Recanvass scheduled for governor and agriculture commissioner races

By: Doug Ponder

Rockcastle County Clerk Danetta Allen will have a recanvass this week for the two closest races in the Primary Election last Tuesday.

Allen said there will be a recanvass of the votes for the republican candidates for governor and the republican candidates for commissioner of agriculture. The recanvass will be this Thursday at 9 a.m. at the courthouse.

According to Secretary of State Allison Grimes Office, a recanvass is a method to verify the accuracy of all the absentee ballots and vote totals from all the precincts in the state's 120 counties. No votes are recounted in the recanvassing process, just the totals reported, and all counties are having a recanvass of the votes this Thursday morning.

Republican gubernatorial candidate James Comer filed a recanvass request last Wednesday with Grimes' office.

The unofficial statewide totals indicate that Comer trailed Bevin by only 83 votes. However, Comer had 1,034 votes in Rockcastle County and easily defeated his opponents Hal Heiner with 353 votes, Matt Bevin with 295 votes and Will T. Scott with 71 votes.

Republican commissioner of agriculture candidate Richard Heath also filed a recanvass request with Grimes'

KKK flyer frightens Mt. Vernon residents

By: Doug Ponder

Several Mt. Vernon residents woke up to a bizarre occurrence last Friday morning as they found Klux Klan recruitment flyers in their front yards.

Lawson released on bond

By: Doug Ponder

A well-known local man, who is charged with theft by deception of more than $28,000, had his bond changed in Rockcastle County Circuit Court last week and has since been released from jail.

Former Kentucky Music Hall of Fame Executive Director Robert Lawson had his bond modified during his arraignment in circuit

Local man arrested for trafficking

By: Doug Ponder

A local man was arrested for meth trafficking last Thursday night after police raided a home on Cedar Rapids Road in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Scotty Chattelle, 44, of Mt. Vernon.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant responded after receiving information that Chattelle was manufacturing meth and trafficking meth in the garage at the home.

Once Bryant arrived, he saw Chattelle inside the garage with the garage door open. Bryant then spoke with Chattelle and he told Bryant that there was no meth lab on the property.

After receiving consent

According to Rockcastle County Sheriff Mike Peters, the KKK flyers were from an organization called the "Traditionalist American Knights of the Klux Klan." He said they believe those responsible for the recruitment flyers, placed them in homeowners' yards sometime late last Thursday night or early last Friday morning.

"It seems like they placed the flyers under the cover of darkness so they couldn't be seen. No one has reported that they saw anyone leaving the flyers in the yards," Peters said. "No one else in the county reported

Prep started for bridge replacement on Mullins Station Road

By: Doug Ponder

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet recently started preparations to replace a bridge on Mullins Station Road in Mt. Vernon.

According to KTC Information Officer Amber Hale, the bridge on Mullins Station Road, across Mullins Station Creek, will be replaced and construction crews will build a temporary bridge for motorists to use while the main bridge is under construction. She said crews started mobilizing their equipment this week and have started building the temporary bridge.

The temporary bridge is scheduled to be completed and open to traffic on Friday, June 10th. Hale said the main bridge will be closed for construction work once the temporary bridge is constructed.

The Mullins Station bridge replacement is scheduled to be completed by Saturday, August 1st.

that they received the flyers. As far as we know, the flyers were only placed in the yards of several streets in the Mt. Vernon city limits."

The KKK organization's flyer contains information that is allegedly written to warn people about Muslims, pedophiles, drug dealers, thieves and other criminals. The flyers were distributed in plastic bags with two marbles.

The flyers contained a phone number and website for the organization. The flyer also contained a physical address to Park Hills, Missouri and the organization is listed as an actual organization.

Peters said he doesn't believe the flyers were meant as a threat to the homeowners who received them. He said this is the same KKK organization that has placed flyers in other cities and communities across the state.

"This is just part of the craziness in our country. I don't think it was meant as a threat to any of the homeowners. It's freedom of speech that gives people the right to express their opinion but putting unwanted items in peoples' yards could be littering."

by: perlina m. anderkin

It was a good week at our league bowling Tuesday night -- Travis and I actually won four games. Of course, our competition was a little old lady (about my age) who couldn't sit down during the games because of her bad back, knee and various other ailments. She was sweet. She had a 146 average and bowled a 187 the first game and a 213 the third game.

We managed to win the first game, no thanks to my 119, due to Travis's 239. He came back with a 251 the second game and a 187 the third but, and this is the reason for this column, in the third game I came up with a 193 -- making that game the only one thus far in which I have actually contributed to a win this entire season of league play.

The sweet older lady was bowling by herself because her partner was sick but do you think we took pity on her? Not us. We beat her eight pins the first game, 105 the second and by four the third.

Had an extraordinarily good Memorial Day Weekend. All the children, except Jane, were there for Saturday and all, except Jane and Travis, on Sunday. Paige and I left late, Sunday to decorate graves. It's a pretty long trip, since we start in Mt. Vernon, head to Berea for Jim's family and then to Versailles for mine. All the children returned for Monday, except Jane -- there will be retribution, jk -- but it was overcast most of the day so the pool wasn't as occupied.

The major summer holidays are a little sad for me. I mourn the passing of each one because the summer flies by and then it's the dreaded winter time again.

The turnout on election day was better than I estimated last week -- still pretty, but better, a little over 15% of both Dems and Repubs went to the polls.

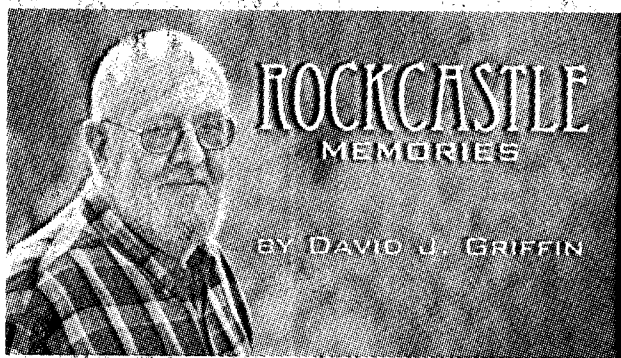

Statewide the percentage was 12%. What were you doing? What could have possibly kept 85% of the voters in this county from taking the small amount of time needed to cast their vote in this important election?

Daughter Allison, a teacher in Washington County, wasn't happy with the outcome. She didn't like Bevin because he has come out against Common Core. I don't know enough about the program to comment -- I know a lack of knowledge doesn't usually keep me quiet -- but Allison and my other three teacher daughters seem to support the program.

I'll be honest, I didn't become aware that Bevin was running until about a month before the election and was pretty surprised when he won. I don't watch local news much -- at all, actually -- and Bevin certainly didn't spend any time in Rockcastle so I guess that caused my lack of awareness.

He probably would have been my second choice since he certainly fills the bill as a conservative but I'm not sure he can defeat Conway. We'll just have to wait and see and hope the turnout is better in the fall...

B. B. King

When I was a young man driving around Rockcastle County listening to WAKY radio from Louisville, I kept hearing rock-and-roll music from a place in Memphis called Sun Records. That peaked my interest because many of my favorite artists were recording on the Sun label, including Johnny Cash, Jerry Lee Lewis, Carl Perkins, Elvis Presley, Roy Orbison, Conway Twitty, and eventually, B. B. King.

Rock music was still in its infancy. Needless to say, I was purchasing 45 rpm recordings and turning up the radio when these artists were on the air. All of which led to my first attempt to understand the music referred to as the "blues."

In 1956 B. B. King released a song called, "Three O' Clock Blues," and it climbed into the number one spot on the Billboard charts.

It seemed to me that each time I listened to that record, I could feel the pain in his voice. From then on, I became a fan of King.

King began his career of 77 years by singing in a gospel choir at the Elkhorn Baptist Church in Kilmichael, Mississippi. He purchased his first guitar at the age of 12, taught himself to play, and play he did! There he began stints on the local radio station, WGRM.

In 1948 he began performing on Sonny Boy Williamson's radio program on KWEM in West Memphis, where he began to develop a fan base. It was there that he picked up the name by which he would always be known. Working as both a singer and a disk jockey, he acquired the name "Beale Street Blues Boy," which later became "Blues Boy." That nickname was eventually shortened to simply "B.B."

King was a prolific concert performer throughout his life. As a young man in 1956, he hit the stage 342 times! He lived to perform. In the mid-80s he appeared in Lexington at a small bar in the downtown area, near Rupp Arena. Kathy and I, along with our good friends Jimi and Shelly Castle, sat at a table next to the stage. B.B. was probably no farther from us than 10 or 15 feet. It was a mesmerizing experience.

That performance will always rank as one of the finest that I ever witnessed in person. King sang for a full three hours, and his band "chatted" with the patrons during breaks. He sang every hit he ever had and never seemed to tire. The audience was overwhelmed and still begged for more at the end of his show. The lights went down and I expected someone to say, "B.B. has left the building," but astonishingly he came back for another 45 minutes. We and our friends still talk about that concert.

In 1970, King won a Grammy for the song, "The Thrill Is Gone," which topped the pop and R&B

Points East

By Ike Adams

My younger brother, Keith (Keeter) had to be in Lexington on business last Friday, so he decided to take the long way back home to the hills and come through Paint Lick to take the night with me. The short way, from Lexington to Redstar, is up the Mountain Parkway but I know several people who say they can actually save time by going down I-75 and taking the Daniel Boone from London on up into God's Country.

Anyway, Keeter called me up from his talking car to remind me that it had been nearly a year since we had last devoted an evening to beer, blond jokes, and technical assistance to Hillary Clinton in her role as Secretary of State.

Keeter and I are of the opinion, since we are both retired with too much time on our hands, that we could solve most, if not all, world problems if Hil would just allow us to run her old office while she spends the next 18 months campaigning for the presidency.

Keeter's regular car is in the shop undergoing serious repairs. In the meantime he has a lone Buick Encore SUV that he can talk to and she will talk back in understandable English. For example, she has a button on the steering wheel that turns the surround-sound stereo system into a speaker phone.

When the button is pushed, whatever music he's listening to shuts off, and a nice lady's voice comes through at least half a dozen speakers and asks, "Who would you like to call, Keith?" That's how we know the car is a "she" because its voice is most definitely of the female persuasion.

Keeter tells her, "Call Ike."

The car answers, "Hold on while I find that number," then, almost immediately, she says, "Hold on, while I dial, then you can speak when your party answers." So there Keeter is, tooling down I-75, listening to me talk to him from speakers mounted in the dashboard, the roof and all 4 doors, at least we actually found speakers in those locations but there may be others under the seats. It's actually pretty difficult to tell. The point is that my brother can make a phone call without having to use one hand to hold a cell phone and punch in numbers with his thumb, thereby avoiding risk to his life or the lives of other people whose vehicles are reasonably close to him while he's driving.

I don't have space here to get into details, but he can actually tell the car where he wants to go and she'll tell him how to get there. I am jealous.

The kids got Loretta and me a Garmin GPS system for Christmas so that we don't have to risk getting lost when we visit them and the grand kids in Richmond or Stanford. It also talks to us but it does not sound nearly as upbeat, cheerful and friendly as the Buick Keeter will be driving for the next month. I'm jealous charts. He was inducted into the Blues Hall of Fame in 1980, into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 1987, and in the Rhythm and Blues Music Hall of Fame in 2014.

King was also closely connected to other artists that I loved, such as Ray Charles, Bobby "Blue" Bland, and Eric Clapton. Eric's CD called "Riding with the King" hit the charts with rave reviews. I almost wore out that CD in my automobile, hitting repeat over and over again.

King's CD with Eric Clapton from 2000, called "Riding with the King," earned him another Grammy for Best Traditional Blues Album. From the 1980s until his death in 2015, he maintained a highly visible and active career, appearing on numerous television shows and performing 300 nights a year.

B.B. King's voice was one of those that you immediately recognize—like Elvis, Sinatra, or Roy Orbison. His voice was as distinctive as his guitar style. He named his guitar "Lucille" and spoke of her as his lady. He solidified his place in music history long before he passed on May 14 of this year at the ripe age of 89.

Fans of King, and they are countless, often feel as if they have a personal connection with him. I am one of them. The final line of his biography says, "He was a Christian." Therefore, I will be looking forward to hearing him again one day. However, he will no longer be playing and singing the blues—instead he will be singing God's praise. The Promised Land is sure to have one heck of a band.

DAR honors fallen soldiers

In honor of Memorial Day, members of the Rockcastle Chapter of the DAR met to lay a wreath at the monument of fallen Veterans in past wars at the courthouse. so he can trade it in for one just like his loaner and he will probably try to trade Enterprise out of this one.

Speaking of retirement, and I do believe we were doing just that back toward the beginning of the column, I asked Keeter how he was getting by, financially, now that he is stuck with living on a "fixed income."

Keeter said, "fixed, my eye," (actually he referred to another part of his anatomy that I can't mention because I've been sworn in to play nice in your newspaper).

Keeter only retired in February. For the last 40 years he has been accustomed to getting however much overtime he needed to work to make his income accommodate his outgo. He said, "I called one of them financial planning outfits that are all the time advertising on Lexington television that they'll help you fix your income but they wanted a big chunk of what little I'm getting, up front, before they'd even take a look at it and I'm not about to fall for a scam like that."

Keeter said, "I told em that whoever claimed they'd fixed it the first time oughta be fired cause it sure ain't turning right. In fact I think that whoever worked on it the first time actually broke it."

"I know one thing for sure, if they call the income I'm trying to live on now, 'fixed', I'd hate to see one they consider broke."

The last thing Keeter told me as he was pulling out of my driveway, headed home, on Saturday morning was, "Whenever Hillary calls, you tell her that we can be up there on real short notice and get things straightened out in the State Department, but she'll have to send us an advance for air fare and she'll have to take care of the hotel bill and get us a car cause we can't afford to travel until we get a better job done on fixing our incomes."

And yes, we do know that John Kerry is Secretary of State, but he's no fun and we figure we could do a much better job.

Berea College students in the Entrepreneurship for the Public Good came down to visit the City of Livingston last Monday and participate in the city's outdoor and adventure tourism activities. The EPG Program is a learning experience for undergraduate students to participate and implement entrepreneurial leadership in rural communities in the central Appalachia region of Kentucky. Shown above is Livingston Mayor Jason Medley with the students in the EPG program. Medley guided the group of students as they rode bicycles over the trails and kayaked the Rockcastle River.

AmeriCorps NCCC sending team to Livingston

The Rockcastle County Development Board and the City of Livingston will be working with an AmeriCorps NCCC volunteer team this summer.

An application was submitted several months ago by the Rockcastle County Development Board requesting a volunteer team to do trail work, continue improvements to the Livingston school and begin work on a playground area for the children.

The application was one of fourteen granted over an eleven state area. The team will arrive in Livingston on July 23rd and will work with local supervisors to complete the scope of work sheets that are currently being finalized. The team consists of eight members and one Team Leader.

AmeriCorps NCCC was very interested in the application because of the work that has been going on for the past two years and the continued work which follows the initiatives outlined in SOAR - Saving Our Appalachian Region. Both SOAR and Trail Town encourage communities to review their assets and develop them into economic development opportunities.

Livingston has been working to make the city a destination for outdoor enthusiasts who like to canoe, bike, hike, cave and horse-back ride.

This endeavor requires a long range plan and a consistent effort to improve the infrastructure to attract visitors.

As a designated Trail Town, the City of Livingston is required to continue improvements to remain a certified Trail Town. With the assistance of the AmeriCorps NCCC team, they will be able to show many improvements to the Livingston Trail Town program.

A conservative value of their service time is $18,000 or more. Opportunities such as this allow a small community, with limited funds, to continue working their strategic plan.

"We look forward to working with AmeriCorps NCCC volunteer members and we appreciate the AmeriCorps pledge, 'I will get things done for America,'" said Lynn Tatum, project coordinator for the Rockcastle County Development Board.

Peters said, "We're just telling people to be cautious and if someone approaches them about an issue that they don't like, tell them and walk away. If they don't leave and keep pushing the issue, give us a call."

Mt. Vernon resident Freda Hayes said she woke up last Friday morning to a KKK flyer in her yard. Hayes lives on Popular Street in Mt. Vernon.

"I don't know a whole lot about the KKK except that they wear white robes and white hoods over their heads. I have never heard of them wanting to help with drugs and stuff," Hayes said. "I thought it was kids doing it as a prank but then someone told me they left the same flyers in Lexington, so I don't know."

Hayes said she doesn't care if the flyers were a prank or if they are actually from the KKK organization. She went on to say that she didn't know why her street was targeted by them.

"Nothing ever goes on at Popular Street. It's a quiet neighborhood," Hayes said. "I just hope and pray it doesn't go any further than the flyer."

court last Friday morning from a $25,000 cash bond to a $25,000, 10% bond, meaning Lawson only had to pay $2,500 to be released from the Rockcastle County Detention Center.

During last Friday's hearing, Circuit Court Judge David Tapp expressed concern about being the presiding judge over Lawson's case because he had previously served as a member of the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame Board and said he had known Lawson for several years.

Tapp said that he believes he resigned from the board in early 2013 and that Lawson's alleged crimes didn't start until around late 2013. He asked Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Jeremy Bartley if he wanted a special judge to preside over Lawson's case since he previously served on the board and Bartley said he had no problem with Tapp presiding over the case. Lawson's attorney Nathan Shirley, also had no objection.

Tapp didn't recuse himself from presiding over Lawson's trial but he said that he would ask the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame Board for a written document of the timing of his resignation because he didn't want an appearance of wrongdoing with him being the presiding judge. Tapp said he didn't want people to think that he and Lawson "are in cahoots."

Tapp also brought up the issue of Lawson's bond during the arraignment. He said he didn't understand the type of bond Lawson had because he was a low flight risk, charged with nonviolent crimes and had no prior criminal record.

With Lawson's previous bond set at $25,000 cash for a class D felony, Tapp said he had no problem with setting the bond at $25,000, 10% because he said "this is the kind of case the legislature said should be an unsecured bond."

After there was no objection by Bartley or Shirley, Tapp reduced Lawson's bond from $25,000 cash to $25,000 10%. Lawson was released from the Rockcastle County Detention Center last Friday afternoon on the $25,000 10% bond.

According to state police reports, Lawson is charged with theft by deception as a result of stealing more than $28,000 since July 2013 from accounts belonging to the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame, the Rockcastle County Cystic Fibrosis Fund and the Rockcastle Tourism Taskforce.

Lawson was indicted by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury last month on three counts of theft by deception which charged him with writing three checks in his name from the Rockcastle County Cystic Fibrosis account without authority. The checks totaled $3,150.

Rockcastle County Attorney Billy Reynolds said that an investigation of Lawson's alleged embezzlement cases from the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and the Rockcastle Tourism Taskforce are still ongoing by the Kentucky State Police. He said the theft charges for those two accounts are expected to be presented to a Rockcastle County Grand Jury on Friday, June 12th.

to search the residence, Bryant found a pistol and several used drug paraphernalia items that are associated with smoking meth. He also found a small plastic baggie containing approximately 5.5 grams of suspected methamphetamine that had an estimated street value of approximately $800-$1,000.

Upon further investigation, Bryant also noticed a 2015 Harley Davidson motorcycle that was registered in Chattelle's name and noted that Chattelle was currently unemployed. Chattelle told Bryant that none of the items found on the residence belonged to him and that he owns the motorcycle "free and clear." However, Bryant seized the motorcycle according to state law KRS. 218A.410.

Chattelle was charged with trafficking in a controlled substance (methamphetamine) and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he has since been released on a $25,000 cash/property bond.

However, Hale said the starting date and duration of the construction work might have to be adjusted for inclement weather or other unforeseeable delays.

Hale went on to say the I-75 roadwork in Rockcastle County is still operating on schedule. She said both I-75 northbound and southbound is still reduced to one lane between the 65 and 68 mile markers as crews continue to make pavement improvements.

The I-75 roadwork is taking place on Sunday through Thursday for 24 hour periods. No lane closures are scheduled to occur between 7 a.m. on Fridays through 6 p.m. on Sundays.

The pavement improvement on I-75 is also scheduled to be completed by Saturday, August 1st but the duration of the work could also be adjusted due to inclement weather and other delays.

Katie's best performances came in the second half of the meet. She came through with some amazing preliminary round jumps in the triple jump competition and easily made the finals. She finished 5th with an awesome jump of 33'8.25", one of her best ever. In the 1600-meter relay, Katie ran the greatest anchor leg of her career, passing another competitor down the stretch and placing RCHS in 4th place overall with a season's best time of 4:13.03. Her great final leg helped secure the 4th place team trophy for RCHS.

At the Class 2A State Track & Field Championships at the University of Kentucky, RCHS sophomore Sierra Mercer had several outstanding performances. She ran an incredible anchor leg for the 3200-meter relay team, securing their 7th place finish overall and a great team time of 10:12.32. In her best event, the 400-meter dash, Sierra got off to a very fast start against some talented competition and finished an amazing 5th place overall with a very fast time of 1:00.22. She should have a chance at the all-state team in the event after having been ranked in the top three in Class 2A for most of the season, and first for a good part of it. Sierra completed her sensational day with an awesome lead leg (59.8 seconds) of the 1600-meter relay, propelling the team to an incredible 4th place finish overall in a superb season's best time of 4:13.03. That fantastic performance helped solidify the girls' 4th place team trophy for RCHS.

At the Class 2A State Track & Field Championships at the University of Kentucky, the girls' 1600-meter relay team of sophomores Sierra Mercer, Taylor Bullock, Jennifer Mercer, and Katie Hensley placed 4th overall with an awesome performance. Coming into the final stretch, Katie ran a season's best anchor leg split to secure the team's 4th place finish. The girls' awesome time of 4:13.03 shaved 3 seconds off their previous season's best time.

At the Class 2A State Track & Field Championships at the University of Kentucky, RCHS sophomore Jennifer Mercer had outstanding performances in several events. In long jump, Jennifer had an awesome preliminary round and qualified for the finals in the event. She came through in the finals with an awesome 3rd place finish overall with an amazing jump of 16'1.75". She should make the all-state team for her impressive performance. In the 400-meter relay, Jennifer ran an extremely fast anchor leg, helping the team to a 16th place finish overall in a great time of 53.65 seconds. Jennifer completed her awesome day with a sensational 3rd leg of the girls' 1600-meter relay, helping the girls' team to an impressive 4th place finish overall in an incredible season's best time of 4:13.03 and securing the 4th place team trophy for RCHS.

Tori ran an awesome first leg of the girls' 3200-meter relay, leading the team to an exceptional 7th place finish overall with a great time of 10:12.32, the team's best ever in state competition. In the 1600-meter run, Tori had another sensational performance. She placed 6th overall with the fastest state championship time ever for an RCHS girl. Her awesome time of 5:18.93 just missed her all-time personal best and her own RCHS record in the event. Her best performance of the day came in the 800-meter run. Tori blazed her way to an unbelievable state runner-up finish and established a new all-time personal best, while also breaking the 14 year old RCHS record in the event. Her incredible time of 2:19.15 was a little over 2 seconds away from the legendary Gabby Karas from Collins High School, who won the event (2:17.06) and is the Class 2A state record holder in the 800, 1600, and 3200-meter runs. Tori's time also currently ranks her #3 in the U.S. among all 7th grade 800 runners. Tori continued to impress with her final event of the day, the 3200-meter run. Tori remained close to the leaders throughout with a very strong race and finished 3rd overall with another all-time personal best and new RCHS record time of 11:41.00. Amazingly, she shattered her own RCHS record by over 11 seconds. Tori should make the all-state team for her incredible performances.

Keep safety in mind this boating season

Memorial Day weekend serves as the unofficial start to summer and draws boaters to Kentucky's lakes and rivers in droves.

"There's nothing better than a weekend or a day on the water," said Zac Campbell, boating education coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "Kentucky offers so many incredible lakes and rivers that boaters can enjoy. It's a great way to spend quality time with family and friends."

There were more than 170,000 motorized boats registered last year in Kentucky. A safe experience on the water should be a top priority because the boating season means more boat traffic and less room for error.

U.S. Coast Guard statistics from 2014 show May as the second deadliest month behind July for boating-related deaths in the United States.

Operator inattention, improper lookout, operator inexperience, excessive speed and alcohol use were the top contributing factors among the 4,064 accidents that involved 610 deaths in the U.S. as counted by the Coast Guard last year.

An overwhelming percentage of the people who were involved in boating accidents and drowned last year were not wearing a life jacket at the time, according to Coast Guard data. Federal and state law requires a Type I-III personal flotation device for each person onboard a vessel. Children under the age of 12 must wear a life jacket while in the open part of a boat that is underway.

"Be an alert operator and aware of your surroundings," Campbell said. "You're responsible for the vessel and everybody on it.

Make sure everyone is following the rules and the laws of the water. It's also your job to make sure you have all the necessary safety equipment and see to it that it's being used by the people on your boat.

"All of these things will help ensure that you have an enjoyable and safe trip on the water."

There were nine boating-related deaths on Kentucky waters all of last year, up from five in 2013, according to Coast Guard data. Four people have already lost their lives in boating-related accidents on Kentucky waters this year.

"That's high considering the boating season has not even begun yet," said Maj. Shane Carrier, boating law administrator with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Department conservation officers will be out on the water this holiday weekend to help ensure everyone's safety.

Boaters should consider arranging for a free vessel safety check through the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary at www.cgaux.org. Such checks by certified vessel examiners help ensure your boat complies with all federal and state boating laws. Kentucky Fish and Wildlife conservation officers also will perform safety checks upon request.

Another useful resource is the new "Boat Safe Kentucky" app for smartphones.

"The app is everything you need to know about Kentucky boating, all in one place," Campbell said.

Available for download on the App Store on iTunes and Google Play, the free app features a "Blood Alcohol Estimator" and allows the user to report a reckless boat operator to Kentucky Fish and Wildlife law enforcement. There's also a "Find a Marina" feature that allows users to find the nearest marina and offer the ability to text your boating plans to family, friends and other contacts.

Boaters should follow the "Safety Equipment Checklist" prepared by the department's law enforcement division before taking to the water:

- Registration numbers and decals properly displayed
- Registration receipt on board
- Wearable life jackets for each person on board
- Throwable flotation device

- Fire extinguisher
- Horn or whistle
- Lights (red, green and 360-degree white lights)

Children ages 12-17 years old who operate a personal watercraft or boat with a 10-horsepower motor or greater must have a safe boating certificate card or certificate showing they've completed a National Association of State Boating Law Administrators (NASBLA)-approved boater education course. Boater education courses are offered in person around the state at no charge and online for a fee. All in-person courses require online pre-registration. For more information, including course schedules, visit Kentucky Fish and Wildlife's website at fw.ky.gov.

"It's not too late to take a boater education class," Campbell said. "It ensures that you know everything that you need to know to make sure that you, your family and friends are safe on the water."

Citizens Bank SENIOR CRIMESTOPPERS SENIOR HOUSING CRIME PREVENTION FOUNDATION

Citizens Bank Helps Keep Seniors Safe

Senior Crimestoppers Charter Presentation, 28th, May, 2015 at 3:00 P.M. Rockcastle Health & Rehabilitation Center, Brodhead, Kentucky

Thanks to Citizens Bank, residents of Rockcastle Health & Rehabilitation Center in Brodhead, Kentucky will live in a safer and even more secure environment. Citizens Bank recently joined the Senior Housing Crime Prevention Foundation (SHCPF), and is helping to protect those seniors by funding the Senior Crimestoppers program for seniors residing in this care facility.

The Senior Housing Crime Prevention Foundation is a national organization that serves as a way for banks to use to fulfill their federally mandated Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) requirements through providing aid to low and moderate income individuals in their local community. The Foundation's mission is to provide safe and secure living environments for our nation's senior nursing home residents, many of whom are low and moderate income individuals, through the operation of the nationally-acclaimed Senior Crimestoppers program.

Crime against the elderly in our society is a longstanding, constant battle that can be reduced and prevented through the operation of the Senior Crimestoppers program in nursing homes and assisted living facilities. Senior Crimestoppers is a coordinated set of components that work together to create a zero tolerance to crime platform in senior housing facilities. Components include personal lockboxes for the residents, cash rewards up to $1,000 paid anonymously for information about wrongdoing of any kind, and effective, on-going education and training for staff members and residents. Senior Crimestoppers has reduced all aspects of crime in participating facilities by 94%.

"Senior Crimestoppers is a way for an administrator to further enhance the lives of the residents they serve. They all work very hard to provide safe, secure, comfortable living environments and their desire to implement the program is just one more example of this. Implementing this program does not mean that the facility currently has a crime problem, but that the administrator is proactively finding a way to keep problems from occurring in the future," said Terry Rooker, president of Senior Crimestoppers.

"Citizens Bank is proud to be the sponsor of this wonderful program for the residents of the Rockcastle Health and Rehabilitation Center. Our community is blessed to have this wonderful facility and Citizens Bank is excited to be partnering with them to bring these much needed services. Citizens Bank is committed to partnering with local business and organizations to help make the lives of those who live in our communities better," said Corey Craig, President/CEO of Citizens Bank

Senior Crimestoppers Charter Presentation is May 28, 2015 at 3:00 P.M.

The Senior Housing Crime Prevention Foundation and Citizens Bank will be holding a charter presentation at Rockcastle Health & Rehabilitation Center on May 28, 2015 at 3:00 P.M. located at 371 West Main Street in Brodhead, KY 40409. Members of the media and public are encouraged to attend.

Established in 1904, Citizens Bank is a full-service community bank offering personalized service, commitment to the community, and sound management. They offer a variety of products and services such as: competitive rates, innovative banking services, retail, commercial and mortgage lending, as well as acquisition, development and construction financing, ATM, traditional safe deposit boxes, and drive-in banking are also provided. But they don't stop with products. They believe that just doing what's expected is not enough. The management team, lending staff, and customer associates are all seasoned bankers with an abundant appreciation for their customers.

Rockcastle School District receives $6,000 grant to support literacy

This week, the Dollar General Literacy Foundation awarded Rockcastle County School District a $6,000 grant to support adult literacy at Rockcastle Adult Education/College and Career Readiness Center.

The Rockcastle County School District will expand efforts at the Rockcastle Adult Education Center/College and Career Readiness Center, with funds received from this grant award. The goal is to serve a minimum of 204 adults by March 31, 2016, by providing adult basic education services, activities for school and community leadership, financial and health literacy, along with assisting individuals with the transition to postsecondary.

"It is exciting to see the impact grants from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation make throughout the country, especially as we cross the $100 million threshold in overall donations and the difference it has made to nearly six million people," said Rick Dreiling, Dollar General's chairman and CEO. "The Dollar General Literacy Foundation truly embodies the company's mission of Serving Others throughout the communities we serve."

CHARRO BEANS

It is time for our Summer Block Party with our neighbors. Each family on the block brings a dish to share with everyone. We are having a Mexican Fiesta this year. This is two of the dishes I will be preparing for our get-together.

6 ounces bacon, chopped
8 ounces Mexican chorizo, chopped
1/2 cup chopped white onion

1 to 2 Serrano chilies, seeded, finely chopped

8 ounces cored and chopped ripe tomatoes

5 cups cooked pinto beans or canned beans

1 cup water

Salt, to taste

Cook bacon in large skillet over medium-high heat until it is lightly browned and starting to crisp, 3 to 4 minutes. Add chorizo and cook, using a wooden spoon or spatula to break chorizo into smaller pieces; cook for 4 to 5 minutes until brown and crisp.

Add onion and chilies mix well, and cook until they soften, 2 to 3 minutes. Add tomatoes and continue cooking for 4 to 5 minutes more, stirring occasionally, until they are thoroughly softened.

Add beans and water, stir well, reduce heat to medium. Cook until the beans are moist but not very soupy, 8 to 10 minutes. Add salt to taste.

FAJITA CHICKEN CHILI

1 tablespoon canola oil

2 and 1/2 pounds boneless, skinless chicken breasts

2 large onions

2 large sweet red or green bell peppers, seeded

1 can (15 ounce) pinto beans, drained and rinsed

2 cans (14 ounces each) petite diced tomatoes

2 tablespoon chili powder

1 teaspoon ground cumin

1 teaspoon dried oregano

1 teaspoon salt

Shredded cheddar, sour cream, guacamole, and tortillas

Coat slow-cooker bowl with nonstick cooking spray.

Thinly slice chicken breast on the diagonal.

In a large nonstick skillet, heat oil over medium-high heat. Add chicken and cook 6 minutes or until lightly browned. Don't crowd the skillet, cook in two batches if necessary.

Slice onions and bell peppers into 1/2-inch slices.

In the slow-cooker bowl, layer onions, peppers, cooked chicken, and beans.

Combine tomatoes, chili powder, cumin, oregano, and salt. Pour over beans.

Cover and cook on LOW for 6 hours.

school seniors hands-on help in applying for college.

Schools that register by the June 30 deadline will receive free materials from KHEAA to help make the program successful. For more information, visit www.kycollegeappmonth.com.

Each school is responsible for its own program. At a minimum, that means setting aside time and space for seniors to complete college applications with the help of school, college and community volunteers.

Schools should reach out to volunteers to help with activities. KHEAA Outreach staff can help on a first-come, first-served basis.

Schools that register agree to complete a survey and to track and share basic event data with KHEAA. This helps KHEAA measure the program's impact.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES), need-based grants and other programs to help students pay their higher education expenses.

How God used a little dog

By Mabel Martin Davidson

Our good friend, Amous, went outside early one January morning in 2015. As usual he went walking across the front lawn unaware that ice had frozen on the ground during the night. He had a traumatic awaking to that fact when he slipped on the ice and fell.

After realizing that he could not get up, he called to his wife, Verdie, who was only a few feet away inside the house. No matter how loud Amous called, he could not get anyone to hear him.

But a little neighborhood dog heard Amous's call for help. He came to Amous and at one point laid down by his side as if trying to keep him warm or comfort him. Finally the little dog went to the door of Amous's home, scratched on the door and got Verdie's attention.

Verdie saw that Amous's hip was broken very badly and proceeded to call 911. The ambulance came, but could not get near the house because of ice on the roadway.

That was a frightening situation with Amous lying on ice with his hip broken in three places. With the help of the Lord they made some quick decisions. They brought out blankets and quilts to cover him and then managed to get a quilt under him. With the quilt that was under him the people carried him into the house where it was warm to wait until the roads were salted so the ambulance could get to the house and take him to the hospital.

It is scary to think what could have happened if the little dog had not come to Amous's rescue. He could have frozen to death there in his front yard laying on ice with no one knowing what had happened. There is no doubt in my mind that God sent that little dog and caused it to scratch on the door that morning because it had never scratched on Amous's door before.

We serve a great God that can use even a common ordinary dog to do His work and let people see how great and merciful He is. I feel sure that Amous had prayed and asked for God to help him, and I feel equally sure he did not expect that God would send a neighbor's dog to do such a great work. Let us never underestimate the power of our God or who/what he can use to carry out His work. (Little is much when God is in it).

An encouraging word:

A Transforming Power

By Howard Coop

"I had hoped, but..."

There is disappointment and finality in those words. They indicate that something especially desired appeared to be a distinct possibility. But things changed, and that hope for possibility vanished. For some reason, that which was eagerly anticipated did not happen. It was gone, and along with it, hope was gone; it was in the past.

I've been there, and I know the feeling. I have experienced that bitter disappointment when something I desired with all my heart vanished. That experience isn't pleasant.

One winter morning I was busy at my desk. I was excited and making plans for a wonderful day. An event, important to me and one to which I looked forward with great anticipation, was scheduled for that evening. In one way or another, all of my plans for that day revolved around preparation for that very special event. I expected a great evening, and deep in my heart, I knew it would be pleasant. My hopes were exceedingly high.

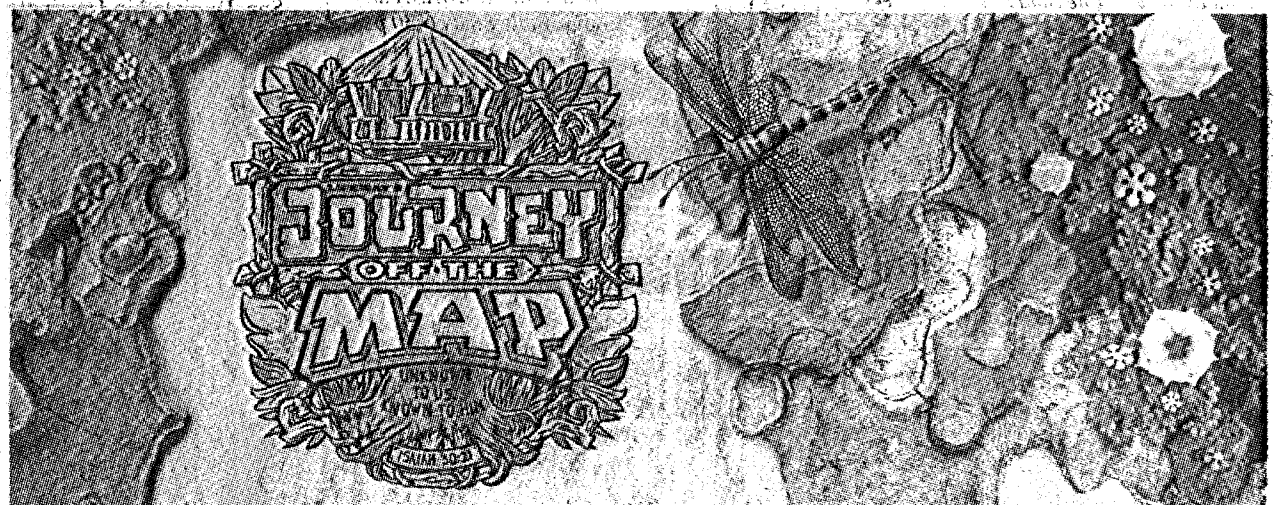

Then it happened. A little before noon a message---a depressing message---came that changed everything.

Due to weather conditions that made travel dangerous and difficult, that special event that I had so anxiously anticipated had been canceled, and I was deeply disappointed. In a moment, my hope for an exciting evening vanished; it was in the past.

That does not have to be the end. Disappointment comes, and things change, but life goes on. After receiving that disappointing message, I plodded through the work of the day until, later that afternoon, a second message came. That message informed me that the canceled event to which I had looked forward with pleasure had been rescheduled. My spirit was renewed, and my hope returned. Things changed, and I felt better. The remaining activities of the day were more pleasant.

Hope that is a future possibility is a transforming power. It lifts life to a new level and makes everything better.

COMMENCEMENT

Thursday, May 28, 2015 • 6:00 p.m.

Rockcastle County High School Gymnasium

To the Class of 2015,

Once again, preparations have begun to transition you from the world of high school to the world beyond the Rock. I would like to congratulate you on reaching this milestone in your life and to offer you a few words of advice and some lessons that I have learned since my own high school graduation several years ago. While the world may be much different in terms of technological and medical advances from the world I entered in 1984, there are some basic ideas that I hope you have learned during your time here and will hold on to as you move into the next phase of your life.

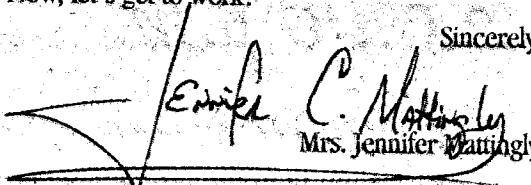

First, demonstrate integrity in everything you say and do. The world can be a challenging, unpredictable place to navigate and it will be important to always try to do the right thing, even when no one else is looking. Though outcomes may not always be in your favor, you can hold your head high, knowing you have remained true to yourself and to what is right. I am certain you have been tested many times already while in school- maybe to share answers on a test, to cover for a friend or to stretch the truth almost beyond recognition to avoid a consequence. Your integrity is developed and nurtured over the years, but can be lost in an instant when you begin to compromise the truth.

I also pray that you will embrace the responsibilities that come with being an adult. With adulthood comes a great deal of freedom, but it can also carry heavy burdens. Instead of dreading those burdens, know that carrying them will make you stronger and more able to care for your family and your community. Our school's mission is to equip all students with sufficient knowledge and skills to become contributing members of society. Whether you are going on to college or technical school, entering the military or workforce, I hope you will give 100% to that endeavor and work hard to make a positive contribution to the world.

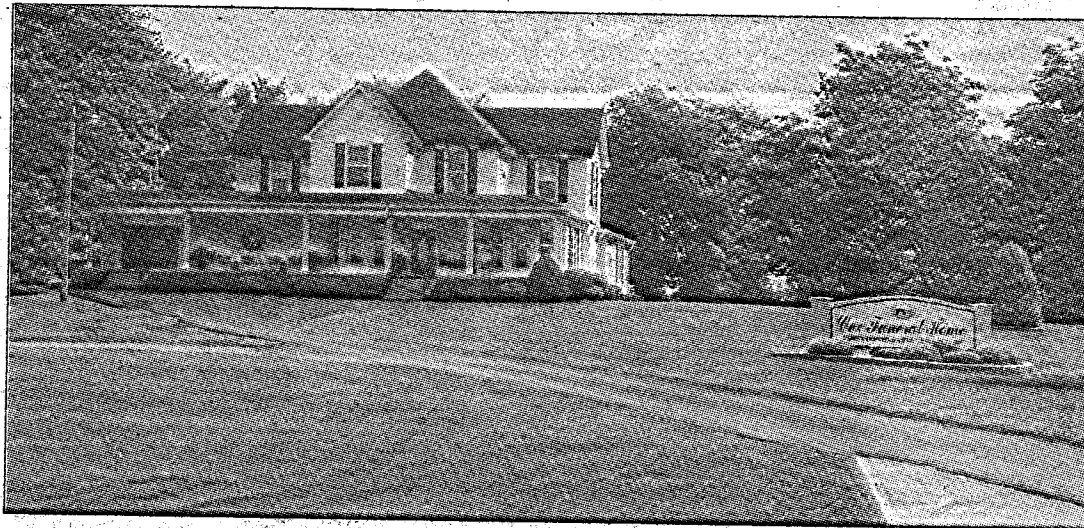

Finally, I encourage you to find your passion and relentlessly pursue it. If you can gain employment doing something that you are passionate about, it will never feel like work. You should experience tremendous satisfaction and happiness at the end of the day, if you are doing something about which you care a great deal. Don't be afraid to stretch your wings and try something new! Who knows? You may just discover your life's calling. One thing is certain: you will make mistakes and might even fail a time or two...or three. Don't give up! Persevere to reach your goals, no matter what challenges you face or mountains you must climb. I promise it will be worth the effort.

In a world where it might seem as though the odds are against you at times, you can rest assured that everyone at Rockcastle County High School is behind you, cheering you on your way. You have been a joy to have as a class the past four years and I am confident that the world and our future will be a brighter place to live with you at the controls. You have a strong sense of what is right and have shown evidence of a willingness to achieve at high levels. More important though, than your hours of community service and stellar academic record, you have shown that you are kind, compassionate individuals with a determination to better the world. We look forward to seeing what you can accomplish in life and will always be here to support and encourage you. After all, we ARE Rock Nation! Now, let's get to work!

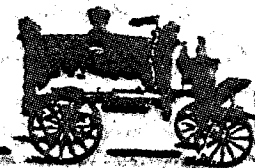

Sincerely,

Mrs. Jennifer Manning
