesome time of 10:58.29, another RCHS sophomore Katie Hensley had great performances in both long and triple jump for RCHS. In triple jump, Katie finished 3rd overall with an impressive jump of 31'2.5". In long jump, she placed 2nd with an awesome jump of 15'1". Both performances were close to indoor season's bests. She also ran a great 3rd leg of the 2nd place 4 x 400-meter relay team that finished with a season's best time of 4:33.71.

7th grader Autumn Courtney had several great performances for RCHS. In the 55-meter hurdles, Autumn ran an all-time personal best finishing 15th overall with an awesome time of 10.66 seconds. In triple jump, she placed 8th overall with a great jump of 28'9". She followed that with a solid 7th place finish in long jump with an exceptional jump of 14'2". Autumn also ran a great leg of the girls' 2nd place 4 x 400-meter relay team that finished with a season's best time of 4:33.

8th grader Kensi Sheffield and RCHS sophomore Lanna Prewitt had great performances in the distance events for RCHS. In the 4 x 800-meter relay, Kensi ran a great leg of the race helping the team dominate the competition with a great winning time of 10:58. In the 1600-meter run, she finished 18th overall with an impressive time of 6:42.11. Lanna nearly ran a season's best time, finishing 11th overall in an impressive time of 6:23.77. In the 3000-meter run, Lanna finished 8th overall with an awesome time of 13:21.97, her second best this season, while Kensi finished 12th overall with a great time of

Why buying your fishing license is important

It is the time of year anglers must make an investment in their future fishing. Current 2014-2015 fishing licenses expire this weekend. If you plan to fish on or after March 1, you'll need a new fishing license.

A Kentucky resident annual fishing license sets you back $20. This isn't as cheap as it was 20 years ago, but it is still a great bargain for all you receive in return.

"We do not receive General Fund state tax dollars for our funding," said Jeff Ross, assistant director of fisheries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "Our funding is reliant on license sales and the federal monies that go along with them. The anglers of Kentucky fund the fisheries division."

For each fishing license sold, the federal government sends monies back to Kentucky from excise taxes on fishing tackle, trolling motors, electronic sonar units for boats, commonly called fish finders, and boat motor fuels.

The Federal Aid in Sport Fish Restoration Act is the legislation empowering the collection of monies and dispersal back to the fisheries divisions of state wildlife agencies across the country. Originally passed by Congress in 1950, the Wallup-Breaux Amendment to the Federal Aid in Sport Fish Restoration Act expanded the base of monies in 1984.

"It is a user pay and user return system," Ross said. "The anglers pay the money up front and they get it back in what our fisheries division does to benefit fish populations across Kentucky." Funding from fishing license sales powers the annual stocking of over 5.5 million fish in Kentucky waters.

These monies fund the operation of the two hatcheries that provide fish for the Fishing in Neighborhoods stockings of bass, catfish, bluegill and trout.

"Without these hatcheries, several popular sport fish species such as hybrid striped bass wouldn't exist in Kentucky," Ross said.

These hatcheries provide the fish to sustain the world class muskellunge fishing found in Cave Run, Buckhorn and Green River lakes. The same goes for the fantastic walleye fishing found in our reservoirs such as Laurel River Lake or Lake Cumberland.

These monies also provide for the scientific management of the state's fishery resources, the construction and maintenance of boat ramps and other fishing accesses such as carry-down canoe launch areas.

"These funds pay for fish habitat work, lake renovations and studies designed to better manage fish populations," Ross said. "It provides money for maintenance of our smaller state-owned lakes."

This money benefits future biodiversity in Kentucky as it helps fund the restoration of fish species such as lake sturgeon and alligator gar. The fisheries division assists in the recovery of negatively impacted fish populations.

Funding from the sale of Kentucky fishing licenses facilitated the planning and construction of Cedar Creek Lake, Kentucky's only lake managed for trophy largemouth bass.

Not everyone has to purchase a fishing license. Kentucky residents fishing a pond or lake on land they own don't need a fishing license, but their guests, and even blood relatives, must have a valid fishing license. Dependent children and tenants who live and work on the land also are license exempt if they are fishing a pond on the land on which they live.

Those who live outside of Kentucky, but own land here, must still purchase a fishing license if they plan to fish a lake or pond on their land. A general rule of thumb about residency: if you don't possess a Kentucky driver's license, then you are not a resident.

Anglers under the age of 16, military personnel on furlough for more than three days, those participating in Free Fishing Days in June and visitors fishing inside the boundaries of Mammoth Cave National Park also don't need a fishing license. People fishing at pay lakes need either a valid fishing license or a permit issued by the pay lake operator.

Those who intend to keep trout or plan to fish the Cumberland River below Wolf Creek Dam must purchase a $10 trout permit. Kentucky residents certified as disabled or those 65 or older get their fishing license and trout permit with the $5 senior/disabled license.

A great deal is the resident combination hunting and fishing license for $30, a savings of $10 if bought separately. A resident one-day fishing license costs $7, while the same license for non-residents is $10. An annual non-resident Kentucky fishing license runs $55.

Remember to buy your fishing license if you plan to fish after this coming Sunday, March 1. You may purchase your fishing license in person at tackle stores, in the sporting goods section of major department stores and at county clerk offices across Kentucky. You may also buy a fishing license 24 hours a day by calling 1-877-598-2401 or online at the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website at fw.ky.gov.

Atkin receives President's Volunteer Service Award

Addison Atkin, 17, a student at Rockcastle County High School, has been honored for his exemplary volunteer service with a President's Volunteer Service Award.

The award, which recognizes Americans of all ages who have volunteered significant amounts of their time to service their communities and their country, was granted by The Prudential Spirit of Community Awards program on behalf of President Barack Obama. Rockcastle County High School and the Junior ROTC program nominated Addison for national honors this fall in recognition of his volunteer service.

Addison has been very active in the community for most of his life. Currently, he has over 330 community service hours along with the Junior ROTC program. "Serving and helping others is a passion of mine," Addison stated. "It will always be a focus in my life and my future career."

"There really is no higher calling than to help those in need when they need the help," said Captain Jeffrey Thompson. Captain

Thompson is the Senior Army Instructor for the Junior ROTC program at Rockcastle County High School. This organization stresses the importance of community service and the benefits of the projects.

The Prudential Spirit of Community Awards, sponsored by Prudential Financial in partnership with the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), recognizes middle level and high school students across America for outstanding volunteer service.

"The recipients of these awards demonstrate that young people across America are making remarkable contributions to the health and vitality of their communities," said John Strangfeld, chairman and CEO of Prudential Financial. "By recognizing these students and placing a spotlight on their volunteer activities, we hope to motivate others to consider how they can also contribute to their community."

"Demonstrating civic responsibility through volunteerism is an important part of life," said

NASSP Executive Director JoAnn Bartolotti. "These honorees practice a lesson we hope all young people, as well as adults, will emulate."

Prudential Spirit of Community Award applications distributed nationwide last September through middle level and high schools, Girl Scout Councils, county 4-H organizations, American Red Cross Chapters, YMCAs and HandsOn Network affiliates. These schools and officially-designated local organizations nominated Local Honorees, whose applications were advanced for state-level judging. The Prudential Spirit of Community Awards selected State Honorees, Distinguished Finalists and Certificate of Excellence recipients. Volunteer activities were judged on criteria including personal initiative, creativity, effort, impact, and personal growth.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) is the leading organization of and voice for middle level and high school principals, assistant principals, and school leaders from across the United States and 35 other countries around the world. The association connects and engages school leaders through advocacy, research, education, and student programs. NASSP advocates on behalf of all school leaders to ensure the success of each student and strengthens school leadership practices through the design and delivery of high quality professional learning experiences. Reflecting its long-standing commitment to student leadership development, NASSP administers the National Honor Society, National Junior Honor Society, National Elementary Honor Society, and National Association of Student Councils. For more information about NASSP, located in Reston, VA, visit www.nassp.org.

Prudential Financial, Inc. (NYSE:PRU), a financial services leader, has operations in the United States, Asia, Europe, and Latin America. Deadline extended for CSP

USDA's National Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) recently announced that the deadline for producer applications for the Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP) has been extended to March 13, 2015.

While CSP is a continuous sign-up program and producers can apply to enroll at any time of the year, NRCS applies a cut-off date for applications to be considered during a particular fiscal year. Once the cut-off date is past, producers may continue to apply for the program, but they will not be considered for entry until the spring of the following year, in this case spring of 2016. In order to enroll in 2015 applications must be filed by March 13.

"We hope more farmers and ranchers will take advantage of this extension for the CSP application deadline. To meet this deadline, they just need to submit the basic application form to their local NRCS office," said Traci Bruckner, Assistant Director of Rural Policy at the Center for Rural Affairs.

According to Bruckner, the Conservation Stewardship Program is a voluntary stewardship incentives program, administered by NRCS, designed to reward farmers, ranchers, and foresters for maintaining existing conservation, as well as for the adoption of additional conservation measures that provide multiple environmental benefits that run beyond the farm or ranch. This program pays producers for clean water, better soil management, improved habitat, energy efficiency, and other natural resource benefits. Since the program began in 2009, nearly 70 million acres of farm and ranch land have been enrolled in the program.

To sign up, producers should visit their NRCS local service center (<http://offices.sc.egov.usda.gov/locator/app?agency=nrscs>).

Bruckner is encouraging farmers, ranchers and others to call the Center for Rural Affairs' Farm Bill Helpline to share their experiences, both positive and negative. "We know the previous sign-ups have yielded some great success stories for farmers and ranchers, but also some disappointments and frustrations."

"We want this program to work for all farmers and ranchers employing conservation-based farming systems, and firmly believe the CSP is a step in the right direction for policy to financially reward historical commitments to conservation, as well as encourage further adoption," Bruckner continued. "This is a far better approach than paying to clean-up problems."

"One of the main goals for our Farm Bill Helpline is to identify the strengths and weaknesses of programs such as the CSP," said Bruckner. "It is only with that information that we are able to push for any needed changes and improvements."

Producers can also receive guidance for applying for other conservation programs. "Through our helpline you will speak to someone who is knowledgeable about the program rules to help you understand how to participate in the program," Bruckner added. Producers can call (402) 687-2100 and ask for the Farm Bill Helpline or send an email to tracib@cfra.org.

The American Revolutionary War Patriots of Rockcastle

By Karen Hamm Adams

To celebrate and honor the county's American Revolutionary War Patriots and to enlighten the community about the service and sacrifice of these brave men, on behalf of the Rockcastle Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have compiled highlights of the service of the known patriots living in the county and who applied for a pension between the years of 1818 and 1842. All information was taken from the patriot's own account from his pension application and other historical documents. More information can be found on each patriot at the local library or the Rockcastle Historical Society. (Copyright Pending). If you are interested in joining the Daughters of the American Revolution or the Children of American Revolution, please contact Debbie Brown (606) 758-8659 or Iris Young (606) 256-2851.

Azariah Martin Virginia

Azariah Martin was born about 1764 in VA and died 15 April 1834 Rockcastle County KY. According to his pension application, Martin gave the following account of his service on 27 August 1832 in Clay Co. KY at the age of sixty-eight. Azariah entered the service in 1780 in Amherst County, VA, volunteering in the militia and was stationed at Amherst Court House under Ensign Jonathan Reid to guard deserters, who had belonged to General Horatio Gates' Army in the south. He continued his service as a guard for two months. In the fall of 1780, he volunteered in a company commanded by his uncle, Azariah Martin from North Carolina for the purpose of cooperating with General Nathaniel Green. He marched about thirty miles to the Tye River where his company met General Daniel Morgan's Riflemen who had taken prisoners at the Battle of Cowpens (17 January 1781). Azariah's company took charge of the prisoners and marched them to Amherst Co. VA where they handed them over to the Rockingham and other militia and taken to Manchester, VA.

In February 1781, Azariah was a volunteer under Captain James Dillard in Colonel Hugh Rose's Regiment and was marched from Amherst County to Troublesome Iron works and continued for some time with General Green in North Carolina.

He was finally discharged at Ramsey's Mill on Deep River in Chatham Co. NC. Azariah marched home to Amherst Co. in late May or the first of June. After being home about three or four weeks, he volunteered under Captain James Barrett, who was at that time in the Continental Line. The Regiment was commanded by Colonel Hugh Rose. They marched down by Richmond where they joined General Lafayette and fought in the Battle of Jamestown (Green Springs Plantation on 6 July 1781). He continued with the Army until a few days before the surrender of Cornwallis (19 October 1781), when in consequence of ill health he obtained leave of absence and returned home. Azariah served in the Army in different tours of duty for a total of about eleven months.

Azariah married Lucy Rodes 20 April 1791 in Amherst Co. VA. They moved to Kentucky about 1791 or 1792. He was awarded his government pension on 27 August 1832. He died 15 April 1834 in Rockcastle Co. KY. His final resting place is unknown. Lucy applied for and received a widow's pension on 23 February 1840, while living in Madison Co. KY. According to their pension applications, Azariah and Lucy reared a family of six children. They were: Moriah Martin (23 April 1799 Madison Co. KY- 27 May 1863 Caldwell Co. MO) married Levi Walters (1796-1852) on 2 June 1817. Levi died from Cholera. She is buried at the Tinney Grove Cemetery in Ray Co. MO. They had eleven children: Perlina, Malinda, Mary Ann, Robert, Woodum, Lucinda, Martin, Liberty, Jefferson, Nancy and William. Milton Martin (1805 Madison Co. KY- 9 February 1876 Jackson Co. KY) married Rebecca Roberts on 3 May 1828 Clay Co. KY. They had three children: Caleb, Azariah and Henry. His second marriage to Nancy Isaacs about 1835. They had seven children: Caroline, Mariah, Liberty, Van Buren, Mary, Margaret and Lucy. Third marriage to Martha Jackson about 1847. Littleberry Martin (1806 Madison Co. KY-after 1870) married Margaret Baker 10 September 1841. Merritt Martin (1809 Madison Co. KY-after 1880 Madison Co. KY) married Nancy Baker. They had six children: William, Elizabeth, Lucy, Cassinda, Isabella and Jerry. Liberty Martin (About 1810 Madison Co. KY-After 1880) married Elizabeth Cox in 1840. They had five children: Austin, Josiah, Lucy, Eliza and Jennie Harris.

Azariah Martin is a recognized Patriot of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

•USDA Provides One-Time Extension of Deadline to Update Base Acres or Yield History for ARC/PLC Programs

•Farmers in KY Now Have Until March 31 to Update Yields and Reallocate Base Acres; Deadline for Choosing Between ARC and PLC also Remains March 31

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced recently that a one-time extension will be provided to producers for the new safety-net programs established by the 2014 Farm Bill, known as Agriculture Risk Coverage (ARC) and Price Loss Coverage (PLC). The final day to update yield history or reallocate base acres has been extended one additional month, from Feb. 27, 2015 until March 31, 2015. The final day for farm owners and producers to choose ARC or PLC coverage also remains March 31, 2015.

If no changes are made to yield history or base acres by March 31, 2015, the farm's current yield and base will be used. A program choice of ARC or PLC coverage also must be made by March 31, 2015, or there will be no 2014 payments for the farm and the farm will default to PLC coverage through the 2018 crop year.

Nationwide, more than 2.9 million educational post-cards, in English and Spanish, have been sent to producers, and over 4,100 training sessions have been conducted on the new safety-net programs. The online tools, available at www.fsa.usda.gov/arc-plc, allow producers to explore projections on how ARC or PLC coverage will affect their operation under possible future scenarios.

Covered commodities include barley, canola, large and small chickpeas, corn, crambe, flaxseed, grain sorghum, lentils, mustard seed, oats, peanuts, dry peas, rapeseed, long grain rice, medium grain rice (which includes short grain rice), safflower seed, sesame, soybeans, sunflower seed and wheat. Upland cotton is no longer a covered commodity.

To learn more, farmers can contact their local Farm Service Agency county office. To find your local office visit <http://offices.usda.gov>.

Next FSA County Committee Meeting Date: March 11th, 2015 8:00 A.M. at the Mt. Vernon USDA Service Center.

The Rockcastle County FFA Officers visited the office of Danetta Allen, County Court Clerk, to promote the AG Tag program. Last year, this program generated over $170,000 for Kentucky FFA, assisting them with things such as attending FFA Camp and going to FFA Conventions. Rockcastle County Extension Office

Once again 4-H and FFA have an opportunity to raise funds for Rockcastle County and Statewide Youth programs through the Ag Tag Voluntary Donation Program. All farm license plate voluntary donations will be split evenly among 4-H, FFA, and the Kentucky Proud Program. And over the past years these donations have helped 4-H, FFA, and the Ky Proud programs grow.

Farmers can make the voluntary donation of $10 when renewing their farm license plates at the County Clerk's Office in March.

Part of the AG TAG donations stay in Rockcastle County funding programs and activities that teach children and teens about leadership, citizenship, science and technology, communications, public speaking, agriculture and more. Farmers are encouraged to make an investment in our youth! Making the voluntary $10 donation is an excellent opportunity for our agriculture community to support youth of our community and help fund the programs that can make a lasting difference in their lives.

Also included herein is a 2009 Clayton 32 X 52 River Run Mobile Home with VIN#RSO.

This being a portion of the same property conveyed to Garry Frith by deed dated August 10, 1993, and recorded in Deed Book 153, page 302 and further conveyed to Joshua Frith, unmarried, by deed dated April 29, 2009 and recorded in Deed Book 226, Page 133 both in the Office of the Rockcastle County Clerk.

The property shall be sold on the following terms & conditions:

1. The real property and mobile home shall be sold together as a whole.
2. The real property shall be sold for cash or upon a credit of thirty (30) days with the purchaser required to pay a minimum of ten percent (10%) of the purchase price in cash on the date of sale and to secure the balance with a bond approved by the Master Commissioner.
3. The bond shall bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum until paid in full. The bond shall have the force and effect of a judgment and shall be and remain a lien upon the property sold as additional surety for the payment of the purchase price.
4. Unpaid delinquent State, County and/or City ad valorem taxes shall be paid from the proceeds of the sale.
5. The purchaser shall pay the 2013 and all subsequent local, county and state property taxes.
6. Full satisfaction of the plaintiff's judgment shall be paid from the proceeds of the sale.
7. The purchaser shall have possession of the real property upon compliance with the terms of the sale.
8. In the event that the plaintiff is the successful bidder and the sale price does not exceed the amount of the plaintiff's judgment, no deposit or bond shall be required.
9. The sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back line, restrictions or covenants or record or otherwise and shall be sold "as is."

Money Tips for Students

Students should learn about credit scores

Students should be familiar with credit scores, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

Your credit score is a three-digit number that has a long-lasting effect on your buying power. When you apply for credit, your credit score will be checked. The higher your credit score, the better the chances you will be approved.

Although there are several scoring methods, the most widely accepted form comes from the Fair Isaac Corporation, or FICO. Your FICO score ranges from 300 to 850. The exact formula that Fair Isaac uses is proprietary information, but these items make up your credit score:

•35 percent of your score is based on your payment history. Early payments will have a higher number than on-time payments, which will have a higher score than late payments.

•30 percent of the score is based on outstanding debt. This outstanding debt is how much you owe on car loans, mortgages, credit cards, etc. The number of credit cards you have and if those cards are near the maximum borrowing limit will hurt your score.

•15 percent of the score is based on the length of time you have had credit. The longer you have been borrowing money and paying it back in a timely manner, the better your score.

•10 percent of the score is based on new credit. If you have opened several new accounts, that will have a negative effect on your score. Also, the more inquiries on your credit report in a year, the lower your score.

•10 percent of the score is based on the types of credit you currently have. It helps to have a mix of loan types. If you have a credit card, an installment loan will even the credit out.

An encouraging word:

An Event That Re-Directs

By Howard Coop

As friend often do, a group of us met. One member of the group did not look as happy as usual. So, in a light-hearted way, another member of the group asked, "What in the world is wrong? You look like you have lost your best friend."

After a pause, our sad looking friend responded, "I'm worried," and the quick retort was, "Why worry? Don't you know it's not good for you?"

Worry is an exceedingly common experience of everyday life. At one time or another, many folk have worried, and they have worried about many things. Worry has been defined as "An emotion...experienced as anxiety or concern about a real or imaginary issue." It is a powerful emotional experience of uneasiness and dread that has demonstrable results in almost every area of life.

Did you ever hear someone say, "Worry doesn't accomplish anything?" Well, that isn't true. Worry does accomplish something, but it always accomplishes that which has no good results. Leo Buseaglia put it interestingly when he said, "Worry never robs tomorrow of its sorrow, it only saps today of its joy." Dale Carnegie put it another way, "Our fatigue is often caused not by our work, but by our worry." Then, Dr. Charles Mayo said, "Worry affects the circulation, the heart, the glands, the whole nervous system, and profoundly affects health," and Marion Rawson Vuillemeir, in her book Meditations by the Sea, suggests that worry means "to tear apart." And in some cases, worry does tear life apart. It has a devastating impact upon every area of life.

Financial Aid Tip of the Month Take FAFSA verification process seriously

The federal government requires colleges to verify the information submitted by many students on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

The FAFSA is the form used to apply for most federal and many state student aid programs. It asks detailed questions about the income and resources of students and their parents if the students are considered dependent students. Students are considered dependent if they are undergraduate students under 24 years old; not married, have no dependents of their own, are not veterans or were not orphans or wards of the court until age 19.

The college or, in some cases, an agency working with the college will contact students to let them know if their data is being verified.

Students and parents need to take that process seriously, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA). Students chosen for verification cannot receive their financial aid until they have completed the process.

If students have decided not to attend a college that asked them for verification, they should let the college know so it will stop requesting information.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES), need-based grants and other programs to help students pay their higher education expenses.

Mamaw's Kitchen

By Regina Poynter Hoskins

In 1995 Will and I decided that I should temporarily move to Kentucky so I could spend more time with my mother while she was recovering from the heart attack. I found jobs to help support the two households Will and I were keeping. Since money was so tight, I created this version of Chilaquilies—a dish that we enjoyed often when we lived in Mexico. It is inexpensive, easy and quick, not to mention tasty and nutritious when served with the salsa. This became my favorite meal after a long hard day at two jobs or just a day of running around visiting family.

REGINA'S CHILAQUILIES

2 tablespoons vegetable or olive oil
1/2 onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
2 cups tortilla chips or hard taco shells, crumbled
Leftover cooked chicken or pork, optional
2 eggs, lightly beaten with fork
1 and 1/2 cups Mexican blend cheese, shredded Pour oil into a large non-stick skillet. When hot, add the onion. Cook until tender and slightly browned. Add the garlic and cook another 2 minutes or so. (Garlic burns easily so watch carefully.) Add chips. If desired, add the cooked chicken or pork. Stir to coat with oil, onions and garlic. Cook for about 2 minutes more. Add eggs. Cook until eggs are done. Turn off heat, but leave skillet on stove. Add cheese, stir until melted. Serve with your favorite salsa. Serves two.

FRESH TOMATO SALSA
1 sweet onion, chopped
Cilantro - if desired
1 clove garlic, minced
2 large tomatoes, chopped
Juice of 1 lemon
1 small can black olives, sliced, optional
1 jalapeño or pickled banana pepper, minced
Salt

Mix all together. Home grown tomatoes are the best for this, but cherry or grape tomatoes work well.

KRISTIE'S CABBAGE SALSA

Jeff (Kristie's husband) and I worked at Atlantic Credit Union in Malvern, Pennsylvania.
Head of cabbage, shredded
1 or 2 cloves of garlic, finely minced
1 jalapeño finely, chopped
Juice of 1 or 2 limes
1 red onion finely, chopped
5 to 7 plum tomatoes, seeded and chopped
Cilantro to taste
Mix everything together. Add salt to taste. Add the chopped jalapeño to taste.

SOLUTION TO KY671

Bible Talk

Our study this month will be on the 2 Covenants, Old Testament and the New Testament.

Old Testament- Comprises the books of Genesis to Malachi. It is inclusive of the Patriarchal age and the Mosaic age. In the Patriarchal age, it was the time when the fathers ruled in the religious realm. Men such as Adam, Noah, Abraham, Job, etc. were the leaders in the religious worship as they served God. The Mosaic age began at Sinai when God made covenant with the Israelite nation and gave him his law under Moses, Ex.19-20. The law of Moses was a national law for one nation, Israel. All the various laws and statues that governed the Levitical priesthood and tabernacle worship (and later the Temple) were given by Moses.

New Testament- Comprises the books Matthew through Revelation. Jesus preached and prepared people for the gospel age during his lifetime, Heb.2:3-4. The New Testament became binding after his death, Col.2:14, Heb.9:17, and began to be preached in its fullness starting in Acts 2 on the day of Pentecost. The gospel is a universal law for all nations, Mt.28:19, Lk.24:47. Now it is important for us to see that we are obligated to follow New Testament law, not Old Testament law. Consider this text in Matt.17:1-9 where we read about the transfiguration of Jesus. Notice vs.2-3, "And was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light. And, behold, there appeared unto them Moses and Elijah talking with him." Now Moses and Elijah represent the law and the prophets. Now let's notice a very important point from verse 5, "While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him." What did God say? Hear ye THEM? No! Hear ye HIM! God says we are to listen to Jesus. The problem with a lot of folks is that they want to listen to Jesus AND Moses and the prophets of the Old Testament. Beloved we are obligated to follow the New Testament teachings, the words of Christ, God's beloved Son. Other texts also point out that we are under the law of Christ, not the law of Moses, Heb.8:6-13, Rom.7:1-4, 2Cor.3:6-12. If we fail to make the distinction of the Old Testament and the New Testament, we are bound for all kinds of troubles in understanding and practice. "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." 2 Tim.2:15. May we rightly divide the word of God on this topic of the covenants.

Frankfort Report.....

By Jared Carpenter,
State Senator

As we approach the final days of the 2015 Legislative Session, we have worked diligently to complete our consideration of Senate bills while also vetting legislation that has been passed by the House. We will begin considering several additional House bills next week and, on Monday, the Senate plans to pass the first bill to receive the approval of both legislative chambers.

A major focus for both chambers this week was the approach to combat heroin in the Commonwealth. The House's measure was presented in the Senate Committee on Judiciary on Wednesday, and our Senate Bill 5 was discussed in the House Judiciary Committee on Thursday; both were informational hearings only.

It is imperative that we find common ground on this legislation and make an impact on the heroin epidemic that has plagued so many Kentuckians over the past few years. As the Senate president stated, this session will be judged on whether or not heroin legislation is passed. The fact that both chambers had informational hearings is a positive step in protecting Kentucky families.

While heroin continues to be the focal point, plenty of other significant bills passed this week. From technical changes and statutory updates, to legislation that was the fruition of years of work, the Senate continued to move bills with the intent of creating Kentucky jobs and strengthening Kentucky families.

Legislation that creates jobs, incentivizes entrepreneurship, improves infrastructure, and grants greater access was passed this week with bipartisan support. Senate Bill 168 creates a funding mechanism to deploy grants and incentives, better known as "SOAR," an acronym for "Shaping Our Appalachian Region." This is a 501C nonprofit corporation that would provide aid to Eastern Kentucky coal counties that have taken a significant economic hit as a result of the war on coal.

The Senate also passed Senate Bill 110, which would create a new opportunity for Kentucky's students by translating education into jobs. The bill enables Kentucky high school juniors and seniors who have performed well and earned scholarship money through the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES) program, to take up to six hours of dual credit courses from an accredited college or industry-recognized program offering certification of licensure in a skilled trade.

In order to improve awareness regarding child abuse, Senate Bill 119 was passed. This bill would ensure that educators and other certified staff are taught how to recognize abuse and neglect as well as how these acts should be reported.

In an effort to curtail illegal gambling sites that are popping up throughout Kentucky, the Senate passed Senate Bill 28. Internet cafes, which are masquerading as office-related or game-playing establishments, are actually allowing patrons to gamble and potentially win sweepstakes. Senate Bill 28 inserts language to clarify that these computers and gambling devices are illegal.

The Senate also passed measures to save money through efficient elections, and to create a debt limit. Senate Bill 93 would move all elections of Kentucky's statewide constitutional officers to even-numbered years along with federal elections. By doing this, state and local governments would save a great deal of money. Because the elections would coincide with federal elections, voter turnout also would likely increase. Statistics prove that more voters go to the polls for the federal elections.

The Senate majority is resolved to keep debt reigned in and government accountable to current and future taxpayers. Senate Bill 94 would address this in addition to working in favor of the Kentucky Employees Retirement System by limiting the issuance of general fund-supported debt, calculating the debt limitation savings, and transferring the savings to the nonhazardous employee unfunded liability trust fund.

All of these bills now move to the House for its consideration. If you have any questions or comments about the issues or any other public policy issue, please call me toll-free at 1-800-372-7181. You can also review additional bills passed by the Legislature online at www.lrc.ky.gov.

Archery teams compete at Pulaski Saturday

The RCHS Archery Team participated in the Pulaski Warm Up for State Tournament on Saturday. The team received a total score of 3146.

The top scoring archer for the Rockets was once again was Rachel Chadwell with a 270. The top male scorer for the Rockets was Jackson Cromer with a total of 268. Also scoring a 268 was Alyssa Bustle. This was Alyssa's top tourney score this season. Erika Howard, Nicholas Ford (with a personal best of 265), Dustin Gentry, Joseph Cowan (with a personal best of 263), B.J. Wynn, Ethan Thompson (with a personal best of 261) and Tyler Owens rounded out the Rockets top ten and all scored 260 or better. Megan Taylor and Anna Poynter added to the Rockets total score with 251 and 248 respectively.

The archers from RCMS also competed on Saturday. The top shooters for the middle school Rockets were Leann Tankersley and CJ Cameron each with a score of 255. Taylor Sloat, Michael Allen and Drew McGuire all scored 252. Rounding out the top twelve to calculate the RCMS score were Kyle Coffey, Layne Bustle, Joseph Coffey, Ben Tyler, Jeremiah Powell, Freddie Doyle and Andrew Sargent. Both teams will compete next Saturday in Harrodsburg at the Mercer Titan Classic.

Rockcastle Kiwanis was pleased to have Steve Estes, President and CEO of Rockcastle Regional Hospital as the guest speaker at the February 26th meeting. Mr. Estes provided a comprehensive update along with detailing future plans for the hospital. After speaking to club members, Mr. Estes and other hospital employees presented a $940 check as a donation to the club. $940 represented the 940 WOW moments the hospital had last year. A WOW moment is how Rockcastle Regional recognizes someone going above and beyond. Rockcastle Kiwanis is very appreciative of the contribution. Pictured from left are: Kayla Rowe - Rockcastle Regional Community Relations; Jeremy Rowe - Kiwanis President; Steve Estes; Jana Bray - Rockcastle Regional Community Relations; and Melissa Brock - Chemotherapy Service Line Manager.

Andrew Sargent and Jeremiah Powell were among the RCMS archers competing on Saturday.

KU and LG&E providing support after record cold

The sub-zero temperatures have moved on and much of the snow has melted, but many Kentucky shelters and families are still feeling the chill. With area temperatures averaging more than 40 percent colder than normal, the frigid conditions are straining the resources of some agencies that serve the most vulnerable community members and making it tough for families in need of assistance to make it through the bitterly cold season.

Shelters and Day Centers

In an effort to ease the strain, Kentucky Utilities and Louisville Gas and Electric companies are providing more than $160,000 in outreach to more than a dozen shelters and day centers, as well as 19 community action agencies across the utilities' service territory. Community action agencies based in Barbourville, Bowling Green, Frankfort, Harlan, Jamestown, LaGrange, Lexington, Manchester, Owensboro, Pineville, Shelbyville and West Liberty in Kentucky, as well as Norton, Va., are among those receiving the funds.

The aid is part of more than $200,000 identified by the utilities to be allocated to community action groups, shelters and other nonprofit organizations within its service territories - specifically to address heightened concerns stemming from season's the extreme conditions.

"When temperatures dip like they have in recent weeks, these organizations take on an increased burden to ensure no one is without shelter and some families struggle to make ends meet as they try to keep everyone comfortable," said John P. Malloy, vice president of Customer Services for LG&E and KU. "It's our hope these grant dollars will provide these vital agencies much needed resources to help get them and the families they serve through the remainder of this difficult season."

Heating Assistance Programs

In addition to working with area shelters, KU and LG&E are also stepping up contributions to the utilities' heating assistance programs - doubling the usual year-round $1 for $1 match with customer donations to the programs - retro-actively contributing $2 for every customer dollar donated from February through the end of April. The KU WinterCare Energy Assistance Fund, the LG&E Community WinterHelp and the WinterShare Fund offered by Old Dominion Power, the name under which KU operates in Virginia, are operated by area third-party nonprofit organizations. The agencies make this financial assistance available to community members who may be struggling this winter to pay their heating bills.

KU and LG&E encourage residential customers anticipating difficulty paying their bills to contact customer service representatives, who will address their individual situation. KU residential customers can dial (800) 981-0600. Customers can also visit lgeku.com/helpingyou for information on available resources.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and bleach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildew, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again. Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.
